The examination of patient's back and diagnosis of trouble as nerve pressure and the administering of manual treatment or adjustments for a fee constituted the practice of medicine and surgery in violation of an injunction against the unlicensed practice thereof.—State ex rel. Kansas State Board of Medical Registration and Examination v. Martin, 130 P.2d 601, 155 Kan. 801.

Lease to practitioner
A corporation which leases store space to an optician is not guilty of contempt for violating an injunction prohibiting it from practicing optometry, notwithstanding the lessee unlawfully practices optometry, in the absence of the corporation's participation in, or knowledge of, the illegal practice; and such a lease was held not to create relation of licensor and licensee so as to put corporation in contempt for violation of injunction against unlawful practice of optometry by the corporation or its "licensees."—Rowe v. Standard Drug Co., 9 N.E.2d 609, 132 Ohio St. 629.

Payment for advertisement
An arrangement whereby optician's newspaper advertisement was billed to corporation which leased store space to him, he in turn repaying corporation for advertising, was not illegal so as to put corporation in contempt for violation of injunction against advertising that it was engaged in practice of optometry if advertisement itself was legal.—Rowe v. Standard Drug Co., supra.

Window display
A corporation was guilty of holding itself out as engaged in practice of optometry in violation of injunction by inclusion on window of its business place, with corporate name, legend "Eyes examined—Glasses fitted," or "Registered Optometrist—Eyes examined."—Rowe v. Standard Drug Co., supra.

Concealment by pretended contracts with employees
Unlicensed owner of hospital, restrained from practice of medicine personally or through others, was guilty of contempt, where he entered into pretended contracts with employees to conceal operation of hospital and treatment of patients by such employees under his direction and control.—State v. Baker, 270 N. W. 359, 222 Iowa 903.

49. Violation by seller of business
(1) Seller who was enjoined from directly or indirectly being interested in ice cream or milk business was not in contempt by working for, and being paid by, an ice cream company, although not as one of its proprietors, if such acts did not impair buyer's full enjoyment of business and good will.—State v. Baker, 169 A. 598, 20 Del.Ch. 48.

(2) An injunction prohibiting a defendant who sold a gasoline and oil business from entering into the same or a similar kind of business precludes him from participating in the sales of gasoline and motor oils as though he were sole proprietor of the business, although he is in fact only an employee or sales agent.—Taylor v. Morris-Forrester Oil Co., 142 S.E. 153, 166 Ga. 43.

Violation held not shown
Ga.—Stovall v. Mendenhall, 16 S.E.2d 546, 192 Ga. 796.
N.Y.—Buffalo General Laundries Corporation v. Munzert, 231 N.Y. S. 1, 132 Misc. 803.

50. Transportation of passengers
(1) An injunction restraining operation of a bus line over a particular route is violated by an unlicensed bus company which, by carrying passengers gratuitously, selling tickets to places beyond prohibited points, and affording liberal use of passes, thereby impairs the business of the complaining party.—Southwestern Loan & Finance Corporation v. Arkansas Transp. Co., 45 S.W.2d 501, 184 Ark. 1153.

(2) An injunction against solicitation or receipt of passengers along a certain route is violated by a taxi operator who makes regular prearranged trips for the transportation of certain individuals within the territory in which the injunction was operative.—State v. Koon, 15 S.E.2d 133, 197 S.C. 300.

51. Violation held not shown
Wis.—General Bronze Corporation v. Schmeling, 250 N.W. 412, 213 Wis. 150, 93 A.L.R. 114.

52. Ill.—Loven v. People, 42 N.E. 82, 158 Ill. 159.
32 C.J. p 497 note 92 [g], p 498 note 93 [f] (1).

Solicitation by act
An order restraining a party from soliciting the former customers of an ice vending concern has been held violated by stopping in front of the customers' homes and delivering ice to them without definite orders, such conduct amounting to solicitation by act if not by word; and expressions by customers indicating their willingness to purchase have been held not equivalent to orders, so as to justify the party restrained in stopping at their homes with ice.—Burnham v. Burnham, 140 A. 361, 154 Md. 349.

Purchases without solicitation
A decree enjoining solicitation of a former employer's customers is not violated by selling to customers who make the first suggestion to purchase and who go to the store of the former employee to make the purchase, or by soliciting customers to whom the former employee has previously made unsolicited sales.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, 14 A.2d 27, 65 R.I. 224.

Gifts to customers' organizations
Giving gifts of merchandise to clubs and churches to which some former customers belonged has been held not to constitute indirect solicitation of such customers in violation of an injunctive decree prohibiting solicitation.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, supra.

Sales of different class of merchandise
In contempt proceeding for violation of decree enjoining former employee from selling "additional merchandise" to former employer's customers, where the term "additional merchandise," as used in the decree, meant household furnishings and similar merchandise, sale of shirts by former employee was not within purview of decree.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, supra.

53. Violation held shown
U.S.—Produce Reporter Co. v. Fruit Produce Rating Agency, D.C.Ill., 1 F.2d 58—California Fruit Growers Exchange v. Sunkist Drinks, D.C. N.Y., 25 F.Supp. 401—Bradstreet Co. v. Bradstreet Collecting Bureau, N.Y., 249 F. 958, 162 C.C.A. 156.
32 C.J. p 497 note 92 [c].

fringement of a copyright[54] or trade-mark;[55] sale of products in violation of the provisions of a license;[56] and production of oil in excess of a specified rate.[57]

Bringing or continuing legal proceedings. Where the bringing or continuing of legal proceedings is prohibited by injunction, any steps, although merely preliminary or incidental, taken for the purpose of bringing or continuing such proceedings, constitute a violation of the injunction.[58]

Other acts. In addition to the particular breaches or violations already discussed, there have been other cases in which the courts have determined whether there has been a violation of particular injunction orders,[59] including injunctions prohibiting: the assertion of a claim or title to particular property, or interference with its possession;[60] interference with an easement or right of way;[61] diversion,[62] overflowage,[63] or pollution[64] of water; the cutting of timber except for certain restricted purposes;[65] the expulsion of particular individuals from an organization;[66] the making of false or misleading statements concerning certain specified topics;[67] interference with public officials in the performance of their duties;[68] and the exercise of corporate privileges and franchises.[69]

54. Violation held shown
U.S.—Produce Reporter Co. v. Fruit Produce Rating Agency, D.C.Ill., 1 F.2d 58.

55. Violation held shown
U.S.—California Fruit Growers Exchange v. Sunkist Drinks, D.C.N.Y., 25 F.Supp. 401.

Violation held not shown
U.S.—Tubular Heating & Ventilating Co. v. Mt. Vernon Furnace & Mfg. Co., D.C.Ill., 2 F.2d 982.

56. Failure to pay assessment
An injunction prohibiting the sale of macaroni in violation of the provisions of a license for the macaroni industry issued by the director of agriculture was held not violated by sales made before payment of an assessment, where the injunction had been sought only to prevent sales at less than a prescribed price and the injunction decree had been entered pursuant to a stipulation waiving all rights arising out of violations occurring before entry of the decree.—Ex parte Ferrigno, 71 P.2d 329, 22 Cal.App.2d 472.

57. Violation held shown
U.S.—Locke v. U. S., C.C.A.Tex., 75 F.2d 157, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 644, 295 U.S. 733, 79 L.Ed. 1681.

58. U.S.—In re Hudson River Electric Power Co., D.C.N.Y., 173 F. 934, affirmed 183 F. 701, 106 C.C.A. 139, 33 L.R.A.,N.S., 454.
32 C.J. p 494 note 54.

Settlement of a suit by the parties or their attorneys would be a direct violation of an injunction against proceeding with the suit "in any manner."—Gorsch v. Birkhahn, 151 A. 121, 8 N.J.Misc. 491.

Action on judgment
An injunction which prohibited the prosecution of an action at law or a cause in equity on a claim or demand on a bond was not violated by an action brought not on the bond, but on a judgment in which the cause of action on the bond had become merged.—Price v. Price, 7 S.E.2d 510, 122 W.Va. 122, 128 A.L.R. 1088.

Contempt held not shown
Okl.—Missouri-Kansas-Texas R. Co. v. Wilkins, 297 P. 262, 148 Okl. 45.

59. Violation held shown
Ga.—Reid v. McRae, 9 S.E.2d 176, 190 Ga. 323.
Pa.—State Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania v. Morrison, 120 A. 769, 277 Pa. 41.
32 C.J. p 497 note 92.

Violation held not shown
Mass.—Home Inv. Co. v. Iovieno, 141 N.E. 78, 246 Mass. 346.
Pa.—Daugirda v. Karalus, 159 A. 216, 104 Pa.Super. 404.
32 C.J. p 498 note 93.

60. N.Y.—Hudson v. Plets, 11 Paige 180.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55.

Violation held shown
Cal.—Gilman v. Superior Court in and for Nevada County, 260 P. 922, 86 Cal.App. 259.
N.J.—Roseberg v. American Hotel & Garden Co., 123 A. 717, 95 N.J.Eq. 640, affirming, Ch., 121 A. 9.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55 [a], [d], [j] (1).

Violation held not shown
Cal.—Newport v. Superior Court of Stanislaus County, 230 P. 168, 192 Cal. 92.
Ga.—Purvis v. Calvert Mortgage Co., 124 S.E. 702, 158 Ga. 879.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55 [b], [j] (2).

61. Violation held shown
Ky.—Stratton & Terstegge Co. v. Meriwether, 159 S.W. 613, 154 Ky. 839.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55 [h].

Violation held not shown
Cal.—Pomin v. Superior Court in and for El Dorado County, 112 P. 2d 17, 44 Cal.App.2d 206.

62. Utah.—Spanish Fork City v. Spanish Fork East Bench Irrigation & Mining Co., 151 P. 46, 46 Utah 487.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55 [i].

Prima facie violation
The diversion of entire flow of creek's tributary by party enjoined from diverting waters of creek and its tributaries was prima facie violation of decree and contempt of court.—State ex rel. Silve v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist. in and for Judith Basin County, 69 P.2d 972, 105 Mont. 106.

63. Violation held shown in maintenance of a water trough in such fashion as to discharge water from defendant's house on plaintiff's lot.—Johnson v. Froelich, 264 N.W. 232, 196 Minn. 81.

64. Violation held shown
N.J.—In re Borough of Fort Lee, 155 A. 473, 108 N.J.Eq. 425.

65. Vt.—Lillie v. Lillie, 55 Vt. 470.
32 C.J. p 494 note 55 [f].

66. Dispute within labor union
Where, in a dispute concerning the internal affairs of a labor union, an injunction was issued prohibiting the expulsion of certain individuals from the union, a union official who took charge of a meeting and forced the expulsion of such individuals was held thereby to have violated the injunction.—Edrington v. Hall, 148 S.E. 407, 168 Ga. 491.

67. Injunction held violated
U.S.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, C.C.A.N.Y., 137 F. 2d 862, modifying, D.C., 48 F.Supp. 928.

Injunction held not violated
U.S.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, supra.

68. Injunction held violated
Ga.—Patten v. Miller, 8 S.E.2d 786, 190 Ga. 152.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.

Injunction held not violated
Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641.

69. Authorization and execution of bankruptcy petition
Where an injunction forbids a corporation and its officers to exercise any of the corporate privileges and franchises, directors who meet and pass a resolution authorizing the filing of a voluntary petition in

§ 265. Separate Contempts

Each violation of an injunction is a separate contempt, punishable as such.

Each act done in violation of the injunction constitutes a separate contempt,[70] although continuous,[71] which may be punished as such.[72]

§ 266. Excuses and Justification

a. In general
b. Acts or conduct of complainant
c. Authorization by court, legislature, or third parties

a. In General

Violation of an injunction is excused if the court which granted it was without jurisdiction, or if the acts performed were necessary to preserve the property in controversy. On the other hand, violation is not necessarily excused because of inconvenience in complying with the injunction, violation of the injunction by others, absence of injury to complainant or profit to the party enjoined, a change in the status which the injunction was granted to preserve, obedience to the injunction after a violation has occurred, or, in the case of a temporary injunction to maintain the status quo, final determination of the litigation adverse to complainant.

Since disobedience of a void injunction does not constitute a contempt of court, as discussed supra § 259, a perfect defense is made out where it is shown that the court was without jurisdiction to grant the injunction;[73] but, if the court had jurisdiction to award the injunction, a violation thereof cannot be excused on the ground that it was improvidently granted or irregularly obtained, as discussed supra § 259, although such fact may be considered in mitigation of punishment, as discussed infra § 269. A violation of an injunction cannot be justified by reason of difficulty in complying with its provisions,[74] or on the ground of public convenience.[75] It is no defense to contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction restraining particular acts that third persons also performed the forbidden acts.[76] The high character of defendants, and the distinguished position which they have attained among their fellowmen, are matters which cannot amount to a defense.[77] The fact that there are circumstances which, in the opinion of the party restrained, warrant a delay in complying with the provisions of an injunction does not excuse disobedience thereof, his remedy being to apply for a modification or temporary stay of the injunction.[78]

A person will not be punished for contempt for acts done in violation of an injunction when such acts are necessary to the preservation of the property in controversy.[79]

Profit or injury. It is no excuse for disobeying an injunction that the disobedience of the injunction was harmless and caused no injury to complainant,[80] although, as shown infra § 269, the absence of substantial injury may be considered in mitigation of punishment; nor is it an excuse that the party enjoined derived no profit from performance of the forbidden acts,[81] especially where, although the party enjoined derives no profit, complainant is nevertheless injured and the spirit of the injunction is thereby violated.[82] The fact that the injury complained of was done before the service of the in-bankruptcy and officers who execute such petition are guilty of a contempt.—Cavagnaro v. Indian Tire & Rubber Co., 107 A. 643, 90 N.J.Ch. 532.

70. Cal.—Solano Aquatic Club v. Solano County Super. Ct., 131 P. 874, 165 Cal. 278—Golden Gate Cons. Hydraulic Min. Co. v. Yuba County Super. Ct., 3 P. 628, 65 Cal. 187.

71. Cal.—Solano Aquatic Club v. Solano County Super. Ct., 131 P. 874, 165 Cal. 278.
32 C.J. p 498 note 95.

72. Cal.—Solano Aquatic Club v. Solano County Super. Ct., supra.

73. Tex.—Ex parte Duncan, 95 S.W. 2d 675, 127 Tex. 507.
32 C.J. p 498 note 99.
Defenses in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt §§ 37-42.

74. N.J.—Hilton v. Hilton, 105 A. 65, 89 N.J.Eq. 417.
32 C.J. p 499 note 11.
Ability to obey see supra § 262.

Unusual rainfall
Violation of a decree requiring a dam to be so maintained as not to allow the water to rise above a certain level was not excused by the fact that there was an unusually heavy rainfall, where the level of the water could have been controlled by the timely operation of gates.—Clear Lake Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Mendocino County, 92 P.2d 921, 33 Cal.App.2d 710.

75. Ky.—Kentucky & Indiana Bridge Co. v. Krieger, 16 S.W. 824, 91 Ky. 625, 13 Ky.L. 219.

76. Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.

77. D.C.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., 33 App.D.C. 516.
32 C.J. p 501 note 47.

78. N.J.—In re Borough of Fort Lee, 155 A. 473, 108 N.J.Eq. 425.

79. Ind.—Mowrer v. State, 8 N.E. 561, 107 Ind. 539.
N.Y.—McQueen v. Babcock, 41 Barb. 337, affirmed 3 Abb.Dec. 129, 3 Keyes 428.

80. Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.
N.Y.—People v. Dwyer, 90 N.Y. 402, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 379.

Interference with patronage of store
In a proceeding to punish members of a labor union for violation of an injunction against picketing and boycotting complainants' store, the question of injury is not properly before the court; but injury is nevertheless sufficiently shown by evidence that during the continuance of the acts complained of there was almost a complete cessation of patronage of complainants' store.—Nusbaum v. Retail Clerks' International Protective Ass'n, 227 Ill.App. 206.

81. Ark.—Southwestern Loan & Finance Corporation v. Arkansas Transp. Co., 45 S.W.2d 501, 184 Ark. 1153.

82. Ark.—Southwestern Loan & Finance Corporation v. Arkansas Transp. Co., supra.

junction on defendant, and that his acts since the service of the injunction have done complainant no further injury, will not, when those acts were intended to make the injury complete, and the obvious intention of the interdict was to prohibit him from continuing the injury, relieve defendant from the effects of his violation of the injunction.[83]

Final determination adverse to complainant. Violation of a temporary injunction granted pendente lite is not excused merely because on final decree the complaint is dismissed and defendant adjudged entitled to a decree in his favor,[84] or where the injunction was granted pending determination of a question of jurisdiction which, although doubtful, was within the authority of the court to decide in the first instance, because it was ultimately determined that the court had no jurisdiction to grant final relief.[85]

Change in conditions or rights. It is no excuse for disobeying an injunction that there has been a change in the status which the injunction was granted to preserve,[86] or such a change in conditions or circumstances as would justify vacation, dissolution, or modification of the injunction,[87] at least where the changed condition is not due to operation of law.[88] Notwithstanding the acquisition of rights pendente lite, after preliminary injunction has been granted, which rights must or may be considered on final hearing in the cause, the preliminary injunction must be obeyed until modified.[89]

The effect of modification of the injunction on the liability of defendant for violation thereof is considered supra § 258.

Subsequent obedience. The fact that after violating the injunction defendant thereafter obeys it does not discharge his liability for previous violation of the injunction;[90] and diligence in ceasing to perform the acts enjoined is clearly immaterial as to the fact of prior disobedience of the injunction where there are statutes expressly providing that disobedience of any lawful judgment, order, or process of a court constitutes a contempt.[91]

Miscellaneous. In addition to the excuses considered supra this section, and those considered infra §§ 267, 268, and in the succeeding subdivisions of this section, there have been other adjudications as to the sufficiency of particular facts to excuse or justify a violation of particular injunction decrees.[92]

83. N.J.—Thropp v. Field, 25 N.J. Eq. 166.

84. Fla.—Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.

Reason for rule

Notwithstanding the dismissal of the bill and an order dissolving the injunction on final hearing by the lower court, the jurisdiction of an appellate court may be thereafter invoked to continue the injunction in force by way of supersedeas pending appeal.—Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., supra.

85. U.S.—Carter v. U. S., C.C.A.Ala., 135 F.2d 858.

86. Ill.—Fishwick v. Lewis, 260 Ill. App. 230.

Development of additional water supply

It is no defense to contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction restraining the diversion of waters that conditions have changed and an additional supply of water developed for the use of the party seeking to enforce the injunction.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.

87. Colo.—De La Mater v. Graves, 193 P. 552, 69 Colo. 255.

Ill.—Fishwick v. Lewis, 260 Ill.App. 230.

Md.—Emergency Hospital of Easton v. Stevens, 136 A. 101, 146 Md. 159.

Mo.—St. Joseph Brewing Co. v. Hauber, 132 S.W. 54, 151 Mo.App. 433.

N.J.—Alcorn v. Newark & Hackensack Traction Co., Ch., 48 A. 235.

Use of hospital facilities

Hospital enjoined from interfering with performance of operations by physician was guilty of contempt of court in refusing to permit such physician to perform operations, notwithstanding after injunction it had amended its constitution or by-laws so that such physician would be without right to operate without permission.—Emergency Hospital of Easton v. Stevens, 126 A. 101, 146 Md. 159.

88. Wash.—State v. Haiman, 171 P. 529, 100 Wash. 632.

89. N.J.—Alcorn v. Newark & Hackensack Traction Co., Ch., 48 A. 235. 32 C.J. p 498 note 5.

90. N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626—Root v. Conkling, 177 N.Y.S. 610, 108 Misc. 234.

Subsequent obedience as mitigating punishment see infra § 269.

91. Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.

92. Expression of opinion

Where a stockholder was restrained from making false and misleading statements about the management of a corporation, he could not excuse his violation of the injunction by the fact that in sending out letters containing misstatements he added the words "in my opinion," notwithstanding his claim that the phrase was added at the suggestion of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the misstatements complained of had appeared in a previous letter, and no objection thereto has been made by the commission at the argument of the motion for a preliminary injunction.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, C.C.A.N.Y., 137 F.2d 862, modifying, D.C., 48 F.Supp. 928.

Stockholder's presence after giving proxy

Where an injunction prohibited interference with the voting of certain shares of stock by a stockholder, and the parties restrained declined to count votes cast by the stockholder's proxy, contempt was not avoided because of a statute providing that the powers of a proxy shall be suspended if the person who executed the proxy is present at the meeting and elects to vote in person, where the stockholder, although present at the meeting, did not elect to vote in person.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 836, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P.2d 474, two cases.

Complainant's inability to supply electricity

A power company was held in no position to invoke contempt proceedings against another company against which it had obtained an injunction preventing such other company from furnishing electricity to consumers within the corporate limits of a particular town, where the

b. Acts or Conduct of Complainant

The acts or conduct of complainant may be such as to excuse a violation of an injunction granted to protect a private right, as, for example, where complainant has consented to, or acquiesced in, the violation; but such acts, to constitute an excuse, must be unequivocal, and done by one empowered to waive the particular violation.

Violation of an injunction granted to protect a private right may be excused by complainant's voluntary waiver of the right to have the injunction remain effective,[93] and the party enjoined will not be punished in contempt proceedings for breach of the injunction when the breach was committed with the consent or acquiescence of complainant.[94] Where the parties have entered into a stipulation that the injunction shall be dissolved, defendant cannot be punished for disobedience of its provisions,[95] even though an order vacating the writ is needed to complete the record.[96]

Waiver on the part of complainant, to constitute an excuse, must be clear and unequivocal,[97] and must not be of acts which the party restrained is required to perform by law and which cannot be dispensed with by agreement of the parties.[98] Acquiescence by plaintiff in the violation of the injunction by defendant must be of such a nature that it would have defeated the granting of the injunction had it been available to defendant at the time the injunction was granted.[99] Seeking a second injunction to prevent new and additional wrongs to the same property does not prevent complainant from instituting proceeding for acts constituting a violation of the first injunction granted to protect the property,[1] although there is authority holding that the commencement of a second action for injunction in itself affords evidence that the first action was abandoned, or in some manner disposed of.[2]

Wrongful acts by the party in whose favor an injunction was issued, committed after the violation of the injunction, do not prevent a punishment for the contempt;[3] a fortiori, the acts of the mayor of the city in favor of which the injunction was issued could not have that effect.[4] It is not a defense that plaintiff is infringing rights of defendant, the proper remedy being by an independent action at law or in equity.[5]

Use of decoy by complainant. The party enjoined has been held punishable for contempt for a violation of the injunction occurring in dealings with a decoy acting on behalf of the party at whose in-controversy involved the supply of electric current to a large consumer within the limits of the town whose demands the complaining power company was unable to supply.—Arkansas Power & Light Co. v. West Memphis Power & Water Co., 79 S.W.2d 991, 190 Ark. 594.

Advising order and obedience

Where a strike is inaugurated by a labor union and it sets in motion the force which results in coercion, intimidation, and violence, it cannot excuse itself for the part which it took in the conspiracy by the statement of its officers that they advised the members of the union to be orderly and obey the law.—Franklin Union No. 4 v. People, 77 N.E. 176, 220 Ill. 355, 110 Am.S.R. 248, 4 L.R.A.,N.S., 1001.

93. Wash.—Reed v. Reed, 270 P. 1028, 149 Wash. 352.

94. Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 374, 169 Miss. 314, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—Reed v. Reed, 270 P. 1028, 1029, 149 Wash. 352, citing Corpus Juris.

32 C.J. p 493 notes 43, 44.

Advice or consent of complainant as defense in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt § 39.

95. Ga.—Howard v. Durand, 36 Ga. 346, 360, 91 Am.D. 767.

Mich.—Ten Eyck v. Wing, 1 Mich. 40.

32 C.J. p 500 note 84.

96. Mich.—Ten Eyck v. Wing, supra.

97. Wash.—Reed v. Reed, 270 P. 1028, 149 Wash. 352.

Conditional stipulation

Attorney general's stipulation, subject to sheriff's approval, for sale of gasoline and payment of proceeds to sheriff by one enjoined from selling gasoline until payment of excise tax, did not justify violation of injunction, where sheriff's approval of stipulation was not shown nor any reason given for not obtaining it.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.

Inducement by plaintiff held not shown

A stockholder restrained by injunction from making false or misleading statements could not successfully claim that his violation in sending out such misstatements was induced by plaintiff, where he was explicitly warned by plaintiff not to send out a letter containing such misstatements.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, C.C.A. N.Y., 137 F.2d 862, modifying, D.C., 48 F.Supp. 928.

98. Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.

Sale of gasoline without permit

Attorney general could not stipulate to allow the sale of gasoline without a permit and thereby allow the gasoline vendor to violate an injunction prohibiting such sale.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, supra.

99. Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

1. U.S.—Bond v. Pennsylvania Co., Ill., 126 F. 749, 61 C.C.A. 355.

2. S.C.—South Carolina & G. R. Co. v. American Telephone & Telegraph Co., 43 S.E. 970, 65 S.C. 459. 32 C.J. p 499 note 18.

3. Pa.—Scranton v. People's Coal Co., 117 A. 673, 247 Pa. 63.

4. Pa.—Scranton v. People's Coal Co., supra.

5. Mo.—Breimeuer v. Star Bottling Co., 147 S.W. 526, 165 Mo.App. 383. 32 C.J. p 498 note 3.

Control of waters by plaintiff

Violation of a decree prohibiting defendant's diversion of waters beyond a prescribed extent, and providing for the appointment of a commissioner to supervise the distribution of the waters according to the terms of the decree, is not excused by the fact that the court did not appoint a commissioner and that plaintiff did not consent to any such appointment but instead took control of the waters, the extent to which defendant could use the waters being dependent on the terms of the decree and not on the appointment of a commissioner.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.

stance the injunction was granted.[6]

c. Authorization by Court, Legislature, or Third Parties

A party may ordinarily be relieved from the operation of an injunction only by the court which issued it, and not, for example, by municipal ordinances or directions of a third person. However, an act originally enjoined because it was illegal will not be punished after such act has been expressly authorized by the legislature.

Ordinarily a party may be relieved from the operation of an injunction absolutely prohibiting a certain act only by the court which granted it,[7] and cannot, for example, excuse the performance of the forbidden acts by showing that such acts were permitted by the resolutions or ordinances of a municipality,[8] or were done by authority and direction of a third person,[9] such as a governmental department[10] or a private organization.[11] However, where the basis for the issuance of an injunction was the lack of statutory or other authority to do the forbidden acts, and, subsequent to the issuance of an injunction defendant is expressly authorized by federal or state legislature to do the acts prohibited by the injunction, he is not guilty of a contempt in committing such acts,[12] at least if the legislation authorizing the acts is not unconstitutional and void.[13] Disobedience of an injunction against proceeding with an action may be punished as contempt notwithstanding a court of law allows the action to proceed;[14] but one who acts in obedience to the mandate of a higher court, although such acts are in contravention of an injunction issued by the lower court, is not guilty of contempt.[15]

§ 267. —— Good Faith

While the rule is not inflexible, it is generally considered that good faith, oversight, or absence of intent to violate an injunction does not excuse such violation. However, an injunction prohibiting only fraudulent or dishonest acts is not violated by acts done in good faith.

The general rule is that good faith, or the absence of an intention to violate the injunction, is no defense in a contempt proceeding,[16] and that defendant cannot purge himself of contempt by disavowing that he intended any disrespect to the court.[17] It is not a defense that defendant overlooked the provisions in the order which he disobeyed,[18] or that he failed or was unable to understand the scope of the injunction.[19] However, the rule that good faith affords no defense is not inflexible,[20] especially where, in addition to the cir-

6. U.S.—Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. McCrary, C.C.Mo., 182 F. 401.
32 C.J. p 493 note 45.

7. U.S.—Muller v. Henry, C.C.Cal., 17 F.Cas.No.9,916, 5 Sawy. 464.
Md.—Williamson v. Carnan, 1 Gill & J. 184.

8. N.H.—Fowler v. Beckman, 30 A. 1117, 66 N.H. 424.
32 C.J. p 500 note 32.

9. N.Y.—Krom v. Hogan, 4 How.Pr. 225, 2 Code Rep. 144.
32 C.J. p 498 note 6.

10. U.S.—Carlson v. Washington, 34 S.Ct. 717, 234 U.S. 103, 58 L.Ed. 1237, affirming 120 P. 104, 66 Wash. 639.
32 C.J. p 498 note 6[a].

11. U.S.—In re Higgins, C.C.Tex., 27 F. 443.
32 C.J. p 498 note 6 [b].

Union rules and regulations

The obligation of members of a labor union to obey its constitution, by-laws, rules, and regulations, and to refuse to work except with union-made materials, does not justify the officers and members of such union in a direct violation of the terms of an injunction restraining the calling of strikes or the institution of a boycott against complainant or products made in an open shop.—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill.App. 505, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.

12. Mass. Newton Rubber Works v. De las Casas, 84 N.E. 119, 198 Mass. 156.
32 C.J. p 500 note 30.

Permit from administrative board pursuant to statute

In summary proceeding for contempt for violating injunction and for order restraining violation of such injunction restraining defendants, pending appeal from injunction judgment, from interfering with relators' fishing in certain waters, neither motion nor order could be granted where defendants claimed waters under title acquired under permit from board of water engineers pursuant to statute, subsequent to injunction judgment and appeal therefrom.—Diversion Lake Club v. Heath, Tex.Civ.App., 52 S.W. 2d 380.

13. U.S.—State of Pennsylvania v. Wheeling & Belmont Bridge Co., Pa., 18 How. 421, 15 L.Ed. 435.

14. N.Y.—Bennett v. Leroy, 5 Abb. Pr. 156.

15. Or.—State v. Jacobs, 8 P. 332, 11 Or. 314.

16. U.S.—Lustgarten v. Felt & Tarrant Mfg. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 92 F.2d 277.
Cal.—Clear Lake Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Mendocino County, 92 P.2d 921, 33 Cal.App.2d 710.
Ga.—Patten v. Miller, 8 S.E.2d 786, 190 Ga. 152.
N.J.—In re Borough of Fort Lee, 155 A. 473, 108 N.J.Eq. 425.
Tex.—Lewis v. Clark, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 421, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.
32 C.J. p 499 note 23, p 498 note 40.
Want of intention as defense in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt § 42.

Violation by indirection

Bus company's avowed intention not to violate injunction against doing intra-state business was of no avail, where other conduct by it amounted to doing the prohibited acts by indirection.—Southwestern Loan & Finance Corporation v. Arkansas Transp. Co., 45 S.W.2d 501, 184 Ark. 1153.

17. N.C.—In re Parker, 99 S.E. 342, 177 N.C. 463.

18. Cal. Lake v. Kern County Super. Ct., 131 P. 371, 165 Cal. 182.

19. Pa.—Ferri v. Mulhern, Com.Pl., 36 Luz.Leg.Reg. 310.
Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.
32 C.J. p 500 note 25.

20. U.S.—International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America v. California State Brewers' Institute, D.C.Cal., 25 F.Supp. 870, reversed on other grounds, C.C.A., International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen cumstance that the violation was unintentional, it appears that no damage was caused to the party who obtained the injunction;[21] and an injunction which in effect prohibits only such acts as show fraud, dishonesty, or abuse of discretion is not violated by acts done in good faith, although they constitute an error in judgment or discretion.[22] As shown infra § 269, good faith is a proper matter to be considered in mitigation of punishment.

§ 268. —— Advice of Counsel

The violator of an injunction cannot defend his violation on the ground that he acted on advice of counsel.

It is no defense to the person violating the injunction that he acted on advice of counsel;[23] and especially is this so where defendant goes further than he is advised that he can go.[24] Parties alleged to have violated an injunction were held to have purged themselves of any contempt by showing that they were not lawyers and relied solely on the advice of the judge who tried the suit that their acts would not put them in contempt.[25]

§ 269. Matters in Mitigation

In mitigation of punishment the court may consider any fact properly affecting its discretion, such as the fact that the injunction was erroneously issued, that the acts complained of were done in good faith and caused no injury, and that the offender acted on advice of counsel.

Many facts which would not constitute a complete defense to contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction may nevertheless be considered in mitigation of the punishment,[26] such as the fact that the injunction was erroneously issued,[27] that the acts in violation were done in good faith and without intention to disobey the injunction[28] or to show disrespect to the court,[29] that they caused no substantial injury to the adverse party,[30] that the acts amounting to a violation constituted merely a technical contempt,[31] or that there had been a compliance with the injunction subsequent to the violation thereof.[32]

Advice of counsel. If the acts charged as constituting a contempt were committed under advice of counsel given and accepted in good faith, this fact may be considered in mitigating the punishment which shall be imposed for violation of the injunction.[33] However, advice of counsel cannot be urged in mitigation where disclosure is withheld as to what statement of facts was submitted to counsel or what advice was received.[34]

§ 270. Power to Punish

The court which issues an injunction has power to punish violations thereof as a contempt, such power being incident to the power to grant the injunction; and punishment may be imposed notwithstanding the violation occurred in a county, district, or division other than and Helpers v. International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, 106 F.2d 871.

Cal.—Ryan v. Busick, 194 P. 514, 50 Cal.App. 26.
N.Y.—Oakley v. Cokalete, 44 N.Y.S. 1070, 16 App.Div. 65.
32 C.J. p 499 note 22.

Bona fide attempt to comply with order
Neb.—Whipple v. Nelson, 293 N.W. 382, 138 Neb. 514.

Honest belief as to effect of appeal
N.Y.—City of Buffalo v. Kissinger, 40 N.Y.S.2d 188.

21. N.Y.—Strawberry Island Co. v. Cowles, 140 N.Y.S. 333, 79 Misc. 279.
32 C.J. p 499 note 22 [b], [c].

22. Mich.—Wolgamood v. Village of Constantine, 4 N.W.2d 697, 302 Mich. 384.

23. Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.
W.Va.—State v. Fink, 161 S.E. 557, 111 W.Va. 334.
32 C.J. p 500 note 27.
Advice of counsel:
As defense in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt § 38.
Considered in mitigation of punishment see infra § 269.

24. U.S.—Société Anonyme de la Distillerie de la Liqueur Benedictine, etc., v. Western Distilling Co., C.C.Mo., 42 F. 96.

25. Tex.—Lundberg v. City of Raymondville, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 539.

26. Failure to realize character of neglect to cease pollution of stream in violation of the injunction may be considered in mitigation of punishment.—In re Borough of Fort Lee, 155 A. 473, 108 N.J.Eq. 425.

Attorney general's agreement to sale of gasoline and payment of proceeds to sheriff by one enjoined from selling it without permit was competent evidence in mitigation of seller's conduct in violating injunction.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.

27. Wis.—State v. Green Lake County Cir. Ct., 73 N.W. 788, 98 Wis. 143.
32 C.J. p 500 note 39.

28. U.S.—Lustgarten v. Felt & Tarrant Mfg. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 92 F.2d 277.
Cal.—Clear Lake Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Mendocino County, 92 P.2d 921, 33 Cal.App.2d 710.
Tex.—Lewis v. Clark, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 421, error dismissed, judgment correct.
32 C.J. p 500 note 40.
Lack of intent as mitigating punishment in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt § 98.

29. N.J.—In re Borough of Fort Lee, 155 A. 473, 108 N.J.Eq. 425.
Tex.—Lewis v. Clark, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 421, error dismissed, judgment correct.
32 C.J. p 501 note 41.

30. U.S.—Comly v. Buchanan, C.C. Pa., 81 F. 58.
32 C.J. p 501 note 42.

31. U.S.—Merrimack River Sav. Bank v. City of Clay Center, Kan., 21 S.Ct. 295, 219 U.S. 527, 55 L.Ed. 320, Ann.Cas.1912A 513.
32 C.J. p 501 note 43, p 500 note 40 [a].

32. W.Va.—State v. Fink, 161 S.E. 557, 111 W.Va. 334.
32 C.J. p 501 note 44.

33. W.Va.—State v. Fink, supra.
32 C.J. p 501 note 45.

34. U.S.—U. S. v. Debs, C.C.Ill., 64 F. 724.
32 C.J. p 501 note 46.

that in which the court is located. Courts other than the one which issued the injunction may by statute be empowered to punish violations as for contempt.

The violation of an injunction is punishable as a contempt of court, as discussed supra § 257, and, while provision for such punishment is sometimes found in the statutes,[35] the power so to punish exists independently of statute[36] and is inherent in the court and incident to its power to grant injunctions or restraining orders.[37] The power to punish a violation of an injunction vests in the court which granted the injunction and, in the absence of statute, in that court alone.[38] However, under statutes making willful disobedience of the lawful process or other mandate of a court a crime, and vesting jurisdiction of such crimes in a designated criminal court, willful violation of an injunction is punishable not only by the court which issued the injunction but also by the court having jurisdiction of the criminal prosecution,[39] it being considered, under such statutes, that the act is not less punishable as a crime by the criminal court because it is also punishable as a contempt by the civil court.[40]

The court which issued the injunction may punish violations thereof notwithstanding the violations occur in another county;[41] and this result is not changed by constitutional provisions giving defendants in criminal prosecutions the right to be tried in the county in which the offense was committed.[42] By express statutory provisions in some jurisdictions the court may, in vacation[43] or at chambers,[44] punish one for violation of an injunction.

Action by, or appeal to, higher court. The vio-

35. N.Y.—Boon v. McGucken, 22 N.Y.S. 424, 67 Hun 251, 23 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 115.
32 C.J. p 501 note 49 [a].

Punishment for resistance to orders

Statutes providing for punishment of any willful disturbance calculated to interrupt the due course of the court's official proceedings and of any illegal resistance to any order or process made or issued by it obviously provide for punishment for contempt in the violation of an injunction.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

36. Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628.

37. Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 501 note 49.
Power to punish for contempt generally see Contempt § 43.

Purpose of punishment

The court may always punish the violator for the purpose of upholding and vindicating the authority and dignity of the court, and in appropriate cases it may punish the violator for the purpose of preserving and enforcing the rights of the persons for whose protection the injunction was granted.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

38. U.S.—Teele Soap Mfg. Co. v. Pine Tree Products Co., D.C.N.H., 8 F.Supp. 546—Steers v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 297 F. 116.
Ga.—Patten v. Miller, 8 S.E.2d 786, 190 Ga. 152.
Ill.—Ossey v. Retail Clerks' Union, 158 N.E. 162, 326 Ill. 405—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.
La.—Pizzolato v. Cataldo, 12 So.2d 677, 202 La. 675—Woodard v. Johnson, 152 So. 65, 178 La. 501.
32 C.J. p 501 note 51.
"The court which issues the injunction is the court against which the contempt is committed, and the court which has jurisdiction to deal with it."—Sullivan v. U. S., C.C.A. Okl., 4 F.2d 100, 101.

Judge of different circuit

Where the judge of the circuit before whom defendants, against whom a restraining order had been issued, were directed to appear was not absent from the circuit, the judge of another circuit had no jurisdiction over a contempt charge, notwithstanding the latter judge had, because of the absence of the former, granted the restraining order.—Casey v. King, 137 S.E. 546, 164 Ga. 28.

Change of judge

The Indiana statutes providing for a change of venue from the judge are limited to criminal contempt cases and do not apply to civil contempt proceedings; and, where a change of judge has been granted at the request of one who, although not a defendant in the original injunction suit, was a defendant in the contempt proceeding, the rights of all defendants to a further change are thereby exhausted.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E. 2d 563, 211 Ind. 628.

Notwithstanding dismissal as against an attorney, because of lack of evidence of his participation in the acts complained of, the court retained sufficient jurisdiction to punish him later for contempt where the final injunction ran against "defendants, their agents, servants, attorneys and counsellors, and anyone acting by, or through, or for them, or any of them, and all to whom notice of this injunction shall come."—Odell v. Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., C.C.A.Ill., 91 F.2d 359, 360, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 284, 302 U.S. 756, 82 L.Ed. 585, rehearing denied 58 S.Ct. 408, 302 U.S. 780, 82 L.Ed. 603.

In Kansas, under statute, disobedience of an injunction may be punished as a contempt by the court or any judge who might have granted it in vacation.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

The National Labor Relations Act did not defeat jurisdiction of equity court, which had issued preliminary injunction against sit-down strikers in unlawful possession of employer's property, to punish the strikers for contempt of court for violating the preliminary injunction.—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.

39. Mo.—Aalco Laundry & Cleaning Co. v. Laundry Linen & Towel Chauffeurs & Helpers Union Local No. 366, App., 115 S.W.2d 89.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Frank v. McCann, 170 N.E. 898, 253 N.Y. 221, affirming 237 N.Y.S. 85, 227 App. Div. 57.

40. N.Y.—People ex rel. Frank v. McCann, supra.

41. Colo.—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., 245 P. 485, 79 Colo. 289.

42. Colo.—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., supra.

43. Tex.—Ex parte Looper, 184 S.W. 345, 91 Tex.Cr. 129, Ann.Cas. 1918B 32.
W.Va.—Powhatan Coal & Coke Co. v. Ritz, 56 S.E. 257, 60 W.Va. 395, 9 L.R.A.,N.S., 1225.

44. S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.
32 C.J. p 501 note 51 [d].

lation of an injunction after a writ of prohibition has been issued by a supreme court directing a lower court to take no further action is punishable by the supreme court.[45] After a dissolved injunction has been reinstated by the appellate court, the lower court has authority to punish for a breach thereof.[46] There is authority holding that the violation of an injunction is a contempt of the lower court which granted it, and not of a court to which an appeal has been subsequently taken;[47] but, under the statutory provisions in some jurisdictions, the rule is that, where an appeal is taken from an order granting an injunction, the appellate court, and not the original trial court, has jurisdiction to punish, as for contempt of court, any disobedience of the injunction.[48]

Division or district of federal court. The federal district court of a particular division of a district may punish a violation of an injunction issued by it, notwithstanding the violation has occurred in another division of the same district,[49] or in another district of the same state[50] or circuit,[51] but, in the absence of waiver or consent by defendant,[52] the district court of a different division of the district may not punish,[53] even for a violation which has occurred in its division.[54]

§ 271. Proceedings to Punish

a. In general
b. Determination of character of proceeding
c. Who may institute proceedings
d. Time for instituting proceedings
e. Notice or process
f. Parties
g. Trial or hearing

a. In General

Although relief may be obtained for injuries sustained from violations of an injunction by an action for damages or for the penalty prescribed in the injunction order, injunctions are customarily enforced or their violation punished by contempt proceedings, which are sui generis and as a general rule may be either civil or criminal in nature.

Although the right to bring an action for the damages actually sustained by reason of the violation of the injunction or to recover the penalty prescribed in the injunction as an alternative remedy for the same injury is recognized,[55] the customary procedure by which an injunction is enforced or its violation punished is by proceedings in contempt.[56] Contempt proceedings have been held sui gener-

45. Colo.—People v. Tenth Judicial Dist. Ct., 68 P. 242, 29 Colo. 182.
La.—State v. Judge Eleventh Judicial Dist. Ct., 21 So. 94, 48 La.Ann. 1501.

46. U.S.—Dowagiac Mfg. Co. v. Minnesota Moline Plow Co., Minn., 124 F. 735, 61 C.C.A. 57.
Ala.—Gates v. McDaniel, 3 Port. 356.

47. Vt.—Alfred v. Alfred, 90 A. 580, 87 Vt. 542.

48. Ohio.—Menuez v. Grimes Candy Co., 83 N.E. 82, 77 Ohio St. 386, 11 Ann.Cas. 1037.
Tex.—International Ladies' Garment Workers' Local Union No. 123 v. Dorothy Frocks Co., Civ.App., 97 S.W.2d 379.
32 C.J. p 501 note 52 [a].

49. U.S.—Myers v. U. S., Mo., 44 S. Ct. 272, 264 U.S. 95, 68 L.Ed. 577—Steers v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 297 F. 116—McCourtney v. U. S., C.C.A. Mo., 291 F. 497, certiorari denied 44 S.Ct. 134, 263 U.S. 714, 68 L.Ed. 520.

50. U.S.—Sullivan v. U. S., C.C.A. Okl., 4 F.2d 100—Steers v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 297 F. 116.

Contrary authority
It has been held by a district court, without reference to the cases cited in support of the text proposition, that, under 29 U.S.C.A. § 111, individuals who violated a restraining order by acts committed outside the district of the court which granted the injunction were entitled to a trial in the district in which the violation allegedly occurred.—Houston & North Texas Motor Freight Lines v. Local No. 745, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, D.C.Tex., 27 F.Supp. 154.

51. U.S.—McGibbony v. Lancaster, C.C.A.La., 286 F. 129.

Extension of receivership to other districts
Where the jurisdiction of railroad receivers appointed by a federal district court is extended to other districts within the circuit, and an injunction is granted prohibiting interference with the receivers, the court issuing the injunction has jurisdiction to inflict punishment for a violation committed in one of the districts to which the receivership has been extended.—McGibbony v. Lancaster, supra.

52. U.S.—Cole v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 298 F. 86—Steers v. U. S., C.C.A. Mo., 297 F. 116.

53. U.S.—Cole v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 298 F. 86.

54. U.S.—Steers v. U. S., C.C.A.Mo., 297 F. 116.

Clayton Act inapplicable
The rule set forth in the text is not affected by the provisions of the Clayton Act to the effect that trial for certain contempts thereunder "shall be directed at a time and place fixed by the court," the words "time and place," as used, meaning a time or place within a statutory division of the district.—Steers v. U. S., supra.

55. Cal.—Kirby v. San Francisco Savings & Loan Soc., 273 P. 609, 95 Cal.App. 757.
32 C.J. p 509 note 8.

Recovery in one form of action will bar all recourse to another.—Lawton v. Herrick, 76 A. 986, 83 Conn. 417—Gorham v. City of New Haven, 66 A. 505, 79 Conn. 670.

56. U.S.—In re Debs, Ill., 15 S.Ct. 900, 158 U.S. 564, 39 L.Ed. 1092.
Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.
Cal.—Smith v. Smith, 116 P.2d 3, 18 Cal.2d 462.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
Tex.—Kimbrough v. State, Civ.App., 139 S.W.2d 165.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
Contempt proceedings for violation of injunction:
Abating a nuisance:
Generally see the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 135, also 46 C.J. p 799 note 69—p 801 note 13.
Liquor nuisance see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors § 426, also 33 C.J. p 701 note 21—p 704 note 71.

is,[57] and have been regarded as being of two classes, one criminal and punitive in nature and the other civil, remedial, and coercive in nature;[58] and, although there is authority to the contrary,[59] it has been held that where a single act of disobedience constitutes both a criminal and civil contempt the contempt proceeding must be either civil or criminal in nature and cannot combine both aspects.[60] There is also some authority which, either by force of special statutory provisions, or apparently without relying on any statute specifically so providing, holds that all contempt proceedings are criminal in nature.[61]

Contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction, except as modified by statutes relating specifically thereto, conform to, and are controlled by, the rules and statutes applicable in contempt proceedings generally.[62]

Entitling. If the contempt proceeding is criminal in nature it should ordinarily be prosecuted in the name of the state and entitled in the same manner as criminal prosecutions generally;[63] but if it is civil in nature, it should bear the same title as the injunction proceeding,[64] and may be prosecuted in the name of the injured party.[65] Where all contempt proceedings are considered criminal in nature, the practice in some jurisdictions is to prosecute them in the cause or proceeding out of which they arose, and they are properly entitled in the

Against infringement of patent see the C.J.S. title Patents § 356, also 48 C.J. p 381 note 78—p 385 note 46.

Contempt proceeding improper

Tex.—Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. v. Edgar, Civ.App., 107 S.W.2d 631, followed in Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. v. Railroad Commission of Texas, Civ.App., 107 S.W.2d 633.

57. U.S.—Myers v. U. S., Mo., 44 S. Ct. 272, 264 U.S. 95, 68 L.Ed. 577—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A.Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F. Supp. 491—U. S. v. French, D.C. Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.

Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

Mont.—State v. District Court of Eighth Judicial Dist., in and for Cascade County, 232 P. 204, 72 Mont. 206.

32 C.J. p 502 note 67.

Neither civil actions nor prosecutions for offenses

U.S.—Myers v. U. S., Mo., 44 S.Ct. 272, 264 U.S. 95, 68 L.Ed. 577—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A.Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412.

Contempt and crime

Acts violating an injunction may constitute a crime and contempt.—U. S. v. Debs, C.C.Ill., 64 F. 724, affirmed In re Debs, Ill., 15 S.Ct. 900, 158 U.S. 564, 39 L.Ed. 1092.

58. U.S.—Wasserman v. U. S., C.C. A.Mo., 161 F. 722, 88 C.C.A. 582, reversed on other grounds 166 F. 1022, 92 C.C.A. 669—Baltimore Transit Co. v. Flynn, D.C.Md., 50 F.Supp. 382.

Ind.—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind. App. 100.

Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.

Mo.—Limerick v. Riback, 224 S.W. 45, 201 Mo.App. 321.

N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

N.D.—Merchant v. Pielke, 83 N.W. 18, 9 N.D. 245.

Utah.—Davidson v. Munsey, 80 P. 743, 29 Utah 181.

Wyo.—Laramie Nat. Bank v. Steinhoff, 53 P. 299, 7 Wyo. 464.

32 C.J. p 502 note 68.

When question arises

Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 54 N.E 2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306, and reversing 48 N.E.2d 781, 319 Ill. App. 252.

Ky.—Allen v. Black Bus Lines, 164 S.W.2d 482, 291 Ky. 278.

Md.—Kelly v. Montebello Park Co., 118 A. 600, 141 Md. 194, 28 A.L.R. 33.

Quasi-criminal

Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

Criminal

U.S.—Hammond Lumber Co. v. Sailors' Union of the Pacific, C.C.Cal., 167 F. 809.

Civil

N.Y.—People ex rel. Negus v. Dwyer, 90 N.Y. 402, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 379.

59. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

60. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

61. Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641—Maier v. Luce, 215 P. 399, 61 Cal.App. 552.

La.—Pizzolato v. Cataldo, 12 So.2d 677, 202 La. 675.

Mont.—State v. District Court of Eighth Judicial Dist., in and for Cascade County, 232 P. 204, 72 Mont. 206.

Tex.—Ex parte Cox, 127 S.W.2d 443, 133 Tex. 152.

W.Va.—State v. Lewis, 168 S.E. 812, 113 W.Va. 529.

32 C.J. p 502 notes 60–61—13 C.J. p 59 note 97.

62. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

Criminal contempts

U.S.—U. S v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.

N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, 158 A. 435, 110 N.J.Eq. 42—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147—In re Larkin, 142 A. 822, 103 N.J.Eq. 195.

63. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S. Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.

Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

Wis.—Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Humphrey, 112 N.W. 1095, 132 Wis. 587, 13 L. R.A.,N.S., 591.

Proper titles

N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 341, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

64. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S. Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.

Fla.—Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.

La.—Pizzolato v. Cataldo, 12 So.2d 677, 202 La. 675.

Withdrawal of named party immaterial

La.—Pizzolato v. Cataldo, supra.

65. Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

style of the injunction proceeding and not as separate actions.[66]

b. Determination of Character of Proceeding

Various matters have been considered in determining whether the nature of a contempt proceeding is civil or criminal.

In jurisdictions where contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction may be either civil or criminal in nature, a number of elements have been resorted to in the determination of the nature of the proceeding.[67] In some instances the character of the proceeding is tested by a consideration of who conducts the prosecution,[68] or who is being prosecuted.[69] However, factors more generally considered as determinative are the character and manner of the violation and the purpose of the proceeding.[70] A criminal contempt is directed against the power and dignity of the court,[71] and a proceeding for contempt is of a criminal nature where its primary purpose is to preserve and vindicate public authority and dignity and punish for violation of the injunction.[72] On the other hand, where the primary purpose of the proceeding is the enforcement of civil rights and remedies of a party to a suit, the proceeding is civil in its nature.[73] While the character and manner of the violation may also be important in determining the nature of the proceedings, it is not always easy to classify a particular act as being either a civil or criminal contempt,[74] as it may partake of the characteristics of both, being neither wholly civil nor wholly criminal,[75] in which case the form in which the proceeding is brought may determine its character.[76]

66. Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641.

67. U.S.—McCann v. New York Stock Exchange, C.C.A.N.Y., 80 F.2d 211, certiorari denied McCann v. Leibell, 57 S.Ct. 233, 299 U.S. 603, 81 L.Ed. 444.

68. U.S.—McCann v. New York Stock Exchange, supra.
Wis.—Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Humphrey, 112 N.W. 1095, 132 Wis. 587, 13 L.R.A.,N.S., 591.

69. U.S.—Bessette v. W. B. Conkey Company, Ind., 24 S.Ct. 665, 194 U.S. 324, 48 L.Ed. 997.

Person not party to injunction suit
U.S.—Bessette v. W. B. Conkey Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 503 note 76.

70. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874—Dunham v. U. S., C.C.A.La., 289 F. 376.
Md.—Kelly v. Montebello Park Co., 118 A. 600, 141 Md. 194, 28 A.L.R. 33.
Pa.—Patterson v. Building Trades Council, 14 Pa.Dist. 839, 31 Pa.Co. 9, 401, 12 Luz.Leg.Reg. 241, 445, 9 North.Co. 330, 6 Lack.Jur. 193, affirmed Patterson v. Wyoming Val. Dist. Council, 31 Pa.Super. 112.

Proceedings held criminal
U.S.—Carter v. U. S., C.C.A.Ala., 135 F.2d 858—Dunham v. U. S., C.C.A. La., 289 F. 376.

71. U.S.—Bessette v. W. B. Conkey Co., Ind., 24 S.Ct. 665, 194 U.S. 324, 48 L.Ed. 997.
32 C.J. p 503 note 74.

72. U.S.—Carter v. U. S., C.C.A.Ala., 135 F.2d 858.
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 40.
Md.—Kelly v. Montebello Park Co., 118 A. 600, 141 Md. 194, 28 A.L.R. 33.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Utah.—Davidson v. Munsey, 80 P. 743, 29 Utah 181.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
32 C.J. p 502 note 73.

Offense against society
N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89.

73. Ill.—People v. Diedrich, 30 N.E. 1038, 141 Ill. 655.
Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.
Ky.—Allen v. Black Bus Lines, 164 S.W.2d 482, 291 Ky. 278.
Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, App., 168 S.W.2d 105.
N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89.
Or.—State v. Mart, 295 P. 459, 135 Or. 603.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
32 C.J. p 503 note 77.

Contempt proceeding held civil
(1) In general.
Ala.—In re Willis, 5 So.2d 716, 242 Ala. 284.
Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.

(2) If, in the progress of a suit, a party is ordered by the court to abstain from some action which is injurious to the rights of the adverse party, and he disobeys that order, he may be guilty of contempt, but the personal injury to the party in whose favor the court has made the order gives a remedial character to the contempt proceeding.—Bessette v. W. B. Conkey Co., Ind., 24 S.Ct. 665, 194 U.S. 324, 48 L.Ed. 997.

(3) While the authority of the court will be incidentally vindicated, its power has been called into exercise for the benefit of a private litigant, and not in the public interest, merely.
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966.
Wyo.—Laramie Nat. Bank v. Steinhoff, 53 P. 299, 7 Wyo. 464.

Strike injunction
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill. App. 40—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill.App. 505, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.
Pa.—Patterson v. Building Trades Council, 14 Pa.Dist. 839, 31 Pa.Co. 9, 401, 12 Luz.Leg.Reg. 241, 445, 9 North.Co. 330, 6 Lack.Jur. 193, affirmed Patterson & Wyoming Val. Dist. Council, 31 Pa.Super. 112.

74. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
32 C.J. p 502 note 69.

Contempt held criminal
U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940.
Del.—State v. Nouris, 136 A. 887, 15 Del.Ch. 282.

75. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
Wis.—Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Humphrey, 112 N.W. 1095, 132 Wis. 587, 13 L.R.A.,N.S., 591.
32 C.J. p 502 note 70.

76. Wis.—Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Humphrey, supra.

If the petitioner seeks to establish both civil and criminal liability for the contempt, the criminal feature must be regarded as dominant and fixing the character of the trial.[77] The intent with which the violation was made may be a distinguishing element in determining the nature of the contempt,[78] willfulness having been held a necessary element of a criminal contempt,[79] but, although willful disobedience of an injunction may constitute a criminal contempt,[80] it may also constitute a civil contempt.[81] A test by which the nature of the proceedings may sometimes,[82] although not always,[83] be distinguished is whether the conduct with which defendant is charged is the refusing to do an act commanded or the doing of a prohibited act. If the proceedings are for disobedience of an injunction by acts committed in violation of what defendant has been ordered not to do they will ordinarily be considered as criminal and not civil in nature.[84]

Ancillary or independent proceeding. Although it has been stated generally that a contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction is an independent proceeding and not part of the original cause,[85] it has been held that the civil or criminal nature of the contempt proceeding determines whether it is ancillary or independent of the injunction proceeding.[86] If the contempt proceeding is criminal in nature, it is a distinct or independent proceeding,[87] but where it is civil in nature it is a part of, or ancillary to, the main cause in which the injunction was issued.[88]

Style of proceeding. The style of the proceeding is not controlling as to its nature, and the mere fact that it was not instituted in the name of the state will not change its character from a criminal to a civil nature.[89]

c. Who May Institute Proceedings

Contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction may be instituted by the party in whose favor the injunction was granted, but not by strangers where the proceeding is civil in nature. If criminal, the state is a proper party to institute the proceeding.

In accordance with general rules, contempt proceedings of a civil nature for violation of an injunction may be instituted by the party in whose favor the injunction was granted,[90] and it has been held not necessary that the persons who institute such proceedings be parties to the original action.[91] If the injunction operates in rem and affects the use of realty, an assignee or transferee becomes a

77. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

78. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

79. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.

80. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.
N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626.
32 C.J. p 502 note 65.

81. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

82. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Ind.—Locrasto v. State, 173 N.E. 456, 202 Ind. 277.
N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

83. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

84. U.S.—Reeder v. Morton-Gregson Co., C.C.A.Neb., 296 F. 785.
Ind.—Oakland Coal Co. v. Wilson, 149 N.E. 54, 196 Ind. 501.
Md.—Kelly v. Montebello Park Co., 118 A. 600, 141 Md. 194, 28 A.L.R. 33.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Mo.—Limerick v. Riback, 224 S.W. 45, 204 Mo.App. 321.
N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89.
32 C.J. p 503 note 84.
Contumacious violation
N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

85. U.S.—U. S. v. French, D.C.Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.

86. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

87. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 40.
Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.
N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
Proceeding at law
U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940.
Failure to make separate cause is a fatal infirmity.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89.

88. U.S.—Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., Mass., 52 S.Ct. 238, 284 U.S. 448, 76 L.Ed. 389, reversing in part Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co. v. Leman, C.C.A., 50 F.2d 699, certiorari granted Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., 52 S.Ct. 33, 284 U.S. 605, 76 L.Ed. 519—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187—Fiedler v. Bambrick Bros. Constr. Co., 142 S. W. 1111, 162 Mo.App. 528.
Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 136 P. 2d 982, 190 Okl. 649.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
Motion in original cause
N.D.—Merchant v. Pielke, 33 N.W. 18, 9 N.D. 245.

89. Mo.—Limerick v. Riback, 224 S. W. 45, 204 Mo.App. 321.

90. Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, App., 168 S.W.2d 105.
N.D.—Merchant v. Pielke, 33 N.W. 18, 9 N.D. 245.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

91. Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 238 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.

successor to the right of plaintiff and may initiate the contempt proceeding;[92] but if the injunction operates only in personam, in order for one to be entitled to institute the proceeding as a successor in right, he must occupy a status such as the personal representative substituted for deceased plaintiff after final decree, or the receiver of a corporation which was plaintiff in the injunction suit.[93] However, only those who have a present interest in the right or property protected may institute civil contempt proceedings, that is, the offense complained of must be injurious to the rights of plaintiff in the action,[94] as distinguished from those of the general public,[95] and it has been held that one who was not a party to the injunction proceeding and is not in privity with him is not entitled to have remedial punishment for his benefit imposed on the violator.[96]

While a criminal contempt proceeding may be instigated at the instance of the person in whose favor the injunction violated was granted,[97] the courts and the people are interested in its prosecution,[98] and where the injunction forbids acts which are in themselves an offense against the criminal laws of the state, the public is interested and every citizen has a right to make a complaint against persons who in violating the order of the court at the same time violate the criminal laws of the state.[99]

Where the court which granted the injunction took no steps toward holding defendant in contempt for disregarding its injunction, but instead granted an appeal, the appellate court is not called on, of its own motion, to proceed in the matter of contempt.[1]

d. Time for Instituting Proceedings

Although a reasonable time is allowed in which to commence contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction, laches after the violation may justify a denial of the application.

Where plaintiff in the injunction suit is suffering damage by reason of acts committed by defendant in violation of the injunction, he need not wait until the injurious acts have been fully completed and the full extent of the damages ascertained before proceeding against defendant to punish him for contempt.[2] However, while plaintiff is entitled to a reasonable time in which to commence contempt proceedings,[3] a long delay after the violation before making application to punish for contempt may be sufficient to justify the court in denying the application;[4] but the mere lapse of time since the rendition of the injunction decree will not bar a contempt proceeding against a person amenable to the injunction for its violation,[5] especially where the proceedings are criminal in character.[6] Hence, mere lapse of time between entry of the injunction order and its ultimate execution by issuance and service of the writ will not bar a proceeding for contempt against one who has knowingly violated it,[7] except where plaintiff's failure to obtain issuance of and to serve the injunction writ is of such a nature as to mislead defendant and make it reasonable for him to suppose that plaintiff does not intend to execute the order for an injunction.[8]

92. La.—Pizzolato v. Cataldo, 12 So. 2d 677, 202 La. 675.
Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, App., 168 S.W.2d 105.

93. Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, supra.

94. Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, App., 168 S.W.2d 105, 109, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 504 note 93.

95. U.S.—Castner v. Pocahontas Collieries Co., C.C.Va., 117 F. 184.

96. N.Y.—People v. Ribas, 276 N.Y. S. 551, 153 Misc. 703.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

97. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, supra.

Head of government bureau who is authorized by statute to bring all actions to restrain violations of a particular statute may institute contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction granted to restrain violations of such statute.—Fleming v. Warshawsky & Co., C.C.A.Ill., 123 F. 2d 622, reversing, D.C., 36 F.Supp. 138.

98. Ind.—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind.App. 100.

99. U.S.—Castner v. Pocahontas Collieries Co., C.C.Va., 117 F. 184.
32 C.J. p 504 note 95.

1. Tenn.—Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Miles, 130 S.W.2d 111, 174 Tenn. 676.

2. Wis.—Stollenwerk v. Klovenow, 139 N.W. 203, 151 Wis. 355.

3. Tex.—Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Ft. Worth & N. O. R. Co., 2 S. W. 199, 68 Tex. 98, reheard 3 S.W. 564, 68 Tex. 98.

4. U.S.—Matheson v. Hanna-Schoellkopf Co., C.C.Pa., 122 F. 836.
Limitations and laches in contempt proceedings generally see Contempt § 67.

Laches not shown
U.S.—California Fruit Growers Exchange v. Sunkist Drinks, D.C.N.Y., 25 F.Supp. 401.

5. Kan.—State v. Durein, 27 P. 148, 46 Kan. 695.
32 C.J. p 504 note 2.

Delay held excessive
Mont.—State ex rel. Cook v. District Court of Ninth Judicial Dist in and for Glacier County, 69 P.2d 746, 105 Mont. 72.

6. U.S.—Tosh v. West Kentucky Coal Co., Ky., 252 F. 44, 164 C.C. A. 156, 15 A.L.R. 376.

7. U.S.—Radio Corporation of America v. Cable Radio Tube Corporation, C.C.A.N.Y., 66 F.2d 778, certiorari denied Cable Piano Tube Corporation v. Radio Corporation of America, 54 S.Ct. 373, two cases, 290 U.S. 703, 78 L.Ed. 604.
Kan.—State v. Durein, 27 P. 148, 46 Kan. 695.
Knowledge or notice of injunction see supra § 261.

8. U.S.—Radio Corporation of America v. Cable Radio Tube Corporation, C.C.A.N.Y., 66 F.2d 778, certiorari denied Cable Piano Tube Corporation v. Radio Corporation of America, 54 S.Ct. 373, two cases, 290 U.S. 703, 78 L.Ed. 604—McCormick v. Jerome, C.C.N.Y., 15 F.Cas.No.8,721, 3 Blatchf. 486.

A statute imposing a limitation period on proceedings for criminal contempt is inapplicable to a civil contempt proceeding.[9]

e. Notice or Process

The party charged with contempt is entitled to due notice of the proceedings.

Whether the proceedings to punish for contempt in violating the provisions of an injunction are civil or criminal in their character the party charged with the contempt is entitled to due notice of the proceedings,[10] and general rules apply in determining the character and sufficiency of the notice.[11]

f. Parties

In general contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction, if of a civil nature, are between the parties to the injunction proceeding, and, if of a criminal nature, are between the state and the violator of the injunction.

As a general rule contempt proceedings of a civil nature are between the parties to the injunction proceeding.[12] Ordinarily the party in whose favor the injunction was granted and for the protection of whose private rights and interests the contempt proceeding was instituted is the chief or real party in interest.[13] However, where the gravity of the situation warrants it, the state may properly be made a party to contempt proceedings instituted by a private party for the enforcement of its civil rights.[14]

Where the contempt proceeding is of a criminal nature it is between the public and the violator of the injunction;[15] private parties have little, if any, interest in proceedings for the punishment of a criminal contempt,[16] and the parties in whose favor the injunction was granted are not ordinarily proper parties to a criminal contempt proceeding for its violation.[17]

Misjoinder of parties. Persons who were not parties to the injunction proceeding cannot properly be joined as defendants with persons who were parties thereto in a contempt proceeding for violation of the injunction.[18]

g. Trial or Hearing

(1) In general
(2) Scope of inquiry

(1) In General

In general the alleged contemnor is entitled to a trial or hearing, which is summary and by the court, and is in substantial conformity with that followed in contempt proceedings generally.

A person charged with contempt for violation of an injunction is entitled to a hearing thereon.[19] Where not controlled by statute, the conduct of the hearing is in substantial conformity with that attending the hearing of issues in contempt proceedings generally.[20] Ordinarily the trial of the con-

9. U.S.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A.Mass., 126 F.2d 370—Odell v. Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., C.C.A.Ill., 91 F. 2d 359, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 284, 302 U.S. 756, 82 L.Ed. 585, rehearing denied 58 S.Ct. 408, 302 U. S. 780, 82 L.Ed. 603.

10. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.
Wyo.—Federal Land Bank of Omaha v. Sells, 280 P. 98, 40 Wyo. 498.
32 C.J. p 504 note 4.

Reasonable notice
Mo.—Sands v. Richardson, App., 252 S.W. 990.

11. Wash.—Blanchard v. Golden Age Brewing Co., 63 P.2d 397, 188 Wash. 396.
Wyo.—Federal Land Bank of Omaha v. Sells, 280 P. 98, 40 Wyo. 498.

Citation insufficient
Mo.—Sands v. Richardson, App., 252 S.W. 990.

Precept
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

Rule to show cause
Ill.—Parsons v. People, 51 Ill.App. 467.
Wash.—State v. Plese, 235 P. 961, 134 Wash. 443.

12. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S. Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

13. Ind.—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind.App. 100.
32 C.J. p 503 note 82.

14. Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

Labor dispute
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, supra.

15. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

16. U.S.—Bessette v. W. B. Conkey Co., Ind., 24 S.Ct. 665, 194 U.S. 324, 48 L.Ed. 997.
D.C.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Company, 33 App.D.C. 516.

17. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

18. Ga.—Tomlin v. Rome Stove & Range Co., 187 S.E. 879, 183 Ga. 183—Morris Fertilizer Co. v. Boykin, 101 S.E. 799, 149 Ga. 673.

19. Ohio.—Albert v. Gus Juengling & Son Co., 152 N.E. 29, 115 Ohio St. 64.

Person not party to injunction proceeding
Ohio.—Albert v. Gus Juengling & Son Co., supra.

Grounds for dismissal
Wis.—State v. Meese, 229 N.W. 31, 200 Wis. 454, reversing 225 N.W. 746, 200 Wis. 454.

20. Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 48 N. E.2d 781, 319 Ill.App. 252, reversed on other grounds 54 N.E.2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, and dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306.
N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

Time for trial
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

Refusal of continuance held proper
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, supra.

Reception of evidence
All the evidence relating to the acts of several defendants charged in separate petitions with violating the tempt proceeding is summary[21] and by the court,[22] since, as appears in the C.J.S. title Juries §§ 35, 79, also 35 C.J. p 170 note 63–p 171 note 64, p 194 note 14–p 195 note 22, in the absence of statute authorizing it there is no right of trial by jury. Where the trial is by jury, on conflicting evidence, questions of fact are for the jury.[23]

Testimony of defendant. If the proceeding for contempt is criminal in its nature defendant may testify on the hearing if he chooses,[24] and if he does he may be cross-examined on the whole case;[25] but he cannot be compelled to testify against himself.[26] On the other hand, if the proceeding is civil in its nature the petitioner may call defendant as a witness.[27]

Dismissal. Where the case presented is insufficient to warrant an adjudication of contempt against defendant a motion to dismiss the contempt proceeding may be granted.[28]

Reopening case. The propriety of reopening the case after the judge has announced his opinion rests in the sound discretion of the court.[29]

(2) Scope of Inquiry

In general the only questions open for consideration are the jurisdiction of the court to award the injunction and whether it has been violated.

In general the only questions open for consideration in proceedings for contempt in violating an injunction are whether the court had jurisdiction to award the injunction[30] and whether it has been violated.[31] The court will not inquire into the merits of the case in which the injunction was issued,[32] injunction may be taken before a master in one hearing of testimony. —Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488, affirming 226 Ill.App. 505, 532.

21. Kan.—State v. Cutler, 13 Kan. 131.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

22. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940, certiorari granted 44 S.Ct. 229, 263 U.S. 698, 68 L.Ed. 512.
Ill.—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372.

23. U.S.—McCourtney v. U. S., C.C. A.Mo., 291 F. 497, certiorari denied 44 S.Ct. 134, 263 U.S. 714, 68 L. Ed. 520.

24. N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

25. N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, supra.

26. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940, certiorari granted 44 S.Ct. 229, 263 U.S. 698, 68 L.Ed. 512—U. S. v. Balaban, D. C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.
32 C.J. p 503 note 89.

27. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

Documentary evidence
Pa.—Patterson v. Building Trades Council, 14 Pa.Dist. & Co. 839, 31 Pa.Co. 9, 401, affirmed Patterson v. Wyoming Val.Dist. Council, 31 Pa.Super. 112.

28. U.S.—International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America v. California State Brewers' Institute, D.C.Cal., 25 F.Supp. 870, reversed on other grounds, C.C.A., International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers v. International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, 106 F. 2d 871.

29. Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

30. Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 54 N. E.2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306, and reversing 48 N.E.2d 781, 319 Ill.App. 252—Court Rose No. 12, Foresters of America, of Spring Valley v. Corna, 117 N.E. 144, 279 Ill. 605—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N. E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372.
32 C.J. p 506 note 42.
Validity of injunction order as affecting power in general to punish in contempt for violation see supra § 259.

Jurisdiction of court held to exist
Cal.—Gomes v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1060, 30 Cal.2d 650.
Wis.—John F. Jelke Co. v. Hill, 242 N.W. 576, 208 Wis. 650.

31. Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 54 N. E.2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306, and reversing 48 N.E.2d 781, 319 Ill.App. 252—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488, affirming 226 Ill.App. 505, 532—Court Rose No. 12, Foresters of America, of Spring Valley v. Corna, 117 N. E. 144, 279 Ill. 605—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—Fishwick v. Lewis, 260 Ill. App. 230.
Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.
Mass.—Bacon v. Onset Bay Grove Ass'n, 190 N.E. 713, 286 Mass. 487.
N.J.—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N.J.Misc. 245, 358.
N.C.—Williamson v. City of High Point, 200 S.E. 388, 214 N.C. 693.
32 C.J. p 506 note 43.

Indirect violation
Wis.—State v. Meese, 229 N.W. 31, 200 Wis. 454, reversing 225 N.W. 746, 200 Wis. 454.

Good faith
Cal.—Gomes v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1060, 30 Cal.2d 650.

32. U.S.—U. S. v. French, D.C.Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.
Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P.2d 474, two cases.
Colo.—Blanc v. People ex rel. Wilcoxson, 28 P.2d 801, 94 Colo. 10.
Ill.—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill. App. 505, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.
Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628.
Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.
Mass.—Bacon v. Onset Bay Grove Ass'n, 190 N.E. 713, 286 Mass. 487.
Neb.—Skinner v. Ashford, 268 N.W. 81, 131 Neb. 338.
N.M.—State v. Patten, 69 P.2d 931, 41 N.M. 395.
32 C.J. p 506 note 40.

Cannot modify injunction
N.C.—Williamson v. City of High Point, 200 S.E. 388, 214 N.C. 693.

and matters which were or could have been adjudicated in the original suit cannot be considered in the contempt proceedings[33] unless they involve the jurisdiction of the court.[34] Thus the sufficiency of the bill on which the injunction was granted cannot be questioned,[35] nor can objections that the order for the injunction was made erroneously,[36] or that it is too broad,[37] be considered.

It has been held, however, that it is essential to sustain the conviction of a person for a civil contempt of court that there shall exist not only jurisdiction in the court or officer granting the order which has been disobeyed, but also a valid cause of action in the aggrieved party;[38] and in jurisdictions where remedial punishment will not be imposed on the violator if the injunction should not have been granted error in granting the injunction may be considered in a civil proceeding for contempt.[39] Also it would seem that, in jurisdictions where error in granting the injunction may affect the extent of punishment to be imposed in proceedings criminal in nature, inquiry as to the propriety of granting the injunction would be proper on the question of the extent of, but not the liability to, punishment.[40] Furthermore it has been held that the fact that the injunction has been dissolved may be taken into consideration in determining the equities in the proceedings for contempt.[41]

§ 272. —— Pleadings and Affidavits

a. In general
b. Sufficiency
c. Issues, proof, and variance

a. In General

The accusatory pleadings should be written and vary in form according to the practice in the particular jurisdiction.

In accordance with the rules applicable to contempt proceedings generally for acts committed out of the presence of the court, proceedings for contempt based on acts in violation of an injunction, whether of a civil or criminal nature, must be instituted by a written accusation,[42] at least where the contemnor was not a party to the injunction proceeding,[43] and various forms of accusation have been held permissible or required.[44] Thus it has been held that they may be instituted by petition,[45] affidavit,[46] or by information, if the proceedings are

Issues in main case held not determined
N.J.—Mount v. Matthews, 133 A. 299, 99 N.J.Eq. 839.

33. Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P.2d 474, two cases.
Ill.—Ossey v. Retail Clerks' Union, 158 N.E. 162, 326 Ill. 405—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488, affirming 226 Ill.App. 505, 532.
Neb.—Skinner v. Ashford, 268 N.W. 81, 131 Neb. 338.
32 C.J. p 506 note 41.

Law of the case
N.Y.—S. Blechman & Sons v. Osman, 296 N.Y.S. 285, 251 App.Div. 271.

34. N.Y.—People ex rel. Sandnes v. Sheriff of Kings County, 299 N.Y.S. 9, 164 Misc. 355.
Collateral attack on adjudication of contempt see infra § 274.

Existence of labor dispute
N.Y.—People ex rel. Sandnes v. Sheriff of Kings County, supra.

35. U.S.—U. S. v. Debs, C.C.Ill., 64 F. 724.
Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P. 2d 474, two cases.
Ill.—Lyon & Healy v. Piano, Organ & Musical Instrument Workers' International Union, 124 N.E. 443, 289 Ill. 176—O'Brien v. People, 75 N. E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 400.

Failure to state cause of action
N.M.—State v. Patten, 69 P.2d 931, 41 N.M. 395.
N.Y.—People v. McKane, 28 N.Y.S. 981, 78 Hun 154.

36. U.S.—Brotherhood of Railway and S. S. Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, Southern Pac. Lines in Texas and Louisiana, v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., D.C.Tex., 24 F.2d 426, affirmed, C.C. A., Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, 33 F.2d 13, certiorari granted 50 S.Ct. 88, 280 U.S. 550, 74 L. Ed. 608, affirmed 50 S.Ct. 427, 281 U.S. 548, 74 L.Ed. 1034.
Ill.—People v. Dyer, 108 N.E. 994, 268 Ill. 156, Ann.Cas.1916D 785.
N.J.—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N. J.Misc. 245, 358.
32 C.J. p 506 note 44.

37. Ill.—Lyon & Healy v. Piano, Organ & Musical Instrument Workers' International Union, 124 N.E. 443, 289 Ill. 176.
Mass.—Bacon v. Onset Bay Grove Ass'n, 190 N.E. 713, 286 Mass. 487—Irving & Casson-A. H. Davenport Co. v. Howlett, 118 N.E. 901, 229 Mass. 560.
N.J.—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N.J.Misc. 245, 358.

Injunction broader than bill
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 400.

38. N.Y.—People v. McKane, 28 N.Y. S. 981, 78 Hun 154—Northland Rubber Co., Inc. v. International Auto League, 143 N.Y.S. 9.

39. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

40. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, supra.

41. U.S.—Shuler v. Raton Waterworks Co., N.M., 247 F. 634, 160 C. C.A. 44.

42. Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P.2d 982, 190 Okl. 649—Rocher v. Williams, 83 P.2d 867, 183 Okl. 613.
Tex.—Ex parte Cox, 127 S.W.2d 443, 133 Tex. 152.

43. Ohio.—Albert v. Gus Juenglung & Son Co., 152 N.E. 29, 115 Ohio St. 64.

44. U.S.—Hammond Lumber Co. v. Sailors' Union of the Pacific, C.C. Cal., 149 F. 577.

Alternative forms permitted
U.S.—Hammond Lumber Co. v. Sailors' Union of the Pacific, supra.
Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.
Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

45. Ill.—Hake v. People, 82 N.E. 561, 230 Ill. 174.
32 C.J. p 504 note 9.

Petition as indictment
N.J.—In re Staire, 162 A. 195, 111 N.J.Eq. 285.

46. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.

of a criminal character;[47] but even in criminal proceedings for contempt an information or indictment has been held not necessary,[48] so long as the charges are set forth in a verified complaint or affidavit.[49]

An affidavit filed after the trial, without notice to defendant, is not a sufficient basis for contempt proceedings.[50]

Answer and reply. Defendant may file a formal answer to the accusatory pleading.[51] In some jurisdictions he may answer either by affidavit, verified answer, or plea of not guilty.[52] The filing of replies is proper only in a civil contempt case.[53]

b. Sufficiency

The complaint or affidavit in contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction should allege sufficient facts to charge a contempt by defendant.

In accordance with general rules, the initiatory pleadings in contempt proceedings for violation or disregard of an injunction must allege sufficient facts to charge a contempt by defendant,[54] as no intendment or presumption will be indulged in to aid the complaint or affidavit.[55] The charges must be clearly set forth,[56] and, while it has been held that general declarations or ultimate facts only are required,[57] and that it is not necessary to set forth the evidence by which the general declarations are to be established,[58] in a proper case,[59] a bill of particulars may be exacted.[60] It has also been held that the complaint must clearly and fairly apprise the person charged of the nature and cause of the accusation against him,[61] and that the acts con-

Cal.—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734—Ex parte Wood, 227 P. 908, 194 Cal. 49—Ex parte Wenzler, 74 P.2d 297, 23 Cal.App.2d 726—Ex parte Morford, 31 P.2d 406, 137 Cal.App. 662.

Kan.—State v. Cutler, 13 Kan. 131.

Or.—State v. Rogers, 265 P. 784, 124 Or. 656.

Utah.—Liquor Control Commission v. McGillis, 65 P.2d 1136, 91 Utah 586.

Wyo.—Federal Land Bank of Omaha v. Sells, 280 P. 98, 40 Wyo. 498.

32 C.J. p 504 note 10.

47. U.S.—Castner v. Pocahontas Collieries Co., C.C.Va., 117 F. 184.

48. U.S.—Jennings v. U. S., C.C.A. Mo., 264 F. 399—U. S. v. Agler, C. C.Ind., 62 F. 824.

49. U.S.—Jennings v. U. S., C.C.A. Mo., 264 F. 399.

32 C.J. p 504 note 13.

50. Wyo.—Federal Land Bank of Omaha v. Sells, 280 P. 98, 40 Wyo. 498.

51. U.S.—Hammond Lumber Co. v. Sailors' Union of the Pacific, C.C. Cal., 149 F. 577.

52. Mont.—State v. District Court of Eighth Judicial Dist., in and for Cascade County, 232 P. 204, 72 Mont. 206.

53. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 318, 203 Ind. 682.

54. Cal.—Ex parte McDonald, 16 P. 2d 995, 217 Cal. 29—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734—Ex parte Wood, 227 P. 908, 194 Cal. 49—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641—Ex parte Wenzler, 74 P.2d 297, 23 Cal.App.2d 726—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal. App. 713.

Colo.—Fort v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 319, 81 Colo. 431, followed in Western Seed Co. v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 329, 81 Colo. 448.

Mich.—Michigan Gas & Electric Co. v. City of Dowagiac, 262 N.W. 762, 273 Mich. 153.

Wash.—State v. Piese, 235 P. 961, 134 Wash. 443.

W.Va.—State v. Lewis, 168 S.E. 812, 113 W.Va. 529—State ex rel. Mineral State Coal Co. v. Komar, 168 S.E. 810, 113 W.Va. 526.

32 C.J. p 504 note 17.

Averments held sufficient

Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P.2d 474, two cases—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734—Ex parte Wood, 227 P. 908, 194 Cal. 49—Clear Lake Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Mendocino County, 92 P.2d 921, 33 Cal.App.2d 710—Ex parte Morford, 31 P.2d 406, 137 Cal.App. 662.

Ga.—Roberson v. Orr, 122 S.E. 781, 158 Ga. 34.

Ill.—Sefcik Dairy Co. v. Jurca, 6 N.E. 2d 481, 288 Ill.App. 618, transferred, see 194 N.E. 508, 359 Ill. 237.

Mass.—State ex rel. Silve v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist. in and for Judith Basin County, 69 P.2d 972, 105 Mont. 106.

Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.

Averments held insufficient

U.S.—Edwards v. U. S., C.C.A.Cal., 123 F.2d 465.

55. Cal.—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal.App. 713.

56. U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.

Utah.—Liquor Control Commission v. McGillis, 65 P.2d 1136, 91 Utah 586.

Pleadings held sufficient

U.S.—U. S. v. French, D.C.Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.

Pleadings held insufficient

Kan.—Heatherman v. Board of Com'rs of Kingman County, 296 P. 707, 132 Kan. 590.

57. Colo.—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., 245 P. 485, 79 Colo. 289.

58. Colo.—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., supra.

59. Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966.

60. U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491—U. S. v. French, D. C.Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.

Dismissal on failure to make more specific

Kan.—Heatherman v. Board of Com'rs of Kingman County, 296 P. 707, 132 Kan. 590.

61. U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491—In re Reese, Kan., 107 F. 942, 47 C.C.A. 87.

Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.

Mont.—State ex rel. Young v. District Court of Twelfth Judicial Dist., 58 P.2d 1243, 102 Mont. 487.

Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

Tex.—Ex parte Cox, 127 S.W.2d 443, 133 Tex. 152.

Wash.—State v. Piese, 235 P. 961, 134 Wash. 443.

32 C.J. p 505 note 22.

Crime not charged

U.S.—Taliaferro v. U. S., C.C.A.Va., 290 F. 906, affirming, D.C., U. S. v. Taliaferro, 290 F. 214.

Accusations held sufficient

Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P. 2d 982, 190 Okl. 649—Seifried v. State ex rel. Bash, 86 P.2d 1008, 184 Okl. 299—Rocher v. Williams, 83 P. 2d 867, 183 Okl. 613.

Or.—State v. Rogers, 265 P. 784, 124 Or. 656.

stituting the contempt must be stated.[62] Technical accuracy,[63] or the particularity required in an indictment,[64] has been held not necessary, although it has been held that the pleadings must charge the offense as explicitly,[65] or with as great certainty,[66] as is required in a criminal proceeding.

Particular matters. Although there is authority to the contrary,[67] it has been held that the injunction charged to have been violated must be alleged or set forth in some appropriate manner;[68] and it must be alleged, or appear from the facts averred, that the injunction was in effect when the violation occurred;[69] that defendant was within the terms of, and bound by, the injunction;[70] that the act complained of was the act restrained;[71] that defendant and not some other person caused or was responsible for the violation complained of;[72] and that he had notice or actual knowledge of its contents.[73] However, an express recital that defendant had notice of the injunction is unnecessary where the contempt proceeding is prosecuted as a part of the injunction proceeding and defendant appeared therein.[74]

A specific charge of willfulness is not necessary where the facts charged show it,[75] as where the pleadings contain allegations of specific facts showing a direct violation of the injunction order.[76] While there is authority which indicates that, regardless of whether the contempt proceeding is civil or criminal in nature, injury to plaintiff need not be alleged,[77] it has been held that injury to plaintiff must be alleged if the proceeding is civil in character;[78] but that such an averment is unnecessary if the proceeding is criminal in character, for the purpose of vindicating the power and dignity of the court.[79]

Pendency of the proceedings in which the injunction issued need not be alleged or shown.[80] Generally both in civil and criminal proceedings for contempt it is not necessary to set out in detail the prior orders and proceedings in the injunction pro-

62. U.S.—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A. Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412.
Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.
32 C.J. p 505 note 20.

Acts constituting crime
Where the proceeding is brought under a statute which is applicable when the act charged as a contempt is of such character as also to constitute a crime, it is sufficient if the acts alleged prima facie constitute a crime.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940.

Averments held sufficient
U.S.—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A.Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412—Dunham v. U. S., C.C.A.La., 289 F. 376.
Cal.—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734.
Colo.—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., 245 P. 485, 79 Colo. 289.

Averments held insufficient
Mich.—Michigan Gas & Electric Co. v. City of Dowagiac, 262 N.W. 762, 273 Mich. 153.

63. U.S.—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A. Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412—U. S. v. French, D.C. Mich., 9 F.Supp. 30.
32 C.J. p 504 note 16.

Petition held sufficient
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

64. U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
32 C.J. p 505 note 21.

65. N.J.—In re Staire, 162 A. 195, 111 N.J.Eq. 285.

Time, place, and nature of the acts must be alleged in criminal contempt proceedings.
U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
Ind.—Oakland Coal Co. v. Wilson, 149 N.E. 54 196 Ind. 501.

66. W.Va.—State v. Lewis, 168 S. E. 812, 113 W.Va. 529.

67. Ill.—Hake v. People, 82 N.E. 561, 230 Ill. 174.

68. U.S.—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C. A.Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412.

Pleading held sufficient
Cal.—Ex parte Wenzler, 74 P.2d 297, 23 Cal.App.2d 726.
Ind.—Locrasto v. State, 173 N.E. 456, 202 Ind. 277.
Utah.—Larsen v. Madsen, 48 P.2d 429, 87 Utah 48.
Wash.—State v. Plese, 235 P. 961, 134 Wash. 443.

69. Cal.—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal.App. 713.

70. Cal.—Ex parte McDonald, 16 P. 2d 995, 217 Cal. 29.
W.Va.—State v. Lewis, 168 S.E. 812, 113 W.Va. 529—State v. Komar, 168 S.E. 810, 113 W.Va. 526.
32 C.J. p 505 note 18.

71. Cal.—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal.App. 713.
Mo.—Sands v. Richardson, App., 252 S.W. 990.

72. Mich.—Hipp v. Buhl Optical Co., 275 N.W. 793, 282 Mich. 128.
Mont.—State ex rel. Young v. District Court of Twelfth Judicial Dist., 58 P.2d 1243, 102 Mont. 487.

73. Ga.—Tomlin v. Rome Stove & Range Co., 187 S.E. 879, 183 Ga. 183.
32 C.J. p 505 note 19.

Persons not parties to injunction proceeding
Ga.—Tomlin v. Rome Stove & Range Co., 187 S.E. 879, 183 Ga. 183.

Pleadings held sufficient
U.S.—Dunham v. U. S., C.C.A.La., 289 F. 376.
Cal.—Ex parte Wood, 227 P. 908, 194 Cal. 49—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal.App. 713.

74. Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641.

75. Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P.2d 982, 190 Okl. 649.

76. Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, supra.

77. Utah.—Utah Power & Light Co. v. Richmond Irr. Co., 13 P.2d 320, 80 Utah 105.

78. Ill.—People v. Diedrich, 30 N.E. 1038, 141 Ill. 665.

To warrant jail sentence
Or.—State v. Rogers, 265 P. 784, 124 Or. 656.

79. Ill.—People v. Diedrich, 30 N.E. 1038, 141 Ill. 665.

80. Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P. 2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641.
32 C.J. p 505 note 24.

ceeding,[81] as the court will take judicial notice of its own order and records in the cause.[82] The pleadings need not show that a bond was given prior to the issuance of the restraining order claimed to have been violated.[83]

Surplusage. As much of the petition as charges the commission of acts which are in no sense in violation of the injunction will be stricken out on motion.[84] It has been held that the mere conclusion of the petition that defendant should be held for a civil contempt should not tie the hands of the court in punishing a willful disregard of its authority, and may be rejected as surplusage.[85]

Prayer for punishment. Whether the proceedings be civil or criminal in nature the petition or affidavit should contain a prayer that defendant be punished.[86] If the proceeding is criminal in nature, defendant may be required to show cause why he should not be attached and punished for contempt;[87] but, if it is civil in nature, the relief sought should be that the court take all necessary measures to require defendant to repair the damages cause by his violation of the injunction,[88] and he should not be required to show cause why he should not be attached and punished.[89]

Verification; information and belief. Conformably to general rules, verification by the oath of the moving party or by the affidavit of others is ordinarily necessary,[90] and the requirement is held jurisdictional.[91] The pleading must be sworn to by complainant on his personal knowledge or supported by the affidavit of the person or persons who have personal knowledge of the facts set out in the pleading.[92] If the contempt proceeding is of a civil nature, the answer need not be verified.[93]

In some jurisdictions the facts stated in the affidavit may be averred on information and belief.[94] If a criminal contempt is charged the facts in the information must be verified by the oath of the informant and on his personal responsibility,[95] and it must contain an averment that the petitioner believes them and charges them to be true.[96]

Amendment. In a proper case, the pleadings may be amended.[97]

Action for damages. In an independent action for damages for violation of an injunction the rules applicable to the pleadings in actions for damages generally apply.[98]

Return, answer, or plea. General rules apply to the return, plea, or answer in a contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction.[99] A plea which denies the jurisdiction of the court both as to the persons cited and as to the subject matter of the proceeding is in the nature of a demurrer and should be set down for a hearing so that its sufficiency may be considered,[1] and a demurrer to such plea is improper.[2]

c. Issues, Proof, and Variance

The general rules governing issues, proof, and variance apply to contempt proceedings for the violation of injunctions.

81. Ill.—Hake v. People, 82 N.E. 561, 230 Ill. 174.
32 C.J. p 505 note 25.

82. Ill.—Hake v. People, supra.
Utah.—Utah Power & Light Co. v. Richmond Irr. Co., 13 P.2d 320, 80 Utah 105.
32 C.J. p 505 note 26.

83. Cal.—Gardner v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 276 P. 363, 97 Cal.App. 713.

84. U.S.—Hammond Lumber Co. v. Sailors' Union of the Pacific, C.C. Cal., 149 F. 577.

85. U.S.—Employers' Teaming Co. v. Teamsters Joint Counsel, C.C.Ill., 141 F. 679, reversed on other grounds 163 F. 16, 89 C.C.A. 494, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 1295, certiorari denied 29 S.Ct. 696, 214 U.S. 514, 53 L.Ed. 1063.
32 C.J. p 505 note 34.

86. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
32 C.J. p 505 note 29.

Same relief by state and private party
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

87. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

88. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.

89. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.

90. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.
Me.—Charles Cushman Co. v. Mackesy, 200 A. 505, 135 Me. 490, 118 A.L.R. 148.
Md.—Murdock's Case, 2 Bland 461, 20 Am.D. 381.
Tex.—Ex parte Cox, 127 S.W.2d 443, 133 Tex. 152.

91. Me.—Charles Cushman Co. v. Mackesy, 200 A. 505, 135 Me. 490, 118 A.L.R. 148.

Cannot be waived
Me.—Charles Cushman Co. v. Mackesy, supra.

92. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

93. Ind.—Denny v. State, supra.

94. Mont.—State ex rel. Young v. District Court of Twelfth Judicial Dist., 58 P.2d 1243, 102 Mont. 487.
Tex.—Ex parte Dupree, 105 S.W. 493, 101 Tex. 150.
32 C.J. p 505 note 32.

95. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

96. N.J.—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

97. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.

Permissible amendments
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.

98. Complaint held sufficient
Cal.—Kirby v. San Francisco Savings & Loan Soc., 273 P. 609, 95 Cal. App. 757.

99. Return held sufficient
Fla.—Anderson v. Tower Amusement Co., 160 So. 523, 118 Fla. 895, vacating 159 So. 782, 118 Fla. 437.
S.C.—Ex parte Evans, 129 S.E. 210, 138 S.C. 112.

1. Ill.—Chambers v. City of Chicago, 270 Ill.App. 217.

2. Ill.—Chambers v. City of Chicago, supra.

General rules governing issues, proof and variance apply to contempt proceedings for the violation or disregard of an injunction,[3] and defenses which were not pleaded may not be considered.[4] In some jurisdictions where the contempt proceeding is criminal in nature defendant is entitled to a discharge on his verified answer, if the answer, considered with the information, is sufficient to show lack of intent to defy the authority of the court;[5] but where the contempt proceeding is civil in nature a sworn answer, however full and unequivocal, will not entitle him to a discharge.[6]

Defendant cannot be found guilty of any acts, or an offense, other than those charged.[7] If defendant was merely an aider and abettor and not in terms enjoined by the injunction order the charge made in the pleadings in the contempt proceeding must be for contempt in knowingly assisting in the breach,[8] and not for contempt in disobeying and violating the injunction.[9]

Proof that plaintiff has been injured by the violation is essential where the proceeding is of a civil nature,[10] but where the proceeding is of a criminal nature such proof is not required.[11] While both parties are entitled to introduce evidence,[12] the scope thereof depends on the issues formed by the pleadings,[13] and evidence of any acts other than those charged is not admissible.[14] However, it has been held that, although the petition alleges that defendant has committed a civil contempt, evidence that defendant has committed a criminal contempt is admissible where the affidavits incorporated in the petition aver facts showing a criminal contempt and furnish notice for the introduction of such facts.[15]

§ 273. —— Evidence

a. In general
b. Weight and sufficiency

a. In general

The burden of proof to establish the fact that a contempt has been committed is on the party asserting it. General rules govern the admissibility of evidence.

If the contempt proceeding is criminal in its nature, defendant is entitled to the benefit of the criminal law presumption of innocence, with its strict requirement of proof for conviction.[16] In a civil contempt proceeding, where it appears that the interests protected by the injunction are being violated, and that plaintiff still retains such interest, the injury to him will be presumed from a violation of the injunction without direct proof of that fact.[17]

Whether the proceedings are civil or criminal in their nature, the burden of proof to establish the fact that a contempt has been committed is on the party asserting it,[18] but if an affirmative defense

3. Framing of issues
N.Y.—American Fur Liners Contractors Ass'n v. Lucchi, 293 N.Y.S. 1, 249 App.Div. 513.

4. Ala.—Ft. Payne Co. v. City of Ft. Payne, 114 So. 63, 216 Ala. 679.
Under plea of not guilty
Mont.—State v. District Court of Eighth Judicial Dist., in and for Cascade County, 232 P. 204, 72 Mont. 206.

5. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

6. U.S.—U. S. v. Debs, C.C.Ill., 64 F. 724.
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 40—Loven v. People, 42 N.E. 82, 158 Ill. 159.
Ind.—Locrasto v. State, 178 N.E. 456, 202 Ind. 277—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind.App. 100.

7. Cal.—Mattos v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1056, 30 Cal.App.2d 641.
N.J.—In re Wholesale Licensed Alcoholic Beverage Salesmen's Union No. 20378, 6 A.2d 660, 125 N.J.Eq. 539—In re Staire, 162 A. 195, 111 N.J.Eq. 285.
Tex.—Ex parte Cox, 127 S.W.2d 443, 133 Tex. 152.
32 C.J. p 505 note 87.

8. U.S.—American Steel & Wire Co. v. Wire Drawers' & Die Makers' Unions Nos. 1 and 3, C.C.Ohio, 90 F. 598.
32 C.J. p 490 note 94.
Approved practice
N.J.—In re Wholesale Licensed Alcoholic Beverage Salesmen's Union No. 20378, 6 A.2d 660, 125 N.J.Eq. 539.

9. U.S.—In re Reese, Kan., 107 F. 942, 47 C.C.A. 87.
32 C.J. p 490 note 95.

10. N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626.
Extent of injury
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

11. N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626.

12. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind.App. 100.

13. U.S.—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.

14. Or.—State v. Sieber, 88 P. 313, 49 Or. 1.
32 C.J. p 505 note 86.

15. U.S.—Garrigan v. U. S., Ill., 163 F. 16, 89 C.C.A. 494, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 1295, certiorari denied 29 S.Ct. 696, 214 U.S. 514, 53 L.Ed. 1063.

16. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940, certiorari granted 44 S.Ct. 229, 263 U.S. 698, 68 L. Ed. 512—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
Del.—State v. Nouris, 136 A. 887, 15 Del.Ch. 282.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, 158 A. 435, 110 N.J.Eq. 42—In re Larkin, 142 A. 822, 103 N.J.Eq. 195.
32 C.J. p 506 note 49.

17. Ill.—Loven v. People, 42 N.E. 82, 158 Ill. 159—Nusbaum v. Retail Clerks' International Protective Ass'n, 227 Ill.App. 206.

18. U.S.—Cohn v. Kramer, C.C.A. Mich., 136 F.2d 293—U.S. v. Balaban, D.C.Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
Cal.—Ex parte Clarke, App., 140 P. 2d 92.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

is set up or called for the burden is on defendant to sustain it.[19] Thus, if defendant desires to justify his conduct under an exception stated in the injunction, the burden is on him to bring his acts within the exception.[20]

Admissibility. The rules governing the admissibility of evidence in contempt proceedings generally apply in contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction.[21]

b. Weight and Sufficiency

While a preponderance of the evidence is sufficient to prove a civil contempt, in contempt proceedings of a criminal nature the guilt of the defendant ordinarily must be established beyond a reasonable doubt.

Although contempt may be proved by circumstantial evidence,[22] in conformity with the rules governing the weight and sufficiency of the evidence in contempt proceedings generally, one should not be adjudged in contempt for violation of an injunction except on clear proof of such violation,[23] and defendant is entitled to the benefit of every reasonable doubt.[24] In order for acquiescence by plaintiff in the violation to be available to defendant as a defense it must be established by clear and convincing evidence.[25]

Although it has been held that a defendant's guilt need not be established beyond a reasonable doubt, but that more than a mere preponderance of the evidence is required,[26] as a general rule in contempt proceedings of a criminal nature for the violation of an injunction the guilt of defendant must be established beyond a reasonable doubt.[27] In cases of civil contempt it has been held that the proof need not be beyond a reasonable doubt;[28] and, in accordance with the rules governing in civil cases generally,[29] a preponderance of evidence is necessary and sufficient.[30] Although an act charged may be a crime or criminal in its nature, yet unless charged as a crime, the rules of evidence applicable to civil cases will apply.[31]

Although the failure of defendant to deny the truth of the charges on the hearing has been held to admit the truth thereof,[32] neither defendant's denial of a violation of the injunction, by affidavit or otherwise[33] nor his answers to interrogatories[34] are conclusive, but may be contradicted by evidence. Evidence, even though conflicting, may be sufficient to sustain the finding of a referee that defendant has been guilty of a contempt.[35] Where there is no evidence that defendant had directly or indirectly violated the injunction, the contempt proceedings must be dismissed.[36]

Illustrations of sufficient evidence. In the notes may be found cases in which the evidence was held sufficient: To show that defendant was guilty of contempt;[37] to show that defendant was not guilty

Mo.—Temco Mfg. Co. v. National Electric Ticket Register Co., 18 S.W.2d 142, 223 Mo.App. 420.
N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, 158 A. 435, 110 N.J.Eq. 42.
R.I.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, 14 A.2d 27, 65 R.I. 224.
32 C.J. p 506 note 51.

19. Tenn.—Higgins v. Lewis, 137 S.W.2d 308, 23 Tenn.App. 648.

20. N.J.—Thompson v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 21 A. 182, 48 N.J.Eq. 105, reversed on other grounds 24 A. 544, 49 N.J.Eq. 318.

21. Mont.—State ex rel. Delmoe v. District Court of Fifth Judicial Dist., 46 P.2d 39, 100 Mont. 131.
32 C.J. p 506 note 55.

Evidence held admissible
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

Evidence held inadmissible
U.S.—Camille, Inc., v. F. W. Fitch Co., D.C.Iowa, 30 F.Supp. 532.
Ill.—Nusbaum v. Retail Clerks' International Protective Ass'n, 227 Ill.App. 206.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
Utah.—Clover Leaf Dairy Co. v. Van Gerven, 275 P. 9, 73 Utah 471.

22. U.S.—U. S. v. Taliaferro, D.C. Va., 290 F. 214, affirmed Taliaferro v. U. S., C.C.A., 290 F. 906.

23. R.I.—Kennedy v. Frechette, 126 A. 641.

24. Mo.—Temco Mfg. Co. v. National Electric Ticket Register Co., 18 S.W.2d 142, 223 Mo.App. 420.

25. Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

26. Iowa.—Kochen v. District Court of Woodbury County, 199 N.W. 290, 198 Iowa 1.

27. U.S.—Michaelson v. U. S. ex rel. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. Ry. Co., Wis., 45 S.Ct. 18, 266 U.S. 42, 69 L.Ed. 162, 35 A.L.R. 451, reversing, C.C.A., 291 F. 940, certiorari granted 44 S.Ct. 229, 263 U.S. 698, 68 L.Ed. 512—U. S. v. Balaban, D.C. Ill., 26 F.Supp. 491.
Del.—State v. Baker, 169 A. 598, 20 Del.Ch. 48—State v. Nouris, 136 A. 887, 15 Del.Ch. 282.
Mont.—State v. District Court of Eighth Judicial Dist., in and for Cascade County, 232 P. 204, 72 Mont. 206.
N.J.—In re Larkin, 142 A. 822, 103 N.J.Eq. 195.
32 C.J. p 507 note 61.

28. Ill.—Flannery v. People, 80 N.E. 60, 225 Ill. 62.
32 C.J. p 507 note 58.

29. Ill.—Flannery v. People, supra.

30. Ill.—McBride v. People ex rel. Goodman Mfg. Co., 80 N.E. 306, 225 Ill. 315.
32 C.J. p 507 note 57.

31. Ill.—Flannery v. People, 80 N.E. 60, 225 Ill. 62.
N.Y.—Typothetæ v. Typographical Union No. 6, 117 N.Y.S. 70, 132 App Div. 921.

32. Cal.—Ex parte Wood, 227 P. 908, 194 Cal. 49.

By party who testified
N.J.—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N.J.Misc. 245, 358.

33. Ill.—Loven v. People, 42 N.E. 82, 158 Ill. 159.
Tenn.—In re Underwood, 2 Humphr. 46.

34. Ill.—Crook v. People, 16 Ill. 534.
Ind.—Anderson v. Indianapolis Drop Forging Co., 72 N.E. 277, 34 Ind. App. 100.

35. U.S.—Hennessey v. Budde, C.C. N.Y., 82 F. 541.

36. Wash.—Power v. Geck, 206 P. 838, 120 Wash. 49.

37. U.S.—In re La Varre, D.C.Ga., 48 F.2d 216.

of contempt;[38] to show violation of the injunction;[39] to show that defendant had actual knowledge of the injunction or restraining order;[40] to show lack of good faith by defendant;[41] to show that the injunction order was not void;[42] to show that officers of a corporation or association violated an injunction;[43] or to show that the court in sentencing defendant abused its discretion in view of mitigating circumstances.[44]

Illustrations of insufficient evidence. In the notes may be found cases in which the evidence was held insufficient: To establish a contempt;[45] to show a breach or violation of the injunction;[46] to show that defendant was guilty of contempt;[47] to show

Ala.—Bankston v. Lakeman, 122 So. 819, 219 Ala. 508—Frutiger v. State ex rel. Davis, 188 So. 695, 28 Ala. App. 503.

Cal.—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407—Clear Lake Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Mendocino County, 92 P.2d 921, 33 Cal. App.2d 710—Gomes v. Superior Court in and for Merced County, 86 P.2d 1060, 30 Cal.App.2d 650.

Fla.—State ex rel. Buckner v. Culbreath, 9 So.2d 111, 150 Fla. 876.

Ga.—Roberson v. Orr, 122 S.E. 781, 158 Ga. 34.

Ill.—Edelman Bros. v. Baikoff, 38 N.E.2d 534, 312 Ill.App. 381—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill. App. 372—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill. App. 323—Pure Milk Ass'n v. Wagner, 6 N.E.2d 503, 288 Ill.App. 630, transferred, see 2 N.E.2d 288, 363 Ill. 316—Sefcik Dairy Co. v. Jurca, 6 N.E.2d 481, 288 Ill.App. 618, transferred, see 194 N.E. 508, 359 Ill. 237—Edelman Bros. v. Baikoff, 2 N.E. 2d 579, 284 Ill.App. 651.

Iowa.—Eicher v. Tinley, 264 N.W. 591, 221 Iowa 293.

N.J.—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N. J.Misc. 245, 358.

N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.

Or.—State v. Rogers, 265 P. 784, 124 Or. 656.

32 C.J. p 507 note 66.

Circumstantial evidence

U.S.—U. S. v. Taliaferro, D.C.Va., 290 F. 214, affirmed, C.C.A., Taliaferro v. U. S., 290 F. 906.

Labor union or members thereof

Ill.—Ossey v. Retail Clerks' Union, 158 N.E. 162, 326 Ill. 405—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488, affirming 226 Ill.App. 505, 532—Hoeffken v. Belleville Trades and Labor Assembly, 229 Ill.App. 28—Nusbaum v. Retail Clerks' International Protective Ass'n, 227 Ill.App. 206.

N.J.—L. Balk Co-op. Co. v. International Fur Workers' Union of the U. S. and Canada, 123 A. 298, 95 N.J.Eq. 691.

Tex.—International Ladies' Garment Workers' Local Union No. 123 v. Dorothy Frocks Co., Civ.App., 97 S.W.2d 379.

Aiders and abettors

Ill.—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.

38. Cal.—Brunton v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 124 P.2d 831, 20 Cal.2d 202, prior opinions, App., 116 P.2d 643, and 114 P.2d 45.

N.Y.—Panagiotou v. Worlock Stone Co., 33 N.Y.S.2d 352, 263 App.Div. 165, appeal denied 34 N.Y.S.2d 270, 263 App.Div. 1037.

Utah.—Clover Leaf Dairy Co. v. Van Gerven, 275 P. 9, 73 Utah 471.

32 C.J. p 507 note 67.

39. U.S.—Armstrong v. U. S., C.C.A. Ind., 18 F.2d 371, certiorari denied 48 S.Ct. 30, 275 U.S. 534, 72 L.Ed. 412—Lawson v. U. S., C.C.A.Ark., 297 F. 418.

Ark.—Southwestern Loan & Finance Corporation v. Arkansas Transp. Co., 45 S.W.2d 501, 184 Ark. 1153.

Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.

Colo.—Wyman v. Bell, 41 P.2d 242, 96 Colo. 223.

Ill.—Ossey v. Retail Clerks' Union, 158 N.E. 162, 326 Ill. 405—Franklin Union No. 4 v. People, 77 N.E. 176, 220 Ill. 355, 4 L.R.A.,N.S., 1001, 110 Am.S.R. 248, affirming 121 Ill.App. 647—Hoeffken v. Belleville Trades and Labor Assembly, 229 Ill.App. 28.

Kan.—State ex rel. Kansas State Board of Medical Registration and Examination v. Martin, 130 P.2d 601, 155 Kan. 801.

Ky.—Allen v. Black Bus Lines, 164 S.W.2d 482, 291 Ky. 278.

Mont.—State ex rel. Silve v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist. in and for Judith Basin County, 69 P.2d 972, 105 Mont. 106.

Technical violation

Ark.—Jones v. State, 281 S.W. 663, 170 Ark. 863.

40. U.S.—Minerich v. U. S., C.C.A. Ohio, 29 F.2d 565, certiorari denied 49 S.Ct. 264, 279 U.S. 843, 73 L.Ed. 989.

32 C.J. p 507 note 68.

41. U.S.—In re La Varre, D.C.Ga., 48 F.2d 216.

Ill.—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.

42. Cal.—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Superior Court in and for Tulare County, 12 P.2d 1033, 215 Cal. 734.

43. U.S.—Davis v. Securities and Exchange Commission, C.C.A.Ill., 109 F.2d 6, certiorari denied 60 S. Ct. 889, 309 U.S. 687, 84 L.Ed. 1030.

Ill.—Maywood Farms Co. v. Milk Wagon Drivers' Union of Chicago, Local 753, 43 N.E.2d 700, 316 Ill. App. 47.

Pa.—City of Scranton v. People's Coal Co., 117 A. 673, 274 Pa. 63.

44. Mo.—Willett v. Tichenor, App., 220 S.W. 709.

45. Colo.—Denver Local Union No. 13 of International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen, and Helpers of America v. Perry Truck Lines, 101 P.2d 436, 106 Colo. 25.

Del.—State v. Baker, 169 A. 598, 20 Del.Ch. 48.

Ind.—Moore v. Polk Sanitary Milk Co., 200 N.E. 228, 209 Ind. 558.

Tex.—Ex parte Garza, 95 S.W. 1059, 50 Tex.Cr. 106.

46. Cal.—Ex parte Clarke, App., 140 P.2d 92.

Conn.—Palverari v. Finta, 26 A.2d 229, 129 Conn. 38.

Mich.—Wolgamood v. Village of Constantine, 4 N.W.2d 697, 302 Mich. 384.

N.Y.—Siegel v. New York Telephone Co., 300 N.Y.S. 8, 252 App.Div. 908—Woodworth v. Village of Nunda, 211 N.Y.S. 284, 213 App.Div. 57—Seed Filter & Manufacturing Co. v. Stocking, 158 N.Y.S. 687, 172 App.Div. 726.

R.I.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, 14 A.2d 27, 65 R.I. 224.

Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.

Wis.—General Bronze Corporation v. Schmeling, 250 N.W. 412, 213 Wis. 150, 93 A.L.R. 114.

32 C.J. p 507 note 72.

47. U.S.—Edwards v. U. S., C.C.A. Cal., 123 F.2d 465—Davis v. Securities and Exchange Commission, C. C.A.Ill., 109 F.2d 6, certiorari denied 60 S.Ct. 889, 309 U.S. 687, 84 L.Ed. 1030.

Mich.—Wolgamood v. Village of Conthat defendant had knowledge of the injunction;[48] or to show that defendant is unable to obey a mandatory injunction.[49]

§ 274. —— Judgment

The judgment or order should comply as to form, rendition, and entry with the rules applicable in contempt proceedings generally; it should show jurisdiction and the facts constituting the contempt, and should be definite and certain as to the punishment imposed, and conform to, and be supported by, the pleadings, issues, and proof.

The rules governing the form, rendition, and entry of judgments or orders in contempt proceedings generally apply in contempt proceedings for the violation of an injunction.[50] Clerical errors in the order will not invalidate a judgment against defendant.[51]

The judgment or order should not be made until after defendant has presented, or had an opportunity to present, his case and the court has made appropriate findings.[52] It should be sufficient on its face to show jurisdiction, and justification for the punishment;[53] and, although there is also authority to the contrary,[54] it has been held that it should contain a statement of the facts constituting the contempt and that mere conclusions are insufficient.[55] It must be definite and certain as to the punishment imposed,[56] and if a fine is imposed it should designate the person to whom it is to be paid.[57] However, it has been held that the fact that an order imposing a fine for contempt does not provide for the disposition of the fine does not render the order a nullity, but that at most the error is an informality not vitiating the judgment.[58]

Conformity to pleadings, issues and proof. In accordance with general rules, the judgment or order rendered should conform to, and be supported by, the pleadings and be within the issues made by them.[59] The failure formally to introduce the injunction order in evidence will not invalidate an adjudication of contempt in proceedings of a criminal nature, at least where the omission was not made the basis of a motion to dismiss or in any way called to the attention of the court.[60] In the absence of statutory authorization therefor the judgment cannot include as a part thereof a modification of the injunction order.[61]

Modification. In a proper case the court may modify a contempt order previously entered.[62]

Collateral attack. Where an injunction is void for want of jurisdiction, an adjudication of contempt against a party for its violation is also void[63] and may be attacked collaterally.[64]

Commitment. An order for commitment should state the circumstances of the contempt.[65] If the commitment is regarded as one for a criminal constantine, 4 N.W.2d 697, 302 Mich. 384.

N.J.—In re Larkin, 142 A. 822, 103 N.J.Eq. 195—L. Balk Co-op. Co. v. International Fur Workers' Union of the U. S. and Canada, 123 A. 298, 95 N.J.Eq. 691—In re Martin, 171 A. 488, 12 N.J.Misc. 245, 358.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Finkelstein v. Fox, 281 N.Y.S. 143, 155 Misc. 639.
R.I.—Jackson Furniture Co. v. Lieberman, 14 A.2d 27, 65 R.I. 224.
Utah.—Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Peterson, 280 P. 715, 74 Utah 460.
32 C.J. p 507 note 73.

48. U.S.—In re Rice, C.C.Ala., 181 F. 217.

49. Tenn.—Higgins v. Lewis, 137 S.W.2d 308, 23 Tenn.App. 648.

50. Ill.—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626.
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.
N.Y.—Panagiotou v. Worlock Stone Co., 33 N.Y.S.2d 352, 263 App.Div. 165, appeal denied 34 N.Y.S.2d 270, 263 App.Div. 1037.

51. U.S.—Scoric v. U. S., W.Va., 217 F. 871, 133 C.C.A. 581.
32 C.J. p 508 note 77.

52. U.S.—Cohn v. Kramer, C.C.A. Mich., 136 F.2d 292.

53. Ill.—Loven v. People, 42 N.E. 82, 158 Ill. 159.
32 C.J. p 507 note 76.

54. Colo.—Shore v. People, 59 P. 49, 26 Colo. 516.

55. Mo.—Sands v. Richardson, App., 252 S.W. 990.
Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.
32 C.J. p 507 note 76 [c].

56. Tex.—Ex parte Kottwitz, 8 S.W.2d 508, 117 Tex. 583.
Effect of statute
Tex.—Ex parte Kottwitz, supra.

57. Ill.—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372.

58. Mo.—Fiedler v. Bambrick Bros. Constr. Co., 142 S.W. 1111, 162 Mo. App. 528.

59. Minn.—Burns v. Essling, 194 N.W. 404, 156 Minn. 171.
Judgment held proper
Tenn.—Higgins v. Lewis, 137 S.W.2d 308, 23 Tenn.App. 648.
Amended pleadings
Minn.—Burns v. Essling, 194 N.W. 404, 156 Minn. 171.
Matters considered on reference
U.S.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A.Mass., 126 F.2d 370.

60. U.S.—Rossi v. U. S., C.C.A.Colo., 293 F. 896.

61. Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.

62. U.S.—Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express & Station Employees, Southern Pac. Lines in Texas & Louisiana, v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., D.C.Tex., 25 F.2d 876, affirmed, C.C.A., Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, 33 F.2d 13, certiorari granted 50 S.Ct. 88, 280 U. S. 550, 74 L.Ed. 608, affirmed 50 S.Ct. 427, 281 U.S. 548, 74 L.Ed. 1034.
Md.—Newell v. Dundalk Co., 131 A. 148, 149 Md. 182.

63. U.S.—Ex parte Robinson, Wash., 144 F. 835, 75 C.C.A. 663.
Tex.—Ex parte Barrett, 37 S.W.2d 741, 120 Tex. 311—Cleveland v. Ward, 285 S.W. 1063, 116 Tex. 1.
Void injunction or restraining order as basis for contempt proceeding in general see supra § 259 a.
Recitals in injunction decree unavailing
Iowa.—Carter v. Utterback, 204 N.W. 446, 200 Iowa 82.

64. U.S.—Ex parte Robinson, Wash., 144 F. 835, 75 C.C.A. 663.

65. Mo.—Sands v. Richardson, App., 252 S.W. 990.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Sandnes v. Sher-tempt the order should state that the contempt was willful;[66] if the commitment is regarded as one for a civil contempt the order should state that the alleged offense was calculated to, or actually did, impair, impede, or prejudice the rights and remedies of plaintiff.[67]

§ 275. —— Review

a. In general
b. Scope of review; determination

a. In General

The rules applicable in contempt proceedings generally control the review of a proceeding in contempt for violation of an injunction.

There is some confusion and lack of agreement among the authorities concerning the right of review of a judgment in a contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction.[68] In the absence of statutory regulation, the right, nature, and form of review conforms to that applicable in contempt proceedings generally.[69] In a civil contempt proceeding, although there is some authority which holds that an adjudication of contempt is in its nature not appealable,[70] by the weight of authority the judgment of the court is such that the aggrieved party may appeal from it.[71] In some jurisdictions, an adjudication in a criminal contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction is not appealable,[72] but in certain of these jurisdictions it is reviewable on a writ of error.[73]

In a number of jurisdictions the judgment in the contempt proceeding cannot be reviewed by appeal,[74] but the proper remedy is by certiorari.[75] Also, under the statutes in force in certain jurisdictions a review may be obtained in a proper case through the procedure of a reservation, certification, or report of the case to an appellate court for its determination.[76]

General rules apply with respect to the persons entitled to institute proceedings for review,[77] and the necessity for, and sufficiency of, the record.[78]

Stay pending appeal. An appeal from an order adjudging defendant guilty of contempt in violating an injunction stays proceedings pending the appeal only under the order appealed from and does not affect other violations so as to prevent an adjudication of contempt for violations subsequent to the appeal.[79]

b. Scope of Review; Determination

The scope and extent of the review of an adjudication in a contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction is governed by the rules applicable in proceedings to review contempt proceedings generally, and varies with the character of the contempt and the method of review.

The scope and extent of the review of an adjudication in a contempt proceeding for violation of an injunction is governed by the rules applicable in proceedings to review contempt proceedings generiff of Kings County, 299 N.Y.S. 9, 164 Misc. 355.

66. N.Y.—People ex rel. Sandnes v. Sheriff of Kings County, supra.

67. N.Y.—People ex rel. Sandnes v. Sheriff of Kings County, supra.

68. Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

69. Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, supra.

Statutory procedure for appeal

Kan.—State ex rel. Kansas State Board of Medical Registration and Examination v. Martin, 130 P.2d 601, 155 Kan. 801.

70. U.S.—Rivers v. Miller, C.C.A. Ga., 112 F.2d 439, reversing, D.C., Miller v. Rivers, 31 F.Supp. 540.

Interlocutory order

U.S.—In re Merchants' Stock & Grain Company, Mo., 32 S.Ct. 339, 223 U.S. 639, 56 L.Ed. 584.

71. Fla.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 466.

Kan.—Smith v. Clothier, 213 P. 1071, 113 Kan. 47.

Ky.—Allen v. Black Bus Lines, 164 S.W.2d 482, 291 Ky. 278—Gibson v. Rogers, 109 S.W.2d 402, 270 Ky. 159.

Mo.—Popsicle Corporation of U. S. v. Pearlstein, App., 168 S.W.2d 105.

Proceeding held civil

Mo.—Oliver v. Orrick, 288 S.W. 966, 220 Mo.App. 614.

Pecuniary limitations

Ky.—Allen v. Black Bus Lines, 164 S.W.2d 482, 291 Ky. 278.

Punishment must be imposed

Md.—Pocketbook Workers' Union v. Orlove, 148 A. 826, 158 Md. 496.

72. Md.—Kelly v. Montebello Park Co., 118 A. 600, 141 Md. 194, 28 A.L.R. 33.

Minn.—Red River Potato Growers' Ass'n v. Bernardy, 150 N.W. 383, 128 Minn. 153.

Mo.—State ex rel. Hawkins v. Utley, App., 124 S.W.2d 684—Oliver v. Orrick, 288 S.W. 966, 220 Mo.App. 614.

73. U.S.—In re Merchants' Stock & Grain Company, Mo., 32 S.Ct. 339, 223 U.S. 639, 56 L.Ed. 584.

74. Ala.—Riddle v. Adams, 165 So. 848, 231 Ala. 596—Bankston v. Lakeman, 122 So. 819, 219 Ala. 508—Frutiger v. State ex rel. Davis, 188 So. 695, 28 Ala.App. 503.

Cal.—Taylor v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 125 P.2d 1, 20 Cal. 2d 244.

Appeal from other matter not prevented

Ala.—Preskitt v. Chandler, 107 So. 750, 214 Ala. 278.

75. Ala.—Bankston v. Lakeman, 122 So. 819, 219 Ala. 508—Frutiger v. State ex rel. Davis, 188 So. 695, 28 Ala.App. 503.

Cal.—Taylor v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 125 P.2d 1, 20 Cal.2d 244.

76. Mass.—Wilbur v. City of Newton, 29 N.E.2d 689, 307 Mass. 191.

Interlocutory decree

Mass.—Wilbur v. City of Newton, supra.

77. Cal.—Taylor v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 125 P.2d 1, 20 Cal.2d 244.

Iowa.—Cedar Falls Nat. Bank v. Boslough, 255 N.W. 665, 218 Iowa 502.

78. U.S.—Cohn v. Kramer, C.C.A. Mich., 136 F.2d 293.

Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.

79. N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.

ally, and varies with the character of the contempt and the method of review.[80] Where the jurisdiction of the lower court sufficiently appears, every intendment will be made in favor of the action of the lower court.[81] While questions which were not raised on the trial or hearing may not be considered on review,[82] the jurisdiction of the trial court and its power to pronounce sentence is always open to review.[83] In some jurisdictions and under some modes of review the inquiry of the appellate court is limited to whether the lower court had jurisdiction,[84] and the reviewing court will not inquire further than to ascertain if the court below had jurisdiction in the premises and regularly pursued the practice and procedure to be observed in such cases.[85] Ordinarily, the court will not review questions of fact,[86] and, although the court will look to the merits as disclosed by the facts,[87] and will decide for itself the question of violation,[88] it is generally held that the decision of the lower court will not be disturbed if there is reasonable evidence to support the judgment,[89] or if the evidence is conflicting;[90] and according to some authorities the decision of the lower court adjudging a party guilty of contempt in violating an injunction will not be disturbed unless the evidence convinces the court on appeal beyond a reasonable doubt that he is not guilty.[91]

Validity or propriety of injunction order. The reviewing court may consider the validity of the injunction order in so far as it is dependent on the jurisdiction of the court which rendered it,[92] and also whether it is sufficiently definite and certain to enable the court to determine whether it has been violated,[93] but the jurisdiction to make the injunction order is, however, the only question relative to the injunction proceedings which can be consid-

80. Cal.—Pomin v. Superior Court in and for El Dorado County, 112 P.2d 17, 44 Cal.App.2d 206.
Iowa.—Orr v. Hamilton, 209 N.W. 285, 202 Iowa 345.
Mo.—Oliver v. Orrick, 288 S.W. 966, 220 Mo.App. 614.
On report to reviewing court, whether certain conduct constitutes a violation of the injunction is considered.—Wilbur v. City of Newton, 29 N.E.2d 689, 307 Mass. 191.

81. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.
Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P. 2d 474, two cases.
Fla.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.
Utah.—Larsen v. Madsen, 48 P.2d 429, 87 Utah 48.

82. Ill.—Edelman Bros. v. Baikoff, 38 N.E.2d 534, 312 Ill.App. 381.

83. Cal.—Brunton v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 124 P.2d 831, 20 Cal.2d 202, prior opinions, App., 116 P.2d 643, 114 P.2d 45.
Me.—Charles Cushman Co. v. Mackesy, 200 A. 505, 135 Me. 490, 118 A. L.R. 148.
Inaccurate designation of pleadings
Ill.—Chambers v. City of Chicago, 270 Ill.App. 217.

84. Iowa.—Orr v. Hamilton, 209 N. W. 285, 202 Iowa 345—Barber v. Brennan, 119 N.W. 142, 140 Iowa 678.

85. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.
Colo.—United Gilpin Corporation v. Wilmore, 68 P.2d 34, 100 Colo. 453—State ex rel. McKinney v. Lowry, 66 P.2d 334, 100 Colo. 144—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., 245 P. 485, 79 Colo. 289.

86. Colo.—United Gilpin Corporation v. Wilmore, 68 P.2d 34, 100 Colo. 453—Fort v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 319, 81 Colo. 431, followed in Western Seed Co. v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 329, 81 Colo. 448.
La.—Delta Securities Co. v. Dufresne, 160 So. 620, 181 La. 891.
Case not triable de novo
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717—Kochen v. District Court of Woodbury County, 199 N.W. 290, 198 Iowa 1.
Evidence on issue of jurisdiction
Cal.—Taylor v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 125 P.2d 1, 20 Cal.2d 244.

87. Iowa.—Carter v. Utterback, 204 N.W. 446, 200 Iowa 82—Barber v. Brennan, 119 N.W. 142, 140 Iowa 678.
13 C.J. p 105 note 24.

88. Cal.—Brunton v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 124 P.2d 831, 20 Cal.2d 202, prior opinions, App., 116 P.2d 643, 114 P.2d 45.
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.
Ky.—Gibson v. Rogers, 109 S.W.2d 402, 270 Ky. 159.
La.—Delta Securities Co. v. Dufresne, 160 So. 620, 181 La. 891.
Only question before reviewing court
Wis.—John F. Jelke Co. v. Hill, 242 N.W. 576, 208 Wis. 650.

89. Cal.—McFarland v. Superior Court of Merced County, 228 P. 1033, 194 Cal. 407.
Colo.—Fort v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 319, 81 Colo. 431, followed in Western Seed Co. v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 329, 81 Colo. 448—Guiraud v. Nevada Canal Co., 245 P. 485, 79 Colo. 289.
Ga.—Patten v. Miller, 8 S.E.2d 786, 190 Ga. 152.
Ill.—Oehler v. Levy, 99 N.E. 912, 256 Ill. 178.
Iowa.—Carter v. Utterback, 204 N. W. 446, 200 Iowa 82—Barber v. Brennan, 119 N.W. 142, 140 Iowa 678.
13 C.J. p 105 note 25.
Effect of absence of certificate of evidence
Ill.—People v. Lee, 143 N.E. 196, 311 Ill. 552, error dismissed Lee v. People of State of Illinois ex rel. Emmerson, 46 S.Ct. 23, 269 U.S. 593, 70 L.Ed. 429.
Affirmance of dismissal held authorized
Colo.—State ex rel. McKinney v. Lowry, 66 P.2d 334, 100 Colo. 144.
Consideration given to court's findings
Iowa.—Kochen v. District Court of Woodbury County, 199 N.W. 290, 198 Iowa 1.

90. U.S.—Gravely v. U. S., C.C.A.W. Va., 288 F. 837.
Fla.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.

91. Wash.—State v. Erickson, 120 P. 104, 66 Wash. 639.

92. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.
Iowa.—Dayton v. Patterson, 250 N. W. 595, 216 Iowa 1382.

93. Ariz.—Wall v. Superior Court of Yavapai County, 89 P.2d 624, 53 Ariz. 344.

ered,[94] and the propriety of the order, or other matters proper for adjudication in the injunction proceeding, cannot be considered.[95]

Determination and disposition of cause. In a proper case the reviewing court may affirm or reverse the case in whole or in part[96] or it may modify the judgment or order of the lower court.[97] Where the appellate court determines that reversible error not going to the merits exists, it will remand the case for a new trial,[98] and it will not adjudicate as to the law or other matters which on the record are not clear or may be unnecessary.[99] The court will not reverse the judgment because of harmless error,[1] or because of invited error.[2]

§ 276. Punishment

a. In general
b. Fine or imprisonment
c. Damages
d. Restoration of status quo or undoing the wrong
e. Denial of privileges as litigant

a. In General

The punishment imposed on violation of an injunction should be either remedial or punitive in character, dependent on whether the proceeding is civil or criminal in nature, and its extent, subject to statutory limitations, is within the sound discretion of the court.

In proceedings for violation of an injunction the punishment imposed is as for contempt.[3] The punishment for civil contempt is to enforce obedience to the injunction and protect the civil rights and remedies of a party to the injunction suit, while the punishment for criminal contempt is to vindicate the honor and dignity of the court and to compel respect for its authority,[4] and which character of punishment is imposed depends on whether the contempt proceeding is of a civil or criminal nature.[5] Ordinarily, if it is civil in nature, coercive and remedial measures only may be imposed,[6] but if it is criminal in nature the punishment must be of a

94. Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 54 N.E.2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306, and reversing 48 N.E.2d 781, 319 Ill.App. 252.

Injunction court's determination of jurisdictional facts

Iowa.—Dayton v. Patterson, 250 N.W. 595, 216 Iowa 1382.

95. U.S.—Locke v. U. S., C.C.A.Tex., 75 F.2d 157, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 644, 295 U.S. 733, 79 L.Ed. 1681—Simon v. U. S., C.C.A.Hawaii, 62 F.2d 13.

Cal.—Meyberg v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 121 P.2d 685, 19 Cal.2d 336, prior opinions, App., 113 P.2d 473, two cases, and 113 P.2d 474, two cases.

Ill.—Cummings-Landau Laundry Machinery Co. v. Koplin, 54 N.E.2d 462, 386 Ill. 368, dismissing error 44 N.E.2d 613, 316 Ill.App. 306, and reversing 48 N.E.2d 781, 319 Ill.App. 252—Pure Milk Ass'n v. Wagner, 2 N.E.2d 288, 363 Ill. 316, transferred, see 6 N.E.2d 503, 288 Ill.App. 630—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.

La.—Woodard v. Johnson, 152 So. 65, 178 La. 501.

Mont.—State ex rel. Silve v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist. in and for Judith Basin County, 69 P.2d 972, 105 Mont. 106.

Wis.—John F. Jelke Co. v. Hill, 242 N.W. 576, 208 Wis. 650.

96. Cal.—Taylor v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 125 P.2d 1, 20 Cal.2d 244.

N.J.—In re Hudson County Newspaper Guild, 4 A.2d 843, 125 N.J.Eq. 270, certiorari denied Shapiro v. Evening Times Printing & Publishing Co., 60 S.Ct. 79, 308 U.S. 566, 84 L.Ed. 475.

A fine imposed in a contempt proceeding, civil in nature, for the benefit of the party injured by the violation of the injunction will not be upheld on review where the order for the injunction was unwarranted as a matter of law.—Worden v. Searls, Mich., 7 S.Ct. 814, 121 U.S. 14, 30 L.Ed. 833.

Different entities

On appeal an adjudication of civil contempt cannot be upheld on a basis of liability of different corporate entities than those on which liability was sought and determined in the lower court.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A. Mass., 126 F.2d 370.

97. Fla.—Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.

Wis.—General Bronze Corporation v. Schmeling, 250 N.W. 412, 213 Wis. 150, 93 A.L.R. 114.

98. U.S.—Cohn v. Kramer, C.C.A. Mich., 136 F.2d 293.

99. U.S.—Cohn v. Kramer, supra.

1. Mont.—State ex rel. Silve v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist. in and for Judith Basin County, 69 P.2d 972, 105 Mont. 106.

2. N.Y.—American Fur Liners Contractors Ass'n v. Lucchi, 293 N.Y.S. 1, 249 App.Div. 513.

3. Fla.—Miami Laundry Co. v. Florida Dry Cleaning & Laundry Board, 183 So. 759, 134 Fla. 1, 119 A.L.R. 956.

4. U.S.—In re Merchants' Stock & Grain Company, Mo., 32 S.Ct. 339, 223 U.S. 639, 56 L.Ed. 584—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.

Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 108, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 40.

N.Y.—Bachman v. Harrington, 77 N.E. 657, 184 N.Y. 458.

Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

5. Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

6. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874, reversing 33 App.D.C. 516—McCann v. New York Stock Exchange, C.C.A.N.Y., 80 F.2d 211, certiorari denied McCann v. Leibell, 57 S.Ct. 233, 299 U.S. 603, 81 L.Ed. 444.

Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.

N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89—Dorrian v. Davis, 147 A. 338, 105 N.J.Eq. 147.

Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

To prevent future interference

Wash.—Baskin v. Livers, 43 P.2d 42, 181 Wash. 370.

punitive nature.[7] While it has been held that punishment for both a civil and criminal contempt should not be imposed in one and the same proceeding,[8] it has also been held that a sentence may be imposed which is partly remedial and partly punitive, partaking of both civil and criminal features.[9]

The punishment must be in accordance with the controlling statutes,[10] and cannot be greater or other than that fixed thereby.[11] It should be adapted and determined with regard to the circumstances, character, and extent of the violation,[12] and should not be determined absolutely by any penalty prescribed before the offense, such as a penalty prescribed in the injunction order for its violation.[13] In some jurisdictions where the proceeding is civil in nature the punishment which may be imposed is not limited to a fine, or imprisonment, or both,[14] but may be adapted to what is necessary to afford the injured party remedial relief for the injury or damage done by the violation of the injunction to his property or rights which were under the protection of the injunction.[15]

Discretion of court in general. Subject to the above limitations, the court granting the injunction is clothed with a large discretion in enforcing obedience to it, and in a proceeding for its violation the extent of the punishment to be inflicted rests in the sound legal discretion of the court;[16] and in a proper case the court may afford defendant an opportunity to purge himself of the contempt of which he has been adjudged.[17] A light punishment may be imposed where the court is convinced that defendant intended no violation of its order,[18] or the acts of disobedience are done without violence or coercion and result in no injury to the person in whose favor the injunction was granted.[19] Leniency will not be shown, however, where the acts of disobedience are flagrant or frequently repeated.[20]

In a civil proceeding if complainant has not been damaged by the violation of the injunction he is not entitled to have any remedial punishment imposed on the violator.[21] If, however, the proceeding is of

7. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Ind.—Denny v. State, 182 N.E. 313, 203 Ind. 682.
N.J.—Wieczerzak v. Wieczerzak, 169 A. 632, 115 N.J.Eq. 89.

8. U.S.—Board of Trade of City of Chicago v. Tucker, C.C.A.N.Y., 221 F. 305, 137 C.C.A. 255.
32 C.J. p 508 note 94.

9. Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.

10. Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

11. Iowa.—Eicher v. Tinley, 264 N. W. 591, 221 Iowa 293—Scavo v. Utterback, 205 N.W. 858.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.
N.J.—Mount v. Matthews, 133 A. 299, 99 N.J.Eq. 839.
Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P. 2d 982, 190 Okl. 649—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.
32 C.J. p 508 note 84.

Punishment held within court's power to impose
N.J.—Mount v. Matthews, 133 A. 299, 99 N.J.Eq. 839.

12. Mass.—Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co. v. Priess, 140 N.E. 793, 246 Mass. 274.
32 C.J. p 508 note 82.

Punishment considered proper
U.S.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, C.C.A.N.Y., 137 F. 2d 862, modifying, D.C., 48 F.Supp. 928.
N.Y.—Busch Jewelry Co. v. Silvers, 8 N.Y.S.2d 592, 169 Misc. 305—Busch Jewelry Co. v. United Retail Employees' Union Local 830, 7 N.Y.S.2d 872, 169 Misc. 156.

Punishment held improper
U.S.—Securities and Exchange Commission v. Okin, C.C.A.N.Y., 137 F. 2d 862, modifying, D.C., 48 F.Supp. 928.

13. Conn.—Lawton v. Herrick, 76 A. 986, 83 Conn. 417.

14. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
Fine or imprisonment as proper punishment see infra subdivision b of this section.

15. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

16. Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—American Cigar Co. v. Berger, 221 Ill.App. 285.
Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 567, 211 Ind. 628, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.
N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.
32 C.J. p 508 note 86.

Punishment held proper
Ill.—Franklin Union No. 4 v. People, 77 N.E. 176, 220 Ill. 355, 4 L.R.A.,N.S., 1001, 110 Am.S.R. 248, affirming 121 Ill.App. 647—Hoeffken v. Belleville Trades and Labor Assembly, 229 Ill.App. 28—American Cigar Co. v. Berger, 221 Ill. App. 285.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.

Punishment held excessive
Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654.
Iowa.—Carey v. District Court of Jasper County, 285 N.W. 236, 226 Iowa 717.

17. Wash.—Delorme v. International Bartenders' Union, Local 624, 139 P.2d 619, 18 Wash.2d 444.

18. Ark.—Jones v. State, 281 S.W. 663, 170 Ark. 863.
Tex.—Herring v. Houston Nat. Exch. Bank, 255 S.W. 1097, 113 Tex. 337.
32 C.J. p 508 note 87.

Technical violation
Ark.—Jones v. State, 281 S.W. 663, 170 Ark. 863.

Limited to cost of proceedings
Tex.—Lewis v. Clark, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 421, error dismissed, judgment correct.

19. Wis.—Vilter Mfg. Co. v. Humphrey, 112 N.W. 1095, 132 Wis. 587, 13 L.R.A.,N.S., 591.

20. Ill.—Franklin Union No. 4 v. People, 77 N.E. 176, 220 Ill. 355, 110 Am.S.R. 248, 4 L.R.A.,N.S., 1001.
32 C.J. p 508 note 89.

21. Ky.—Dunbar v. Johnson, 162 S. W.2d 25, 290 Ky. 581.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

Costs
Ky.—Dunbar v. Johnson, 162 S.W.2d 25, 290 Ky. 581.

a criminal nature, punishment may be imposed even though the violation caused no loss or injury to the party intended to be protected by the injunction;[22] and, provided the injunction order is not absolutely void, the fact that the court erred in granting it will not prevent the punishment of the violator,[23] although it may affect the extent of the punishment to be imposed.[24]

It has been held that the fact that the punishment is greater than is imposed by a criminal statute for like offenses does not render the order of the court unconstitutional or void,[25] although there is authority apparently to the contrary.[26] Where the injunction has been violated by officers of a municipality, the court will impose a more severe penalty on the officers having the greater power and responsibility.[27]

Separate acts of disobedience. Where defendants were found guilty of separate acts of disobedience to an injunction, the sentence should not be imposed generally for all offenses, but the punishment for each offense should be specified.[28]

What law governs. One who violates an injunction subsequently to the passage of an amendatory statute, changing the penalty for violation of an injunction "to fine and imprisonment" instead of "fine or imprisonment" in the discretion of the court is punishable under the amendatory law, although the injunction was granted prior to its passage.[29]

Security. Under some statutes the court may require security to obey the injunction from the contemnor.[30]

b. Fine or Imprisonment

As a general rule punishment by fine or imprisonment, or both, may be imposed for violation of an injunction.

As a general rule one who violates an injunction is liable to punishment by fine[31] or imprisonment,[32] or both,[33] especially where the violation of the injunction is willful;[34] and even where there is no willful purpose to violate the injunction the court may punish defendant by both fine and imprisonment where the violation of injunction was the result of gross carelessness on defendant's part.[35] However, under certain circumstances only a fine[36] or only imprisonment[37] is authorized. If punishment by fine is imposed the court may further pro-

22. N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626.

23. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

24. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, supra.
Wash.—Hanley v. Most, 115 P.2d 951, 9 Wash.2d 474, opinion adhered to 118 P.2d 946, 9 Wash.2d 474.

25. Ill.—Hake v. People, 82 N.E. 561, 230 Ill. 174.
32 C.J. p 508 note 90.

26. D.C.—Re Gompers, 40 App.D.C. 293.
32 C.J. p 508 note 91.

27. Kan.—State v. Coffeyville, 133 P. 711, 90 Kan. 164.

28. U.S.—Oates v. U. S., W.Va., 223 F. 1013, 39 C.C.A. 389.

29. Kan.—State v. Durein, 27 P. 148, 46 Kan. 695.

30. Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

31. U.S.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A. Mass., 126 F.2d 370.
Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill. App. 595, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.
N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 39 Hun 626.
N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.
Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.
Tex.—Lundberg v. City of Raymondville, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 539.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
Wash.—State v. Flora Co., 13 P.2d 467, 169 Wash. 120.
32 C.J. p 509 note 98.

32. Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill. App. 372—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.
Or.—State v. Rogers, 265 P. 784, 124 Or. 656.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.
Tex.—Lundberg v. City of Raymondville, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 539.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
32 C.J. p 509 note 99.
Until contempt purged
Tex.—Ex parte Kottwitz, 8 S.W.2d 508, 117 Tex. 583.

33. Ga.—Taylor v. Morris-Forrester Oil Co., 142 S.E. 153, 166 Ga. 43.
Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626—Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation v. Lodge 66 of Amalgamated Ass'n of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, 14 N.E.2d 991, 295 Ill.App. 323.
Miss.—Hanna v. State ex rel. Rice, 153 So. 371, 169 Miss. 314.
Mo.—Lademan v. Lamb Const. Co., App., 297 S.W. 187.
Tex.—Lundberg v. City of Raymondville, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 539.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.
32 C.J. p 509 note 1.

34. U.S.—Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. McCrary, C.C.Mo., 182 F. 401.
32 C.J. p 509 note 2.

35. U.S.—Indianapolis Water Co. v. American Strawboard Co., C.C.Ind., 75 F. 972.

36. Corporation may be fined, but cannot be imprisoned, for violation of injunction.—Franklin Union No. 4 v. People, 77 N.E. 176, 220 Ill. 355, 4 L.R.A.,N.S., 1001, 110 Am.S.R. 248, affirming 121 Ill.App. 647—32 C.J. p 490 note 6.

37. Tex.—International Ladies' Garment Workers' Local Union No. 123

vide for commitment until the fine is paid.[38] Also the court may order the offender to pay a fine within a certain time, with a conditional penalty for disobedience of such order.[39]

In some jurisdictions in civil contempt proceedings the contemnor may not be imprisoned for disobeying the injunction,[40] but only for failure to pay the fine imposed or failure to make restitution to the injured party as required by order of court or for failure to give security to obey the injunction.[41] Imprisonment for civil contempt is imposed where defendant has refused to do an affirmative act required by the injunction and the purpose thereof is to compel him to do what he had refused to do.[42]

Under statutes authorizing punishment of criminal contempts by fine or imprisonment it has been held that the imposition of both a fine and imprisonment is improper,[43] even though more than one act of contempt is shown;[44] but, if acts of contempt are separately prosecuted, they may be severally punished by a fine or by imprisonment.[45] If punishment by imprisonment is imposed it may be for a definite period,[46] or, if the equities of the case require it, the court may order an imprisonment of defendant until he manifests a willingness fairly to comply with the order.[47]

To whom fine paid. In a criminal contempt proceeding any fine imposed goes to the people.[48]

c. Damages

In contempt proceedings of a civil nature a compensatory fine may be imposed on the defendant and awarded to the plaintiff to indemnify him for any loss or injury caused him by the violation of an injunction.

Although it has been held in some jurisdictions that in the absence of statutory authorization therefor no part of the fine imposed in contempt proceedings for violation of an injunction may be awarded to the party injured thereby,[49] it is generally held, sometimes by virtue of statutory provisions, that where the disobedience of the injunction has resulted in loss or injury to plaintiff the court in imposing punishment on defendant may impose a compensatory fine or judgment for damages, and award it to plaintiff to indemnify him for the loss and injury so occasioned.[50] However, de-

v. Dorothy Frocks Co., Civ.App., 97 S.W.2d 379.

38. Colo.—Shore v. People, 59 P. 49, 26 Colo. 516.
Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626.
Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628.
In civil proceeding
Ill.—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill. App. 505, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.
Not a violation of constitutional rights
Cal.—Ex parte Fortenbury, 101 P.2d 105, 38 Cal.App.2d 284.
Subsequent inability to perform
U.S.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A.Mass., 126 F.2d 370.

39. Pa.—Roberts v. Thomas, 13 Lanc.Bar 63.

40. Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P.2d 982, 190 Okl. 649—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

41. Okl.—Fagin v. Thoroughman, 126 P.2d 982, 190 Okl. 649—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.

42. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
Ill.—O'Brien v. People, 75 N.E. 103, 216 Ill. 354, 108 Am.S.R. 219, 3 Ann.Cas. 966, affirming 114 Ill.App. 40.
32 C.J. p 503 note 83.

43. U.S.—Carter v. U. S., C.C.A.Ala., 135 F.2d 858.
S.C.—Greenwood County v. Shay, 23 S.E.2d 825, 202 S.C. 16.

44. U.S.—Carter v. U. S., C.C.A.Ala., 135 F.2d 858.

45. U.S.—Carter v. U. S., supra.

46. Ill.—Stern v. Rogers, 37 N.E.2d 568, 311 Ill.App. 654—Farwell v. Horton, 22 N.E.2d 958, 301 Ill.App. 372—Schmook v. Fane, 22 N.E.2d 450, 301 Ill.App. 626.

47. N.Y.—Stolts v. Jackson, 81 N.Y. S. 638, 82 App.Div. 81.
32 C.J. p 509 note 4.

48. N.Y.—Bachman v. Harrington, 77 N.E. 657, 184 N.Y. 458.

49. Conn.—Lawton v. Herrick, 76 A. 986, 83 Conn. 417.
32 C.J. p 509 note 7.

50. U.S.—Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., Mass., 52 S.Ct. 238, 284 U.S. 448, 76 L.Ed. 389, reversing in part, C.C.A., Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co. v. Leman, 50 F.2d 699, certiorari granted Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., 52 S.Ct. 33, 284 U.S. 605, 76 L.Ed. 519—Rivers v. Miller, C.C.A.Ga., 112 F.2d 439, reversing, D.C., Miller v. Rivers, 31 F.Supp. 540—St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co. v. Lawrence, D.C.Okl., 30 F.2d 454—A. B. Dick Co. v. Fuller, D.C.N.Y., 6 F.2d 393.
Ind.—Bangs v. Northern Indiana Power Co., 6 N.E.2d 563, 211 Ind. 628—Moore v. Polk Sanitary Milk Co., 200 N.E. 228, 209 Ind. 558.
Kan.—Holloway v. People's Water Co., 167 P. 265, 100 Kan. 414, 2 A.L.R. 161.
Mass.—W. A. & H. A. Root v. MacDonald, 157 N.E. 684, 260 Mass. 344, 54 A.L.R. 1422.
N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.
Okl.—Ex parte Hibler, 281 P. 144, 139 Okl. 157.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 79, 162 Va. 157, citing Corpus Juris.
Wash.—State v. Flora, 13 P.2d 467, 169 Wash. 120.
32 C.J. p 509 notes 9, 10.

A distinction between liquidated and unliquidated damages has been made, to the effect that the court has the power to compel one who has violated an injunction to the injury of plaintiff to pay the damages so inflicted if they are capable of liquidation in a court of equity, but that, if the damages are unliquidated in their nature and not ascertainable by the machinery of a court of equity, it will not in the absence of special circumstances commit the offender until he compensates the injured party but will leave the latter to his remedy at law.—Thompson v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 21 A. 182, 48 N.J. Eq. 105, reversed on other grounds 24 A. 544, 49 N.J.Eq. 318—32 C.J. p 510 note 15.

fendant will not be required to indemnify plaintiff for the violation of an injunction which ought never to have been granted.[51]

Whatever the form of the proceeding for relief, whether an independent action for damages,[52] or an action for the penalty prescribed in the injunction order for its violation,[53] or a contempt proceeding in which a compensatory fine is awarded,[54] the measure of damages to be awarded is the actual damages sustained by the aggrieved party. The amount should be limited to damages resulting from a violation of the injunction,[55] and the loss must be established by satisfactory evidence.[56] If no damages are shown none will be allowed,[57] although in some jurisdictions it is discretionary with the court in such case to impose a nominal fine.[58]

Exemplary damages will not be awarded where defendant has acted in good faith.[59]

d. Restoration of Status Quo or Undoing the Wrong

One violating an injunction ordinarily may be required to restore the status quo as it existed before the violation.

While it has been held that a restoration of the property involved to its former condition is not within the province of an order punishing for contempt, as the punishment therefor consists of either fine or imprisonment or both,[60] it has also been held that the contemnor, in appropriate cases, may be punished by being forced to restore the status quo as it existed before the violation,[61] or by an adjudication against him as though that status quo had not been interrupted.[62] This, it has been held, is merely a method of enforcing the court's order and not a punishment for contempt unauthorized by statute.[63] Without this power the authority of the court to compel respect of its judgments in cases of this character would be without force and effect.[64] Thus, where defendant has interfered with property in violation of an injunction, he may be required to restore the property to its former condition,[65] and the court may order defendant imprisoned until the order has been complied with;[66] or the court may make an alternative order giving

51. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 79, 162 Va. 157, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 510 note 11.

52. Conn.—Lawton v. Herrick, 76 A. 986, 83 Conn. 417.

53. Conn.—Lawton v. Herrick, supra.

54. U.S.—Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., Mass., 52 S.Ct. 238, 284 U.S. 448, 76 L.Ed. 389, reversing in part, C.C.A., Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co. v. Leman, 50 F.2d 699, certiorari granted Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., 52 S.Ct. 33, 284 U.S. 605, 76 L. Ed. 519.
Ind.—New York, C. & St. L. R. Co. v. Meek, 1 N.E.2d 611, 210 Ind. 322—Moore v. Polk Sanitary Milk Co., 200 N.E. 228, 209 Ind. 558.
32 C.J. p 510 note 16.

Equitable principles controlling
U.S.—Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., Mass., 52 S.Ct. 238, 284 U.S. 448, 76 L.Ed. 389, reversing in part, C.C.A., Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co. v. Leman, 50 F.2d 699, certiorari granted Leman v. Krentler-Arnold Hinge Last Co., 52 S.Ct. 33, 284 U.S. 605, 76 L. Ed. 519.

Costs and expenses
U.S.—Odell v. Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., C.C.A.Ill. 91 F.2d 359, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 284, 302 U. S. 756, 82 L.Ed. 585, rehearing denied 58 S.Ct. 408, 302 U.S. 780, 82 L.Ed. 603—A. B. Dick Co. v. Fuller, D.C.N.Y., 6 F.2d 393.
N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.
Wash.—State v. Flora Co., 13 P.2d 467, 169 Wash. 120.

Payments made under other contempt proceedings
U.S.—Parker v. U. S., C.C.A.Mass., 126 F.2d 370.

55. Mich.—Wilkinson v. Dunkley-Williams Co., 114 N.W. 387, 150 Mich. 253.

Damages before injunction granted
Mich.—Wilkinson v. Dunkley-Williams Co., supra.

56. U.S.—Catalin Corporation of America v. Slosse, D.C.N.Y., 31 F. Supp. 89.
Ind.—New York, C. & St. L. R. Co. v. Meek, 1 N.E.2d 611, 210 Ind. 322—Moore v. Polk Sanitary Milk Co., 200 N.E. 228, 209 Ind. 558.

Affidavit
U.S.—Catalin Corporation of America v. Slosse, D.C.N.Y., 31 F.Supp. 89.

57. Ind.—Moore v. Polk Sanitary Milk Co., 200 N.E. 228, 209 Ind. 558.
32 C.J. p 510 note 14.

58. N.D.—Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Northern Reo Co., 259 N.W. 95, 65 N.D. 414.
32 C.J. p 510 note 14 [a].

One dollar
Ind.—New York, C. & St. L. R. Co. v. Meek, 1 N.E.2d 611, 210 Ind. 322.

59. N.Y.—Power v. Athens, 19 Hun 165.
32 C.J. p 510 note 17.

60. Tex.—Lundberg v. City of Raymondville, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 539.

61. U.S.—Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express & Station Employees, Southern Pac. Lines in Texas & Louisiana, v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., D.C.Tex., 25 F.2d 876, affirmed, C.C.A., Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, 33 F.2d 13, certiorari granted 50 S.Ct. 88, 280 U. S. 550, 74 L.Ed. 608, affirmed 50 S. Ct. 427, 281 U.S. 548, 74 L.Ed. 1034.
Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

Restoration of rights and privileges of discharged employees
U.S.—Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, C.C.A.Tex., 33 F.2d 13, affirming, D.C., Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks v. Texas & N. O. R. Co., 24 F.2d 426, and 25 F.2d 873, 876, certiorari granted Texas & N. O. R. Co. v. Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, 50 S.Ct. 88, 280 U.S. 550, 74 L.Ed. 608, affirmed 50 S.Ct. 427, 281 U.S. 548, 74 L.Ed. 1034.

62. Va.—Deeds v. Gilmer, 174 S.E. 37, 162 Va. 157.

63. N.C.—Keys v. Alligood, 100 S.E. 113, 178 N.C. 16.

64. Minn.—State v. McLeod County Dist. Ct., 129 N.W. 583, 113 Minn. 304.

65. Fla.—Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.
32 C.J. p 510 note 18.

66. Mo.—Ex parte Crenshaw, 80 Mo. 447.

defendant the chance to make restoration before passing sentence of fine or imprisonment.[67] Also, where a restoration is not entirely effectual, defendant may be required to meet any expenditure of money necessary to remedy the wrong done.[68]

However, unless defendant acquired possession of property in breach of the injunction, he cannot be required to give up the possession thereof.[69] Also, if the injunction should never have been granted and hence plaintiff has not been injured by its violation, the court will not require the contemnor to restore the status quo.[70]

Divorce obtained in violation of injunction. Where defendant has obtained a divorce in violation of an injunction, he cannot be ordered to have it set aside, as he has no power to do so,[71] but he may be required to present the truth to the court which granted the divorce and in good faith urge that its decree be set aside.[72]

e. Denial of Privileges as Litigant

In general one in contempt for violation of an injunction may be denied certain privileges of a litigant in the injunction proceeding until he has purged himself of the contempt.

In accordance with the general rule, one in contempt for breach or violation of an injunction may be denied certain favors of court and privileges of a litigant until he has purged himself of the contempt.[73] For instance, the court, until defendant has purged himself of contempt, may refuse to hear defendant in his defense on the merits[74] or to discharge a ne exeat,[75] or may make an order that his appeal be dismissed on a day named unless on or before that day it shall be made to appear that he has faithfully and fairly obeyed the order requiring him to comply with the injunction.[76] However, it is error to punish the violation of a preliminary injunction by defendant by instructing that testimony in his own behalf is in that event not to be considered,[77] nor can the violation of a restraining order be punished by denying defendant a hearing on an order to show cause why an injunction should not issue.[78]

§ 277. Costs

In general costs may be imposed in civil contempt proceedings against the unsuccessful party, but in criminal contempt proceedings they are not ordinarily imposed.

In proceedings for civil contempt complainant is entitled, if successful, to costs incurred in the proceedings,[79] and this is so, although the injunction was improvidently issued,[80] or punishment is not imposed on the contemnor because he acted in good faith;[81] but, where complainant is unsuccessful, the costs may be taxed against him,[82] and defendant is entitled thereto.[83]

In proceedings for a criminal contempt costs are not usually imposed,[84] at least they are not usually allowed to defendant and against the prosecutor,[85] and, where a statute prescribes punishment for criminal contempt by fine and imprisonment, and is silent as to costs, the court has no power to impose them.[86] However, under the statutes in force in

67. Fla.—Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. v. Tampa Southern R. Co., 134 So. 529, 101 Fla. 468.
N.C.—Keys v. Alligood, 100 S.E. 113, 178 N.C. 16.

68. N.J.—Ashby v. Ashby, 50 A. 473, 62 N.J.Eq. 618.

69. S.C.—Columbia Water Power Co. v. Columbia, 4 S.C. 388.

70. Wash.—Hanley v. Most, 115 P. 2d 951, 9 Wash.2d 474, opinion adhered to 118 P.2d 946, 9 Wash.2d 474.

71. N.J.—Kempson v. Kempson, 52 A. 360, 625, 63 N.J.Eq. 783, 92 Am. S.R. 682, 58 L.R.A. 484, modifying 48 A. 244, 61 N.J.Eq. 303.

72. N.J.—Perlman v. Perlman, 165 A. 646, 113 N.J.Eq. 3—Kempson v. Kempson, 52 A. 360, 625, 63 N.J. Eq. 783, 92 Am.S.R. 682, 58 L.R.A. 484, modifying 48 A. 244, 61 N.J. Eq. 303.

73. N.Y.—Stubbs v. Ripley, 89 Hun 626.
32 C.J. p 511 note 27.

Postponement of hearing
The penalty imposed for contempt may carry with it as an incident the postponement of the hearing while the party is undergoing his punishment for his contumacious conduct. —Harley v. Montana Ore Purchasing Co., 71 P. 407, 27 Mont. 388.

74. Conn.—William Rogers Mfg. Co. v. Rogers, 38 Conn. 121.

75. N.Y.—Evans v. Van Hall, Clarke 22.

76. Ky.—Kentucky Heating Co. v. Louisville Gas Co., 59 S.W. 1090, 22 Ky.L. 1139.

77. Tex.—Lake v. Copeland, 72 S. W. 99, 31 Tex.Civ.App. 358.

78. Mont.—Harley v. Montana Ore Purchasing Co., 71 P. 407, 27 Mont. 388.
32 C.J. p 511 note 34.

79. U.S.—A. B. Dick Co. v. Fuller, D.C.N.Y., 6 F.2d 393.
Ill.—Anderson & Lind Mfg. Co. v. Carpenters' Dist. Council, 226 Ill. App. 505, affirmed 139 N.E. 887, 308 Ill. 488.
32 C.J. p 511 note 36.

80. N.Y.—Smith v. Fitch, Clarke 265.
32 C.J. p 511 note 37.

81. Tex.—Lewis v. Clark, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 421, error dismissed, judgment correct.

82. Ala.—In re Willis, 5 So.2d 716, 242 Ala. 284.
N.Y.—Panagiotou v. Worlock Stone Co., 33 N.Y.S.2d 352, 263 App.Div. 165, appeal denied 34 N.Y.S.2d 270, 263 App.Div. 1037.

83. U.S.—Parkhurst v. Kinsman, C. C.N.Y., 18 F.Cas.No.10,759, 2 Blatchf. 76.
32 C.J. p 511 note 38.

84. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.
N.J.—Magennis v. Parkhurst, 4 N.J. Eq. 433.

85. N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, 158 A. 435, 110 N. J.Eq. 42.

86. N.Y.—People v. Gilmore, 38 N.Y. 626.
32 C.J. p 511 note 42.

some jurisdictions they may be allowed,[87] and it is within the discretion of the court to allow counsel fees to defendant on his discharge.[88] Where costs are awarded against defendant, they go to the government.[89]

Enforcing payment of costs. In some jurisdictions parties adjudged guilty of contempt cannot be confined to jail by reason of inability to pay court costs.[90] Where the contempt proceeding is civil in its nature, the costs constitute merely a money judgment to be collected in the usual way and cannot be collected by a body execution;[91] and, whether the proceedings are civil or criminal where the statute on which the contempt proceedings are based merely authorize imprisonment for nonpayment of the fine imposed, defendant cannot be imprisoned for nonpayment of costs.[92]

VII. DAMAGES ARISING FROM ISSUANCE OF INJUNCTION

§ 278. Persons Entitled

All defendants who have been enjoined and as a consequence have suffered loss can claim and recover damages on a bond given for their protection.

Generally all defendants who have been enjoined, and have obeyed the injunction, and who in consequence of the allowance of the injunction and their obedience thereto have suffered loss, can claim and recover damages on a bond given for their protection.[93] On the other hand, one not a party to the suit,[94] or who is not a necessary or proper party,[95] is not, in general, entitled to damages. It has been held that, where an injunction is obtained against one defendant, against whom the suit is successfully prosecuted, another defendant who has not been enjoined cannot have judgment on the bond.[96] Only persons who are fairly within the covenant of an injunction bond can sue thereon.[97] Likewise a person restrained from doing what he had no legal right to do has no right of action for damages, even

87. N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, 158 A. 435, 110 N.J.Eq. 42.

88. N.J.—In re United Hatters of North America, supra.

89. U.S.—Gompers v. Buck's Stove & Range Co., App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 492, 221 U.S. 418, 55 L.Ed. 797, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 874.

90. Tex.—International Ladies' Garment Workers' Local Union No. 123 v. Dorothy Frocks Co., Civ. App., 97 S.W.2d 379.

91. U.S.—Chicago Bd. of Trade v. Tucker, N.Y., 221 F. 305, 137 C.C.A. 255.

92. Ohio.—Miller v. Toledo Grain & Milling Co., 21 Ohio Cir.Ct. 325, 11 Ohio Cir.Dec. 629.
Wyo.—Porter v. State, 92 P. 385, 16 Wyo. 131.

93. Ill.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.
Ind.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.
Kan.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 677, 132 Kan. 413, quoting Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Bank of Clarksdale v. Planters' Nat. Bank, 125 So. 837, 156 Miss. 269.
32 C.J. p 436 note 13.

Facts held to establish that defendant moving to assess damages on injunction bond was party to temporary restraining order.—Laumeier v. Sammelmann, 279 S.W. 249, 218 Mo.App. 468.

Not named in order

One who is a defendant to an injunction bill, but is not named in the injunction order, who must nevertheless abide by the provisions of the order, is a person enjoined, and he may recover such damages as he incurs by reason of the mandate, in case it is dissolved.—State v. Freshwater, 148 S.E. 6, 107 W.Va. 210.

Partnership

(1) An injunction against a partner has the effect of enjoining the partnership, and the partnership, although not made a defendant save to the extent that the partner enjoined may have represented the firm, has a right of action to recover damages occasioned by the injunction.—Drews v. Williams, 23 So. 897, 50 La. Ann. 579.

(2) Reserving right to liquidator of partnership and deceased partner's heirs to sue jointly the other partner, third opponent for wrongful issuance of injunction, was proper.—Duplantis v. Barrow, 116 So. 568, 165 La. 1091.

Order determinative

Where petition was filed and restraining order made in term time, the order entered of record, and not the order signed and filed, controls in determining parties restrained and entitled to damages on bond.—Laumeier v. Sammelmann, 279 S.W. 249, 218 Mo.App. 468.

94. Ill.—Rice v. Goldberg, 26 Ill. App. 603.
Ky.—White v. Strong, 18 S.W.2d 960, 961, 230 Ky. 119, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Lewittes & Sons v. Perlow, 3 N.Y.S.2d 916, 254 App.Div. 94.

95. Ind.—State v. Allen, 124 N.E. 634, 71 Ind.App. 160.

96. Tenn.—Meek v. Mathis, 1 Heisk. 534.

97. Ky.—White v. Strong, 18 S.W.2d 960, 230 Ky. 119.

A vendee who purchased the subject matter of the injunction after the injunction was issued has been held not to be entitled to hold the surety on the injunction bond for any damage he may have sustained after he acquired the property.—Benguiat v. Gotham Nat. Bank of New York, 24 N.Y.S.2d 836, 261 App. Div. 199, motion denied 37 N.E.2d 36, 286 N.Y. 687, and affirmed 39 N.E.2d 939, 287 N.Y. 733.

Employees

Where the bond required provided for the payment of damages resulting to employees of defendant, it has been held that such employees were entitled to recover on the bond notwithstanding they were not technically parties to the injunction suit.—White v. Metcalf, 177 S.E. 371, 174 S.C. 350.

Not named as obligee

(1) Where the statute does not require the names of defendants to appear in the bond, the bond goes to the protection of all parties to the action who are restrained and damaged thereby, even though they are not named in the bond as obligees.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 132 Kan. 413.

(2) Party not mentioned in injunction bond may bring action thereon only if he is member of class mentioned in bond whose members are defendants in injunction proceedings.—Watkins v. Mowbray & Robinson Co., 278 S.W. 557, 212 Ky. 118.

though the injunction has been wrongfully issued.[98] The right to recover damages may be forfeited by reason of the conduct of the party claiming them.[99]

§ 279. Persons Liable

Parties not shown to have instigated injunction proceedings and who were not instrumental in procuring it are not liable for damages.

Parties not shown to have instigated injunction proceedings and not in any manner instrumental in procuring the injunction are not liable for damages.[1]

Personal representatives. In case of an injunction obtained by one acting in a representative capacity, damages on dissolution, if any, are to be assessed against the representative personally;[2] but damages are not to be assessed against him if he acted disinterestedly and in good faith.[3]

County. Where by statute a county is entitled to all the actions and remedies to which individuals are entitled, it is liable for costs and damages which it has caused by the wrongful suing out of an injunction.[4]

§ 280. —— Obligors on Bond

Only those who sign the injunction bond or undertaking are liable on it.

Only those who sign the injunction bond or undertaking are liable on it.[5] Where the security in the bond is held insufficient, and a new bond is executed with other sureties, the sureties on both bonds are equally liable on a dissolution of the injunction.[6]

In Louisiana the rule seems to be well settled that the principal and sureties on an injunction bond are liable in solido.[7]

Where an executor or administrator is required as a condition to the grant of an injunction applied for by him to execute an injunction bond, if he does so it will be binding on him and his sureties in their individual capacity.[8]

Where the suit is in the name of the state, on the relation of certain persons, who are required to give security for the costs, it is the suit of the relators, and not of the state, so that they and the sureties on their injunction bond are liable to defendant for any damages consequent on the wrongful suing out of the injunction.[9]

§ 281. Nature of Right and Extent of Liability

a. In general
b. Injunction rightfully obtained
c. Where no restraint actually imposed

a. In General

Aside from liability arising from bond required as a condition to the granting of the injunction, as a general rule damages are not recoverable for the wrongful issuance of an injunction unless malicious prosecution is shown.

Complainant's liability for the wrongful issuance of an injunction at his instance may, of course, be

98. Tex.—Sanitary Appliance Co. v. French, Civ.App., 58 S.W.2d 159, 164, error dismissed, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 436 note 18.

Public contracts

(1) A statute prohibiting contracts by a district requiring a levy of a higher rate of taxation than that allowed by law does not make the contracts void except as to the district, and contractors delayed by taxpayers' injunction are entitled to recover on the injunction bond.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Min. Co., 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15, rearguing 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15.

(2) Where voters approved expenditure for erection of school under contracts let in contravention of statute, contractors were not trespassers, and may not be denied recovery on taxpayer's injunction bond for wrongful interference with completion of work.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Min. Co., supra.

99. Ill.—Vanderpoel v. Cravens, 139 Ill.App. 463.
Tenn.—Heck v. Bulkley, 1 S.W. 612.
32 C.J. p 437 note 19.

Appearance in opposition

(1) Any damages to be awarded should be in favor of those only who were named in the bond and who appeared in opposition to the motion for the injunction.—Lewittes & Sons v. Perlow, 3 N.Y.S.2d 916, 254 App. Div. 94.

(2) Motion for reference to ascertain damages sustained by certain defendant must be denied, where order continuing injunction did not recite its appearance.—Gagnon v. Aracoma Kenton Co., 240 N.Y.S. 446, 228 App.Div. 524.

Instigation of action

Rule that a party, who has procured the institution of proceedings against him, may not recover damages on bonds posted in such proceeding, applies only where the party has either directly or indirectly instigated the particular proceeding for which the bond was given.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58.

1. U.S.—Roche v. District of Columbia, 18 Ct.Cl. 217.
N.Y.—Watters v. Weed, 36 N.Y.S. 955, 92 Hun 607.

2. Miss.—Nixon v. Seal, 29 So. 399, 78 Miss. 363.
32 C.J. p 437 note 21.

3. La.—Lamorere v. Cox, 32 La. Ann. 246.
32 C.J. p 437 note 22.

4. Miss.—Freeman v. Lee County, 5 So. 516, 66 Miss. 1.

5. N.Y.—Kelly v. Myrick, 200 N.Y.S. 90, 205 App.Div. 637.
32 C.J. p 437 note 24.

6. Va.—Bentley v. Harris, 2 Gratt. 357, 43 Va. 357.
32 C.J. p 437 note 25.

7. La.—Lallande v. Trezevant, 2 So. 573, 5 So. 862, 39 La.Ann. 830—Wentzel v. Robinson, 23 La.Ann. 451—Perry v. Kearney, 14 La.Ann. 400.

8. Miss.—Brown v. Speight, 30 Miss. 45.

9. Tenn.—State v. Springfield, Ch. App., 48 S.W. 613.

fixed by the bond that he was required to give as a condition to the granting of the injunction.[10] Although there is contrary authority,[11] the general rule, unless changed by statute,[12] is that without a bond for the payment of damages, or other obligation of like effect, a person against whom an injunction has been wrongfully issued can recover no damages unless he can make out a case of malicious prosecution by showing malice and want of probable cause on the part of the person who obtained the injunction.[13] Nevertheless, if a person in prosecuting an action for injunction is actuated by malice, and proceeds without probable cause, the injured person has a common-law remedy for malicious prosecution;[14] and, while there is some authority to the contrary,[15] the prevailing view is that the fact that a bond is required as a condition of the issuance of the injunction merely provides an additional remedy in case the injunction was sued out maliciously and without probable cause, and does not in any way affect the right to bring an action on the case for malicious prosecution if the grounds for an action of this character exist.[16]

Under a statute relieving a city of the necessity of giving bond, but providing that the city shall be liable in the same manner and to the same extent as though a bond had been given, a city is liable for damages arising from a wrongful issuance of an injunction to the same extent as an ordinary suitor.[17]

10. Ill.—Gorton v. Brown, 27 Ill. 489, 81 Am.D. 245.
32 C.J. p 434 note 81.

Complainant and surety held liable for damages arising from wrongful issuance of injunction.—Maiatico v. Mortgage Sec. Corporation of America, 60 F.2d 1081, 61 App.D.C. 245.

Remedy is on bond
(1) In the absence of circumstances of malicious prosecution, the remedy of defendant in the injunction suit is on the injunction bond.
Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S. W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.
Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Borodofsky, 108 So. 807, 143 Miss. 585.
N.Y.—Brooklyn Consol. Lumber Corporation v. City Plastering Co., 259 N.Y.S. 561, 236 App.Div. 799—Bedell Co. v. Harris, 240 N.Y.S. 550, 228 App.Div. 529.
Pa.—Azar v. Markle, 166 A. 889, 311 Pa. 296.
Tenn.—Nashville Union Stockyards, Inc. v. Grissim, 13 Tenn.App. 115.
(2) Injunction plaintiff is not liable for damages after dissolution of injunction without bond.—Losee v. Crawford, 5 S.W.2d 105, 222 Mo.App. 683.
(3) "If an injunction is improvidently issued, the one who has suffered damages as a result does not have two causes of action, one based upon the bond and the other based upon the acts which were carried out under the protection of the restraining order and bond. Those two are not different causes of action, but merely different ways of stating the same cause of action, a cause of action upon the bond."—Junction Irr. Co. v. Snow, 118 P.2d 130, 132, 101 Utah 71.

11. La.—Davis v. Poitevant & Favre Lumber Co., 132 So. 790, 15 La. App. 657—Jackson v. Whitbeck, 3 La.App. 487.
32 C.J. p 434 note 82.

Amount of bond
Suit was maintainable for all alleged damages by reason of wrongful injunction, although exceeding amount of bond filed in federal court granting injunction.—Davis v. Poitevant & Favre Lumber Co., 132 So. 790, 15 La.App. 657.

Time injunction in force
A cause of action exists for the wrongful issuance of an injunction, irrespective of how short a time the injunction was in force.—Davis v. Poitevant & Favre Lumber Co., supra.

12. Ill.—Miovsky v. Georgeoff, 2 N. E.2d 740, 363 Ill. 60—2068 Lawrence Avenue Bldg. Corporation v. Van Heck, 45 N.E.2d 687, 317 Ill. App. 59.
32 C.J. p 434 note 83.

13. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F. 2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, and certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014—United Motors Service v. Tropic-Aire, C.C. A.Minn., 57 F.2d 479—Becker v. Stander, D.C.La., 17 F.2d 772—Tenth Ward Road Dist. No. 11 of Avoyelles Parish v. Texas & P. Ry. Co., C.C.A.La., 12 F.2d 245, 45 A.L.R. 1513—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F. Supp. 419.
Ga.—Spires v. Spires, 117 S.E. 255, 30 Ga.App. 228.
Kan.—Jackman v. Kansas Electric Power Co., 251 P. 431, 122 Kan. 19.
Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S. W. 1091, 1093, 221 Ky. 442, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.H.—Tilton v. Sharpe, 146 A. 159, 84 N.H. 43—Rogers v. Clough, 81 A. 1075, 76 N.H. 272.
N.Y.—Brooklyn Consol. Lumber Corporation v. City Plastering Co., 259 N.Y.S. 561, 236 App.Div. 799—McColgan v. Dodds, 209 N.Y.S. 707, 125 Misc. 36.
R.I.—Johnson Wholesale Perfume Co. v. Blumen, 9 A.2d 857, 859, 63 R.I. 485, citing Corpus Juris.
Utah.—Junction Irr. Co. v. Snow, 118 P.2d 130, 101 Utah 71.
Wis.—Williams v. Ainsworth, 99 N. W. 327, 121 Wis. 600.
32 C.J. p 434 note 84.

Damages exceeding bond
Malice and want of probable cause are necessary to recover damages for wrongful injunction, in addition to amount provided by bond.—Baker v. Craig, 275 P. 216, 127 Kan. 811, modified on other grounds 280 P. 771, 128 Kan. 676.

Person not party to bond
Where a buyer of hay obtained an injunction in an action against the seller, restraining any disposition of hay shipped to the buyer but not accepted by him, and gave the usual injunction bond to pay the damages occasioned to defendant by reason of the injunction, a bank, which had acquired title to the hay by paying a draft attached to the bill of lading therefor, could not recover its damages on the injunction bond, since it was not a party thereto, and therefore the rule that recovery for wrongful injunction is limited to an action on the bond, or an action for malicious prosecution, does not apply.—Interstate Nat. Bank v. McCormick, 214 P. 949, 67 Mont. 80, 34 A.L.R. 721.

14. Ill.—Crate v. Kohlsaat, 44 Ill. App. 460.
Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S. W. 1091, 1093, 221 Ky. 442, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Brooklyn Consol. Lumber Corporation v. City Plastering Co., 259 N.Y.S. 561, 236 App.Div. 799.
32 C.J. p 434 note 86.

15. Ill.—Gorton v. Brown, 27 Ill. 489, 81 Am.D. 245.
32 C.J. p 435 note 87.

16. Md.—Rieger v. Knight, 97 A. 358, 128 Md. 139, L.R.A.1916E 1277.
32 C.J. p 435 note 88.

17. U.S.—Corpus Christi Gas Co. v.

b. Injunction Rightfully Obtained

The injunction must have been wrongfully obtained, or wrongfully continued, to authorize the recovery of damages.

To authorize the recovery of damages, the issuance of the injunction must have been wrongful in its inception,[18] or at least it must have been continued owing to some wrong on the part of plaintiff.[19] If rightfully awarded, but afterward properly dissolved, because of matters done or arising subsequent to its issuance, there can be no recovery of damages.[20] On the other hand, if the injunction is dissolved for good cause, the right to an assessment of damages is not affected by the fact that the bill states a good cause of action.[21]

c. Where No Restraint Actually Imposed

The defendant is not entitled to damages for the wrongful issuance of an injunction where no restraint was actually imposed on him.

In case defendant has never actually been restrained, he has suffered no damage because of an injunction, and he is not entitled to damages on dissolution,[22] as where the injunction was absolutely void,[23] or where there was no restraint because the injunction was suspended pendente lite,[24] or was granted on a condition not complied with.[25] A fortiori, defendant is not entitled to damages where no injunction was actually granted;[26] but it has been held that if defendant had notice of the order for the writ so as to be bound thereby he may secure damages on dissolution of the order,[27] that an order to "desist and refrain" is an injunction such as to entitle defendant to damages on disso-

City of Corpus Christi, C.C.A.Tex., 46 F.2d 962, reversing, D.C., 36 F. 2d 972, and certiorari denied City of Corpus Christi, Texas v. Corpus Christi Gas Co., 52 S.Ct. 19, 284 U.S. 636, 76 L.Ed. 541.

In New York

(1) Civil Pract. Act § 820, providing that in any action in which a domestic municipal corporation is excused from giving security on procuring an injunction order such corporation shall be liable for all damages sustained by the opposite party to the same extent as sureties to an undertaking would have been liable, is not self executing; and if the amount of the responsibility of the municipal corporation for damages is not specified in the injunction order, there is no liability whatever on the municipal corporation in the event it is later determined that it was not entitled to the injunction.—City of Yonkers v. Federal Sugar Refining Co., 116 N.E. 998, 221 N.Y. 206—City of White Plains v. Griffen, 8 N.Y.S.2d 32, 169 Misc. 706, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 462, 255 App.Div. 1003.

(2) If there is expressly included in the order the general provision that the municipal corporation shall be liable for all damage, then the responsibility of the corporation is to be determined under the provisions of the order without arbitrary limitation on the amount of the responsibility.—City of Utica v. Hanna, 162 N.E. 573, 249 N.Y. 26—City of White Plains v. Griffen, supra.

18. Iowa.—Scott v. Frank, 96 N.W. 764, 121 Iowa 218.
La.—Simon v. Barnett, 135 So. 743, 169 La. 642—Kansas City, S. & G. Terminal Co. v. Interurban Motor Transp. Co., 95 So. 258, 152 La. 1093—Richards v. Roudilion, 140 So. 274, 19 La.App. 585.
Miss.—Caston v. Hutson, 104 So. 698, 139 Miss. 890.
N.Y.—Williams Ice Cream Co. v. Chase Nat. Bank, 199 N.Y.S. 314, 120 Misc. 301, reversed on other grounds 205 N.Y.S. 446, 210 App. Div. 179.
Tex.—Briscoe v. Snodgrass, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 837—Sanitary Appliance Co. v. French, Civ.App., 58 S.W.2d 159, 164, error dismissed, citing Corpus Juris—Hudspeth v. Guggenheim, Civ.App., 12 S.W.2d 238, error dismissed.

Conditional dissolution

Where the pleadings in an injunction suit are not in the record by exhibit or allegation, so that the issues may be known, the fact that the final order dissolving the injunction and dismissing the case was on conditions thereafter to be complied with by defendants, and until compliance the injunction was to remain in force, was not a sufficient decision that injunction ought not to have been granted in the first instance, to show a breach of the injunction bond.—Drainage Dist. No. 2 of Dakota County v. O'Neill, 191 N. W. 685, 109 Neb. 552.

Emergency bond

There can be no judgment for defendant on an emergency bond given on the granting of a temporary restraining order without notice because of an alleged emergency, where the trial court did not adjudge that no emergency existed or that plaintiff created it or connived at its creation by neglect or otherwise.—Nazarenus v. Wigle, 212 P. 826, 72 Colo. 538.

Improper dissolution

Damages were erroneously allowed after improper dissolution of injunction restraining proposed sale of goods, under trust deed covering only mortgagor's interest.—Ellis-Jones Drug Co. v. Coker, 125 So. 826, 156 Miss. 775, suggestion of error overruled and setting aside judgment refused 127 So. 283, 156 Miss. 775.

Issuance held wrongful

Ariz.—Mason Dry Goods Co. v. Ackel, 243 P. 606, 30 Ariz. 7.

19. Iowa.—Scott v. Frank, 96 N.W. 764, 121 Iowa 218.

20. Mo.—Pierce v. Campbell, 274 S. W. 875, 217 Mo.App. 179.
32 C.J. p 435 note 99.

Conversely, if the injunction was not authorized, the fact that it was dissolved because of the expiration of the statute under which it was sought does not affect liability on the bond.—Investors' Syndicate v. Thomas, Tex.Civ.App., 73 S.W.2d 93.

21. Ill.—People v. Eisenberg, 212 Ill. App. 337, affirmed 123 N.E. 532, 288 Ill. 304.
32 C.J. p 436 note 1.

22. La.—Hyde v. Teal, 15 So. 416, 46 La.Ann. 645.
32 C.J. p 436 note 2.

23. N.Y.—Mark v. Hyatt, 31 N.E. 1099, 135 N.Y. 306, 18 L.R.A. 275.
32 C.J. p 436 note 3.

24. La.—Hyde v. Teal, 15 So. 416, 46 La.Ann. 645.

Rule inapplicable

Rule that no action lies on injunction bond where there is no restraint did not apply, where restraining order was modified and continued.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

25. Cal.—Carter v. Mulrein, 22 P. 1086, 82 Cal. 167, 16 Am.S.R. 99.
32 C.J. p 436 note 5.

26. La.—Austin v. Currie, 134 So. 723, 16 La.App. 375.
32 C.J. p 436 note 6.

27. Ill.—Danville Banking & Trust Co. v. Parks, 88 Ill. 170.
Ohio.—Bishop v. Bascoe, 8 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 423, 7 Cinc.L.Bul. 342.

lution,[28] and that, where the injunction is ineffective merely because the act was completed before issuance, defendant may be entitled to a dissolution and to his expenses in securing it.[29] It has been held that a defendant who obeys an injunction, although never served therewith, is entitled after judgment in his favor to claim the damages provided for in the undertaking to procure such injunction.[30]

Acquiescence in obedience to an ambiguous writ will prevent complainant from objecting to a recovery of damages sustained by defendant, by reason of such obedience, and complainant's bondmen will be liable on their bond for such damages.[31]

§ 282. —— Liability on Bond

Liability on a bond given to procure the issuance of an injunction is measured by the terms of the bond.

Liability on an injunction bond is measured by the terms of the contract contained in the instrument,[32] and not by the terms of the order requiring the bond.[33] A surety cannot be held liable beyond the express terms of his undertaking,[34] which cannot be extended by implication beyond the terms therein expressed.[35] Conversely, while liability of sureties cannot be extended beyond the precise terms of the bond, such liability is nevertheless coextensive with the terms of the bond reasonably interpreted.[36]

28. Ill.—Lindblom v. Williams, 51 Ill.App. 483.

29. Ill.—Mead v. Cleland, 62 Ill.App. 294.

30. S.C.—Bell v. Brinkley, 156 S.E. 348, 351, 159 S.C. 171, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 436 note 10.

31. S.C.—Bell v. Brinkley, 156 S.E. 348, 351, 159 S.C. 171, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 436 notes 11, 12.

32. Cal.—Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., 105 P. 2d 996, 41 Cal.App.2d 1.
Hawaii.—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.
Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P.2d 75, 52 Idaho 795—Rowland v. Kellogg Power & Water Co., 233 P. 869, 40 Idaho 216.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

33. Mich.—Graff v. Epstein, 213 N. W. 190, 238 Mich. 227.
32 C.J. p 437 note 29.

The court cannot interpolate a new condition into a bond which is free from ambiguity, in order to enforce a correspondence between the bond and the order under which it was executed.—American Exch. Nat. Bank v. Goubert, 104 N.E. 928, 210 N.Y. 421, affirming 130 N.Y.S. 1103, 146 App.Div. 875—32 C.J. p 438 note 36.

34. U.S.—Western Willite Co. v. Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co., C.C.A. Mo., 32 F.2d 487, certiorari denied Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co. v. Western Willite Co., 50 S.Ct. 19, 280 U.S. 562, 74 L.Ed. 616.
Ala.—Federal Land Bank of New Orleans v. Southmont Mfg. Co., 122 So. 426, 219 Ala. 447.
Cal.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App. 2d 905.
Iowa.—Moore v. Miller, 298 N.W. 646, 230 Iowa 736.
Ky.—Vicars v. Frazier, 295 S.W. 169, 220 Ky. 356.
Minn.—Johnson v. Maryland Casualty Co., 224 N.W. 700, 177 Minn. 103.
N.M.—Walters v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., 288 P. 1044, 35 N.M. 4.
Okl.—Callaway v. Sparks, 89 P.2d 275, 276, 184 Okl. 569, citing Corpus Juris.
Or.—Kruse v. Blair, 272 P. 265, 127 Or. 393.
Tenn.—Brown v. Brown, 296 S.W. 356, 155 Tenn. 530.
32 C.J. p 437 note 30.

Amount
The amount specified in the bond is the limit of the sureties' liability.
Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S. W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.
Mich.—Graff v. Epstein, 213 N.W. 190, 238 Mich. 227.
S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278.

Restraining order
(1) A bond wherein the sureties obligate themselves only with reference to a restraining order becomes functus officio on the granting of a temporary injunction.—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 78 Colo. 148.

(2) The judge is powerless to extend sureties' liability on such a bond beyond the precise terms of their contract.—Maier v. Luce, 215 P. 399, 61 Cal.App. 552.

(3) The fact that the bond is a common-law bond and does not answer statutory requirements for a restraining order bond does not justify a judgment on it until the condition is fulfilled on which liability will arise according to its terms.—Reagan v. Dick, supra.

Taxes
Where suit was brought to restrain a sale of property for taxes and the bond was conditioned to pay all damages which the collector of taxes might sustain by reason of the restraining order, the bondsmen did not guarantee payment of subsequent taxes.—Logan City v. Allen, 44 P.2d 1085, 86 Utah 375.

35. S.D.—Chamberlain v. Quarnberg, 119 N.W. 1026, 23 S.D. 55.
32 C.J. p 438 note 31.

Material omissions in the bond cannot be filled by insertion or addition of things which according to law should have been put into it, or which it is merely supposed the parties intended to include.—Ballard v. Logan, 70 S.E. 558, 68 W.Va. 655.

Service on another
Rights of sureties on injunction bond were not affected by service of copy of injunction on another than obligees after sureties signed bond. —White v. Strong, 18 S.W.2d 960, 230 Ky. 119.

36. Cal.—Yellen v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 1 P.2d 1019, 115 Cal.App. 434.
Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P. 2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.
Ind.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.
Kan.—Newbern v. Service Pipe Line & Mining Co., 267 P. 29, 126 Kan. 76.
Mich.—Graff v. Epstein, 213 N.W. 190, 238 Mich. 227.
Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, affirmed 210 N. W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.
N.Y.—Dinny & Robbins v. Retail Shoe Salesmen's Union, Local 1115-F, R.C.I.P.A., 41 N.Y.S.2d 375.
Okl.—First Nat. Bank v. Duncan, 285 P. 957, 142 Okl. 121.
S.C.—Smith v. J. F. Prettyman & Sons, 148 S.E. 361, 150 S.C. 438.
Tenn.—Southland Portland Cement Co. v. Melvin, 5 Tenn.App. 459.
Tex.—Bridges v. Williams, Civ.App., 154 S.W.2d 669—Puett v. Stringer, Civ.App., 270 S.W. 941.
Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel & Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 435.
32 C.J. p 438 note 32.

Attorney's fees and costs
(1) Attorney's fees and costs, in-

The undertaking of the surety in an injunction bond, where there are several complainants, is, in law, for the principals severally as well as jointly, that is, the surety is bound in effect that each and all of his principals shall perform and fulfill whatever decree may be rendered in the cause against all or either of them.[37]

Construction. In endeavoring to ascertain the precise terms of the contract actually made by the parties to the bond, courts resort to the same rules of interpretation as apply in cases of other contracts.[38] Bonds will be so construed as to give effect to the intention of the parties.[39] It is generally held that the bond is to be construed strictly,[40] although there is authority to the effect that a libcurred in hearings on injunction pendente lite, and for permanent injunction are not recoverable in action on injunction bond, where terms of bond required only payment of damages incurred by reason of restraining order.—Hecla Mining Co. v. Smith, 238 P. 996, 136 Wash. 148.

(2) Under injunction bond conditioned to pay and satisfy all damages occasioned by improper issuance of an injunction, the word "damages", however, has been held broad enough to include counsel fees incurred in establishing impropriety of injunction.—Gowen v. Swain, N.H., 26 A.2d 682.

(3) It has also been held that the omission of word "expenses" did not bar expenses incurred in establishing impropriety of injunction from being included in word "damages."—Gowen v. Swain, supra.

(4) A provision to pay all damages includes costs.—Morris v. Bowen, 153 So. 779, 26 Ala.App. 22, certiorari denied 153 So. 780, 228 Ala. 402.

Right to recover attorney's fees as item of damages generally see infra § 315.

Emergency bond

(1) Under a bond wherein the obligors agree to pay a stated sum to defendant in the event it should be determined that the emergency did not exist or that plaintiff created or connived thereat by his neglect or otherwise, the condition is breached where it is determined that there is no cause of action.—First State Bank of Sulphur Springs v. Becker, 242 P. 678, 78 Colo. 436.

(2) An additional promise in the bond to the effect that in case the temporary restraining order or temporary injunction shall not issue plaintiff will pay to defendant all costs and damages as shall be awarded against complainants does not prevent the bond from being an emergency bond.—First State Bank of Sulphur Springs v. Becker, supra.

Execution returned unsatisfied

Where the condition is that plaintiff will pay any damages or costs assessed against him, the obligation is broken as soon as a decree awarding damages is made and the execution thereon is returned unsatisfied.—Morris v. Barker, 235 N.W. 174, 253 Mich. 334—Lothrop v. Southworth, 5 Mich. 436.

Payment of all damages

(1) Where the bond is conditioned to secure payment of damages caused by the wrongful issuance of the writ, the writ was wrongfully issued if the court would not have issued it had it had full knowledge of the facts.—Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. of Des Moines v. Skeer, D.C. Mo., 24 F.Supp. 805, appeal dismissed, C.C.A., Skeer v. Travelers Mut. Casualty Co., 106 F.2d 1017, and Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. v. Skeer, 106 F.2d 1018.

(2) Under such a bond, given to restrain the collection of taxes, the collector of taxes was held to have sustained damage as against a contention that the right to collect the tax had been barred by limitations.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Helvering, 112 F.2d 205, 72 App. D.C. 120.

(3) Acts done by plaintiff's assignee, to whom the injunction was also available, are covered by the bond.—Draffen v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 17 P.2d 121, 217 Cal. 43.

(4) Where no damage was sustained there can be no recovery on the bond.

U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F.2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, and certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014.

Ohio.—Pfaff Const. Co. v. Leonard, 178 N.E. 328, 40 Ohio App. 246.

Pa.—Smyth v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 192 A. 640, 326 Pa. 391, 111 A.L.R. 481.

(5) If defendant was left in the same position, with reference to the subject of the controversy, which he intended to occupy if the writ had not been issued, he was not damaged by it, however wrongful it may have been.—Schmidt v. Meredith, 228 N. W. 568, 209 Iowa 621—Bank of Monroe v. Gifford, 31 N.W. 881, 70 Iowa 580.

(6) Other items of damage held to be within the terms of bonds conditioned on paying all damages which defendant may sustain as a result of a wrongful issuance of the writ.—Garden City Co. v. Detroit Fidelity & Surety Co., 278 P. 755, 128 Kan. 492, followed in Garden City Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 283 P. 493, 129 Kan. 452.

Profits

The fact that defendant, restrained from selling certain heels, made a profit on the sale of other heels during the existence of the injunction did not absolve plaintiff from payment of damages on dissolution of injunction, but the profits so made are to be applied in reduction of damages.—I. R. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., C.C.A. Ohio, 295 F. 479.

37. Tenn.—Kelly v. Gordon, 3 Head 683.

38. Ala.—Alabama Power Co. v. Hamilton, 77 So. 356, 201 Ala. 62.
Ill.—Shreffler v. Nadelhoffer, 25 N.E. 630, 133 Ill. 536, 23 Am.S.R. 626.

An injunction bond is nothing more or less than a contract.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.

Separate obligations

Bonds given by surety in connection with restraining order and temporary injunction must be regarded as creating separate obligations as though they had been given by different sureties.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App.2d 905.

39. U.S.—I. T. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., C.C.A.Ohio, 295 F. 479.
Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel & Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 435.
32 C.J. p 438 note 39.

Knowledge of order

Where surety on injunction bond knew of pendency of action, he was chargeable with knowledge of nature of order requiring bond.—Yellen v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 1 P.2d 1019, 115 Cal.App. 434.

Restraining order

Where the bond voluntarily delivered to secure the issuance of a restraining order undertakes to indemnify for damages resulting from the injunction, the term "injunction" includes restraining order.—Behrens v. Smith Baking Co., 266 N.W. 61, 130 Neb. 651.

40. U.S.—U. S. v. Boyd, Miss., 15 Pet. 187, 10 L.Ed. 706.
32 C.J. p 438 note 40.

eral construction is proper.[41] It has been held that, where the surety is a paid surety, if there is any ambiguity in the bond it must be determined against the surety.[42] Where an injunction bond was taken by a federal court in a proceeding pending therein, its interpretation and construction, including the scope of the obligations imposed, must be governed by the federal law applicable to the subject, although such law emanates from the opinions of the federal courts.[43]

Effect of statutes. Where the conditions of an injunction bond are prescribed by statute, the bond is to be construed with reference to the statute in force at the time it is given in determining the liability thereon,[44] and the contractual liability of the surety is determinable by the terms of the bond and the provisions of the statute;[45] but the surety thereon will not be liable beyond the statutory requirements,[46] although the conditions may be broader than those prescribed by the statute and in express terms.[47]

Time of accrual. Damages sustained after the issuance of the injunction, but before the giving of the bond, may be recovered if within the terms of the bond,[48] but such damages cannot be recovered where they are not within the terms of the bond.[49] A second bond may be broad enough to cover all damages under both bonds.[50] It has been held that damages accruing after the preliminary injunction is made permanent cannot be recovered, although the decree should be afterward reversed and the action dismissed;[51] but, where the bond is conditioned to pay all damages incurred in case the injunction is dissolved, the bond has been held to be in force until the case is finally disposed of on appeal, even though the injunction was made permanent in the lower court and was then reversed on appeal.[52] Where bond was given in the lower court and judgment rendered against plaintiff, and a second bond was given on appeal, and a like judgment against plaintiff was again rendered, and suit was thereafter brought on the first bond, and judgment rendered for the full amount named therein, and a second suit was brought on the second bond, it will be presumed that all damages sustained were suffered before the first action was brought and were assessed by the jury in that action.[53] In a proper case damages accruing after suit brought on a bond may be recovered;[54] but there can be no recovery for any damages accruing after dissolution of an injunction or restraining order.[55]

Stipulation of principals. Liability of the sureties cannot be varied or extended by any stipulation of the parties to the injunction suit.[56]

§ 283. Assessment of Damages in Injunction Suit

a. In general
b. Exclusiveness of procedure

41. Ind.—Connon v. Paxson, 1 Blackf. 207—Crawford v. Spindler, 103 N.E. 338, 55 Ind.App. 1.

42. Minn.—Johnson v. Maryland Casualty Co., 224 N.W. 700, 177 Minn. 103.

43. Ky.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Travelers' Ins. Mach. Co., 224 S.W. 496, 188 Ky. 841.

Not simple contract

An injunction bond is not a simple contract to be interpreted by the common law of the state where made, since such a bond is a condition imposed by a federal court as a prerequisite to the issuance of its injunction.—Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. of Des Moines v. Skeer, D.C.Mo., 24 F.Supp. 805 appeal dismissed, C. C.A., Skeer v. Travelers Mut. Casualty Co., 106 F.2d 1017, and Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. v. Skeer, 106 F.2d 1018.

44. Ala.—Alabama Power Co. v. Hamilton, 77 So. 356, 201 Ala. 62.
32 C.J. p 438 note 42.

45. Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 105 Mont. 245—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 83 Mont. 170.

46. Cal.—Lambert v. Haskell, 22 P. 327, 80 Cal. 611.
32 C.J. p 438 note 45.

47. Tenn.—Hubbard v. Fravell, 12 Lea 304—Horton v. Cope, 6 Lea 155.

48. Ala.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Walker, 48 So. 600, 158 Ala. 129.
32 C.J. p 435 note 89.

49. Prospective operation

Bonds given to indemnify against damage which may result from injunctive process are construed as operating prospectively unless they are so worded as to express intent of surety to assume liability for damage which has accrued before giving of bond.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App.2d 905.

50. N.H.—Towle v. Towle, 46 N.H. 431.
32 C.J. p 435 note 90.

51. Cal.—Lambert v. Haskell, 22 P. 327, 80 Cal. 611.
Mo.—Toothaker v. Pleasant, App., 9 S.W.2d 670.
32 C.J. p 435 note 92.

52. Tex.—Southern Properties v. Carpenter, Civ.App., 50 S.W.2d 876, error refused.
Va.—Columbia Amusement Co. v. Pine Beach Inv. Corp., 63 S.E. 1002, 109 Va. 325, 16 Ann.Cas. 1120.

53. Ohio.—Zurhorst v. Judson, 23 Ohio Cir.Ct.,N.S., 299.
32 C.J. p 435 note 94.

54. Ala.—Salmon v. Salmon, 69 So. 304, 13 Ala.App. 510.

55. Tenn.—Russell v. Tennessee & Kentucky Tobacco Co., 89 S.W.2d 907, 19 Tenn.App. 474.
32 C.J. p 435 note 96.

Injunction dissolved by lapse of time

Where temporary injunction restraining foreclosure sale under deed of trust had dissolved itself by lapse of time, announcement by trustee and beneficiary in open court that they would not foreclose under deed of trust until cause was tried on merits did not amount to "extension" of injunction, but was merely a voluntary "waiver" of right to foreclose without restraint of injunction or protection of bond.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, Mo. App., 161 S.W.2d 431.

56. Ill.—Keith v. Henkleman, 50 N. E. 692, 173 Ill. 137.
32 C.J. p 438 note 47.

a. In General

In some jurisdictions a court, on dissolving an injunction in which a bond has been given to protect the defendant against loss, has inherent power to assess the amount of damages due on the bond; but in other jurisdictions the contrary is held.

A federal court, on dissolving an injunction in which a bond has been given to protect defendants against loss occasioned thereby if shown to be wrongfully issued, has power to determine the question of liability on the bond and assess the amount of damages thereon by reference, or otherwise, although there is no statute or rule of court authorizing this practice, or although the provisions of the bond itself do not expressly confer such authority,[57] and this practice has been adopted by the courts in some other jurisdictions[58] but the majority of decisions hold that, in the absence of express statutory authority or of some provision in the bond itself authorizing it, the court granting the injunction has no power on dissolution thereof to assess the damages resulting from the wrongful issuance of the injunction;[59] even in jurisdictions where the power of the court to assess damages independently of statute or rule of court is recognized, this power is conditioned on the fact that an injunction bond has been given.[60]

Cross petition. In an action for damages by the one obtaining the restraining order, where plaintiff insists and the court orders defendant to present in that action by cross petition whatever damages he may claim to have for wrongful issuance of the restraining order, plaintiff, by insisting on the making of such an order, waived the right to object thereto or assign such order and subsequent proceedings thereunder as error.[61]

b. Exclusiveness of Procedure

Where available, the remedy of assessment of damages in the injunction suit generally is not exclusive.

Both in jurisdictions where the power to assess damages in the injunction suit exists independently of statute or rule of court[62] and in jurisdictions where the power is thus conferred[63] it is generally held that this remedy is not exclusive, and, as discussed infra § 292, the assessment may be made in an action on the bond if it is so conditioned as to permit it, the court being vested with a discretion, it is said, either to determine the liability on the bond or to leave the injunction defendant to his remedy by an action at law.[64] Nevertheless, under

57. U.S.—Public Service Commission of Missouri v. Brashear Freight Lines, Mo., 61 S.Ct. 784, 312 U.S. 621, 85 L.Ed. 1083, reversing, C.C.A., 114 F.2d 1, certiorari granted 61 S.Ct. 392, 311 U.S. 642, 85 L.Ed. 410, and rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 938, 313 U.S. 598, 85 L.Ed. 1551—Shell Oil Co. v. Dye, C.C.A.Ill., 135 F.2d 365—General Broadcasting System v. Bridgeport Broadcasting Station, D.C.Conn., 53 F.2d 664—Owl Creek Coal Co. v. Big Horn Collieries Co., D.C.Wyo., 36 F.2d 485—Martin v. Barth, C.C.A.Ind., 25 F.2d 95—Becker v. Stander, D.C.La., 17 F.2d 772.
32 C.J. p 439 note 50.

Discretion

The awarding of damages under temporary injunction bond is not a matter of right, and is a matter resting in the sound discretion of the court.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F.2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, and certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014.

Earlier federal decisions maintained a contrary view.—Bein v. Heath, La., 12 How., U.S., 168, 13 L.Ed. 939—Merryfield v. Jones, C.C. Mass., 17 F.Cas.No.9,486, 2 Curt. 306.

58. Hawaii.—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.
Pa.—See Klahr v. Baldwin, Com.Pl., 23 Erie Co. 345.
Vt.—Spaulding & Kimball Co. v. Ætna Chemical Co., 126 A. 588, 98 Vt. 169.
32 C.J. p 439 note 51.

Notwithstanding statutory reference

As between parties to suit, chancery court has inherent power to assess injunction damages, notwithstanding statutory provision relating to assessment by reference to master.—Houghton v. Grimes, 151 A. 642, 103 Vt. 54.

59. Neb.—Higgins v. Adelson, 270 N.W. 502, 507, 131 Neb. 820, quoting Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Miller v. South Hills Trust Co., 96 Pa.Super. 273.
Utah.—Junction Irr. Co. v. Snow, 118 P.2d 130, 131, 101 Utah 71, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 439 note 53.

No notice to sureties

On dissolution of temporary injunction restraining sale under chattel mortgage, petition to assess deficiency against injunction bond could not be granted as to sureties who had no notice of application, not having had their day in court, but remedy should have been by action on bond.—Epstein v. Graff, 203 N.W. 836, 231 Mich. 232.

60. U.S.—Russell v. Farley, Minn., 105 U.S. 433, 26 L.Ed. 1060.
32 C.J. p 439 note 53.

61. Kan.—Sterling v. Goulden, 12 P.2d 812, 136 Kan. 18.

62. U.S.—Public Service Commission of Missouri v. Brashear Freight Lines, Mo., 61 S.Ct. 784, 312 U.S. 621, 85 L.Ed. 1083, reversing, C.C.A., 114 F.2d 1, certiorari granted 61 S.Ct. 392, 311 U.S. 642, 85 L.Ed. 410, and rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 938, 313 U.S. 598, 85 L.Ed. 1551—Stoody Co. v. Mikels, D.C. Cal., 40 F.Supp. 53.
Hawaii.—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.
32 C.J. p 440 note 67.

63. N.Y.—Fuller v. American Surety Co., 275 N.Y.S. 113, 153 Misc. 482—Bolton v. Thacher, 214 N.Y.S. 290, 126 Misc. 675.
Tenn.—James v. Williams, 99 S.W.2d 331, 20 Tenn.App. 420—Nashville Union Stockyards, Inc. v. Grissim, 13 Tenn.App. 115—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.
Tex.—Sanitary Appliance Co. v. French, Civ.App., 58 S.W.2d 159, error dismissed.
32 C.J. p 440 note 68.

64. Hawaii.—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.
Mass.—Lawyers' Mortg. Inv. Corporation of Boston v. Paramount Laundries, 191 N.E. 398, 287 Mass. 357.
32 C.J. p 440 note 70.

Discretion abused

Under the circumstances of the case, refusal to assess damages in injunction suit held an abuse of discretion.—Public Service Commission of Missouri v. Brashear Freight some statutes it is the duty of the court in which the injunction suit is being tried to assess the damages,[65] and, as discussed infra § 292, until this is done no action can be maintained on the bond.

§ 284. —— Statutory Provisions

Under some statutes the court is authorized, or authorized in particular cases, to assess damages in the injunction suit.

In many jurisdictions the court in which the injunction suit is brought is by express statutory provision vested with power on dissolution of the injunction to assess the damages resulting from its wrongful issuance.[66] In other jurisdictions there are provisions not quite so broad, but which authorize the assessment of damages on the dissolution of an injunction against proceedings on judgments of final orders generally,[67] or on judgments for money,[68] or where the purpose of the injunction was delay,[69] or where the injunction was issued to stay proceedings at law in actions of ejectment after verdict;[70] and, where the power to assess damages in the injunction suit is thus restricted by the statute conferring it, it can, of course, be exercised in no cases other than those designated.[71] In the absence of a statute directing the judge to Lines, Mo., 61 S.Ct. 784, 312 U.S. 621, 85 L.Ed. 1083, reversing, C.C.A., 114 F.2d 1, certiorari granted 61 S.Ct. 392, 311 U.S. 642, 85 L.Ed. 410, and rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 938, 313 U.S. 598, 85 L.Ed. 1551.

65. Ark.—Sullivan v. Wilson Mercantile Co., 271 S.W. 30, 168 Ark. 262.
32 C.J. p 440 note 70.

66. Ark.—Lesser-Goldman Cotton Co. v. Adams, 249 S.W. 371, 158 Ark. 10.
Ill.—Crozier v. Freeman Coal Mining Co., 2 N.E.2d 293, 363 Ill. 362—Babcock v. Chicago Rys. Co., 155 N.E. 773, 325 Ill. 16—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428—Kahn v. Rasof, 253 Ill.App. 546—Hayes v. Kellums, 224 Ill.App. 533.
Minn.—Midland Loan Finance Co. v. Temple Garage Co., 288 N.W. 853, 206 Minn. 434.
Mo.—Farasy v. Hindert, App., 110 S.W.2d 785.
Philippine.—Macatangay v. San Juan de Bocboc, 9 Philippine 19.
Tenn.—James v. Williams, 99 S.W. 2d 831, 20 Tenn.App. 430.
32 C.J. p 439 note 55.

All costs

Where judgment of trial court granting temporary injunction was reversed by appellate court and injunction dissolved, all costs, including those in lower court and on appeal, were adjudged against plaintiff and the sureties on his injunction bond as provided in statute.—Railroad Commission v. Young, Tex.Civ. App., 132 S.W.2d 147.

Damages assessed against plaintiff

Miss.—Herron v. McLean, 191 So. 59.

Deposits

The court has jurisdiction to dispose of deposits made into the court to secure defendant for damages if the writ should be wrongfully issued.
Fla.—Masser v. London Operating Co., 145 So. 72, 106 Fla. 474.
Ill.—Leslie v. Wyant, 17 N.E.2d 618, 297 Ill.App. 643.

Emergency bond

(1) Where sureties in an emergency bond consent that the court shall enter judgment against them for the amount of the bond if the court adjudges that the emergency alleged does not exist, or, existing, was brought about by the act or omission of or for plaintiff, on a finding that an emergency does not exist, judgment may be entered for the amount of the bond without resort to an independent action.—First State Bank of Sulphur Springs v. Becker, 242 P. 678, 78 Colo. 436—Cary v. Mine & Smelter Supply Co., 129 P. 230, 53 Colo. 556.

(2) For purpose of judgment on such a bond, it is immaterial whether defendant has sustained any damage from temporary restraining order.—Axelson v. Columbine Laundry Co., 254 P. 990, 81 Colo. 254.

Defendant held entitled to recover on injunction bond.—Thomas v. Mississippi Power & Light Co., 152 So. 269, 170 Miss. 811, followed in Mississippi Power & Light Co. v. McCoglan Hotel, 152 So. 271.

Purpose of statute

(1) The statute relating to assessment of damages on dissolution of a temporary injunction was intended to provide relief against wrongful issuance of an injunction.—Nestor Johnson Mfg. Co. v. Goldblatt, 21 N.E.2d 723, 371 Ill. 570, 123 A.L.R. 1230, affirming 17 N.E.2d 371, 297 Ill.App. 190.

(2) The statute was designed to give to a defendant, against whom an injunction issued, damages on equitable principles whenever the injunction issued was an infringement on defendant's legal rights. It is not necessary for him to prove that the obtaining of the injunction was a tortious act.—2063 Lawrence Avenue Bldg. Corporation v. Van Heck, 45 N.E.2d 687, 317 Ill.App. 59.

Reconventional demand

Under a statute providing that in case of an injunction defendant may in the same suit, by reconventional demand, recover from plaintiff the damages he may have suffered by the illegal resort to such writ, a temporary restraining order is an injunction, and defendant is entitled to sue for his damages by reconventional demand.—Richards v. Roudillon, 140 So. 274, 19 La.App. 535.

Statute held valid

Ill.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.

67. Ark.—Felker v. Rice, 161 S.W. 162, 110 Ark. 70.
32 C.J. p 439 note 56.

68. La.—Simon v. Barnett, 125 So. 743, 169 La. 642—Timkan v. Wisner Estate, 95 So. 711, 153 La. 262.
32 C.J. p 439 note 57.

69. Tex.—Mitchell v. Gregory, Civ. App., 283 S.W. 211.
32 C.J. p 440 note 58.

70. Vt.—Powell v. Woodbury, 83 A. 541, 85 Vt. 504, Ann.Cas.1914D 606.

71. La.—Testart v. Belot, 33 La. Ann. 1469.
32 C.J. p 440 note 60.

Partition sale

A statute providing for damages on dissolution of an injunction obtained for delay where collection of money was enjoined has no application to a temporary injunction restraining a partition sale.—Mitchell v. Gregory, Tex.Civ.App., 283 S.W. 211.

Restraining orders

(1) Damages were allowable where restraining order was dissolved on a motion separately filed, tried, and disposed of prior to the trial of the rule nisi, since restraining orders granted on furnishing bond have, under statute, same temporary effect as preliminary injunctions.—Vidal v. Sterlington Gas Corporation, 161 So. 6, 182 La. 19.

(2) Under the same statute, however, it has been held that a temporary restraining order cannot be classified as an injunction.—Inter City Express Lines v. Guarisco, La. App., 165 So. 727.

(3) A temporary restraining order is not "an injunction to stay proceedings upon a judgment or final assess damages,[72] ordinarily, notwithstanding the power conferred by statute, it is largely within the discretion of the court whether or not it should be exercised.[73] An application for damages or for a reference to ascertain damages will be denied where it is apparent that defendant suffered no damage.[74] The discretion of the court as to the amount of damages awarded will not in general be interfered with.[75]

§ 285. —— Conditions Precedent

A final decision that the injunction was wrongfully obtained usually is a condition precedent to the assessment of damages in the injunction suit.

As in the case of suits brought on injunction bonds, discussed infra § 292, so in jurisdictions where it is permissible for the court trying the injunction suit to assess the damages by the assistance of a referee or without such assistance it is a condition precedent to such assessment and allowance that there shall have been a final decision on the merits,[76] or something equivalent to such a decision,[77] and there can be no assessment of damages on a mere dissolution of the injunction except where this requirement is expressly abrogated by statute.[78] Within the rule stated there is no final adjudication in case the injunction is merely dissolved on the coming in of the answer,[79] or where an injunction wrongfully issued was dissolved by a voluntary discontinuance of the case before the expiration of the time for defendant to enter his appearance,[80] or pending an appeal.[81] Ordinarily, however, where plaintiff obtained an injunction and where thereafter plaintiff discontinues the action without defendant's consent, such discontinuance constitutes an adjudication that plaintiff was not entitled to the injunction;[82] but even in case of a final determination of the action resulting from a dismissal of the bill at the instance of complainant damages should not be assessed if the dissolution and dismissal were made pursuant to an agreement of the parties.[83] Also a dissolution on the matter of the bill only,[84] or a dissolution which follows a dismissal of the complaint,[85] may be regarded as a final adjudication.

Attempt to dissolve. It has been held that no damages can be awarded because of a temporary restraining order where no effort was made to dissolve it while it was in effect.[86] order" of the county court within a statute providing that, on the dissolution of an injunction to stay proceedings upon a judgment or final order, damages shall be assessed by the court.—Adcock v. Coker, 151 S. W. 253, 105 Ark. 210.

72. La.—Hollingsworth v. Gleissner, 7 La.App. 728.

73. Tex.—Clare v. Maroney, Civ. App., 152 S.W.2d 410, error dismissed.
32 C.J. p 440 note 62.

74. Tenn.—McCrary v. Harrell, 62 S.W.2d 566, 166 Tenn. 531.

75. Ark.—Moore v. Granger, 30 Ark. 574.
Tex.—Clare v. Maroney, Civ.App., 152 S.W.2d 410, error dismissed.

76. N.Y.—Dickinson v. Springer, 158 N.E. 74, 246 N.Y. 203, reversing 219 N.Y.S. 799, 218 App.Div. 831, and motion denied 159 N.E. 642, 246 N.Y. 539—Lockwood's Dollar Cleaners v. Lockwood, 244 N.Y.S. 281, 137 Misc. 446.
32 C.J. p 440 note 76.

Partial dissolution of an injunction by a final decree is such a breach of the obligation of the bond as to entitle defendant to a reference to ascertain the damages.—Tecla Corporation v. Salon Tecla, 234 N. Y.S. 544, 226 App.Div. 168.

77. N.Y.—Wilson v. Wilson, 114 N. Y.S. 455, 130 App.Div. 70.

78. Ill.—Schuler v. Wolf, 24 N.E.2d 162, 372 Ill. 386—Crozier v. Freeman Coal Mining Co., 2 N.E.2d 293, 363 Ill. 362—Hayes v. Kallums, 224 Ill.App. 533.
32 C.J. p 441 note 78.

Under former statutes in Illinois, where an injunction was ancillary to the cause of action, where the only prayer of the bill was for an injunction, it was premature and improper to assess damages until a final disposition of the case.—Terry v. Hamilton Primary School, 72 Ill. 476—32 C.J. p 441 note 78 [a] (2).

79. Ill.—Terry v. Hamilton Primary School, 72 Ill. 476.
32 C.J. p 441 note 79.

80. Vt.—Powell v. Woodbury, 83 A. 541, 85 Vt. 504, Ann.Cas.1914D 606.
32 C.J. p 441 note 80.

81. N.Y.—Musgrave v. Sherwood, 76 N.Y. 194—Howard v. Park, 59 How.Pr. 344.

82. Without costs
Granting of leave to discontinue without costs in no way ordinarily affects question of damages sustained by reason of injunction.—Wise Shoe Co. v. Fischer, 286 N.Y.S. 14, 158 Misc. 514.

83. Ill.—Cassen v. Ernst, 84 Ill.App. 70, affirmed 55 N.E. 646, 183 Ill. 137.
"Where a statute or a bond provides for an allowance of damages for the wrongful suing out of an injunction, if it shall be dissolved, this means a dissolution by order of court, or upon the failure of complainant to prosecute his suit."—Sackett v. Morris, 149 Ill.App. 152, 165.

Adjustment of differences
Where, after injunction was granted, but before discontinuance was sought by plaintiff, plaintiff and defendant adjusted their differences, discontinuance of action was not determination that plaintiff was not entitled to injunction, and did not entitle defendant to damages sustained by reason thereof.—Wise Shoe Co. v. Fischer, 286 N.Y.S. 14, 158 Misc. 514.

84. N.Y.—Brown v. Utopia Land Co., 103 N.Y.S. 53, 118 App.Div. 190.
32 C.J. p 441 note 82.

85. S.C.—Lewis v. Jones, 43 S.E. 525, 65 S.C. 157.
32 C.J. p 441 note 83.

86. Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill. App. 428.
La.—Inter City Express Lines v. Guarisco, App., 165 So. 727—First Nat. Bank v. Corell, App., 149 So. 326, amending 145 So. 395, rehearing denied 146 So. 479—Austin v. Currie, 134 So. 723, 16 La.App. 375.

It is elementary that no damages can be awarded because of the wrongful issuance of any conservatory writ, unless the writ is dissolved on a motion tried separately from the merits.—Falgout v. Boudreaux, La.App., 188 So. 421—Coleman v. Currie, 134 So. 733, 16 La. App. 403.

Prayer in answer. In some jurisdictions a prayer for damages must be made in defendant's answer in the injunction suit in order to recover such damages on dissolution of the injunction.[87]

§ 286. —— Proceedings for Assessment

a. Motion or suggestion of damages
b. Mode of assessment
c. Hearing and determination

a. Motion or Suggestion of Damages

A timely and proper motion or suggestion of damages ordinarily is necessary in order to secure an assessment of damages in an injunction suit.

To authorize an assessment of damages in an injunction suit it is necessary that a motion for, or suggestion of, damages should be made.[88] Under some statutes the motion may be made orally,[89] but under others it has been held that a motion for, or suggestion of, damages must be in writing.[90] The motion should set forth facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action,[91] and it must be so framed as to inform the other party with reasonable certainty of the nature and amount of the damages claimed.[92] A motion for the appointment of a referee to assess damages must be made within the judicial district within which the action was triable.[93]

Who may move and parties. The enjoined parties are proper parties to move for an assessment of damages on the injunction bond.[94] Real parties in interest not formally enjoined, after being made parties defendant at their own request and after obtaining dissolution of the injunction, may move for an assessment of damages.[95] An obligee incorrectly named in the bond may, in his true name, move for an assessment of his damages.[96]

As a general rule, all the obligees should join in the motion to assess damages on an injunction bond,[97] but the rule is not one of universal application and is subject to exceptions.[98] If separate motions are filed by the joint obligees who are the real parties in interest, the motions should be treated and tried as one motion, and at the same time, to the end that all the parties plaintiff therein who are united in interest should be before the court, and that one final judgment should be rendered on the bond.[99]

Under some statutes the sureties on the injunction bond may, if they wish, appear in the proceeding to assess damages.[1]

Time of making. The motion ordinarily should be filed at the same term of court at which the 87. La.—City of Shreveport v. Dickason, 107 So. 427, 160 La. 563.

88. Ill.—Albright v. Smith, 68 Ill. 181.
32 C.J. p 441 note 86.

89. Me.—Andrews v. Nalley, 111 A. 804, 119 Me. 500.

90. Ill.—Albright v. Smith, 68 Ill. 181.
32 C.J. p 441 note 88.

91. Mo.—Laumeier v. Sammelmann, 279 S.W. 249, 218 Mo.App. 468.

Supplemental motion

Where the motion to assess damages for suing out an injunction was filed immediately on the dissolution of the injunction by the trial court, and a supplemental motion was filed which did not demand damages as the actual, natural, and proximate result of the injunction, the supplemental motion was without effect, and the original motion was the motion justifying the assessment of damages.—C. H. Albers Commission Co. v. Spencer, 139 S.W. 321, 236 Mo. 608, Ann.Cas.1912D 705.

92. Mo.—C. H. Albers Commission Co. v. Spencer, supra.
32 C.J. p 441 note 89.

93. N.Y.—Wilson v. Dreyer, 72 N.Y.S. 578, 65 App.Div. 249.

94. Obedience before service

A defendant, even though he obeys the injunction before being served, may have a reference to ascertain damages, since the undertaking is for the benefit of all defendants who are enjoined.—Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. v. Hoffman Steam Coal Co., 39 Barb.,N.Y., 16, 20 How.Pr. 62.

State officers

(1) Where injunction bonds ran to state officials and agencies enjoined from collecting fees and licenses under state bus and truck law, the enjoined parties were "proper parties" to invoke court's protection of the state's interest by assessment of damages, since the bonds were required to protect the state through its officials, as against contention that the state treasurer was given statutory power to collect the fees and licenses which were in part the basis of motion to assess damages. —Public Service Commission of Missouri v. Brashear Freight Lines, Mo., 61 S.Ct. 784, 312 U.S. 621, 85 L.Ed. 1083, reversing, C.C.A., 114 F.2d 1, certiorari granted 61 S.Ct. 392, 311 U.S. 642, 85 L.Ed. 410, and rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 938, 313 U.S. 598, 85 L.Ed. 1551.

(2) It is particularly true that the enjoined officials are proper parties where one of the officers enjoined is the attorney general, who has exclusive authority to bring suit on behalf of the state.—Public Service Commission of Missouri v. Brashear Freight Lines, supra.

95. Ill.—District No. 181 School Directors v. Mathis, 168 Ill.App. 174.

96. Mo.—Stine v. Southwest Bank of St. Louis, App., 108 S.W.2d 633.

97. Mo.—Barrett v. Stoddard County, 197 S.W. 914, 272 Mo. 129—Ohnsorg v. Turner, 33 Mo.App. 486.

98. Mo.—C. H. Albers Commission Co. v. Spencer, 139 S.W. 321, 236 Mo. 608, Ann.Cas.1912D 705.
32 C.J. p 441 note 92.

99. Mo.—Helmkampf v. Wood, 84 Mo.App. 261—August Gast Bank Note & Lithographing Co. v. Fennimore Ass'n of St. Louis, 79 Mo. App. 612.

1. Wis.—Schlitz Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 459, 211 Wis. 62, followed in Alaska Land Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 462, 211 Wis. 71, Uihlein v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463 (two cases), 211 Wis. 72, Continental Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463, 211 Wis. 73, New Jersey Theatre Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 75, Werdehoff Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 76, Majestic Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 77, and Glenogle Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 465, 211 Wis. 78.

judgment dissolving the injunction was entered.[2] Where plaintiff appeals from the judgment of dissolution, it has been held that the court has jurisdiction to assess damages at its next term after such judgment is affirmed,[3] although if the appeal is taken without bond, so that it does not operate as a supersedeas, the motion may properly be made at the term in which the decree is entered.[4] Under a statute providing that the court, after dissolution of the injunction and before finally disposing of the suit, on a suggestion of damages, shall assess damages, a suggestion of damages may be filed at any time after dissolution of the injunction and before the decree is signed and filed,[5] but, in the absence of an express reservation of jurisdiction to assess damages,[6] a filing of a suggestion after final disposition comes too late where the final decree has not been vacated.[7]

It has been held, in the absence of a statute to the contrary, that the court cannot and should not order a reference to assess damages on a motion made long after the entry of the final decree which dissolved the injunction and disposed of the litigation.[8] Nevertheless, irrespective of any particular statutory provision on the subject, circumstances attending the case may be such that a long delay in making application for assessment of damages will not bar the right to have such assessment made.[9] Where plaintiff appeared and consented that a motion for the assessment of damages on an injunction bond be set for trial at a subsequent day, when he appeared, waived a jury, and proceeded to trial, he thereby waived any informality as to the time of the filing of the motion.[10]

b. Mode of Assessment

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, the judge may assess the damages himself or he may order a reference therefor.

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, the assessment ordinarily may be made by the judge or chancellor himself.[11] Under some statutes the assessment may be had by reference or otherwise, as the court may see fit to direct,[12] although it has been said that a reference is very much a matter of course;[13] and under other statutes defendant is entitled to such a reference if he demands it,[14] and, independent of any special statutory provision, such a reference has been allowed.[15]

In the absence of a statute providing otherwise, it may be discretionary with the chancellor whether or not a jury trial will be granted to fix the amount of damages;[16] but under some statutes the party asking damages is entitled to have the amount of damages fixed by a jury unless he waives the right.[17]

c. Hearing and Determination

The proceeding to assess damages is in the nature of a suit on the bond.

The proceeding to assess damages in the injunction suit is in the nature of a suit on the bond,[18] and has all the elements of the trial of an issue raised by the pleadings;[19] and, as is the case where suit is brought on an injunction bond, discussed infra § 293, it is not permissible to go into the merits of the main cause,[20] but the inquiry is only as to

2. Mo.—Robertson v. Glenn, 218 S.W. 920, 205 Mo.App. 89.
32 C.J. p 442 note 98 [a], [b] (1).

Notice

Where the motion to assess damages is filed at a term subsequent to the order dissolving the injunction, notice must be given.—Pegram v. Wm. H. Lee & Co., Mo.App., 199 S.W. 433—32 C.J. p 442 note 98 [b] (4).

3. Mo.—Houston v. Welch, 241 S.W. 991, 211 Mo.App. 300.
32 C.J. p 442 note 98 [b] (2).

4. Mo.—Fears v. Riley, 48 S.W. 828, 147 Mo. 453.

5. Ill.—Wing v. Dodge, 80 Ill. 564.
32 C.J. p 442 note 97 [a].

The only condition imposed on the party claiming damages is that his written suggestion must be made after the injunction is dissolved and before final disposition of the suit.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.

6. Ill.—Hillmer v. Behr, 106 N.E. 481, 264 Ill. 562.

Parties entitled to benefit

An enjoined party who filed no suggestions of damages prior to the entry of the final decree is not entitled to join in a suggestion of damages filed by other parties who had been granted leave to file such after the final decree.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428—32 C.J. p 442 note 97 [b].

7. Ill.—H. E. Lacy Mfg. Co. v. Lacy Products Corporation, 5 N.E.2d 616, 287 Ill.App. 633.
32 C.J. p 442 note 97 [c].

8. Eight months

Motion made eight months after entry of final decree denied.—Stoody Co. v. Mikels, D.C.Cal., 40 F.Supp. 53.

9. N.Y.—Holcomb v. Rice, 23 N.E. 1112, 119 N.Y. 598.
32 C.J. p 442 note 2.

10. Mo.—Sutliff v. Montgomery, 92 S.W. 515, 115 Mo.App. 592.

11. Miss.—New Orleans, M. & C. R. Co. v. Martin, 62 So. 228, 105 Miss. 230.
32 C.J. p 442 note 5.

12. Vt.—Spaulding & Kimball Co. v. Ætna Chemical Co., 126 A. 588, 98 Vt. 169.
32 C.J. p 442 note 8.

13. N.Y.—Waterbury v. Bouker, 10 Hun 262.

14. Tenn.—Phillips v. Landess, 280 S.W. 694, 152 Tenn. 682—James v. Williams, 99 S.W.2d 831, 20 Tenn. App. 420—Nashville Union Stockyards, Inc. v. Grissim, 13 Tenn. App. 115.
32 C.J. p 443 note 10.

15. Vt.—Sturgis v. Knapp, 33 Vt. 486.

16. Ill.—Holmes v. Stateler, 57 Ill. 209.

17. Mo.—Nolan v. Jones, 18 S.W. 1107, 108 Mo. 431.
32 C.J. p 443 note 14.

18. Mo.—Laumeier v. Sammelmann, 279 S.W. 249, 218 Mo.App. 468.
Tenn.—Smith v. Ruohs, Ch.App., 58 S.W. 1101.

19. N.M.—McCoy v. Torrance County Sav. Bank, 144 P. 283, 19 N.M. 422.

20. Miss.—McLeod v. Barnes, 156

the amount of damages, if any, and not as to the right to recover them.[21] Where the proper steps have been taken by the party claiming damages, the court or referee, in case the question of damages has been referred, will proceed to hear evidence and to assess the damages.[22] On the evidence presented, the grant or denial of damages ordinarily rests in the sound discretion of the court.[23]

In case the question of damages is referred, it has been held that findings of fact and conclusions of law need not be reported by the referee.[24] The sureties are entitled to appear and resist the application for a reference to fix the damages sustained by the issuance of the injunction.[25] Although the sureties are not liable beyond the amount of the bond, and although plaintiff is not liable for an unwarranted injunction except by an action for malicious prosecution, yet, on a reference to ascertain damages, the full amount thereof, although in excess of the bond, is properly found and reported.[26] Sureties are entitled to be heard on an application to set aside the referee's report and to send it back for correction if it is wrong.[27] Where a rehearing is ordered for error of the referee or for other cause, it is within the discretion of the court to permit the evidence formerly taken to be submitted on the rehearing together with such other evidence as may be adduced by the parties in order to prevent a possible loss of evidence and reduce the expense of litigation.[28]

Notice of assessment. In the federal courts it has been held that proceedings to assess damages on the injunction bond in the injunction suit are not binding on the sureties when there is no notice to, or process against, them.[29] In the state courts, while it has been said that it is the safer and fairer course to give the sureties notice of proceedings to assess damages,[30] it usually is held that such notice is not indispensable;[31] but a limitation of the rule has been recognized where the proceedings to assess damages occur at a term subsequent to that in which the injunction was dissolved, in which circumstances it has been held that notice is necessary,[32] unless notice is waived,[33] even though the motion to assess damages was filed at the term in which the judgment dissolving the injunction was given.[34]

Time of hearing. In some jurisdictions when an injunction is dissolved before the termination of the suit damages may then be awarded on the injunction bond if the suit be for no other relief than the injunction itself; but if the injunction is merely ancillary to the relief sought the award of damages should await the termination of the suit.[35] In other jurisdictions the court, before final disposition of the proceedings, on a proper showing, may dissolve a temporary injunction if it was wrongfully obtained and award to defendant such damages as he may have suffered, or the court may defer action until the final hearing of the cause.[36] Where it is essential, by the provisions of the statute, that the motion for damages should be made before the suit is finally disposed of, if the motion or suggestion of damages is filed in time, the hearing and determination thereof may be held after final decree,[37] or indeed at any subsequent term;[38] and the hearing may be continued from time to time on proper showing made to the court.[39] Where the stat-

So. 517, 170 Miss. 880—Day v. McCandless, 142 So. 486, 167 Miss. 832.
32 C.J. p 443 note 18.

Conclusively established
Appellate court's reversal of order thereby dissolving the injunction conclusively established that it was wrongfully sued out as regards recovery of damages therefor.—Babcock v. Chicago Rys. Co., 155 N.E. 773, 325 Ill. 16.

Party seeking temporary injunction assumes risk of obtaining favorable final decree.—Saunders v. Piggly-Wiggly Corporation, C.C.A.Tenn., 30 F.2d 385, modifying, D.C., Piggly-Wiggly Corporation v. Saunders, 1 F. 2d 572.

21. Ky.—Hayden v. Phillips, 11 S. W. 951, 89 Ky. 1, 11 Ky.L. 239.
32 C.J. p 443 note 19.

22. S.D.—Quarnberg v. Chamberlain, 137 N.W. 405, 29 S.D. 377.
32 C.J. p 443 note 20.

23. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F. 2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, and certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014.

24. N.Y.—Matthews v. Murchison, 14 Abb.N.Cas. 512.

25. Tenn.—Henley v. Cliborne, 3 Lea 213—Smith v. Ruohs, Ch.App., 58 S.W. 1101.

26. N.Y.—Harrison v. Hind & Harrison Plush Co., 112 N.Y.S. 834, 128 App.Div. 460.

27. N.Y.—Methodist Churches v. Barker, 18 N.Y. 463.

28. N.Y.—Roberts v. White, 73 N.Y. 375, affirming 43 N.Y.Super. 455.

29. U.S.—Terry v. Robbins, C.C.N. C., 122 F. 725—Leslie v. Brown, Ky., 90 F. 171, 32 C.C.A. 556.
32 C.J. p 444 note 41.

30. N.Y.—Jordan v. Volkenning, 72 N.Y. 300.

31. Mo.—Southern Surety Co. v. Young, 198 S.W. 476, 197 Mo.App. 640.
32 C.J. p 444 note 43.

32. Mo.—Pegram v. William H. Lee Co., App., 199 S.W. 433.
32 C.J. p 444 note 44.

33. Mo.—Konta v. St. Louis Stock Exchange, 131 S.W. 380, 150 Mo. App. 617.

34. Mo.—Konta v. St. Louis Stock Exchange, supra.

35. Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Borodofsky, 104 So. 91, 139 Miss. 368.

Award properly withheld until final determination of the case.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757.

36. Hawaii.—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.

37. Ill.—Wing v. Dodge, 60 Ill. 564.

38. Ill.—Hovorka v. Hemmer, 107 Ill.App. 312.

39. Ill.—Poyer v. Village of Des ute does not designate the time for filing the motion, the court has jurisdiction, subsequent to a final decree on the merits, to hear and determine injunction damages;[40] but it has been held that the assessment should in general be made during the term at which the cause is finally disposed of by the court.[41] This is, however, not absolutely necessary;[42] and the rule does not apply where there is an appeal from the final order on dissolution.[43]

Where, in an action for injunction, the damage issue was deferred, by stipulation, to be tried later, and an order made that plaintiffs might later file an amended complaint with respect to the issue of damages, after appeal from the decree of injunction, the court did not lose jurisdiction because the damage issue was not tried during the term at which the injunction was granted and no application was made within six months after the term.[44]

Defenses. Any defense is available which might be set up in an action on the bond.[45]

Evidence. The usual presumptions arising in civil actions generally will be indulged in proceedings of this character.[46] In the absence of a statute providing otherwise,[47] the burden is on the enjoined defendant to establish his damages by proper evidence.[48] Where, in obedience to an order of the court, defendant has filed a bill of particulars stating the damages sustained by him, he should, at the hearing, be confined to the items of damages set out in the bill of particulars.[49] It is not necessary for Plaines, 13 N.E. 819, 123 Ill. 111, 5 Am.S.R. 494, reheard 15 N.E. 768, 124 Ill. 310—Holmes v. Stateler, 57 Ill. 209—Curtis v. Wright, 40 Ill. App. 494.

40. Decree during vacation

Where a temporary injunction was dissolved by decree of court during vacation, but where no formal decree was entered, the court had jurisdiction subsequently to assess damages on the theory that the case was pending for that purpose.—Spaulding & Kimball Co. v. Ætna Chemical Co., 126 A. 588, 98 Vt. 169.

Retention of jurisdiction

Where defendant in injunction suit filed cross complaint against codefendants for temporary injunction and attached codefendants' realty, and attachment was vacated and defendant's cross complaint dismissed without order of reference or reservation of power of reference for purpose of assessing damages sustained by codefendants, court retained jurisdiction to adjudicate question of damages caused by temporary injunction, since the order of dismissal was only an adjudication of the primary issue of the propriety of injunctive relief.—Walker v. Preacher, 198 S.E. 168, 188 S.C. 60.

41. Mo.—Loehner v. Hill, 19 Mo. App. 141—Moore v. Mexico Sav. Bank, 58 Mo.App. 469—Neiser v. Thomas, 46 Mo.App. 47.

Overruling plaintiff's objection to assessing damages on injunction bond did not prevent order overruling motion to assess damages at subsequent term.—Losee v. Crawford, 5 S.W.2d 105, 222 Mo.App. 683.

42. Mo.—Sutliff v. Montgomery, 92 S.W. 515, 115 Mo.App. 592.

43. Mo.—Neiser v. Thomas, 46 Mo. App. 47.

44. Utah.—Utah Oil Refining Co. v. District Court of Salt Lake County, 209 P. 624, 60 Utah 428.

45. Tenn.—Henley v. Cliborne, 3 Lea 213.

32 C.J. p 444 note 29.

Consent to an extension of a temporary injunction, which was originally granted over objection, conditioned on extension of injunction bond, did not prevent assessment of damages on the bond resulting from such temporary injunction as granted and extended.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, Mo. App., 161 S.W.2d 431.

46. Liability for counsel fees

It will be presumed that liability was incurred for services of counsel representing defendants in injunction proceeding.—Renaldo v. Lamas, 117 So. 528, 151 Miss. 207.

47. Penalty

Under Code Pract. art 304, where injunction was directed against execution of money judgment, the judge on dissolution might allow damages to the amount of twenty per cent of the judgment without proof.—Timkan v. Wisner Estate, 95 So. 711, 153 La. 262.

48. Ill.—Bohm v. Gerdes, 32 N.E.2d 1000, 309 Ill.App. 206—Commissioners of Nutwood Levee and Drainage Dist. of Greene and Jersey Counties v. Reardon, 25 N.E.2d 425, 303 Ill.App. 443.

Ky.—Pacific Coal Mining Co. v. Horn, 291 S.W. 767, 218 Ky. 554.

La.—Three Rivers Oil Co. v. Laurence, 95 So. 652, 153 La. 224—Richards v. Roudillion, 140 So. 274, 19 La.App. 535.

Mo.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, App., 161 S.W. 2d 431.

Vt.—Spaulding & Kimball Co. v. Ætna Chemical Co., 126 A. 588, 98 Vt. 169.

32 C.J. p 443 note 26.

Collectability of judgment

(1) Person, wrongfully enjoined from prosecuting law action, must, to recover damages, prove extent to which collectability of judgment in law action suffered by reason of restraint.—Houghton v. Grimes, 151 A. 642, 103 Vt. 54.

(2) Where stock at time injunction restraining prosecution of suit was granted had no value unless by reason of voting control, person obtaining judgment after dissolution of injunction and claiming damage because of inability to obtain satisfaction from stock must show pecuniary value of stock by reason of voting control, and that he could have collected it except for injunction.—Houghton v. Grimes, 164 A. 371, 105 Vt. 230.

(3) Evidence held to show that defendant could not have secured any part of his judgment obtained in the law action.—Houghton v. Grimes, 164 A. 371, 105 Vt. 230.

(4) Allowance of certain credit for failure to reach property of certain value held all plaintiff was entitled to.—Houghton v. Grimes, 164 A. 371, 105 Vt. 230.

Evidence held to show damage

D.C.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Helvering, 112 F.2d 205, 72 App.D.C. 120.

Tenn.—Southland Portland Cement Co. v. Melvin, 5 Tenn.App. 459.

Knowledge of records

Bank wrongfully suing out injunction against improvement was charged with knowledge of district's recorded contract to pay contractors for delay.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dallas County Levee Improvement Dist. No. 9, Tex. Civ.App., 2 S.W.2d 305, error refused.

Prima facie evidence

(1) The dissolution of a preliminary injunction is prima facie evidence of damage.—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131.

(2) A direct invasion of legal rights imports damage.—Osage Oil & Refining Co. v. Chandler, C.C.A.N.Y., 287 F. 348.

49. N.C.—Gruber v. Ewbanks, 154 S.E. 318, 199 N.C. 335.

defendant to introduce the record entries of the case on trial of a motion to assess damages, as such record is before the court.[50] It may be necessary to preserve the evidence in the record to support the decree awarding damages,[51] especially where there is no such finding of facts in the decree as will dispense with the necessity of preserving the evidence.[52]

Findings. The findings must be supported by the evidence.[53] Irregularities in the findings as to immaterial matters may be disregarded.[54] The findings will be given a reasonable construction.[55]

Decree. The decree or award assessing the damages on dissolution should fix the amount thereof.[56] Where the erroneous injunction was against a defendant in his official capacity, the failure of the decree awarding him damages to designate his official capacity has been held not to be fatal.[57]

§ 287. —— Effect of Assessment

Unless reversed on appeal or procured by fraud or mistake, an assessment of the damages sustained because of the wrongful issuance of an injunction is conclusive.

The order confirming the report of the referee or the decision of the court as to the amount of the damages is conclusive on all persons who have executed the undertaking, unless the decision or order is reversed on appeal,[58] or unless it is shown that the decision was reached by fraud or mistake.[59] It is none the less conclusive because the sureties were not parties to the suit in which the decree assessing damages on dissolution of the injunction was made,[60] or because no notice of the motion for reference or of motion to confirm the referee's report was given in case the matter of assessing damages was delegated to a referee.[61] An order of the court awarding damages to defendant must be regarded as a finding that the injunction damaged him to that extent.[62]

§ 288. Enforcement of Liability in Injunction Suit

In some jurisdictions an assessment of damages may be enforced in the injunction suit, but in the absence of a statute providing therefor the courts generally hold to the contrary.

A federal court taking an injunction bond for the purpose of saving defendant from loss resulting from the injunction, as discussed supra § 283, has power, independent of any express authority conferred by the provisions of the bond or by express statute or rule of court, to determine the question of liability on the bond, assess the amount of damages by reference or otherwise, and render judgment therefor against both principal and sureties, as an incident to the principal suit,[63] or it may leave defendant to his remedy by an action at law,[64] the whole matter being within the sound discretion of the chancellor.[65] The rule of the federal courts has been followed in some of the states and territories.[66] As a general rule, however, a court of equity, on dissolving the injunction, cannot award damages except by the consent of the obligors expressed in the bond, or in some other appropriate mode.[67] If relief is sought independently of the bond, the party must be left to his remedy by action at law.[68] It seems that even where plaintiff

50. Mo.—Linneman v. Hawkins, App., 27 S.W.2d 1046.

51. Ill.—Baird v. Powers, 22 N.E. 796, 131 Ill. 66.
32 C.J. p 443 note 27.

52. Ill.—Mitchell v. Northwestern Manufacturing Co., 26 Ill.App. 295.

53. Vt.—Houghton v. Grimes, 151 A. 642, 103 Vt. 54.

Evidence held to support finding
Vt.—Houghton v. Grimes, 164 A. 371, 105 Vt. 230.

54. Vt.—Houghton v. Grimes, 151 A. 642, 103 Vt. 54.

55. Vt.—Houghton v. Grimes, 164 A. 371, 105 Vt. 230.

56. Ky.—Harrison v. Lee, 7 J.J. Marsh. 171.
32 C.J. p 444 note 30.

57. Ill.—Hayes v. Kallums, 224 Ill. App. 533.

58. Ill.—Conlon v. Gindele, 198 Ill. App. 364.
N.Y.—Methodist Churches of New York v. Barker, 18 N.Y. 463.
32 C.J. p 444 note 47.

59. Mo.—Jones v. Mastin, 60 Mo. App. 578.
32 C.J. p 444 note 48.

60. Ill.—McAllister v. Clark, 86 Ill. 236.

61. N.Y.—Methodist Churches of New York v. Barker, 18 N.Y. 463.
32 C.J. p 444 note 50.

62. D.C.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Helvering, 112 F.2d 205, 72 App.D.C. 120.

63. U.S.—Owl Creek Coal Co. v. Big Horn Collieries Co., D.C.Wyo., 36 F.2d 485—Becker v. Stander, D.C. La., 17 F.2d 772—Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. of Des Moines v. Skeer, D.C.Mo., 24 F.Supp. 805, appeal dismissed, C.C.A., Skeer v. Travelers Mut. Casualty Co., 106 F.2d 1017, and Travelers Mut. Casualty Co. v. Skeer, 106 F.2d 1018.
32 C.J. p 445 note 53.

Early federal cases held to the contrary.—Bein v. Heath, La., 12 How., U.S., 168, 13 L.Ed. 939—Meryfield v. Jones, C.C.Mass., 17 F.Cas. No.9,486, 2 Curt. 306.

64. U.S.—Baker & Bennett Co. v. N. D. Cass Co., N.Y., 224 F. 439, 140 C.C.A. 133.
32 C.J. p 446 note 63.

65. U.S.—Redlich Mfg. Co. v. John H. Rice & Co., D.C.Pa., 203 F. 722—Cimiotti Unhairing Co. v. American Fur Refining Co., C.C.N.J., 158 F. 171, affirmed 168 F. 529, 93 C.C.A. 546.

66. Hawaii.—Young Chun v. Robinson, 21 Hawaii 193.
32 C.J. p 445 note 56.

67. N.Y.—Lewittes & Sons v. Perlow, 3 N.Y.S.2d 916, 254 App.Div. 94.
32 C.J. p 445 notes 57, 59.

68. Ark.—Greer v. Stewart, 2 S.W. 251, 48 Ark. 21.

On partial dissolution
If defendant sues at law on the injunction bond on partial dissolution of the injunction, he cannot on total dissolution of the injunction have an execution from the court in the injunction proceedings.—Harrison v. Casey, 21 N.C. 322.

and his sureties undertake to abide by such order respecting damages as the court may make, the question of their liability may be submitted to the judgment of the common-law courts.[69]

§ 289. —— Statutory Provisions

Various statutes have been construed to give, or not to give, the court power to enter judgment on the bond in an injunction suit.

Special statutes in some jurisdictions have been held to confer or not to confer power on the court trying the injunction suit to render judgment for damages on dissolution of the injunction against plaintiff, or against plaintiff and his sureties as the case may be.[70] Ordinarily, under such statutes, the 69. N.J.—Easton v. New York & L. B. R. Co., 26 N.J.Eq. 359.

43 C.J. p 445 note 61.

70. Ark.—Felker v. Rice, 161 S.W. 162, 110 Ark. 70.
32 C.J. p 445 note 62.

In Colorado

(1) Under a statute so providing, in the event a temporary restraining order shall issue without notice and it shall afterward appear that the emergency alleged therefor did not exist, or, existing, was brought about by plaintiff's act or omission, the court shall summarily enter judgment on the emergency bond.—Axelson v. Columbine Laundry Co., 254 P. 990, 81 Colo. 254.

(2) Summary judgment cannot be entered on a so-called emergency bond which is insufficient to meet statutory requirements.—Roe v. Stanley Fruit Co., 19 P.2d 755, 92 Colo. 267—Axelson v. Columbine Laundry Co., supra.

In Georgia

(1) The court cannot enter judgment against the surety unless the bond is conditioned for the payment of the eventual condemnation money. —Georgia Power Co. v. Parker, 173 S.E. 730, 48 Ga.App. 807—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [b] (2).

(2) Other particulars of Georgia rule see 32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [b].

In Louisiana

(1) The right to recover from the surety on an injunction bond in the same suit in which the injunction is dissolved is granted only in cases where money judgments are enjoined.—Vidal v. Sterlington Gas Corporation, 161 So. 6, 182 La. 19—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [d] (3).

(2) Other particulars of Louisiana rule see 32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [d].

In Minnesota, while damages from a wrongful issuance of an injunction may be determined in the injunction suit, they are recoverable, unless the writ was procured by malice, only by action on the bond.—Midland Loan Finance Co. v. Temple Garage Co., 288 N.W. 853, 206 Minn. 434—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [e].

In Mississippi

(1) It has been held, under Code 1906 § 623, Hemingway Code § 383, that a judgment on an injunction bond should not be included in the decree dissolving the injunction.—Bruister v. Tansil, 99 So. 258.

(2) Such a judgment, however, while erroneous, is not void, and it is the duty of the clerk of the court to obey its command to issue execution.—Bruister v. Tansil, supra.

(3) Other particulars of Mississippi rule see 32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [f].

In New York, under the statutes authorizing an assessment of damages by the court on which the injunction suit is brought by reference or otherwise making the assessment conclusive as to damages on all persons executing the bond, it has been uniformly held that while the court has power to assess the damages, it has no power to enforce payment thereof and suit must be brought on the injunction bond.—Kelly v. Myrick, 200 N.Y.S. 90, 205 App.Div. 637—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [h].

In Tennessee

(1) A summary judgment can be entered on an injunction bond in only one instance, on the dissolution of an injunction to stay proceedings on a judgment for money.—Phillips v. Landess, 280 S.W. 694, 152 Tenn. 682—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [l] (1).

(2) In such instance the judgment cannot exceed the penalty of the bond, except on proof of malice and want of probable cause.—Phillips v. Landess, supra.

(3) Unless the bond is so conditioned as to justify a summary judgment by motion, the court cannot read such a condition into the bond. —Phillips v. Landess, supra.

(4) Accordingly, a decree, rendering summary judgment on injunction bond failing to state nature, condition, and penalty of bond, is void.—Phillips v. Landess, supra.

(5) Other particulars of Tennessee rule see 32 C.J. p 446 note 62 [l].

In Texas

(1) Under the revised statutes, parties seeking to enforce a demand for damages to the amount of an injunction bond may bring an original action on the bond or may in the pending suit attain the same object by pleading over in reconvention and setting forth in appropriate terms the facts on which his claim for judgment is based.—Sanitary Appliance Co. v. French, Civ.App., 58 S.W. 2d 159, error dismissed—32 C.J. p 445 note 62 [m].

(2) Sureties on an injunction bond, who for all practical purposes are parties to the suit, are subject to the jurisdiction of the court and their liability can be declared by the court.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dallas County Levee Improvement Dist. No. 9, Civ.App., 2 S. W.2d 305, error refused.

(3) Accordingly it is proper for the court in its judgment dissolving an injunction to render judgment for damages.—R. R. Stolley Corporation of Austin, Tex., v. Quebedeaux, Civ. App., 70 S.W.2d 266, error dismissed —Lindsey v. Hart, Civ.App., 260 S.W. 286, modified on other grounds, Com. App., 276 S.W. 199.

(4) Pleadings in reconvention held to allege a cause of action.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dallas County Levee Improvement Dist. No. 9, supra.

(5) Allegation of special damages in amount paid improvement contractors for delay by injunction was unnecessary.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dallas County Levee Improvement Dist. No. 9, supra.

(6) Evidence held sufficient to sustain judgment for damages for loss of profits.—Southern Properties v. Carpenter, Civ.App., 50 S.W.2d 876, error refused.

(7) Where the court trying the injunction suit renders judgment on the injunction bond on a plea in reconvention for damages, the right of action thereon is exhausted even though the recovery is only for costs, and injunction defendant is precluded from subsequently maintaining an action at law on the bond for damages.—Bridges v. Wilson, 2 Tex.A.Civ.Cas. § 625.

In Wisconsin the statute providing that defendant may be required by plaintiff or his sureties to file a bill of particulars of the damages claimed by him and that either plaintiff or sureties may make an offer of the amount of damages to be adjudged contemplates that the sureties may appear in the proceeding if they wish; and where they do appear it is proper to incorporate an award against them in the judgment. —Schlitz Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 459, 211 Wis. 62, followed in Alaska Land Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 462, 211 Wis. 71, Uihlein v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463 (two cases), 211 Wis. 72, Continental Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463, remedy is not exclusive of the usual remedy by suit on the injunction bond.[71]

Notice. In some jurisdictions the sureties are considered actual parties to the suit, and they are not entitled to notice of the judgment for damages before execution can be issued thereon.[72] In other jurisdictions notice to all obligors is necessary,[73] and it has been held that no judgment can be rendered in the injunction suit for damages on the bond without notice to the principal obligor,[74] but, where the principal obligor has due notice of the proceedings, a judgment may be given against the sureties without notice to them.[75]

Hearing. It has been held that any judgment entered against the sureties without a hearing will be void, and that the court can purge its records of such a judgment at any time.[76]

§ 290. Bond Having Force of Judgment

Under some statutes when an injunction to enjoin proceedings on a judgment for money is dissolved the decree has the force of a judgment against the obligors in the bond.

Under some statutes a bond to enjoin proceedings at law on a money judgment, on the dissolution of the injunction, if the bond conforms to the statutory requirements,[77] may have the force and effect of a judgment, and, on compliance with certain presented formalities, execution may issue against any or all of the obligors thereto for the amount of the judgment enjoined and the damages decreed.[78] Under such a statute a judgment follows without an order of the chancellor,[79] and the resulting judgment is a judgment against the surety as well as the principal.[80] The actual issuance of an injunction is necessary to make the statute applicable.[81]

§ 291. Action on Bond

Damages for the wrongful issuance of an injunction may be assessed in an independent action at law on the bond.

The assessment of damages for wrongful issuance of an injunction may be made in an action on the bond if the bond is so conditioned as to permit it.[82] Such an action is ex contractu,[83] not a proceeding in equity;[84] it is an action of debt or covenant.[85] However, as shown infra § 295, such an action may be brought in the chancery court under statutes so providing.

Inasmuch as the decision of the court dissolving an injunction is conclusive that the injunction was improperly granted, as discussed infra § 293 a, the inquiry in an action on the injunction bond is ordinarily limited to the amount of damages, if any, sustained by the wrongful issuance of the injunction.[86]

§ 292. —— Accrual of Right and Conditions Precedent to Action

a. In general
b. Final determination of injunction suit
c. Prior assessment of damages

a. In General

Liability on an injunction bond accrues only on a breach of the conditions of the bond; but, after such breach, a demand on, or prior proceedings against, the principal or surety are generally not a condition precedent to suit on the bond. Leave to sue is sometimes required by statute.

No liability accrues on an injunction bond for damages caused by an injunction unless, and until, there has been a breach of the conditions of the bond.[87] Liability on the bond is not incurred if 211 Wis. 73, New Jersey Theatre Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 75, Werdehoff Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 76, Majestic Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 77, and Glenogle Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 465, 211 Wis. 78.

71. Tex.—Avery v. Stewart, 60 Tex. 154—Foster v. Shephard, 33 Tex. 687.

72. La.—Friedman v. Adler, 36 La. Ann. 384—Union Bank v. Smith, 3 La.Ann. 147.

In Texas defendant may receive his damages for the wrongful issue of the writ of injunction on proper pleadings and proof, without serving citation on the sureties.—Coates v. Caldwell, 8 S.W. 922, 71 Tex. 19, 10 Am.R. 725—32 C.J. p 446 note 65 [d].

73. S.C.—Hill v. Thomas, 19 S.C. 230.

74. Mo.—Konta v. St. Louis Stock Exchange, 131 S.W. 380, 150 Mo. App. 617.

75. Mo.—Konta v. St. Louis Stock Exchange, supra.

76. Or.—Cockerham v. First Nat. Bank, 297 P. 363, 136 Or. 176.

77. Ala.—Wiswell v. Munroe, 4 Ala. 9.
32 C.J. p 447 note 67 [h].

78. Tex.—Hanks v. Horton, 5 Tex. 103—Janes v. Reynolds, 2 Tex. 250—Western v. Woods, 1 Tex. 1.
32 C.J. p 447 notes 67–69.

79. Ala.—Newsom v. Thornton, 61 Ala. 95—Wiswell v. Munroe, 4 Ala. 9.

80. Ala.—Dubberly v. Black, 38 Ala. 193.

81. Ala.—Shorter v. Mims, 18 Ala. 655.

82. Mont.—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 611, 83 Mont. 170, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 440 note 69.

83. Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn. App. 668.
Wis.—Prest v. Stein, 265 N.W. 85, 220 Wis. 354.

84. Wis.—Prest v. Stein, supra.

85. Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn. App. 668.

86. Ga.—Jones v. Rountree, 74 S.E. 1096, 11 Ga.App. 181.
Ohio.—Berkey Farmers' Mut. Tel. Co. v. Sylvania Home Tel. Co., 119 N.E. 140, 97 Ohio St. 67.

87. Okl.—Wilson v. Tillman County, 167 P. 754, 64 Okl. 266.
32 C.J. p 447 note 71.

the cause in which the bond was issued terminated adversely to plaintiff therein and a final decision was rendered that the injunction was rightfully issued,[88] and this is so, although the temporary injunction was vacated.[89] However, if the final determination of the injunction suit was adverse to plaintiff, it is immaterial in an action on the bond that a motion to dissolve the preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order was denied.[90]

Demand on, or prior proceedings against, principal or surety. In the absence of statute providing otherwise,[91] neither a suit against the principal obligor,[92] nor a demand for payment made on the principal debtor[93] or his sureties,[94] is a condition precedent to an action on the bond; nor is the issuance of execution necessary as a condition precedent to an action on the bond.[95] The obligee on the injunction bond, in order to hold the sureties thereon, is not required to pursue any of his remedies against the principal even if the surety requests him to do so.[96]

Leave to sue. Under some statutes an action on the bond may be brought without an order granting leave to sue,[97] but under other statutes leave to sue may be necessary.[98]

b. Final Determination of Injunction Suit

(1) In general
(2) Dismissal, discontinuance, or final dissolution
(3) Modification or partial dissolution of injunction

(1) In General

Unless the terms of the bond or the governing statutes otherwise provide, action on the injunction bond ordinarily cannot be maintained until there has been a final determination of the injunction suit. Some authorities hold that there is no such final determination where an appeal is pending from a judgment dissolving the injunction, but there is also authority to the contrary.

The general rule is that no right of action accrues on an injunction bond containing the ordinary conditions until there has been a final determination of the action in which the injunction was issued,[99] or until something occurs equivalent to such a decision,[1] and this is so notwithstanding the 88. Ky.—Vicars v. Frazier, 295 S.W. 169, 172, 220 Ky. 356, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—Clem v. Hunz, 231 P. 7, 132 Wash. 14, 40 A.L.R. 987.
32 C.J. p 447 note 72.

89. N.Y.—New York Security & Trust Co. v. Lipman, 32 N.Y.S. 65, 83 Hun 569.

90. Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264.
La.—McMillen v. Gibson, 10 La. 517.
Statutory reference to final decision
The text rule has been held applicable under a statute providing that liability attaches on the bond if the court finally decides that plaintiff was not entitled to the injunction or restraining order.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., supra.

91. Mo.—Konta v. St. Louis Stock Exch., 131 S.W. 380, 150 Mo.App. 617.
32 C.J. p 452 note 12.

92. Idaho.—Dangel v. Levy, 1 Idaho 722.
La.—Block v. Myers, 35 La.Ann. 220.

93. Cal.—Browner v. Davis, 15 Cal. 9.
Claim in bankruptcy unnecessary
N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.

94. La.—Vicksburg, S. & T. R. Co. v. Barksdale, 15 La.Ann. 465.
Nev.—Rosendorf v. Mandel, 1 P. 672, 18 Nev. 129.

95. Ark.—Sizer v. Anthony, 22 Ark. 465.
32 C.J. p 452 note 16.
Impairment of value of security
Where the injunction restrained the obligee on the injunction bond from selling certain property under a trust deed which secured a debt, and the delay caused by the injunction has reduced the security for the debt below its power to satisfy the debt, the obligee suffers immediate damage which the surety must make good, and such obligee need not secure a deficiency judgment and have execution returned unsatisfied before recovering damages.—Yellen v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 1 P.2d 1019, 115 Cal.App. 434.

96. N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.

97. Ala.—Zeigler v. David, 23 Ala. 127.
Mich.—Lothrop v. Southworth, 5 Mich. 436.

98. N.Y.—Higgins v. Allen, 6 How. Pr. 30.
Formal matter
"Leave of court," within the meaning of a statute providing that, where the damages have been ascertained by the decision of the court or the confirmation of a referee's report, an action may be brought on the injunction bond without further leave of the court, is formal, and may be supplied nunc pro tunc, or assumed as given until withdrawn, as by motion to dismiss the action.—Bolton v. Thacher, 214 N.Y.S. 290, 126 Misc. 675.

99. Cal.—Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 275 P. 886, 97 Cal.App. 97.
Ky.—Vicars v. Frazier, 295 S.W. 169, 172, 220 Ky. 356, citing Corpus Juris.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 420, 84 Mont. 585, citing Corpus Juris.
Okl.—Sloan v. Kohler, 88 P.2d 644, 646, 184 Okl. 511, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ. App., 40 S.W.2d 920, error refused.
32 C.J. p 448 note 76.
Filing of remittitur
Where an appeal has been taken in the suit in which the injunction was granted, there is no final determination, under some statutory provisions, until the remittitur from the reviewing court is filed in the original action by the clerk in the court where the judgment roll is filed, or the order appealed from is entered.—Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 275 P. 886, 97 Cal.App. 97.

1. U.S.—Redlich Mfg. Co. v. Rice, D.C.Pa., 203 F. 722.
32 C.J. p 449 note 77.
Writ of prohibition
Where a writ of prohibition restrained the lower court from punishing defendants for contempt for not complying with the injunction, and the writ was made permanent on the ground that the injunction should not have issued, there was in effect a final determination that the injunction was illegal, thereby immediately fixing liability under the injunction bond and permitting commencement of an action thereon.—

injunction is dissolved before final determination of the action.[2] Conversely, where a final judgment is rendered dissolving the injunction, the condition of the bond is broken and an action may be brought thereon to recover the damages sustained,[3] unless the judgment is superseded,[4] and that too, whether or not a formal order of dissolution has been entered,[5] or a formal decree signed and filed.[6] In other words, the rights and liabilities of the parties to the injunction bond generally are fixed when it is finally determined that the injunction ought not to have been granted.[7] The final determination within the rule relates to the suit in which the injunction was procured, and not to another suit or action.[8]

The necessity for a final determination of the suit in which the injunction was granted may be obviated by the conditions of the particular bond on which the action is brought,[9] or by the terms of some special statutory provision in the particular jurisdiction.[10]

Effect of appeal from final judgment dissolving injunction. While, under some decisions, on a final judgment dissolving an injunction, a right of action on such bond immediately follows, notwithstanding an appeal from the judgment,[11] unless the judgment is superseded,[12] according to other decisions an action on the bond is premature, where an appeal taken with or without supersedeas from the order dismissing the bill is pending and undetermined.[13]

(2) Dismissal, Discontinuance, or Final Dissolution

An action generally may be maintained on the bond where the injunction has been finally dissolved or the injunction suit dismissed, whether voluntarily, for want of prosecution, or on the merits. However, where issuance of the injunction is determined to have been proper, its subsequent dissolution, because it is no longer necessary, does not permit action on the bond. Dismissal of the injunction suit by agreement of the parties does not constitute a determination of the wrongful issuance of the injunction so as to give rise to a cause of action on the bond.

Dismissal of the suit in which the injunction or temporary restraining order was issued,[14] or final Pattee v. Mahaffey, 280 P. 1038, 48 Idaho 200.

Concession of impropriety of injunction

An action on the bond cannot be maintained until a final determination showing that the injunction was wrongfully issued or until the party obtaining the injunction has conceded, by dismissing his action, that he was not entitled to the injunction. —Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., 105 P.2d 996, 41 Cal.App.2d 1.

Absence of pending action

A claim that the action in which the restraining order was issued is still undetermined cannot be successfully urged where it appears that the restraining order was dissolved for the reason that it was issued in no action then pending.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

2. U.S.—Nashville, C. & St. L. R. v. Railroad Commission of Alabama, C.C.Ala., 171 F. 223.
32 C.J. p 448 note 76.

Injunction sought as sole relief

Final determination is necessary, although the only relief sought by the bill was an injunction, and the court denied that relief, and dissolved the injunction after full proof, if there was no dismissal of the bill.—Vicksburg Water Works Co. v. Vicksburg, 54 So. 852, 99 Miss. 132, 33 L.R.A.,N.S., 844, Ann.Cas.1913D 917.

3. Ala.—Irwin v. Morrow, 95 So. 496, 19 Ala.App. 115, certiorari denied Ex parte Irwin, 95 So. 498, 209 Ala. 164.
32 C.J. p 449 note 79.

"Final judgment" defined

"Final judgment" is one which finally disposes of whole merits of case and reserves no further question for future determination.—Gibson Oil Co. v. Kelley, 36 P.2d 1111, 169 Okl. 218.

Adverse judgment notwithstanding "permanent" injunction

The injunctive relief granted under Comp.St.1921 § 7645 in a suit to enjoin a mortgagee from selling pledged property is a provisional remedy, and, although a permanent injunction may be issued, a judgment adverse to plaintiff on the merits of the action is a final decision that the injunction ought not to have been granted; and whether or not a final order is made as to the injunction, the right of action accrues on the bond.—First Nat. Bank v. Duncan, 285 P. 957, 142 Okl. 121.

4. Ky.—Alexander v. Gish, 9 S.W. 801, 88 Ky. 13.

5. Iowa.—Western Fruit & Candy Co. v. McFarland, 174 N.W. 57, 188 Iowa 204.
Kan.—Fox v. Hudson, 20 Kan. 246.

6. Me.—Thurston v. Haskell, 17 A. 73, 81 Me. 303.

7. Ohio.—Berkey Farmers' Mut. Tel. Co. v. Sylvania Home Tel. Co., 119 N.E. 140, 97 Ohio St. 67.
Okl.—Poarch v. Finkelstein, 99 P.2d 871, 874, 186 Okl. 523, citing Corpus Juris.

8. Kan.—Harlow v. Mason, 157 P. 1175, 98 Kan. 353.
32 C.J. p 449 note 84.

9. U.S.—Redlich Mfg. Co. v. Rice, D.C.Pa., 203 F. 722.
32 C.J. p 447 note 74.

10. Ill.—Shackleford v. Bennett, 86 N.E. 1073, 237 Ill. 523, 15 Ann.Cas. 719.
32 C.J. p 447 note 75.

11. Ky.—Alexander v. Gish, 9 S.W. 801, 88 Ky. 13, 10 Ky.L. 989.
32 C.J. p 451 note 1.

12. Ky.—Saddler v. Glover, 1 B.Mon. 50.
32 C.J. p 451 note 2.

13. Miss.—Yazoo & M. V. R. Co. v. Adams, 30 So. 44, 18 Miss. 977.
32 C.J. p 451 note 3.

14. U.S.—Renaud Sales Co. v. Davis, C.C.A.Mass., 104 F.2d 683, modifying, D.C., 22 F.Supp. 703.
Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
Fla.—National Surety Co. v. Willys-Overland, 138 So. 24, 25, 103 Fla. 738, citing Corpus Juris.
Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 1083, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264, quoting Corpus Juris—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P.2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.
Kan.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 132 Kan. 413.
Miss.—Campbell v. Stauffer, 146 So. 872, 166 Miss. 304—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.
Okl.—Callaway v. Sparks, 89 P.2d 275, 276, 184 Okl. 569, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 449 note 85.

Dismissal for want of prosecution

The rule applies where the judg-

dissolution of the injunction,[15] ordinarily amounts to a determination that the injunction or order was improperly granted, and a right of action immediately accrues to the party enjoined.[16] It is not necessary in such case that there be a specific determination that the injunction or restraining order was improperly issued, as, for example, on a motion to dissolve the injunction or restraining order,[17] at least where the action in which the injunction or restraining order was issued was brought solely to obtain injunctive relief.[18] On the other hand, dissolution of an injunction does not amount to a determination that the injunction was improperly granted where the decree of dissolution specifically finds against all the defendants, imposes costs on them, and finds that the temporary injunction was properly and providently issued but because of the action of defendants since the issuance of the injunction the necessity for its continuance has been removed.[19]

Voluntary dismissal. The voluntary dismissal or discontinuance by plaintiff of the action in which the injunction was issued will generally have the same effect as a decision of the court that he was not entitled to the injunction, and gives rise to a cause of action on the bond.[20] The rule applies, although the action is dismissed without prejudice to a future action,[21] in which case it has been held that at least nominal damages are recoverable.[22] However, plaintiff's voluntary dismissal or discontinuance of the injunction suit does not give rise to an action against him on the bond where there is some special statutory provision to the contrary,[23] where the wording of the bond is such as to take the case outside the operation of the general rule,[24] where the discontinuance was corruptly induced,[25] or where the dismissal was based only on the ground that the necessity for injunctive relief has ceased.[26]

Dismissal by agreement. A cause of action does not ordinarily arise on the bond where the dismissal was the result of a voluntary agreement of the parties.[27] At least such a cause of action does not arise as against the sureties on the bond where the surety was a party neither to the litigation nor to the agreement or stipulation for dismissal.[28] The ment of dismissal is entered for want of prosecution.

Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264.
Miss.—Campbell v. Stauffer, 146 So. 872, 166 Miss. 304.
32 C.J. p 449 note 85 [a], [b], p 448 note 76 [f].

15. Fla.—National Surety Co. v. Willys-Overland, 138 So. 24, 103 Fla. 738.
Mo.—Pierce v. Campbell, 274 S.W. 875, 217 Mo.App. 179.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.
Okl.—Callaway v. Sparks, 89 P.2d 275, 184 Okl. 569.

16. Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 1083, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Pierce v. Campbell, 274 S.W. 875, 217 Mo.App. 179.
Okl.—Gibson Oil Co. v. Kelley, 36 P.2d 1111, 169 Okl. 218.
32 C.J. p 449 note 85.

17. Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P.2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.
La.—Bowers v. Orleans Producing & Refining Corporation, 1 La.App. 784.

18. Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Okl.—Gibson Oil Co. v. Kelley, 36 P. 2d 1111, 169 Okl. 218.

19. Mo.—Pierce v. Campbell, 274 S. W. 875, 217 Mo.App. 179.

20. Cal.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App.2d 905—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal. App. 658.
Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264.
Kan.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 132 Kan. 413.
Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 109, 105 Mont. 245, quoting Corpus Juris.
Neb.—Beatty v. Casselman, 211 N.W. 617, 618, 115 Neb. 104, citing Corpus Juris.
N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.
Okl.—Callaway v. Sparks, 89 P.2d 275, 276, 184 Okl. 569, citing Corpus Juris—Sloan v. Kohler, 88 P. 2d 644, 646, 184 Okl. 511, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 450 note 87.
"It is well settled . . . that sureties on an injunction bond assume the hazard of a voluntary dismissal of the action by their principal, the plaintiff in the case. If he, acting independently and without the connivance or consent of the defendant, voluntarily dismisses his suit, his action is binding on the sureties, and conclusively establishes as against them the wrongfulness of the injunction."—Janssen v. Shown, C.C.A.Or., 53 F.2d 608, 610.

21. Tenn.—Southland Portland Cement Co. v. Melvin, 5 Tenn.App. 459.
32 C.J. p 451 note 94.

22. Ala.—National Surety Co. v. Citizens' Light, Heat & Power Co., 78 So. 834, 201 Ala. 456.

23. Iowa.—Ft. Madison St. R. Co. v. Hughes, 114 N.W. 10, 137 Iowa 122, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 448.
32 C.J. p 450 note 88.

24. Colo.—Sweet v. Ford, 161 P. 144, 63 Colo. 175.
32 C.J. p 450 note 89.

25. Ill.—Boynton v. Robb, 22 Ill. 525.

26. Wash.—Mann v. Becker, 156 P. 396, 90 Wash. 534.

27. Cal.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App.2d 905.
N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.
32 C.J. p 450 note 92.
Waiver of rights
Defendants in the injunction suit may insist that plaintiff either voluntarily dismiss the suit or else proceed to trial and thereby permit the court to determine the propriety of the injunction, to the end that an action might be brought on the bond, and by failing so to insist, and instead stipulating for a dismissal, they waive any rights under the bond.—Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., 105 P.2d 996, 41 Cal.App.2d 1.

28. U.S.—Janssen v. Shown, C.C.A. Or., 53 F.2d 608.

agreement between the parties does not amount to an admission by plaintiff in the injunction suit that he is not entitled to the injunction;[29] nor does the dismissal pursuant to mutual agreement operate as a judgment that plaintiff had no right to the injunction.[30] The fact that the stipulation of the parties, as a result of which the dismissal was decreed, was not filed in the case is unimportant where it sufficiently appears that the case was in fact dismissed pursuant to the stipulation.[31]

The terms of a particular stipulation between the parties to an injunction suit may be such that dismissal of the suit pursuant thereto will not bar an action on the bond,[32] as, for example, where the stipulation expressly reserves to the obligee any remedies or rights of action for damages caused by the injunction;[33] but a dissolution on consideration of the payment of a sum of money by defendant to complainant has been held to release the surety, although there was an express agreement to retain the surety's liability on the bond, where the agreement would in effect have operated as a fraud on the surety.[34]

(3) Modification or Partial Dissolution of Injunction

While the authorities are not unanimous, it is generally considered that modification or partial dissolution of an injunction gives rise to a cause of action on the bond, at least if the modification amounts to a decision that the injunction as granted was substantially improper.

While it has been held that no damages can be recovered in case the injunction has been sustained in part and there was no abuse of the remedy,[35] the weight of authority holds that modification or partial dissolution of an injunction by a final decree is such a breach of the obligation of the bond as to give to the obligee a right of action thereon.[36] The fact that, on the final hearing of the injunction suit, the temporary injunction was made permanent as to some defendants and the action dismissed as to others does not necessarily determine, with respect to those defendants against whom the action was dismissed, that the injunction was not wrongful in its inception.[37] Where an injunction restraining the prosecution by defendant of two actions at law was, on final hearing, dissolved as to the principal one of such actions, but not as to the other, and subsequently there was a substantial recovery by defendant on the merits, the fact that the injunction was not entirely dissolved does not discharge the surety on the bond from liability.[38]

A modification of the injunction, if not such as to amount to a decision that plaintiff was not entitled to the injunction substantially as granted, does not entitle defendant to bring an action on a bond conditioned to pay damages if the court shall finally decide that plaintiff was not entitled to the injunction.[39] Where the parties stipulate that the injunction shall be modified, and thereafter the injunction as modified is dissolved, a right of action accrues on the bond, and the modification of the injunction by stipulation does not have the effect of relieving the sureties from their liability.[40]

c. Prior Assessment of Damages

According to the weight of authority, assessment of damages is not a condition precedent to an action on the injunction bond unless the bond or the governing statutes so provide; but there is some authority to the contrary.

The general rule is that in the absence of some

Cal.—Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., 105 P.2d 996, 41 Cal.App.2d 1.

"Where an action involving an injunction is dismissed as the result of the voluntary and amicable agreement of the parties, the defendant in the cause may not thereafter maintain an action against the sureties on the injunction bond, even though the bond, by its terms, does not require that the wrongfulness of the injunction shall be determined in the suit in which it was given."—Janssen v. Shown, C.C.A.Or., 53 F.2d 608, 612.

29. Cal.—Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., 105 P.2d 996, 41 Cal.App.2d 1.

30. Cal.—Wilshire Mortg. Corporation v. O. A. Graybeal Co., supra.

31. U.S.—Janssen v. Shown, C.C.A. Or., 53 F.2d 608.

32. Ill.—Boynton v. Phelps, 53 Ill. 210—Patterson v. Rinard, 81 Ill. App. 80.

N.Y.—Dickerson v. Herman, 9 Daly 298.

33. N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.
32 C.J. p 451 note 93.

34. Ill.—Cassem v. Ernst, 84 Ill.App. 70, affirmed 55 N.E. 646, 183 Ill. 137.

35. La.—Vicksburg, S. & P. R. Co. v. Traylor, 30 So. 117, 105 La. 748.
32 C.J. p 451 note 96.

36. N.Y.—Tecla Corporation v. Salon Tecla, 234 N.Y.S. 544, 548, 226 App. Div. 168, quoting Corpus Juris—Dinny & Robbins v. Retail Shoe Salesmen's Union, Local 1115-F, R.C.I.P.A., 41 N.Y.S.2d 375, 377, 180 Misc. 643, citing Corpus Juris.
Wash.—Clem v. Hunz, 231 P. 7, 132 Wash. 14, 40 A.L.R. 987.
32 C.J. p 451 note 97.

Taking of water

Where temporary injunction forbidding defendants from taking any water from irrigation ditch or interfering with ditch was modified by decree entitled defendants to certain portion of water and certain rights in ditch, defendants had cause of action on injunction bond if they could prove damages.—Clem v. Hunz, supra.

37. Kan.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 132 Kan. 413.

38. U.S.—Woolfolk v. Jones, D.C.Va., 216 F. 807, reversed on other grounds 224 F. 673, 140 C.C.A. 183.

39. N.Y.—Palmer v. Foley, 71 N.Y. 106—Tecla Corporation v. Salon Tecla, 234 N.Y.S. 544, 549, 226 App. Div. 168, quoting Corpus Juris.

40. Ill.—Brackebush v. Dorsett, 37 Ill.App. 581, affirmed 27 N.E. 934, 138 Ill. 167.

special statutory requirement,[41] the assessment of damages caused by the wrongful suing out of an injunction is not a condition precedent to a right of action to recover such damages on the bond.[42] Nevertheless, where the obligation of the bond is to pay such damages as the court shall on dissolution of the injunction assess or award against plaintiff, it has been held a condition precedent to the right to maintain an action for damages on the bond that such damages should have been assessed or awarded against plaintiff,[43] and that he failed to pay such amount;[44] but there is authority to the contrary,[45] and it has been held that, where the condition of the bond to pay the damages awarded exceeds the requirements of the statute which does not authorize the award of damages on dissolution of the injunction, it is not a condition precedent to the right to sue on the bond that the court dissolving the injunction should have awarded damages.[46] An action on the case to determine damages need not be brought before bringing an action of debt on the bond.[47]

§ 293. —— Defenses

a. Validity or propriety of injunction
b. Defects in bond
c. Defenses precluded by recitals of bond
d. Miscellaneous defenses

a. Validity or Propriety of Injunction

After termination of the injunction suit adversely to plaintiff therein, defendants in the action on the bond cannot urge that the injunction should have been sustained, or that the party enjoined should not have obeyed the injunction because it was defective or granted without jurisdiction; and the sureties have been held estopped to deny the issuance or service of the injunction. However, where the injunction was dissolved on grounds not involving the legality of the acts enjoined, it may be shown that such acts were illegal and that therefore no damage was suffered by their prohibition.

In an action on an injunction bond to recover the damages provided for thereby, the decision of the court dissolving the injunction that it was improperly granted is conclusive of that fact,[48] in the absence of fraud and collusion,[49] and defendant in the action on the bond is not at liberty to go behind the judgment and litigate the question of the right to the injunction.[50] Thus, after termination of the injunction suit adversely to plaintiff therein, it cannot be urged as a defense to an action on the bond that no right of defendant in the injunction suit was invaded by the issuance of the injunction;[51] that the acts enjoined were unlawful,[52] and the injunction dissolved only on the ground of the court's lack of jurisdiction to grant the injunction[53] or on the ground of the laches of plaintiffs in the injunction suit;[54] that an agreement on which the injunction was founded was illegal;[55] that the business which was enjoined was a nuisance;[56] that the party enjoined from the sale of property held title thereto in fraud of the creditors of the true owner;[57] that no order of court had been obtained for the sale of a minor's property, the sale of which

41. N.C.—Crawford v. Pearson, 21 S.E. 561, 116 N.C. 718.
32 C.J. p 451 note 4.

42. Mont.—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 83 Mont. 170.
N.Y.—Bolton v. Thacher, 214 N.Y.S. 290, 291, 126 Misc. 675, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 451 note 6.

43. N.M.—Monte Rico Mill. & Min. Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 5 P.2d 195, 35 N.M. 616, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 496, 286 U. S. 544, 76 L.Ed. 1281.
32 C.J. p 452 note 7.
Assessment of damages in injunction suit see supra §§ 283–287.

44. N.M.—Monte Rico Mill. & Min. Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 452 note 8.

45. Va.—Claytor v. Anthony, 15 Gratt. 518, 56 Va. 518.
32 C.J. p 452 note 9.

46. Me.—Union Wharf Proprietors v. Mussey, 48 Me. 307.

47. N.C.—Falls v. McAffee, 23 N.C. 139.
32 C.J. p 452 note 11.

48. Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N. W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 195.
Miss.—Campbell v. Stauffer, 146 So. 872, 166 Miss. 304—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 612, 83 Mont. 170, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.
32 C.J. p 452 note 25.

Findings on separate issues
Where two separate issues of fact are pleaded as defense in suit for injunction, and findings made as to each, both must be given effect in action on injunction bond.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

49. Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ohio.—Berkey Farmers' Mut. Tel. Co. v. Sylvania Home Tel. Co., 119 N. E. 140, 97 Ohio St. 67.

50. U.S.—Janssen v. Shown, C.C.A. Or., 53 F.2d 608.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 195.
Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 453 note 27.

51. Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.

52. Or.—Warren Const. Co. v. Grant, 299 P. 686, 137 Or. 410, rehearing denied 2 P.2d 1118, 137 Or. 410.

53. Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.

54. Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N. W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

55. U.S.—Oelrichs v. Spain, D.C., 15 Wall. 211, 21 L.Ed. 43.
Wash.—White v. Brooke, 39 P. 237, 11 Wash. 99.

56. Cal.—Cunningham v. Breed, 4 Cal. 384.

57. Colo.—Slack v. Stephens, 76 P. 741, 18 Colo.App. 538.
32 C.J. p 455 note 69.

by the minor was enjoined;[58] or that, until after the dissolution of the injunction, no permit had been obtained to erect the building whose erection was enjoined.[59] However, where the decision in the injunction suit adjudicated nothing more than that the injunction was not rightfully issued, and did not adjudicate the right of defendant therein to do the acts enjoined, it has been held that the obligors on the injunction bond may, in an action on the bond, show that the party enjoined did not have the right to do the acts enjoined and hence was not damaged by being forbidden to do them;[60] and it has also been held that, if on a final hearing on the merits, the trial court finds that plaintiff was entitled to an injunction at the time action was brought, this finding constitutes a defense in an action on the injunction bond for attorney's fees, notwithstanding the dissolution of the temporary injunction.[61]

Defects in injunction; jurisdiction. After plaintiff has obtained an injunction or restraining order and has stayed his adversary's proceedings, and thereby caused him to suffer damages, it is too late for the obligors on the injunction bond to set up as a defense in an action on the bond that the injunction or order should have been disregarded because it was irregular or defective,[62] or because the court had no jurisdiction to grant it.[63] Such an obligor,[64] whether a corporate bondsman or plaintiff in the injunction suit,[65] is estopped to challenge the validity of the injunction or restraining order and to say that the court granted it without jurisdiction. The obligors cannot escape liability on the ground that the injunction was ambiguous and should not have been obeyed,[66] or that it was broader in its commands than the order of the court would authorize.[67]

Issuance or service of injunction. The sureties on an injunction bond have been held estopped to deny the issuance[68] or the service[69] of the injunction.

b. Defects in Bond

After an injunction has been obtained on the strength of the bond, the obligors cannot defend an action thereon on the ground of irregularities or defects in the form of the bond; nor can the surety defend on the ground of fraud without showing participation of the obligee therein; but want of consideration may constitute a defense.

The obligors cannot question the mere form of the bond after obtaining an injunction on the strength of it.[70] Hence the injunction defendant can recover thereon notwithstanding irregularities in the form of the undertaking,[71] even where the injunction is dissolved on the ground of insufficient security,[72] and notwithstanding it is unusual in its 58. Colo.—Slack v. Stephens, supra.

59. Md.—Le Strange v. State, 58 Md. 26.

60. Neb.—Beatty v. Casselman, 211 N.W. 617, 115 Neb. 104.
32 C.J. p 453 note 31 [a] (3).

61. Iowa.—Jewel Tea Co. v. Stewart, 120 N.W. 962, 142 Iowa 353.
32 C.J. p 453 note 29.

62. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal. App.2d 587.
Or.—Warren Const. Co. v. Grant, 299 P. 686, 137 Or. 410, rehearing denied 2 P.2d 1118, 137 Or. 410.

Duration of restraining order

Liability cannot be avoided on the ground that the temporary restraining order was void because it provided that it was to remain in effect for a period of time exceeding that prescribed by a statute limiting the time for which an ex parte order may be effective.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.

Reasonableness of engaging counsel

The obligor on the bond cannot avoid liability for counsel fees incurred by defendant in the injunction suit in connection with a motion to dissolve the restraining order on the ground that, since the restraining order was defective, defendant should have merely disregarded it, and, therefore, acted unreasonably in having counsel move to dissolve the restraining order.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., supra.

63. Kan.—Harvey v. Majors, 283 P. 663, 664, 129 Kan. 556, quoting Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, citing Corpus Juris.
N.M.—Tatavich v. Pettine, 247 P. 840, 842, 31 N.M. 479, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 453 note 30.

64. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 478, 60 Cal.App.2d 587, citing Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, citing Corpus Juris.
Or.—Warren Const. Co. v. Grant, 299 P. 686, 137 Or. 410, rehearing denied 2 P.2d 1118, 137 Or. 410.
32 C.J. p 453 note 30 [a].

Reason for rule

It does not lie in the mouth of one who has affirmed the jurisdiction of a court to grant an injunction, where he has accomplished his purpose by the injunction, afterward to deny such jurisdiction.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 575, 167 Miss. 475, citing Corpus Juris—32 C.J. p 453 note 30 [a].

65. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.

66. Cal.—Asevado v. Orr, 34 P. 777, 100 Cal. 293.
32 C.J. p 454 note 38.

Corpus Juris cited in upholding liability on bond for damages suffered in refraining from acts which could be construed as prohibited by fair construction of ambiguous restraining order.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 111, 105 Mont. 245.

67. Ill.—Sturges v. Hart, 45 Ill. 103.
Neb.—Gibson v. Reed, 75 N.W. 1085, 54 Neb. 309.

68. Md.—Le Strange v. State, 58 Md. 26.
32 C.J. p 454 note 42.

69. Ala.—Salmon v. Salmon, 69 So. 304, 13 Ala.App. 510.

70. Va.—Columbia Amusement Co. v. Pine Beach Inv. Corp., 63 S.E. 1002, 109 Va. 325, 16 Ann.Cas. 1120.
32 C.J. p 454 note 46.

71. Kan.—Kennedy v. Liggett, 295 P. 675, 132 Kan. 413.
32 C.J. p 454 note 49.

72. La.—Betts v. Mougin, 15 La. Ann. 52.

terms,[73] or is more[74] or less[75] extensive in its terms than the statute or order for the injunction requires. No recovery can be had, however, for breach of such part of the condition as is not provided for by the statute or order,[76] and a condition inserted in a bond by a clerk, but not authorized by law or by the order of the court, is not binding on the sureties.[77]

Want of consideration. It may be a good defense to an action on a bond that it was void for want of consideration.[78] However, a bonding company which has been paid a premium for issuance of the bond cannot predicate want of consideration for the bond on the ground that the bond was issued pursuant to a recital that plaintiff in the injunction suit desired the undertaking for a restraining order as provided in a particular statute and that the order did not comply with the statute.[79]

Fraud. It is not a defense to the surety that the bond was procured by fraud, where it does not appear that the obligee participated in or knew of the fraud.[80]

c. Defenses Precluded by Recitals of Bond

The obligors on the bond are generally estopped to deny the recitals of the bond, as, for example, that a particular suit was pending or that the order granting the injunction required a bond.

The sureties on an injunction bond are generally estopped to deny the recitals of the bond to the terms of which they have agreed,[81] even though the recitals are in conflict with the records.[82] Thus, in an action on a bond given to restrain the further prosecution of a suit at law, defendant is estopped from denying that there was pending such a suit as that described in the bond;[83] and, when the bond recites that the issuance of the injunction was ordered "on the complainant's filing, etc., a bond executed by himself and a surety or sureties," etc., the surety, in an action against himself on the bond, is estopped from denying that the order granting the injunction required a bond.[84] However, where an injunction bond is required before the injunction is granted, the obligors on such a bond may show that no injunction issued, although it recites that an injunction was prayed for and obtained.[85]

d. Miscellaneous Defenses

In addition to the defenses already considered, there have been adjudications with respect to the sufficiency, as a defense to an action on an injunction bond, of various miscellaneous facts or circumstances including, among others, good faith in seeking the injunction, absence of injury, issuance of another injunction, and violation of the injunction by the party seeking damages for its issuance.

Good faith. It is generally considered no defense so far as concerns actual damages sustained by reason of the injunction that the injunction suit was brought in good faith by one who believed that he had reasonable grounds for injunction.[86] However, if the bond is conditioned to pay damages in the event the court finally decides that complainant in the injunction suit was not equitably entitled to the injunction, complainant's good faith may be considered on the question of whether he was equitably entitled to the injunction;[87] and it has been held that the fact that the injunction suit was brought in good faith may be shown in mitigation of damages.[88]

Absence of injury. Where defendant in the injunction suit was not, or could not possibly have been, injured, he is precluded from recovering damages on the bond.[89]

73. N.Y.—Candee v. Wilcox, 26 Hun 666.
Tenn.—Black v. Caruthers, 6 Humphr. 87.

74. Fla.—Sewell v. Huffstetler, 93 So. 162, 83 Fla. 629.
32 C.J. p 455 note 52.

75. W.Va.—Holliday v. Myers, 11 W. Va. 276.

76. U.S.—Hays v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, La., 112 F. 872, 50 C.C.A. 569.
32 C.J. p 455 note 54.

77. Tenn.—Baxter v. Washburn, 8 Lea 1.
32 C.J. p 455 note 57.

78. Cal.—Alaska Impr. Co. v. Hirsch, 47 P. 124, 119 Cal. 249, reheard 51 P. 340, 119 Cal. 249.
32 C.J. p 455 note 58.

79. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.

80. Ala.—Guild v. Thomas, 54 Ala. 414, 25 Am.R. 703.
32 C.J. p 455 note 60.
Fraud as affecting liability of sureties generally see the C.J.S. title Principal and Surety §§ 75–77, also 50 C.J. p 52 note 24–p 62 note 98.

81. Va.—Columbia Amusement Co. v. Pine Beach Inv. Corp., 63 S.E. 1002, 109 Va. 325, 16 Ann.Cas. 1120.
32 C.J. p 454 note 44.

82. Fla.—Sewell v. Huffstetler, 93 So. 162, 83 Fla. 629.

83. Ala.—Person v. Thornton, 5 So. 470, 86 Ala. 308.
32 C.J. p 454 note 41.

84. Md.—Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 348—Lloyd v. Burgess, 4 Gill 187.

85. Ala.—Adams v. Olive, 57 Ala. 249.

86. Tenn.—Winslow v. Mulchey, Ch. A., 35 S.W. 762.
32 C.J. p 452 note 22.
In North Carolina
(1) At one time there could be no recovery on the bond without a showing of malice and want of probable cause on the part of plaintiff in the injunction suit.—Falls v. McAfee, 24 N.C. 236.
(2) By statute, however, it is no longer necessary to allege want of probable cause in proceedings to recover damages against plaintiff in injunction suits.—Crawford v. Pearson, 21 S.E. 561, 116 N.C. 718.

87. N.J.—Smith v. Kuhl, 26 N.J.Eq. 97.

88. Mont.—Stewart v. Miller, 1 Mont. 301.

89. Iowa.—Chicago, A. & N. R. Co.

Issuance of another injunction. It cannot be shown either in bar,[90] or in mitigation of damages,[91] that another injunction, which is still in force and undissolved, has been issued in respect of the same subject matter. Where the injunction for which the bond was given has been dissolved, it is not a defense to an action on the bond that an appeal is pending from a decree dissolving a subsequent injunction which was issued after amendment of the bill in the injunction suit.[92]

Violation of injunction. Although by disobedience to a writ of injunction the party enjoined becomes amenable to the action of the court as for contempt, as discussed supra § 257, as a general rule, such disobedience does not deprive him of his right of action for a breach of the conditions of the injunction bond, and is no defense to such an action.[93] Nevertheless, doing acts which the writ commands not to be done may prevent damages accruing which would have resulted if the writ had been obeyed, and a party enjoined of course would be unable to show damages in that respect as a consequence of the injunction.[94]

Payment from other sources. It is not a defense to an action on the bond against the sureties therein that the principal is solvent and able to pay his own debts, where the bond is not so conditioned;[95] nor is it a defense that defendant paid the costs of the original bill for injunction;[96] that execution issued on the judgment enjoined and a forthcoming bond was executed and forfeited;[97] or that plaintiff's damages had been paid by the county, which was bound to indemnify him against loss.[98]

Other defenses. In addition to the matters already considered, the sufficiency of other facts to constitute a defense to an action on an injunction bond has been adjudicated,[99] and it has been held not to constitute a defense that injunction plaintiff was misled by defendant's statements into bringing suit, unless it can be shown that defendant instigated or desired the institution of the suit;[1] that the injunction was allowed by consent of the parties, where the entry of such consent was conditional on the execution of the injunction bond;[2] that plaintiff did not file a memorandum of costs and disbursements in the injunction proceeding;[3] that plaintiffs had offered to give up all claim to the money whose payment to them had been enjoined, the offer having been made by way of compromise;[4] that an attorney for defendants in the injunction suit allegedly expressed an opinion on the trial that certain facts would constitute a defense to an action on the bond;[5] or that the suit in which the writ of injunction was issued was not brought against the proper party.[6] It is no defense to an action on the injunction bond that the main issues to be litigated in the injunction suit had become moot at the time of the decision dismissing such suit, where liability on the bond for costs and damages was still a live issue.[7] Suit on the injunction bond cannot be defended on the ground that the question of damages was litigated in the injunction suit, where it does not appear that the court in the in-

v. Whitney, 132 N.W. 840, 152 Iowa 520.

32 C.J. p 453 note 31.

90. Ill.—Weaver v. Poyer, 73 Ill. 489.

32 C.J. p 453 note 32, p 461 note 86 [a].

91. Ind.—Swan v. Timmons, 81 Ind. 243.

92. Ala.—Irwin v. Morrow, 95 So. 496, 19 Ala.App. 115, certiorari denied Ex parte Irwin, 95 So. 498, 209 Ala. 164.

93. Wis.—Prest v. Stein, 265 N.W. 85, 87, 220 Wis. 354, citing Corpus Juris.

32 C.J. p 454 note 35.

Recovery not conditioned on obedience

Obedience to the writ is not a condition to a recovery on the bond.—Colcord v. Sylvester, 66 Ill. 540—32 C.J. p 454 note 36.

94. Wash.—Steel v. Gordon, 45 P. 151, 14 Wash. 521.

32 C.J. p 454 note 37.

95. Ark.—Hunt v. Burton, 18 Ark. 188.

96. Ohio.—Kent v. Bierce, 6 Ohio 336.

97. Miss.—Harrison v. Balfour, 13 Miss. 301.

98. Colo.—Haley v. Breeze, 59 P. 212, 13 Colo.App. 435.

99. Superiority of equities

Where injunction suit to restrain the carrying out of contracts for the erection of school buildings was not brought until the work was nearly completed, the taxpayers who brought the suit did not have any equities superior to those of the contractors so as to defeat an action by the contracts on the injunction bond. —Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15, adhering to opinion 208 N. W. 952, 169 Minn. 15.

Adoption of statutory remedy

Where an injunction prohibiting proceedings under a distress warrant is sought on the ground that the relation of landlord and tenant does not exist, and the injunction is dissolved, the sureties cannot escape liability on the bond on the ground that a statutory remedy providing for resisting an improper exercise of the right of distress was not adopted, the remedy being limited to a tenant, his assignee, or undertenant.—Hornback v. Swope, 8 Ky. L. 533.

1. Mo.—Schuyler County v. Donaldson, 9 Mo.App. 385.

2. Mo.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, App., 161 S.W. 2d 431, 434, citing Corpus Juris.

Ohio.—Bishop v. Bascoe, 8 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 423, 7 Cinc.L.Bul. 342.

3. Mont.—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 83 Mont. 170.

4. Colo.—Smith v. Atkinson, 32 P. 425, 78 Colo. 255.

5. Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

6. Idaho.—Boise City v. Randall, 66 P. 938, 8 Idaho 119.

7. Miss.—Campbell v. Stauffer, 146 So. 872, 166 Miss. 304.

junction suit determined any of the matters alleged in the action on the bond regarding damages.[8] Where an answer sets up a settlement, but the evidence fails to show that the matter in litigation was included therein, or that more than one of several plaintiffs participated or consented, or that anyone who acted was empowered to bind them, a verdict for defendants cannot stand.[9] Where, by means of an injunction, plaintiff was restrained from disposing of corporate stock, recovery on the injunction bond will not be defeated because during that period an attachment against the stock was in existence.[10] In an action on a bond given to secure an injunction against an execution it is immaterial whether the property released was subject to execution or whether plaintiff had lost his debt by reason of the injunction.[11]

§ 294. —— Release or Discharge of Liability

The surety is released by a material alteration in the bond or an extension of time granted the principal without his consent. A modification which does not increase his liability will not, however, discharge him. A bond may be discharged by the giving of a new bond which supersedes the old.

The surety is discharged by a material alteration in the bond made without the surety's consent.[12] Extension of time for a definite period granted the principal after judgment for a valuable consideration and without the consent of the sureties operates as a release of their liability on the bond.[13] A surety on an injunction bond is discharged by an agreement entered into, without his consent, by plaintiff and defendant, to have the case tried at chambers and decided after court term.[14] An order, entered by consent, modifying an injunction so as to make it less comprehensive than before, does not release the surety on the injunction bond from liability on dissolution of the injunction as modified, since the modification does not increase his liability.[15] Where the bill for injunction was at the same time a creditors' bill, the obligation of the surety on the injunction bond on which suit is brought is not discharged by the fact that other parties were added as complainants to prosecute the cause in which the injunction was issued.[16] A dismissal of the action as to one of the defendants has been held not to be such a change in the action as to relieve the parties to the bond from liability thereunder.[17]

A court should not release the surety from liability unless he, or someone for him, asks to be released.[18] A surety may have the bond canceled in a proper case;[19] but a motion to cancel the bond is premature where an appeal has been taken from a judgment granting a permanent injunction.[20]

New bond. If the injunction is continued on complainant's application, on the giving of a new bond with security, the first bond is discharged.[21] An injunction bond may be superseded by a new bond given in connection with a subsequent bill for injunctive relief, where the intent and understanding of all the parties is that the new bond shall have that effect.[22] On the other hand, where the court orders a second injunction bond to be given, which order is not substantially complied with, the first bond is not discharged.[23] An appeal bond given on the appeal from the order of dissolution does not supersede the injunction bond.[24]

Other grounds for release or discharge of liability on an injunction bond have been urged in particular cases and the sufficiency thereof adjudicated.[25] A release of the surety by part of the obligees does not release him from all liability.[26] Removal from the state of some of the obligors in the bond does not relieve the others therein from liability for the

8. Or.—Warren Const. Co. v. Grant, 299 P. 686, 137 Or. 410, rehearing denied 2 P.2d 1118, 137 Or. 410.

9. Cal.—Silcox v. Lang, 20 P. 297, 78 Cal. 118.

10. Ariz.—American Surety Co. v. Duvall, 196 P. 457, 22 Ariz. 261.
32 C.J. p 456 note 76.

11. Ky.—Riggan v. Crain, 5 S.W. 561, 86 Ky. 249, 9 Ky.L. 528.
32 C.J. p 756 note 75.

12. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal. App.2d 537.

Material alteration not shown

The obligation of a bond to pay damages suffered by those restrained if restraining order was improperly issued was not materially altered by issuance of restraining order for a period greater than that permitted by statute.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., supra.

13. Miss.—Miller v. Lewis, 60 So. 654, 103 Miss. 598.

14. La.—Baker v. Frellsen, 32 La. Ann. 822.

15. Ill.—Brackebush v. Dorsett, 27 N.E. 934, 138 Ill. 167, affirming 37 Ill.App. 581.

16. Md.—Levy v. Taylor, 24 Md. 282.

17. Wash.—Kleeb v. Bard, 40 P. 783, 12 Wash. 140.

18. Wis.—Sobey v. Thomas, 37 Wis. 568.

19. La.—Leake v. Breedlove, 1 Mart., N.S., 259.
32 C.J. p 457 note 4.

20. N.Y.—Vitagraph Co. of America v. Stewart, 170 N.Y.S. 527.

21. Ohio.—Kent v. Bierce, 6 Ohio 336.

22. N.H.—Crossman v. Quimby, 193 A. 213, 89 N.H. 91.

23. Ohio.—Kent v. Bierce, 7 Ohio Pt. II, 209.

24. Mich.—Rynearson v. Fredenburg, 4 N.W. 187, 42 Mich. 412.

25. Compliance with condition for dissolution of injunction

A surety is not exonerated or released from his liability on an injunction bond by the compliance of defendant in equity with the condition on which the injunction is to be dissolved.—Gray v. Campbell, 3 Munf. 251, 17 Va. 251.

26. Mo.—C. H. Albers Commn. Co. v. Spencer, 139 S.W. 321, 236 Mo. 608, Ann.Cas.1912D 705.
32 C.J. p 456 note 99.

whole amount of damages sustained.[27] The arrest of a judgment debtor under a capias is not a satisfaction of the judgment and does not discharge an injunction bond entered into on a bill being filed to enjoin the judgment.[28] A surety is not released from his liability on the bond merely by reason of a misnomer in the bond, and the obligee may plead and prove mistake and show the real intent of the parties; but, in the absence of such pleading and proof, there can be no recovery against the surety.[29] Although the judgment enjoined has been reversed since the decree against injunction plaintiff, the sureties on the bond are not entitled to relief so long as the decree stands.[30] Where the bond was given to prevent the sale of land under a deed of trust, the cestui que trust is the only person who can execute a sufficient release for damages, and a release by a trustee of a naked trust is no defense.[31]

§ 295. —— Jurisdiction and Venue

The statutes of the particular jurisdiction determine the jurisdiction and venue of actions on injunction bonds. A bond given in a federal court may be sued on in a state court.

The jurisdiction and venue of actions on injunction bonds depend to some extent on the statutes of the particular jurisdiction.[32] An action on an injunction bond is properly brought in the chancery court under statutes giving such court jurisdiction of suits for unliquidated damages for injuries to property growing out of the breach of an oral or written contract.[33] An injunction bond given in a federal court may be sued on in a state court.[34] An injunction bond given in a state court in one county may be sued on in another county where some of defendants reside.[35]

§ 296. —— Time to Sue and Limitations

The time to sue in actions on bonds generally is considered in Bonds § 103. Statutory limitations applicable to actions on bonds are treated in the C.J.S. title Limitations of Actions § 55, also 37 C.J. p 753 note 81–p 754 note 2, and 28 C.J. p 1308 note 70–p 1310 note 18.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 297. —— Parties

a. Plaintiffs
b. Defendants

a. Plaintiffs

(1) In general
(2) Joinder

(1) In General

An action on an injunction bond may be brought in the name of the real party in interest, including an assignee, where the statutes so provide, even though he was not a party to the bond or to the injunction suit. In the absence of statute, the suit should be brought in the name of the obligees for the benefit of those beneficially interested.

In accordance with the general rules governing parties plaintiff in actions on bonds, as discussed in Bonds § 106, and, in the absence of statute providing otherwise, suit on the bond may[36] and should[37] be prosecuted in the name of the obligee in the bond for the use of those beneficially interested. However, in many jurisdictions, by force of statutory provisions, suit may or should be brought, not in the name of the obligee in the bond, but in the name of the real party in interest,[38] even though, it has been held, he is not named as an obligee in the bond and was not a party to the proceeding in which the injunction was issued.[39]

27. Ky.—Landram v. Cambers, 3 Ky. Op. 548.

28. S.C.—Conner v. Winn, 3 S.C.L. 185.
32 C.J. p 457 note 9.

29. Tex.—Ables v. Waggner, Civ. App., 208 S.W. 693.
32 C.J. p 456 note 95.
Defects in bond as defense generally see supra § 293 b.

30. Tenn.—Blythe v. Peters, 3 Yerg. 378.

31. Mo.—O'Reilly v. Miller, 52 Mo. 210.

32. In Louisiana
(1) The surety may be sued in the same jurisdiction as that in which the principal may be sued.—Bowers v. Orleans Producing & Refining Corporation, 1 La.App. 784.
(2) Where the bond was given in the parish in which the surety resided, the principals residing in another parish, it was held that the surety might be sued in the parish in which he resided, but that the principals must be sued at their domicile.—Kimbrough v. Walker, 27 La. Ann. 566.

33. Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn. App. 668.

34. Mont.—Montana Mining Co. v. St. Louis Mining & Milling Co., 48 P. 305, 19 Mont. 313.

35. Tex.—Wood v. Hollander, 19 S. W. 551, 84 Tex. 394.
32 C.J. p 452 note 20.

36. Ala.—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.
32 C.J. p 457 note 11.
Suit for use of party injured
Where the bond is conditioned for the payment "of all such damages and costs which any person may sustain," an action may be brought by all the obligees for the use of one of the parties who had been injured by the injunction suit.—Babcock v. Reeves, 43 So. 21, 149 Ala. 665.
Suit for use of attorneys
Suit to recover damages on the bond may be brought in the names of the obligees for the use of their attorneys.—Patterson v. Rinard, 81 Ill.App. 80.

37. Ala.—National Surety Co. v. Citizens' Light, Heat & Power Co., 78 So. 834, 201 Ala. 456.
32 C.J. p 457 note 12.

38. Or.—Moore v. Lachmund, 117 P. 1123, 59 Or. 565, Ann.Cas.1913C 1273.
32 C.J. p 457 note 15.

39. Ala.—Marengo County v. Matkin, 42 So. 33, 144 Ala. 574, 6 Ann. Cas. 902.

A defendant whose title to land, the enjoyment of which has been enjoined, is merely possessory, has a sufficient interest to enable him to maintain an action on the bond.[40] A wife, after her husband's death, has been held entitled to prosecute an action against the surety in her own name, notwithstanding both she and her husband were beneficiaries of the injunction bond, where title to the land involved in the injunction suit was in the wife, and the husband, if living, would have been entitled only to statutory curtesy in the land.[41] Trustees appointed by the court simply to sell property have no title or interest in the property, and cannot sue on an injunction bond for damages to the property caused by the injunction restraining the sale.[42]

Assignees. It has been held, in accordance with the common-law rule that an assignee of a bond could not sue thereon in his own name, as discussed in Bonds § 106 b, that, in the absence of statute providing otherwise, one to whom an injunction bond has been assigned cannot maintain an action thereon;[43] but it has also been held that the assignee of an injunction bond may maintain a suit thereon.[44] In jurisdictions where by statute the real party in interest may bring suit on an injunction bond the suit may, of course, be brought thereon by the assignee.[45] Where the injunction defendant has assigned part of his interest in the subject matter of that suit, but has not assigned the undertaking, the assignee is not considered a necessary party plaintiff to an action on the bond.[46]

Persons representing a large class. If a bond is payable to defendants in the injunction suit and to a class of persons too numerous to be joined, one or more of the persons belonging to the class named may maintain an action on the bond in behalf of all, where a statute provides that, if the parties are numerous and cannot be brought before the court in a reasonable time, one or more may sue for the benefit of all;[47] but one who was not a defendant in the injunction suit, who was not named in the undertaking, and does not belong to a class who ought to have been made defendants, cannot maintain an action on the bond.[48]

Official or individual capacity. Where bond runs to certain persons as officials, it has been held that they cannot maintain an action thereon as individuals;[49] but an official has been held entitled to sue individually on an injunction bond where the bond runs to him as an individual,[50] or where his official description in the bond is mere descriptio personæ,[51] or where the action is brought after the expiration of his term of office.[52] It has been held that, where the bond runs to certain persons as individuals they may sue on it as officials if the injunction suit was brought against them in their official capacity.[53] An action on the bond is maintainable by parties in their individual capacities where the injunction operated on them only as individuals and the damage suffered because of the issuance of the injunction was suffered by them personally and not in their official capacities.[54]

(2) Joinder

Suit may be brought in the name of the obligee without joinder of the party beneficially interested, but all defendants in the injunction suit generally may unite in an action on the bond. The joinder of parties may be affected by the character of the bond as joint or several.

Suit may be brought in the name of the obligee without joining the person or persons for whose benefit the suit is prosecuted.[55] It has been held that all the defendants in the injunction suit may unite in an action on the bond, although the bond is in terms executed to but one of them,[56] and that, where one suing for injunction joined several defendants and prayed for relief against all of them, he cannot, when sued on the injunction bond, object that they join as plaintiffs;[57] but a joint action cannot be maintained by the obligees, unless the damages are joint.[58]

40. Ind.—Winship v. Clendenning, 24 Ind. 439.
41. Ky.—Brewer v. Kirk, 77 S.W.2d 34, 256 Ky. 822.
42. Md.—State v. Albert, 88 A. 119, 121 Md. 222.
43. Ill.—Safford v. Muller, 59 Ill. 205.
44. La.—Pottier v. Grant, 26 La. Ann. 283.
S.C.—Cay v. Galliott, 35 S.C.L. 282.
45. Kan.—Nimocks v. Welles, 21 P. 787, 42 Kan. 39.
46. Colo.—Smith v. Atkinson, 32 P. 425, 18 Colo. 255.
47. Ky.—Alexander v. Gish, 9 S.W. 801, 88 Ky. 13, 10 Ky.L. 989.
48. Ind.—Dunham v. Seiberling, 39 N.E. 1044, 12 Ind.App. 210.
49. Nev.—Kinkead v. Benton, 14 P. 294, 19 Nev. 437.
32 C.J. p 457 note 26.
50. Wash.—Sampson v. Woldenberg, 114 P. 162, 62 Wash. 483.
32 C.J. p 457 note 27 [c].
51. Ind.—Crawford v. Spindler, 103 N.E. 388, 55 Ind.App. 1.
32 C.J. p 457 note 27 [a].
52. Colo.—Breeze v. Haley, 59 P. 333, 13 Colo.App. 438.
32 C.J. p 457 note 27 [b].
53. Ky.—Wilder v. Miller, 206 S.W. 293, 182 Ky. 210.
54. Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.
55. Colo.—Breeze v. Haley, 59 P. 333, 13 Colo.App. 438.
Neb.—Gyger v. Courtney, 81 N.W. 437, 59 Neb. 555.
56. Ind.—Boden v. Dill, 58 Ind. 273.
57. Iowa.—Dennis v. Mantle, 155 N. W. 830, 173 Iowa 450.
58. Cal.—Fowler v. Frisbie, 37 Cal. 34.
32 C.J. p 458 note 35.

Character of bond as joint or several. It is not necessary that all the obligees on the bond join as parties plaintiff where the liability of the obligors to them is several and not joint,[59] and in this connection the mere fact that a number of obligees are named in the bond does not determine that all have a joint interest in the performance of the obligors' promises, the interest of each being determined by the intention of the parties.[60] Where an injunction bond is joint, all the obligees may join in an action thereon,[61] although the claim due the obligees may be of different amounts and bear interest from different dates,[62] or although only one of them has sustained injury,[63] and it is generally considered that all of the obligees in a joint bond must join in an action thereon;[64] but there is some authority to the effect that notwithstanding the joint character of the bond the obligees may sue separately or jointly.[65]

Bond payable to state. Where the bond is made payable to the state as authorized by statute, one of the parties entitled to the benefit of its penalty may, after dissolution of the injunction, prosecute a suit on such bond in the name of the state, for his own use, without joining the other beneficiaries.[66]

b. Defendants

The usual rules governing parties defendant in an action on a bond apply in actions on injunction bonds.

The general rules governing parties defendant in actions on bonds, as discussed in Bonds § 107, have been applied in actions on injunction bonds.[67] Ordinarily all the obligors on the bond should be joined as defendants;[68] but where, although the injunction proceedings are begun in the name of the state as plaintiff, the relator is the real complainant, suit may be maintained against him and the sureties on the bond, without making the state a codefendant.[69] Under some statutory provisions it is optional with plaintiff whether to make both the principal and surety on the bond parties to the action,[70] and plaintiff may, for example, sue the surety without joining the principal.[71]

There has been held to be a misjoinder of parties defendant where the action was brought ex contractu on the bond against the principal and the surety and ex delicto for additional damages against the principal;[72] but it has also been held proper to join as defendants the sureties on the bond, plaintiffs in injunction, and an alleged instigator or fomenter of the proceeding, although some were sued ex contractu and others ex delicto.[73]

§ 298. —— Process and Appearance

The general rules as to appearance considered in the title Appearance and those relating to process considered in the title Process control in the absence of express statutory provisions.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 299. —— Pleading

a. In general
b. Complaint or declaration
c. Answer or plea
d. Replication or reply
e. Issues, proof, and variance

a. In General

Matters pertaining to the construction or amendment of pleadings in actions on injunction bonds are gov-

59. Pa.—Miller v. South Hills Trust Co., 96 Pa.Super. 273.

Several liability created

Where an injunction bond recites that "plaintiffs undertake and promise to pay all costs and disbursements that may be decreed to defendants, and such damages as they may sustain by reason of the injunction, if it be wrongful," the undertaking creates a liability running in favor of any one of defendants.—Moore v. Lachmund, 117 P. 1123, 59 Or. 565, Ann.Cas.1912C 1273.

60. Pa.—Miller v. South Hills Trust Co., 96 Pa.Super. 273.

61. Vt.—Lillie v. Lillie, 55 Vt. 470. 32 C.J. p 458 note 32.

62. W.Va.—Peerce v. Athey, 4 W.Va. 22.

63. Ky.—Watts v. Sanders, 10 B. Mon. 372.

64. Mont.—Montana Mining Co. v. St. Louis Mining & Milling Co., 48 P. 305, 19 Mont. 313. 32 C.J. p 458 note 36.

Vendor and vendee

Where the injunction, in connection with which the bond was given, restrained both a prospective vendor and vendee of land from making the sale, and the bond ran in favor of both the vendor and vendee, it has been held that the action should be brought in the names of both obligees, and that there is a nonjoinder of parties plaintiff if the action is brought in the name of the vendor only, the other obligee being a necessary nominal party at least. —Spires v. Spires, 117 S.E. 255, 30 Ga.App. 228.

65. Or.—Ruble v. Coyote Gold & Silver Mining Co., 10 Or. 39.

66. U.S.—State v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 108 S.E. 271, 88 W. Va. 665.

67. Parties liable for deficiency

After dissolution of a temporary injunction restraining the sale of property under a mortgage, a suit on the bond to recover any deficiency occasioned by the injunction should join all parties liable for the deficiency.—Epstein v. Graff, 203 N. W. 836, 231 Mich. 232.

68. Md.—Wallis v. Dilley, 7 Md. 237. 32 C.J. p 458 note 46.

69. Colo.—Wason v. Frank, 44 P. 378, 7 Colo.App. 541.

70. Mont.—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., 271 P. 609, 83 Mont. 170.

71. Mont.—Foster v. Royal Indemnity Co., supra.

72. Ga.—Spires v. Spires, 117 S.E. 255, 30 Ga.App. 228.

73. La.—Riggs v. Bell, 3 So. 183, 39 La.Ann. 1030.

Severance

The sureties have a right to sever, but they are not bound so to do.—Riggs v. Bell, supra.

erned by the usual rules of pleading. Objections to the pleadings must be made in the mode required by the practice of the particular jurisdiction.

The general rules pertaining to the construction of pleadings in other actions, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Pleading §§ 53–58, also 49 C.J. p 105 note 10–p 122 note 52, apply to actions on injunction bonds.[74] Amendment of the pleadings should be allowed in a proper case.[75]

The availability of a given defect in a pleading depends on whether or not the proper course is pursued to bring the defect to the attention of the court according to the practice in the particular jurisdiction.[76] Under the practice in at least one jurisdiction, objection that the action is prematurely brought may be raised by demurrer or plea, depending on whether or not the fact appears on the face of the complaint.[77]

b. Complaint or Declaration

(1) In general
(2) Issuance, service, and propriety of injunction
(3) Damages

(1) In General

The complaint or declaration in an action on an injunction bond must be sufficient to justify the relief sought, and must clearly describe the bond and the claimed breach thereof. In the absence of provision in the bond or the statutes requiring a prior attempt to collect the damages from the principal, an allegation to that effect is unnecessary. There is some conflict as to the necessity of setting out the record in the injunction suit.

In an action on an injunction bond, plaintiff must set forth in his declaration or complaint all the facts which are essential to show a cause of action in him;[78] but, if this is done, it is not a fatal defect that the facts may have been awkwardly expressed.[79] The bond declared on must be described with such precision, certainty, and clearness as fully to apprise defendants of the cause of action which they are required to answer;[80] and, when the action is brought against plaintiff in the injunction suit, it must be alleged that he was a party to the bond.[81]

Plaintiff must clearly assign a breach of the conditions of the bond or undertaking,[82] although it is sufficient to set forth such facts as constitute a breach.[83] Plaintiff need not allege the existence of an order of the court of equity authorizing a withdrawal of the bond and permitting suit to be brought on it, in the absence of statute making it necessary to obtain leave to sue on the bond.[84] The validity of judgments whose collection was enjoined need not be alleged.[85]

Nonpayment by, or insolvency of, principal. Ordinarily the complaint need not aver a demand on the principal and a refusal by him to pay.[86] However, where the undertaking of the sureties is to pay the damages if plaintiff in the injunction suit does not pay, the petition in an action on the bond against the sureties must allege the failure of injunction plaintiff to pay the damages,[87] although such an allegation need not be made expressly, and a petition which contains allegations from which nonpayment may be implied is sufficient to withstand attack by a general demurrer based on the ground of insufficiency to state a cause of action.[88] If a statute makes it a condition precedent to the right to sue on an injunction bond that execution against the principal debtor shall have been returned unsatisfied, the fulfillment of this condition must be al-

74. Nonpayment of note
In construing a particular complaint, answer, and reply, it was held that they constituted a mutual admission that there was no actual payment of a note given by plaintiff to defendants so that the amount of the note was deductible from any recovery by plaintiff against defendants in the action on the injunction bond.—Mead v. Kalberg, 127 P. 185, 70 Wash. 517.

75. Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522.

76. Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

General or special demurrer
A petition which is good as against general demurrer may nevertheless be subject to special demurrer where it fails to set forth the pleadings or record in the former cause, or their substance, and also improperly joins causes of action.—Spires v. Spires, 117 S.E. 255, 30 Ga.App. 228.

77. Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

78. Okl.—Hart v. Hamra, 216 P. 649, 91 Okl. 141.
32 C.J. p 458 notes 49, 51.

Allegations held sufficient
Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 105 Mont. 245.
Pa.—Bratton v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, Com.Pl., 49 Dauph.Co. 112.
Wash.—Clem v. Hunz, 231 P. 7, 132 Wash. 14, 40 A.L.R. 987.

79. W.Va.—State v. Pingley, 100 S.E. 216, 84 W.Va. 433.

80. Fla.—Tallahassee R. Co. v. Hayward, 4 Fla. 411.
32 C.J. p 459 note 66.

81. Cal.—Asevado v. Orr, 34 P. 777, 100 Cal. 293.

82. Ariz.—Buggeln v. Cameron, 90 P. 324, 11 Ariz. 200.
32 C.J. p 460 note 68.

83. Fla.—Tallahassee R. Co. v. Hayward, 4 Fla. 411.
32 C.J. p 460 note 69.

84. N.C.—Falls v. McAffee, 23 N.C. 139.

85. Ind.—Midland R. Co. v. Stevenson, 33 N.E. 254, 6 Ind.App. 207, followed in 33 N.E. 256, 6 Ind.App. 702.
32 C.J. p 460 note 74.

86. Mont.—Montana Mining Co. v. St. Louis Mining & Milling Co., 43 P. 305, 19 Mont. 313.

87. Okl.—Hart v. Hamra, 216 P. 649, 91 Okl. 141.

88. Okl.—First Nat. Bank v. Duncan, 285 P. 957, 142 Okl. 121—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 324, 131 Okl. 134.

leged;[89] but in the absence of such a statute it is not necessary to allege the insolvency of the principal.[90]

Record in injunction suit. It has been held that plaintiff need not file with the complaint,[91] or specifically set out therein,[92] any part of the record of the suit in which the injunction on which the bond is given was granted; but it has also been held that a petition which fails to set forth the pleadings or record in the former cause, or their substance, is subject to special demurrer.[93]

(2) Issuance, Service, and Propriety of Injunction

The complaint should allege, either expressly or impliedly, the issuance and service of the injunction, and final determination of the injunction suit adversely to plaintiff therein; but procedural matters connected with the granting of the injunction need not be alleged.

It should appear that an injunction was issued and was served;[94] and for this purpose it is sufficient to allege that the injunction was served on defendants personally without specifying the manner of service.[95] An express allegation of issuance and service is unnecessary where facts are alleged which of necessity imply such issuance and service.[96] It is unnecessary to allege expressly that the judge had authority to grant the injunction; that application for the injunction was presented to the judge by the injunction plaintiffs in the suit in which such injunction is alleged to have been granted; that cause was shown for granting such injunction; or that the injunction was granted in vacation, where the date on which it was granted is stated.[97]

Plaintiff should allege a final determination of the injunction suit,[98] and should show that the injunction was wrongfully issued,[99] although an express averment to that effect is unnecessary if the fact otherwise appears from the allegations pleaded.[1]

(3) Damages

Unless damages have already been awarded, plaintiff must specify the injuries sustained by the wrongful issuance of the injunction and, if he was not an obligee in the bond, how he is entitled to recover therefor. Special damages must be pleaded.

Unless damages have already been awarded, as by the decree dissolving the injunction,[2] plaintiff must specify the particular injuries sustained with such clearness that they may be understood by defendants,[3] and must allege facts showing how the issuance of the injunction caused the particular damages set out;[4] his recovery will be limited to such damages as are specifically alleged, and no damages other than those claimed will be allowed.[5] If plaintiff was not named as an obligee in the bond he must allege a state of facts showing that he was damaged from the direct effects of the injunction,[6] and as to such a plaintiff averments showing a breach of the bond coupled with the fact that the injunction was dissolved do not entitle him even

89. Ohio.—Hillyer v. Richards, 13 Ohio 135.

90. Idaho.—Dangel v. Levy, 1 Idaho 722.

91. Ind.—Winship v. Clendenning, 24 Ind. 439.
32 C.J. p 461 note 11 [b].

92. Ind.—Merrifield v. Weston, 68 Ind. 70.
32 C.J. p 459 note 60.

93. Ga.—Spires v. Spires, 117 S.E. 255, 30 Ga.App. 228.

94. Ind.—Merrifield v. Weston, 68 Ind. 70.

95. N.Y.—Loomis v. Brown, 16 Barb. 325.

96. Ala.—Dubberly v. Black, 38 Ala. 193.
32 C.J. p 459 note 55.

97. Ind.—Merrifield v. Weston, 68 Ind. 70.
32 C.J. p 459 note 58.

98. Iowa.—Lacey v. Davis, 102 N. W. 535, 126 Iowa 675, withdrawing 98 N.W. 366.
Okl.—Sloan v. Kohler, 88 P.2d 644, 184 Okl. 511.
32 C.J. p 459 note 62.

99. Okl.—Sloan v. Kohler, supra.
32 C.J. p 459 note 63.

1. Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.
32 C.J. p 459 note 64.

2. W.Va.—State v. Purcell, 5 S.E. 301, 31 W.Va. 44.
Assessment of damages in injunction suit see supra §§ 283–287.

3. W.Va.—State v. Purcell, 5 S.E. 301, 31 W.Va. 44.
32 C.J. p 460 note 77.

4. Ill.—Shreffler v. Nadelhoffer, 25 N.E. 630, 133 Ill. 536, 23 Am.S.R. 626.
32 C.J. p 460 note 78.

Loss of profits

A claim for loss of estimated profits from the conduct of a business because of the wrongful issuance of an injunction is not allowable in the absence of an allegation that the party enjoined had any previous experience in such business on which to base a reasonable hope of making such profits.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.

Payment for failure to convey land

Allegations that plaintiff had contracted to sell certain land, and was obligated to make a deed conveying such land to purchaser within a certain time, and was prevented from so doing because of the injunction, and paid a specified amount as damages because of not being able to perform contract, were sufficient to show that alleged damages were due to issuance and continuance of injunction.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.

Different amounts sought from principal and surety

The fact that plaintiff prays for judgment against the surety in the full amount of the bond, while the prayer against the principals on the bond is for a lesser amount, does not affect the sufficiency of the pleading in so far as concerns the allegations necessary to constitute a cause of action against the surety.—Buras v. Machella, 134 So. 751, 172 La. 580.

5. Ky.—Wilder v. Miller, 206 S.W. 293, 182 Ky. 210.
32 C.J. p 460 note 79.

6. Ala.—Irwin v. Morrow, 95 So. 496, 19 Ala.App. 115, certiorari denied Ex parte Irwin, 95 So. 498, 209 Ala. 164.
32 C.J. p 458 note 51 [a].

to nominal damages.[7]

In order to recover special damages, they must be alleged,[8] or at least facts stated from which it must necessarily be inferred that such damages were sustained.[9] Actual payment of counsel fees need not be alleged, in order to recover therefor, if a legal obligation to make such payment is sufficiently alleged.[10]

c. Answer or Plea

The answer or plea in an action on an injunction bond must comply with the general rules of pleading. Denials should not be made of matters established by the recitals of the bond or the judgment in the injunction suit, and only matters which properly constitute a defense should be affirmatively set forth.

The general rules applicable to pleas or answers in actions on bonds generally, as discussed in Bonds § 110, apply in actions on injunction bonds.[11] The plea should be distinctly responsive, not evasive and argumentative.[12] Defendant cannot properly deny that the injunction was granted, or allege that there was no injunction in existence when the bond was acknowledged[13] or that the court granting the injunction was without jurisdiction;[14] and a plea that, if the injunction defendant was damaged, it was by reason of his own wrong is bad.[15] A plea or answer is bad which sets up a contract different from the recitals of the bond,[16] or which alleges merely that defendant did not cause the bond to be filed.[17] The motive in suing out the injunction cannot be pleaded in bar.[18]

As a bar defendant may deny the dissolution of the injunction.[19] A plea that defendant has performed the conditions of a bond payable on dissolution of the injunction amounts to an admission that the injunction has been dissolved, since until that time there can be no conditions to perform.[20]

Misrepresentation in the procurement of the signatures of defendants to the bond in suit must be specially pleaded.[21]

Want of consideration. Where want of consideration can be set up as a defense to an action on the bond, as discussed supra § 293 b, it must be taken advantage of by a special plea, or otherwise in conformity to the practice in the particular jurisdiction.[22] Where want of consideration cannot be set up as a defense to an action on the bond, a plea alleging merely the want of consideration is bad.[23]

Settlement. A special or affirmative answer is bad which alleges a settlement of all matters in controversy in the injunction suit, but shows that the settlement was limited by its terms to such controversies as then existed and did not include controversies, such as that in the action on the bond, which might arise in the future.[24]

Pleas affecting question of damages. An allegation in the answer that the injunction was issued too late to have any operative effect is pertinent, at least on the question of damages.[25] Where plaintiff alleges damage in that he was unable to collect a debt by reason of the injunction, a plea that the debtor was insolvent at the time is a good answer.[26] A plea to an action on an injunction bond for breach of condition, which merely avers certain elements of expense and charges to which plaintiff alleges he was subjected by issuance of the injunction, is not a plea in bar and goes only to the reduction of damages.[27]

7. Ala.—Marengo County v. Matkin, 42 So. 33, 144 Ala. 574, 6 Ann.Cas. 902.
32 C.J. p 458 note 51 [a].

8. Iowa.—Hibbs v. Western Land Co., 46 N.W. 1119, 81 Iowa 285.
32 C.J. p 460 note 80.

9. Iowa.—Williams v. Ballinger, 101 N.W. 139, 125 Iowa 410.
32 C.J. p 460 note 81.

10. Neb.—Meeske v. Baumann, 241 N.W. 550, 122 Neb. 786, 83 A.L.R. 131.

11. Cross complaint held insufficient
A cross complaint alleging merely that the attorneys for defendant in the injunction suit had offered to deed certain property to plaintiff therein is demurrable where, by statute, an attorney may bind his client in an action or proceeding only if the agreement is filed with the clerk or entered on the minutes of the court.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.

12. Fla.—Sewell v. Huffstetler, 93 So. 162, 83 Fla. 629.
32 C.J. p 461 note 84.

13. Ky.—Allen v. Luckett, 3 J.J. Marsh. 164.

14. Ky.—Hanna v. McKenzie, 5 B. Mon. 314, 43 Am.D. 122.
Estoppel to challenge validity of injunction see supra § 293 a.

15. W.Va.—State v. Corvin, 41 S.E. 211, 51 W.Va. 19.
32 C.J. p 461 note 94.
Illegality of enjoined acts as defense to action on bond see supra § 293 a.

16. Fla.—Sewell v. Huffstetler, 93 So. 162, 83 Fla. 629.

17. Cal.—Lambert v. Haskell, 22 P. 327, 80 Cal. 611.
32 C.J. p 461 note 92.

18. Ill.—Sturges v. Hart, 45 Ill. 103.
Good faith as defense see supra § 293 d.

19. N.Y.—De Forest v. Baker, 1 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 34.
32 C.J. p 461 note 86.
Necessity of final determination of injunction suit see supra § 292 b.

20. Ky.—Harrison v. Park, 1 J.J. Marsh. 170.

21. N.Y.—Foley v. Schiedemantel, 17 N.Y.S. 663.

22. Cal.—Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 275 P. 886, 97 Cal.App. 474.

23. Ky.—Mahan v. Tydings, 10 B. Mon. 351.

24. Cal.—Silcox v. Lang, 20 P. 297, 78 Cal. 118.

25. U.S.—U. S. v. Fisher Flouring Mills Co., D.C.Wash., 295 F. 691.

26. Ky.—Keel v. Ogden, 3 Dana 102.

27. Fla.—Sewell v. Huffstetler, 93 So. 162, 83 Fla. 629.

d. Replication or Reply

The reply must be responsive to the plea and must not depart from the complaint.

The replication or reply, when a proper pleading, must be responsive to the plea,[28] and must not depart from the material allegations of the complaint.[29]

e. Issues, Proof, and Variance

The allegations and proof must correspond, although an immaterial variance will not be fatal.

A verified answer denying execution of the bond requires plaintiff to prove its execution.[30] The allegations and proof must correspond, and no evidence is admissible which is not authorized by the allegations of the complaint.[31] However, a merely immaterial variance between pleading and proof is not fatal to a recovery.[32]

§ 300. —— Evidence

a. Presumptions and burden of proof
b. Admissibility
c. Weight and sufficiency

a. Presumptions and Burden of Proof

The usual rules as to presumptions and burden of proof in civil actions obtain in an action on an injunction bond. The burden is on plaintiff to show a right to recover and the damages suffered. After plaintiff establishes a prima facie case, the burden is on defendant to show that the injunction was rightfully issued, or that the conditions of the bond have been performed.

In an action on an injunction bond the burden is on plaintiff to show a right of recovery[33] and the respects in which he suffered damage by reason of the injunction.[34] A plea of non est factum casts on plaintiff the onus probandi as in other cases.[35] The party seeking damages has the burden of showing that the injunction was wrongful in its inception, or at least that it was continued because of some wrong on the part of the one who obtained it.[36] The burden is on the party asking an allowance of counsel fees to prove that the amount asked is reasonable.[37] Also it is necessary that there should be proof of the actual rendition of services by counsel,[38] and of the value of such services.[39]

After plaintiff makes out a prima facie case by establishing the dissolution of the temporary injunction and the dismissal of the original suit, the burden is then on defendant to show that the injunction was rightfully issued.[40] Defendant has the burden of proving the performance of the conditions of the bond.[41] A defendant claiming that the bond was given without consideration, because the acts sought to be enjoined by the injunction suit had already taken place before issuance of the restraining order and injunction, has the burden of so showing.[42]

Presumptions. The general presumptions applicable in other civil actions apply in actions on injunction bonds.[43] In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it will be presumed that delivery of the bond was unconditional;[44] and, where the law authorizes an injunction only on bond for debt and costs, it will be presumed that the bond was executed for the debt and costs.[45] It will be presumed that the petition for injunction contained the necessary allegations to entitle the injunction plaintiff to the writ,[46] and that delay in the prosecution of the equity cause arose because all the parties were willing that 28. Ark.—Scott v. Fowler, 14 Ark. 427.

32 C.J. p 461 note 5.

29. Miss.—Gildart v. Howell, 2 Miss. 198.

30. Kan.—Jones v. Ross, 29 P. 680, 48 Kan. 474.

31. Okl.—Felkner v. Winningham, 155 P. 248, 55 Okl. 743.
32 C.J. p 461 note 10, p 459 note 55 [b].
Evidence held improperly excluded
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522.

32. U.S.—Jones v. Allen, Ark., 85 F. 523, 29 C.C.A. 318, certiorari denied 18 S.Ct. 943, 171 U.S. 687.
32 C.J. p 461 note 11.

33. Iowa.—Ft. Madison St. R. Co. v. Hughes, 114 N.W. 10, 137 Iowa 122, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 448.
32 C.J. p 462 note 13.

34. Pa.—Smyth v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 192 A. 640, 326 Pa. 391, 111 A.L.R. 481.
32 C.J. p 462 note 13 [a].

35. Ky.—Robards v. Wolfe, 1 Dana 155.
32 C.J. p 462 note 16.

36. Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.

37. Ala.—McGraw v. Little, 73 So. 915, 198 Ala. 553.
Okl.—Prager's Paris Fashion v. Seidenbach, 242 P. 260, 263, 113 Okl. 271, quoting Corpus Juris.

38. Ill.—Delahanty v. Warner, 75 Ill. 185, 20 Am.R. 237.
Iowa.—Ady v. Freeman, 57 N.W. 879, 90 Iowa 402.
32 C.J. p 478 note 29.

39. Ill.—Delahanty v. Warner, 75 Ill. 185, 20 Am.R. 237—Rees v. Peltzer, 1 Ill.App. 315.
La.—Alfano v. Franek, 105 So. 598, 159 La. 498—Timkan v. Wisner Estates, 95 So. 711, 153 La. 262.

40. Cal.—Draffen v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 17 P.2d 121, 217 Cal. 43.
32 C.J. p 462 note 14.

41. Md.—Burgess v. Lloyd, 7 Md. 178.

42. Cal.—Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 275 P. 886, 97 Cal.App. 474.

43. Verity of record; alterations
A presumption of verity will be accorded a record, and apparent alterations and interlineations will be assumed to constitute mistakes corrected when made, rather than an unlawful tampering with the record. —Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., supra.

44. Neb.—Gyger v. Courtney, 81 N. W. 437, 59 Neb. 555.

45. Tenn.—Hicks v. Haywood, 4 Heisk. 598.

46. Iowa.—Monroe Bank v. Gifford, 31 N.W. 881, 70 Iowa 580.

the hearing should be postponed.[47]

b. Admissibility

(1) In general
(2) Damages

(1) In General

As in other civil actions, the evidence in actions on injunction bonds must be competent, relevant, and material. Evidence is not admissible to contradict matters concluded by the injunction suit. The bond may be admitted, although defective in form.

The rules applicable generally in civil cases with respect to competency, relevancy, and materiality of evidence apply in actions brought on injunction bonds.[48] Evidence in contradiction of matters concluded by the injunction suit is not admissible.[49] However, the record of the suit in which the injunction was issued is admissible[50] to aid the court in ascertaining precisely what was determined therein.[51]

Bond. Where the execution of the bond is admitted by the pleadings, it is properly admitted in evidence, although slightly defective in form,[52] and a surety cannot object to its admission on the ground that it does not appear that the order for the injunction required a bond to be given, since he is estopped by the recitals of the bond.[53]

A recital in the bond that plaintiff had obtained an order for an injunction is not evidence of the issuing of the injunction.[54] In an action on a bond given in conjunction with an injunction restraining the prosecution of a particular suit, it may be shown aliunde that the bond erroneously recites the name of the defendant in the suit restrained, and that there was a suit pending in which the person so recited as defendant was the real party in interest, although others were the nominal defendants.[55]

(2) Damages

Competent evidence is admissible to show the amount of damages, that they resulted from the injunction, efforts to minimize them, the value of the property involved in the injunction suit, and attorney's fees incurred and the reasonableness thereof; but evidence of speculative damages or other improper items is inadmissible.

The admissibility of evidence on the issue of damages in an action on an injunction bond is governed by the usual rules as to the admissibility of evidence in civil actions generally.[56] Evidence that the damages claimed did not result from the injunction,[57] or were excessive,[58] or that their assessment was procured by fraud,[59] is admissible. Evidence is admissible, in reduction of damages, to show defendant's ownership of property, the sale of which was enjoined, the injunction having been dissolved on the ground that there was an adequate remedy at law, without any decision on the question of

47. U.S.—Jones v. Allen, Ark., 85 F. 523, 29 C.C.A. 318, certiorari denied 18 S.Ct. 943, 171 U.S. 687.

48. Iowa.—Chicago, A. & N. R. Co. v. Whitney, 132 N.W. 840, 152 Iowa 520.
32 C.J. p 462 note 22.

49. Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Okl.—Poarch v. Finkelstein, 99 P.2d 871, 186 Okl. 523.
32 C.J. p 462 note 24.

50. Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
32 C.J. p 462 note 25.

51. Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, supra.

52. Ind.—Winship v. Clendenning, 24 Ind. 439.
32 C.J. p 462 note 27.

53. Md.—Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 348.

54. Ala.—Dubberly v. Black, 38 Ala. 193.

55. Ala.—Person v. Thornton, 5 So. 470, 86 Ala. 308.

56. Evidence held admissible
(1) Generally.—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.

(2) A certified bill of costs in an injunction suit which was assigned to respondent therein, against whom they were taxed, by the parties in whose favor they were taxed, is admissible in estimating damages against the sureties on the injunction bond, if no objection was made on the trial that such costs were not regularly taxed.—Nolan v. Johns, 28 S.W. 492, 126 Mo. 159.

(3) In a suit on an injunction bond for the benefit of the real obligees, evidence of payment made by the nominal obligees for the real obligees' use is competent in ascertaining the relative damages sustained by the real obligees in defense and dissolution of the injunction.—Alabama Power Co. v. Hamilton, 77 So. 356, 201 Ala. 62.

(4) Where, in an action on an injunction bond, brought by lessees against the lessors for enjoining mining operations, the lessors proved failure of the lessees to mine and transport the ore in accordance with the directions of their engineers as required by the lease, it was competent for them also to prove the damages resulting to them from such failure.—Webb v. McFarlin, 58 So. 453, 177 Ala. 531.

(5) Where the injunction restrained the mining of coal, work done preparatory to getting out the coal, the work being done before the restraining order came into force, may be shown to help illustrate what had to be done thereafter in order to get out coal; but how much plaintiff spent on this work is immaterial.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.

Evidence held inadmissible
(1) Evidence of damages from inability to transport coal from adjoining lands is inadmissible where plaintiff fails to show a right to such coal.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W. 2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.

(2) In an action on a bond given in connection with an injunction restraining the operation of a mine, evidence to prove what price plaintiff received for coal at a certain time is inadmissible where it is clear from the evidence that he could not have got any coal out of the mine for some weeks after that time even if no injunction had been granted.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.

57. Mont.—Creek v. McManus, 43 P. 497, 17 Mont. 445.

58. Miss.—Cage v. Iler, 13 Miss. 410, 43 Am.D. 521.

59. N.Y.—Jordan v. Volkenning, 72 N.Y. 300.

ownership.[60] Defendants may show statements by plaintiff that he was making no profit from the transaction enjoined,[61] although, if such evidence is introduced, plaintiff may show what he was in fact making, as a circumstance confirming his denial that he made such a statement.[62] Evidence of efforts made by plaintiff to minimize the damages is admissible.[63] Competent evidence may be received as to the value of property involved in the injunction suit,[64] and any increase or decrease in the value of the property during the existence of the injunction.[65] Evidence as to purely speculative damages is not admissible.[66]

Attorney's fees. Evidence is admissible to show the work done by an attorney in obtaining a dissolution of the injunction or restraining order,[67] and what constitutes a reasonable fee therefor.[68] Where the circumstances are such that counsel fees are recoverable for the defense of the entire suit in which the bond was given, as discussed infra § 315, evidence is admissible to prove the payment of fees to counsel for defense of the suit;[69] but, where the facts of the case are such that no recovery is permissible except for services rendered in securing dissolution of the injunction, as discussed infra § 315, evidence as to other services[70] and as to what was a reasonable attorney's fee for such other services[71] is not admissible. Testimony as to what questions of law were briefed in the course of the performance of legal services in the injunction suit has been held immaterial in an action on the bond.[72]

c. Weight and Sufficiency

The general rules governing the weight and sufficiency of evidence in civil actions apply in actions on injunction bonds. Damages must be shown with reasonable certainty, but expert testimony is not indispensable.

The general rules as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence apply in actions on injunction bonds to recover damages resulting from the wrongful issuance of injunctions.[73] Plaintiff makes out a prima facie case by establishing the dissolution of the temporary injunction or restraining order and the dismissal of the injunction suit.[74]

60. Okl.—Mundell v. Colony Mercantile Co., 4 P.2d 1059, 153 Okl. 79.

61. Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.

62. Ky.—Brandenberg v. Addison, supra.

63. Ala.—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.

64. Idaho.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

Appraised value

Where an execution was enjoined, the creditor may show, in an action against the surety on the injunction bond, that the property was appraised below its real value.—Elliot v. Cox, 5 Mart.N.S., La., 285.

Price at foreclosure sale

"Ordinarily the price obtained at a foreclosure sale is not evidence of the true value of the property."—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668, 676.

Contract to sell

Where the injunction restrained the disposition of certain property, evidence of a contract for the sale of the property is admissible in an action on the bond to establish the market value of the property at the time the injunction bond was given and served and at the time the injunction issued; and the fact that the contract for sale was not binding, on the ground, for example, that it was not in writing does not affect the admissibility of such evidence.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

65. W.Va.—State v. Friedman, 81 S. E. 830, 74 W.Va. 11.
32 C.J. p 462 note 35.

66. Ala.—Lewis v. Collier, 47 So. 790, 157 Ala. 533.
32 C.J. p 463 note 39.

Offers for, or sales of, other property

Where the injunction restrained the sale of particular land, testimony respecting the condition of the real estate market and relating to unidentified verbal offers for lots, and other sales of lots, in the vicinity at the time during which the injunction was in force, is properly excluded where it is too speculative and contingent to furnish a basis for the allowance of damages.—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188.

67. Ariz.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58.
Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P. 2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.

68. Ariz.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58.
Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P. 2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.

69. Miss.—Baggett v. Beard, 43 Miss. 120.
32 C.J. p 462 note 32.

70. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.

71. Idaho.—Ferrell v. Cœur d'Alene & St. Joe Transp. Co., 157 P. 946, 29 Idaho 118.

72. Idaho.—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P.2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.

73. Evidence held sufficient

(1) Generally.—Bowman v. Hopper, 265 P. 743, 125 Kan. 680—32 C. J. p 463 note 46 [a].

(2) To support finding that dismissal of injunction suit was voluntary and that right to sue on bond was not waived.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App.2d 905.

(3) To show intention to sell stock, on the part of the party enjoined, and that he was prevented from so doing by the party who obtained the injunction.—Osage Oil & Refining Co. v. Chandler, C.C.A.N.Y., 287 F. 848.

(4) To support finding that warrant, assessment, and diagram were not recorded before issuance of restraining order.—Marsh Bros. & Gardenier v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 275 P. 886, 97 Cal.App. 474.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To show that plaintiff in the action on the bond instigated the bringing of the injunction proceeding.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58.

(2) To show that plaintiff was not acting within his rights at the time during which he was restrained.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

(3) To establish other matters see 32 C.J. p 463 note 46 [b].

74. Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
32 C.J. p 462 note 14.

The damages claimed as the proximate result of the injunction must be shown with reasonable certainty,[75] or at least with sufficient certainty to authorize the judgment.[76] Evidence of what might have been gross profits, without a showing of the costs or expenses which would have been incurred, is insufficient on which to base a recovery.[77] Where the only evidence as to counsel fees has been stricken from the record, and such action is not assigned as error, damages in this particular cannot be awarded.[78] To authorize a recovery for loss caused by the injunction, it is not necessary to prove such loss from records of expense kept at the time expenditures were made, but a recovery may be had on proof of facts from which the damage suffered may be logically deduced.[79]

Market value. The weight to be given evidence of a contract for the sale of property, evidence of which has been introduced to establish the market value of the property, may be affected by the fact that the contract was not binding.[80] Evidence that plaintiff was offered a certain amount for property, the disposition of which was enjoined, is insufficient on which to predicate a recovery of damages where there is no proof that the offer was made in good faith, with the intention that it be accepted, by one who was ready to buy.[81] In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the price which a crop of the same variety as that involved in the injunction suit actually brought in the market furnishes ample proof of the reasonable market value thereof.[82]

Absence of expert testimony. The absence of expert testimony does not necessarily render the evidence insufficient to warrant a recovery.[83] Thus expert testimony of the reasonable value of the services rendered by attorneys is unnecessary where testimony as to the extent, duration, and nature of the services furnishes the court with ample evidence on which to determine the value of the services.[84]

Execution of bond as escrow. A surety cannot be relieved from his obligation on the bond by showing that his signature was affixed thereto as an escrow, unless his proof on petition is as clear, satisfactory, and demonstrative as that required to set aside a decree or judgment of a court of record on the ground of fraud.[85]

§ 301. —— Trial

The propriety of instructions in actions on injunction bonds is governed by the usual rules. Questions of fact are to be determined by the jury, and questions of law by the court.

The general rules as to instructions applicable in civil actions apply in actions on injunction bonds.[86] As in other cases, it is for the jury to decide questions of fact[87] and the weight to be given particu-

75. Ky.—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188.

76. Tex.—Southland Life Ins. Co. v. Stone, Civ.App., 112 S.W.2d 336.

Evidence held sufficient

(1) To sustain finding or verdict as to amount of damages generally.

Cal.—Adams v. National Automobile Ins. Co., 133 P.2d 657, 56 Cal.App. 2d 905—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.

D.C.—Knapp v. Dugan, 39 F.2d 285, 59 App.D.C. 240.

Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 105 Mont. 245.

Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel & Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 435.

32 C.J. p 463 note 46 [a] (5).

(2) To permit recovery for attorney's fees.—Francis v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 269 P. 571, 93 Cal.App. 317.

(3) To establish claim for wages lost as a result of the injunction.—White v. Metcalf, 177 S.E. 371, 174 S.C. 350.

(4) To establish other matters as to damages see 32 C.J. p 463 note 46 [a].

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To justify award of substantial actual damages.—Marks v. Jordan, Iowa, 208 N.W. 296.

(2) To establish loss of profits on prospective transactions.—Magnolia Petroleum Co. v. Holz, Tex.Civ.App., 299 S.W. 664.

(3) To separate charges for attorney's services necessary to procure dissolution from services rendered in other matters.—Housley v. Tobin, 286 P. 383, 41 Wyo. 419.

(4) To establish loss from deprivation of right to rent lots during injunctive period.—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188.

(5) To establish other matters as to damages see 32 C.J. p 463 note 46 [b] (2).

77. Tex.—Ellis v. City of West University Place, Civ.App., 171 S.W. 2d 178, affirmed 175 S.W.2d 396, 141 Tex. 608.

78. Idaho.—Pattee v. Mahaffey, 280 P. 1038, 48 Idaho 200.

79. Md.—Phœnix Pad Co. v. U. S., 75 A. 394, 111 Md. 549, 19 Ann.Cas. 667.

80. Idaho.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

81. Ind.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.

82. Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.

83. Use value of light plant

Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.

84. Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.

85. Tenn.—Ward v. Cullom, 2 Coldw. 353.

86. Instructions held erroneous or properly refused

Ala.—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.

Okl.—Prager's Paris Fashion v. Seidenbach, 242 P. 260, 113 Okl. 271.

Instructions held proper

Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 133 P.2d 1017.

Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 48 S.W.2d 1074, 243 Ky. 469.

Mo.—Linneman v. Hawkins, App., 27 S.W.2d 1046.

87. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 133 P.2d 1017.

Or.—Blanchard v. Makinster, 1 P.2d 583, 137 Or. 58.

Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel &

lar testimony;[88] but it has been held unnecessary to submit an issue to the jury where the evidence thereon was uncontradicted.[89] Where the restraining order in conjunction with which the bond was given is a matter of record, and its effect involves but a question of its construction, the question of its effect is for the trial court, not the jury, to determine in an action on the bond.[90]

§ 302. —— Judgment

Matters concerning the judgment in an action on an injunction bond, such as the recital of jurisdictional facts, modification of the judgment, and the immunity of the judgment from collateral attack, are governed by the usual rules pertaining to judgments in civil actions.

The general rules governing judgments apply to judgments in actions on injunction bonds.[91] Accordingly it may be necessary to recite in the judgment the facts giving jurisdiction,[92] and the judgment is immune from collateral attack.[93] Under some statutory provisions the court may, for good cause, modify the judgment within a specified time from the date of its entry.[94]

Where the action on the bond is brought in the form of the old common-law action of debt, the judgment may be for the full penalty of the bond, although in excess of the amount of damages demanded in the complaint, and is dischargeable on payment of the amount of damages found.[95]

§ 303. —— Appeal and Error

The general rules of appeal and error in civil actions, including those pertaining to parties, and the right, scope, and extent of review, apply to appeals in actions on injunction bonds.

General rules governing the review of civil actions apply to appeals in actions on injunction bonds.[96] If a proceeding is had on the injunction bond by motion or otherwise against the sureties for the assessment of damages, they then become parties to the record and may appeal from the judgment;[97] but, in the absence of some statute providing otherwise, until this occurs, they have no such interest as to authorize them to carry on the suit by appeal or otherwise.[98] In a jurisdiction where by statute the surety is considered constructively in court, if he has neither appeared nor answered, nor been notified of the judgment, his right to appeal is not affected by defects occurring in the transcript, through the fault of the other appellant;[99] but the fact that the judgment includes the surety, although the principal alone is named in the verdict, does not authorize a reversal in favor of the surety who appeals.[1]

Scope and extent of review. A finding as to the aggregate damages sustained by breach of an injunction bond will not be disturbed on the ground that the damages were not itemized, in the absence of a request for a finding on each item.[2] It has been held that, in the absence of a trial on the merits and proper findings, the appellate court would not determine the sufficiency of a particular equitable defense.[3] Error in the taxation of costs in the Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 253.

Damages as jury question see infra § 305.

Proximate consequence of injunction

Whether particular losses were the proximate and natural consequence of the wrongful issuance of the injunction was held, under the evidence, a question for the jury.—Jacobson v. Laurel Canyon Mining Co., 234 P. 823, 27 Ariz. 546.

Minimizing damages

In view of the record before the court it was held to be a question of fact, on the issue of minimizing damages, whether it was the duty of the party enjoined, under all the circumstances, to have moved to dissolve the injunction and prosecute an appeal, and whether an appeal would have been effective.—Johnson v. McMahan, Tex.Civ.App., 40 S.W. 2d 920, error refused.

88. Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel & Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 253.

89. Tex.—Sanitary Appliance Co. v. French, Civ.App., 58 S.W.2d 159, error dismissed.

90. Wash.—Blakiston v. Osgood Panel & Veneer Co., 23 P.2d 397, 173 Wash. 253.

91. Motion for judgment

Recovery in an action on the bond may be had by motion for judgment under a statute providing that "any person entitled to recover money by action on any contract" may, on motion, obtain judgment therefor.—State v. Carden, 163 S.E. 54, 111 W. Va. 631.

92. Tenn.—Coltart v. Ham, 2 Tenn. Ch. 356.

93. Ind.—Boos v. Morgan, 39 N.E. 919, 140 Ind. 206.
32 C.J. p 463 note 55.

94. Ariz.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58.

Showing as to good cause

Where the proper amount to be allowed as counsel fees is wholly within the discretion of the court and dependent to a great extent on its own knowledge, the mere fact that the court does modify the judgment with respect to counsel fees is sufficient to establish that it had good cause to believe the modification to be correct.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, supra.

95. Ky.—Harrison v. Park, 1 J.J. Marsh., Ky., 170.

96. Remission of excess recovery

Where the trial court has found for plaintiff in an excessive amount, plaintiff has the right to remit the excess on the record without procuring a supplemental order to make the correction.—Bell v. Brinkley, 156 S.E. 348, 159 N.C. 171.

97. Mo.—St. Louis Zinc Co. v. Hesselmeyer, 50 Mo. 180.
32 C.J. p 463 note 60.

98. Mo.—St. Louis Zinc Co. v. Hesselmeyer, supra.

99. La.—Verges v. Gonzales, 33 La. Ann. 410.

1. La.—Mason v. Poulallier, 10 La. Ann. 418.

2. Cal.—Alaska Impr. Co. v. Hirsch, 47 P. 124, 119 Cal. 249, reheard 51 P. 340, 119 Cal. 249.

3. Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, opinion adhered to 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

injunction suit cannot be corrected on an appeal from a judgment in a suit on the bond, but should be corrected on appeal from the clerk's taxation.[4] A judgment in an action on an injunction bond will not be reversed because it is entered up in the old form as a judgment for the penalty of the bond to be discharged by the payment of the damages assessed by the jury, instead of a judgment for the amount of the damages ascertained by the jury, which a statute authorizes to be entered in such case.[5]

§ 304. —— Costs

Costs in an action on an injunction bond are governed by the general principles of costs in civil actions.

The costs in the action on the injunction bond itself are determined by the rules governing costs in civil actions generally.[6]

The recoverability in an action on the injunction bond of the expenses and costs of procuring dissolution of the injunction is considered infra § 315.

§ 305. —— Assessment of Damages

Questions as to the amount of damages in an action on an injunction bond are for the jury; but the recoverability of particular items is for the court.

In some jurisdictions, damages suffered by virtue of the wrongful issuance of an injunction may be assessed in the injunction suit itself, as discussed supra § 284, and such assessment is sometimes a condition precedent to an action on the bond, as discussed supra § 292 c. In cases in which such prior assessment is not required and an action is brought on the bond for damages resulting from the issuance of an injunction, the question of damages is one for the determination of the jury,[7] and the court has no power to discharge the jury and assess the damages itself.[8] This applies to counsel fees as well as to any other kind of damages.[9] While it is the province of the jury to fix the amount of extraordinary costs in a proper case, it is for the court to determine whether such costs are permissible.[10] The allowance of an item of damage should not be submitted to the jury where the item is too speculative and contingent to permit recovery therefor.[11]

§ 306. Rights and Remedies of Sureties

Principles governing the rights and remedies of sureties generally are considered in the C.J.S. title Principal and Surety §§ 286–342, also 50 C.J. p 230 note 74–p 278 note 73.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 307. Actions for Damages Independently of Bond

The granting of an injunction is conclusive of probable cause so as to prevent recovery for malicious prosecution of the injunction suit; and final determination of the injunction suit is a condition precedent to an action for damages brought independently of the injunction bond.

As heretofore stated, a common-law action may be brought, independently of an injunction bond, to recover damages resulting from the suing out of an injunction maliciously and without probable cause, as discussed supra § 281. The granting of an injunction after the court is fully informed by proof taken and argument on both sides is conclusive of probable cause preventing a recovery for malicious prosecution;[12] and this is so, although the judgment so rendered is afterward reversed on appeal.[13]

Conditions precedent. As in the case of suits on bonds, as discussed supra § 292 b, it is a condition precedent to the action that the suit in which the injunction was sued out should have been finally disposed of;[14] and an action for maliciously procuring the injunction prior to that time is premature.[15]

§ 308. —— Procedure

A suit for the wrongful issuance of an injunction, brought independently of the injunction bond, is governed by the general rules of pleading and practice.

Where an injunction was wrongfully sued out

4. S.C.—Hill v. Thomas, 19 S.C. 230.

5. W.Va.—Northwestern Bank v. Fleshman, 22 W.Va. 317.

6. No costs are allowable, in at least one jurisdiction, if the amount of the recovery is less than a prescribed amount.—Handy v. Samaha, 3 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286.

7. Minn.—Detroit Lakes Realty Co. v. McKenzie, 284 N.W. 60, 204 Minn. 490.
Pa.—Miller v. South Hills Trust Co., 96 Pa.Super. 272.
Wash.—Clem v. Hunz, 231 P. 7, 132 Wash. 14, 40 A.L.R. 987.
32 C.J. p 463 note 49.

8. Iowa.—Parker v. Slaughter, 24 Iowa 252.

9. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 133 P.2d 1017.
32 C.J. p 463 note 51.

10. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.

11. Ky.—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.

12. U.S.—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F.Supp. 419, 422, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 464 note 71.

13. U.S.—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 464 note 72.

14. Ala.—Tutwiler v. Burns, 49 So. 455, 160 Ala. 386.
32 C.J. p 464 note 74.

15. Ala.—Tatum v. Morris, 19 Ala. 302.

against a judgment creditor and a sheriff, to restrain the sale of real estate on execution, an action for damages is maintainable by the judgment creditor alone, without the necessity of joining the sheriff as a party plaintiff.[16]

Pleadings. The pleadings in an action to recover damages independently of the bond must allege facts sufficient to justify the relief sought.[17] Malice and want of probable cause in the suing out of the injunction, where an essential element of the cause of action, as discussed supra § 281, must be pleaded;[18] but under some statutory provisions it is unnecessary to allege want of probable cause.[19]

§ 309. What Damages Allowed or Recoverable

The damages that may be allowed or recovered are such damages as were actually sustained as the necessary and proximate result of the injunction during the time it was operative.

The allowance of damages should rest on equitable principles, and, as a general rule, should be such damages only as were actually sustained by reason of the injunction,[20] that is, such damages as are the actual, necessary, and proximate result of the injunction during the time it was operative;[21] and has been held to include damages which continue beyond the date of dissolution, if they flow directly from the injunction.[22] The damages allowed should 16. Wash.—Anderson v. Philadelphia Provident Life & Trust Co., 66 P. 415, 26 Wash. 192.

32 C.J. p 464 note 77.

17. Petition held sufficient
La.—Davis v. Poitevant & Fayre Lumber Co., 132 So. 790, 15 La. App. 657.

18. Md.—Rieger v. Knight, 97 A. 358, 128 Md. 189, L.R.A.1916E 1277.
32 C.J. p 464 note 79.

19. N.C.—Crawford v. Pearson, 21 S. E. 561, 116 N.C. 718.

20. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F. 2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 603, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014—Cinderella Theatre Co. v. Sign Writers' Local Union No. 591, D.C. Mich., 6 F.Supp. 630.
Ariz.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.
Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
Colo.—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 78 Colo. 148.
Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.
Miss.—Riley v. Hardy, 189 So. 514, 185 Miss. 765.
N.Y.—Brace Co. v. Kraft, 89 N.E. 1093, 196 N.Y. 468, affirming 111 N.Y.S. 1110, 126 App.Div. 924.
Ohio.—Cahill v. Fidelity & Casualty Co., 175 N.E. 39, 37 Ohio App. 444.
Or.—Title & Trust Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 1 P.2d 1100, 138 Or. 467, reheard 7 P.2d 805, 138 Or. 467.
S.C.—Chambers v. Long, 128 S.E. 853, 132 S.C. 179.
S.D.—Edmison v. Sioux Falls Water Co., 73 N.W. 910, 10 S.D. 440.
Tenn.—Russell v. Tennessee & Kentucky Tobacco Co., 89 S.W.2d 907, 19 Tenn.App. 474.
Tex.—Southland Life Ins. Co. v. Stone, Civ.App., 112 S.W.2d 336.
W.Va.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217.
32 C.J. p 464 note 80.
Exemplary damages see infra § 313.

21. U.S.—Osage Oil & Refining Co. v. Chandler, C.C.A.N.Y., 287 F. 848.
Ala.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. West Blocton Sav. Bank, 113 So. 486, 22 Ala.App. 12, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 489, 216 Ala. 465—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.
Ark.—Citizens' Pipe Line Co. v. Twin City Pipe Line Co., 39 S.W.2d 1017, 183 Ark. 1006.
Cal.—Draffen v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 17 P.2d 121, 217 Cal. 43—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal. App.2d 241—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 1010, 100 Cal.App. 658, citing Corpus Juris.
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522.
Hawaii.—Wong Kwai Tong v. Fong Koon Chan, 28 Hawaii 399.
Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Ind.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. State ex rel. Ogden, 5 N.E.2d 115, 104 Ind.App. 21.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.
La.—Buras v. Machella, 134 So. 751, 172 La. 580.
Mo.—State ex rel. Blythe v. Trimble, 258 S.W. 1013, 302 Mo. 699.
Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, Okl., 268 P. 224, 226, 131 Okl. 134, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Smyth v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 192 A. 640, 326 Pa. 391, 111 A.L.R. 481.
Tex.—Womack v. McMillan, Civ.App., 47 S.W.2d 437, 439, quoting Corpus Juris—Southern Properties v. Carpenter, Civ.App., 21 S.W.2d 372.
W.Va.—State v. Carden, 163 S.E. 54, 55, 111 W.Va. 631, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 464 notes 87, 88.

Damages held recoverable
(1) Expenses of advertising a sale which was enjoined.—Hicks v. Murphy, Tex.Civ.App., 172 S.W. 1135—32 C.J. p 481 note 69.

(2) Losses due to delay in commencement and completion of work under contract.
Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
Minn.—Detroit Lakes Realty Co. v. McKenzie, 284 N.W. 60, 204 Minn. 490.
Pa.—Nether Providence Tp. School Dist. v. Mercur, 46 Pa.Super. 470.

(3) Other damages held recoverable see 32 C.J. p 481 notes 83 [b], 86, 88, 92–94, 96.

Not restricted to counsel fees and costs
La.—Rees v. Sheridan, 64 So. 923, 135 La. 7.
Costs as element of damages see infra § 315 e.
Counsel fees as element of damages see infra § 315 f.

Effect of appointment of receiver
Where receiver was appointed purely as ancillary to injunction restraining owners from disposing of property and for sole purpose of seeing that injunction was obeyed, and did not take actual possession of, or care for, the property, damages sustained as result of not being able to sell the property during pendency of injunction resulted wholly from issuance of injunction, and not as result of appointment of receiver, and hence were recoverable in action on injunction bond.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

22. Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-be such as will furnish just and reasonable compensation for the injury or loss sustained,[23] and should not be so inadequate as to show an abuse of discretion;[24] nor, on the other hand, should they be excessive.[25] The amount recoverable, however, is subject to the limitation that, if the amount of the damages is fixed by statute, the damages allowed should not exceed the statutory limitation,[26] unless, under some statutes, a greater amount is proved;[27] and also to the limitation that the court cannot award an amount in excess of its jurisdiction.[28]

Where an injunction was framed in ambiguous terms, defendant is entitled to such damages as he may have sustained by obeying it as he reasonably and in good faith understood it.[29]

Damages not recoverable in general. As a corollary to the general rule, the damages recoverable are confined to damages arising from the operation of the injunction itself, and do not include damages not proximately caused by the injunction,[30] such as damages occasioned by the suit itself, independent of the injunction,[31] damages occasioned by act of God,[32] or damages or expenses that would have been sustained if there had been no injunction;[33] and, if no loss is shown directly traceable to the injunction, no damages should be awarded other than the ordinary costs of suit.[34]

§ 310. —— Limited by Scope of Bond

In a suit on the bond, such damages only are recoverable as are clearly embraced within its terms.

Where suit is brought on the bond, the bond is controlling and only such damages are recoverable

Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N.W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
N.Y.—Bedell Co. v. Harris, 240 N.Y.S. 550, 228 App.Div. 529.

23. Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Pa.—Smyth v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 192 A. 640, 326 Pa. 391, 111 A.L.R. 481.
Tex.—Brown v. Tyler, 34 Tex. 168.
The loss to the party enjoined, and not the benefit accruing to his adversary, furnishes the basis for the measure of damages.—Harbaugh v. Dwyer, C.C.A.Or., 289 F. 247.

24. Ky.—Preece v. Hardin, 69 S.W. 2d 361, 253 Ky. 226.

25. Ark.—McGill v. Grigsby, 168 S.W.2d 809, 205 Ark. 349.
Iowa.—Ryan Bros. v. Rate, 213 N.W. 218, 203 Iowa 1253.
La.—Monroe Grocer Co. v. Bynum, 149 So. 501, 177 La. 858.

26. Ill.—Nicoloff v. Schnipper, 233 Ill.App. 591.
La.—Schwann v. Sanders, 46 So. 573, 121 La. 461.
Miss.—Herron v. McLean, 191 So. 59.
32 C.J. p 464 note 82.
Statutory damages should be assessed on value of property involved if value is less than debt.—Coleman v. People's Bank of Lumberton, 112 So. 686, 146 Miss. 496.

27. La.—Schwann v. Sanders, 46 So. 573, 121 La. 461.

28. Ind.T.—Snyder v. Sherrell, 103 S.W. 756, 7 Ind.T. 35.

29. Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal. App. 658.
Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 105 Mont. 245.
Vt.—Webb v. Laird, 20 A. 599, 62 Vt. 448, 22 Am.S.R. 121.

30. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F.2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014.
Ky.—Vicars v. Frazier, 295 S.W. 169, 220 Ky. 356.
N.Y.—Rochester Yacht Club Co. v. Rochester Boat Works, 230 N.Y.S. 731, 132 Misc. 887.
Damages held not recoverable
(1) Sum paid to draftsman to hurry plans after dissolution of injunction.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.
(2) Other damages held not recoverable see 32 C.J. p 481 notes 83 [k]–[m], 95.
Amount sued for
On the dissolution of an injunction restraining the prosecution of an action at law, the amount sued for in such action cannot be assessed as damages, although defendant in that action has become insolvent pending the injunction, since the rights of the parties should be determined in the law court.—Walker v. Pritchard, 25 N.E. 573, 135 Ill. 103, 11 L.R.A. 577.

31. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F.2d 484, 489, 131 A.L.R. 870, citing Corpus Juris, and affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F. Supp. 419, 423, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Russell v. Tennessee & Kentucky Tobacco Co., 89 S.W.2d 907, 19 Tenn.App. 474.
32 C.J. p 465 note 91.
On motion to dismiss counterclaim or set-off
Where, in action involving labor dispute, money damages and injunctive relief were demanded in complaint, and defendants interposed a counterclaim, it is error to award damages to defendants for opposing a motion to dismiss the counterclaim and affirmative defense, and in the preparation for, and attendance at, trial, since dissolution of injunction procured would not have dispensed with a trial.—Lewittes & Sons v. Perlow, 3 N.Y.S.2d 916, 254 App.Div. 94.

32. Ky.—Citizens' Trust & Guaranty Co. v. Ohio Valley Tie Co., 128 S.W. 317, 138 Ky. 421.
32 C.J. p 464 note 87 [e].

33. Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 338, 78 Colo. 148, citing Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 667.
Sums expended for materials which plaintiff had agreed to furnish.—Western Willite Co. v. Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co., C.C.A.Mo., 32 F.2d 487, certiorari denied Trinidad Asphalt Mfg. Co. v. Western Willite Co., 50 S.Ct. 19, 280 U.S. 562, 74 L. Ed. 616.

34. U.S.—Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., C.C.A.S.C., 107 F.2d 484, 131 A.L.R. 870, affirming, D.C., Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, 25 F.Supp. 963, certiorari denied Greenwood County v. Duke Power Co., 60 S.Ct. 608, 309 U.S. 667, 84 L.Ed. 1014—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F.Supp. 419.
Costs as damages see infra § 315e.

as are clearly embraced within its terms.[35] The amount recoverable on the bond has been limited to such damages as arise from the suspension or evasion of vested legal rights by the injunction,[36] and to such damages as may be reasonably anticipated and attributed to the injunction.[37]

§ 311. —— Affected by Penalty of Bond

Damages in excess of the penalty of the bond ordinarily cannot be recovered.

As a general rule no recovery of damages can be had in excess of the penalty of the bond,[38] even though the actual damages exceed that amount,[39] and the court has no power to make an allowance beyond that amount for disbursements,[40] unless, under some statutes, a motion has been made to have the amount of the penalty increased.[41] This limitation of damages has been held to apply to both the principal and the surety,[42] except that it does not apply as to the principal where the injunction was procured maliciously and without probable cause;[43] and, under some statutes, the principal is liable for all damages notwithstanding they exceed the penalty of the bond.[44]

§ 312. —— Remote or Speculative Damages

Remote or speculative damages cannot be recovered.

Such damages as are remote, conjectural, or speculative cannot be recovered.[45]

§ 313. —— Exemplary Damages

Exemplary damages are recoverable, ordinarily, only where the injunction has been sued out maliciously or through an abuse of process.

35. Ariz.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.
N.Y.—Bedell Co. v. Harris, 240 N. Y.S. 550, 228 App.Div. 529.
Or.—Title & Trust Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 1 P.2d 1100, 138 Or. 467, reheard 7 P.2d 805, 138 Or. 467.
Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 920, 922, citing Corpus Juris—Miller Surfacing Co. v. Bridgers, Civ.App., 269 S.W. 838, 840, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 465 note 92.

Bond conditioned to pay all damages held to cover

(1) All damages sustained by reason of wrongful injunction, except those resulting from malice and want of probable cause.—Baker v. Craig, 275 P. 216, 127 Kan. 811, modified on other grounds 280 P. 771, 128 Kan. 676.

(2) Damages which directly flow from the wrongful injunction, as well as damages accruing during the period of the injunctive relief.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N.W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.

Under federal law

Liability on a bond given to obtain a restraining order under the authority of the federal statute, Rev.St. § 718, 28 U.S.C.A. § 381, terminates on the granting of a permanent injunction, although the decree is subsequently reversed and only such damages may be assessed against the sureties as accrued between the time of giving the undertaking and the rendition of the decree, granting a permanent injunction.—Houghton v. Cortelyou, 28 S.Ct. 234, 208 U.S. 149, 52 L.Ed. 432, modifying 27 App. D.C. 188—32 C.J. p 456 note 87.

36. Ind.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. State ex rel. Ogden, 5 N.E.2d 115, 104 Ind.App. 31.
Pa.—Sensenig v. Parry, 5 A. 11, 113 Pa. 115—Miller v. South Hills Trust Co., 96 Pa.Super. 273.

37. Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Pennebaker Home for Girls, 299 S.W. 734, 221 Ky. 718.

38. U.S.—United Motors Service v. Tropic-Aire, C.C.A.Minn., 57 F.2d 479—Terry v. Robbins, C.C.N.C., 122 F. 725.
Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., App., 141 P.2d 475—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.
Kan.—Baker v. Craig, 275 P. 216, 217, 127 Kan. 811, quoting Corpus Juris, and modified on other grounds 280 P. 771, 128 Kan. 676.
Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 521, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56, citing Corpus Juris—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.
N.Y.—McColgan v. Dodds, 209 N.Y.S. 707, 125 Misc. 36.
N.C.—McAden v. Watkins, 131 S.E. 375, 191 N.C. 105.
32 C.J. p 466 note 96.

39. Idaho.—Beech v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 30 P.2d 1079, 54 Idaho 255, 92 A.L.R. 264.
Kan.—Baker v. Craig, 275 P. 216, 127 Kan. 811, modified on other grounds 280 P. 771, 128 Kan. 676.
Ky.—Hughes v. Wickliffe, 11 B.Mon. 202.
N.C.—Schute v. Schute, 104 S.E. 764, 180 N.C. 386.
S.C.—White v. Metcalf, 177 S.E. 371, 174 S.C. 350.

40. Kan.—Baker v. Craig, 275 P. 216, 127 Kan. 811, modified on other grounds 280 P. 771, 128 Kan. 676.
N.Y.—Lawton v. Green, 64 N.Y. 326.

41. N.Y.—McColgan v. Dodds, 209 N. Y.S. 707, 125 Misc. 36.

42. Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.
Limitation of liability of surety generally see supra § 282.

43. Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.

44. U.S.—Corpus Christi Gas Co. v. City of Corpus Christi, C.C.A.Tex., 46 F.2d 962, reversing, D.C., 36 F. 2d 972, and certiorari denied City of Corpus Christi, Texas, v. Corpus Christi Gas Co., 52 S.Ct. 19, 284 U.S. 636, 76 L.Ed. 541.
Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 920, error refused.
Vt.—Houghton v. Grimes, 151 A. 642, 103 Vt. 54.
32 C.J. p 466 note 95.

45. Cal.—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W. 2d 656, 659, 274 Ky. 556, citing Corpus Juris—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.
N.Y.—Bedell Co. v. Harris, 240 N.Y. S. 550, 228 App.Div. 529.
32 C.J. p 466 note 99.

Theft of property which plaintiffs were enjoined from selling is a remote and not natural and proximate result of restraining order within terms of injunction bond.—Burley Tobacco Growers Co-op. Ass'n v. Pennebaker Home for Girls, 299 S.W. 734, 221 Ky. 718.
Conjectural or speculative profits see infra § 315.

According to some decisions, exemplary or punitive damages are not recoverable in any event, even though the injunction has been sued out maliciously.[46] According to other decisions such damages are recoverable where the suing out of the writ amounts to a palpable abuse of process,[47] or special damages are shown,[48] or where the writ was obtained maliciously;[49] and such damages will not be allowed in the absence of evidence that the injunction was sued out maliciously and without probable cause or that the remedy has been abused.[50]

§ 314. —— Nominal Damages

Nominal damages ordinarily may be awarded where complainant sustains only some trifling damage or no actual damage.

The award of a small or only a nominal sum may be made where complainant suffered some trifling damage,[51] or had some equity in his case.[52] According to some decisions, where no actual damages are shown, nominal damages are not recoverable;[53] but by other decisions nominal damages are recoverable without any showing of actual damages,[54] the view being taken that the dissolution of the injunction alone is sufficient to authorize the award;[55] and, if no actual damages are shown, the recovery must be limited to nominal damages.[56]

§ 315. —— Particular Items

a. Deprivation of use or occupation of property
b. Loss of profits
c. Injury to, or depreciation in value of, property
d. Loss of time or employment
e. Expenses and costs in procuring dissolution
f. Counsel fees
g. Interest
h. Damages pending appeal after dissolution
i. Damages resulting from plaintiff's acts or omissions

a. Deprivation of Use or Occupation of Property

Damages proximately accruing from restraint of the use or occupation of property, such as its use or rental value, are recoverable.

Where the effect of the injunction wrongfully issued has been to restrain defendant from the use or occupation of property, he is entitled to recover the damages necessarily and proximately resulting therefrom,[57] and, in determining the extent of such damages, the court proceeds on equitable princi-

46. Ill.—Chicago Title & Trust Co. v. Chicago, 110 Ill.App. 395, affirmed 70 N.E. 572, 209 Ill. 172.
Ohio.—Cahill v. Fidelity & Casualty Co., 175 N.E. 39, 37 Ohio App. 444.
Tex.—Womack v. McMillan, Civ.App., 47 S.W.2d 437—Lomax v. Trull, Civ.App., 232 S.W. 861.
32 C.J. p 466 note 1.

47. La.—Kentwood Bank v. McClendon, 93 So. 748, 152 La. 489—Pendleton v. Eaton, 23 La.Ann. 435—Inter City Express Lines v. Guarisco, App., 165 So. 727.
Tenn.—South Penn Oil Co. v. Stone, Ch.App., 57 S.W. 374.

Statutory punitive damages
(1) Statutory damages, of a designated per cent of the judgment, costs, and attorney's fees, allowable on dissolution of injunction, are punitive in character and statute must be strictly construed.—Kentwood Bank v. McClendon, 93 So. 748, 152 La. 489—Inter City Express Lines v. Guarisco, La.App., 165 So. 727—First Nat. Bank v. Coreil, La.App., 149 So. 826, amending 145 So. 395, rehearing denied 146 So. 479, and amended 149 So. 826.

(2) Such damages have been held to apply only to an injunction restraining the execution of a money judgment, and not to the dissolution of an injunction restraining specific performance of a contract.—Evasovich v. Cognevich, 106 So. 556, 159 La. 1035.

(3) Wife's action in claiming land seized as community property was her separate property and securing injunction to prohibit sale does not justify statutory, punitory damages where injunction was dissolved after trial on merits.—Montgomery v. Bouanchaud, 154 So. 8, 179 La. 312.

Fullest amount sustainable on reasonable basis when injunction is obtained contrary to plain rules of law and amounts to arbitrary and oppressive abuse of process.—Thomas v. Mississippi Power & Light Co., 152 So. 269, 170 Miss. 811, followed in Mississippi Power & Light Co. v. McCoglan Hotel, 152 So. 271.

48. La.—Burglass v. Villere, 129 So. 209, 170 La. 805, annulling 125 So. 144, 14 La.App. 314.

49. U.S.—Terry v. Robbins, C.C.N.C., 122 F. 725.
32 C.J. p 467 note 3.

50. La.—Kentwood Bank v. McClendon, 93 So. 748, 152 La. 489.
32 C.J. p 467 note 4.

51. Minn.—Pelkey v. National Surety Co., 173 N.W. 435, 143 Minn. 176.
N.H.—Gowen v. Swain, 26 A.2d 682.

52. Ky.—Mallory v. Dauber, 83 Ky. 239, 7 Ky.L. 243.

53. U.S.—Coosaw Min. Co. v. Carolina Min. Co., C.C.S.C., 75 F. 860.
32 C.J. p 467 note 8.

54. Okl.—Whitehead v. Cook, 229 P. 254, 100 Okl. 282.
32 C.J. p 467 note 9.

55. Ala.—Salmon v. Salmon, 69 So. 304, 13 Ala.App. 510.

56. Tenn.—Hawkins v. Hubbell, 154 S.W. 1146, 127 Tenn. 312—Bradford v. Jellico, 1 Tenn.Ch.App. 700.

57. Ala.—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295.
Cal.—Draffen v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 17 P.2d 121, 217 Cal. 43—Robinson v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 42 P.2d 653, 5 Cal.App.2d 241.
Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 795, 225 Iowa 1380, citing Corpus Juris.
Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 224, 131 Okl. 134.
32 C.J. p 467 note 12.

Damages held recoverable
(1) Cost of making inventories.—Sturgis v. Knapp, 33 Vt. 486.

(2) Cost of moving property for use elsewhere.
Tex.—French v. McCready, Civ.App., 57 S.W. 894.
Vt.—Sturgis v. Knapp, supra.

(3) Increased cost in building.—Roberts v. White, 73 N.Y. 375.

ples, and is not governed by arbitrary or technical rules.[58] However, defendant cannot recover damages for the deprivation of property to which he is not entitled.[59] The full value of the property cannot be allowed as damages,[60] unless there is a conversion, total deprivation, loss, or destruction thereof.[61]

Value of use or rental value in general. The injunction defendant is in general entitled to recover rental value of the property,[62] or the value of its use and occupation,[63] which was lost because of the injunction, from the time the injunction was in force; but he may not be entitled to recover rents, the collection[64] or interception[65] of which was not enjoined, or any sum which depends on contingencies which cannot be known;[66] nor can a recovery be had for rent or rental value which is not shown to have been lost because of the injunction.[67]

Loss of crops. If by reason of an injunction keeping him out of possession defendant loses his crops for the season, he is entitled to recover their value,[68] and is not restricted to proof of the value of the use of the land up to the time of the dissolution of the injunction.[69]

b. Loss of Profits

Loss of profits from an established business are recoverable as damages, if they can be ascertained with reasonable certainty.

Loss of profits from an established business[70] or injuries resulting to the business,[71] caused by wrongful injunction, are recoverable if they can be ascertained with reasonable certainty, as by estimating the probable profits that would have been made

58. Ill.—Alexander v. Colcord, 85 Ill. 323.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 224, 131 Okl. 134.

59. Ohio.—Turnpike Co. v. Kelley, 41 Ohio St. 144.

60. Ky.—Hord v. Trimble, 1 Litt. 413.
Mo.—Bircher v. Parker, 40 Mo. 118.

61. Cal.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
32 C.J. p 467 note 15.

Unlawful conversion materially affects quantum of damages on dissolution of preliminary injunction.—McNevin v. Stoolman, 235 Ill.App. 449.

Bringing an injunction in good faith and on grounds supported by the evidence by a landlord to prevent his tenant from removing buildings erected on the land is not a conversion for which he can be held liable on his failure to establish his claim.—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 617.

62. Miss.—Waldauer v. Parks, supra.
N.Y.—Bedell v. Harris, 240 N.Y.S. 550, 228 App.Div. 529.
Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 920.
W.Va.—State v. Carden, 163 S.E. 54, 56, 111 W.Va. 631, citing Corpus Juris.
Wis.—Nauman v. Central Shorewood Bldg. Corporation, 10 N.W.2d 151, 243 Wis. 362.
32 C.J. p 467 note 16.

Rental value of equipment of whose use defendants were deprived by improvidently issued temporary injunction, rather than interest on value of equipment, is measure of defendants' recovery.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.

Where the erection or completion of a building is restrained, the rental value of the property of which the owner is deprived by reason thereof may be recovered as an element of damages.
Minn.—Detroit Lakes Realty Co. v. McKenzie, 284 N.W. 60, 204 Minn. 490.
W.Va.—State v. Carden, 163 S.E. 54, 111 W.Va. 631.
32 C.J. p 467 note 16 [c] (1) (4) (5).

63. U.S.—Hutchins v. Munn, App.D. C., 28 S.Ct. 504, 209 U.S. 246, 52 L.Ed. 776.
Iowa.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N. W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.
32 C.J. p 467 note 16.

Use value of building, the erection or completion of which was restrained.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., supra —32 C.J. p 467 note 16 [c] (2), (3).

Deprivation of office
The measure of damages in favor of one deprived of his office, as property, by injunction is the value of its use during the time of deprivation.—Castleman v. Williams, Tex. Civ.App., 263 S.W. 638.

Use value as net profits
Where utility wrongfully enjoined construction of municipal light plant, as respects recovery of damages in suit on bonds, use value of property during time municipality was wrongfully deprived of use was net profits during period of such deprivation.—City of Corning v. Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., 282 N.W. 791, 225 Iowa 1380.

64. S.D.—Edmison v. Sioux Falls Water Co., 85 N.W. 1016, 14 S.D. 486.
32 C.J. p 468 note 17.

65. Ala.—Curry v. American Freehold Land Mortg. Co., 27 So. 454, 124 Ala. 614.
32 C.J. p 468 note 18.

66. Iowa.—Johnson v. Moser, 34 N. W. 459, 72 Iowa 654.
Tex.—Southland Life Ins. Co. v. Stone, Civ.App., 112 S.W.2d 336.
32 C.J. p 468 note 19.

67. Ill.—Rosenthal v. Boas, 27 Ill. App. 430.
Wis.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22, denying rehearing 239 N. W. 649, 207 Wis. 22.

68. Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ. App., 40 S.W.2d 920, error refused.
32 C.J. p 468 note 21.

69. Ill.—Edwards v. Edwards, 31 Ill. 474.

70. Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S. W.2d 656, 659, 274 Ky. 556, quoting Corpus Juris—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.
Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 224, 131 Okl. 134.
Tex.—Magnolia Petroleum Co. v. Holz, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 664.
32 C.J. p 468 note 24.

One restrained from acting as justice of the peace is entitled to recover as damages such sum as he would have earned as fees with reasonable certainty, notwithstanding he earned money from other sources during such time.—Castleman v. Williams, Tex.Civ.App., 263 S.W. 638.

71. Or.—Reed v. Brandenburg, 143 P. 989, 72 Or. 435.
32 C.J. p 481 note 90.

but for the interruption of the business;[72] and this rule ordinarily applies whether or not the enjoining party was engaged in a competing business, and, if he was engaged in the same business, whether or not it was conducted at a profit or a loss.[73] Profits, however, cannot be recovered for a period of time during which the injunction was not obeyed;[74] and, if plaintiff had disposed of his business so that he did not own or run it while an injunction restraining its operation was in force, he is not entitled to recover the profits of the business during that time.[75]

Profits which are merely speculative or conjectural will not be allowed,[76] such as profits from a proposed business, not yet established.[77]

c. Injury to, or Depreciation in Value of, Property

Damages for injury to, or depreciation in the value of, property, directly caused by the injunction, are recoverable.

Damages for injury to, or depreciation in the value of, property, caused by the injunction, may be recovered,[78] provided it is the direct result of the injunction.[79] In case of wrongful restraint of the sale of property, the measure of damages is the depreciation in the value of the property while the injunction is in force,[80] or, as otherwise stated, the difference between the market value of the property when it would have been sold and when the injunction no longer prevented a sale,[81] provided, in case of a loss of sale by reason of the injunction, there was a bona fide offer which would have been accepted.[82] It has been held that the loss in 72. U.S.—I. T. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., C.C.A.Ohio, 295 F. 479.

In estimating profits

(1) The discount between the sale price and the par value of stock sold by defendant to dealers should not be considered as an expense of conducting the business.—I. T. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., supra.

(2) The court may refuse to distribute the expense of promotion stock issued for services over a period of twenty years in ascertaining the expenses of the business during the period of the injunction.—I. T. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., supra.

73. U.S.—Harbaugh v. Dwyer, C.C. A.Or., 289 F. 247.

Seller of business enjoined from carrying on competing business under void restrictive covenant could recover damages on bond for loss sustained due to the injunction.—Southern Properties v. Carpenter, Tex.Civ.App., 21 S.W.2d 372, error dismissed.

74. N.Y.—Yonkers v. Federal Sugar Refining Co., 164 N.Y.S. 516, 177 App.Div. 728, reversed on other grounds 116 N.E. 998, 221 N.Y. 206.

75. Ala.—Lewis v. Collier, 47 So. 790, 157 Ala. 533.
32 C.J. p 469 note 28.

76. Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S. W.2d 656, 659, 274 Ky. 556, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 468 note 26.

Loss of premiums by inability to sell bonds

Ky.—Wilder v. Miller, 206 S.W. 293, 182 Ky. 210.
32 C.J. p 481 note 88 [j].

77. U.S.—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F.Supp. 419.

Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.

Expected profits from unbuilt plant

Where public utilities companies obtained preliminary injunction against construction of local power plant by county to be operated in competition with the companies and injunction was subsequently vacated, county could not recover, on the theory of restitution, expected profits from operation of the plant, which companies realized while the injunction was in force.—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F. Supp. 419.

78. U.S.—Osage Oil & Refining Co. v. Chandler, C.C.A.N.Y., 287 F. 848.

Idaho.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

Miss.—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 617.

N.C.—Gruber v. Ewbanks, 154 S.E. 318, 199 N.C. 385.
32 C.J. p 469 note 29.

Preventing cutting and removing of timber

Damages for wrongful injunction against cutting and removing timber are confined to decline in market value of trees and logs, which plaintiffs were prevented from manufacturing.

Ky.—Standard Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Riggs, 292 S.W. 476, 219 Ky. 51.

S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278.

79. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.

Mo.—Riddlesbarger v. McDaniel, 38 Mo. 138.

Vt.—Sturgis v. Knapp, 33 Vt. 486.
32 C.J. p 469 note 30.

Depreciation in value, caused by negligent use by landlord of buildings which tenant was wrongfully restrained from removing, is recoverable.—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 617.

80. U.S.—Osage Oil & Refining Co. v. Chandler, C.C.A.N.Y., 287 F. 848.

Iowa.—Schmidt v. Meredith, 228 N. W. 568, 209 Iowa 621.

Mo.—Meysenburg v. Schlieper, 48 Mo. 426.

Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Hooven, 272 P. 852, 134 Okl. 47.

Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.

32 C.J. p 469 note 29 [e], [g].

In ascertaining damages the true value of the property must be ascertained and deducted from the amount which the property could have been sold for.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.

81. Cal.—Yellen v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 1 P.2d 1019, 115 Cal.App. 434.

Idaho.—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.

Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Groff, 275 P. 1032, 135 Okl. 285.

Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.

Delay in sale of hay crop

For a wrongful injunction causing delay in harvesting and sale of matured hay crop, the measure of damages is the difference between market value of crop at time it would have been sold, in absence of any restraining order, and market value when restraining order expired, plus a reasonable time for harvesting.—Callaway v. Sparks, 89 P.2d 275, 184 Okl. 569.

82. Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Groff, 275 P. 1032, 135 Okl. 285.

value of the property during the time the injunction was in operation, not exceeding the penalty of the bond, and the interest thereon from the time of the institution of suit, is the proper measure of damages.[83] Where, however, there is no proof that property is less valuable after the injunction than before, there can be no recovery for the difference between the price it brought and the price which had been agreed on for it;[84] nor, as against the surety, can there be recovery for depreciation caused by wrongful acts of the enjoining party other than that of suing out the writ.[85]

d. Loss of Time or Employment

Damages for loss of time or employment caused by the injunction may be recovered.

Damages for loss of time from work or business, caused by the wrongful injunction, may be recovered;[86] and, although there is authority to the contrary,[87] it has been held that there may also be recovery for loss of time in defending against the injunction,[88] or in procuring a dissolution thereof.[89]

If by reason of the injunction the party is thrown out of employment, he is entitled to recover for the time he was out of employment at the usual rate of wages, if he used due diligence to secure other employment during such period,[90] but not otherwise.[91]

e. Expenses and Costs in Procuring Dissolution

Reasonable and necessary expenses and costs incurred in connection with the procuring of the dissolution of an injunction may be recovered as an element of damages.

Except where the injunction bond provides otherwise in accordance with special statutory provisions regulating the matter,[92] reasonable and necessary expenses to which a party is put in procuring the dissolution of an injunction constitute damages which may be recovered in a proceeding on the bond or undertaking;[93] but these are limited to such as have accrued from the time of issuing the injunction down to its dissolution or the determination of an appeal from the dissolution decree,[94] and must be confined to those actually proved,[95] and to such expenses as are shown to be reasonable and necessary,[96] and caused by, or incurred in, connection with the wrongful injunction,[97] and in the ex-

83. Md.—Levy v. Taylor, 24 Md. 282.
N.C.—Gruber v. Ewbanks, 154 S.E. 318, 321, 199 N.C. 335, quoting Corpus Juris,
32 C.J. p 470 note 33.
Interest as element of damages generally see infra subdivision g of this section.

84. Tex.—Womack v. McMillan, Civ. App., 47 S.W.2d 437.
Wash.—Donahue v. Johnson, 87 P. 322, 9 Wash. 187.

85. N.M.—Walters v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., 288 P. 1044, 35 N.M. 4.

86. La.—Three Rivers Oil Co. v. Laurence, 95 So. 652, 153 La. 224.

87. Cal.—Handy v. Samaha, 8 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286.
Okl.—Prager's Paris Fashion v. Seidenbach, 242 P. 260, 113 Okl. 271.
32 C.J. p 470 note 35.

88. Mo.—Helmkampf v. Wood, 85 Mo.App. 227.
32 C.J. p 470 note 36.

89. Iowa.—Ryan Bros. v. Rate, 213 N.W. 218, 203 Iowa 1253.
Neb.—Behrens v. Smith Baking Co., 266 N.W. 61, 130 Neb. 651.

90. Iowa.—Muller v. Fern, 35 Iowa 420.
Ky.—Shepherd v. Gambill, 96 S.W. 1104, 29 Ky.L. 1168.
32 C.J. p 470 note 37.

91. N.C.—Nansemond Timber Co. v. Rountree, 29 S.E. 61, 122 N.C. 45.

92. Iowa.—Western Fruit & Candy Co. v. McFarland, 174 N.W. 57, 188 Iowa 204.
32 C.J. p 470 note 39.

93. Ala.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. West Blocton Sav. Bank, 113 So. 486, 22 Ala.App. 12, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 489, 216 Ala. 465.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N. W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Kan.—Messmer v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 282 P. 728, 129 Kan. 220—Garden Plain Farmers' Elevator Co. v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 799, 128 Kan. 218.
La.—Missouri Pac. Ry. Co. v. Harden, 105 So. 2, 158 La. 889.
Neb.—Meeske v. Baumann, 241 N.W. 550, 122 Neb. 786, 83 A.L.R. 131.
N.Y.—Lockwood's Dollar Cleaners v. Lockwood, 244 N.Y.S. 281, 137 Misc. 446.
W.Va.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217.
32 C.J. p 470 note 40.

Damages sustained in procuring partial dissolution may be recovered. —Dinny & Robbins v. Retail Shoe Salesmen's Union, Local 1115-F, R.C. I.P.A., 41 N.Y.S.2d 375, 180 Misc. 643.

Expense of securing dissolution of injunction issued by a federal court is not recoverable as damages in a suit on an injunction bond given in the federal court litigation.—Local Union No. 66 of United Leather Workers' International Union v. Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co., 5 S.W.2d 671, 222 Mo.App. 383.

94. Md.—Wallis v. Dilley, 7 Md. 237.

95. U.S.—Houston & North Texas Motor Freight Lines v. Local No. 745, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen, and Helpers of America, D.C.Tex., 27 F.Supp. 262.
Mont.—Cook v. Greenough, 36 P. 357, 14 Mont. 352.
N.Y.—Hotchkiss v. Platt, 8 Hun 46.

96. Ala.—Irwin v. Morrow, 95 So. 496, 19 Ala.App. 115, certiorari denied Ex parte Irwin, 95 So. 498, 209 Ala. 164.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N. W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
32 C.J. p 470 note 44.

97. U.S.—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C. A.Okl., 128 F.2d 178—Cinderella Theatre Co. v. Sign Writers' Local Union No. 591, D.C.Mich., 6 F. Supp. 830.
Ariz.—Mason Dry Goods Co. v. Ackel, 243 P. 606, 30 Ariz. 7.
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seamann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 78 Colo. 148.
32 C.J. p 470 note 45.

Expenses recoverable

(1) Expenses paid in taking of depositions in injunction action.
U.S.—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C.A.Okl., 128 F.2d 178.
Ky.—Williams v. Allen, 54 S.W. 720, 21 Ky.L. 1191.

(2) Compensation of investigator, employed by plaintiff to locate witness to testify in injunction suit.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.

(3) Where order to show cause contained restraining order, expenditures incurred in opposing issuance ercise of ordinary care.[98] If these expenses are incurred in the main action or suit, they are recoverable only where the injunction was the sole relief sought therein,[99] or where the main suit is so blended with the temporary injunction proceedings that it is impossible to separate the two;[1] and they are not recoverable where the injunctive relief was merely ancillary or incidental to the main action.[2]

Costs. Reasonable and necessary costs occasioned by the writ, and incurred in procuring the dissolution of the injunction may be recovered as an element of the damages,[3] and include the costs of a reference, when the damages are so ascertained,[4] unless no other damages for which the injunction plaintiff was liable are proved.[5] However, recovery is limited to such costs as may have accrued from the time of the issuing of the injunction down to the affirmance of the order for its dissolution,[6] and to such as were the result of the temporary injunction.[7] There can be no recovery of costs imposed of temporary injunction.—Schlitz Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 459, 211 Wis. 62, followed in Alaska Land Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 462, 211 Wis. 71, Uihlein v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463, two cases, 211 Wis. 72, Continental Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 463, 211 Wis. 73, New Jersey Theatre Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 75, Werdehoff Realty Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 76, Majestic Realty Corporation v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 464, 211 Wis. 77, and Glenogle Co. v. City of Milwaukee, 247 N.W. 465, 211 Wis. 78.

Expenses not recoverable

(1) Compensation of witnesses, who are allowed compensation by law.—Handy v. Samaha, 3 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286.

(2) Expense of resisting preliminary writ.—State v. Marguerite Coal Co., 140 S.E. 49, 104 W.Va. 324, 55 A.L.R. 452.

(3) Expense in bringing nonresident witnesses to the trial.—Gruber v. Ewbanks, 154 S.E. 318, 199 N.C. 335.

(4) Other expenses held not recoverable see 32 C.J. p 481 note 83 [g] [h].

98. Ky.—Citizens' Trust & Guaranty Co. v. Ohio Valley Tie Co., 128 S.W. 317, 138 Ky. 421.

99. Ariz.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311—Schmidt v. Meredith, 228 N.W. 568, 209 Iowa 621.

The rule, as otherwise stated, is that personal expenses are recoverable as damages on injunction bond where either the injunction was the sole relief to which suit pertained, or the expenses were paid out solely for purpose of procuring dissolution of injunction as distinguished from expenses for hearing of principal issues involved in the case.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217—State ex rel. Tully v. Taylor, 68 S.E. 379, 67 W.Va. 585.

Action to maintain status quo of tenancy so that lessor might have lien for accruing rent had for its sole object injunctive relief as regards claim of damages against injunction bond.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.

1. Ala.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of America v. West Blocton Sav. Bank, 113 So. 486, 22 Ala.App. 12, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 489, 216 Ala. 465.
Mo.—Linneman v. Hawkins, App., 27 S.W.2d 1046.
32 C.J. p 471 note 47.

Expenses in procuring favorable decree in main suit permanently to restrain foreclosure are recoverable under injunction bond given to procure temporary injunction, under record showing decree was necessary to dissolve injunction.—Linneman v. Hawkins, supra.

2. Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 78 Colo. 148.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Mo.—Linneman v. Hawkins, App., 27 S.W.2d 1046.
N.H.—Smith v. Smith, 142 A. 685, 83 N.H. 342.

To determine whether prayer for injunction was auxiliary to main issues, as regards recovery of expenses for wrongful injunction, prayer for injunction is stricken to ascertain whether cause of action remains.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.

3. Ariz.—Mason Dry Goods Co. v. Ackel, 243 P. 606, 30 Ariz. 7.
Idaho.—Pattee v. Mahaffey, 280 P. 1038, 48 Idaho 200.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Kan.—Messmer v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 282 P. 728, 129 Kan. 220—Garden Plain Farmers' Elevator Co. v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 799, 128 Kan. 218.
Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.
Miss.—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 617.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.
32 C.J. p 471 note 48.

Court costs are damages within the purview of an injunction bond to pay damages, if the court finally decides that plaintiff is not entitled to the injunction.—McKelvy v. Broadwater, 285 P. 190, 87 Mont. 103.

Costs of deposition used in injunction case may be recovered in action on an injunction bond.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33—Mason Dry Goods Co. v. Ackel, 243 P. 606, 30 Ariz. 7.

Costs not recoverable

(1) Costs paid for convenient, but not absolutely necessary, brief, or carbon copy of transcript.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.

(2) Fees paid jurors, who neither attended nor served.—Gwin v. City of Greenwood, 131 So. 821, 159 Miss. 110.

(3) Sum paid for pictures taken of premises and used on trial of injunction suit.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.

(4) Traveling expenses.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S.W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556.

Stenographer's fees are recoverable only in so far as attributable to defeating the injunction.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.

Prepayment as condition to recovery
Mo.—Corder v. Martin, 17 Mo. 41.
32 C.J. p 471 note 48 [d].

4. N.Y.—Holcomb v. Rice, 23 N.E. 1112, 119 N.Y. 598.
32 C.J. p 471 note 48 [a].

5. N.Y.—Randall v. Carpenter, 88 N.Y. 293—Whiteside v. Novac Corrage Assoc., 32 N.Y.S. 724, 84 Hun 555.

6. Md.—Wallis v. Dilley, 7 Md. 237.

7. Iowa.—Williams v. Ballinger, 101 N.W. 139, 125 Iowa 410.
32 C.J. p 471 note 50.

Cost not due to restraining order
Court costs not shown to have been expended strictly on account of restraining order, should not be allowed as damages on bond accompaon plaintiff, in an action on the bond, as the condition of a continuance,[8] or of costs incurred on an order to show cause why a restraint should not be continued,[9] or of the costs of an unsuccessful motion to dissolve,[10] and, according to some decisions, even though the action was eventually dismissed.[11] Costs incurred in the main action are recoverable, if the injunction was the sole relief sought therein;[12] but not if the injunction was a mere incident to such action,[13] at least not unless the injunction rendered the trial of the action more difficult and expensive than it would otherwise have been.[14]

The costs on an appeal from an order dissolving the injunction, are generally not recoverable in a suit on the injunction bond.[15] It has been held, however, that on the reversal of a judgment granting a temporary injunction and dissolution of the injunction, all costs in the lower court and on appeal will be adjudged against the appellee and sureties on his injunction bond.[16] It has also been held that costs on appeal from a final judgment granting a permanent injunction after denying a motion to dissolve a restraining order, are recoverable on the bond given in connection with such order, although no appeal was taken from the order denying a dissolution, where an injunction was the only relief sought in the original action.[17]

f. Counsel Fees

(1) Right to allowance
(2) For what services recoverable
(3) Necessity of payment or obligation to pay fees
(4) Amount of allowance

(1) Right to Allowance

Reasonable attorney's fees incurred in procuring the dissolution of an injunction, which was wrongfully issued, are generally recoverable as an element of damages.

Under federal law, attorney's fees for services in effecting the dissolution of the injunction are not recoverable as an element of damages on an injunction bond given in such court,[18] notwithstanding, under the law of the state where the bond was executed, such fees could be recovered in a state court,[19] but as to the latter proposition there is authority to the contrary.[20] The federal rule has been approved and followed in some states, to the effect that attorney's fees cannot be recovered as damages on the dissolution of an injunction.[21]

In most states, however, in an action on an injunction bond or in assessing damages in the orignying restraining order.—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.

8. Ala.—Bulock v. Ferguson, 30 Ala. 227.

9. Cal.—Curtiss v. Bachman, 42 P. 910, 110 Cal. 433, 52 Am.S.R. 111.

10. Cal.—Curtiss v. Bachman, supra.
Neb.—Pollock v. Whipple, 77 N.W. 355, 57 Neb. 82.
32 C.J. p 471 note 53.

11. Cal.—Curtiss v. Bachman, 42 P. 910, 110 Cal. 433, 52 Am.S.R. 111.
N.Y.—Allen v. Brown, 5 Lans. 511.

12. Ariz.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311—Schmidt v. Meredith, 228 N.W. 568, 209 Iowa 621.

13. Ariz.—Ackel v. Mason Dry Goods Co., 255 P. 488, 32 Ariz. 33.
Idaho.—Wakefield v. Griffiths, 261 P. 665, 45 Idaho 51—Charters v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 186 P. 921, 32 Idaho 612.
32 C.J. p 471 note 56.

14. N.Y.—Allen v. Brown, 5 Lans. 511.

Extraordinary costs

The rule is stated in Kentucky that extraordinary costs may be recovered in an action on the bond, if such costs were incurred in the injunction proceeding independently of the main cause of action, but not where injunctive relief is the main cause of action, or the injunction is decided solely by the result on the merits of the case.—Holt's Adm'r v. Johnson, 56 S.W.2d 962, 247 Ky. 180—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188—Elkhorn Coal Co. v. Justice, 283 S.W. 399, 214 Ky. 451.

15. Md.—Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 348.
N.Y.—Guilford v. Cornell, 4 Abb.Pr. 220.
Va.—Woodson v. Johns, 3 Munf. 230, 17 Va. 230.

Costs previously allowed by appellate court after adverse decree are not recoverable as damages for wrongful suing out of injunction.—Gwin v. City of Greenwood, 131 So. 821, 159 Miss. 110.

16. Tex.—Railroad Commission of Texas v. Fisher, Civ.App., 127 S.W.2d 925—Smith v. Keele, Civ.App., 127 S.W.2d 926—Smith v. Coleman, Civ.App., 127 S.W.2d 928—Railroad Commission of Texas v. A. E. McDonald Motor Freight Lines, Civ.App., 127 S.W.2d 932.

17. Mont.—McKelvy v. Broadwater, 285 P. 190, 87 Mont. 103.

18. U.S.—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C.A. Okl., 128 F.2d 178—In re Farmers' Union Mercantile Co., D.C.S.C., 26 F.2d 102—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F. Supp. 419.
Mo.—National Bank of Commerce in St. Louis v. Maryland Casualty Co., 270 S.W. 691, 307 Mo. 417.
32 C.J. p 471 note 60.

"The theory on which this rule rests is that the defendant is entitled to be indemnified only for the damages caused to him by the restraint imposed, and not for the costs of the suit, or the expenses incurred in ridding himself of the restraint."—In re Farmers' Union Mercantile Co., D.C.S.C., 26 F.2d 102, 103.

19. U.S.—Tullock v. Mulvane, Kan., 22 S.Ct. 372, 184 U.S. 497, 46 L.Ed. 657—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C.A. Okl., 128 F.2d 178—Salvage Process Corporation v. Acme Tank Cleaning Process Corporation, C.C.A.N.Y., 104 F.2d 105, certiorari denied 60 S.Ct. 131, 308 U.S. 599, 84 L.Ed. 501—In re Farmers' Union Mercantile Co., D.C.S.C., 26 F.2d 102.
Mo.—Local Union No. 66 of United Leather Workers' International Union v. Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co., 5 S.W.2d 671, 222 Mo.App. 383.

20. Kan.—Mulvane v. Tullock, 50 P. 897, 58 Kan. 622.
32 C.J. p 471 note 60 [b].

21. Ark.—Oliphint v. Mansfield, 36 Ark. 191.
Ga.—Jones v. Rountree, 74 S.E. 1096, 11 Ga.App. 181.
32 C.J. p 471 notes 61–63.

inal suit, as the case may be, after dissolution of the injunction a reasonable allowance for necessary attorney's fees may be recovered as damages for services rendered in procuring a dissolution of the injunction.[22] This rule applies only where the issuance of the injunction was wrongful in its inception,[23] and the injunction was dissolved because of its wrongful issuance,[24] and, as has been held, when the action was then dismissed by plaintiff, or otherwise terminated in favor of defendant.[25] An allowance of attorney's fees may be refused where under the facts of the case there was an apparent justification for the issuance of the injunction.[26]

Objections. It is no objection to an allowance for counsel fees for procuring the dissolution of an injunction, that other matters were heard at the same time;[27] that defendant has voluntarily abandoned, pending an appeal, the proceedings enjoined;[28] that defendant had his regularly retained counsel conduct the motion to dissolve;[29] that the injunction was dissolved by motion on the face of the bill,[30] or on demurrer to the bill;[31] that the services rendered in procuring the dissolution simplified the preparation of the defense on the merits;[32] that the

22. U.S.—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C.A. Okl., 128 F.2d 178—Houston & North Texas Motor Freight Lines v. Local No. 745, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, D.C.Tex., 27 F.Supp. 262.
Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Wilkinson, 194 So. 548, 239 Ala. 199—McCord v. Bridges, 100 So. 469, 211 Ala. 295—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. West Blocton Sav. Bank, 113 So. 486, 22 Ala.App. 12, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 489, 216 Ala. 465.
Ariz.—Mason Dry Goods Co. v. Ackel, 243 P. 606, 30 Ariz. 7, overruling, in so far as to the contrary, Richards v. Green, 32 P. 266, 3 Ariz. 227—Jacobson v. Laurel Canyon Mining Co., 234 P. 823, 27 Ariz. 546.
D.C.—Local Union No. 368 of Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America v. Barker Painting Co., 24 F.2d 879, 58 App.D.C. 51.
Fla.—National Surety Co. v. Willys-Overland, Inc., 138 So. 24, 26, 103 Fla. 738, citing Corpus Juris.
Hawaii.—Miura v. Nishimoto, 35 Hawaii 595—Manibog v. Low, 33 Hawaii 660.
Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 60 Idaho 127—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P.2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.
Ill.—Babcock v. Chicago Rys. Co., 155 N.E. 773, 325 Ill. 16—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428—Engstrom v. City of Rockford, 271 Ill.App. 235—Keefe v. Sondag, 258 Ill.App. 15.
Kan.—Harvey v. Majors, 283 P. 663, 129 Kan. 556—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.
La.—Buras v. Machella, 134 So. 751, 172 La. 580—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131—Burglass v. Villere, 139 So. 209, 170 La. 805, annulling 125 So. 144, 14 La.App. 314.
Miss.—McLeod v. Barnes, 156 So. 517, 170 Miss. 880—Renaldo v. Lamas, 117 So. 528, 151 Miss. 207—Waldauer v. Parks, 106 So. 881, 141 Miss. 617.
Mo.—Weil v. Richardson, 35 S.W.2d 369, 225 Mo.App. 1237—Hecht Bros. Clothing Co. v. Walker, App., 279 S.W. 1059—Laumeier v. Sammelmann, 279 S.W. 249, 218 Mo.App. 468.
Neb.—Behrens v. Smith Baking Co., 266 N.W. 61, 130 Neb. 651—Meeske v. Baumann, 241 N.W. 550, 122 Neb. 786, 83 A.L.R. 131—Beatty v. Casselman, 211 N.W. 617, 115 Neb. 104.
N.Y.—Huster v. Notarantonio, 239 N.Y.S. 89, 135 Misc. 569.
S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278—Chambers v. Long, 128 S.E. 853, 132 S.C. 179.
W.Va.—Humphrey Mfg. Co. v. City of Elkins, 115 S.E. 846, 93 W.Va. 16—State v. Nash, 79 S.E. 829, 72 W.Va. 812.
Wis.—Nauman v. Central Sherwood Bldg. Corporation, 10 N.W.2d 151, 243 Wis. 362—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22—Schulteis v. Trade Press Pub. Co., 210 N.W. 419, 191 Wis. 164.
Wyo.—Housley v. Tobin, 286 P. 383, 41 Wyo. 419.
32 C.J. p 472 note 64.

As costs

There is authority that such fees are costs incidental to litigation and not damages from the wrongful restraint, and that there may be discretion in allowing them.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, affirmed 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

Workmen's compensation statute inapplicable

A statute relating to attorney's fees for obtaining compensation for injured workmen is inapplicable to action on injunction bond given in a compensation case.—Harvey v. Majors, 283 P. 663, 129 Kan. 556.

23. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Wilkinson, 194 So. 548, 239 Ala. 199.
Kan.—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.
La.—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131.
Mo.—Hecht Bros. Clothing Co. v. Walker, App., 279 S.W. 1059.
Pa.—In re Clarke's Estate, 18 Pa. Dist. & Co. 214.
Wash.—Puget Sound Harbor No. 16 v. Ætna Acc. & Liability Co., 166 P. 785, 97 Wash. 413.
Wis.—Nauman v. Central Sherwood Bldg. Corporation, 10 N.W.2d 151, 243 Wis. 362.

24. Wash.—Puget Sound Harbor No. 16 v. Ætna Acc. & Liability Co., 166 P. 785, 97 Wash. 413.
32 C.J. p 473 note 74.

25. Kan.—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.
W.Va.—Humphrey Mfg. Co. v. City of Elkins, 115 S.E. 846, 93 W.Va. 16.

26. La.—Freeland v. Carmouche, 148 So. 658, 177 La. 395—Chavis v. Trimble, App., 124 So. 703.
Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, affirmed 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.

27. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.
Necessity of segregation of services for dissolution see infra subdivision f (2) of this section.

28. Ala.—Cooper v. Hames, 9 So. 341, 93 Ala. 280.

29. La.—Luchini v. Police Jury, 53 So. 68, 126 La. 972, 21 Ann.Cas. 59.

30. Ill.—Keith v. Henkleman, 50 N.E. 692, 173 Ill. 137.

31. Ala.—Kemp v. Donovan, 94 So. 168, 208 Ala. 289.
Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 60 Idaho 127.
Miss.—Thomas v. Mississippi Power & Light Co., 152 So. 269, 170 Miss. 811, followed in Mississippi Power & Light Co. v. McCoglan Hotel, 152 So. 271.

32. Ill.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.

knowledge gained or evidence used on the hearing of the motion was or could be subsequently used on the trial of the case on the merits;[33] or that the solicitors procuring the dissolution were interested in the event of the suit.[34] It also has been held that, where fees have been incurred in preparing to move the dissolution of an injunction, they will be recoverable notwithstanding the fact that plaintiff dismissed the action and thereby dissolved the writ before the filing or hearing of the motion to dissolve;[35] or that the injunction suit was dismissed on the hearing;[36] or that the dissolution proceeding was voluntarily dismissed;[37] or that the attorney moved to dismiss the action after the injunction was dissolved.[38]

Counsel fees on appeal. It generally has been held that counsel fees are recoverable as part of the damages for the necessary services rendered on a successful appeal in getting rid of an injunction, as well as in the court below,[39] as where an appeal was taken from a decree or order dissolving the injunction, in respect of attorney's fees incurred in successfully resisting an effort to have the decree or order set aside,[40] although in some states such fees have been refused on the ground that the appeal did not have the effect of keeping the injunction in force, the view being taken that under such circumstances no services of counsel were necessary.[41] Counsel fees on appeal, however, are not recoverable where the principal issues presented on the appeal involve the merits of the case;[42] nor can recovery be had for counsel fees expended on an unsuccessful appeal from an injunction, although the party appealing subsequently prevailed in the main case;[43] or for fees incurred on appeal from a judgment dismissing a complaint, or by reason of the continuance thereof after the dismissal of the complaint, where such continuation was not objected to by defendants, and no motion was made by them to vacate the injunction;[44] or for fees for services rendered in the appellate court, where it appears from the record that the petition in the original suit was amended by consent of both parties to give the appellate court jurisdiction.[45]

Fees unnecessarily incurred to obtain dissolution of an injunction should not be allowed as damages,[46] as where the injunction has terminated by its own limitation.[47] It has been held that such fees are not recoverable for securing the dissolution of an ineffective injunction;[48] but that they may be recovered for securing the dissolution of a void injunction.[49]

33. Ill.—Marks v. Columbia Yacht Club, 76 N.E. 582, 219 Ill. 417, affirming 121 Ill.App. 308—H. A. Hilmer Co. v. Behr, 196 Ill.App. 363—District No. 181 School Directors v. Mathis, 168 Ill.App. 174.
Miss.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757.

34. Ill.—Dempster v. Lansingh, 128 Ill.App. 388, reversed on other grounds 84 N.E. 1032, 234 Ill. 381.
Mo.—Richardson Lubricating Co. v. Bedell, 237 S.W. 192, 209 Mo.App. 238.

35. Colo.—Lynch v. Metcalf, 32 P. 183, 3 Colo.App. 131—Quinn v. Baldwin Star Coal Co., 76 P. 552, 19 Colo.App. 497.

36. U.S.—Cinderella Theatre Co. v. Sign Writers' Local Union No. 591, D.C.Mich., 6 F.Supp. 830.

37. Mont.—Hatch v. National Surety Corporation, 72 P.2d 107, 105 Mont. 245.

38. Cal.—Handy v. Samaha, 3 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286.

39. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 60 Idaho 127.
Mont.—McKelvy v. Broadwater, 285 P. 190, 87 Mont. 103.
Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 272 P. 855, 134 Okl. 55.
32 C.J. p 473 note 67.

40. Ala.—Jesse French Piano & Organ Co. v. Porter, 32 So. 678, 134 Ala. 302, 92 Am.S.R. 31.
32 C.J. p 473 note 68.

Limitations of statute

This rule applies where the statute under which the bond is given does not limit the conditions of the bond to the action of the court granting the injunction.—State v. Nash, 79 S.E. 829, 72 W.Va. 812—32 C.J. p 473 note 66.

41. Mo.—C. H. Albers Commn. Co. v. Spencer, 139 S.W. 321, 236 Mo. 608, Ann.Cas.1912D 705.
32 C.J. p 473 note 69.

42. Miss.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757—Smith v. Perkins, 88 So. 531, 125 Miss. 203.

43. N.Y.—Maltz v. Westchester Brewing Co., 152 N.Y.S. 669, 167 App.Div. 95.

44. N.Y.—Phœnix Bridge Co. v. Keystone Bridge Co., 41 N.Y.S. 891, 10 App.Div. 176.

45. La.—Lemeunier v. McCearley, 6 So. 338, 41 La.Ann. 411.

46. Ill.—McNevin v. Stoolman, 235 Ill.App. 449.
32 C.J. p 474 note 88.

Motion for dissolution as not unnecessary

Where temporary restraining order provided for its continuance until return day and until there was a decision on order to show cause, restraining order was not one that terminated automatically on return day, hence motion to dissolve noticed for return day was not such an unnecessary act as to preclude parties restrained from recovering attorney fees in action on bond.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475.

Unnecessary number of counsel

The party claiming the allowance will not be permitted to lay the foundation for large damages against complainant by employing an unnecessary number of counsel.—Hotchkiss v. Platt, 8 Hun, N.Y., 46—32 C. J. p 478 note 38.

47. La.—Inter City Express Lines v. Guarisco, App., 165 So. 727.
Mo.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, App., 161 S.W.2d 431.
32 C.J. p 474 note 88 [b].

Termination on hearing on show-cause order

Wash.—Chin On v. Culinary Workers and Soft Drink Dispensers Union, 81 P.2d 803, 195 Wash. 530.

48. Miss.—Galbreath v. Thayer, 113 So. 180, 147 Miss. 556, 52 A.L.R. 288.

49. Ill.—Jeslyn v. Dickerson, 71 Ill. 25.
Mont.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

Parties in pari delicto. When a suit for injunction is based on an illegal agreement, and the parties thereto are in pari delicto, attorney's fees should not be allowed to defendant on the dissolution of the injunction.[50]

Public or private attorney. Counsel fees will not be allowed in case counsel are acting ex officio for a public corporation;[51] but this rule does not apply where the attorney is acting in a private capacity;[52] or where an attorney other than the public attorney appears for such a defendant.[53]

(2) For What Services Recoverable

Attorney's fees are allowable as damages only for services rendered in procuring dissolution of the injunction. If injunction is the sole relief sought, fees may be allowed for defending the entire action; but, if other relief is also sought, they generally are not recoverable if the dissolution results merely from a trial on the merits. The services for procuring the dissolution ordinarily must be segregated from services rendered in the case generally, to warrant a recovery therefor.

Counsel fees ordinarily are allowable only for services rendered in procuring the dissolution of the injunction,[54] including services on a reference to ascertain damages.[55] There can be no recovery for other services rendered in the suit in which the injunction was sued out;[56] for services rendered before the giving of the bond and the issuance of the writ,[57] such as in resisting the application for the issuance of the injunction;[58] for services rendered after dissolution of the injunction,[59] or in successfully maintaining a cross bill;[60] or, generally, for services rendered in the main defense of the suit or directed to the merits of the main controversy,[61] except where it is impossible to dissolve the 50. Miss.—Lowenburg v. Klein, 87 So. 653, 125 Miss. 284.

51. Ill.—Wilson v. Weber, 3 Ill.App. 125.
Miss.—Nixon v. Biloxi, 25 So. 664, 76 Miss. 810.
Mo.—Uhrig v. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 528.

52. Miss.—Matheny v. Simmons, 139 So. 172, 165 Miss. 429.

As personal attorney for officer
Court properly allowed attorney's fee as damages for wrongfully suing out injunction against chief of police where it was not shown that attorney had duty as city attorney to defend suit, and agreed facts showed he expected remuneration from chief of police.—Matheny v. Simmons, supra.

53. Ill.—Howard v. Burke, 93 N.E. 775, 248 Ill. 224—Hayes v. Kellums, 224 Ill.App. 533—Fordham v. Thompson, 144 Ill.App. 342.

54. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal. App.2d 587—Handy v. Samaha, 3 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
D.C.—Local Union No. 368 of Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America v. Barker Painting Co., 24 F.2d 879, 58 App.D.C. 51.
Hawaii.—Wong Kwai Tong v. Fong Koon Chan, 28 Hawaii 399.
Ill.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.
Ind.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.
Kan.—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.
Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.
La.—Ducros v. St. Bernard Parish Police Jury, 8 So.2d 684, 200 La. 766—Department of Conservation v. Reardon, 8 So.2d 353, 200 La. 491—Lutcher & Moore Cypress Co. v. Schexnaydre, 122 So. 911, 11 La. App. 72—Titche v. Hiller, 5 La. App. 375.
Minn.—Independent School Dist. No. 35 v. Oliver Mining Co., 208 N.W. 952, 169 Minn. 15, affirmed 210 N.W. 856, 169 Minn. 15.
Mo.—Mancuso v. Western Automobile Co., App., 296 S.W. 181.
N.M.—Tatavich v. Pettine, 247 P. 840, 31 N.M. 479.
W.Va.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217—State v. Marguerite Coal Co., 140 S.E. 49, 104 W.Va. 324, 55 A.L.R. 452.
Wis.—Antigo Electric Co. v. Faust Lumber Co., 244 N.W. 604, 209 Wis. 139—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22, denying rehearing 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22.
32 C.J. p 474 note 92.

This rule includes necessary legal services rendered from time of issuance of temporary injunction until final dissolution thereof.—Weil v. Richardson, 35 S.W.2d 369, 225 Mo. App. 1237.

Where temporary writ is granted, and thereafter an application for a preliminary writ is dismissed, and no motion to dissolve the injunction has been made, no recovery of attorney's fees on account of the suing out of the temporary injunction and dissolution thereof can be allowed.—Edward E. Morgan Co. v. City of Natchez, 196 So. 251, 188 Miss. 781.

55. Wis.—Antigo Electric Co. v. Faust Lumber Co., 244 N.W. 604, 209 Wis. 139—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.

56. Ala.—Bolling v. Tate, 65 Ala. 417, 39 Am.R. 5.
32 C.J. p 475 note 93.

57. Cal.—Lambert v. Haskell, 22 P. 327, 80 Cal. 611.
Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 60 Idaho 127.
32 C.J. p 475 note 94.

58. Miss.—Edward E. Morgan Co. v. City of Natchez, 196 So. 251, 188 Miss. 781.
N.Y.—Lewittes & Sons v. Perlow, 3 N.Y.S.2d 916, 254 App.Div. 94—Youngs v. McDonald, 67 N.Y.S. 475, 56 App.Div. 14, affirmed 60 N. E. 1123, 166 N.Y. 639.
W.Va.—State v. Marguerite Coal Co., 140 S.E. 49, 104 W.Va. 324, 55 A. L.R. 452.
32 C.J. p 475 note 94 [a] [b].

59. U.S.—Heiser v. Woodruff, C.C.A. Okl., 128 F.2d 178.
Ala.—Robertson v. Robertson, 58 Ala. 68.
Cal.—Porter v. Hopkins, 63 Cal. 53.
Miss.—Thornton-Claney Lumber Co. v. O'Quin, 76 So. 732, 115 Miss. 857.

60. Ill.—Wilson v. Haecker, 85 Ill. 349—Jevne v. Osgood, 57 Ill. 340.
Miss.—Mims v. Swindle, 87 So. 151, 124 Miss. 686—Valentine v. McGrath, 52 Miss. 112.

61. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal. App.2d 587—Handy v. Samaha, 3 P.2d 602, 117 Cal.App. 286—Moore v. Maryland Casualty Co., 280 P. 1008, 100 Cal.App. 658.
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522.
Hawaii.—Wong Kwai Tong v. Fong Koon Chan, 28 Hawaii 399.
Ill.—2063 Lawrence Avenue Bldg. Corporation v. Van Heck, 45 N.E. 2d 687, 317 Ill.App. 59—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Ind.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 332, 82 Ind.App. 110.

injunction until trial of the case on the merits,[62] or except where the expense of the trial was increased by the injunction,[63] nor can recovery be had for services rendered in bringing the suit on the injunction bond.[64]

Dissolution at trial on merits. The rule has been laid down without qualification that, if the dissolution of an injunction results merely from the defense and trial on the merits and no effort to obtain such dissolution otherwise is shown to have been made, there can be no allowance for attorney's fees.[65]

However, according to the weight of authority, where injunction is the only relief sought and dissolution is procured on final hearing only, no separate motion having been made for that purpose, attorney's fees are allowable for defending the entire action, as being for the dissolution of the injunction;[66] but it has been held that no recovery of counsel fees can be had on dissolution of the injunction, in such a case.[67]

On the other hand, also, according to the weight of authority, where an injunction is not the sole relief sought but is only ancillary to the main object of the suit, attorney's fees are not recoverable where no formal motion to dissolve the injunction was made, and where the dissolution thereof results merely from the defense and trial on the merits;[68] but there is authority to the contrary[69] It

La.—In re Morgan & Co., 99 So. 696, 155 La. 915.
Wis.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22, denying rehearing 239 N. W. 649, 207 Wis. 22.
32 C.J. p 475 note 98.

62. D.C.—Local Union No. 368 of Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America v. Barker Painting Co., 24 F.2d 879, 58 App.D.C. 51.
32 C.J. p 475 note 99.

63. N.Y.—Hotchkiss v. Platt, 8 Hun 46—Allen v. Brown, 5 Lans. 511.

64. N.M.—Tatavich v. Pettine, 247 P. 840, 31 N.M. 479.

65. Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill. App. 428, 444, citing Corpus Juris.
La.—Ducros v. St. Bernard Parish Police Jury, 8 So.2d 694, 200 La. 766—Department of Conservation v. Reardon, 8 So.2d 353, 200 La. 491—Edwards v. Wiseman, 3 So.2d 661, 198 La. 382, amending 3 So. 2d 655—Montgomery v. Bouanchaud, 154 So. 8, 179 La. 312—Evasovich v. Cognevich, 106 So. 556, 159 La. 1035—Witbeck v. Rea, 105 So. 43, 158 La. 1003—Fontenot v. Fontenot, 101 So. 218, 156 La. 844—In re Morgan & Co., 99 So. 696, 155 La. 915—Three Rivers Oil Co. v. Laurence, 95 So. 652, 153 La. 224—First Nat. Bank v. Corell, App., 149 So. 326, rehearing 145 So. 395, rehearing denied 146 So. 479—Barnett v. Sandford, 137 So. 566, 18 La.App. 262—Lutcher & Moore Cypress Co. v. Schexnaydre, 122 So. 911, 11 La.App. 72—Jackson v. Dixon, 8 La.App. 761.
32 C.J. p 476 note 2.

66. D.C.—Local Union No. 368 of Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America v. Barker Painting Co., 24 F.2d 879, 58 App.D.C. 51.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Minn.—Pelkey v. National Surety Co., 173 N.W. 435, 143 Minn. 176.
Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 272 P. 855, 134 Okl. 55—Prager's Paris Fashion v. Seidenbach, 242 P. 260, 113 Okl. 271.
S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278.
W.Va.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217—State v. Marguerite Coal Co., 140 S.E. 49, 104 W.Va. 324, 55 A.L.R. 452.
32 C.J. p 476 note 6.

67. Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S. W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556—Holt's Adm'r v. Johnson, 56 S.W.2d 962, 247 Ky. 180—Strong v. Duff, 48 S. W.2d 1074, 243 Ky. 469—Avondale Heights Co. v. Proctor, 5 S.W.2d 1054, 224 Ky. 188—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Pennebaker Home for Girls, 299 S.W. 734, 221 Ky. 718.
32 C.J. p 476 note 7.

68. U.S.—Duke Power Co. v. Greenwood County, D.C.S.C., 25 F.Supp. 419.
D.C.—Stanfield v. Vollbehr, 60 F.2d 670, 61 App.D.C. 239.
Idaho.—Wakefield v. Griffiths, 261 P. 665, 45 Idaho 51.
Ill.—Babcock v. Chicago Rys. Co., 155 N.E. 773, 325 Ill. 16—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.
Iowa.—Chrisman v. Schmickle, 230 N.W. 550, 209 Iowa 1311.
Miss.—Lundy v. Greenville Bank & Trust Co., 174 So. 802, 179 Miss. 282—Kendrick v. Robertson, 111 So. 99, 145 Miss. 585—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Buckley, 106 So. 747, 141 Miss. 483—Hunter v. Hankinson, 106 So. 514, 141 Miss. 279.
S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278—Livingston v. Exum, 19 S.C. 223.
W.Va.—State v. Carden, 163 S.E. 54, 111 W.Va. 631—Humphrey Mfg. Co. v. City of Elkins, 115 S.E. 846, 93 W.Va. 16.
32 C.J. p 476 note 9.

In suit for permanent injunction, where temporary injunction was issued but was not dissolved pending disposition on merits, and decree was entered on the merits dissolving a permanent injunction and dismissing the suit, defendants were not entitled to recover solicitor's fees for services rendered on attempt to dissolve the temporary injunction and in defending the main case before the chancellor and on appeal, since temporary injunction had not been "dissolved" within statute relating to assessment of damages caused by temporary injunction, but became merged in the permanent injunction. —Nestor Johnson Mfg. Co. v. Goldblatt, 21 N.E.2d 723, 371 Ill. 570, 123 A.L.R. 1230, affirming 17 N.E.2d 371, 297 Ill.App. 190.

69. Cal.—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.
Kan.—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.
Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 48 S.W.2d 1074, 243 Ky. 469.
Mo.—Brownlee v. Fenwick, 15 S.W. 611, 103 Mo. 420—Farasy v. Hindert, App., 110 S.W.2d 785, distinguishing earlier Missouri cases apparently to the contrary.
32 C.J. p 477 note 10.

The fact that part of relief sought is permanent injunction does not preclude a recovery of the reasonable and necessary fees and expenses incurred in dissolving a temporary injunction wrongfully granted.—Miner v. Kirksey, 216 P. 284, 113 Kan. 715.

Where discharge of receiver also asked

The fact that the motion to dissolve included also a demand for the discharge of a receiver appointed in the proceedings does not make the motion any the less one to dissolve an injunction, and the right to attorney's fees for the wrongful issuance of the injunction will not be affected merely because there was an equally wrongful receivership coupled with it which must prac-

has been held that the mere fact that there was a separate hearing on a motion to dissolve an ancillary injunction does not authorize an allowance of attorney's fees, where it is necessary that the cause proceed to trial on the merits,[70] unless such separate hearing was had by agreement, with all rights reserved.[71]

Unsuccessful motion to dissolve. According to some decisions, no allowance can be made for fees on an unsuccessful motion to dissolve an injunction, although injunction defendant is successful on the final trial of the action;[72] or where, instead of moving to dissolve, an appeal is taken from an order granting the injunction, which appeal is dismissed on the ground that the order is not appealable, although the injunction is dissolved on final hearing by virtue of the judgment on the main controversy.[73] However, whether counsel fees incurred for purpose of trial are recoverable as damages under an injunction bond, where defendant unsuccessfully resisted the temporary injunction, but was successful at the trial, has been held to depend on whether he tried the action to vacate the injunction or determine the issues;[74] and it has been held that, notwithstanding the unsuccessful motion to dissolve, attorney's fees are recoverable, where the allowance of injunction is eventually proved to have been wrongful,[75] or where the motion is denied not on the merits or for irregularity, but for the reason that the court in its discretion considers it advisable to defer the inquiry into the merits until the final hearing;[76] or where an injunction is the only relief sought,[77] but not where the injunction is merely ancillary.[78]

Modification of injunction. Where, on a motion to dissolve, the court merely modified the injunction instead of dissolving it, fees paid for services in relation to such motion are not recoverable;[79] but there is authority to the contrary.[80]

Separation of services as prerequisite to allowance. Except where attorney's fees for defending the entire action are regarded as recoverable, to authorize an allowance of counsel fees for services rendered in procuring the dissolution of an injunction the evidence ordinarily must discriminate between services rendered in the case generally and services which were strictly necessary to procure a dissolution of the injunction, as a recovery of fees for such services may be had only where they can be segregated from the services rendered in the general defense and trial of the action,[81] although the fact that it is impossible exactly to separate the value of services rendered in securing the dissolution from that of services rendered in examining the tically fall if the injunction fell.—Dempster v. Lansingh, 128 Ill.App. 388, reversed on other grounds 84 N.E. 1032, 234 Ill. 381.

70. Miss.—Lundy v. Greenville Bank & Trust Co., 174 So. 802, 179 Miss. 282.

71. Miss.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757.

In absence of agreement preserving right to hearing of motion to dissolve injunction as interlocutory matter at regular term, separate from hearing on merits, and preserving all defendants' rights as if hearing had been in vacation, granting of attorney's fees for dissolution of injunction would be improper.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757.

72. Cal.—Curtiss v. Bachman, 42 P. 910, 110 Cal. 433, 52 Am.S.R. 111. 32 C.J. p 477 note 11.

73. S.C.—Garlington v. Copeland, 21 S.E. 317, 43 S.C. 389. 32 C.J. p 477 note 17.

74. N.Y.—Granulator Soap Co. v. Haddow, 144 N.Y.S. 610, 159 App. Div. 563.

75. Wis.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22. 32 C.J. p 477 note 12.

76. N.Y.—Andrews v. Glenville Woolen Co., 50 N.Y. 282.

77. Minn.—Neilsen v. Lea, 91 N.W. 1113, 87 Minn. 285.

78. Minn.—Lamb v. Shaw, 45 N.W. 1134, 43 Minn. 507.

79. Miss.—Caston v. Hutson, 104 So. 698, 139 Miss. 890. 32 C.J. p 477 note 19.

80. Modifying order as too broad Where defendant's motion to quash a temporary restraining order was denied, but the lower court, deeming its terms too broad, modified the order slightly to the advantage of the bondsmen, and continued the restraining order in force without further provision concerning the bond, the original bond continued in force pending an appeal from the order refusing to dissolve, and attorney's fees were therefore recoverable in an action on the bond.—Bunston v. Labbitt, 277 P. 419, 84 Mont. 585.

81. U.S.—Houston & North Texas Motor Freight Lines v. Local No. 745, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, D.C.Tex., 27 F.Supp. 262.
Ala.—Smith v. Summers, 112 So. 344, 215 Ala. 690.
Ariz.—Hammond v. A. J. Bayless Markets, 117 P.2d 490, 58 Ariz. 58—Jacobson v. Laurel Canyon Mining Co., 234 P. 823, 27 Ariz. 546—Lambert v. Haskell, 22 P. 327, 80 Cal. 611.
Colo.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Seemann Investment & Fidelity Co., 247 P. 182, 79 Colo. 522—Reagan v. Dick, 240 P. 337, 78 Colo. 148.
Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 691, 60 Idaho 127, quoting Corpus Juris—Beech v. American Surety Co. of New York, 51 P.2d 213, 56 Idaho 159.
Ill.—2063 Lawrence Avenue Bldg. Corporation v. Van Heck, 45 N.E. 2d 687, 317 Ill.App. 59—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428, 443, citing Corpus Juris—McNevin v. Stoolman, 235 Ill.App. 449.
Miss.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.
Neb.—Beatty v. Casselman, 211 N.W. 617, 115 Neb. 104—Darling v. McBride, 125 N.W. 1088, 86 Neb. 481.
Okl.—Leach v. Kincaid, 244 P. 191, 116 Okl. 245.
W.Va.—State ex rel. Perry v. Adkins, 179 S.E. 816, 116 W.Va. 217.
Wyo.—Housley v. Tobin, 286 P. 383, 41 Wyo. 419.
32 C.J. p 477 note 21.

case on its merits will not preclude recovery for services in connection with the dissolution, where the best possible estimate is made.[82]

(3) Necessity of Payment or Obligation to Pay Fees

Attorney's fees are generally recoverable as damages only where they have been paid, or a legal obligation has been incurred therefor.

In order to recover attorney's fees as damages, it is essential either that they have been paid,[83] or that the person claiming the allowance has incurred a legal contractual obligation for the fees,[84] which obligation may be inferred from the facts of the case,[85] and need not be an express agreement.[86] There is authority to the effect that the fees are not recoverable unless they have been actually paid;[87] but such payment generally is not necessary if there is a legal liability for the fees.[88] There can be no recovery of attorney's fees where the services were rendered gratuitously,[89] or where defendant has acted as his own counsel.[90]

A contract for a contingent fee, ordinarily, cannot be used as a basis for recovering attorney's fees as damages.[91]

(4) Amount of Allowance

Attorney's fees for services rendered in procuring the dissolution of the injunction allowed as damages must be reasonable in amount.

The question as to the amount which shall be allowed as counsel fees is addressed largely to the discretion of the court,[92] who may consider his own knowledge in connection with testimony as to the value of the services,[93] and may allow less than the amount fixed as reasonable by witnesses.[94] As a

82. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 90 P.2d 688, 690, 60 Idaho 127—Davidson Grocery Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 21 P. 2d 75, 52 Idaho 795.
Mo.—Akin v. Rice, 117 S.W. 655, 137 Mo.App. 147.

Proportionate part
When a motion to dissolve a temporary injunction is heard with the case on its merits, damages may be awarded on the injunction bond for the proportionate part of the attorney's fees incurred in securing its dissolution where the injunction is not merely ancillary to the main object of the suit.—Farasy v. Hindert, Mo.App., 110 S.W.2d 785.

83. La.—Timkan v. Wisner Estates, 95 So. 711, 153 La. 262.
Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Groff, 275 P. 1032, 135 Okl. 285—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Hooven, 272 P. 852, 134 Okl. 47.

84. Kan.—Garden Plain Farmers' Elevator Co. v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 799, 128 Kan. 218.
La.—Burglass v. Villere, 129 So. 209, 170 La. 805, annulling 125 So. 144, 14 La.App. 314—Alfano v. Franek, 105 So. 598, 159 La. 498—Timkan v. Wisner Estates, 95 So. 711, 153 La. 262.
Miss.—McLeod v. Barnes, 156 So. 517, 170 Miss. 880.
N.H.—Guay v. Brotherhood Bldg. Ass'n, 177 A. 409, 87 N.H. 216, 97 A.L.R. 1053.
Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Groff, 275 P. 1032, 135 Okl. 285—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Hooven, 272 P. 852, 134 Okl. 47.
32 C.J. p 478 note 25.

It is erroneous to make allowance in the absence of any evidence that the person claiming the allowance had become liable to pay for services of counsel in and about the dissolution of the injunction.—Reed v. New York Nat. Exch. Bank, 82 N.E. 341, 230 Ill. 50.

If amount awarded does not exceed statutory limit, reasonable fees may be allowed without proof that they have been paid or that an obligation therefor has been incurred.—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131.

"Fixed liability" for attorney's fee in procuring dissolution of injunction means definitely ascertained and prescribed as to amount.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Groff, 275 P. 1032, 135 Okl. 285.

Election commissioners may defend suit to enjoin placing of candidate's name on election ticket, and make contract with attorneys to defend suit, with payment of fees conditioned on obtaining of dissolution of injunction, and fees in such event to be assessed against them by court.—McLeod v. Barnes, 156 So. 517, 170 Miss. 880.

85. Ill.—School Directors v. School Trustees, 66 Ill. 247.
Mont.—Cook v. Greenough, 36 P. 357, 14 Mont. 352.

86. Ill.—Broken Bow Nat. Bank v. Freeman, 87 Ill.App. 622.
Wash.—Berne v. Maxham, 144 P. 23, 82 Wash. 235.

87. Cal.—Prader v. Grimm, 28 Cal. 11—Wilson v. McEvoy, 25 Cal. 169—Hooper v. Patterson, 32 P. 514, 3 Cal.Unrep. 811—Mason v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 141 P.2d 475, 60 Cal.App.2d 587.

Time of payment as affecting right
Counsel fees incurred for dissolving a restraining order are recoverable, although paid after the day first fixed, provided a retainer was paid before.—Prader v. Grim, 13 Cal. 585.

88. Minn.—Detroit Lakes Realty Co. v. McKenzie, 284 N.W. 60, 204 Minn. 490.
32 C.J. p 477 note 24.

89. Ill.—Reed v. New York Nat. Exch. Bank, 82 N.E. 341, 230 Ill. 50.

90. Ill.—Jevne v. Osgood, 57 Ill. 340—Stinnett v. Wilson, 19 Ill.App. 88.

91. Miss.—Riley v. Hardy, 189 So. 514, 515, 185 Miss. 765, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 478 note 25 [d].

Where defendants' solicitors were to get contingent fee and were to be paid nothing unless chancellor allowed fee as damages, allowance to defendants, on injunction bond, of a solicitor's fee, was unauthorized.—Riley v. Hardy, 189 So. 514, 185 Miss. 765.

92. Miss.—Moss v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 776, 154 Miss. 765, followed in Gray v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Turnage v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Adams v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 126 So. 204—New Orleans, M. & C. R. Co. v. Martin, 62 So. 228, 105 Miss. 230.

93. Ill.—Chicago Wire Chair Co. v. Kennedy & Wright Co., 141 Ill.App. 196.
32 C.J. p 478 note 33.

Court, itself, is expert on question of value of attorney's services in obtaining dissolution of temporary injunction.—Weil v. Richardson, 35 S. W.2d 369, 225 Mo.App. 1237.

94. Ill.—Hunt v. Pronger, 126 Ill. App. 403—Lichtenstadt v. Fleisher, 24 Ill.App. 92.

general rule, a reasonable amount may be allowed as attorney's fees for services rendered in procuring the dissolution of an injunction,[95] and nothing beyond an amount which is reasonable,[96] and according to some decisions customary,[97] will be allowed.

In determining reasonable attorney's fees, consideration should be given to the fact that the fees allowed should bear a reasonable relation to the value of the subject matter involved in the suit,[98] as well as to proof of the reasonable value of the services, taking into consideration the character of the services rendered, the time during which the attorney was engaged therein, and the magnitude of the interests involved;[99] and the amount of the fees is not controlled by the mere fact that the attorney has charged and that the party claiming the allowance has paid or agreed to pay a certain amount as fees,[1] or that the attorney to whom the fee was paid considered it reasonable.[2] In no event, how-

95. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.
Ill.—Warner v. Wende, 228 Ill.App. 153.
La.—Vidal v. Sterlington Gas Corporation, 161 So. 6, 182 La. 19—Valley Camp, W. O. W. v. Bethany Lodge, F. & A. M., App., 190 So. 833—Minden Syrup Co. v. Applegate, App., 150 So. 421—O'Keefe & Simpson v. Main St. Pharmacy, 8 La.App. 443—Lewis v. Ralph, 8 La.App. 48—State ex rel. Baptist Hospital v. Williams, 1 La.App. 341.
Mo.—Weil v. Richardson, 35 S.W.2d 369, 225 Mo.App. 1237.
Wis.—Nauman v. Central Shorewood Bldg. Corporation, 10 N.W.2d 151, 243 Wis. 362—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.
32 C.J. p 478 note 35.

Fees held reasonable

(1) $100 for procuring dissolution of preliminary injunction restraining officers from disposing of assets pending receivership.—Epstein v. Longshoremen's Realty Ass'n, 104 So. 612, 158 La. 672.

(2) $250 for dissolution of injunction restraining passenger from prosecuting suit for injuries in another state.—Missouri Pac. Ry. Co. v. Harden, 105 So. 2, 158 La. 889.

(3) $300 to lessor for dissolving lessee's temporary injunction.—Nauman v. Central Shorewood Bldg. Corporation, 10 N.W.2d 151, 243 Wis. 362.

(4) $400 where dissolution involved trial of entire case.—Mancuso v. Western Automobile Co., Mo.App., 296 S.W. 181.

(5) $400 where the number of hours necessarily employed was 50½.—Wagner v. Okner, 41 N.E.2d 218, 314 Ill.App. 387.

(6) $600 where injunction suit was tried twice and once appealed.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278.

(7) $650 for obtaining dissolution of temporary injunction.—Weil v. Richardson, 35 S.W.2d 369, 225 Mo. App. 1237.

96. D.C.—Maiatico v. Mortgage Sec. Corporation of America, 60 F.2d 1081, 61 App.D.C. 245.
Ill.—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Hooven, 272 P. 852, 134 Okl. 47.
32 C.J. p 478 note 36.

Fees held excessive

(1) $300 reduced to $190.—Ryan Bros. v. Rate, 213 N.W. 218, 203 Iowa 1253.

(2) $500 for dissolving restraining order, where rule to show cause was taken up, argued, and submitted on pleadings, reduced to $250.—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131.

(3) $1,200 for procuring dissolution of injunction restraining distribution of alleged excessive portion of taxes paid into court, reduced to $500.—Silver Creek Co. v. Hutchens, 151 So. 559, 168 Miss. 757.

(4) $5,000 for resisting motion for injunction against appeal from tax assessment by attorney general, reduced to $1,000.—Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees v. Knox, 108 So. 907, 144 Miss. 560.

(5) $7,500 for procuring dissolution of injunction restraining holding of primary elections and conventions by political party, reduced to $3,750.—Johnson v. Howard, 141 So. 573, 167 Miss. 475.

97. Ill.—Delahanty v. Warner, 75 Ill. 185, 20 Am.R. 237—Jevne v. Osgood, 57 Ill. 340—Iliff v. School Directors, 45 Ill.App. 419.

98. Ill.—Alexander v. Colcord, 85 Ill. 323.
N.Y.—Matthews v. Murchison, 14 Abb.N.Cas. 512 note.
32 C.J. p 478 note 40.

99. Ill.—Wagner v. Okner, 41 N.E.2d 218, 314 Ill.App. 387—Leonard v. Pearce, 271 Ill.App. 428.
Miss.—Moss v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 776, 154 Miss. 765, followed in Gray v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Turnage v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Adams v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 126 So. 204.
N.Y.—Matthews v. Murchison, 14 Abb.N.Cas. 512 note.
S.C.—Walker v. Oswald, 186 S.E. 916, 181 S.C. 278.
Wis.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.

Quantum meruit

In absence of contract, value of attorney's services is fixed on quantum meruit.—Albert Pick & Co. v. Stringer, 129 So. 731, 171 La. 131.

Opinion evidence of value of attorney's services in dissolving injunction, although competent, is not indispensable.—Moss v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 776, 154 Miss. 765, followed in Gray v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Turnage v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 122 So. 783, and Adams v. Mississippi Live Stock Sanitary Board, 126 So. 204.

Place of litigation is to be considered, but should not control.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.

If there is no showing of value of attorney's services, a claim for fees for such services may be disallowed.
La.—Simms v. Liuzza, 123 So. 301, 168 La. 714.
Mo.—Boatmen's Nat. Bank of St. Louis v. Cantwell, App., 161 S.W. 2d 431.

Where fees are allowed for defending an appeal from a decree dissolving an injunction, an allowance of half the amount awarded in the court below for counsel fees for procuring a dissolution of the injunction is a fair and adequate allowance.—Brooks-Scanlon Co. v. Stogner, 75 So. 596, 114 Miss. 736—Curphy v. Terrell, 42 So. 235, 89 Miss. 624.

1. Ill.—Dempster v. Lansingh, 128 Ill.App. 388, reversed on other grounds 84 N.E. 1032, 234 Ill. 381.
La.—Vidal v. Sterlington Gas Corporation, 161 So. 6, 182 La. 19.

Attorney's bill is not evidence of services or their value.—Scherzer v. Keller, 151 N.E. 915, 321 Ill. 324.

2. Ill.—Lomax v. Ragor, 85 Ill.App.

ever, can defendant recover more than he has paid or has become bound to pay,[3] or than he himself claims,[4] or beyond the penalty of the injunction bond.[5]

g. Interest

If the damages sustained are liquidated or clearly ascertainable as to amount, interest thereon may also be allowed as damages.

Interest on the damages sustained by reason of the wrongful injunction may be allowed if the amount of the damages is certain or capable of being made certain.[6] Interest may be recovered as damages where the direct and proximate result of the injunction was to deprive the owner, or one entitled to its use, of the use of money, liquidated or clearly ascertainable as to amount,[7] but not where the amount is not liquidated or clearly ascertainable.[8] Where suit on a note is enjoined interest on the note cannot be recovered unless it is shown that the person liable thereon has become insolvent since the injunction, or that plaintiff, without his fault, has suffered some damage equal to such interest.[9]

Where recovery is had on an injunction bond for the face of the bond, interest thereon from the date of the commencement of the action is recoverable,[10] although this makes the recovery for a larger amount than the penalty of the bond.[11]

Computation and rate. Interest can be allowed only on amounts, the payments of which have been deferred or delayed by the injunction, and not on amounts or installments that become due after the dissolution of the injunction.[12] The interest is ordinarily computed at the legal rate,[13] for and during the actual period of the delay caused by the injunction,[14] as, from the date of the injunction order,[15] or the date when the money was impounded,[16] up to the time of the dissolution of the injunction,[17] or until the money is paid into court,[18] and not from the date of filing the suit until the dissolution of the injunction.[19]

h. Damages pending Appeal after Dissolution

Damages arising from the continuance of the injunction pending an appeal after dissolution are generally recoverable.

The injunction bond is generally liable for the damages accruing to defendant in the injunction proceedings by reason of the delay and obstruction of his rights arising from the continuance of the injunction during the pendency of an appeal.[20] It has 679—Rosenthal v. Boas, 27 Ill.App. 430.

3. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.
Ill.—Jevne v. Osgood, 57 Ill. 340—Cors v. Tompkins, 51 Ill.App. 315—Stinnett v. Wilson, 19 Ill.App. 38.
Miss.—Riley v. Hardy, 189 So. 514, 515, 185 Miss. 765, quoting Corpus Juris.

4. La.—Woodward v. Lurty, 11 La. Ann. 280.

5. Idaho.—Idaho Gold Dredging Corporation v. Boise Payette Lumber Co., 115 P.2d 401, 62 Idaho 683.
Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Borodofsky, 108 So. 807, 143 Miss. 585.
If costs in excess of liability on bond have already been paid, attorney's fees cannot be recovered.—Morris v. Bowen, 153 So. 779, 26 Ala. App. 22, certiorari denied 153 So. 780, 228 Ala. 402.
Penalty of bond as limitation of damages generally see supra § 311.

6. Cal.—Panter v. National Surety Co., 171 P. 803, 36 Cal.App. 44.
Md.—Levy v. Taylor, 24 Md. 282.

7. Mont.—McDermott v. American Bonding Co., 179 P. 828, 56 Mont. 1.
32 C.J. p 479 note 53.
On money invested in materials and supplies
On dissolution of temporary injunction against erection of structure, defendants are entitled to interest on moneys invested in materials and supplies, although first payment due on estimate was not delayed and materials were not incorporated until subsequent time.—Muscoda Bridge Co. v. Worden-Allen Co., 239 N.W. 649, 207 Wis. 22, rehearing denied 240 N.W. 802, 207 Wis. 22.

8. Iowa.—Colby v. Meservey, 52 N. W. 499, 85 Iowa 555.
32 C.J. p 479 note 55.

9. N.H.—Derry Bank v. Heath, 45 N.H. 524.

10. Ariz.—American Surety Co. v. Duvall, 196 P. 457, 22 Ariz. 261.
Md.—Levy v. Taylor, 24 Md. 282.
Wash.—Tacoma v. Sperry, 144 P. 544, 82 Wash. 393.
Interest from date of bond is not recoverable.—American Surety Co. v. Duvall, 196 P. 457, 22 Ariz. 261.

11. Wash.—Tacoma v. Sperry, 144 P. 544, 82 Wash. 393.

12. La.—Cannon v. Labarre, 13 La. 399.

13. U.S.—Oelrichs v. Spain, D.C., 15 Wall. 211, 21 L.Ed. 43.
Mo.—St. Louis, Iron Mt. R. Co. v. Schneider, 30 Mo.App. 620.
Mont.—McDermott v. American Bonding Co., 179 P. 828, 56 Mont. 1.

14. N.Y.—Hosack v. Rogers, 9 Paige 461.
32 C.J. p 480 note 64.

15. Iowa.—Chicago, A. & N. R. Co. v. Whitney, 121 N.W. 1043, 143 Iowa 506.
32 C.J. p 480 note 65.

16. Mont.—McDermott v. American Bonding Co., 179 P. 828, 56 Mont. 1.

17. Iowa.—Chicago, A. & N. Ry. Co. v. Whitney, 121 N.W. 1043, 143 Iowa 506.
32 C.J. p 480 note 67.

18. Md.—Wallis v. Dilley, 7 Md. 237.
32 C.J. p 480 note 68.

19. Mo.—Houston v. Welch, 241 S. W. 991, 211 Mo.App. 300.

20. Md.—Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 348.
N.Y.—Fuller v. American Surety Co., 275 N.Y.S. 113, 153 Misc. 432.
Tex.—Johnson v. McMahan, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 920, error refused—Bass v. City of Clifton, Civ.App., 297 S. W. 872.
32 C.J. p 480 note 72, p 435 note 91.
The appeal bond is only cumulative security, except as to the costs on the appeal, for which it alone is answerable.—Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 353.
Right to counsel fees on appeal see supra subdivision f of this section.

been held, however, that a bond conditioned to pay damages accruing by reason of the wrongful suing out of the injunction can be held to cover the damages only up to the dissolution of the injunction, and cannot be held to cover any damages which accrue by reason of wrongfully continuing the injunction in force by means of an appeal bond;[21] and that in case of such an appeal and continuance of the injunction, resort must be had to the appeal bond for the recovery of such damages.[22] A bond given for a temporary injunction does not cover damages on appeal from an order making the injunction permanent.[23]

i. Damages Resulting from Plaintiff's Acts or Omissions

Damages caused by plaintiff's voluntary acts or omissions ordinarily are not recoverable.

The party against whom the injunction was wrongfully issued cannot recover for damages caused by his voluntary act or his omission to act when he should do so.[24] Not only should an injunction defendant do nothing to enhance the damages,[25] but it is his duty to do what he reasonably can to diminish them,[26] or at least to use ordinary care to avoid injury.[27] However, he is not bound to incur any hazard or assume unusual risks, and if he adopts such a course as experienced and prudent persons under similar circumstances would regard proper, he is not responsible if another course might have been adopted which would have been equally safe and proper, and which would have reduced the damages.[28]

§ 316. —— Set-Offs and Deductions

The amount of damages recoverable by defendant in the injunction suit is subject to reduction by any receipts or benefits that have accrued to him, and to a counterclaim for damages which grew out of the transaction which gave rise to the injunction.

The amount recoverable by defendant in the injunction suit as damages on dissolution of the injunction must be reduced by any receipts, benefits, and improvements that accrue to him pending the injunction,[29] and is subject to a counterclaim for damages sustained in, and growing out of, the transaction which gave rise to the injunction.[30] However, the general costs of an injunction are not part of the damages awarded on the undertaking and, where they have been paid, cannot be deducted from the damages allowed;[31] nor are sureties entitled to credit for what has been paid on a judgment in an action enjoined where it appears that the unpaid balance exceeds the penalty of the bond.[32]

21. Ill.—Rees v. Peltzer, 1 Ill.App. 315.
32 C.J. p 480 note 73.

22. Ill.—Rees v. Peltzer, supra.

23. Tex.—Southern Properties v. Carpenter, Civ.App., 21 S.W.2d 372.

24. Ill.—McNevin v. Stoolman, 235 Ill.App. 449.
Ind.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. State ex rel. Ogden, 5 N.E.2d 115, 104 Ind.App. 21.
Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 224, 131 Okl. 134.
32 C.J. p 480 note 75.

25. N.Y.—Roberts v. White, 73 N. Y. 375.

26. U.S.—I. R. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., C.C.A.Ohio, 295 F. 479.
N.Y.—Roberts v. White, 73 N.Y. 375.

Keeping employed

Defendant during the period of the injunction had the right to keep its business organization intact so as to resume business in the event the injunction was dissolved, but was required to reduce the damages from the suspension of its business by keeping profitably employed.—I. R. S. Rubber Co. v. Tee Pee Rubber Co., C.C.A.Ohio, 295 F. 479.

27. Okl.—Wyatt v. Marinoff, 268 P. 224, 131 Okl. 134.
32 C.J. p 480 note 79.

28. N.Y.—Roberts v. White, 73 N.Y. 375.
Vt.—Webb v. Laird, 20 A. 599, 62 Vt. 448, 22 Am.S.R. 121.

29. Ky.—Holliday v. Sphar, 119 S. W.2d 656, 274 Ky. 556—Brandenberg v. Addison, 298 S.W. 1091, 221 Ky. 442.
Tenn.—DaFoe v. Starek, 9 Tenn.App. 668.
32 C.J. p 481 note 98.

Rents received

Where plaintiff was restrained by temporary injunction from fulfilling contract for sale of land, in action on injunction bond, she was not entitled to recover for payments of interest on mortgage on land which prospective purchaser had agreed to assume since plaintiff retained possession and received rents exceeding amount of interest.—Clevenger v. Goltry, 145 N.E. 632, 82 Ind.App. 110.

30. Neb.—Beatty v. Casselman, 211 N.W. 617, 115 Neb. 104.

Damages caused by entry of one who had been enjoined from taking possession of land, as a result of his entry and removal of growing crops, may be counterclaimed.—Tinsley v. Tinsley, 15 B.Mon., Ky., 454.

Where lessee enjoined from erecting engine has obtained an order allowing him to do so under certain restrictions, damages caused by preventing such erection cannot be counterclaimed without showing that the order permitting it has been violated.—Omaha Lith., Etc., Co. v. Simpson, 45 N.W. 261, 29 Neb. 96.

31. N.Y.—Troxell v. Haynes, 16 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 1, 49 How.Pr. 517.
32 C.J. p 481 note 99.

32. U.S.—Jones v. Allen, Ark., 85 F. 523, 29 C.C.A. 318, affirming, C. C., 79 F. 698.
32 C.J. p 482 note 1.

INJURE.

In General

The word "injure" is not a technical term, but it has a popular and well understood meaning[1] and a very wide application.[2]

Ordinary Sense

It has been variously defined as meaning to cause loss or detriment to, to damage and lessen the value of;[3] to damage, to do harm to, or to hurt;[4] to harm;[5] specifically to hurt or wound the person;[6] also to impair or deteriorate in any way;[7] to impair or to impair the soundness of, as health;[8] to make worse[9] or less valuable;[10] to subject to any deleterious or nauseous action or influence;[11] to vex.[12] "Injure" is not referable to, nor is it used in describing, fatal injuries, but it is customarily confined to injuries that are not fatal.[13]

Injured. The participial adjective, or past tense, has been defined as meaning damaged; and always implies a result, rather than a cause.[14]

Technical Sense

While, as indicated in the preceding subdivision the word, "injure" has a popular and less precise signification, the term has an accurate meaning, well known to the law,[15] gathered, no doubt, from its derivation.[16] In its accurate and technical legal sense, it means to deprive of a legal right or rights;[17] to inflict an actionable wrong,[18] or to inflict a damage or detriment upon;[19] to violate or to injure rights;[20] to violate the legal right of another.[21]

Other Terms Compared

It has been said that "injure" is of similar import to, although strictly not interchangeable with, "cheat" see 14 C.J.S. p 1101 in Pocket Parts; and may be synonymous with, and also distinguished from, "defraud" see 26 C.J.S. p 683 notes 12, 15. It has been compared with, or distinguished from, "damage,"[22] "destroy" see 26 C.J.S. p 1246 note 24, "harass" see 39 C.J.S. p 774 note 43, "kill,"[23] and "maim."[24]

"Injured" has been held synonymous with "damaged" see 25 C.J.S. p 444 note 50; and has been compared with, or distinguished from, "destroyed" see 26 C.J.S. p 1247 note 36, "killed,"[25] and "taken" see Eminent Domain § 111.

1. Ky.—Interstate Business Men's Acc. Assoc. v. Dunn, 198 S.W. 727, 728, 178 Ky. 193, 6 A.L.R. 1333.
2. Mo.—State v. Harroun, 98 S.W. 467, 470, 199 Mo. 519.
N.Y.—Christian v. State Conservation Commn., 182 N.Y.S. 347, 348, 191 App.Div. 635.
Has numerous and comprehensive popular meanings
Tex.—Moody v. Levy, 58 Tex. 532, 533.
3. Ohio.—Job v. Harlan, 13 Ohio St. 485, 494.
4. Ill.—Ziolkowski v. Continental Casualty Co., 1 N.E.2d 410, 412, 284 Ill.App. 505—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 501.
32 C.J. p 512 notes 6, 8, 10.
5. N.Y.—Christian v. State Conservation Commn., 182 N.Y.S. 347, 348, 191 App.Div. 635.
6. Ill.—Ziolkowski v. Continental Casualty Co., 1 N.E.2d 410, 412, 284 Ill.App. 505—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.
Ohio.—Williamson v. State, 2 Ohio Cir.Ct. 292, 297, 1 Ohio Cir.Dec. 492.
7. Mo.—State v. Associated Press, 60 S.W. 91, 100, 159 Mo. 410, 81 Am.S.R. 368, 51 L.R.A. 151.
32 C.J. p 512 note 13.
8. Ill.—Ziolkowski v. Continental Casualty Co., 1 N.E.2d 410, 412, 284 Ill.App. 505—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.
32 C.J. p 512 note 12.
9. Ohio.—Job v. Harlan, 13 Ohio St. 485, 494.
10. U.S.—The Ferax, D.C.Mass., 8 F. Cas.No.4,737, 1 Sprague 180, 181.
11. Mo.—State v. Harroun, 98 S.W. 467, 470, 199 Mo. 519.
N.Y.—Christian v. State Conservation Commission, 182 N.Y.S. 347, 348, 191 App.Div. 635.
12. Tex.—Biesenbach v. Key, 63 Tex. 79, 81.
13. Ill.—Ziolkowski v. Continental Casualty Co., 1 N.E.2d 410, 412, 284 Ill.App. 505—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.
Ky.—Interstate Business Men's Acc. Assoc. v. Dunn, 198 S.W. 727, 728, 178 Ky. 193.
14. Ariz.—Pierce v. Phelps Dodge Corporation, 26 P.2d 1017, 1020, 42 Ariz. 436.
15. Eng.—Mogul S. S. Co., Ltd. v. McGregor, 23 Q.B.D. 598, 612—Allen v. Flood, 1898, A. C. 1, 93, 17 E.R.C. 285.
16. Derivation
"The word comes from the Latin words 'in,' meaning against, and 'jus,' meaning a right, and signifies something done 'against the right' of another person, producing either nominal or substantial damage."—Krom v. Antigo Gas Co., 143 N.W. 163, 164, 154 Wis. 528.
17. "Unlawfully to deprive a citizen of the United States of his right to vote at a congressional election is to injure him in any ordinary use of the word 'injure.' "—U. S. v. Stone, D.C.Md., 188 F. 836, 840.
18. Wis.—Krom v. Antigo Gas Co., 143 N.W. 163, 164, 154 Wis. 528.
32 C.J. p 512 note 23.
19. Mo.—State v. Associated Press, 60 S.W. 91, 100, 159 Mo. 410, 81 Am.S.R. 368, 51 L.R.A. 151.
32 C.J. p 512 note 14.
20. Mo.—State v. Harroun, 98 S.W. 467, 470, 199 Mo. 519.
21. Ind.—Trustees of Jennie Depauw Memorial M. E. Church v. New Albany Waterworks, App., 130 N.E. 827, 830.
Wis.—Krom v. Antigo Gas Co., 143 N.W. 163, 164, 154 Wis. 528.
As importing trespass
The term "injure" has been held to be one of several words, all of which contemplate acts of trespass.—State v. Porter, 25 W.Va. 685, 689.
22. Wis.—Krom v. Antigo Gas Co., 143 N.W. 163, 164, 154 Wis. 528.
23. Ohio.—Williamson v. State, 2 Ohio Cir.Ct. 292, 297, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 492.
24. "Maim" compared
Ala.—Richmond v. State, 58 So. 973, 974, 4 Ala.App. 139.
25. Ky.—Interstate Business Men's Acc. Ass'n v. Dunn, 198 S.W. 727, 728, 178 Ky. 193.
Ohio.—Williamson v. State, 2 Ohio Cir.Ct. 292, 297, 1 Ohio Cir.Dec. 492.

In Phrases

Phrases employing the word are listed in the note.[26] For other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 32 C.J. p 512 note 24–p 513 note 50.

IN JURE or IN JUS. See 42 C.J.S. p 489 notes 8, 9.

IN JURE NON REMOTA CAUSA, SED PROXIMA SPECTATUR.[27]

INJURES GRAVES. In French law, grievous insults or injuries.[28]

INJURIA. The Latin word, "injuria," is said to be a technical word,[29] which comes from "in," against, and "jus, juris," right.[30] It means an actionable wrong;[31] injury, wrong, the privation or violation of right;[32] a tortious act, not necessarily willful and malicious,[33] but importing wrong intent;[34] something done against the right of the person, producing damage, and without reference to the fact or amount of damages.[35]

26. Phrases construed

(1) "Injured . . . by accident" see 1 C.J.S. p 446 note 97.

(2) "Injured party" in suits for divorce see Divorce §§ 12, 49 note 79.

(3) "Injure or defraud," as equivalent to "defraud" see 26 C.J.S. p 683 note 12.

(4) "Intent to injure," as meaning intent to do wrongful harm, more than mere intent to harm.—State v. Van Pelt, 49 S.E. 177, 187, 136 N.C. 633, 68 L.R.A. 760, 1 Ann.Cas. 495—32 C.J. p 512 note 9 [a].

(5) "'Of kin' to the 'injured party,'" within a statute relating to the competency of jurors in criminal prosecution, held to refer to a relative of the prosecutrix who signed complaint for assault with intent to rape, since she was the "injured party."—State v. Thomas, Mo., 174 S.W.2d 337, 338. Juror's personal relations generally as affecting his competency see the C.J.S. title Juries § 228, also 35 C.J. p 331 note 96–p 332 note 21.

(6) "Party injured," has been held equivalent to "party so damaged" see 25 C.J.S. p 444 note 61, and has been said to mean the party "wronged by the action of the other."—Byers v. Byers, 25 S.E.2d 466, 469, 223 N.C. 85—Lee v. Lee, 108 S.E. 352, 182 N.C. 61.

(7) "Person injured."

Colo.—Lee v. City of Ft. Morgan, 235 P. 348, 349, 77 Colo. 348.

Iowa.—State v. Ousley, 147 N.W. 849, 850, 166 Iowa 607.

Or.—Cash v. Portland Ry., Light & Power Co., 179 P. 909, 911, 92 Or. 31.

Tex.—City of Dallas v. Shows, Com. App., 212 S.W. 633, 634.

Vt.—Eames v. Brattleboro, 54 Vt. 471, 475.

32 C.J. p 513 note 45.

(8) "Person so injured," as applied to one injured in his property.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 173, 228 Mo.App. 519.

(9) "With intent to injure or endanger the safety of the vessel, or of her cargo, or of persons on board" construed as having the natural meaning, fully expressed, of "with intent to injure the vessel, her cargo, or persons on board, or to endanger the safety of the vessel, or her cargo, or of persons on board," for while "endanger the safety" is a common expression, "injure the safety" is a most unusual expression, since injury is commonly affirmed as done to a person or a concrete thing rather than to an abstract idea like "safety."—Marchese v. U. S., C.C.A. Fla., Ga., La., Tex., 126 F.2d 671, 674.

27. A maxim meaning "In law, the proximate and not the remote cause is regarded."—Black L.D.

See also Causa Proxima Non Remota Spectatur 14 C.J.S. p 41 note 86.

Applied or explained in

Kan.—Rodgers v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 88 P. 885, 75 Kan. 222, 223, 121 Am.S.R. 416, 10 L.R.A.,N.S., 658, 12 Ann.Cas. 441.

Mass.—Lynn Gas & Electric Co. v. Meriden Fire Ins. Co., 33 N.E. 691, 692, 158 Mass. 570, 35 Am.S.R. 540, 20 L.R.A. 297.

32 C.J. p 513 note 51 [a].

Slightly different wording of maxim

"In jure non remota causa, sed proxima specta."—Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S.W. 160, 163, 61 Tex.Civ.App. 80.

Similarly rendered

(1) "In law the immediate not the remote cause of any event is regarded."—Carlston v. Municipal Council, 7 Newfoundl. 509, 515.

(2) "In law, the proximate and not the remote cause is to be looked into."—Bouvier L.D.

"Proxima" in the maxim held not to mean necessarily the cause or agency nearest in point of time or place.

Mass.—Lynn Gas & Electric Co. v. Meriden Fire Ins. Co., 33 N.E. 691, 692, 158 Mass. 570, 35 Am.S.R. 540, 20 L.R.A. 297.

N.Y.—Bird v. St. Paul F. & M. Ins. Co., 167 N.Y.S. 707, 708, 180 App. Div. 470.

Tex.—Houston & T. C. R. Co. v. Maxwell, 128 S.W. 160, 163, 61 Tex.Civ. App. 80.

28. Black L.D.

Personal insults and reproachful language are included in the "injures graves"—grievous insults—which are by the Code Napoleon made a just cause of divorce, but are not, either in terms or by implication, made under our law the cause for the dissolution of the marriage bond.—Butler v. Butler, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas.,Pa., 329, 346. See generally Divorce § 24 et seq.

29. N.Y.—Addington v. Allen, 11 Wend. 374, 408.

30. U.S.—King v. Lamborn, Idaho, 186 F. 21, 28, 108 C.C.A. 123.

W.Va.—West Virginia Transp. Co. v. Standard Oil Co., 40 S.E. 591, 592, 50 W.Va. 611, 88 Am.S.R. 895, 56 L.R.A. 804.

31. N.C.—Bennett v. Winston-Salem Southbound R. Co., 87 S.E. 133, 135, 170 N.C. 389, L.R.A.1916D 1074.

32. Black L.D.

33. N.Y.—Barnes v. Allen, 1 Abb. Dec. 111, 117, 1 Keyes 390.

32 C.J. p 513 note 57.

34. More than wrong act

"The technical word injuria means not simply a wrong act, but a wrong act with a wrong intent."—Addington v. Allen, 11 Wend.,N.Y., 374, 408.

35. U.S.—King v. Lamborn, Idaho, 186 F. 21, 28, 108 C.C.A. 123.

W.Va.—West Virginia Transp. Co. v. Standard Oil Co., 40 S.E. 591, 593, 50 W.Va. 611, 88 Am.S.R. 895, 56 L.R.A. 804.

"The injuria of the Roman law, sometimes translated injury and at other times outrage, and which is generally understood at this time to convey the idea of legal wrong, was held to embrace many acts resulting in damage for which the law would give redress. It embraced all of those wrongs which were the result of a direct invasion of the rights of the person and the rights of property which are enumerated in all of the commentaries on the common law, and which are so familiar to every one at this time. But it included more. An outrage was committed not only by striking with the fists, or with the club or lash, but also by shouting until a

In the civil law, "injuria" means generally injury, or injustice.[36]

"Injuria" has been distinguished from "damnum" see 25 C.J.S. p 996 note 19.

In Spanish, the word "injuria," besides the broad general meaning, above indicated, of anything against justice, reason, or right, has a peculiar, specific meaning restricted to whatever one does, says, or writes with the intent to disgrace or discredit another or hold him up to contempt, ridicule, or scorn,[37] the Spanish word being compared with, or distinguished from, "calumnia" see 12 C.J.S. p 887 note 78.

A brief discussion of "injuria" in Spanish criminal law, with citations of the applicable articles of the penal codes is contained in 32 C.J. p 514 notes 60–73. Analogous subject matter in American law is treated in the C.J.S. title Libel and Slander § 281 et seq, also 37 C.J. p 138 note 39 et seq.

INJURIA FIT EI CUI CONVICIUM DICTUM EST, VEL DE EO FACTUM CARMEN FAMOSUM.[38]

INJURIA ILLATA JUDICI, SEU LOCUM TENENTI REGIS VIDETUR IPSI REGI ILLATA MAXIME SI FIAT IN EXERCENTEM OFFICIUM.[39]

INJURIA NON EXCUSAT INJURIAM.[40]

INJURIA NON FIT VOLENTI.[41]

INJURIA NON PRÆSUMITUR.[42]

INJURIA PROPRIA NON CADET BENEFICIUM FACIENTIS.[43]

INJURIA SERVI DOMINUM PERTINGIT.[44]

INJURIOUS. That which is hurtful, disturbs happiness, impairs rights, or prevents their enjoyment.[45] The term implies a real, not a fanciful, disturbing cause,[46] and is the opposite of "first-class" see 36 C.J.S. p 824 note 39.

Phrases employing the word are set out in the note.[47]

INJURIOUSLY. In an injurious or hurtful manner; wrongfully; mischievously; abusively; maliciously.[48] crowd gathered around one; and it was an outrage, or legal wrong, to merely follow an honest woman or young boy or girl; and it was declared in unequivocal terms that these illustrations were not exhaustive, but that an injury or legal wrong was committed 'by numberless other acts.'"—Pavesich v. New England L. Ins. Co., 50 S.E. 68, 71, 122 Ga. 190, 106 Am.S.R. 104, 69 L.R.A. 101, 2 Ann.Cas. 561.

36. Escriche Diccionario.
32 C.J. p 513 note 59.

"Injuria absque damno"

Injury or wrong without damage. A wrong done, but from which no loss or damage results, and which, therefore, will not sustain an action. —Black L.D. See also Damnum Absque Injuria, 25 C.J.S. p 996 notes 21–24.

"Injuria sine damno"

(1) A wrong without damage.—Purdy v. Manhattan El. R. Co., 13 N.Y.S. 295, 297.

(2) It has been contrasted with "wrong."—Western Union Tel. Co. v. Ferguson, 60 N.E. 674, 676, 157 Ind. 64, 54 L.R.A. 846.

37. Escriche Diccionario, citing Spanish Pen Code lib II tit X caps II, III.

38. A maxim meaning "An injury is done to him of whom a reproachful thing is said or concerning whom an infamous song is made."—Black L.D., citing Lamb's Case, 9 Coke 59b, 60a, 77 Reprint 822.

39. A maxim meaning "An injury offered to a judge or person representing the king, is considered as offered to the king himself, especially if it be done in the exercise of his office."—Black L.D.

40. A maxim meaning "A wrong does not excuse a wrong."—Trayner Leg.Max.

Applied in Mogul S. S. Co., Ltd. v. McGregor, 23 Q. B. D. 598, 604—Hilton v. Eckersley, 6 E. & B. 47, 76, 88 E.C.L. 47, 119 Reprint 781.

Similarly rendered

"One wrong does not justify another."—Black L.D.

41. A variant form of the maxim "Volenti Non Fit Injuria" meaning, "An injury is not done to him who wills it." See 67 C.J. p 270 note 4.

Applied in Johnson v. New York, 78 N.E. 715, 718, 186 N.Y. 139, 116 Am.S.R. 545, 9 Ann.Cas. 824.

42. A maxim meaning "Wrong is not presumed."—Traynor Leg.Max.

Applied in State v. Townley, 18 N.J.Law 311, 317.

Similarly rendered

"Injury is not presumed;" that is, "Cruel, oppressive, or tortious conduct will not be presumed."—Black L.D.

43. A maxim meaning "One's own wrong shall not fall to the advantage of him that does it."—Black L.D.

More freely rendered

(1) "No one shall profit by his own wrong."—Bouvier L.D.

(2) "A man will not be allowed to derive benefit from his own wrongful act."—Black L.D.

44. A maxim meaning "The master is liable for injury done by his servant."—Black L.D.

45. N.Y.—Rowland v. Miller, 15 N.Y.S. 701.

46. Something more than mere delicacy or fastidiousness; but it need not necessarily be apparent to the senses of sight, smell, or hearing, for it may be injurious without offending any of them.—Rowland v. Miller, supra.

47. Phrases construed

(1) "Injurious accident."—Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Raiordon, 13 A. 324, 119 Pa. 577, 583, 4 Am.S.R. 670.

(2) "Injurious or offensive to the neighboring inhabitants."—Rowland v. Miller, 15 N.Y.S. 701.

(3) "Injurious to health."—Lexington Mill & Elevator Co. v. U. S., Mo., 202 F. 615, 619, 121 C.C.A. 15.

(4) "Injurious words," in Louisiana, slander; libelous words.—Black L.D. See generally the C.J.S. title Libel and Slander, § 1, also 36 C.J. p 1146 notes 58–61; and §§ 14, 15, also 36 C.J. p 1165 note 34–p 1166 note 56.

(5) "What is injurious," contrasted with "benefit" see 10 C.J.S. p 339 note 85.

48. Century D.

Phrases construed

(1) "Injuriously affected," has

INJURY.

In General

A generic term,[49] which, in ordinary modern usage, is of very broad designation,[50] having more than one meaning,[51] for, as indicated in the following subdivisions, it may have a legal import as well as numerous and comprehensive popular meanings. The exact signification of the word "injury" has been considered and discussed by courts on numerous occasions, and their rulings are not always harmonious,[52] since it is often difficult to lay down any actual definition of what constitutes an injury, because it is always a question of compound facts.[53] In the broad sense, the term includes injury to person, property, reputation, and rights.[54]

References to particular applications or specific uses of the word are set out in the note.[55]

General and Popular Sense

The word "injury" has numerous and comprehensive popular meanings,[56] which, however, may be grouped under two general heads: It may indicate a hurt, as distinguished from the infliction of the hurt; or it may indicate the infliction of a hurt, as distinguished from the hurt inflicted.[57] In the latter sense, it has been defined as an act resulting in damage;[58] an act which damages, harms, or hurts;[59] detriment to, or violation of, person, character, feelings, rights, property, or interests, or the value of a thing;[60] a source of harm;[61] a wrong;[62] every wrong, everything that is not done rightfully;[63] whatever reduces the utility or mars the integrity of the body;[64] and, in the former sense, as meaning damage, detriment, or harm;[65] damage or hurt done to, or suffered by, a person or thing;[66] detriment to property or interests, or to the value of a thing;[67] been held synonymous with "damaged" see 25 C.J.S. p 444 note 51; and has been contrasted with "actually taken" in State v. Hoblitt, 288 P. 181, 185, 87 Mont. 403.

(2) "Injuriously and wrongfully," as including "unlawfully" see Indictments and Informations § 136.

49. U.S.—Standard Life & Accident Ins. Co. v. McNulty, Colo., 157 F. 224, 225, 85 C.C.A. 22.

50. Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.
32 C.J. p 515 note 92.

51. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 172, 228 Mo.App. 519.

52. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 183 Cal. 273.

53. N.J.—Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Co. v. Doyle, 64 A. 156, 159, 73 N.J.Law 521.

54. Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 809, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.

55. Cross references

(1) Admiralty jurisdiction over suits for injuries see Admiralty §§ 59–65.

(2) Bankrupt's right of action arising from injury to property as vesting in trustee see Bankruptcy § 194 a.

(3) Constitutional guaranty of a remedy for injuries to person or property see Constitutional Law § 709 c.

(4) Injuries by, or to, animals see Animals §§ 142–254.

(5) Injury as reversible error see Criminal Law § 1088 a.

(6) "Injury," or "injuries," within compensation acts see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 152–265, also 71 C.J. p 559 note 61–p 772 note 34.

(7) Injury to business see such C.J.S. titles as Attachment § 179 c (5), § 559 notes 34–37; Bridges § 43 b; Conspiracy §§ 10, 12, 20, § 24 note 33, § 33 notes 72–76, § 65; Damages §§ 42, 55, 80 note 81, § 90 notes 12–15, § 121 note 2, § 199 note 63; Eminent Domain § 111 note 67, §§ 162, 274 note 44, § 446 note 79; Libel and Slander §§ 32–52, also 36 C.J. p 1180 note 2–p 1192 note 22, § 164, also 37 C.J. p 30 notes 7–17, § 170, also 37 C.J. p 38 notes 40–45; Municipal Corporations § 1248, also 44 C.J. p 441 note 90–p 442 note 97; Nuisances § 19, also 46 C.J. p 680 notes 94–96; Sequestration § 21, also 57 C.J. p 269 notes 43, 44; Sheriffs and Constables § 74, also 57 C.J. p 841 notes 89–93; and Threats and Unlawful Communications § 3, also 62 C.J. p 934 notes 51–58.

(8) Injury to reputation see such C.J.S. titles as Actions § 92 b (2) (4); Arrest § 25 c notes 38–44; Attachment § 179 c notes 93–95, § 545 b note 18, § 559 notes 49, 50; Conspiracy § 16 note 28, §§ 59, 63; Libel and Slander § 1, also 36 C.J. p 1142 notes 21–33, §§ 13–31, also 36 C.J. p 1163 note 19–p 1180 note 1, § 283, also 37 C.J. p 139 note 54–p 140 note 89; and Sequestration § 21, also 57 C.J. p 269 notes 45–47.

56. Tex.—Moody v. Levy, 58 Tex. 532, 533.

57. U.S.—Spaunhorst v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U. S., D.C.Mo., 14 F.Supp. 154, 155.

58. Wis.—Wells v. Wisconsin River Power Co., 167 N.W. 445, 446, 167 Wis. 345.

59. U.S.—Spaunhorst v. Equitable Life Assurance Society of U. S., D.C.Mo., 14 F.Supp. 154, 155.

Mo.—Myers v. Independence, 189 S. W. 816, 823.

N.Y.—Ritchie v. Standard Surety & Casualty Co. of New York, 13 N. Y.S.2d 1022, 1023, 257 App.Div. 545.

60. Ill.—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.

61. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commission, 191 P. 26, 183 Cal. 273, 275.

62. Ky.—Randolph v. Snyder, 129 S. W. 562, 564, 139 Ky. 159.
32 C.J. p 515 note 9.

63. Mo.—Hartridge v. St. Louis United R. Co., App., 196 S.W. 59, 61.

N.Y.—Ayers v. Lawrence, 59 N.Y. 192, 197.

64. Ill.—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.

65. Ill.—Gillman v. Chicago R. Co., 109 N.E. 181, 182, 268 Ill. 305.

Ohio.—Cincinnati St. Ry. Co. v. Clock, 197 N.E. 592, 593, 50 Ohio App. 139.

66. Ill.—Porter v. Continental Casualty Co., 277 Ill.App. 492, 500.

N.Y.—Ritchie v. Standard Surety & Casualty Co. of New York, 13 N. Y.S.2d 1022, 1023, 257 App.Div. 545.

Requires an object

Injury is commonly affirmed as done to a person or concrete thing.—Marchese v. U. S., C.C.A.Fla., Ga., La., Tex., 126 F.2d 671, 674.

67. U.S.—Tamm v. Ford Motor Co., C.C.A.Mo., 80 F.2d 723, 727.

Similarly expressed

Something affecting the capacity of the property for ordinary use, or causing a discomfort in the enjoyment of it that threatens the health or welfare of the occupant, with resultant injury to the property.—Essick v. Shillam, 32 A.2d 416, 418, 347 Pa. 373, 146 A.L.R. 1399.

hurt;[68] hurt or loss caused to, or sustained by, a person;[69] any wrong, damage, or mischief done or suffered;[70] a wrong or damage done to another,[71] either in his person, rights, reputation, or property;[72] any wrong or damage done to that which is good or valuable.[73] Examples illustrating the scope of the term, used in its popular sense, are set out in the note.[74]

Legal Sense

In harmony with the legal concept or principle that no cause of action arises from the doing of a lawful act or the exercise of a legal right if done or exercised in a lawful manner, discussed in Actions § 15 b, the word "injury" in a legal sense connotes "wrong,"[75] implies violation of a legal right,[76] and, as in the popular sense, supra note 57, it may sometimes be used to indicate either the invasion of a right or the damages resulting from such invasion, the word being frequently used indiscriminately in these two different senses.[77] So in common use, it is employed broadly enough to cover both the damnum and the injuria of the common law, and at this day its common and approved legal usage extends to and includes any hurtful or damaging effect which may be suffered by anyone,[78] and is often used even in statutes and other instruments, not in its technical legal sense, but in its popular and usual sense,[79] as meaning damage resulting from an unlawful act[80] or from a violation of a legal right.[81] In the strict sense of the law, however, especially the common law, its meaning corresponds to its etymology,[82] discussed in the definition of the word "injure" ante p 1109 note 16, and it has been said that the word has a legal import,[83] having acquired in law a well defined and well understood meaning,[84] so that its generally accepted legal definition is more restricted.[85] It means a wrongful invasion

68. Mont.—Ryan v. Ryan, 34 P. 494, 496, 33 Mont. 406.
32 C.J. p 515 note 17.

Physical hurt
As commonly used "injury" has been said to refer to a physical hurt rather than to include mental suffering caused by outrage to one's feelings and self-respect.—Hartridge v. St. Louis United R. Co., Mo.App., 196 S.W. 59, 61.

69. Ohio.—Cincinnati St. Ry. Co. v. Clock, 197 N.E. 592, 593, 50 Ohio App. 139.

70. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 183 Cal. 273, 275.

71. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., supra.
Okl.—Andrews Mining & Milling Co. v. Atkinson, 135 P.2d 960, 962.
32 C.J. p 515 note 7.

72. N.C.—Hitch v. Edgecombe County, 44 S.E. 80, 132 N.C. 573, 575.
32 C.J. p 515 note 7.

73. N.Y.—Utica v. Blakeslee, 46 How.Pr. 165, 167.

74. Scope of term discussed
(1) In the usual meaning, that is, in the sense of hurt or damage it has been said that "injury" includes damages or injuries resulting to relative rights as well as direct injuries or injuries to absolute rights.—David v. City of St. Louis, 96 S.W. 2d 353, 356, 339 Mo. 241, 106 A.L.R. 849, citing Corpus Juris.

(2) In common speech, the word "injury," as applied to a personal injury to a human being, includes whatever lesion or change in any part of the system produces harm or pain or a lessened facility of the natural use of any bodily activity or capability.
Ind.—Wasmuth-Endicott Co. v. Karst, 133 N.E. 609, 610, 77 Ind. App. 279.
Mass.—In re Burns, 105 N.E. 601, 603, 218 Mass. 8, Ann.Cas.1916A 787.
Va.—Burlington Mills Corporation v. Hagood, 13 S.E.2d 291, 293, 177 Va. 204.

(3) The word "injury" may be used in a sense to include all of the harm done to a person.—Hansen v. Dakota Transp. Co., 273 N.W. 261, 264, 65 S.D. 277.

(4) It may include an injury from strain or overexertion due to a physical condition which predisposes one to injury.—Herron Lumber Co. v. Neal, 172 S.W.2d 252, 254, 205 Ark. 1093, citing Corpus Juris.

(5) Under particular circumstances "injury" may be applicable to, or may include disease.
Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 28, 29, 183 Cal. 273—Bianco v. Industrial Accident Commission, App., 142 P.2d 73, 77—Bonner v. Industrial Accident Commission, App., 140 P.2d 1000, 1003.
Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.

(6) The term sometimes connotes a compensable injury and is correlated to an incapacity or disability justifying a compensatory award.—Bianco v. Industrial Accident Commission, supra.

(7) Hard work is not an "injury" although it may augment an injury, or accelerate the injurious results of an accident.—Bishop v. Morrison-Knudsen Co., Idaho, 137 P.2d 963, 967.

(8) Pregnancy, being a natural condition for a married woman, is not an "injury."—Carter v. Howard, 86 P.2d 451, 455, 160 Or. 507.

75. N.J.—State v. Rombolo, 103 A. 203, 204, 91 N.J.Law 560.

76. U.S.—Keogh v. Chicago & N. W. Ry. Co., Ill., 43 S.Ct. 47, 49, 260 U.S. 156, 67 L.Ed. 183—Maltz v. Sax, C.C.A.Ill., 134 F.2d 2, 4.

77. Ill.—Gillman v. Chicago R. Co., 109 N.E. 181, 182, 268 Ill. 305.

78. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 172, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 516 notes 30, 31.

As effect
Under particular circumstances, it has been defined as effect on the result.—State v. Reddington, 64 N.W. 170, 171, 7 S.D. 368.

79. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 172, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 516 note 32.

80. Minn.—Bohn Mfg. Co. v. Hollis, 55 N.W. 1119, 1121, 54 Minn. 223, 40 Am.S.R. 319, 21 L.R.A. 337.
32 C.J. p 515 note 12.

81. R.I.—Macauley v. Tierney, 33 A. 1, 2, 19 R.I. 255, 61 Am.S.R. 770, 37 L.R.A. 455.

82. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Accident Commission, 191 P. 26, 27, 183 Cal. 273.
Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.

83. Tex.—Moody v. Levy, 58 Tex. 532, 533.

84. Mich.—Cooke v. Holland Furnace Co., 166 N.W. 1013, 1015, 200 Mich. 192, L.R.A.1918E 552.

85. Wis.—Wisconsin Tel. Co. v. Railroad Commn., 156 N.W. 614, 620, 162 Wis. 383, L.R.A.1916E 748.

of legal rights, and is not concerned with the hurt or damage resulting from such invasion,[86] being thus used in the familiar law phrase "damage without injury," or its Latin equivalent, "damnum absque injuria,"[87] and therefore, in its strict, technical, legal sense, "injury" has been defined to be a legal wrong as would be the subject of an action for damages at common law;[88] an actionable wrong;[89] an actionable wrong to property in the abstract, as distinguished from a physical hurt or damage to a specific article of property;[90] the deprivation of a legal right;[91] something for which an action will lie in behalf of the injured person;[92] a tort;[93] the unlawful infringement or privation of a right;[94] a wrong done to a person, or, in other words, a violation of his right;[95] a wrongful act or tort which causes loss or harm to another.[96]

In the civil law. A delict committed in contempt or outrage of anyone, whereby his body, his dignity, or his reputation is maliciously injured.[97]

Other Terms Compared

Synonyms or equivalents: "Accident" see 1 C.J.S. p 434 note 64, "damage" see Actions § 15 a notes 54, 55, "disability" see 26 C.J.S. p 1323 note 60, "legal injury,"[98] "loss,"[99] and "wrongful act or neglect."[1]

Compared with, or distinguished from: "Accident" see 1 C.J.S. p 429 note 38, p 434 note 65, "damage" see Actions § 15 a notes 56–58, "death,"[2] "destruction" see 26 C.J.S. p 1247 note 58, "disability" see 26 C.J.S. p 1323 note 65, "disease" see 27 C.J.S. p 143 note 87, "incapacity" see 42 C.J.S. p 500 note 86, "loss,"[3] "loss of life,"[4] "pecuniary loss,"[5] and "wound."[6]

"Wanton injury." Generally speaking, a "wanton injury" is one which is inflicted in disregard of another's rights;[7] more specifically, the conscious doing of some act or omission of some duty under knowledge of existing conditions and with the consciousness that from the doing of such act or omission of such duty injury will likely or probably re-

In judicial proceedings
It should be used intelligently and with due regard to its proper meaning.—Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Marchant, 13 A. 690, 696, 119 Pa. 541, 558, 4 Am.S.R. 659.

86. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 172, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 516 note 28.

87. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Accident Commission, 191 P. 26, 27, 183 Cal. 273.
Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.
See also Actions § 15, and 25 C.J.S. p 996 notes 21–24.

88. Wash.—Smith v. St. Paul, M. & M. R. Co., 81 P. 840, 844, 39 Wash. 355, 109 Am.S.R. 889, 70 L.R.A. 1018.
32 C.J. p 516 note 33.

89. U.S.—Tamm v. Ford Motor Co., C.C.A.Mo., 80 F.2d 723, 727.
Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 172, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 516 note 34.

90. U.S.—Tamm v. Ford Motor Co., C.C.A.Mo., 80 F.2d 723, 727.

91. Colo.—Brittle Silver Co. v. Rust, 51 P. 526, 529, 10 Colo.App. 463.
32 C.J. p 516 note 37.

92. N.C.—Hitch v. Edgecombe County, 44 S.E. 80, 132 N.C. 573, 675.

93. Ky.—Randolph v. Snyder, 129 S.W. 562, 564, 139 Ky. 159.
32 C.J. p 516 note 35.

94. Pa.—Manning v. Klein, 1 Pa.Super. 210, 217.

95. Conn.—Sharkey v. Skilton, 77 A. 950, 952, 83 Conn. 503.
32 C.J. p 516 note 36.

Violation of right essential
"The term 'injury,' as used in the maxim [That to which a person assents is not esteemed in law an injury] is not synonymous with 'damage.' To constitute an injury in the sense there expressed, there must be a violation of some legal right; while damage is the harm, detriment or loss sustained by reason of the injury."—Carleton v. Fairbanks, 93 A. 462, 88 Vt. 537, 550.

96. Ind.—North Vernon v. Voegler, 2 N.E. 821, 824, 103 Ind. 314.

Injuries from judicial proceedings
N.Y.—McGune v. Palmer, 28 N.Y.Super. 607, 608—Wordsworth v. Lyon, 5 How.Pr. 463, 464.

Legal justification
"The word 'injury,' as generally used, includes any act or omission which harms or damages another, whether it be or be not justified by law."—Barry v. McCollom, 70 A. 1035, 81 Conn. 293, 297, 129 Am.S.R. 215.

Nonfeasance
Injury may arise "by nonfeasance or the not doing what was a legal obligation or duty."—Randolph v. Snyder, 129 S.W. 562, 564, 139 Ky. 159, 164.

97. Black L.D.

98. "Injury" construed as "legal injury"
Pa.—Jackman v. Rosenbaum Co., 106 A. 238, 241, 268 Pa. 158.

99. Iowa.—Geo. Birrell, Inc. v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 188 N.W. 26, 29, 193 Iowa 860.
Ky.—Drury v. Franke, 57 S.W.2d 969, 982, 247 Ky. 758, 88 A.L.R. 917.
Tex.—United Service Automobile Ass'n v. Miles, Com.App., 161 S.W.2d 1048, 1050, citing Corpus Juris—Miles v. United Services Automobile Ass'n, Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 233, 235.

1. N.H.—Yeaton v. Boston & M. R. Co., 61 A. 522, 524, 73 N.H. 285.

2. "'Injury' and 'death' are by no means synonymous"
Ga.—New v. Southern R. Co., 42 S.E. 391, 392, 116 Ga. 147, 59 L.R.A. 115—Seaboard Air-Line R. Co. v. Smith, 60 S.E. 353, 354, 3 Ga.App. 644.

3. Mont.—Nelson v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 72 P. 642, 648, 28 Mont. 297.

4. Ky.—Interstate Business Men's Assoc. v. Dunn, 198 S.W. 727, 729, 178 Ky. 193, 6 A.L.R. 1333.

5. Mont.—Stillwell v. Rankin, 174 P. 186, 187, 55 Mont. 130.

6. Injury is a broader term than "wound"
Mo.—State v. Henggeler, 278 S.W. 743, 746, 312 Mo. 15.

7. Pa.—Collins v. Rosenberg, 161 A. 580, 106 Pa.Super. 269.
Wash.—Hiatt v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 244 P. 994, 995, 138 Wash. 558.

sult,[8] an injury produced by conscious and intentional wrongful act, or omission of known duty with reckless indifference to consequences.[9]

"Wanton injury" has been said to be the moral equivalent of "intentional injury," although strictly differing therefrom, see infra note 52; similarly as to "willful or intentional injury;"[10] and it has been contrasted with an injury caused by breach of the duty to exercise ordinary care or by mere actionable negligence.[11]

In Phrases

The word "injury" or "injuries" occurs in numerous phrases as indicated in this subdivision.

"Absolute injuries." Absolute injuries are injuries to those rights which a person possesses as a member of society.[12] Among absolute injuries to the person are classed batteries, injuries to health, libel, malicious prosecutions, and slander.[13]

"Injury to the person" or "Personal injury." These words have been given in many connections a comprehensive definition.[14] They have been extensively applied and variously construed in such C.J.S. titles as Assault and Battery §§ 7, 12, 18, 19, 68, 72, 79, 92, 93, 123; Damages §§ 25, 31, 36, 47, 56–70, 81, 86, 87, 93, 94, 121 b, 135, 146–150, 185, 198; Homicide §§ 114–130; Master and Servant § 171 et seq, also 39 C.J. p 259 note 27 et seq; Motor Vehicles § 168 et seq, also 42 C.J. p 833 note 42 et seq; Negligence § 6, also 45 C.J. p 661 note 32–p 662 note 37, § 23 et seq, also 45 C.J. p 740 note 87 et seq; Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 152–265, also 71 C.J. p 559 note 61–p 772 note 64; §§ 289–320, also 71 C.J. p 793 note 1–p 853 note 95; and others referred to in 32 C.J. p 520 note 97 and in the Descriptive-Word Index.

In general, a "personal injury" is an injury to the person of an individual;[15] but in its exact and legal significance is the equivalent of "personal wrong," and in a restrictive sense is the equivalent of "bodily injury."[16] Although authorities may be found which construe the phrase "injury to the person" to mean only such injury as would support an action for trespass vi et armis,[17] it is not confined to the instances where the wrong can be described technically as trespass to the person vi et armis,[18] for the phrase "personal injuries" is not necessarily limited to bodily or physical injuries,[19] but may include acts which do not involve physical contact with the person injured;[20] and the words "injuries to the person" have been judicially held to include injuries to the relative rights of persons[21] as well as injuries to their absolute rights.[22] Specifically, "personal injury" has been defined as including libel, slander, criminal conversation, seduction, and malicious prosecution; also assault, battery, false imprisonment, or other actionable injury to the person.[23]

8. Ala.—Duke v. Gaines, 140 So. 600, 601, 224 Ala. 519.

More than mere knowledge of danger

"When an act is done or omitted under circumstances and conditions, known to the person, that his conduct is likely to or probably will result in injury, and through reckless indifference to consequences, or consciously and intentionally, one does a wrongful act, or omits an act which he ought to have done, the injury inflicted may be said to be wanton. In such cases, it is, however, essential that the act done or omitted should be done or omitted with a knowledge and present consciousness that injury would probably result; and this consciousness is not to be implied from a mere knowledge of the dangerous situation."—Birmingham Railway, Light & Power Co. v. Drennen, 57 So. 876, 879, 175 Ala. 338, Ann.Cas.1914C 1037.

9. Ala.—Duke v. Gaines, 140 So. 600, 224 Ala. 519.

10. The two phrases considered

"While as to liability and the defenses which may be interposed, there is no difference between 'wanton injury' and 'willful or intentional injury,' there is a well-recognized distinction in the elements of these two classes of wrongs."—Central of Georgia Ry. Co. v. Corbitt, 118 So. 755, 756, 218 Ala. 410.

11. Wis.—Turtenwald v. Wisconsin Lakes Ice & Cartage Co., 98 N.W. 948, 949, 121 Wis. 65.

12. Black L.D.

13. Ga.—Johnson v. Bradstreet, 13 S.E. 250, 251, 87 Ga. 79.
N.C.—Tisdale v. Eubanks, 104 S.E. 339, 340, 180 N.C. 153.

14. Mass.—In re Hurle, 104 N.E. 336, 337, 217 Mass. 223, L.R.A. 1916A 279, Ann.Cas.1915C 919.

15. Ind.—Terre Haute Electric R. Co. v. Lauer, 52 N.E. 703, 706, 21 Ind.App. 466.

16. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 173, 228 Mo.App. 519.
32 C.J. p 520 notes 99, 1.

17. Mont.—McKenzie v. Doran, 104 P. 677, 678, 39 Mont. 593.

18. Mass.—In re Hurle, 104 N.E. 336, 337, 217 Mass. 223, L.R.A. 1916A 279, Ann.Cas.1915C 919.

19. Colo.—Williams v. Williams, 37 P. 614, 620, 20 Colo. 51.
Pa.—McCaffrey v. Jackson, 23 Pa. Dist. 173, 174.

20. Colo.—Williams v. Williams, 37 P. 614, 620, 20 Colo. 51.
N.Y.—Riddle v. MacFadden, 94 N.E. 644, 645, 201 N.Y. 215, dismissing appeal 115 N.Y.S. 1142, 130 App. Div. 898—Bennett v. Bennett, 23 N.E. 17, 116 N.Y. 584, 6 L.R.A. 553.
Pa.—McCaffrey v. Jackson, 23 Pa. Dist. 173, 174.

Mental or physical

Personal injuries may be either bodily or mental, but, whether one or the other, they infringe on the rights of the person, and not of property; and any mental injury is necessarily an injury to the person. —Morton v. Western Union Tel. Co., 41 S.E. 484, 485, 130 N.C. 299.

21. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 173, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
Pa.—McCaffrey v. Jackson, 23 Pa. Dist. 173, 174.

22. Mo.—Dohring v. Kansas City, 71 S.W.2d 170, 173, 228 Mo.App. 519, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 520 note 8.

23. Md.—New York, P. & N. R. Co. v. Waldron, 82 A. 709, 714, 116 Md. 441, 39 L.R.A.,N.S., 502.
N.Y.—Riddle v. MacFadden, 94 N.E. 644, 201 N.Y. 215—Keeler v. Dun-

When referring to physical or bodily injuries, there are two classes of personal injuries, those that are fatal, and those that are not fatal. Using "injuries" as a generic term, the phrase naturally includes injuries of both classes because one of either class is an injury, and the obvious and ordinary meaning of that word is all injuries, whether fatal or not.[24] The term, however, is known by its associates and by the sense in which it is used in other parts of the same contract or in similar agreements,[25] and consequently sometimes it may not include injuries resulting in death.[26] Considered from another point of view, and in a limited meaning, when "personal injuries" are spoken of there are apt to be meant only bodily injuries suffered through violence in some form or to some extent, that is, traumatic injuries.[27] On the other hand, when these phrases are used in the sense of "bodily injury," in its broad sense, they may mean not only bodily injury suffered by or resulting from violence, but may cover any harmful effect upon the body whether by violence or by disease;[28] and the terms are frequently used in both the broader and the more limited senses.[29] In the following notes examples are cited of what the phrases have been held to include[30] and not to include.[31]

"Personal injury" and "injury to the person" may be equivalent to "bodily harm" see 11 C.J.S. p 375 note 26, "bodily injury" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 notes 78, 79, "disturbance in body" see 27 C.J.S. p 493 note 34, and "private wrong."[32] The expression "injury to the person" is said to be more restrictive than the term "personal injuries" and is to be dis-ham, 99 N.Y.S. 669, 671, 114 App. Div. 94, 97—Morse v. Press Pub. Co., 71 N.Y.S. 348, 349, 63 App.Div. 61—Wyatt v. Hall's Portrait Studio, 128 N.Y.Supp. 247, 248, 71 Misc. 199—Pitt v. Dunlap, 105 N. Y.Supp. 846, 847, 54 Misc. 115—Lasche v. Dearing, 53 N.Y.S. 58, 59, 23 Misc. 722—Kujek v. Goldman, 29 N.Y.S. 294, 296, 9 Misc. 34.

Test

If an injury to the person, either of the plaintiff or of another, be actionable, it is a personal injury.—Kujek v. Goldman, supra.

24. U.S.—Standard Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. McNulty, Colo., 157 F. 224, 225, 85 C.C.A. 22.

Fatal injuries included

A claim to recover for death resulting from personal injury is as certainly "founded on injury to the person" as would be a claim to recover damages for a nonfatal injury resulting in a crippled body.—Bixby v. Sioux City, 164 N.W. 641, 643, 184 Iowa 89.

25. U.S.—Standard Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. McNulty, Colo., 157 F. 224, 225, 85 C.C.A. 22.

26. Ohio.—Williamson v. State, 2 Ohio Cir.Ct. 292, 297, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 492.

Fatal injuries not included

An action for "personal injury," or for "personal injuries," held to mean an action for negligently causing bodily harm not resulting in death.—Fernwood Min. Co. v. Pluna, 213 S.W. 397, 398, 138 Ark. 459.

27. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 183 Cal. 273.

Disease not included

"It never denotes an internal ailment which has gradually developed. In other words, it is an infliction not an affliction. If one should say that he suffered from an injury no one would entertain the thought that he might be afflicted with a malady, even with a malady to which accidental exposure might have given rise."—Christian v. State Conservation Commn., 182 N.Y.S. 347, 349, 191 App.Div. 635.

"Personal injury" distinguished from "disease" see 27 C.J.S. p 144 note 89.

28. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 28, 183 Cal. 273.

Disease included

A disease resulting from negligence of a physician in failing to give treatment is just as much an injury in common phrase as if it resulted from affirmative maltreatment or external violence.

Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., supra.

Wis.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.

29. Cal.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 28, 183 Cal. 273.

30. Held to include

(1) False arrest and imprisonment.—New York, P. & N. R. Co. v. Waldron, 82 A. 709, 714, 116 Md. 441, 39 L.R.A.,N.S., 502.

(2) Influenza contracted by hospital employee.—San Francisco v. Industrial Acc. Commn., 191 P. 26, 28, 29, 183 Cal. 273.

(3) Injury to character, good name, or reputation.

Ga.—Johnson v. Bradstreet Co., 13 S.E. 250, 251, 87 Ga. 79.

N.C.—Tisdale v. Eubanks, 104 S.E. 339, 340, 180 N.C. 153.

Tex.—International & G. N. R. Co. v. Edmundson, Civ.App., 185 S.W. 402, 405.

(4) Loss of consortium.—Kujek v. Goldman, 29 N.Y.S. 294, 296, 9 Misc. 34—Maxson v. Delaware, L. & W. R. Co., 20 N.E. 544, 545, 112 N.Y. 559.

(5) Loss of sight due to an acute attack of optic neuritis induced by poisonous gases to which workman was constantly exposed.—In re Hurle, 104 N.E. 336, 337, 217 Mass. 223, L.R.A.1916A 279, Ann.Cas.1915C 919.

(6) Mental anguish caused by the nondelivery of a telegram.—Morton v. Western Union Tel. Co., 41 S.E. 484, 485, 130 N.C. 299.

(7) Pneumonia contracted by policeman due to exposure in line of duty.—State v. Policemen's Pension Fund, 119 N.W. 806, 807, 138 Wis. 133, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1175.

(8) Violation of right of privacy. —Wyatt v. Hall's Portrait Studio, 128 N.Y.S. 247, 249, 71 Misc. 199.

31. Held not to include

(1) Breach of contract generally. —Pitt v. Dunlap, 105 N.Y.S. 846, 847, 54 Misc. 115.

(2) Breach of marriage promise.— Pitt v. Dunlap, supra.

(3) Delay in delivering or failure to deliver, telegram constituting breach of contract.—Western Union Tel. Co. v. Witt, 110 S.W. 889, 891, 33 Ky.L. 685.

(4) Injury to property by fraud and deceit.—Guggisberg v. Boettger, 166 N.W. 177, 139 Minn. 226—Billson v. Linderburg, 68 N.W. 771, 772, 66 Minn. 66.

(5) "Libel" is not an "injury to the person," under particular circumstances.—Graham v. Mixon, 169 P. 1003, 1004, 177 Cal. 88, L.R.A. 1918F 1023.

(6) Malicious attachment.—Guggisberg v. Boettger, supra—Hansen Mercantile Co. v. Wyman, 117 N.W. 926, 927, 105 Minn. 491, 21 L.R.A.,N. S., 727.

32. N.J.—Tomlin v. Hildreth, 47 A. 649, 651, 65 N.J.Law 438.

tinguished therefrom.[33] One or another of these phrases has been compared with, or distinguished from, "bodily injury" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 note 80, "death of the person,"[34] "disease" see 27 C.J.S. p 144 note 89, "injury to personal rights,"[35] "injury to property,"[36] "loss,"[37] and "private injury."[38]

"Injury to property." Ordinarily the term "injury" when applied to property means some physical damage, hurt, or injury to the property itself by virtue of which its value has become diminished or destroyed,[39] and not to the mere personal right or rights of property.[40] Injury to property, however, need not be limited to a direct corporeal damage or wrong done to the specific property, as distinguished from an infringement of the rights of property;[41] but is sometimes to be given a broad and unrestricted meaning,[42] so as to include every invasion of one's property rights by actionable wrong;[43] and it has been specifically defined as an actionable act whereby the estate of another is lessened, other than a personal injury or breach of a contract.[44] The following notes contain examples of what the phrase has been held to include[45] and examples of what

33. Pa.—McCaffrey v. Jackson, 28 Pa.Dist. 173, 174.

Gist of distinction

In the former, the noun "person" indicates a natural body, or perhaps a body corporate, and the injuries contemplated are injuries to that body. In the latter phrase the noun employed is "injury," and the word "personal" is merely adjective, and, therefore, of far less significance than when used substantively.—McCaffrey v. Jackson, supra.

34. Not synonymous

"'Injury to the person' and 'death of the person' are not synonymous terms. The one presumes a continuation of life, though in an impaired state; the other, the destruction or ending of life."—Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Adams, Wash., 116 F. 324, 327, 54 C.C.A. 196.

35. N.J.—Crane v. Ketcham, 84 A. 1052, 1053, 83 N.J.Law 327—Hodge v. Wetzler, 55 A. 49, 51, 69 N.J.L. 490.

36. Minn.—Guggisberg v. Boettger, 166 N.W. 177, 139 Minn. 226, 227—Hansen Mercantile Co. v. Wyman, 117 N.W. 926, 928, 105 Minn. 491, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 727—Ware v. Linderbergh, 68 N.W. 771, 772, 66 Minn. 66.

Mont.—McKenzie v. Doran, 104 P. 677, 678, 39 Mont. 593.

37. Eng.—The Franconia, 2 P. D. 163—Haigh v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., 52 L.J.Q.B. 640, 643.

38. Distinction stated

The term "private injury" must not be confounded with "personal injury," for, although every injury to a person is, in one sense, a private injury, yet, the term is not always used in so general a sense, but sometimes it is limited and applicable only to injuries to private property, or such as are distinguishable from injuries to the person.—State v. Boylson, 3 Minn. 438, 443.

39. Ga.—Blocker v. Boswell, 34 S.E. 289, 290, 109 Ga. 230.

Destruction of value may be partial

The phrase "injury to property," in contradistinction to the loss thereof, means a partial loss or destruction; and in the case of injury a value may yet remain in the property equal to or exceeding the stipulated value.—Nelson v. Great Northern R. Co., 72 P. 642, 648, 28 Mont. 297.

Trover and conversion

"Conversion implies no such injury. An action of trover, therefore, has no reference to any injury or damage which the property itself may have sustained. Indeed, after its conversion, it may actually be enhanced in value by the wrongdoer."—Blocker v. Boswell, 34 S.E. 289, 290, 109 Ga. 230.

40. N.Y.—Cleveland v. Barrows, 59 Barb. 364, 369.

41. Ga.—Crawford v. Crawford, 67 S.E. 673, 676, 134 Ga. 114, 28 L.R.A.,N.S., 353, 19 Ann.Cas. 932.

Similarly expressed

"An injury to property" does not necessarily mean a physical injury to tangible property.—Jay Bee Apparel Stores v. 563–565 Main Street Realty Corporation, 223 N.Y.S. 537, 541, 130 Misc. 23.

42. N.Y.—Ghiglione v. Friedman, 100 N.Y.S. 1024, 115 App.Div. 606, 607.

32 C.J. p 517 note 61 [a] (2).

43. N.Y.—Jay Bee Apparel Stores v. 563–565 Main Street Realty Corporation, 223 N.Y.S. 537, 130 Misc. 23.

S.C.—Bemis v. Waters, 170 S.E. 475, 477, 170 S.C. 432, quoting Corpus Juris.

32 C.J. p 517 note 61.

Injury is to owner

The legal injury in the case of harm done to personal property, is to its owner, and not to it. It is his right which has been violated.—Sharkey v. Skilton, 77 A. 950, 952, 83 Conn. 503.

Malice not essential

Malicious trespass or injury to property has been defined to mean a wrongful, intentional and willful injury and is not confined to cases where the offender is actuated by an evil animus against the owner of the property or the property itself.—State v. McKee, 104 S.W. 486, 487, 126 Mo.App. 524.

44. N.Y.—Ghiglione v. Friedman, 100 N.Y.S. 1024, 115 App.Div. 606, 607.

S.C.—Bemis v. Waters, 170 S.E. 475, 477, 170 S.C. 432, quoting Corpus Juris.

32 C.J. p 517 note 61 [a] (1).

45. Held "injuries to property"

(1) An action to recover for delay of work on a building, and consequent loss of rent, by reason of the wrongful causing of a notice of mechanics' lien to be filed against the property, is one for "an injury to property."—Ghiglione v. Friedman, 100 N.Y.S. 1024, 1025, 115 App.Div. 606.

(2) A cause of action for fraud and deceit is one for an injury to the property.—Guggisberg v. Boettger, 166 N.W. 177, 139 Minn. 226, 227—Hansen Mercantile Co. v. Wyman, 117 N.W. 926, 927, 105 Minn. 491, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 727—Ware v. Linderbergh, 68 N.W. 771, 772, 66 Minn. 66.

(3) Conversion is an injury to property.—Kavanaugh v. McIntyre, 133 N.Y.S. 679, 681, 74 Misc. 222.

(4) "The damage to the growing crops" as an injury to real estate see 25 C.J.S. p 443 note 33.

(5) Damages claimed for waste of land, and for deceit also in the sale of personalty, must in each instance be held to arise out of an injury to property with or without force.—Gilbert v. Loberg, 53 N.W. 500, 501, 83 Wis. 189.

(6) "To deprive another of his property forever by deliberately disposing of it without semblance of authority is certainly an injury thereto within common acceptation of the words."—McIntyre v. Kavanaugh, N.Y., 37 S.Ct. 38, 40, 242 U.S. 138, 141, 61 L.Ed. 205—In re Keeler, D.C.N.Y., 243 F. 770, 771.

(7) Malicious attachment is an injury to property.—Guggisberg v. Boettger, 166 N.W. 177, 139 Minn. 226—Hansen Mercantile Co. v. Wyman, 117 N.W. 926, 928, 105 Minn. 491, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 727.

the phrase has been held not to include.[46]

Injuries to personal property are the unlawful taking and detention thereof from the owner; and other injuries are some damages affecting the same while in the claimant's possession or that of a third person, or injuries to his reversionary interest.[47]

Injury to real property, using the word "injury" in a technical sense, has been held to mean every wrong which in legal contemplation is an injury to real property, embracing not only injuries committed directly and forcibly for which, at common law, the appropriate remedy was an action of trespass, but such also as nuisances, the obstruction of light or air, diverting watercourses and other similar wrongs for which the remedy at common law was an action on the case.[48]

"Injury to property" has been compared with, or distinguished from, "injury to the person" see supra note 36, "loss of property,"[49] and "taking of property."[50]

Actions for "injury [or injuries]" to property and the joinder and the survival thereof see Abatement and Revival §§ 139–142 and Actions § 1 a (1) (f) (4), (6), (15), (24), § 15 b (3), (6), §§ 66, 75, 86–94, 104. Numerous other references to particular applications, or specific uses of the phrase are listed in 32 C.J. p 517 note 57. Injury to property as within the jurisdiction of justice of the peace courts see the C.J.S. title Justices of the Peace § 29, also 35 C.J. p 498 note 39–p 499 note 47.

"Intentional injury." An injury which results from an act done for the purpose of causing the injury or with the knowledge that the injury is reasonably, or substantially, certain to follow.[51]

The phrase has been said to be the moral equivalent of "wanton injury" although their elements, strictly speaking, are different,[52] and it has been distinguished from "accident" see 1 C.J.S. p 438 note 74, and from "wanton and wilful negligence" see the C.J.S. title Negligence § 9.

"Internal injuries." The phrase is not a term of precision,[53] but its commonly accepted meaning indicates any injury to, or in, the abdomen,[54] and it means, or refers to, injuries sustained in the body or trunk,[55] injuries to the organs in the abdominal cavity such as liver, kidneys, spleen, stomach, intestines, etc.;[56] it does not include injuries to other or separate members or organs.[57]

"Irreparable injury." The phrase is most frequently found in the books in cases dealing with equity suits, irreparable injury being the basis on which most equity actions rest.[58] It has been said

(8) The negligent burning of timber on land is an injury to real property.—Perry v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 68 S.E. 1060, 1061, 153 N.C. 117.

46. Held not "injury to property"

(1) Loss to the owners of merchandise which loss resulted from a fall in the market price while the merchandise was being held by the owners.—Roome v. Jennings, 19 N.Y.S. 825, 826, 61 N.Y.Super. 361.

(2) The obstruction of a highway held not to be an "injury to any property" of a town.—Woodman v. Bohan, 64 N.W. 323, 91 Wis. 36, 38.

(3) Slander is an injury, but not an injury to property.—McKenzie v. Doran, 104 P. 677, 678, 39 Mont. 593.

47. N.Y.—Kavanaugh v. McIntyre, 133 N.Y.S. 679, 681, 74 Misc. 222—Northern R. Co. v. Carpentier, 13 How.Pr. 222, 223.

"An injury to personal estate" is damage done to some specific property of which the person is the owner. It is not damage arising incidentally or collaterally.—Wolf v. Wall, 40 Ohio St. 111.

48. Ark.—Cox v. Little Rock & M. R. Co., 18 S.W. 630, 631, 55 Ark. 454.

"Damage or injury to land, as an infringement of the owner's right to the use and possession of it" see 25 C.J.S. p 443 note 28.

Similar enumeration

Injuries to real property are ousters, trespasses, nuisances, waste, subtraction of rent, disturbances of right of way, and the like.—Bouvier L.D.

49. Mont.—Nelson v. Great Northern R. Co., 72 P. 642, 648, 28 Mont. 297.

50. Gist of distinction

An injury to, and a taking of property are distinct things. Every taking involves an injury of some kind, although every injury does not include a taking. Property may be taken by an entry upon and appropriation of it, as in the ordinary case of location; but it is injured by obstructing access or drainage.—Baltimore v. Bregenzer, 93 A. 425, 427, 125 Md. 78—Garrett v. Lake Roland El. Ry. Co., 29 A. 830, 832, 79 Md. 277, 24 L.R.A. 396.

51. Conn.—Rogers v. Doody, 178 A. 51, 53, 119 Conn. 532.

"Intentional injuries" discussed

U.S.—Travelers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, Iowa, 8 S.Ct. 1360, 1362, 127 U.S. 661, 667, 32 L.Ed. 308—Jarnagin v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., of America, Tenn., 133 F. 892, 893, 66 C.C.A. 622, 68 L.R.A. 499.

32 C.J. p 522 note 60.

Intentional injuries as risks excepted from insurance see the C.J.S. title Insurance, also 1 C.J. p 442 note 9–p 444 note 32.

52. Ala.—Feore v. Trammel, 102 So. 529, 533, 212 Ala. 325—Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Ensley Transfer & Supply Co., 100 So. 342, 345, 211 Ala. 298.

53. Cal.—Hines v. Industrial Accident Commission, 8 P.2d 1021, 1026, 215 Cal. 177.

54. Tenn.—City of Maryville v. McConkey, 90 S.W.2d 951, 957, 19 Tenn.App. 520.

55. Ky.—Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Bennette, 119 S.W. 181, 182, 134 Ky. 19.

56. Cal.—Hines v. Industrial Accident Commission, 8 P.2d 1021, 1026, 215 Cal. 177.

Held included

Tubercular peritonitis claimed to be the result of a fall may constitute "internal injury."—City of Maryville v. McConkey, 90 S.W.2d 951, 957, 19 Tenn.App. 520.

57. Held not "internal injuries"

(1) Internal injuries will not include an injury to the spine or to the nerves affected by such injury.—Hines v. Industrial Accident Commission, 8 P.2d 1021, 1026, 215 Cal. 177.

(2) Injury to a testicle is not an internal injury.—Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Bennette, 119 S.W. 181, 182, 134 Ky. 19.

58. Wis.—Wisconsin Tel. Co. v. Railroad Commn., 156 N.W. 614, 619, 162 Wis. 383, L.R.A.1916E 748.

to be a well marked and defined term,[59] but apt to mislead,[60] since it is impossible to define it inflexibly,[61] and difficult to lay down any precise rule as to what gives to an injury the quality of being irreparable,[62] especially in the sense in which it is used in conferring jurisdiction on courts of equity, as discussed in Equity § 39 and Injunctions § 23.

In the popular sense, where there is substantial loss or damage which is not recoverable, it is entirely correct to say that there is "irreparable injury;" and the word "injury" in the phrase "irreparable injury" has been used to denote substantial financial loss,[63] but it does not necessarily mean that the injury is physically irreparable,[64] for an injury may be irreparable either from its own nature,[65] as when the injured party cannot be adequately compensated therefor in damages, or when the damages which may result therefrom cannot be measured by any certain pecuniary standard, or when it is shown that the party who must respond is insolvent, and, for that reason, incapable of responding in damages.[66] The phrase means generally that the injury must be a grievous one, a material one, and not adequately reparable in damages;[67] and includes wrongs of a repeated and continuing character, or which occasion damages which are estimated only by conjecture, and not by any accurate standard.[68]

"Legal injury." Following the legal meaning of "injury" discussed supra p 1113 note 75—p 1114 note 96, this phrase has been defined as an actionable wrong, a wrongful act resulting in damages;[69] an invasion of a right;[70] also whatever invades a person's rightful dominion over his property, whether or not damage ensues.[71]

Under particular circumstances, the phrase has been construed as equivalent to "injury" see supra p 1114 note 98, and "private injury."[72]

"Malicious injury." An injury committed wantonly, willfully, or without cause;[73] an injury caused by design, since malice imports intent[74] and sometimes it conveys the idea of revenge.[75]

"Nonpecuniary injury" and "Pecuniary injury." In the sense of wrongful invasions of a right, injuries may be considered as of two kinds: Pecuni-

See generally the C.J.S. titles Equity § 19 et seq; Injunctions § 23; and Nuisances § 114, also 46 C.J. p 768 note 88–p 769 note 93.

32 C.J. p 518 note 66; and consult the Descriptive-Word Index sub verbo "Irreparable Injury."

59. Colo.—Insurance Co. of North America v. Bonner, 42 P. 681, 682, 7 Colo.App. 97.

60. N.C.—Tise v. Whitaker-Harvey Co., 57 S.E. 210, 211, 144 N.C. 507.

61. W.Va.—Bettman v. Harness, 26 S.E. 271, 272, 42 W.Va. 433, 36 L.R.A. 566.

62. La.—Barrow v. Duplantis, 86 So. 718, 723, 148 La. 149.

32 C.J. p 518 note 70.

63. Wis.—Wisconsin Tel. Co. v. Railroad Commn., 156 N.W. 614, 620, 162 Wis. 383, L.R.A.1916E 748.

64. Ark.—Ahrent v. Sprague, 214 S.W. 68, 69, 139 Ark. 416.

Mich.—Ainsworth v. Munoskong Hunting & Fishing Club, 116 N.W. 992, 994, 153 Mich. 185, 126 Am.S.R. 474, 17 L.R.A.,N.S., 1236, 15 Ann.Cas. 706.

65. Ill.—Cleveland v. Martin, 75 N.E. 772, 777, 218 Ill. 73, 3 L.R.A.,N.S., 629—Lloyd v. Catlin Coal Co., 71 N.E. 335, 337, 210 Ill. 460.

66. Ill.—Cleveland v. Martin, 75 N.E. 772, 777, 218 Ill. 73, 3 L.R.A., N.S., 629.

32 C.J. p 518 notes 75–77.

67. Mich.—Minnis v. Newbro-Gallogly Co., 140 N.W. 980, 983, 174 Mich. 635, 44 L.R.A.,N.S., 1110.

32 C.J. p 518 note 72.

Adequacy or inadequacy of remedy as affecting exercise of equitable jurisdiction see Equity § 19 et seq.

Appeal from decisions causing irreparable injury see Appeal and Error § 102.

Judicially defined

It means only a grievous or substantial injury, one not adequately compensable in damages.—Mullens Realty, etc., Co. v. Klein, 102 S.E. 677, 680, 85 W.Va. 712—32 C.J. p 518 note 72 [a].

68. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Pittsburgh & Connellsville R. Co., 24 Pa. 159, 160, 62 Am.D. 372.

32 C.J. p 518 note 73.

69. Ill.—Gillman v. Chicago R. Co., 109 N.E. 181, 182, 268 Ill. 305.

Ky.—Combs v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 27 S.W.2d 955, 956, 234 Ky. 202, quoting Corpus Juris.

Combination or contract in restraint of interstate commerce as a "legal injury" see the C.J.S. title Monopolies § 95, also 32 C.J. p 519 note 81 [a].

70. Ill.—Edwards v. Ely, 47 N.E.2d 344, 346, 317 Ill.App. 599.

71. Cal.—Allen v. Stowell, 79 P. 371, 372, 145 Cal. 666, 68 L.R.A. 223, 104 Am.S.R. 80.

72. In characterizing torts

"When it is said that a tort is a private injury a legal injury is meant which involves more than damages."—Gillman v. Chicago R. Co., 109 N.E. 181, 182, 268 Ill. 305.

73. N.Y.—Rounds v. Delaware, L. & W. R. Co., 3 Hun 329, 335, 5 Thomps. & C. 475.

Same meaning in statute and at common law

"The term 'malicious injury,' as used in the statute, is synonymous with that term at the common law; it refers to the infliction of a wrongful injury intentionally."—State v. Huegin, 85 N.W. 1046, 1067, 110 Wis. 189, 62 L.R.A. 700.

Includes a willful injury without just reason.—MacLean v. Scripps, 17 N.W. 815, 817, 18 N.W. 209, 52 Mich. 214.

74. Conn.—Sharkey v. Skilton, 77 A. 950, 951, 83 Conn. 503.

"Malicious injury to person, health, or reputation"

Construed as indicating, by the addition of the words "health or reputation," together with the word "malicious," that "injury" to the person is used in the broad sense of the term.—Taylor v. Bliss, 57 A. 939, 940, 26 R.I. 16.

75. With reference to property

In discussing malicious injury to, or destruction of, property, the term may denote an act done for the purpose of avenging some real or imaginary wrong, and not merely an act done willfully.—State v. Tarlton, 118 N.W. 706, 708, 22 S.D. 496.

See generally the C.J.S. title Malicious Mischief § 1, also 38 C.J. p 357 note 1—p 359 note 33.

ary and nonpecuniary.[76] A "nonpecuniary injury" is one for the measurement of which no money standard is or can be applicable, such as bodily and mental pain and suffering.[77]

A "pecuniary injury," on the other hand, is one which can be, and usually is, without difficulty estimated by a money standard, such as loss of real or personal property or of its use, loss of time, and loss of services;[78] and injury directly causing financial loss.[79]

The phrase is sometimes construed in the sense of "necessary injury."[80]

"Permanent injury." The word "permanent," as applied to injuries, is apt to mislead, as it is used not only in cases in which the damage is all done at once, but also in those cases in which the damage is continuing and prospective.[81] A permanent injury, as distinguished from a temporary or continuing injury, is one of such character, and existing under such circumstances, that it would be presumed to continue indefinitely;[82] one that, according to every reasonable probability, will continue throughout the remainder of one's life;[83] one that is reasonably certain to be followed by permanent impairment of earning capacity, or one which produces lasting irremediable pain;[84] one where any physical function, or the usefulness of a member of the body is permanently impaired.[85] In the following notes some examples are cited of what the phrase has been held to include[86] and not to include.[87]

It has been said that alleging "permanent injuries" is not the equivalent of alleging loss of time or earnings;[88] and "personal injury" has been compared with, or distinguished from, "disability" see 26 C.J.S. p 1323 note 68, "future injury" see 37 C.J.S. p 1418 note 56 (6), "future pain and suffering,"[89] "injury to future health,"[90] and "permanent impairment of earning power."[91]

"Permanent injury" as referring to "continuing nuisance" see the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 4, also 46 C.J. p 650 notes 68, 69. "Permanent injury to person" see Damages §§ 31, 81, 135 notes 5–9; and "permanent injury to property" see the C.J.S. titles

76. Conn.—Broughel v. Southern New England Tel. Co., 48 A. 751, 754, 73 Conn. 614, 84 Am.S.R. 176.

77. Conn.—Broughel v. Southern New England Tel. Co., supra.

78. Conn.—Broughel v. Southern New England Tel. Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 519 note 89.

79. Idaho.—Kelly v. Lemhi Irr. & Orchard Co., 168 P. 1076, 1077, 30 Idaho 778.

80. Mo.—Hawkins v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 170 S.W. 459, 464, 182 Mo. App. 323.
32 C.J. p 519 note 86.

81. N.C.—Beach v. Wilmington & W. R. Co., 26 S.E. 703, 704, 120 N. C. 498.
32 C.J. p 519 notes 94, 95.
See also Damages § 31 note 34.

82. Minn.—Worden v. Bielenberg, 138 N.W. 314, 315, 119 Minn. 330.
Neb.—Applegate v. Platte Valley Public Power & Irrigation Dist., 285 N.W. 585, 589, 136 Neb. 280.

Duration of injury discussed

(1) "It is . . . correct to say that an injury may be permanent . . . without continuing for ever. . . . The injury to be permanent, it is repeatedly stated, must be something more than a mere temporary inconvenience; it must be lasting. Many cases are put, showing a permanent injury, though not continuing for ever."—Bassett v. Johnson, 2 N.J.Eq. 154, 162.

(2) "Permanent," as used with reference to the damages recoverable for a permanent personal injury, means lasting, and in some cases lifelong, because, if the injured person will be cured, the injury could not be permanent.—Stokes v. Ralpho Tp., 40 A. 958, 962, 187 Pa. 333.

(3) "Permanent injury" relates to a condition lasting during all the after life of the person injured.—Du Cate v. Brighton, 114 N.W. 103, 133 Wis. 628, 632.

(4) "Permanent injury" does not necessarily mean eternal or everlasting, but merely that disability is lasting or continuous as distinguished from temporary, and that it will be long continued.—Meznarich v. Republic Coal Co., 53 P.2d 82, 86, 101 Mont. 78.

(5) There is a difference between "permanent injury" to land and one that is perpetual, for "permanent injury" may exist without being perpetual.—Williams v. Henderson County Levee Imp. Dist. No. 3, Tex. Com.App., 36 S.W.2d 204, 207—Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. v. Taylor, Tex. Civ.App., 47 S.W.2d 1110, 1111.

(6) "These injuries, though they may not, strictly speaking, be absolute perpetuities, and positively irremedial [irremediable] in the last possible degree, are, nevertheless, in a legal sense, permanent, as contradistinguished from temporary. Permanency, in the legal acceptation of the term, does not include the idea of absolute, but only of practical, irremediability."—Coleman v. Bennett, 69 S.W. 734, 737, 111 Tenn. 705.

83. Ala.—Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Taylor, 71 So. 676, 678, 196 Ala. 37.

84. Ky.—Herndon v. Waldon, 47 S. W.2d 1047, 1049, 243 Ky. 312.

85. N.J.—Hercules Powder Co. v. Morris County Court of Common Pleas, 107 A. 433, 93 N.J.Law 93, 94.
Pa.—Corniak v. Cohen, 27 A.2d 560, 563, 150 Pa.Super. 140.

86. Held to include

(1) Loss of both eyes.—Parks v. Susquehanna Collieries Co., 27 A.2d 481, 483, 484, 149 Pa.Super. 535.

(2) Loss of one testicle.—Hercules Powder Co. v. Morris County Ct. C. P., 107 A. 433, 93 N.J.Law 93, 94.

(3) Loss of two fingers.—Bilakos v. Kelley, 166 N.W. 892, 893, 200 Mich. 125, 130.

(4) Permanent disfigurement constitutes "permanent injury."—Wilson v. Spicuzza, Mo.App., 165 S.W.2d 428, 430.

87. Held not to include

(1) Fractures of bones and sacroiliac sprains are not necessarily "permanent injuries."—State ex rel. Kansas City Public Service Co. v. Shain, Mo., 165 S.W.2d 428, 430.

(2) The term "permanent injury," as used in the ordinary sense, does not include injuries resulting in death.—Milwaukee v. Ritzow, 149 N. W. 480, 482, 158 Wis. 376.

88. Mo.—Scholl v. Grayson, App., 127 S.W. 415, 417.

89. Mo.—Colby v. Thompson, App., 207 S.W. 73, 74.
Wis.—Du Cate v. Brighton, 114 N.W. 103, 105, 133 Wis. 628.

90. Mo.—Wood v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 95 S.W. 946, 947, 119 Mo. App. 78.

91. Ky.—Porter v. Music, 67 S.W.2d 958, 252 Ky. 312.

Injunctions §§ 22, 23; and Limitations of Actions § 169, also 37 C.J. p 886 note 78–p 889 note 97.

"Private injuries." Infringements of the private or civil rights belonging to individuals, considered as individuals.[92] The term has been held synonymous with, or construed as equivalent to, "legal injury" supra p 1119 note 72, and "private wrong;"[93] and has been distinguished from "personal injury" see supra p 1117 note 38.

"Public injuries." Public injuries are breaches and violations of rights and duties which affect the whole community as a community.[94]

"Unlawful injury." An injury resulting from an act prohibited by law, whether common or statutory.[95] The phrase is particularly applicable to threatened injuries,[96] or threats of injury to persons or property for the purpose of extorting money, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Threats and Unlawful Communications § 3, also 62 C.J. p 934 notes 51–58; and in its broadest sense has been said to mean or refer to an actionable wrong, an injury for which an action can be maintained.[97]

"Willful injury." An injury caused by design;[98] it means intentionally doing the act which is calculated or adapted to cause the injury, with design to inflict injury or with disregard of the natural consequences of the act.[99] It imports a positive act;[1] implies an intentional act, and one evincing a reckless disregard for the safety of others, and a willingness to inflict the injury complained of,[2] including in that idea the intentional disregard of obviously likely injurious consequences;[3] it may involve conduct which is quasi-criminal,[4] and is in law malicious, although no malevolent purpose to cause it and no motive of spite are imputed.[5]

"Willful injury" has been distinguished from "gross negligence,"[6] "injury resulting from negligence,"[7] "poor judgment,"[8] and "willful act."[9]

Other phrases. In the following notes various other phrases employing the word are listed, the judicial construction of some of which is here given,[10]

92. N.J.—Tomlin v. Hildreth, 47 A. 649, 651, 65 N.J.Law 438.

93. N.H.—Rhobidas v. Concord, 47 A. 82, 87, 70 N.H. 90, 85 Am.S.R. 604, 51 L.R.A. 381.
N.J.—Tomlin v. Hildreth, 47 A. 649, 651, 65 N.J.Law 438.
"Private wrong" defined see the C.J.S. title Torts § 1, also 50 C.J. p 374 notes 34–37.

94. Black L.D.

Held to constitute

(1) The opening of an unnecessary highway is a public injury no less than a wrong to the individuals whose property is immediately affected, since it increases needlessly the public expenditure and the burden of taxation.—Montclair Military Academy v. North Jersey R. Co., 47 A. 890, 893, 65 N.J.Law 328.

(2) The unauthorized or illegal assertion of the right to the exclusive possession of public lands, as by fencing off strategically located portions, so that all whose live stock graze in that locality, are prevented from having their stock seek pasturage in such public land, held to be an injury to the public rather than to one of the individual live stock owners.—Wilkinson Live Stock Co. v. McIlquam, 83 P. 364, 370, 371, 14 Wyo. 209, 3 L.R.A.,N.S., 733.

95. N.Y.—People v. Loveless, 84 N.Y.S. 1114, 1115.

96. Cal.—People v. Sanders, 207 P. 380, 384, 188 Cal. 44.
N.Y.—People v. Barondess, 31 N.E. 240, 241, 133 N.Y. 649—People v. Sheridan, 174 N.Y.S. 327, 329, 186 App.Div. 211.

97. Cal.—People v. Schmitz, 94 P. 419, 420, 7 Cal.App. 330, 15 L.R.A., N.S., 717.

98. Conn.—Sharkey v. Skilton, 77 A. 950, 951, 83 Conn. 503.
32 C.J. p 521 note 29.

Held not willful injury

A technical conversion by one who acts in good faith and under color of title is not a willful injury.—Cohn v. Melancon, 151 N.Y.S. 39, 40, 88 Misc. 549.

99. N.Y.—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., 126 N.E. 647, 649, 228 N.Y. 106.

1. N.M.—Thayer v. Denver & R. G. R. Co., 154 P. 691, 695, 21 N.M. 330.

2. Ind.—Louisville, N. A. & C. R. Co. v. Bryan, 7 N.E. 807, 808, 107 Ind. 51, 53—Southern R. Co. v. McNeeley, 88 N.E. 710, 713, 44 Ind. App. 126.

3. N.J.—Harber v. Graham, 143 A. 340, 342, 105 N.J.Law 213, 61 A.L.R. 1232.

4. Ind.—Louisville, N. A. & C. R. Co. v. Bryan, 7 N.E. 807, 808, 107 Ind. 51.

5. N.Y.—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., 126 N.E. 647, 228 N.Y. 106.

6. N.J.—Harber v. Graham, 143 A. 340, 342, 105 N.J.Law 213, 61 A.L.R. 1232.

7. N.M.—Thayer v. Denver & R. G. R. Co., 154 P. 691, 695, 21 N.M. 330.

8. N.J.—Harber v. Graham, 143 A. 340, 342, 105 N.J.Law 213, 61 A.L.R. 1232.

9. Conn.—Sharkey v. Skilton, 77 A. 950, 951, 83 Conn. 503.

10. Phrases construed

(1) "Action for 'injury to property,'" held not to include a bankrupt's right of action for conspiracy to interfere with his position as national bank president.—Boudreau v. Chesley, C.C.A.Me., 135 F.2d 623, 624, affirming, D.C., In re Mulloney, 45 F. Supp. 768.

(2) "Consequential injury."
N.Y.—Sadlier v. New York, 81 N.Y.S. 308, 312, 40 Misc. 78.
Pa.—Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Marchant, 13 A. 690, 119 Pa. 541, 557, 4 Am.S.R. 659.
Va.—Jordan v. Wyatt, 4 Gratt. 151, 154, 45 Va. 151, 154, 47 Am.D. 720.
See specifically 15 C.J.S. p 983 note 96; and the C.J.S. title Justices of the Peace § 29, also 35 C.J. p 498 note 40–p 499 note 45, as coming within jurisdiction of justice's court.

(3) "Continuing injury" is an injury that may be abated or discontinued at any time, either by the act of the wrongdoer, or by the injured person.—Worden v. Bielenberg, 136 N.W. 314, 315, 119 Minn. 330—13 C.J. p 204 note 45.

(4) "Date of the injury causing such death," held to refer to the time of the causal injury rather than to the result of the injury, without reference to whether it is compensable or not.—Otis v. Parrott, Iowa, 8 N.W.2d 708, 711.

(5) "Direct injury."
N.Y.—Sadlier v. New York, 81 N.Y.S. 308, 312, 40 Misc. 78.
Wash.—Farnandis v. Great Northern R. Co., 84 P. 18, 20, 41 Wash. 486, while others are elsewhere discussed.[11] For still other phrases as to which more recent adjudications

111 Am.S.R. 1027, 6 L.R.A.,N.S., 1086.

See particularly the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 111, also 46 C.J. p 770 note 2, direct injury as requisite for granting equitable relief against nuisance.

(6) "Injury, fatal or non-fatal," as including death, since death is a "fatal injury," in the ordinary and usual meaning of the words, as distinguished from the result of a fatal injury.—Sulzbacher v. Travelers Ins. Co., C.C.A.Mo., 137 F.2d 386, 390.

(7) "Injury resulting from such failure," held to refer to a legal injury, the word "injury" not being intended to mean physical injury.—Edwards v. Ely, 47 N.E.2d 344, 346, 317 Ill.App. 599.

(8) "Injury to head," construed as not including impairment or loss of hearing.

Ky.—Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. R. Co. v. Bennette, 119 S.W. 181, 182, 134 Ky. 19—Louisville Ry. Co. v. Gaugh, 118 S.W. 276, 277, 133 Ky. 467.

Tenn.—City of Maryville v. McConkey, 90 S.W.2d 951, 957, 19 Tenn. App. 520.

(9) "Injury to person and property," construed to mean causing damage to the subject matter of the rights, not depriving the owner of them.—In re Ennis, D.C.N.Y., 171 F. 755, 757.

(10) "Intentional self-inflicted injury."—In re Ayers, 118 N.E. 386, 387, 66 Ind.App. 458.

(11) "'Malicious and willful' injury," as an injury done out of cruelty, hostility or revenge, more than a willful and intentional injury.—Wing v. Wing, 66 Me. 62, 64, 22 Am. R. 548.

(12) "'Malicious injury' to property," as including or indicating damage to the property, not merely the conversion thereof.—In re Ennis, supra.

(13) "Necessary injury" sometimes equivalent to "pecuniary injury" see supra note 80; and often construed as broad enough to include any damages which may be estimated according to a pecuniary standard, whether present, prospective, or proximate.—Barth v. Kansas City El. R. Co., 44 S.W. 778, 785, 142 Mo. 535—McCullough v. W. H. Powell Lumber Co., 216 S.W. 803, 807, 205 Mo.App. 15.

(14) "Real injury," in the civil law, an injury inflicted by any act by which a person's honor or dignity is affected.—Black L.D.

(15) "Relative injuries," defined as injuries to those rights which a person possesses with relation to the person who is immediately affected by the wrongful act done.—Black L. D.

(16) "Reparable injury," generally an injury the damage from which is merely in the nature of pecuniary loss, and which can be exactly and fully repaired by compensation in money.—Barrow v. Duplantis, 86 So. 718, 723, 148 La. 149—Puckette v. Hicks, 2 So. 801, 39 La.Ann. 901, 4 Am.S.R. 242.

(17) "Serious injury."—Union Mut. Ins. Co. v. Wilkinson, Iowa, 13 Wall., U.S., 222, 230, 20 L.Ed. 617—32 C.J. p 523 note 64.

(18) "Serious personal injury."—Smarrs v. State, 61 S.E. 914, 916, 131 Ga. 21—32 C.J. p 520 note 98 [c].

(19) "Sudden injury," held to express a physical, not a mental condition, and hence not synonymous with "quick anger" in defining "heat of passion."—State v. Sloan, 56 P. 364, 368, 22 Mont. 293, 304.

(20) "Temporary injury" construed as an injury that may be abated or discontinued at any time, either by the act of the wrongdoer, or by the injured person.—Worden v. Bielenberg, 138 N.W. 314, 315, 119 Minn. 330.

(21) "Verbal injury," in the civil law, a verbal injury, when directed against a private person, consists in the uttering of contumelious words, which tend to injure his reputation by making him little or ridiculous.—Black L.D.

(22) "Violent injury" has been held not synonymous with "bodily harm," but includes any wrongful act committed by means of physical force against the person of another, even though only the feelings of such person are injured by the act.—People v. Bradbury, 91 P. 497, 151 Cal. 675.

(23) "Willful and malicious injuries."—Tinker v. Colwell, N.Y., 24 S. Ct. 505, 506, 193 U.S. 473, 48 L.Ed. 754—32 C.J. p 521 note 29 [d]. See also Bankruptcy § 574, discharge in bankruptcy as not affecting bankrupt's liability for willful and malicious injury to property or person of another.

11. Phrases discussed elsewhere

(1) "Accidental injury" and "accidental personal injury" see 1 C.J.S. p 452 note 46, p 456 note 51.

(2) "Action for injuries done to the person," within meaning of limitation statutes, see the C.J.S. title Limitations of Actions § 74, also 37 C.J. p 775 note 62.

(3) "Actual injury" and "actual injury to his property" see 1 C.J.S. p 1442 notes 34, 35.

(4) "Actual notice of injury" and "actual pecuniary injury" see 1 C.J.S. p 1443 notes 57, 76.

(5) "Any injuries," "any injury, loss or damage," and "any injury to person or persons" see 3 C.J.S. p 1407 notes 42–44.

(6) "Bodily injury" defined generally see 11 C.J.S. p 376 note 53–p 377 note 82; and discussed specifically see such C.J.S. titles as Assault and Battery § 79; Homicide §§ 123–126; Robbery § 25, also 54 C.J. p 1031 notes 57, 58; and Workmen's Compensation Acts § 158, also 71 C.J. p 577 note 69–p 579 note 98.

(7) "Bodily injury to the person" and other similar phrases see 11 C.J.S. p 378 notes 3, 10–13, 15, 18, 23–27.

(8) "Civil injury" see 14 C.J.S. p 1155 notes 75–77.

(9) "Common injury" see the C.J.S. title Nuisances §§ 78, 79, also 12 C.J. p 156 notes 50, 51, 32 C.J. p 517 note 54, and 46 C.J. p 728 note 44 and p 732 note 52–p 734 note 65.

(10) "Compensable injury" see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 152 et seq, also 32 C.J. p 517 note 55, and 71 C.J. p 559 note 61 et seq.

(11) "Conditions and diseases which may result from bodily injuries" distinguished from "bodily injury" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 note 81.

(12) "Continuous injury" see 17 C.J.S. p 285 note 97.

(13) "Continuous or recurring injury" see the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 115, also 46 C.J. p 770 notes 94–1.

(14) "Day and hour of any accident causing the injury" see 14 C.J.S. p 53 note 24.

(15) "'Enormous' bodily injury" equivalent to "great bodily harm" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 note 88.

(16) "Fatal injury" distinguished from "disability" see 26 C.J.S. p 1323 note 62.

(17) "General injury" contrasted with "special injury" or "specific injury" see 38 C.J.S. p 763 note 16 (31).

(18) "Great bodily injury" and "serious bodily injury" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 note 91–p 378 note 99.

(19) "Great personal injury" equivalent to "great bodily harm" see 11 C.J.S. p 377 note 89.

(20) "Indirect injury" see 42 C.J.S. p 1364 note 29(8).

(21) "Injured . . . by accident," "injuries sustained by accident," "injury by accident," "injury caused by accident," and "injury resulting from accident" see 1 C.J.S. p 446 note 97–p 447 note 2.

(22) "Injury proximately caused by accident" see Cause 14 C.J.S. p 53 note 14.

have not been found see 32 C.J. p 522 note 30–p 523 note 77.

INJUSTICE. In general, the withholding or denial of justice, and in law, the term is almost invariably applied to the act, fault, or omission of a court, or some other agency of government, as distinguished from that of an individual.[12]

"Injustice" has been contrasted with, or distinguished from, "hardship" see 39 C.J.S. p 777 note 2, and "fraud" see Fraud § 1 note 25.

INJUSTUM EST, NISI TOTA LEGE INSPECTA, DE UNA ALIQUA EJUS PARTICULA PROPOSITA JUDICARE VEL RESPONDERE.[13]

INK. A colored fluid of slight viscosity used for writing or drawing, or a more viscous colored substance used in printing; the coloring matter is gallotannate of iron.[14] It is a matter of common knowledge that ink can be manufactured from a great variety of substances.[15]

In the lumber industry, ink, which causes stains in oak lumber, is iron tannate, formed by tannic acid in the lumber and iron in the dipping vat where the lumber is treated for stains.[16]

IN KIND. See In 42 C.J.S. p 477 notes 99, 1.

INLAGARE. In old English law, to restore to the protection of law; to restore a man from the condition of outlawry; opposed to "utlagare."[17]

INLAGATION. Restoration to the protection of law; restoration from a condition of outlawry.[18]

INLAGH. A person within the law's protection; the opposite of "utlagh," an outlaw.[19]

INLAID LINOLEUM. A type of linoleum floor covering which takes its name from varicolored inlays or figures variously applied to, or produced on, the conventional burlap backing or base.[20] It is of two principal kinds, namely, "molded inlaid linoleum" and "straight-line inlaid linoleum," classified on the basis of the different methods of manufacture described in the note.[21]

(23) "Injury to personal estate" see supra p 1118 note 47.

(24) "Injury to personal rights," compared with and distinguished from "injury to the person" see supra p 1117 note 35.

(25) "Mortal injury" equivalent to and compared with "serious bodily injury" see 11 C.J.S. p 378 notes 98, 99.

(26) "Physical injury," as a synonym of "bodily harm" or "bodily hurt" see 11 C.J.S. p 375 note 27, p 378 note 7.

(27) "Schedule injuries" see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 306–317, also 71 C.J. p 833 note 45–p 850 note 57.

(28) "Special injury" contrasted with "general injury" see 38 C.J.S. p 763 note 16 (31), and as construed or applied with reference to nuisances see the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 75, Sunday sales as not constituting "special injury" to other dealers so as to justify action by them under nuisance statute; and § 79, as essential to individual's right to relief against a public nuisance, also 46 C.J. p 725 note 54, p 732 note 51–p 736 note 88.

(29) "Specific injury" contrasted with "general injury" see 38 C.J.S. p 763 note 16 (31), and as used with reference to schedule injuries within compensation acts see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts §§ 306–310, also 71 C.J. p 833 note 45–p 889 note 12.

12. Black L.D.

Held to constitute "injustice"

(1) The overvaluation of the property of a taxpayer.—State v. Superior Lumber & Mill Co., 170 P. 58, 60, 23 N.M. 606—South Spring Ranch & Cattle Co. v. State Board of Equalization, 139 P. 159, 173, 18 N.M. 531.

(2) Where a party in interest, acting without fault or neglect, intends to litigate, or to have reviewed, important questions of law or fact which he has the right to litigate, and is denied, or deprived of, such right then an injustice is done. U.S.—Silvey's Case, 7 Ct.Cl. 305, 324. N.H.—Holton v. Olcott, 58 N.H. 598, 599—In re Moulton, 50 N.H. 532, 537.

Held not to constitute

In holding that a loss to stockholders resulting from a change in the corporation's charter which the legislature had reserved power to make, did not constitute an injustice, the court said: "The exercise of a perfect legal right cannot possibly operate, in the eye of the law, injustice to anybody."—Mississippi Building & Loan Association v. McElveen, 56 So. 187, 189, 100 Miss. 16.

Phrases construed

(1) "Any such injustice," as referring to errors, other than mere clerical errors, in the assessment book.—Bernalillio First State Bank v. State, 196 P. 743, 744, 27 N.M. 78.

(2) "Without injustice or undue delay to the creditors or to the debtor."—Ex parte Moon, 19 Q.B.D. 669, 677—Ex parte Charlton, 6 Ch.D. 45, 51.

13. A maxim meaning "It is unjust to give judgment or advice concerning any particular clause of a law without having examined the whole law."—Cyclopedic L.D.

Applied in Bonham's Case, 8 Coke 114a, 117b, 77 Reprint 646.

Similarly rendered

"It is unjust to decide or respond as to any particular part of a law without examining the whole of the law."—Black L.D.

14. Century D.

"Ink pencil"

As distinguished from lead pencil, it is defined as a pencil in which a solid indelible pigment takes the place of the usual lead.—Thrailkill v. Smith, 138 N.E. 532, 533, 106 Ohio St. 1.

15. Ohio.—Thrailkill v. Smith, supra.

16. Tenn.—E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co. v. E. L. Bruce Co., 124 S.W.2d 243, 244, 174 Tenn. 148.

17. Black L.D.

18. Black L.D.

19. Black L.D.

20. U.S.—Armstrong Cork Co. v. W. & J. Sloane Mfg. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 27 F.2d 644, 645.

21. Two processes described

(1) "Molded inlaid linoleum," came into the art in 1880; it is manufactured by the stencil process. A stencil, provided with sections in the form of the different parts of a desired varicolored pattern, is placed on burlap, and each section is filled with a loose granular mixture o linseed and cork of the desired color.

"Inlaid linoleum" has become a trade-name referring to the "straight-line inlaid linoleum" and has been distinguished from "plain linoleum" and "painted linoleum."[22]

INLAND. Within a country, state or territory; within the same country.[23]

In old English law, inland was used for the demesne of a manor; that part which lay next or most convenient for the lord's mansion house, as within the view thereof, and which, therefore, he kept in his own hands for support of his family and for hospitality; in contradistinction to outland or utland, which was the portion let out to tenants.[24]

INLANTAL or INLANTALE. Demesne or inland, opposed to delantal, or land tenanted.[25]

INLAUGHE. Saxon, in old English law, under the law, in a frank-pledge, or decennary.[26]

INLAW. As a verb, to place under the protection of the law.[27]

IN LAW. See In 42 C.J.S. p 483 note 82 (24).

INLEASED. In old English law, entangled or ensnared.[28]

IN LEGE OMNIA SEMPER IN PRAESENTI STARE CONSENTUR.[29]

INLET. A term which is construed to mean the indentation in the shore at the mouth or outlet of a navigable stream.[30]

IN LIEU OF. See In 42 C.J.S. p 477 note 2–p 478 note 8.

INLIGARE. In old European law, to confederate; to join in a league.[31]

IN LIMINE. See In 42 C.J.S. p 489 note 10.

IN LOCO FACTI IMPRESTABILIS SUBEST DAMNUM ET INTERESSE.[32]

IN LOCO PARENTIS. See In 42 C.J.S. p 489 note 12–p 490 note 16.

IN MAJORE SUMMA CONTINETUR MINOR.[33]

IN MALEFICIIS VOLUNTAS SPECTATUR NON EXITUS.[34]

IN MALEFICIO RATIHABITIO MANDATO COMPARATUR.[35]

INMATE. An associated lodger or inhabitant, one who is a mate or associate in the occupancy of a place;[36] a fellow lodger, one who lives in the same house or apartment with another;[37] one who occu-

The stencil being withdrawn, the burlap, with the superimposed stenciled divisions now making the desired pattern, then passes beneath a powerful press which compresses the stenciled blocks and cements them to each other and to the burlap, producing, however, irregular edges at the junctures of the different parts of the pattern, due to the fact that, after the stencil pattern is removed, and the loose, granular, varicolored mixes are subjected to pressure, the particles move laterally, and the different colored pattern sections interlace and produce irregular lines between the different colored inlays.—Armstrong Cork Co. v. W. & J. Sloane Mfg. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 27 F.2d 644, 645, 647, 648.

(2) "Straight-line inlaid linoleum," has been made since 1895, and was introduced in an effort to meet the objection of the trade to the irregular, or ragged edge, lines of the molded linoleum. In this process, the inlays or figures are cut from rolled sheets and placed or inlaid on the burlap to form patterns, after which the burlap and the superimposed inlays are by heat and pressure cemented together, with the result that the juncture lines between the different color inlays are sharp and distinct, since the pattern sections are cut from solid, hardened sheets and have distinct, sharply defined edges. Until the advent of the embossed or indented molded linoleum, these "straight-line" linoleums largely supplanted the stenciled or molded linoleum.—Armstrong Cork Co. v. W. & J. Sloane Mfg. Co., supra.

22. U.S.—Armstrong Cork Co. v. W. & J. Sloane Mfg. Co., supra.

23. Black L.D.

Phrases construed

(1) "Inland bill of exchange," see Bills and Notes § 4 b.

(2) "Inland trade," defined as trade wholly carried on at home, as distinguished from commerce.—Black L.D.

(3) Other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 32 C.J. p 523 notes 85–91.

24. Black L.D.

25. Black L.D.

26. Black L.D.

27. Black L.D.

28. Black L.D.

29. A maxim meaning "In law all things are always judged from their present status."—Morgan Leg.Max.

30. N.Y.—Tillotson v. Hudson River R. Co., 9 N.Y. 575, 580.

31. Black L.D.

32. A maxim meaning "Damages come in the place of an act which cannot be performed."—Trayner Leg. Max.

Applied in Audubon Hotel Co. v. Braunning, 46 So. 33, 35, 120 La. 1089, 124 Am.S.R. 456.

33. A maxim meaning "In the greater sum is contained the less."—Black L.D.

Applied in Foliamb's Case, 5 Coke 115b, 77 Reprint 235.

34. A maxim meaning "In evil deeds regard must be had to the intention and not to the result."—Black L.D.

35. A maxim meaning "In a tort, ratification is equivalent to authority."—Bouvier L.D.

Similarly rendered

"In a case of malfeasance, ratification is equivalent to command."—Black L.D.

36. U.S.—Ex parte Psimoules, D.C. Cal., 222 F. 118, 120—Farrell v. Security Mut. L. Ins. Co., Conn., 125 F. 684, 688, 60 C.C.A. 374.

37. U.S.—Farrell v. Security Mut. L. Ins. Co., supra.

Similar definitions

(1) A person who lodges or dwells in the same house with another, occupying different rooms, but using the same door for passing in and out of the house.—Black L.D.

pies or lodges in a place with others; also any occupant, even if alone,[38] hence an indweller, one who occupies or lodges in any place or dwelling, one of the occupants of an asylum, hospital, or prison.[39]

"Inmates" of particular institutions or places are discussed in such C.J.S. titles as Army and Navy § 62, soldiers' homes; Asylums § 7; Disorderly Houses §§ 7, 11 e, 14 b, d, 15 d; Hospitals §§ 7, 8; Paupers §§ 17, 77, 78, also 48 C.J. p 446 notes 85–93, p 543 note 67–p 547 note 23; Prisons §§ 18, 19, also 50 C.J. p 343 note 32–p 346 note 93; Prostitution § 4, also 32 C.J. p 524 note 7 [a]–[c], 50 C.J. p 803 notes 76–90; and Reformatories § 8 et seq, also 53 C.J. p 1060 note 35 et seq.

IN MAXIMA POTENTIA MINIMA LICENTIA.[40]

IN MERCIBUS ILLICITIS NON SIT COMMERCIUM.[41]

IN-MIGRANTS. A word used to designate transients, that is, people who are here today and gone tomorrow.[42]

INMUEBLES. In Spanish law, immovables; real property.[43]

INMUNE. In Spanish law, one who is free from any obligation or burden.[44]

INMUNIDAD. In Spanish law, exemption from obligation or burden.[45]

INN. As defined generally see Innkeepers § 1, post page 1128 note 1—page 1133 note 1.

Inns of chancery. The buildings known as Clifford's Inn, Clement's Inn, New Inn, Staple's Inn. They were formerly a sort of collegiate houses, in which law students learned the elements of law before being admitted into the inns of court, but they have long ceased to occupy that position.[46]

(2) One who dwells in a part of another's house, the latter dwelling at the same time in such house.—Rex v. Franey, 44 N.S. 163, 167.

38. Cal.—People v. Matsicura, 124 P. 882, 883, 19 Cal.App. 75.

39. U.S.—Farrell v. Security Mut. L. Ins. Co., Conn., 125 F. 684, 688, 60 C.C.A. 374.

Phrases construed

(1) Inmate of an asylum see Asylums § 7.

(2) "Inmate of a house of ill fame," or "inmate of a house of prostitution" see the C.J.S. titles Disorderly Houses § 7; and Prostitution § 4, also 32 C.J. p 524 note 7 [a]–[c], 50 C.J. p 803 notes 76–90.

(3) Other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 32 C.J. p 524 notes 14–17.

40. A maxim meaning "In the greatest power there is the smallest license."—Wharton L.Lex.

Similarly rendered

"In the greatest power there is the least freedom."—Black L.D.

41. A maxim meaning "There should be no commerce in illicit or prohibited goods."—Black L.D.

42. U.S.—Brown v. Bayview Manor Homes, D.C.Va., 51 F.Supp. 557, 558.

43. Escriche Diccionario.

44. Escriche Diccionario.

45. Escriche Diccionario.

"Inmunidad eclesiástica"

Exemption conceded to churches as regards taxation on their property (inmunidad real), and from profane use or entry (inmunidad local), as well as to clergy (inmunidad personal ó clerical) corresponding to the English "benefit of clergy" so that they are not amenable to the ordinary tribunals.—Escriche Diccionario.

46. Black L.D.

History and purpose

(1) "When 'the fixing of the court of common pleas, the grand tribunal for disputes of property, to be held in one certain spot', brought the legal profession together, 'they naturally fell into a kind of collegiate order, and, being excluded from Oxford and Cambridge, found it necessary to establish a new university of their own. This they did by purchasing at various times certain houses (now called the inns of court and of chancery). . . . Here exercises were performed, lectures read, and degrees were at length conferred in the common law, as at other universities in the canon and civil. The degrees were those of barristers (first styled apprentices, . . .), who answered to our bachelors, as the state and degree of a serjeant . . . did to that of a doctor.' "—Ricker's Pet., 29 A. 559, 562, 66 N.H. 207, 24 L.R.A. 740.

(2) "Here in Term time the students of the law attend in great numbers, as it were to public schools, and are there instructed in all sorts of law learning and in the practice of the courts. There belong to it ten lesser Inns, and sometimes more, which are called the Inns of Chancery, in each of which there are an hundred students at the least, and in some of them a far greater number, though not constantly residing. The students are for the most part young men. Here they study the nature of original and judicial writs, which are the very first principles of the law. After they have made some progress here and are more advanced in years, they are admitted into the Inns of Court properly so called; of these there are four in number. In that which is the least frequented there are about 200 students . . . for the young student, which most commonly cometh from one of the Universities, for his entrance or beginning were first instituted and erected eight houses of Chancery, to learn there the elements of the law, that is to say (inter alia) 'Clifford's Inn, and each of these houses consists of forty or thereabouts.' . . . 'All these are not far distant from one another, and altogether do make the most famous university for profession of law only, or of any one human science that is in the world, and advanceth itself above all others quantum inter viburna cupressus. In which Houses of Court and Chancery, the readings and other exercises of the laws therein continually used are most excellent and behoofful for attaining to the knowledge of these laws.' "—Smith v. Kerr, [1900] 2 Ch. 511, 518.

(3) They were so called because they were anciently inhabited by such clerks as chiefly studied the framing of writs, which regularly belonged to the cursitors, who were officers of the court of chancery. There were nine of them, namely: Clement's, Clifford's, and Lyon's Inn; Furnival's, Thavies', and Symond's Inn; New Inn; and Barnard's and Staples' Inn. They consisted chiefly of solicitors, and possessed corporate property, hall, chambers, etc., but performed no public functions like the inns of court.—Black L.D.

Inns of court. Certain private unincorporated associations in the nature of collegiate houses, located in London, and invested with the exclusive privilege of calling to the bar, that is, conferring the rank or degree of barrister.[47]

INNAMIUM. In old English law, a pledge.[48]

INNAVIGABILITY and INNAVIGABLE. See the C.J.S. titles Insurance § 311, also 32 C.J. p 524 note 25, applied to vessels in the law of marine insurance; and Navigable Waters § 1, also 32 C.J. p 524 note 24, with reference to streams.

IN NECESSARIIS, UNITAS; IN NON NECESSARIIS, LIBERTAS; IN OMNIBUS, CARITAS.[49]

INNER. Farther in; interior; internal; as an inner chamber, the inner bark.[50]

INNINGS. In old records, lands recovered from the sea by draining and banking.[51]

47. Black L.D.

Classification and history

(1) The principal inns of court are the Inner Temple, the Middle Temple, Lincoln's Inn, and Gray's Inn. The two former originally belonged to the Knights Templar; the two latter to the earls of Lincoln and Gray respectively. These bodies now have a "common council of legal education" for giving lectures and holding examinations.—Black L.D.

(2) "The original institution of the inns of court nowhere precisely appears, but it is certain that they are not corporations, and have no constitution by charter from the crown. They are voluntary societies, which for ages have submitted to government analogous to that of other seminaries of learning. But all the power they have concerning the admission to the bar is delegated to them from the judges, and in every instance their conduct is subject to their control, as visitors."—Ricker's Pet., 29 A. 559, 562, 66 N.H. 207, 215, 24 L.R.A. 740.

48. Black L.D.

49. A maxim meaning "In those things which are essential let there be unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity."—Morgan Leg. Max.

50. Webster New Int.D.

Phrases construed

(1) "Inner barrister" see Attorney and Client § 3 b, also 6 C.J. p 567 note 11 [a].

(2) "Inner courts" defined see Court 20 C.J.S. p 1305 note 33 and Pocket Parts.

(3) "Inner Temple" see Inn ante note 47.

51. Black L.D.

INNKEEPERS

This Title includes regulation of inns, hotels, boardinghouses, lodginghouses, and all houses furnishing for compensation accommodation as a temporary home; and mutual rights, duties, and liabilities of keepers of such houses and their guests, boarders, or lodgers.

Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this work, see Descriptive-Word Index

Analysis

I. DEFINITIONS, DISTINCTIONS, AND GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS, §§ 1-3

II. STATUTORY AND MUNICIPAL REGULATION, §§ 4-7

III. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES, AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF, §§ 8-26

IV. OFFENSES, §§ 27-29

Sub-Analysis

I. DEFINITIONS, DISTINCTIONS, AND GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS—p 1128

§ 1. In general—p 1128
2. Keeper of inn, hotel, or tavern—p 1134
3. Guests—p 1136

II. STATUTORY AND MUNICIPAL REGULATION—p 1144

§ 4. Power to regulate in general—p 1144
5. Particular regulations—p 1144
6. —— Licenses—p 1145
7. —— Protection against fire—p 1148

III. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES, AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF—p 1148

§ 8. In general—p 1148
9. Reception and entertainment of guests—p 1149
10. —— Remedies—p 1151
11. Admission of persons not guests—p 1152
12. Loss of or injury to property—p 1153
13. —— Liability of innkeepers in general—p 1153
14. —— Negligence of guest—p 1154
15. —— Nature and extent of liability in general—p 1156
16. —— Property covered—p 1157
17. —— Limitation of liability—p 1158
18. —— Relationship of innkeeper and guest—p 1164
19. —— Custody of property by innkeeper—p 1166
20. —— Liability of keepers of other public houses—p 1168
21. —— Actions—p 1169
22. Injury to person—p 1173

III. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES, AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF—Continued

§ 23. —— Actions—p 1186
24. Injury to business—p 1194
25. Wrongful entry of guest's room—p 1195
26. Compensation and lien—p 1196

IV. OFFENSES—p 1202

§ 27. By innkeepers—p 1202
28. By guests, boarders, or lodgers—p 1202
29. By licensing officials—p 1203

See also descriptive word index in the back of this Volume

I. DEFINITIONS, DISTINCTIONS, AND GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

§ 1. In General

a. Definition and nature of "inn" or "hotel"
b. Other terms defined and compared

a. Definition and Nature of "Inn" or "Hotel"

An inn or hotel is essentially an establishment which provides lodging for transients; and a place which would otherwise be an inn or hotel does not lose its character as such because of its mode of construction, the appellation bestowed on it by the proprietor, or the fact that food and drink cannot be obtained therein or are available at the option of the guest.

An inn or hotel is a house which is held out to the public as a place where all transient persons who come will be received and entertained as guests for compensation;[1] a place where every well-behaved stranger or traveler, who is willing to pay reasonable rates for accommodation, is entitled to receive food, drink, and lodging;[2] a place for the regular accommodation of travelers or transients with lodging, food, or entertainment;[3] a house where a traveler is furnished with everything for which he has occasion while on his way;[4] a business institution held out to the public as a house where travelers, strangers, or other transient persons having means of payment, and of proper demeanor and fair repute, must be received and accommodated, to its capacity, without any previous agreement for accommodation or as to the duration of their stay.[5]

Distinctive features of a hotel or inn are that it receives transient guests[6] and furnishes them with lodging.[7] It is kept for the accommodation and entertainment of travelers and wayfaring men, and

1. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App.2d 62.
Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, citing Corpus Juris, and transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 527 note 1, p 528 note 7.

Other definitions

(1) A house where travelers or others are entertained and furnished with food and lodging, and sometimes other conveniences.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 592, 209 Ala. 512.

(2) A public house where guests are given fare and lodging or fare without lodging, at stipulated rates.—Murray v. Hagens, La.App., 148 So. 505, 506.

(3) A house for the entertainment of travelers and passengers in which lodging and necessaries are provided for them and for their horses and attendants.—Cromwell v. Stephens, 2 Daly, N.Y., 15, 21, 3 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 26—32 C.J. p 527 note 1 [a] (7).

(4) A house where all who conduct themselves properly, and who are able and ready to pay for their entertainment, are received, if there is accommodation for them, and who, without any stipulated engagement as to the duration of their stay, or as to the rate of compensation, are, while there, supplied at a reasonable charge with their meals, their lodging, and such services and attention as are necessarily incident to the use of the house as a temporary home.—Ford v. Waldorf System, 188 A. 633, 57 R.I. 131.
32 C.J. p 527 note 1 [a].

2. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, citing Corpus Juris, and transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 528 notes 4 [a], 7 [a] (4).

3. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
N.Y.—Waitt Const. Co. v. Chase, 188 N.Y.S. 589, 197 App.Div. 327, affirmed 135 N.E. 948, 233 N.Y. 633.
32 C.J. p 528 note 7 [a].

4. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, citing Corpus Juris, and transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 528 note 12.

5. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

6. Iowa.—Hubbell v. Higgins, 126 N.W. 914, 148 Iowa 36, Ann.Cas.1912B 822.
Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, citing Corpus Juris and transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.

7. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, supra, citing Corpus Juris.

not for those residing in the same neighborhood who may visit, or others who may remain at the house for some special purpose not connected with passage or travel.[8] Formerly it was necessary, in order to constitute an inn, that there should be provision for furnishing not only lodging, but also food[9] and drink[10] for the guests, and accommodation for their horses;[11] but this early definition has been modified and narrowed by changes in the modes of travel and customs of the people,[12] and facilities for the supplying of guests with food[13] or drink,[14] and a stable for the care of their horses,[15] are no longer essential requisites of an inn or hotel. The character of a place as an inn or hotel is not lost because of the type of structure or the surrounding buildings or lands,[16] or because a different appellation is bestowed on it.[17]

Where the term "hotel" is defined by statute, the statutory definition will govern in applying such statute, but does not necessarily determine the meaning of the term as used in an unrelated statute.[18]

"Hotel" and "inn" compared. At one time an "inn" differed from a "hotel," in that the inn not only offered accommodations to persons, but stabling and feed for their horses, and safe-keeping for their baggage and impedimenta.[19] At present, however, "hotel" is a word which in common use has largely, if not entirely, displaced the term "inn;"[20] it is regarded as synonymous therewith,[21] especially an inn of the better class,[22] and is employed interchangeably therewith in statutes and decisions.[23] It has been said that the term "inn" is now usually restricted to small, old-fashioned establishments, and that "hotel" is properly distinguished from "inn" by the former's superior style and pretensions.[24]

A hotel on the European plan is one where the charge per day includes only lodging and service, and the guests take their meals at the attached restaurant, or wherever they please, and pay for them separately.[25] As otherwise expressed, such a hotel is one in which the renting of rooms is separate from the furnishing of meals and the maintenance of a restaurant for meals;[26] a hotel which furnishes rooms and lodging without board;[27] or a hotel where the keeper does not provide meals for the guests.[28] In such a hotel the guests patronize the hotel table or not, as they please, and, when they do so, pay for what they order.[29] The mere fact

N.Y.—Babb v. Elsinger, 147 N.Y.S. 98.

8. Mich.—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N. W. 785, 786, 272 Mich. 38—Carter v. Hobbs, 12 Mich. 52, 55, 83 Am. D. 762.

9. U.S.—Lewis v. Hitchcock, D.C.N. Y., 10 F. 4.
N.Y.—Kelly v. New York Excise Com'rs, 54 How.Pr. 327.
"The word inn at common law meant a place where a traveler is furnished with both lodging and entertainment, including food."—Dixon v. Robbins, 158 N.E. 63, 246 N.Y. 169, 53 A.L.R. 986, reversing 221 N. Y.S. 814, 220 App.Div. 746—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S. 2d 312, 316, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
Extent of duty to entertain and accommodate guest see infra § 9.

10. Minn.—Nelson v. Johnson, 116 N.W. 828, 104 Minn. 440, 17 L.R.A., N.S., 1259.
32 C.J. p 529 note 15.

11. Minn.—Nelson v. Johnson, supra.
32 C.J. p 529 note 16.

12. Wis.—Huntley v. Stanchfield, 169 N.W. 276, 168 Wis. 119, 19 A. L.R. 513.
32 C.J. p 529 note 17.

13. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, citing Corpus Juris, and transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 529 note 18.

14. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, supra, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 529 note 19.

15. Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.
32 C.J. p 529 note 20.

16. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.
32 C.J. p 527 note 1 [b].

17. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.
N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N. Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

18. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.

19. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

20. N.Y.—Dixon v. Robbins, 158 N. E. 63, 246 N.Y. 169, 53 A.L.R. 986, reversing 221 N.Y.S. 814, 220 App. Div. 746.
32 C.J. p 528 note 4.
"Hotel" is modern name for houses that were formerly called "inns" or "taverns."—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.

21. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
32 C.J. p 528 note 5.
"All recognized lexicographers indicate that the words may be regarded as synonymous."—Dixon v. Robbins, 158 N.E. 63, 246 N.Y. 169, 53 A.L.R. 986, reversing 221 N.Y.S. 814, 220 App.Div. 746.

22. N.Y.—Dixon v. Robbins, supra —Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App. Div. 985.

23. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
N.Y.—Meehan v. Board of Excise Com'rs of Jersey City, 70 A. 363, 75 N.J.Law 557, affirming 64 A. 689, 73 N.J.Law 382.
32 C.J. p 528 note 6.

24. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.

25. La.—Vonderbank v. Schmidt, 10 So. 616, 44 La.Ann. 264, 32 Am.S.R. 336, 15 L.R.A. 462.
32 C.J. p 528 note 8.

26. N.Y.—Bernstein v. Sweeny, 33 N.Y.Super. 271, 272.

27. La.—Vonderbank v. Schmidt, 10 So. 616, 44 La.Ann. 264, 32 Am.S.R. 336, 15 L.R.A. 462.

28. La.—Sieward v. Denechaud, 45 So. 561, 564, 120 La. 720.

29. Ky.—New Galt House Co. v.

that a hotel is conducted on the European plan does not alter its legal character as an inn.[30]

Public utility. Hotels are not public utilities,[31] and their internal affairs are not subject to the regulatory powers of a public service commission, as discussed infra § 4.

Questions of law and fact. The question whether a house of entertainment is a public inn, a boardinghouse, or a private house is a question of fact, to be determined, like any fact, on all the evidence.[32] However, whether a building is an inn is a question of law for the court where there are no facts as to this issue in dispute.[33] Where a dining room or restaurant is connected with, and operated in, a hotel, it cannot be stated as a matter of law that it is not part of the hotel.[34]

b. Other Terms Defined and Compared

The term "inn" or "hotel" has frequently been compared with, or distinguished from, many other terms, such as "apartment hotel" or "apartment building," "boardinghouse," "lodginghouse," "rooming house," "coffeehouse," "house of public entertainment," "ordinary," "public utility," "restaurant," "saloon," "tavern," "tenement house," and "tourist camp."

Apartment hotel or building. In legal contemplation an apartment hotel, as such, is not an inn;[35] but an apartment building may constitute a "hotel" as defined by a particular statute.[36]

A "family hotel," as distinguished from an ordinary public hotel, is a hotel designed primarily for the accommodation of permanent guests, in which rooms and suites are taken by families or individuals for some period; it is not designed, or at least is designed only incidentally, for the accommodation of transients.[37] As used in particular covenants or statutory provisions, the term "tenement house" may include[38] or exclude[39] "family hotels."

"Tavern" is sometimes broadly defined as a house where travelers or others are entertained and furnished with food and lodging, and sometimes with other conveniences;[40] a place for the general entertainment of all travelers and strangers who apply, paying suitable compensation;[41] or a public house where entertainment and accommodation for travelers and other guests are provided.[42] Frequently the element of the sale of liquors is included in the definition of "tavern" and the term is variously defined as a house for the entertainment of travelers as well as for the sale of liquors;[43] a public place, where food and intoxicating liquors are furnished to guests, and usually where liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises;[44] a place where wine is sold and drinkers are entertained;[45] or a hotel usually licensed to sell liquors in small quantities.[46] The purpose of a tavern is primarily to accommodate the public with eating, drinking, and lodging.[47]

The word "tavern" frequently is used synonymously with "inn" or "hotel,"[48] and, as appears

Louisville, 111 S.W. 351, 129 Ky. 341, 17 L.R.A.,N.S., 566.

30. N.Y.—Bernstein v. Sweeny, 33 N.Y.Super. 271—Krohn v. Sweeney, 2 Daly 200.
Wis.—Huntley v. Stanchfield, 169 N. W. 276, 168 Wis. 119, 19 A.L.R. 513.
32 C.J. p 529 note 22.

31. N.Y.—People ex rel. Public Service Commission v. New York Telephone Co., 29 N.Y.S.2d 513, 262 App.Div. 440, affirming People ex rel. Public Service Commission of New York v. New York Telephone Co., 22 N.Y.S.2d 837, 175 Misc. 128, and affirmed 40 N.E.2d 1020, 287 N.Y. 803.

32. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.
32 C.J. p 530 note 33.

33. Pa.—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.

34. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.

35. Mass.—Davis v. Gay, 6 N.E. 549, 141 Mass. 531.
N.Y.—Alsberg v. Lucerne Hotel Co., 92 N.Y.S. 851, 46 Misc. 617.
32 C.J. p 529 note 25.
"Apartment hotel" defined see the C.J.S. definition 3 C.J.S. p 1422 notes 75–77.
"Tenement house" as including "apartment hotels" see infra note 7.

36. Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402.
"Apartment house" defined see the C.J.S. definition 3 C.J.S. p 1422 note 78–p 1423 note 92.

37. N.Y.—Kew Gardens Corporation v. Ciro's Plaza, 23 N.Y.S.2d 957, 175 Misc. 475.
32 C.J. p 529 note 25 [a].

38. Mass.—Bancroft v. Building Commissioner of City of Boston, 153 N.E. 319, 257 Mass. 82.
62 C.J. p 705 note 88 [a].

39. N.Y.—Apartment Hotel Owners' Ass'n v. City of New York, 233 N. Y.S. 553, 133 Misc. 881—Musgrave v. Sherwood, 54 How.Pr. 338, reversed on other grounds 23 Hun 669, 60 How.Pr. 339.
Contra Musgrave v. Sherwood, 53 How.Pr. 311.

40. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.

41. Tex.—Comer v. State, 10 S.W. 106, 26 Tex.Civ.App. 509.
Wis.—Jansen v. State, 19 N.W. 374, 60 Wis. 577.

42. Mo.—City of St. Louis v. Siegrist, 46 Mo. 593, 594.
Similar definitions
(1) A public house where food is provided for travelers and guests.—Murray v. Hagens, La.App., 143 So. 505, 506.
(2) A place for the entertainment of travelers, where all their wants can be supplied.—People v. Jones, 54 Barb., N.Y., 311, 316, 1 Cow.Cr. 381—32 C.J. p 527 note 3 [a].

43. N.Y.—People v. Jones, supra.

44. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

45. S.C.—State v. Chamblyss, 25 S. C.L. 220, 34 Am.D. 593.

46. Mo.—City of St. Louis v. Siegrist, 46 Mo. 593, 594.

47. Pa.—In re London & Polsky's License, 24 Pa.Dist. 985, 43 Pa. Co. 691.

48. U.S.—Werner v. Washington, C.

from a comparison of the definitions of the terms, is similarly defined. It has been said that the term "tavern" is growing obsolete[49] and is now usually restricted to small, old-fashioned establishments.[50]

A tavern is considered to be a "house of entertainment" or a "house of public entertainment."[51]

Boardinghouses, lodginghouses, or rooming houses. Formulating a definition of "rooming house" has been said to be a dangerous, if not impossible, task.[52] In general, a lodginghouse or rooming house may be defined as a house where lodgings are let;[53] a house where bedrooms as such are furnished;[54] a house where there are one or more bedrooms which the proprietor can spare for the purpose of giving lodgings to such persons as he chooses to receive;[55] or a house containing furnished apartments which are let out by the week or by the month, without meals, or with breakfast simply.[56] A "flat" or "apartment house" may be used as a lodginghouse and structures placed side by side, or one in the rear of another, or in a circle or semicircle, do not lose their identity as rooming houses merely by bestowing on them a different appellation, if in fact they are used to lodge the public.[57]

"Boardinghouse" is defined as a house kept principally for the residence of permanent boarders;[58] a house where the business of keeping boarders generally is carried on, and which is held out by the owner or keeper as a place where boarders are kept;[59] a house for the accommodation of those who enter under contract for entertainment at a certain rate for a certain period of time, as for a week or month, at a rate of compensation agreed on.[60] A boardinghouse furnishes its patrons with both food and lodging, and a house in which rooms are let to roomers by the day, week, or month, but to whom the proprietor does not furnish or sell food or refreshments, is not a boardinghouse.[61]

Neither a boardinghouse[62] nor a lodginghouse or rooming house[63] constitutes, as such, an inn or a hotel, even though a register is kept and the word "hotel" appears on its stationery;[64] but by statute, the word "hotel" may be so defined as to include a rooming house.[65] The distinction between a hotel or inn and a boardinghouse or lodginghouse is that the former is for the accommodation of all persons who choose to come and who are in a condition fit to be received, without any prior or express agreement as to the duration of their stay, while the latter is for the accommodation of such persons as the proprietor chooses to receive under an express contract for a certain period of time and at a certain rate.[66] There is nothing incon-

C.D.C., F.Cas.No.17,416a, 2 Hayw. & H. 175.
N.Y.—Waitt Const. Co. v. Chase, 188 N.Y.S. 589, 592, 197 App.Div. 327, affirmed 135 N.E. 948, 233 N.Y. 633.
32 C.J. p 527 note 3.

No practical difference
In a decision in which doubt was expressed as to whether there is any legal distinction between an "inn or tavern" and a "hotel," it was held that there was no practical difference between them such as would render certain regulations applicable to "hotels" and not to "inns and taverns." —Meehan v. Board of Excise Com'rs of Jersey City, 70 A. 363, 365, 75 N. J.Law 557, affirming 64 A. 689, 73 N.J.Law 382.

49. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

50. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.

51. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, supra.
N.Y.—Crown Point Overseers of Poor v. Warner, 3 Hill 150, 156.
30 C.J. p 475 note 62.

52. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
54 C.J. p 1103 note 3.

53. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S. W.2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
12 C.J. p 204 notes 52-54—38 C.J. p 137 note 74.

54. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.

55. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.
54 C.J. p 1103 note 4.

56. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W. 2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
38 C.J. p 137 note 75.

57. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.

58. N.J.—Singelakis v. Davidson, 188 A. 443, 444, 117 N.J.Law 332, quoting Corpus Juris.
8 C.J. p 1132 note 15.

59. N.J.—Singelakis v. Davidson, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 539 note 87 [a]—8 C.J. p 1132 note 13.

Not a "'family' house"
A boardinghouse is not a "'family' house."—Baddour v. City of Long Beach, 18 N.E.2d 18, 22, 279 N.Y. 167.

Private dwelling distinguished
Me.—Robbins v. Bangor R. & Electric Co., 62 A. 136, 100 Me. 496, 1 L.R.A.,N.S., 963.
N.J.—Singelakis v. Davidson, 188 A. 443, 117 N.J.Law 332.
N.Y.—Baddour v. City of Long Beach, 18 N.E.2d 18, 279 N.Y. 167.
8 C.J. p 1132 note 14 [a], [d].

60. N.J.—Singelakis v. Davidson, 188 A. 443, 444, 117 N.J.Law 332, quoting Corpus Juris.
8 C.J. p 1132 note 14.

61. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

62. Ark.—Pettit v. Thomas, 148 S. W. 501, 103 Ark. 593, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 122, Ann.Cas.1914B 726.
32 C.J. p 529 note 27.

63. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.
N.Y.—Dixon v. Robbins, 158 N.E. 63, 246 N.Y. 169, reversing 221 N.Y.S. 814, 220 App.Div. 746.
32 C.J. p 529 note 26.

64. N.Y.—Roberts v. Case Hotel Co., 175 N.Y.S. 123, 106 Misc. 481.

65. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
54 C.J. p 1104 note 6.

66. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 1046, 117 Kan. 656, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—People v. Gold, 6 N.Y.S.2d 264, sistent or unusual, however, in a house of public entertainment having a double character, being simultaneously a boardinghouse and an inn; with respect to those who occupy rooms and are entertained on a special contract, it may be a boardinghouse, and in respect of transient persons, who without a stipulated contract remain from day to day, it may be an inn.[67] The fact that a house is not immediately on a highway, and that the grounds on which it stands are inclosed and the gates closed at night, does not render it any less an inn, or convert it into a boardinghouse.[68] A boardinghouse[69] or lodginghouse[70] is not the same as a tenement house.

"House of public entertainment." A house where travelers or others are entertained and furnished with food and lodging, and sometimes other conveniences, whether called an "inn" or a "hotel," is in common understanding a "house of public entertainment."[71]

Restaurant. The word "restaurant" has been said to have no defined meaning,[72] and is frequently applied broadly to all places where refreshments can be had,[73] from a mere eating house[74] or place where meals and refreshments are served[75] to common shops or stores where the furnishing of eatables to be consumed on the premises is subordinate to the chief business of vending articles of consumption and confectionery.[76]

The term "restaurant" has been said to be synonymous with the term "café."[77] A "restaurant" or a "café," as far as those terms are used to designate a mere eating house where no provision is made for lodging the patrons, is not a boardinghouse,[78] or an inn, or a hotel;[79] nor is it a "tavern"

267—Cady v. McDowell, 1 Lans. 484, 496.
32 C.J. p 529 note 80—8 C.J. p 1132 note 14 [c]—54 C.J. p 1103 note 4 [a].

Place held "inn," not boardinghouse
Pa.—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.

67. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.
32 C.J. p 530 note 81—54 C.J. p 1103 note 4 [b].

68. Cal.—Fay v. Pacific Impr. Co., 26 P. 1099, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188, reheard 28 P. 943, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188.

69. N.Y.—People v. Shkilky, 194 N.Y.S. 101, 201 App.Div. 55.
62 C.J. p 705 note 86.

70. Ohio.—Linwood Park Co. v. Van Dusen, 58 N.E. 576, 63 Ohio St. 183.
62 C.J. p 705 note 93.

71. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.
N.Y.—Overseers of Poor of Crown Point v. Warner, 3 Hill 150.
"Tavern" as "house of public entertainment" see supra note 51.

72. N.C.—State v. Shoaf, 102 S.E. 705, 179 N.C. 744.
54 C.J. p 729 note 93.

73. Mich.—Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 27 N.W. 586, 60 Mich. 420.
54 C.J. p 729 notes 95, 5.

74. Mich.—Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., supra.
N.C.—State v. Shoaf, 102 S.E. 705, 179 N.C. 744.
54 C.J. p 729 note 99.

Similar descriptions
(1) Public eating place or house.—San Francisco v. Larsen, 131 P. 366, 367, 165 Cal. 179—54 C.J. p 729 note 17.

(2) Cookshop.
Mich.—Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 27 N.W. 586, 60 Mich. 420, 426.
N.C.—State v. Shoaf, 102 S.E. 705, 179 N.C. 744.

(3) A place where eatables are furnished to be consumed on the premises.—State v. Shoaf, supra.

(4) A place where eatables can be obtained at all reasonable hours.—In re Liquor Licenses, Pa.Quart. Sess., 4 Montg.Co. 77, 79.

(5) A place where something to eat, already prepared, or which can readily be prepared, may be obtained.
N.H.—State v. Hogan, 30 N.H. 268, 272.
Vt.—Donahue v. Conant, 146 A. 417, 419, 102 Vt. 108.

75. Md.—Standard Brewing Co. v. Weil, 99 A. 661, 663, 129 Md. 487.
Vt.—Donahue v. Conant, 146 A. 417, 102 Vt. 108.
54 C.J. p 729 notes 12, 13.

Similar descriptions
(1) An establishment where refreshments or meals may be procured by the public.—Ft. Smith v. Gunter, 154 S.W. 181, 106 Ark. 371—54 C.J. p 729 note 3.

(2) An establishment for the sale of refreshments, both food and drink.—Page v. District of Columbia, 20 App.D.C. 469, 475—54 C.J. p 729 note 1.

(3) A place where refreshments, food, and drink are served.—State v. Shoaf, 102 S.E. 705, 179 N.C. 744—54 C.J. p 729 note 14.

(4) A place where meals are served.—Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. App. 50.

(5) A place to which a person resorts for the temporary purpose of obtaining a meal or something to eat.—State v. Shoaf, supra.

(6) A house where liquors and cooked food are sold.—Page v. District of Columbia, supra.

(7) A place where any person who conducts himself properly and is able and willing to pay for food has a right to demand that it be furnished him.—Debenham v. Short, Tex.Civ. App., 199 S.W. 1147, 1148.

76. Mich.—Richards v. Washington F. & M. Ins. Co., 27 N.W. 586, 60 Mich. 420.

77. N.C.—State v. Shoaf, 102 S.E. 705, 179 N.C. 744.
54 C.J. p 729 note 20.

78. Kan.—State v. Brown, 212 P. 663, 664, 112 Kan. 814, 31 A.L.R. 338.
54 C.J. p 730 note 26.

79. Tex.—Debenham v. Short, Civ. App., 199 S.W. 1147, 1148.
32 C.J. p 530 note 34—19 C.J. p 1008 note 20 [b]—54 C.J. p 730 note 29.
"There is a wide difference between supplying food to a guest at a place conducted as an inn, and supplying food to a customer of a restaurant as that business is carried on under present day conditions. In olden times, an inn was a temporary home for the guest, who was satisfied to accept whatever fare the innkeeper supplied him with; now, a customer goes to a restaurant only to satisfy his immediate need of food, and he, rather than the restaurant keeper, selects the particular food he wants at a price fixed by the restaurant keeper for that food."—Ford v. Waldorf System, 188 A. 633, 635, 57 R.I. 131.

Legislative recognition of distinction
"The common law distinction be-where that term is used as synonymous with "inn" or "hotel."[80] A restaurant is a place where viands are sold, not where intoxicants are dispensed,[81] and thus a mere drinking house[82] or "concert saloon"[83] is not a restaurant; but a place which would otherwise be a restaurant does not lose its character as such by the mere fact that liquor is furnished therein,[84] and an establishment may be so conducted as to constitute not only a restaurant, but also, in addition, a "dramshop,"[85] a "saloon,"[86] or a "tippling house."[87] The term "restaurant" has been held not to include a drugstore selling soda water and ice cream;[88] a place merely for the sale of soft drinks, cigars, cigarettes, and ice cream;[89] an apartment where only soft drinks are sold, at a single stand and by the glass;[90] a place of amusement;[91] or a shop or store[92] particularly one used merely for the manufacture and sale of tobacco, snuff, and cigars.[93]

Saloon. A drinking saloon is not an inn.[94]

Coffeehouse. A mere coffeehouse, where no provision is made for lodging guests, is not an inn.[95] However, the term has been defined as a house of entertainment where guests are supplied with coffee and other refreshments, and sometimes with lodging,[96] and is sometimes used to denote a hotel or tavern.[97]

An "ordinary" has been defined as a tavern or eating house where regular meals are served[98] at settled prices.[99] The term was at one time used to designate a public house, open to whoever might apply for accommodation, where food and lodging were furnished to the traveler and his beast, at fixed rates, and where intoxicating liquor was sold at retail. It was a house of public entertainment and was commonly designated as a "tavern" or "hotel."[1]

Hospital. A statute including within its definition of a hotel "any structure where rooms or board are furnished, whether to permanent or transient occupants" has been held intended to be restricted in its meaning to businesses like hotels, rooming houses, and eating houses, and not to include a hospital.[2]

"Hotel garni" is a species of establishment once common in Paris in which furnished apartments were let by the day, week, or month.[3]

Hotelleries is a name used in France to signify inns of the better class.[4]

A sleeping car, as discussed in Carriers § 904, is not an inn.

A tenement house is distinguishable from a hotel,[5] for in a tenement house the occupants are tenants, whereas in a hotel they are merely guests.[6] As used in particular statutory provisions the term "tenement house" may include "apartment hotels."[7] tween the business conducted by a hotel and that of a restaurant has been consistently recognized by the legislature of this state."—Appeal of Wellsboro Hotel Co., 7 A.2d 334, 335, 336 Pa. 171, 122 A.L.R. 1396.

80. N.Y.—People v. Jones, 54 Barb. 317, 1 Cow.Cr. 381.

81. Tex.—Savage v. State, 88 S.W. 351, 356, 50 Tex.Cr. 199.
54 C.J. p 729 note 16.

Sale of liquors excluded under ordinance

"Restaurant" has been defined by an ordinance as "every place where food or refreshments of any kind —not including spirituous, vinous or malt liquors—are prepared for casual visitors and sold for consumption therein."—New Galt House v. Louisville, 111 S.W. 351, 352, 129 Ky. 341, 33 Ky.L. 869, 17 L.R.A.,N.S., 566—54 C.J. p 730 note 24.

82. Pa.—In re Liquor Licenses, Quart.Sess., 4 Montg.Co. 77.

83. Pa.—Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa. C.Pl. 148, 149.

84. U.S.—Lewis v. Hitchcock, D.C. N.Y., 10 F. 4, 6.
N.Y.—Babb v. Elsinger, 147 N.Y.S. 98, 99.

85. Colo.—Scanlon v. Denver, 88 P. 156, 157, 38 Colo. 401.

86. Colo.—Lendholm v. People, 136 P. 70, 55 Colo. 467.
54 C.J. p 729 note 22.

87. Colo.—Scanlon v. Denver, 88 P. 156, 157, 38 Colo. 401.
54 C.J. p 729 note 23.

88. Iowa.—In re Henery, 100 N.W. 43, 44, 124 Iowa 358.

89. Vt.—Donahue v. Conant, 146 A. 417, 419, 102 Vt. 108.

90. Ill.—Cecil v. Green, 60 Ill.App. 61, 63.

91. Pa.—Cleveland v. O'Neil, 4 Pa.C. Pl. 148, 149.

92. Tex.—Debenham v. Short, Civ. App., 199 S.W. 1147, 1148.
54 C.J. p 730 note 34.

93. N.H.—State v. Hogan, 30 N.H. 268, 273.

94. N.Y.—People v. Jones, 54 Barb. 311, 1 Cow.Cr. 381.
32 C.J. p 530 note 37.

95. Ark.—Pettit v. Thomas, 148 S. W. 501, 103 Ark. 593, 12 L.R.A.,N S., 122, Ann.Cas.1914B 726.
32 C.J. p 530 note 36—11 C.J. p 947 note 15 [b].

96. Century D.
11 C.J. p 947 note 15.

97. Worcester D.
11 C.J. p 947 note 15.

98. Ill.—Potson v. Chicago, 222 Ill. App. 50, 52.

99. U.S.—Werner v. Washington, C. C.D.C., 29 F.Cas.No.17,416a, 2 Hayw. & H. 175, 180.
46 C.J. p 1135 note 49 [a], [b].

1. Va.—Talbott v. Southern Seminary, Inc., 109 S.E. 440, 131 Va. 576, 19 A.L.R. 534—Wortham v. Commonwealth, 5 Rand. 669, 26 Va. 669.
46 C.J. p 1135 note 49.

2. Iowa.—Hull Hospital v. Wheeler, 250 N.W. 637, 216 Iowa 1394.
"Hospital" distinguished from "hotel" see Hospitals § 1.

3. N.Y.—Cromwell v. Stephens, 2 Daly 15, 19, 3 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 26.

4. N.Y.—Cromwell v. Stephens, supra.
32 C.J. p 528 note 4 [b] (5).

5. N.Y.—Kitching v. Brown, 73 N.E. 241, 180 N.Y. 414.
62 C.J. p 705 note 92.

6. N.Y.—Musgrave v. Sherwood, 53 How.Pr. 311.

7. N.Y.—Apartment Hotel Owners' Ass'n v. City of New York, 233 N.Y.S. 553, 133 Misc. 881.

Tourist camp. The business or occupation of conducting a tourist camp in which cabins are rented to transients has been held to have all the essential characteristics of the business or occupation of keeping a hotel.[8]

A hotel bill is a bill for board and lodging, but not for billiards, cigars, and liquors.[9]

§ 2. Keeper of Inn, Hotel, or Tavern

a. Definition and characteristics
b. Other terms compared and distinguished

a. Definition and Characteristics

An innkeeper is one who engages as a regular business in receiving at an inn, and providing accommodations for, all transients who are in fit condition and willing to pay an adequate price. In the absence of prohibitory statutes, any corporation or natural person may engage in innkeeping.

An innkeeper is a person who publicly professes that he keeps an inn, and will receive therein all travelers who are willing to pay an adequate price and who come in a situation in which they are fit to be received.[10] An innkeeper has also been defined as a person who makes it his business to entertain travelers and passengers and provide lodging and necessaries for them and their horses and attendants;[11] but this type of definition has been altered and relaxed by changes in the customs of the people and modes of travel,[12] and whatever may have been the rule in early times, it is now well settled that a man may be an innkeeper although he has no provision for the accommodation of horses.[13] The common-law definition of an innkeeper is sometimes broadened by statutory enactment.[14]

The terms "hotel keeper"[15] and "tavern keeper"[16] have been considered as synonymous with "innkeeper," at least a hotelkeeper and an innkeeper occupy the same status in the law.[17]

It has been said that the business of "innkeeper" is largely obsolescent,[18] that "innkeepers" in the true meaning of that word are rare and fast disappearing,[19] and that the term itself is falling into disuse.[20]

Requisites. To constitute a person an innkeeper, hotelkeeper, or tavern keeper he must receive and entertain as guests all those who choose to visit his house,[21] the obligation to do so, as discussed infra § 9, being one of the distinguishing characteristics of the business of keeping an inn.[22] Another essential characteristic of keeping an inn is that it shall be the regular business of the person so engaged,[23] and a person is not an innkeeper who receives guests out of mere hospitality, or from motives among which gain is at most incidental,

8. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, 613, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
"Tourist camp" defined see the C.J.S. definition 12 C.J.S. p 889 note 22.

Single building unnecessary
"A tourist camp is none the less a hotel because the business or occupation is conducted through the use of a group of buildings rather than through the use of one."—Juengel v. City of Glendale, supra.

9. Colo.—Patterson v. Gage, 16 P. 560, 561, 11 Colo. 50, 52.

10. Tenn.—Hill v. Memphis Hotel Co., 136 S.W. 997, 124 Tenn. 376, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 420.
32 C.J. p 530 note 40.

11. Ky.—Audubon Country Club v. Commonwealth, 183 S.W. 911, 169 Ky. 399.
32 C.J. p 530 note 41.

12. Mo.—Horton v. Terminal Hotel & Arcade Co., 89 S.W. 363, 114 Mo. App. 357.
32 C.J. p 531 note 44.

13. Minn.—Johnson v. Chadbourn Finance Co., 94 N.W. 874, 89 Minn. 310, 99 Am.S.R. 571.
32 C.J. p 531 note 54.

14. Iowa.—Hull Hospital v. Wheeler, 250 N.W. 837, 216 Iowa 1394.

In California
The article in the civil code relative to innkeepers indicates a general classification as "innkeepers" of a "hotelkeeper," "furnished apartment house keeper," "furnished bungalow court keeper," "boarding house or lodging house keeper," and keepers of "furnished cottages."—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P. 2d 370, 48 Cal.App.2d 62.

In Louisiana
(1) The term "innkeepers" includes, by statute, those who keep a tavern or hotel, and make a business of lodging travelers.—Murray v. Hagens, App., 143 So. 505, 506.

(2) The operator of a nine- or ten-room establishment which was operated like a hotel, with separate keys for each room, and which catered to transients and local guests who were required to register, was held to be an "innkeeper" within the meaning of the statute.—Babin v. Thormander, App., 167 So. 241, 242.

15. Tenn.—McClaugherty v. Cline, 163 S.W. 801, 128 Tenn. 605.
32 C.J. p 531 note 45.

"Hotel keeper" has been defined as "a person keeping a house for the entertainment of travelers, with board and lodging."—Patterson v. Gage, 16 P. 560, 561, 11 Colo. 50.

16. Ga.—Bonner v. Welborn, 7 Ga. 296.
N.Y.—Crown Point Overseers of Poor v. Warner, 3 Hill 150.

"Tavern keeper" defined
(1) One who obtains a license to keep a tavern and for whom it is kept.—Commonwealth v. Burns, 4 J. J.Marsh., Ky., 177.

(2) Other definitions see 32 C.J. p 531 note 46 [a] (2)-(5).

17. Pa.—Appeal of Wellsboro Hotel Co., 7 A.2d 334, 336 Pa. 171, 122 A. L.R. 1396.

18. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

19. R.I.—Ford v. Waldorf System, 188 A. 633, 57 R.I. 131.

20. Kan.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

21. N.Y.—People v. Jones, 54 Barb. 311, 1 Cow.Cr. 381.

22. U.S.—Civil Rights Cases, Tenn., 8 S.Ct. 18, 109 U.S. 3, 27 L.Ed. 835.
32 C.J. p 531 note 49.

23. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 531 note 50.

and not because he has regularly entered into the business of receiving guests;[24] but it is not necessary that innkeeping should be the exclusive occupation of the person engaged therein.[25] While a sign displayed on a building, indicating that it is a common inn, is evidence that the building is such in fact and that the proprietor is an innkeeper,[26] in order to constitute a person an innkeeper it is not necessary that he should exhibit a sign indicating his occupation as such,[27] and it is sufficient if he, by words, acts, or otherwise, holds himself out to the public as a common innkeeper.[28] The innkeeper is the person or corporation who really owns and carries on the business,[29] as distinguished from a mere employee;[30] but, where one has by advertisements held himself out as proprietor of an inn, a mere want of technical ownership of the plant, or his private and personal relations to some corporation having an investment therein, will not protect him from liability as an innkeeper.[31] A person may be an innkeeper, although he does not sell wine or liquor.[32] One may be a bona fide tavern keeper notwithstanding the receipts from the bar are larger than those from the tavern proper.[33]

The right to keep an inn is not a franchise,[34] and any natural person or corporation may engage in the business of innkeeping in the absence of statutory regulations to the contrary.[35]

b. Other Terms Compared and Distinguished

The duty of an innkeeper to accommodate the public generally, and the transient nature of the accommodations he provides, distinguish him from a boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper. An innkeeper is also distinguished from a landlord, merchant, trader, publican, victualer, restaurant keeper, or steamboat proprietor.

Boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper. A boardinghouse keeper is one who furnishes accommodations for a definite period, as by the week or month, at a rate of compensation agreed on.[36] Since a distinction obtains between a boardinghouse and a lodginghouse, as discussed supra § 1 b, a keeper of a lodginghouse is not, in a legal sense, a boardinghouse keeper.[37] Except as the terms may be otherwise used in particular statutory provisions,[38] one who keeps a mere boardinghouse[39] or a lodginghouse or rooming house[40] is not an innkeeper, the distinction lying in the transient nature of the entertainment provided by an innkeeper,[41] and the fact that the keeper of a boardinghouse or a lodginghouse, not having made a profession of willingness to serve the public, is at liberty to choose his guests, and to make special arrangements with them, while an innkeeper is pledged to entertain all travelers of good conduct and with means of payment.[42] Similarly, the keeper of a hotel at a summer resort or watering place, for the board, lodging, and entertainment of the visitors, is not an innkeeper, because there is wanting the essential characteristic that innkeepers entertain from day to day on an implied contract, while the keeper of a hotel of the sort mentioned above receives his guests under an express contract for a certain time and at a certain rate.[43] However, this rule applies only to a person who is conducting a house which is a boardinghouse proper, and it exists only by reason of the fact that the persons received are taken by express arrangement at a certain rate and usually for a protracted stay; it does not apply to a person who is conducting a general hotel business, even though the hotel is located at a summer resort or 24. Tex.—Howth v. Franklin, 20 Tex. 798, 73 Am.D. 218.

32 C.J. p 531 note 51.

25. N.H.—Amey v. Winchester, 39 A. 487, 68 N.H. 447, 73 Am.S.R. 614, 39 L.R.A. 760.
32 C.J. p 531 note 52.

26. Minn.—Johnson v. Chadbourn Finance Co., 94 N.W. 874, 89 Minn. 310, 99 Am.S.R. 571.
32 C.J. p 531 note 56.

27. Iowa.—Humburd v. Crawford, 105 N.W. 330, 128 Iowa 743.
32 C.J. p 531 note 57.

28. Cal.—Fay v. Pacific Impr. Co., 26 P. 1099, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188, reheard 28 P. 943, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188.
32 C.J. p 531 note 58.

29. Mass.—Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co. v. Shea, 65 N.E. 57, 182 Mass. 147.
32 C.J. p 532 notes 66, 68.

30. D.C.—Chanock v. U. S., 267 F. 612, 50 App.D.C. 54.

31. Ill.—Ross v. Daugherty, 127 Ill. App. 572.
32 C.J. p 532 note 70.

32. Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.
32 C.J. p 531 note 55.

33. Ky.—Schneider v. Commonwealth, 111 S.W. 303, 304, 33 Ky. L. 770, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 107.

34. N.Y.—Crown Point Overseers of Poor v. Warner, 3 Hill 150.

35. Cal.—Magee v. Pacific Impr. Co., 33 P. 772, 98 Cal. 678, 35 Am.S.R. 199.
32 C.J. p 532 note 59.
Necessity of license see infra § 6.

36. N.Y.—Stewart v. McCready, 24 How.Pr. 62.

37. Ill.—Bailey v. People, 60 N.E. 98, 190 Ill. 28, 83 Am.S.R. 116, 54 L.R.A. 838.

38. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.

39. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
32 C.J. p 532 note 79.

40. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., supra.
N.C.—Wells v. West, 194 S.E. 813, 212 N.C. 656.
32 C.J. p 532 note 80.

41. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.

42. Wis.—Huntley v. Stanchfield, 169 N.W. 276, 168 Wis. 119, 19 A.L.R. 513.
32 C.J. p 532 note 81.
Distinction between "inn" and "boardinghouse" or "lodginghouse" see supra § 1 b.

43. U.S.—Blum v. Southern Pullman Palace Car Co., C.C.Tenn., 3 F.Cas. No.1,574, 1 Flipp. 500.
32 C.J. p 533 note 82.

watering place.[44]

Landlord. The term "landlord" is sometimes defined to include the master or proprietor of an inn or of a lodginghouse or boardinghouse.[45] It has been observed, however, that some of the decisions deprecate the use of the term "landlord" when the other party to the arrangement is a mere guest or lodger rather than a tenant, preferring the term "proprietor" or other expression of like import.[46]

Merchant or trader. The business or occupation of innkeeping is not a trading[47] or mercantile[48] pursuit. However, one who keeps a hotel may at the same time be a merchant in the legal sense where he buys and retails other articles, as an unrestricted business, in the establishment kept by him as a hotel.[49]

"Publican" and "victualer" are synonymous terms and mean one who serves food or drink prepared for consumption on the premises.[50] The English publican or victualer is the legal ancestor of the modern restaurant keeper.[51]

Keeper of restaurant, café, or coffeehouse. "Restaurant keeper" has been defined as a caterer who keeps a place for serving meals, and provides, prepares, and cooks raw materials to suit the taste of his patrons.[52] A person who keeps merely a restaurant or café[53] or a coffeehouse[54] is not an innkeeper. A restaurant keeper has been distinguished from a manufacturer,[55] merchant or tradesman,[56] and saloonkeeper.[57]

Steamboat proprietor. The proprietors of steamboats are not innkeepers;[58] but the relation which exists between them and their passengers differs in no essential respect from that which exists between innkeeper and guest, and, if not identical therewith, is closely analogous thereto.[59]

§ 3. Guests

a. Definitions and distinctions
b. Requisites and nature
c. Duration of relation
d. Questions of law and fact
e. Presumptions and burden of proof

a. Definitions and Distinctions

A guest is a transient who receives accommodations at an inn, his transient character being the essential distinguishing feature between him and a boarder or lodger. A tenant differs from a guest, boarder, or lodger in that the tenant acquires an interest in the realty and a right to the exclusive legal possession of the premises hired.

A "guest," within the meaning of the rules of law pertaining to the relation of innkeeper and guest, is a transient person who resorts to, and is received at, an inn for the purpose of obtaining the accommodations which it purports to afford.[60]

44. N.C.—Holstein v. Phillips, 59 S.E. 1037, 146 N.C. 366, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 415, 14 Ann.Cas. 323.

45. La.—Murray v. Hagens, App., 143 So. 505.

46. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
"Tenant" distinguished from "boarder," "lodger," or "guest" see infra § 3.

47. U.S.—Toxaway Hotel Co. v. J. L. Smathers & Co., 30 S.Ct. 263, 216 U.S. 439, 54 L.Ed. 558.
32 C.J. p 532 note 74—63 C.J. p 603 note 95 [a] (3), (4).
"Restaurant keeper" distinguished from "merchant" or "tradesman" see infra this section note 56.

48. U.S.—Toxaway Hotel Co. v. J. L. Smathers & Co., supra.

49. Ky.—Campbell v. Finck, 2 Duv. 107.
32 C.J. p 532 note 73—40 C.J. p 646 note 78.

50. Mass.—Friend v. Childs Dining Hall Co., 120 N.E. 407, 409, 231 Mass. 65, 6 A.L.R. 1100.

51. R.I.—Ford v. Waldorf System, 188 A. 632, 57 R.I. 131.

52. U.S.—In re Ah Yow, D.C.Wash., 59 F. 561.

53. Pa.—Appeal of Wellsboro Hotel Co., 7 A.2d 334, 336 Pa. 171, 122 A.L.R. 1396.
54 C.J. p 730 note 44.
"Restaurant" distinguished from "inn" or "hotel" see supra § 1 b.

54. Ga.—Bonner v. Welborn, 7 Ga. 296.

55. Cal.—San Francisco v. Larsen, 131 P. 366, 165 Cal. 179.

56. U.S.—In re Ah Yow, D.C.Wash., 59 F. 561.
54 C.J. p 730 note 45.

57. Tex.—Savage v. State, 88 S.W. 351, 50 Tex.Cr. 199.

58. Mass.—Clark v. Burns, 118 Mass. 275, 19 Am.R. 456.
32 C.J. p 533 note 86.

59. N.Y.—Adams v. New Jersey Steamboat Co., 45 N.E. 369, 151 N.Y. 163, 56 Am.S.R. 616, 34 L.R.A. 682.

60. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C. C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280, 283.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76, 80, quoting Corpus Juris.
La.—Murray v. Hagens, App., 143 So. 505.
32 C.J. p 533 note 90.
Other definitions
(1) One who comes without any bargain for time, remains without one, and may go when he pleases, paying only for the actual entertainment which he receives.
Iowa.—Shoecraft v. Bailey, 25 Iowa 553, 555.
N.Y.—Metzger v. Schnabel, 52 N.Y.S. 105, 106, 23 Misc. 698.
(2) One who patronizes an inn.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 827, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078—32 C.J. p 538 note 90 [a] (1).
(3) A person entertained for pay at an inn, tavern, or hotel on the general undertaking of the keeper of the house.—Murray v. Hagens, La. App., 143 So. 505, 506—32 C.J. p 533 note 90 [a].
(4) "Guest" defined generally see 39 C.J.S. p 415 notes 13–25.
Hospital patient
(1) Under a statute defining "guest" to include "boarder and patron, or any legal occupant of any hotel as herein defined," it was held that the legislature in using the phrase, "or any legal occupant of any hotel as herein defined," attempted to classify the persons mentioned as guests, boarders, or patrons of hotels, rooming houses, and boarding-houses, and did not intend to include a patient in a hospital.—Hull Hospital v. Wheeler, 250 N.W. 687, 216 Iowa 1394.

A "boarder" is one who boards at a boarding-house;[61] one who has food and lodging in another's house or family for a reward or stipulated price.[62]

"Lodger" or "roomer." "Lodger" has been defined as one who has leave or the right to inhabit another man's house;[63] a person whose occupancy is a part of a house, and subordinate to, and in some degree under, the control of a landlord or his representative;[64] one who for the time being has his home at his lodging place.[65] According to the purpose for which it is used the meaning of the term may vary.[66]

"Roomer" has been considered synonymous with "lodger,"[67] and has been defined as one who rents a room or rooms in a house.[68]

"Guest" distinguished from "boarder" or "lodger." It has been said to be difficult, if not impossible, to lay down a set rule as to what circumstances make the distinction between a guest and a lodger.[69] In general, the essential difference between a mere boarder and a guest at an inn lies in the character in which the party comes and remains, that is, whether he is a transient person or not,[70] a guest being, as already shown, a transient or wayfarer, whereas a person enjoying accommodations under such conditions of permanency as to make the place his home or residence for the time being is not a guest but a boarder,[71] or a lodger if he simply has a room without meals.[72] It has also been said that there is a difference between a boarder and a guest in regard to the contract by which the relation is created in the respective instances, a boarder be-

(2) "Hospital" distinguished from "hotel" see Hospitals § 1.

Corpus Juris cited in holding that prospective hotel employee residing at the hotel before commencement of the employment was not a guest. —Powers v. Raymond, 239 P. 1069, 1071, 167 Cal. 126.

Relationship is distinct from that existing between the proprietor of an eating house and a patron thereof.—Appeal of Wellsboro Hotel Co., 7 A.2d 334, 336 Pa. 171, 122 A.L.R. 1396.

"Travelers," within statute respecting innkeepers' responsibility for travelers' effects, are "guests," while "customer" is buyer of fare at inn or one patronizing it for board and lodging.—Murray v. Hagens, La.App., 143 So. 505.

61. N.J.—Atlantic City v. Le Beck, 15 A.2d 653, 125 N.J.Law 373.

62. N.Y.—In re Doubleday, 159 N.Y.S. 947, 950, 173 App.Div. 739—Metzger v. Schnabel, 52 N.Y.S. 105, 106, 23 Misc. 698.
8 C.J. p 1131 note 9.

Similar definition

A boarder is "one who has food statedly at another's table, or meals and lodging in his house, for pay or compensation of any kind."—Patrick v. Crank, Mo.App., 110 S.W.2d 381, 384.

63. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 954, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
38 C.J. p 136 notes 62, 63.

Other definitions

(1) A tenant of part of another's house.—Marden v. Radford, supra, citing Corpus Juris—38 C.J. p 136 note 60.

(2) One who inhabits a portion of a house, of which another has the general possession and custody.—Marden v. Radford, supra, citing Corpus Juris—38 C.J. p 136 note 64.

(3) One who lives at board, or in a hired room, or who has a bed in another's house.—Marden v. Radford, supra, citing Corpus Juris—38 C.J. p 136 note 65.

(4) One who lives in a hired room or rooms in the house of another.
Minn.—Dewar v. Minneapolis Lodge No. 44 B. P. O. E., 192 N.W. 358, 359, 155 Minn. 98, 32 A.L.R. 1012.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 954, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.

(5) One who occupies hired apartments in another's house.—Marden v. Radford, supra, citing Corpus Juris—38 C.J. p 136 note 67.

(6) One who has no interest in the realty, but who occupies part of a house or tenement which is under the control of another.
Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App.2d 62.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

64. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 954, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
38 C.J. p 136 note 69.

65. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, supra, citing Corpus Juris.
Neb.—Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Lowe, 44 N.W. 226, 28 Neb. 239, 26 Am.S.R. 325, 6 L.R.A. 809.

66. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 954, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
38 C.J. p 136 note 71.

67. N.J.—Atlantic City v. Le Beck, 15 A.2d 653, 654, 125 N.J.Law 373.
54 C.J. p 1103 note 1.

68. N.J.—Atlantic City v. Le Beck, supra.

69. Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 145 Wash. 344.

70. Ill.—Holman v. Indianapolis Life Ins. Co., 18 N.E.2d 112, 297 Ill.App. 649.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 987, 229 Mo.App. 789.
N.C.—Holstein v. Phillips, 59 S.E. 1037, 146 N.C. 366, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 475, 14 Ann.Cas. 323.
Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 1086, 145 Wash. 344, citing Corpus Juris.

71. Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.
Tenn.—Meacham v. Galloway, 52 S.W. 859, 102 Tenn. 415, 420, 73 Am.S.R. 886, 46 L.R.A. 319.
32 C.J. p 537 note 64, p 538 note 72 [a], [b].

72. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 987, 229 Mo.App. 789.
N.Y.—Gibson v. Von Glahn Hotel Co., Inc., 185 N.Y.S. 154.

Individuals held lodgers not guests

(1) Generally.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 145 Wash. 344.

(2) One who obtained a room in a residence hotel by special arrangement with the proprietor at a fixed rate for a permanent stay, having merely the use of a room of which the hotel management retained the general control, furnishing maid service and the like, was held a "lodger."—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N.W. 785, 272 Mich. 38.

Individual held guest not roomer

One who lived in a hotel for about a year, under an arrangement whereby he was given a lower rate than that of transient guests, and paid his bills usually once each month, while transient guests paid each day, or at the end of each week, was held a "guest" rather than a "roomer."—Driskill Hotel Co. v. Anderson, Tex.Civ.App., 19 S.W.2d 316.

ing under an express contract at a certain rate, for a certain time,[73] while a guest at an inn is ordinarily entertained from day to day, according to his business, on an implied contract;[74] but this difference seems to rest more on the practice usually followed in the dealings between innkeepers and their guests, for it has frequently been held that, where a transient goes to an inn for entertainment as such, he may become a guest, in the legal sense of the word, notwithstanding an express contract between him and the innkeeper fixing the amount to be paid.[75] The length of stay,[76] the existence of a special contract for the room,[77] and the existence of a home elsewhere[78] are material circumstances in determining whether a person is a guest rather than a boarder or lodger, and may be considered as evidence in connection with other circumstances, even though, standing alone, they may not be decisive; but such circumstances individually are not controlling,[79] and the mere fact that he has stayed for a week or longer, and that he is paying the weekly rather than the daily rate, does not necessarily establish that he is a boarder and not a guest.[80] It has been held that some members of a family stopping at a hotel may be boarders, while others are guests.[81]

"Tenant" distinguished from "boarder," "lodger," or "guest." While it has been observed that the distinction between a tenant on the one hand and a guest, boarder, or lodger on the other is substantial,[82] well settled,[83] and fully recognized by the authorities,[84] it has also been pointed out that in some classes of establishments the tendency of these different classes of occupants is to shade into each other, and that attention must therefor be given to the detailed criteria that must be relied on to decide into which class given individuals fall.[85] A principal distinction between the relationship of landlord and tenant and that existing between innkeeper and guest, or between a keeper of a boardinghouse or lodginghouse and the boarder or lodger, exists in the fact that the tenant acquires an interest in the real estate, while the guest, boarder, or lodger does not.[86] Another distinction rests in the character of the possession,[87] the tenant having the exclusive legal possession, whereas the lodger has merely the use without the actual or exclusive legal possession;[88] and the ordinary agreement for 73. N.C.—Holstein v. Phillips, 59 S.E. 1037, 146 N.C. 366, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 475, 14 Ann.Cas. 323.

32 C.J. p 537 note 66.

74. N.Y.—Willard v. Reinhardt, 2 E.D.Smith 148.
32 C.J. p 538 note 67.

75. Ark.—Pettit v. Thomas, 148 S.W. 501, 103 Ark. 593, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 122, Ann.Cas.1914B 726.
32 C.J. p 534 note 95.

76. Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 145 Wash. 344.
32 C.J. p 538 note 73.

77. Cal.—Magee v. Pacific Impr. Co., 33 P. 772, 98 Cal. 678, 35 Am.S.R. 199.
Mich.—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N.W. 785, 786, 272 Mich. 38—Carter v. Hobbs, 12 Mich. 52, 56, 83 Am.D. 762.
Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 145 Wash. 344.

78. Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 538 note 72.

79. Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., supra.

80. Minn.—Knutson v. Fidelity Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., 279 N.W. 714, 202 Minn. 642.
Pa.—Mathis v. Aff, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.
32 C.J. p 538 note 70.

81. Minn.—Lusk v. Belote, 22 Minn. 468.
32 C.J. p 538 note 77.

82. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
35 C.J. p 955 note 69.

83. D.C.—Beall v. Everson, Mun.App., 34 A.2d 41.

84. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 657, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
"A mere guest or lodger is no tenant."—Roberts v. Casey, supra.
"When the owner of the realty engages in the business of supplying accommodations to lodgers, he is conducting a business different from that of letting property to tenants."—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 374, 48 Cal.App.2d 62.

85. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

86. U.S.—Coggins v. Gregorio, C.C.A.N.M., 97 F.2d 948—Walling v. Peavy-Wilson Lumber Co., D.C.La., 49 F.Supp. 846.
Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App.2d 62—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 600, 116 Conn. 112, citing Corpus Juris.
D.C.—Beall v. Everson, Mun.App., 34 A.2d 41.
Mass.—White v. Maynard, 111 Mass. 250, 15 Am.R. 28.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789.

Absence of contract as to realty
The relation of innkeeper and guest is not the relation of landlord and tenant, since there is no contract as to realty.
Cal.—Van Dorn v. Couch, 64 P.2d 1197, 1201, 21 Cal.App.2d 749, quoting Corpus Juris, concurring opinion per Schauer, J.
N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.

Guests as licensees
Guests, in a hotel, boarders in a boardinghouse, and roomers or lodgers, are generally mere "licensees" and not "tenants" as respects right of landlord summarily to remove them for nonpayment of rent.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

87. Iowa.—Brin v. Sidenstucker, 8 N.W.2d 423, 232 Iowa 1258, 145 A.L.R. 359.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

88. U.S.—Coggins v. Gregorio, C.C.A.N.M., 97 F.2d 948—Walling v. Peavy-Wilson Lumber Co., D.C.La., 49 F.Supp. 846.
Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 600, 116 Conn. 112, citing Corpus Juris.
D.C.—Beall v. Everson, Mun.App., 34 A.2d 41.
Iowa.—Brin v. Sidenstucker, 8 N.W.2d 423, 145 A.L.R. 359.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.
35 C.J. p 955 note 68.

board and lodging in a house, by which the keeper retains the legal possession, custody, and care of the whole house and of every room therein, does not create the relationship of landlord and tenant.[89] The tenant may, while the lodger may not, maintain ejectment[90] and trespass.[91] The landlord may have a lien, for unpaid rent, on the goods of the lodger, although he may have no lien on those of a tenant.[92]

In determining the relation between the parties in a given case, the result does not depend on any one factor as being decisive, but rather on the direction which the general effect of the various tests that have been applied, after weighing opposing ones against each other, can be said to take,[93] and the relation established depends, in the final analysis, on the contract of hiring,[94] gathered from its terms and interpreted in the light of the surrounding circumstances,[95] having in view the ascertainment of the intention of the parties to the contract.[96] Resort may be had to all the extrinsic facts and circumstances that have a bearing on the character of the occupancy which the parties intended to and did create;[97] and whether the premises are hired by

Proprietor's retention of supervision or control

If the proprietor retains to himself any supervision or control of the premises hired, the occupant is a lodger, and the control or supervision by the owner is not required to be for any particular purpose or reason.—Marden v. Radford, supra.

No actual interference with possession

It is immaterial that hotel owner may never have interfered with occupant's possession and entered for purpose of repairing furniture and fixtures, or that he entered with occupant's consent at times and on occasions suitable to occupant, if owner reserved right to enter for any purpose.—Marden v. Radford, supra.

89. Cal.—Fox v. Windemere Hotel Apartment Co., 157 P. 820, 30 Cal. App. 162.
35 C.J. p 955 note 65.

90. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 600, 116 Conn. 112, citing Corpus Juris—Mathews v. Livingston, 85 A. 529, 86 Conn. 263, Ann.Cas.1914A 195.

91. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 600, 116 Conn. 112, citing Corpus Juris—Mathews v. Livingston, 85 A. 529, 86 Conn. 263, Ann.Cas.1914A 195.

92. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Mathews v. Livingston, 85 A. 529, 86 Conn. 263, Ann.Cas.1914A 195.

93. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 658, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
"It is not a question of what the relation would be if considered in some isolated aspect, but rather what is its dominant character."—Roberts v. Casey, supra.

Mode of fixing rate; maid service

The mere fact that the charge for the occupancy may be based on a monthly rate, or reckoned for more persons than one, or that maid service is or is not furnished, is not conclusive one way or the other as to the character of the occupancy; such facts are only matters for consideration in connection with all other facts in the record.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

Status as tenant held shown

(1) Occupants of a hotel room, for which they were to pay "rent" by the month and to furnish everything in the way of furniture and household goods to make it habitable as living quarters, were held "lessees" or "tenants" and not "guests," "roomers," or "patrons" of the hotel. —Brin v. Sidenstucker, 8 N.W.2d 423, 232 Iowa 1258, 145 A.L.R. 359.

(2) Where a husband and wife had the exclusive right to the possession of an apartment under rental agreement, and agreed that they would do all work necessary to keep apartment and its furnishings in order, the relation between apartment house owner and them was that of "landlord and tenant" and not "lodginghouse keeper and lodger."—Coggins v. Greggorio, C.C.A.N.M., 97 F.2d 948.

(3) Husband and wife, renting two light housekeeping rooms, one of which was kitchenette, in hotel wing, were not "guests" within statute respecting innkeepers' responsibility for travelers' effects, but were "tenants."—Murray v. Hagens, La.App., 143 So. 505.

94. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.
35 C.J. p 955 note 66.

95. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
35 C.J. p 955 note 67.

Express provision as to relationship

A written contract between a hotel keeper and a guest for the rental on a room for a year, the contract containing a provision that the relation between the parties should at all times be that of innkeeper and guest and not landlord and tenant, creates the relationship of innkeeper and guest.—Baldwin Piano Co. v. Congress Hotel, 243 Ill.App. 118.

Rental of "furnished apartment"

One who rented a "furnished apartment" was held not to have thereby become a "roomer" or a "guest" within the meaning of a statute defining "guest" to include a "boarder" or "patron" of a hotel; and the relationship between the proprietor and the occupant of the apartment was therefor not that of hotel keeper and guest.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.

"Furnishing board and lodging" generally connotes the legal relation of innkeeper and guest, rather than landlord and tenant.—Walling v. Peavy-Wilson Lumber Co., D.C.La., 49 F.Supp. 846.

96. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 116 Conn. 112, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 955, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris.
35 C.J. p 955 note 68.

97. Mo.—Martin v. Shryock Realty Co., 163 S.W.2d 804, 236 Mo.App. 1265.

Facts indicating status as lodger

Evidence that owners of apartment building retained keys to all apartments, furnished linens and maid service, kept hallways and windows in apartments clean, attended to removal of garbage, and furnished water, heat, and telephone service, tended to show that relation between owners and occupants of apartments was that of proprietors and lodgers rather than landlords and tenants.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

Facts indicating status as tenant

The fact that there are no common kitchens, dining rooms, toilets, or bathrooms, that suites severally have these various facilities, that each the week or month, are furnished or unfurnished, whether the owner of the house resides on the premises, and the extent to which he exercises supervision and care of the apartment occupied by the lodger or tenant, are all material in ascertaining the intention of the parties to the contract.[98] The mere fact that a building is operated, advertised, and known as a "hotel" is not conclusive of the character of any particular occupancy therein,[99] and a person who occupies rooms in a "hotel" may, under the circumstances of the case, be a tenant and not a guest;[1] but the appellation used to designate the establishment is to be considered in connection with all the other facts and circumstances to negative or support the existence of any particular character of occupancy.[2] Where the same building is operated as an inn or hotel, rooming house, and apartment house, as a single institution and under the same management, some of the occupants may be guests, others roomers, and still others tenants.[3]

b. Requisites and Nature

To establish the relationship of innkeeper and guest, the parties must intend so to do; the person accommodated must be received as a guest and must procure accommodations in that capacity, although it is not essential that he register.

When one becomes a guest of an inn he is on the innkeeper's premises at the latter's invitation and is an invitee.[4] A guest may be such actually or constructively.[5]

Transient character. To be a guest of an inn or hotel it is essential, at least at common law, that the person should be a transient, that is, that he should come to the inn for a more or less temporary stay,[6] for if he comes on a permanent basis he will be deemed a boarder or lodger rather than a guest, see supra subdivision a of this section. It is said in some cases that in order to constitute a person a guest he must be a traveler or wayfarer;[7] but it has been doubted whether the courts in such cases intended to lay any stress on the term "traveler,"[8] and other cases do not take such a restricted view but hold that a guest is a person who uses the inn either for a temporary or a more permanent stay, in order to take what the inn can give, regardless of whether he comes from a distance or lives in the immediate vicinity.[9]

Intention or purpose; illegal conduct. A real or presumed intention to become a guest of an innkeeper is a controlling factor in determining whether one is in fact a guest,[10] and a person admitted to an inn becomes a guest only if he is received to be treated as a guest.[11] Hence a person who is invited by the innkeeper as his friend,[12] or who goes to dine with a guest,[13] or who goes to an inn merely to attend a banquet or a ball held there, even if he buys liquor or stables his horse,[14] is not a guest. A discharged hotel employee who does not suite is in some sort a distinct unit, and that the rent for a suite is the same without regard to the number of occupants, are circumstances tending to characterize the relation between the parties as that of landlord and tenant rather than proprietor and lodger.—Roberts v. Casey, supra.

98. Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 116 Conn. 112.

99. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S. W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

1. N.Y.—Hackett v. Bell Operating Co., 169 N.Y.S. 114, 181 App.Div. 535.
32 C.J. p 538 note 79.

Landlord and tenant relation held shown

Notwithstanding the designation of a building as a "hotel," where occupant who had no other home or residence remained there for approximately twenty-two months, and had applied for and been given a monthly rate after being there a few weeks, and thereafter continued on the monthly basis, the relation was held to be that of landlord and tenant, not innkeeper and guest.—Mason v. Hotel Grand Union, 41 N.Y.S. 2d 309.

2. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W. 2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

3. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

Status of one unaffected by that of others

The relation between the proprietor of a family hotel and one who took rooms therein for a definite term at a fixed monthly rent would not be affected by the fact that travelers were received as transient guests for no definite period and at no fixed price.—Williams v. Webster Hotel Co., 145 N.E. 622, 315 Ill. 64.

4. Mo.—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S. W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.

5. N.Y.—Ticehurst v. Beinbrink, 129 N.Y.S. 838, 72 Misc. 365.

6. Mich.—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N. W. 785, 272 Mich. 38.
N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N. Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Kaplan v. Stogop Realty Co., 233 N.Y.S. 113, 133 Misc. 611.
32 C.J. p 533 note 94.

7. Tenn.—Meacham v. Galloway, 52 S.W. 859, 102 Tenn. 415, 73 Am.S. R. 886, 46 L.R.A. 319.
32 C.J. p 533 note 91.

8. Conn.—Walling v. Potter, 35 Conn. 183.
32 C.J. p 533 note 92.

9. Wis.—Curtis v. Murphy, 22 N.W. 825, 63 Wis. 4, 53 Am.R. 242.
32 C.J. p 533 note 93.

10. N.Y.—Ticehurst v. Beinbrink, 129 N.Y.S. 838, 72 Misc. 365.
32 C.J. p 535 note 23.

Purpose to procure refreshments or lodging

To be a guest one must visit the hotel for the purpose of availing himself of the entertainment offered, that is, to obtain refreshments or lodging.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, Mo.App., 144 S.W.2d 177.

11. Tenn.—Hill v. Memphis Hotel Co., 136 S.W. 997, 124 Tenn. 376, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 420.
32 C.J. p 536 note 34.

12. Tenn.—Manning v. Wells, 9 Humphr. 746, 51 Am.D. 688.
32 C.J. p 536 note 35.

13. N.Y.—Gastenhofer v. Clair, 10 Daly 265.

14. N.H.—Amey v. Winchester, 39

hire a room, but owing to the lateness of the hour is allowed to occupy one for the remainder of the night, is not a guest.[15] The intent to become a guest must be communicated to the innkeeper or his agent,[16] although an application to the innkeeper for entertainment is sufficient notice of the traveler's intention to become a guest,[17] and, as shown infra this section, registration as a guest is not indispensable. A person is none the less a guest because he comes to the inn, not on his own business or pleasure, but in the company and at the expense of another, if he comes as a traveler or transient to receive entertainment in that character.[18]

A person does not become a guest by obtaining a room at an inn solely for the accomplishment of some unlawful or improper purpose,[19] but, on the other hand, where a person resorting to a hotel for an illegal purpose remains after his improper conduct ceases, the relationship of host and guest attaches.[20] The relationship of innkeeper and guest is not affected by the fact that the guest is acting illegally in a matter outside of the actual relationship.[21]

Necessity of procuring accommodations. A person cannot become the guest of a hotel unless he procures some accommodation;[22] but the accommodation necessary to be procured by a person in order to constitute him a guest may consist of any form of entertainment or refreshment which the innkeeper publicly professes to serve,[23] and it is sufficient if he takes lodgings only,[24] or food without lodgings.[25] While it has been held that one who visits an inn merely for the purpose of obtaining liquor thereby becomes a guest,[26] it is generally considered that such a person does not become a guest within the meaning of statutes allowing guests to be served with intoxicating liquor on Sunday, but providing that a person must obtain food or lodging in order to constitute him a guest.[27]

A person does not become a guest merely by availing himself, without expense, of the facilities and comforts of the hotel, such as the use of the lobby, lounging room, and hotel stationery, which the innkeeper furnishes gratuitously to the public at large;[28] and where the innkeeper is engaged in another kind of business, which he conducts in connection with his inn for the convenience or pleasure of his guests, the relationship of innkeeper and guest does not arise between him and those who merely patronize the other business.[29]

Sending or leaving chattels. The owner of inanimate chattels who does not receive any personal entertainment does not become a guest merely by sending the chattels to an inn, or leaving them there,[30] and a person who engages and pays for a room merely to secure a safe place for the deposit of his valuables, and without any intention of occupying it, is not a guest.[31] It has been held that one who leaves his horse at an inn to be cared for thereby becomes a guest as regards the property so committed to the innkeeper's care,[32] and the rule has been extended to a case where a mere bailee left a horse at an inn;[33] but it has also been held that one does not become a guest merely by leaving his horse at an inn to be cared for,[34] or, a fortiori, by

A. 487, 68 N.H. 447, 73 Am.S.R. 614, 39 L.R.A. 760.
32 C.J. p 536 note 37.

15. N.Y.—Morrison v. Hotel Rutledge Co., 193 N.Y.S. 428, 200 App. Div. 636.

16. N.Y.—Gastenhofer v. Clair, 10 Daly 265.
32 C.J. p 535 note 25.

17. Tenn.—Hill v. Memphis Hotel Co., 136 S.W. 997, 124 Tenn. 376, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 420.

18. Vt.—Read v. Amidon, 41 Vt. 15, 98 Am.D. 560.
32 C.J. p 536 note 40.

19. Wis.—Curtis v. Murphy, 22 N. W. 825, 63 Wis. 4, 53 Am.R. 242.
32 C.J. p 535 note 27.

20. N.Y.—Lucia v. Omel, 41 N.Y.S. 659, 46 App.Div. 200.
32 C.J. p 535 note 28.

21. Mass.—Cox v. Cook, 14 Allen 165.
32 C.J. p 536 note 29.

22. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76, 80, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 535 note 14.

23. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Hill v. Memphis Hotel Co., 136 S.W. 997, 124 Tenn. 376, 34 L. R.A.,N.S., 420.

24. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76, 80, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 535 note 16.

25. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76, 80, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 535 note 17.

26. N.Y.—Donald v. Edgerton, 5 Barb. 560.
32 C.J. p 535 note 18.

27. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Regan, 64 N.E. 407, 182 Mass. 22.
32 C.J. p 535 note 20.

28. Ark.—Baker v. Bailey, 145 S.W. 532, 103 Ark. 12, 39 L.R.A.,N.S., 1085.
Minn.—Parker v. Dixon, 157 N.W. 583, 132 Minn. 367, L.R.A.1916E 534, Ann.Cas.1918A 540.

29. Ga.—Walpert v. Bohan, 55 S.E. 181, 126 Ga. 532, 115 Am.S.R. 114, 6 L.R.A.,N.S., 828, 8 Ann.Cas. 89.
32 C.J. p 531 note 53.

30. Minn.—Parker v. Dixon, 157 N. W. 583, 132 Minn. 367, L.R.A.1916E 534, Ann.Cas.1918A 540.
32 C.J. p 534 note 5, p 536 note 33 [a] (1).
Continuance of status as guest to remove effects see infra subdivision c of this section.

31. Mo.—Bunn v. Johnson, 77 Mo. App. 596.

32. Del.—Russell v. Fagan, 3 A. 258, 12 Del. 389.
32 C.J. p 534 note 8.

33. Mass.—Mason v. Thompson, 9 Pick. 280, 20 Am.D. 471.
32 C.J. p 534 note 9.

34. Me.—Healey v. Gray, 68 Me. 439, 28 Am.R. 80.
32 C.J. p 534 note 10.

leaving his horse at an inn without any agreement, express or implied, for the innkeeper's care of the horse.[35]

Where property in the possession of a third person, as bailee of the owner, is taken to an inn by such third person, the owner does not in consequence thereof occupy the relation of guest, because the law cannot imply, in such a case, that the property was in the owner's possession.[36]

Registration. It is not necessary to register in order to be a guest,[37] and a person may be accepted as a guest at a hotel, without registration, by the mere delivery to him of the key to a room by the clerk.[38] Where the registered occupant of a room, with the knowledge and consent of the hotel management, turns his room over to another person, and the hotel clerk delivers the key of the room to that person, such person, although he fails or is not required to register, becomes an accepted guest of the hotel, not a mere licensee. However, a mere guest of the registered occupant of a room at a hotel, who shares such room with its occupant without the knowledge or consent of the hotel management, is not a guest of the hotel as there is no contractual relation between such third person and the hotel proprietor.[39] Where an individual registers for himself and family, another member of the family may become a guest without personally registering.[40]

c. Duration of Relation

One remains a guest from the time he is received as such until he pays his bill and departs. Such status is terminated by abandonment of the transient character of the stay, but not by a mere temporary absence with intent to return.

When a person goes to an inn as a traveler or wayfarer, and the innkeeper receives him as such, the relation of host and guest attaches at once.[41]

A guest ordinarily may go when he pleases,[42] and ceases to be a guest when he pays his bill and departs.[43] Leaving the inn temporarily, the guest intending to return again, does not necessarily terminate the relation,[44] particularly if, by mutual understanding or agreement, the relation is continued during his absence.[45] However, in order that the relationship may continue during the absence of the guest, there must be an animus revertendi on the part of the guest,[46] the intent must be to return within a definite and reasonable time,[47] and the liability to compensate the innkeeper must continue during the absence;[48] and the mere fact that a guest intends to return will not operate of itself to continue the relation of host and guest.[49]

It has been held that an owner of chattels, whose entertainment at the inn has ceased, does not continue to be a guest by allowing the chattels to remain at the inn thereafter;[50] but it has also been held that when a guest departs without removing his effects, the relation will continue for such reasonable time as will afford him an opportunity of removing them.[51] Where, on the departure of the guest, the innkeeper or a servant acting within the

35. Ga.—Brewer v. Carswell, 64 S.E. 674, 132 Ga. 563, 131 Am.S.R. 216.

36. N.Y.—Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. 188, 37 How.Pr. 438.
32 C.J. p 535 note 12.

37. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.
32 C.J. p 535 note 24.

Reason for rule

The registration of guests at a hotel is no part of the contract between the hotel proprietor and the guest, the purpose of the register being to keep track of the number of people in the house and to keep the books straight; the register is kept solely for the benefit and convenience of the hotel proprietor. —Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.

38. La.—Moody v. Kenny, supra.

39. La.—Moody v. Kenny, supra.

Husband and wife

A husband who, without registering, and without the knowledge or acquiescence of the hotel and its responsible agents occupied, in company with his wife, a single room which had been assigned for her sole use and occupancy, was held not a guest.—Warren v. Penn-Harris Hotel Co., 91 Pa.Super. 195.

40. Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177.

Mother-in-law

Where a son-in-law registered for himself and family, and paid a substantial price for the use of the hotel room by himself and family, his mother-in-law, being a member of the family, became a guest.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, supra.

41. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.
32 C.J. p 536 note 32.

42. Iowa.—Shoecraft v. Bailey, 25 Iowa 553.
Tex.—Keiffer v. Keough, Civ.App., 188 S.W. 44.

43. La.—Carol v. Monteleone, 71 So. 798, 139 La. 541, L.R.A.1916F 234.
32 C.J. p 536 note 46.

44. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., 76 So. 302, 200 Ala. 386, L.R.A.1917F 834.
32 C.J. p 537 note 53.

45. Colo.—Brown Hotel Co. v. Burckhardt, 56 P. 188, 13 Colo.App. 59.
32 C.J. p 536 note 48.

46. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., 76 So. 302, 200 Ala. 386, L.R.A.1917F 834.
32 C.J. p 536 note 49.

47. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., supra.
Tenn.—Whitemore v. Haroldson, 2 Lea 312.

48. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., 76 So. 302, 200 Ala. 386, L.R.A.1917F 834.
32 C.J. p 537 note 52.

49. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., supra.
Miss.—Miller v. Peeples, 60 Miss. 819, 45 Am.R. 423.
Mo.—McKeever v. Kramer, 218 S.W. 403, 203 Mo.App. 269.
32 C.J. p 536 note 47.

50. Colo.—Oxford Hotel Co. v. Lind, 107 P. 222, 47 Colo. 57, 28 L.R.A., N.S., 495, 18 Ann.Cas. 983.
32 C.J. p 534 note 5.

51. Ohio.—Hotels Statler Co., Inc.,

scope of his employment undertakes to deliver the guest's baggage at a railroad station or a steamboat wharf, the relation of innkeeper and guest continues until delivery at the designated place.[52]

Abandonment of transient character. A guest at an inn may terminate the existing relation by abandoning his transient character, and this may be effected merely by forming an intention to remain indefinitely or permanently, without any present purpose of going on to any other place.[53] However, a special contract with an innkeeper, such as one for a weekly rate, made by a person who has been received as a guest, does not operate to terminate the relation if the party retains his character as a transient.[54] Likewise, where the relation of innkeeper and guest is once established, it is not changed or terminated by the fact that the person received remains a considerable time provided he still retains his status as a transient or traveler.[55]

d. Questions of Law and Fact

If the facts are undisputed the question of whether an individual is a guest, boarder, lodger, or tenant is one of law; otherwise it is a question of fact, or a mixed question of law and fact.

Whether the relation of innkeeper and guest exists, or whether a given individual is a boarder, lodger, or tenant, is ordinarily a question of fact,[56] or a mixed question of law and fact.[57] However, if the facts are definitely ascertainable from the undisputed evidence, the question becomes one of law for the determination of the court.[58]

The time at which the relationship commenced and terminated is usually a question of fact.[59]

e. Presumptions and Burden of Proof

In the absence of a contrary showing, a person accommodated at a hotel is presumed to have become and remained a guest. As between the status of tenant and lodger, it is presumed, unless a contrary intention appears, that the parties intended to create a landlord-tenant relationship.

The presumption is that one who goes to a hotel goes as a guest, unless there is evidence showing that he goes as a boarder.[60] However, where he is staying at the inn under a contract by which he is to remain there a certain considerable time, and in return gets a special rate for board, he is presumably a boarder.[61] As between the relationship of landlord and tenant and that of lodginghouse keeper and lodger, it has been held that, in the absence of any provision in the contract or of proof of extrinsic circumstances indicating a contrary intention, it will be presumed that it was the intention of the parties to create the relationship of landlord and tenant.[62]

The presumption always is that one who comes as a guest remains in that capacity until a change of relation is shown;[63] and the burden is on the innkeeper to show that the relation has terminated.[64]

v. Safier, 134 N.E. 460, 103 Ohio St. 638.
32 C.J. p 534 note 6.

52. Ala.—Glenn v. Jackson, 9 So. 259, 93 Ala. 342, 12 L.R.A. 382.
Okl.—Huckins Hotel Co. v. Clampitt, 224 P. 945, 946, 101 Okl. 190, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 537 note 54.

53. N.C.—Holstein v. Phillips, 59 S.E. 1037, 146 N.C. 366, 14 L.R.A.,N.S., 475, 14 Ann.Cas. 323.
32 C.J. p 537 note 55.

54. Mich.—Polk v. Melenbacker, 99 N.W. 867, 136 Mich. 611.
32 C.J. p 537 note 57.

55. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.Y.—Hancock v. Rand, 94 N.Y. 1, 46 Am.R. 112, affirming 17 Hun 279.
32 C.J. p 537 note 58.

56. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.
32 C.J. p 534 note 3, p 535 note 23 [a], p 538 note 71.

Evidence held sufficient for jury
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

Evidence held insufficient for jury
Mo.—Martin v. Shryock Realty Co., 163 S.W.2d 804, 236 Mo.App. 1265.
32 C.J. p 538 note 71 [a].

57. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.
32 C.J. p 534 note 4.

58. Ariz.—Haff v. Adams, 59 P. 111, 6 Ariz. 395.
Ohio.—Arcade Hotel Co. v. Wiatt, 4 N.E. 398, 44 Ohio St. 32, 58 Am.R. 785.

59. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.
32 C.J. p 536 note 31, p 534 note 3 [a].

60. Cal.—Fay v. Pacific Impr. Co., 26 P. 1099, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188, reheard 28 P. 943, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188.
Mass.—Hall v. Pike, 100 Mass. 495.

61. Tenn.—Meacham v. Galloway, 52 S.W. 859, 102 Tenn. 415, 73 Am.S.R. 886, 46 L.R.A. 319.
32 C.J. p 538 note 76.

62. Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 229 Mo.App. 789.

63. Minn.—Ross v. Mellin, 32 N.W. 172, 36 Minn. 421.
32 C.J. p 537 note 59.

64. Okl.—Huckins Hotel Co. v. Hooper, 144 P. 177, 44 Okl. 307.

II. STATUTORY AND MUNICIPAL REGULATION

§ 4. Power to Regulate in General

The regulation of inns, boardinghouses, and the like is within the police power of the state. Power to regulate is generally conferred on municipal corporations or other local governing bodies, and their regulations, if reasonable, must be complied with.

The regulation of inns and other houses of public entertainment, such as boarding and lodging houses, is a matter which is concerned with the health, morals, and welfare of the public, and is therefore within the police power of a state,[65] and where there are statutes providing for such regulation, one who conducts such an establishment accepts the duty of fulfilling the obligations imposed by the statutes.[66] The regulations, to be valid, must be reasonable and not calculated to discriminate arbitrarily against particular classes or individuals.[67]

The power to regulate is commonly[68] but not always,[69] committed to local bodies such as municipal corporations; and whether or not the power has been so committed in a particular case depends on the interpretation of the governing statute.[70] Delegation of the power to regulate does not confer the power to prohibit.[71] Hotels not being public utilities, see supra § 1 b, their internal affairs are not subject to the regulatory powers of a public service commission.[72]

§ 5. Particular Regulations

Particular regulations with which one conducting an inn, boardinghouse, or lodginghouse, or similar establishment must comply include regulations pertaining to the construction of the premises, the appliances to be maintained thereon, opening and closing hours, sanitary conditons, the number of persons accommodated, and the rates to be charged.

Inns, hotels, boardinghouses, and lodginghouses, restaurants, and similar establishments for the entertainment of the public must comply with statutes or ordinances pertaining to the construction or alteration of the building, and the appliances or structures to be maintained on the premises,[73] the opening and closing hours of the establishment,[74] its

65. Mont.—State v. City of Billings, 255 P. 11, 79 Mont. 25, 54 A.L.R. 1091.
32 C.J. p 538 note 80, p 539 note 89—12 C.J. p 919 note 37.
Validity of state regulations as regards due process of law see Constitutional Law § 672.

Public interest
The legislature may enact reasonable regulations for hotels and similar businesses on the theory that they are affected with a public interest.—McRae v. Robbins, 9 So.2d 284, 151 Fla. 109.

66. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

67. Mass.—In re Opinion of Justices, 94 N.E. 558, 207 Mass. 601, 34 L.R.A.,N.S., 604.

Regulations held not arbitrary or unreasonable
Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.
32 C.J. p 539 note 89 [a].

68. Mont.—State v. City of Billings, 255 P. 11, 79 Mont. 25, 54 A.L.R. 1091.
Utah.—Ogden City v. Leo, 182 P. 530, 54 Utah 556, 5 A.L.R. 960.

Tourist camps
A statute giving municipal authorities power to regulate restaurants, taverns, hotels, and public boardinghouses has been held to empower them to regulate tourist camps.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.

69. Ark.—Bragg v. Adams, 21 S.W. 2d 950, 180 Ark. 582.
32 C.J. p 538 note 82 [a].

70. N.J.—Smith v. Hightstown, 57 A. 901, 71 N.J.Law 276, affirmed 60 A. 393, 71 N.J.Law 536.
32 C.J. p 538 note 82.

71. Ill.—Chicago v. Drake Hotel Co., 113 N.E. 718, 274 Ill. 408, L.R.A.1917A 1170.
32 C.J. p 538 note 83.

72. N.Y.—People ex rel. Public Service Commission of New York v. New York Telephone Co., 22 N.Y.S.2d 837, 175 Misc. 128, affirmed People ex rel. Public Service Commission v. New York Telephone Co., 29 N.Y.S.2d 513, 262 App.Div. 440, affirmed 40 N.E.2d 1020, 287 N.Y. 803.

73. Mass.—Murdock v. Swasey, 67 N.E. 671, 183 Mass. 573.
32 C.J. p 539 notes 89 [a], 91.
Protection against fire see infra § 7.

Handrails
U.S.—MacLaughlin v. Hull, C.C.A. Wash., 87 F.2d 641.
Minn.—Judd v. Landin, 1 N.W.2d 861, 211 Minn. 465.

Cost of structure
The purpose of an ordinance requiring hotels erected within a designated zone to cost more than a named amount is to have a substantial building, and the ordinance includes not only new buildings, which must cost more than the named amount, but also old buildings, the value of which must exceed the named amount.—Benequit v. Borough of Monmouth Beach, 18 A.2d 847, 125 N.J.Law 65.

Certificate of occupancy
(1) A certificate of occupancy for a lodginghouse, issued by the superintendent of buildings of a city, is binding on all officers and agencies of the city until set aside or vacated.—Lyons v. Prince, 12 N.Y.S.2d 466, 257 App.Div. 202, affirmed 24 N.E.2d 466, 281 N.Y. 557.

(2) The certificate cannot be revoked by the board of standards and appeals of the city as against a purchaser of the premises, including one acquiring the leasehold, relying on the issuance of the certificate to his predecessor in interest.—Edwards v. Murdock, 29 N.E.2d 74, 283 N.Y. 529, reversing 15 N.Y.S.2d 131, 258 App.Div. 716, appeal denied 17 N.Y.S.2d 220, 258 App.Div. 877, motion denied 26 N.E.2d 814, 282 N.Y. 684, mandate conformed to 22 N.Y.S.2d 772, affirmed 26 N.Y.S.2d 311, 261 App.Div. 894, appeal denied 27 N.Y.S.2d 189, 261 App.Div. 954, and reargument and motion denied 29 N.E.2d 666, 284 N.Y. 592, reargument denied 35 N.E.2d 509, 285 N.Y. 848.

74. N.H.—State v. Freeman, 38 N.H. 426.
43 C.J. p 431 note 70.

maintenance in a clean and sanitary condition,[75] and the number of persons to be accommodated.[76] Compliance is necessary also with statutes which regulate the rates or charges,[77] or require a schedule of rates to be filed with a designated public official.[78] The use of a tenement house for a lodging-house is prohibited by some statutes.[79]

Under some statutes dealing with safety measures in hotels and lodginghouses, the owner of the ultimate title to the real property has obligations with respect to only those requirements pertaining to permanent fixtures, that is, articles which become a part of the realty according to the usual rules regarding real estate fixtures.[80]

Bond. In some jurisdictions a bond to secure compliance with the law is required of an innkeeper or tavern keeper.[81]

Official inspection of inns, hotels, and public lodginghouses may be had under statutes providing therefor.[82]

§ 6. —— Licenses

a. In general
b. Procedure to obtain; grant or refusal
c. Operation, transfer, suspension, or revocation

a. In General

A license is generally required to conduct a hotel, boardinghouse, lodginghouse, or similar establishment, and one who fails to obtain such license may thereby lose certain rights or remedies which he would otherwise have. A regulation requiring a license should be construed in accordance with the intent of its framers.

In the absence of any statute on the subject, any person may keep an inn or similar house without obtaining a license so to do.[83] The power to regulate such establishments, however, includes the power to license them,[84] and in many jurisdictions a license is required by statute to carry on the business of keeping an inn or hotel,[85] a lodginghouse or rooming house,[86] a boardinghouse,[87] a tourist camp,[88] or an apartment house in which rooms are rented to transients.[89] Statutes of this nature have

75. Iowa.—Hubbell v. Higgins, 126 N.W. 914, 148 Iowa 36, Ann.Cas. 1912B 822
Health regulations pertaining to restaurants see Health § 25.

76. N.Y.—Crown Point Overseers of Poor v. Warner, 3 Hill 150.
32 C.J. p 539 note 94.

77. Ky.—Banks v. Oden, 1 A.K. Marsh, 546.
N.J.—South v. Grant, 7 N.J.Law 26.

78. Ohio.—State v. Norval Hotel Co., 133 N.E. 75, 103 Ohio St. 361.
32 C.J. p 539 note 93.

79. N.Y.—Saportes v. Hayeck, 182 N.Y.S. 295, 111 Misc. 620.

80. Miss.—Rose v. Rather, 199 So. 299, 190 Miss. 105.
Nature and requisites of fixtures see Fixtures § 1.

81. Me.—Randall v. Tuell, 36 A. 910, 89 Me. 445, 38 L.R.A. 143.
32 C.J. p 540 note 32.

82. Iowa.—Hubbell v. Higgins, 126 N.W. 914, 148 Iowa 36, Ann.Cas. 1912B 822.
32 C.J. p 539 note 95.

83. Ala.—Foster v. State, 4 So. 833, 84 Ala. 451.
32 C.J. p 532 note 61.
Right to keep inn generally see supra § 2.

84. Ark.—Helena v. Miller, 114 S.W. 237, 88 Ark. 263.
32 C.J. p 539 note 5.

85. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.
32 C.J. p 539 note 99.
License to sell intoxicating liquors see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating liquors § 124, also 33 C.J. p 538 note 81.

Number of beds and rooms

Under a statute imposing a license tax on hotels having beds for ten or more persons, but containing no limitation that only one person shall sleep in a bed located in a separate room, a place accommodates and has beds for ten or more persons where, although it has less than ten rooms, some of the rooms have double beds and the total will provide sleeping accommodations for ten or more persons.—Farrior v. State ex rel. Compton, Fla., 13 So.2d 147.

86. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.
32 C.J. p 539 notes 1, 2.

Rooming house excluded from statute

A statute authorizing license taxes on hotels, taverns, boardinghouses, and innkeepers, among other businesses or establishments, has been held not to authorize imposition of a license tax on a rooming house.—City of Independence v. Richardson, 232 P. 1044, 117 Kan. 656.

87. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.

Renting, not boarding, held subject of tax

Under regulations evincing a purpose to impose a license tax on those engaged in the business of renting rooms for lodging accommodations, it was held that keeping a "boardinghouse" was included so that a boardinghouse keeper who also rented rooms might not, under the guise of a boardinghouse proprietor, defeat the purpose of the ordinance, and that it is the renting of rooms, and not the business of boarding, which is the subject of the tax.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.

Boardinghouse excluded from statute

A statute providing for the payment of a privilege tax by hotelkeepers has been held to have no application to a person who keeps a boardinghouse and not a hotel.—McClaugherty v. Cline, 163 S.W. 801, 128 Tenn. 605—32 C.J. p 540 note 38.

88. Mo.—Juengel v. City of Glendale, App., 164 S.W.2d 610, transferred, see, Sup., 161 S.W.2d 408.

89. Fla.—State ex rel. Warren v. Lehman, 130 So. 716, 100 Fla. 970.

Occupation by owner

A statute imposing a license tax on apartment houses in which rooms are rented to transients, but excepting from its operation buildings in which the rooms are rented out by an owner who occupies the building as his actual home or residence, was held not intended to relieve from the payment of the tax an owner of an apartment house who happens to occupy an apartment or a unit in such apartment house as his residence, but rather to relieve from the tax a regular home owner who happens to rent rooms in his residence; and as so construed the statute is not discriminatory.—State ex rel. Warren v. Lehman, supra.

been held valid.[90]

The payment of a franchise tax imposed on all corporations doing business in the state does not relieve a corporation engaged in operating a hotel from paying the license tax imposed on hotelkeepers.[91] However, an institution which is engaged purely in public charity and which is exempt from taxation without limitation cannot be required to pay a license tax for operating a restaurant in furtherance of the purposes for which it was organized.[92]

The construction of regulations requiring a license should be in conformity with the intent of the framers thereof,[93] and in specifying the establishments requiring a license it is not necessary that the legislative body enumerate specifically by title or name every possible phase of the business involved.[94]

Amount of fee or tax. A statute or ordinance imposing a license fee on hotelkeepers will be upheld where the fee is reasonable in amount.[95] Regardless of whether his hotel is operated on the American or European plan,[96] a person who has paid a license fee or tax on the general business of conducting a hotel, inn, or tavern cannot be required to pay an additional tax for the privilege of maintaining and operating a restaurant, eating house,[97] or sleeping rooms,[98] in connection with, and as an incident of, the business of conducting the hotel.

Acting without license. Where a license is required for conducting an inn or similar public house, one cannot legally maintain such an establishment without a license, even though it has been wrongfully refused,[99] and one who operates such a house without a license cannot, it has been held, sue for damage to his business,[1] recover compensation for board and lodging furnished,[2] or establish a lien on property of the guest.[3] However, the failure of a person to obtain a license does not prevent him from being in the status of an innkeeper so far as concerns the responsibilities of his occupation.[4]

b. Procedure to Obtain; Grant or Refusal

The statutes of the particular jurisdiction govern the procedure for obtaining a license to keep a hotel or other public house, and the grant or refusal of the license ordinarily rests in the discretion of the licensing authorities.

The granting of licenses to keep a hotel or other public house is by statute generally intrusted to some administrative or quasi judicial body,[5] and the procedure by which the license is obtained is solely a matter of statutory regulation,[6] as are also the

90. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.
32 C.J. p 539 note 3.

91. N.C.—Cobb v. Durham County, 30 S.E. 338, 122 N.C. 307.

92. Ky.—Corbin Y. M. C. A. v. Commonwealth, 205 S.W. 388, 181 Ky. 384, 1 A.L.R. 264.

93. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, 119 P.2d 370, 48 Cal.App. 2d 62.

Penal nature of regulation

An ordinance requiring a license of every person engaged in the business of renting or letting any rooms in any hotel, rooming house, boardinghouse, apartment house or lodginghouse, and prescribing fees therefor proportionate to gross receipts, is not a regulatory penal statute, notwithstanding it carries a penalty clause for its violation, but imposes an occupational license tax for revenue.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.

94. Cal.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.

Name and type of structure immaterial

Under regulations designed to require a license of any one engaged in the business of renting lodging space to a guest or roomer, as distinguished from conferring a tenancy, and also designed to collect license taxes in proportion to gross receipts, it is immaterial whether the structure is called a hotel, apartment, rooming house, boardinghouse, lodginghouse, flat, bungalow court, duplex, or single dwelling; it is the business of renting rooms without a license which is prohibited, the type or form of structure in which the business is conducted being merely incident thereto.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.

Reference to "rooms" held not indefinite

An ordinance requiring payment of occupational license tax by persons letting "rooms" in hotels, rooming houses, boardinghouses, apartment houses, or lodginghouses has been held not indefinite as to what is meant by term "rooms"; when an apartment is rented it is in fact a rental of the room or rooms contained therein, and the only rooms that come within purview of ordinance are rooms rented to guests or roomers for lodging purposes and not rooms used as stores or the like, nor rooms leased or let to tenants conferring on them an interest in realty.—Edwards v. City of Los Angeles, supra.

95. Ark.—Helena v. Miller, 114 S.W. 237, 88 Ark. 263.
32 C.J. p 540 note 33.

96. Ky.—New Galt House Co. v. Louisville, 111 S.W. 351, 129 Ky. 341, 33 Ky.L. 869, 17 L.R.A.,N.S., 566.
Pa.—McClure v. Krumbholz, 9 Pa. Dist. 544.

97. Ky.—New Galt House Co. v. Louisville, 111 S.W. 351, 129 Ky. 341, 33 Ky.L. 869, 17 L.R.A.,N.S., 566.
32 C.J. p 540 note 35.

98. N.J.—Atlantic City v. Hemsley, 70 A. 322, 76 N.J.Law 354.

99. Vt.—State v. Stone, 6 Vt. 295.

1. Ga.—Bonner v. Welborn, 7 Ga. 296.

2. Me.—Randall v. Tuell, 36 A. 910, 89 Me. 443, 38 L.R.A. 143.

3. Me.—Stanwood v. Woodward, 38 Me. 192.
Right of innkeeper to lien on goods of guests see infra § 26.

4. Me.—Atwater v. Sawyer, 76 Me. 539, 49 Am.R. 634.
32 C.J. p 532 note 63, p 541 note 45.
Offenses see infra § 27.

5. Utah.—Larsen v. Salt Lake City, 141 P. 98, 44 Utah 437.
32 C.J. p 539 note 7.

6. N.J.—Johnson v. Wentz, 79 A. 604, 81 N.J.Law 34.
32 C.J. p 539 note 8.

matters necessary to be shown to authorize the granting of the license.[7] Under a statute requiring the application for a license to be accompanied by the written consent of the owner of the premises for which application for the license is made, a verbal consent, particularly an uncertain verbal consent given through a third person, will not suffice.[8] More than one person may be licensed to keep a particular inn.[9]

Provision is generally made for keeping the business out of improper hands, by committing the matter to the discretion of the licensing authorities;[10] and this discretion will not be controlled by the courts,[11] unless it is exercised in an arbitrary manner.[12] The fact that different local boards may exercise discretion in granting licenses differently, and that the statute to that extent may operate unequally in different parts of the state, is not a legal objection to the validity of the statute.[13]

The power to license is not the power to prohibit, and where a board is given by statute power to license public houses, it cannot legally refuse to grant licenses enough to serve the requirements of public convenience, if proper persons apply.[14] The statutes may provide a remedy where a license is wrongly refused.[15]

c. Operation, Transfer, Suspension, or Revocation

A license to keep a hotel gives the right to maintain a restaurant in connection therewith. The license is personal, and valid only for the premises for which it is issued. It may be suspended or revoked for cause.

A license to keep an inn, hotel, or tavern includes the right to maintain and operate a restaurant or eating house in connection therewith,[16] without obtaining a special license[17] or paying a special tax, see supra subdivision a of this section. After a license has been issued, no restraints can be imposed on the persons licensed except such as are authorized by the governing statute.[18]

The license is valid only for the premises for which it is issued.[19] Although there is nothing illegal in an agreement to transfer a license to keep an inn,[20] nevertheless, the license is personal,[21] not transferable,[22] and of no avail to a person other than the one to whom it is granted.[23] It does not pass with a lease of the premises.[24]

Suspension or revocation. The license may be suspended[25] or revoked[26] for cause under regulations so providing; and after valid revocation continued operation of the establishment is without a license and in violation of regulations requiring a license.[27]

7. Ky.—Audubon Country Club v. Commonwealth, 183 S.W. 911, 169 Ky. 399.
32 C.J. p 539 note 9.

8. N.J.—Reid v. Borough of Deal, 134 A. 187, 4 N.J.Misc. 706.

Tenants in common; partners

Where the property is owned by tenants in common, written consent of one owner and verbal consent of the other is insufficient; and the fact that the tenants in common are to be partners in the proposed hotel business does not give one legal authority to bind the other in giving the required consent.—Reid v. Borough of Deal, supra.

9. N.J.—Amerman v. Hill, 19 A. 789, 52 N.J.Law 326.

10. Ky.—Pierce v. Com., 10 Bush 6.
32 C.J. p 540 note 10.

11. Ky.—Taylor v. Commonwealth, 142 S.W. 369, 146 Ky. 303.
32 C.J. p 540 note 11.

12. Ky.—Hogland v. Com., 8 Bush 147—Louisville v. Kean, 18 B.Mon. 9.

13. Vt.—Bancroft v. Dumas, 21 Vt. 456.

14. Ky.—Louisville v. Kean, 18 B. Mon. 9.
Vt.—State v. Stone, 6 Vt. 295.

15. Va.—Sights v. Yarnalls, 12 Gratt. 292, 53 Va. 292.
Mandamus to compel issuance of license see the C.J.S. title Mandamus § 156, also 38 C.J. p 741 note 16-p 743 note 38.

16. Del.—State v. Ainscow, 75 A. 372, 23 Del. 71.
Tenn.—Maxwell Operating Co. v. Nashville, 7 Tenn.Civ.A. 336.

17. Del.—State v. Ainscow, 75 A. 372, 23 Del. 71.
Tavern license as authorizing sale of liquor see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors § 130, also 33 C.J. p 539 notes 88, 89.

18. Me.—Crosby v. Snow, 16 Me. 121.

19. Ky.—Barnes v. Commonwealth, 2 Dana 388.

Adjoining room

A license to keep a tavern in the licensee's "brick house" may apply to a frame room adjoining it, which is used as the barroom.—Gray v. Commonwealth, 9 Dana, Ky., 300, 35 Am.D. 136.

20. N.J.—Hall v. Hoagland, 38 N.J. Law 350.

21. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Lavery, 73 N.E. 884, 188 Mass. 13.
32 C.J. p 540 note 23.

22. Ky.—Commonwealth v. Branamon, 8 B.Mon. 374.
32 C.J. p 540 note 24.

23. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Lavery, 73 N.E. 884, 188 Mass. 13.
N.J.—Hall v. Hoagland, 38 N.J.Law 350.

24. Ky.—Commonwealth v. Branamon, 8 B.Mon. 374—Commonwealth v. Bryan, 9 Dana 310.

25. Ky.—Plummer v. Commonwealth, 1 Bush 26.
32 C.J. p 540 note 29.

26. Va.—Sights v. Yarnalls, 12 Gratt. 292, 53 Va. 292.
32 C.J. p 540 note 30.

Alternative grounds for revocation

Under a statute permitting municipal authorities to revoke or cancel the license if the public safety, peace, good order, or decency so require, or if the person operating the establishment is convicted of violating ordinances regulating such business, it is of no consequence that the licensee was not convicted of violating any ordinance regulating the business, where the municipal authorities have concluded on investigation that the public safety, peace, good order, or decency require revocation of the license.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, 96 So. 591, 209 Ala. 512.

27. Ala.—City of Birmingham v. Bollas, supra.

§ 7. —— Protection against Fire

The equipment of hotels and boardinghouses or lodginghouses with fire escapes or other safeguards in the event of fire, although not required at common law, is now generally required by statute, and the duty of complying with the statute may be imposed on all persons interested in the property, including the owner or lessee.

At common law there was no obligation to provide fire escapes for the safety of the guests or lodgers.[28] Under the statutes in many jurisdictions, however, establishments such as hotels, boardinghouses, or lodginghouses, over a certain size, must provide fire escapes or other designated safeguards for the protection of the life and property of the occupants in the event of fire,[29] and the duty to provide such safeguards is, by virtue of some provisions, an absolute one.[30] It is also required under some statutes that in case of fire an innkeeper shall give notice thereof at once to all guests or inmates, and do all in his power to save such guests and inmates.[31] Such enactments have been considered wise and salutary, in view of the great height of modern hotel buildings and the disasters which have frequently occurred, and their validity has been sustained.[32]

Persons charged with duty. Statutes making it the duty of the owner, proprietor, lessee, or keeper of a hotel or similar establishment to provide certain devices for protection in the event of fire have been construed to impose the duty on all persons interested in, or having control or dominion over, the property, including the owner, as well as the lessee, and to impose the duty on the persons designated severally and not jointly.[33]

Official notice or direction. A hotel owner is chargeable with knowledge of regulations requiring fire escapes or other means of egress, and hence notice from an inspector ordinarily is not necessary to charge the owner with the duty of providing such protection.[34] Under some statutes, however, the owner of a hotel is not required to furnish additional ways of egress or means of escape from fire until after an inspector of buildings has given him a written notice specifying what additional ways or means are necessary.[35] The charter and ordinances of some cities confer power on the fire commissioner to direct the installation of an interior electric fire alarm system.[36]

III. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES, AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF

§ 8. In General

The occupation of an innkeeper is of a public or quasi-public character. The rights, duties, and responsibilities of innkeepers and guests have their origin in considerations of public policy.

The business or occupation of an innkeeper is of a public[37] or quasi-public[38] character, invested

28. Mo.—Yall v. Snow, 100 S.W. 1, 201 Mo. 511, 119 Am.S.R. 781, 10 L.R.A.,N.S., 177.
32 C.J. p 541 note 47.

Corpus Juris quoted in considering duty to provide college dormitory with fire escapes.—Commonwealth v. Madison, 108 S.W.2d 519, 524, 269 Ky. 571.

29. N.Y.—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997.
Wash.—Moore v. Dresden Inv. Co., 298 P. 465, 162 Wash. 289, 77 A.L.R. 1258.
32 C.J. p 541 note 48.

Rope ladder fire escapes
The repeal and reënactment of a statute requiring three-story buildings to have iron or steel stair fire escapes was held not to have repealed, by implication, a statute permitting hotels of three stories or less to have rope ladder fire escapes.—Collins v. Twellman, 126 S.W.2d 231, 344 Mo. 330.

Compliance shown
Wash.—Evans v. Saran, 128 P.2d 763, 14 Wash.2d 533.

Compliance not shown
Wash.—Moore v. Dresden Inv. Co., 298 P. 465, 162 Wash. 289, 77 A.L.R. 1258.

30. N.Y.—Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

31. U.S.—Miller v. Strahl, 86 S.Ct. 147, 239 U.S. 426, 60 L.Ed. 364, affirming 151 N.W. 952, 97 Neb. 820, Ann.Cas.1917A 141.

32. U.S.—Miller v. Strahl, supra.
32 C.J. p 541 note 51.

33. Mo.—Johnson v. Snow, 100 S.W. 5, 201 Mo. 450.
32 C.J. p 541 note 54.

Primary duty of owner
An ordinance requiring lodginghouses to be equipped with fire escapes, and providing that persons violating the ordinance would be guilty of a misdemeanor, was held not ineffective as failing to designate the person on whom the duty to construct the fire escapes rested, where the fair intendment of the ordinance was that the duty rested primarily on the owner.—Roxas v. Gogna, 106 P.2d 227, 41 Cal.App.2d 234.

Duties limited to permanent fixtures
An alarm bell or gong is not a permanent fixture which the owner of title to a hotel or lodginghouse would be required to furnish under a statute imposing on such an owner certain duties with respect to permanent fixtures.—Rose v. Rather, 199 So. 299, 190 Miss. 105.

Joint and several obligation is not imposed.—Johnson v. Snow, 76 S.W. 675, 102 Mo.App. 233.

34. Wash.—Moore v. Dresden Inv. Co., 298 P. 465, 162 Wash. 289, 77 A.L.R. 1258.

35. Mass.—Perry v. Bangs, 36 N.E. 683, 161 Mass. 35.

36. N.Y.—U. S. Trust Co. v. Blake, 137 N.E. 327, 234 N.Y. 273, modifying 187 N.Y.S. 6, 196 App.Div. 289.

37. Iowa.—Bowlin v. Lyon, 25 N.W. 766, 67 Iowa 536, 56 Am.R. 355.
32 C.J. p 541 note 59.

38. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.
N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corpo-

with many privileges[39] and burdened with correspondingly great responsibilities.[40] The rules regulating the respective rights, duties, and responsibilities of innkeeper and guest have their origin in considerations of public policy,[41] and were designed mainly for the protection and security of travelers and their property.[42]

The relation is a mutual one, involving mutual rights and obligations.[43] It involves obligations, on the part of the innkeeper, to furnish accommodation, discussed infra § 9, to keep the goods of the guest safe from loss or injury, discussed infra § 12 et seq, and to exercise, reasonable care for the safety of the guest discussed infra § 22, and, on the part of the guest, to pay for the entertainment received, discussed infra § 26, and to refrain from conduct offensive to other guests or which would bring the hotel into disrepute.[44]

§ 9. Reception and Entertainment of Guests

a. In general
b. Grounds for refusal
c. Exclusion after acceptance

a. In General

An innkeeper must receive and entertain all unobjectionable persons who offer themselves as guests as long as he has accommodations and they will pay the reasonable charges therefor.

An innkeeper is under a legal obligation to receive and entertain all unobjectionable persons who offer themselves as guests as long as he has accommodations for them and they pay or are able and willing to pay a reasonable consideration therefor.[45] This obligation to serve the public attaches to every one professing the trade of innkeeper,[46] even though he has neglected to obtain a license.[47] Although an innkeeper is bound to provide his guest with such facilities as the character of his inn afford,[48] it is only a reasonable accommodation, with respect to those things furnished at an inn, that the guest is entitled to demand,[49] and therefore he has no right to select any particular apartment.[50] However, while an innkeeper has the right to move a guest from one room or apartment to another,[51] he cannot put him out of the room assigned to him and then refuse him other proper accommodation.[52]

The innkeeper is bound to respect and give reasonable attention to the convenience,[53] comfort,[54]

ration, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
32 C.J. p 541 note 60.

39. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, supra.
32 C.J. p 541 note 61.

40. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, supra.
32 C.J. p 541 note 62.

41. Ala.—Beale v. Posey, 72 Ala. 323.
Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.

42. Ala.—Beale v. Posey, 72 Ala. 323.
Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.

43. Minn.—Parker v. Dixon, 157 N. W. 583, 132 Minn. 367, L.R.A.1916E 534, Ann.Cas.1918A 540.
Pa.—Hirsh v. Anderson Hotel Co., 58 Pa.Super. 387.

44. Kan.—Lehnen v. Hines, 127 P. 612, 88 Kan. 58, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 830.
Mont.—Jones v. Shannon, 175 P. 882, 55 Mont. 225.

45. U.S.—Davies Warehouse Co. v. Brown, C.C.A.Tenn., 137 F.2d 201, 207, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
32 C.J. p 542 note 71.

Goods and luggage

Innkeeper is obliged to receive guests and their goods and luggage.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 332 Mo. 749, transferred, see, App., Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion, 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.

46. N.C.—State v. Wynne, 8 N.C. 451.
32 C.J. p 542 note 72.

47. Me.—Atwater v. Sawyer, 76 Me. 539, 49 Am.R. 634.
32 C.J. p 542 note 73.

48. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.

49. Ark.—Lewis v. Roescher, 98 S. W.2d 956, 193 Ark. 161.
32 C.J. p 542 note 74.

Room telephone

Hotel was under no duty to furnish guest with telephone in room and was not liable because telephone furnished was defective, or because guest was unable to get communication with clerk, at least where hotel had no knowledge of fact that telephone was defective or that guest was either sick or likely to become sick and suffer.—Lewis v. Roescher, supra.

Business service or accommodation

An innkeeper is not bound to furnish accommodation for the carrying on of the business of a guest.—Mowers v. Fethers, 61 N.Y. 34, 19 Am.R. 244, reversing 6 Lans. 112, and distinguishing Washburn v. Jones, 14 Barb. 193—32 C.J. p 542 note 85.

50. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 192 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860.
32 C.J. p 542 note 75.

51. Ala.—Hervey v. Hart, 42 So. 1013, 149 Ala. 604, 123 Am.S.R. 67, 9 L.R.A.,N.S., 213, 13 Ann.Cas. 1049.
32 C.J. p 542 note 77.

52. Ala.—Hervey v. Hart, supra.

53. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.
N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
32 C.J. p 542 note 79.

Awakening guests

An innkeeper has no mandatory duty to awaken a guest at a requested hour.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, D.C. Conn., 27 F.Supp. 228.

Entry at night

Neither common law nor statutes require innkeeper, unrequested, to supply every guest with a key to the inn, or to keep the entrance either unlocked or under attendance during the night.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, supra.

Place of entry

A guest's implied invitation of entry may not be expanded to include invitation to enter window.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, supra.

54. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A. Mo., 293 F. 17.
N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corpo-

and, as discussed infra § 25, the privacy of his guests, and must refrain from insulting or abusing his guests, or indulging in any conduct that may unnecessarily bring on them physical discomfort or distress of mind.[55]

Food. Formerly an innkeeper was required to be prepared to entertain the traveler with both food and lodging,[56] and to keep on hand sufficient food for a reasonable number of guests,[57] but, while it is a part of the time-honored business of a hotel or inn to provide those who seek lodging with food and refreshment,[58] facilities for supplying guests with food are no longer considered a requisite of an inn or hotel, as discussed supra § 1.

Termination of duty. An innkeeper may at any time put an end to his duty to receive travelers by definitely going out of the business.[59]

Rules of hotel. An innkeeper has the right to make and enforce such reasonable rules as may be designed to prevent immorality,[60] drunkenness,[61] or any form of misconduct that may be offensive to other guests,[62] or that may bring his inn into disrepute, or that may be radically inconsistent with the generally recognized proprieties of life.[63] A rule of a hotel that persons without baggage shall not be assigned to a room in the absence of proper identification is a reasonable one.[64]

b. Grounds for Refusal

Grounds for the refusal to receive a proposed guest are as a rule limited to the lack of accommodations or the unsuitability of the guest.

An innkeeper may properly refuse to receive and entertain a proposed guest when his accommodations are exhausted,[65] or where the guest is not able and willing to pay the price of the entertainment sought,[66] or is not in a fit condition to be received,[67] as where he is drunk or disorderly,[68] or otherwise obnoxious.[69] On the other hand, it is held to be no excuse for refusal to receive and entertain a person that he comes on Sunday,[70] or that he is an infant,[71] or that other members of a military company, to which he belongs, have previously misconducted themselves at the inn;[72] nor is the mere apprehension of an insult sufficient for a refusal.[73]

c. Exclusion after Acceptance

An innkeeper may remove a guest for a valid reason without incurring liability therefor if he does not employ excessive force or other unlawful means.

A person who has been received at an inn as a guest and who conducts himself in a proper and peaceful manner and pays the amount charged for his entertainment has a right to remain at the inn for a reasonable time.[74] On the other hand, a person may be properly excluded from a hotel or inn, ration, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.

Pa.—Kral v. Coloviras, Com.Pl., 47 Dauph.Co. 279.
32 C.J. p 542 note 80.

Not an insurer

An innkeeper is not an insurer of the convenience or comfort of his guests, but his obligation is to exercise reasonable care that neither he nor his servants shall destroy or minimize the comfort, convenience, and peace which the latter would ordinarily enjoy if the inn were properly conducted, due allowance being made for the grade of the inn and the character of the accommodation which it is designed to afford.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.

Arrest by officers

One conducting hotel owes no duty to prevent arrest of guest by officers seemingly acting within their authority.—Smith v. Jefferson Hotel Co., 173 S.E. 456, 48 Ga.App. 596.

55. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.

Insulting words or conduct

An innkeeper has been held liable for a breach of duty to a guest by the manager's conduct in abusing the guest and threatening him with violence and ejection from the hotel.—Milner Hotels v. Dougherty, Miss., 15 So.2d 358.

56. Conn.—Walling v. Potter, 35 Conn. 183.
32 C.J. p 542 note 82.

57. Me.—Atwater v. Sawyer, 76 Me. 539, 49 Am.R. 634.

58. Pa.—Appeal of Wellsboro Hotel Co., 7 A.2d 334, 336 Pa. 171, 122 A.L.R. 1396.

59. N.Y.—Conklin v. Prospect Park Hotel Co., 1 N.Y.S. 406, affirmed 26 N.E. 755, 125 N.Y. 711.
32 C.J. p 542 note 87.

60. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.
32 C.J. p 543 note 90.

61. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860.

62. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.

63. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., 168 N.Y.S. 191, 181 App.Div. 61, affirmed 126 N.E. 647, 228 N.Y. 106.

64. Md.—Coquelet v. Union Hotel Co., 115 A. 813, 139 Md. 544.

65. U.S.—Jackson v. Virginia Hot Springs Co., D.C.Va., 209 F. 979.
32 C.J. p 543 note 96.

66. N.Y.—Morningstar v. Lafayette Hotel Co., 105 N.E. 656, 211 N.Y. 465, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 740.
32 C.J. p 543 note 98.

67. Del.—Russell v. Fagan, 8 A. 253, 12 Del. 389—Hall v. State, 4 Del. 132.

68. U.S.—Nelson v. Boldt, C.C.Pa., 180 F. 779.
32 C.J. p 543 note 1.

69. N.C.—State v. Steele, 11 S.E. 478, 106 N.C. 766, 19 Am.S.R. 573, 8 L.R.A. 516.
32 C.J. p 543 note 2.

70. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Naylor, 34 Pa. 86.
32 C.J. p 543 note 3.

71. Ky.—Watson v. Cross, 2 Duv. 147.

72. Me.—Atwater v. Sawyer, 76 Me. 539, 49 Am.R. 634.

73. Me.—Atwater v. Sawyer, supra.

74. Del.—Vansant v. Kowalewski, 90 A. 421, 28 Del. 92—Le Fevre v. Crossan, 84 A. 128, 26 Del. 379.

after he has been accepted as a guest, where he refuses to pay his bill,[75] or where he becomes a resident and thereby loses his status as a traveler or transient.[76] Also a guest may be properly excluded because of his objectionable character,[77] as, for example, where he becomes obnoxious by his own fault,[78] as by becoming intoxicated,[79] or by soliciting business of the other guests,[80] or by improper, disorderly, annoying, or offensive conduct,[81] or even where he becomes obnoxious without fault on his part, as by reason of illness.[82] Where one or more of the grounds of exclusion exist, an innkeeper may remove a guest from the inn[83] without liability therefor, provided he does not employ excessive force or other unlawful means in accomplishing the removal.[84] Similar rules are applied in determining the liability, if any, for ejecting a person from a restaurant after he has ordered a meal.[85]

§ 10. —— Remedies

An innkeeper who improperly refuses to receive and entertain a guest, or who wrongfully excludes a guest once accepted, is liable to an action by the injured person for damages. An innkeeper may enforce his right to eject a guest by an action in the proper form.

An innkeeper who improperly refuses to receive and entertain a person coming to the inn as a guest or, after accepting him as a guest, wrongfully excludes him, is liable, in consequence of such unlawful act, to an action by the injured person for damages,[86] and it has been held that the guest's remedy, if evicted, is restricted to an action for damages.[87]

Pleading. The declaration, petition, or complaint must state a cause of action[88] and not consist of mere conclusions unsupported by allegations of fact.[89] However, plaintiff's pleading need not anticipate and avoid defenses,[90] such as a defense that the innkeeper's accommodations were exhausted at the time plaintiff applied,[91] or that plaintiff was suffering from a contagious disease or was otherwise not in a condition fit to be entertained.[92] Under some practice acts the latter defense must be specially pleaded by the innkeeper.[93]

Evidence and trial. After plaintiff has shown that he was admitted as a guest, the burden is on the innkeeper to justify his ejection.[94] Questions relating to the admissibility[95] and sufficiency[96] of evidence are determined by the rules applicable in

75. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, 248 S. W. 229, 198 Ky. 152.
32 C.J. p 543 note 11.

76. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, supra.
32 C.J. p 543 note 12.

77. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, supra.

78. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, supra.

79. Mass.—Holden v. Carraher, 81 N.E. 261, 195 Mass. 392, 11 Ann. Cas. 724.
Pa.—McHugh v. Schlosser, 28 A. 291, 159 Pa. 480, 39 Am.S.R. 699, 23 L. R.A. 574.

80. N.C.—State v. Steele, 11 S.E. 478, 106 N.C. 766, 19 Am.S.R. 573, 8 L.R.A. 516.

81. Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.
32 C.J. p 543 note 16.

82. N.Y.—Levy v. Corey, 1 N.Y.City Ct.Suppl. 57.
32 C.J. p 543 note 17.

83. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Boarding house keeper may dispossess boarders without resort to summary proceedings.—Jacob v. Jacob, 212 N.Y.S. 62, 125 Misc. 649.

84. Mass.—Holden v. Carraher, 81 N.E. 261, 195 Mass. 392, 11 Ann. Cas. 724.
32 C.J. p 543 notes 11-19.

85. Wash.—Chase v. Knabel, 90 P. 642, 46 Wash. 484, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 1155.
32 C.J. p 544 note 20.

86. N.Y.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N.Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
32 C.J. p 544 note 22.
Criminal liability see infra § 27.
Effect of Civil Rights Law on common-law remedy
The statutory remedy given negro guests at hotel who were allegedly refused service in hotel corporation's restaurant by Civil Rights Law did not preclude guests from maintaining a cause of action against corporation predicated on liability of an innkeeper according to common-law principles.—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, supra.
Application of Civil Rights Acts to inns, etc., see Civil Rights § 7.

87. N.C.—Hutchins v. Durham, 24 S.E. 723, 118 N.C. 457, 32 L.R.A. 706.

88. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, 248 S. W. 229, 198 Ky. 152.
Actionable words or breach of duty
Where a declaration stated a cause of action against hotel owner and manager for damages arising from innkeeper's breach of duty to guest by defendant manager's conduct in cursing and abusing plaintiff and threatening him with violence and ejection from hotel, rather than cause of action under actionable words statute, the prohibition in the statute against sustaining plea, exception, or demurrer in case stated thereunder, so as to preclude jury from passing on facts complained of, is inapplicable.—Milner Hotels v. Dougherty, Miss., 15 So.2d 358.
Declaration held sufficient
U.S.—Jackson v. Virginia Hot Springs Co., Va., 213 F. 969, 130 C. C.A. 375, reversing, D.C., 209 F. 979.
Ark.—Stevenson v. John J. Grier Hotel Co., 251 S.W. 355, 159 Ark. 44.
Declaration held insufficient
Ga.—Smith v. Jefferson Hotel Co., 173 S.E. 456, 48 Ga.App. 596.

89. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, 248 S.W. 229, 198 Ky. 152.

90. U.S.—Jackson v. Virginia Hot Springs Co., Va., 213 F. 969, 130 C.C.A. 375, reversing, D.C., 209 F. 979.

91. U.S.—Jackson v. Virginia Hot Springs Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 544 note 39.

92. U.S.—Jackson v. Virginia Hot Springs Co., supra.

93. N.J.—Watkins v. Cope, 86 A. 545, 84 N.J.Law 143.

94. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396—Florence Hotel Co. v. Bumpus, 69 So. 566, 194 Ala. 69, Ann. Cas.1918C 252.

95. Cal.—Willis v. McMahon, 26 P. 649, 89 Cal. 156.
32 C.J. p 544 note 43.

96. Ky.—Raider v. Dixie Inn, 248 S.W. 229, 198 Ky. 152.
32 C.J. p 544 note 44.

civil cases generally. Questions of fact are to be determined by the jury where there is a substantial conflict in the evidence.[97] Particular questions of fact to be determined by the jury include the question whether the hotel keeper's servants acted maliciously in ejecting plaintiff,[98] and whether a charge for services rendered a guest was excessive, so that the proprietor was not justified in refusing to further entertain the guest refusing to pay the charge.[99] Instructions must embody correct principles of law and be justified by the evidence in the case.[1]

Damages. Since the action sounds in tort,[2] it is governed by the general rule that the measure of damages is based on the theory of compensation for the wrong and injury.[3] Thus damages for injury to health by refusal to receive one as a guest may be recovered,[4] and some courts hold that a guest wrongfully ejected from a hotel may recover damages for injury to his feelings as a result of the humiliation,[5] but other courts hold that there can be no recovery for mental anguish resulting from the humiliation, or for loss of reputation and credit.[6] Exemplary damages may be allowed when there are aggravating circumstances,[7] but not where there is no actual damage.[8] Whether or not the damages awarded are excessive depends on the circumstances of each particular case.[9]

Actions by innkeeper. An innkeeper may enforce his right to eject a guest by an action in the proper form,[10] and, in the absence of statutory regulation, general rules apply in such proceedings.[11]

§ 11. Admission of Persons Not Guests

A person who is not a guest has in general no legal right to enter or remain in an inn against the will of the innkeeper, but an invitee of a guest ordinarily may remain in the inn in the absence of reasonable restrictions or regulations to the contrary.

A person who is not a guest has in general no legal right to enter or remain in an inn against the will of the innkeeper,[12] and it has been held that, where a person has entered a public inn and his presence is disagreeable to the proprietor or his guests, the proprietor may request him to depart, and if he refuses he may be lawfully ejected by the innkeeper with the use of as much force as is reasonably necessary.[13] However, in the absence of a regulation or agreement to the contrary, and un-

97. Mont.—Jones v. Shannon, 175 P. 882, 55 Mont. 225.
Pa.—Warren v. Penn-Harris Hotel Co., 91 Pa.Super. 195.

98. Mo.—Dalzell v. Dean Hotel Co., 186 S.W. 41, 193 Mo.App. 379.

99. N.Y.—Morningstar v. Lafayette Hotel Co., 105 N.E. 656, 211 N.Y. 465, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 740.

1. Mass.—Holden v. Carraher, 81 N. E. 261, 195 Mass. 392, 11 Ann.Cas. 724.

Instructions held erroneous or properly refused

Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., App., 92 S.W.2d 961.

2. Minn.—McCarthy v. Niskern, 22 Minn. 90.

3. Del.—Le Fevre v. Crossan, 84 A. 128, 26 Del. 379.
Mont.—Jones v. Shannon, 175 P. 882, 55 Mont. 225.

4. Cal.—Willis v. McMahon, 26 P. 649, 89 Cal. 156.

5. Ark.—Stevenson v. John J. Grier Hotel Co., 251 S.W. 355, 159 Ark. 44.
N.Y.—Morningstar v. Lafayette Hotel Co., 105 N.E. 656, 211 N.Y. 465, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 740—Odom v. East Avenue Corporation, 34 N.Y.S.2d 312, 178 Misc. 363, affirmed 37 N. Y.S.2d 491, 264 App.Div. 985.
Pa.—Kral v. Coloviras, Com.Pl., 47 Dauph.Co. 279.

6. Tex.—Malin v. McCutcheon, 76 S. W. 586, 33 Tex.Civ.App. 387.

7. Minn.—McCarthy v. Niskern, 22 Minn. 90.
32 C.J. p 544 note 33.

8. Tex.—Malin v. McCutcheon, 76 S.W. 586, 33 Tex.Civ.App. 387.

9. Kan.—Lehnen v. Hines, 127 P. 612, 88 Kan. 58, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 830.
32 C.J. p 544 note 35.

10. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

Forcible detainer

Where occupants of apartment were in arrears in rent and hired a police officer to prevent removal of their property from apartment, an action for forcible detainer by owner of apartment building would not lie to secure possession of the apartment, since an action for forcible detainer may not be maintained when defendants originally entered pursuant to a contract with plaintiff.—Roberts v. Casey, supra.

11. Notice

Occupants of an apartment in an apartment building who were mere lodgers and not tenants on default in making rent payments could by appropriate proceedings in unlawful detainer be ousted from premises without requirement of any advance notice.—Roberts v. Casey, supra.

Complaint

Although complaint in action by owner of apartment building to secure possession of apartment occupied by persons in arrears in rent purported to state an action under forcible detainer statute, which action did not lie against defendant, a judgment for plaintiff would be sustained if complaint stated a good cause of action in unlawful detainer. —Roberts v. Casey, supra.

12. Del.—State v. Whitby, 5 Del. 494.

Unregistered spouse of guest

Husband not registering at hotel, but occupying wife's room, cannot recover for employee's discourtesy in requesting that he register or leave.—Warren v. Penn-Harris Hotel Co., 91 Pa.Super. 195.

13. Del.—Le Fevre v. Crossan, 89 A. 128, 26 Del. 379.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mitchel, Com. Pl., 2 Pars.Eq.Cas. 431.
32 C.J. p 545 note 52.
Liability of innkeeper to persons other than guests:
Loss of goods see infra § 18.
Personal injury see infra § 22.

Assault

Insulting language of house detective in ordering woman who was waiting for relatives in hotel lobby to leave hotel was not "assault" for which hotel would be liable in absence of language from which reasonable person might have anticipated exercise of unlawful force.—Jenkins v. Kentucky Hotel, 87 S.W. 2d 951, 261 Ky. 419.

Personal malice of agent

Hotel proprietors were not liable to licensee for humiliation, malicious prosecution, and false imprisonment

der such reasonable restrictions and regulations as the management may impose, a guest of a hotel may, as a matter of right, invite unobjectionable persons to visit him at the hotel for lawful purposes and at lawful times and they have a right to remain in the hotel.[14] Hence, under proper limitations, an innkeeper has been held bound to admit a person who actually has business with, and has been sent for by, a guest,[15] although it has also been held that an innkeeper may deny to a business rival the use of the facilities of his inn for purposes of competition even though the competitor's presence is requested by guests;[16] and one who comes merely to make a social call on a guest has no right to enter the inn and may be excluded.[17] A fortiori one who comes merely on his own business may be excluded, even though a business rival is admitted by the innkeeper,[18] but where to exclude such a person would subject the guest to a monopoly in a necessary service, the innkeeper, it seems, has no right to deprive the guest of the benefit of competition by the admission of one person and the exclusion of his rivals.[19]

§ 12. Loss of or Injury to Property

An innkeeper's liability for loss or injury to personal property is treated infra §§ 13–21.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 13. —— Liability of Innkeepers in General

a. General rule
b. Property of third persons
c. Exceptions to rule

a. General Rule

An innkeeper is liable for any loss or injury to the property of his guests caused by his own default or that of his servants or by others for whose presence in the inn he is responsible.

It is the duty of an innkeeper to keep the goods of his guests safely night and day, so that no loss shall happen through his default or that of his servants, or others for whose presence in the inn the innkeeper is responsible, and if he is guilty of any breach of this duty he is liable to the party injured for the loss sustained.[20] The criterion of liability is the right of the innkeeper to charge the guest for his entertainment,[21] and the absence or sickness of the innkeeper is no excuse for a loss.[22]

What law governs. The liability of an innkeeper for the loss of the goods of a guest is determined by the law of the country where the inn is kept.[23]

Origin and basis of rule. The rule making innkeepers liable for the loss of their guests' goods is founded on considerations of public policy for the protection of travelers against the negligence and dishonest practices of innkeepers and their servants.[24] It had its origin at an early period when highways were infested with thieves and highwaymen, with whom the innkeepers frequently colluded, and was the only means under such conditions by which protection could be afforded to travelers who had no means of knowing the neighborhood or the character of those whom they might meet at an inn.[25] suffered by licensee as result of ejection from hotel lobby by house detective who acted from personal malice and not in furtherance of hotel business.—Comfort v. Monteleone, La.App., 163 So. 670.

14. Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., App., 92 S.W.2d 961.
32 C.J. p 545 note 55.

15. N.H.—Markham v. Brown, 8 N. H. 523, 31 Am.D. 209.
32 C.J. p 545 note 56.

16. Ariz.—Champie v. Castle Hot Springs Co., 233 P. 1107, 27 Ariz. 463.

17. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mitchel, Com.Pl., 2 Pars.Eq.Cas. 431.

18. N.C.—State v. Steele, 11 S.E. 478, 106 N.C. 766, 19 Am.S.R. 573, 8 L.R.A. 516.
32 C.J. p 545 note 58.

19. N.H.—Markham v. Brown, 8 N. H. 523, 31 Am.D. 209.
32 C.J. p 545 note 60.

20. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Ky.—Cumberland Hotel Operating Co. v. Hartman, 94 S.W.2d 637, 264 Ky. 300—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 556, 206 Ky. 494, citing Corpus Juris.
La.—Babin v. Thormander, 167 So. 241.
Miss.—Todd v. Natchez-Eola Hotels Co., 157 So. 703, 171 Miss. 577.
Pa.—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.
32 C.J. p 545 note 62.

That hotels cater to common man, supplying simple accommodations, at price conceived to be within his means, has been held not to increase risk of guest or diminish proprietor's responsibility.—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121.

Guards

Hotelkeepers have a right to employ detectives and night watchmen to protect their guests against thefts.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.

21. Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.
32 C.J. p 545 note 63.

22. Pa.—Houser v. Tully, 62 Pa. 92, 1 Am.R. 390.
32 C.J. p 545 note 64.

23. Mo.—Treichlinger v. French, Lick Springs Hotel Co., 192 S.W. 101, 196 Mo.App. 686.
Tenn.—Holland v. Pack, Peck 151.

24. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121.
32 C.J. p 545 note 66.

25. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.
32 C.J. p 545 note 67.

A hotel manager is not personally liable for the loss of property from a guest's room in the absence of a showing of individual responsibility.[26]

b. Property of Third Persons

An innkeeper is not liable for the loss of, or injury to, the property of third persons in the absence of negligence.

An innkeeper is not liable for loss of, or injury to, the property of third persons in the absence of negligence.[27]

c. Exceptions to Rule

The innkeeper is not liable for losses due to acts of God or the public enemy, or the companions or servants of the guest, or for losses from inherent causes.

Losses arising from the negligence of the guest, as considered infra § 14, or from an act of God[28] or of a public enemy[29] are recognized as exceptions to the rule holding an innkeeper liable for loss of goods of a guest. However, even if the goods are injured by an excepted cause, an act of God, the innkeeper is liable if he negligently failed to provide against the loss from this cause,[30] as it has been held that the act of God must be the sole proximate cause of the damage to excuse the innkeeper.[31]

Acts of companions or servants of guest. An exception to the rule that an innkeeper is liable for the loss of property of a guest exists where the loss was caused by the acts of the servants or companions of the guest.[32]

Losses from inherent causes. An innkeeper is not liable where the loss was due to causes inherent in the property itself; as where a horse dies of disease or in consequence of its own viciousness,[33] or where perishable property becomes worthless in the natural order of things.[34]

§ 14. —— Negligence of Guest

a. In general

26. Okl.—Ketchum v. Gordon, 298 P. 605, 151 Okl. 240.

27. Tex.—Washington v. Ravel, Civ. App., 14 S.W.2d 367.

28. Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.

Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.

Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.

Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 556, 206 Ky. 494, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.

N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559—Norris v. Mischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329—Shaine v. S. Jacobson, 201 N.Y.S. 781, 121 Misc. 590.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242 and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

32 C.J. p 546 note 68.

Accidental fire see infra § 15.

The words "irresistible superhuman cause," used in a statute, are equivalent in meaning to the phrase "act of God," and refer to those natural causes the effect of which cannot be prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care, and the use of those appliances which the situation of the party renders it reasonable that he should employ.—Fay v. Pacific Impr. Co., 26 P. 1099, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188, reheard 28 P. 943, 93 Cal. 253, 27 Am.S.R. 198, 16 L.R.A. 188—32 C.J. p 546 note 68 [a].

29. Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.

Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.

Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.

Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 556, 206 Ky. 494, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.

N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559—Norris v. Manischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329—Shaine v. S. Jacobson, 201 N.Y.S. 781, 121 Misc. 590.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242 and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

32 C.J. p 546 note 69.

Robbers

The phrase "public enemy" does not include robbers.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala. App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.

30. S.D.—Scheffer v. Corson, 58 N.W. 555, 5 S.D. 233.

Unusual rainfall was held not to excuse hotelkeeper's failure to use devices to prevent damage to guest's goods by flooding of basement where exercise of reasonable care would call for the use of such devices.—Wolf Hotel Co. v. Parker, 158 N.E. 294, 87 Ind.App. 333.

31. Ind.—Wolf Hotel Co. v. Parker, 158 N.E. 294, 87 Ind.App. 333.

32. Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242 and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

32 C.J. p 547 note 2.

Agent of guest

Hotel directing guest to garage for storage of automobile and receiving fee therefor is not liable for damage to guest's automobile while it was being returned by employee of garage from place to which it had been taken for repairs requested by owner in telephone conversation with garage proprietor.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

33. Ill.—Metcalf v. Hess, 14 Ill. 129.

34. Vt.—Howe Mach. Co. v. Pease, 49 Vt. 477.

b. What constitutes
c. Degree of negligence

a. In General

An innkeeper is not liable for the loss of, or injury to, the property of a guest or third person resulting from the negligence of the guest.

Regardless of whether or not in the particular jurisdiction an innkeeper is regarded as an insurer, considered infra § 15, it is well settled that he is not liable for any loss of, or injury to, the property of a guest which was caused by the negligence of the guest himself.[35] On this general principle, where an innkeeper acts in accordance with the definite instructions of the owner, and the goods are thereby lost without negligence of the innkeeper, he is not liable.[36] However, if, subsequently to the guest's negligence, the innkeeper could have avoided the effect thereof but failed to do so, he will be responsible for the loss.[37]

Property of third persons. An innkeeper is not liable for injury to the property of third persons where it was caused by the negligence of a guest.[38]

b. What Constitutes

What constitutes negligence of a guest is a question of fact to be determined from a consideration of the circumstances of the particular case.

What constitutes negligence of the guest in any case is a question of fact, to be determined on a consideration of all the circumstances of the particular case, and an act or omission which is negligence in one case may not be so regarded in another.[39] Carelessness on the part of the guest may not be negligence in law,[40] as where it was not the cause of the loss.[41] It has been held that it is not negligence on the part of a guest to keep his money and valuables about his person, instead of depositing them with the innkeeper, in the absence of any statutory regulation or other limitation of liability binding on him;[42] to place rings in a pillow slip for the night;[43] to fail to conceal valuables from hotel employees;[44] to fail to inform the innkeeper that a package intrusted to him or his servants contains valuables;[45] to fail to give innkeeper's employees instructions as to baggage;[46] to deliver goods to a servant employed by the innkeeper to receive and keep the property of guests, instead of placing them in a checkroom provided by the innkeeper;[47] to remain out of his room all night;[48] to allow several days to pass after the innkeeper received the baggage without inquiring as to its safety;[49] to fail to request a search of a place where the missing goods might be;[50] to permit the innkeeper to place in the room with him another guest, by whom a theft is committed;[51] and a fortiori, it is not negligence where the innkeeper places another in a guest's room without the guest's permission.[52]

35. Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.
Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 483, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.
N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, reversed on other grounds 28 N.Y.S. 2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversed on other grounds 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, appeal denied 34 N.Y. S.2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559—Udell v. Hamburg-American Line, 253 N.Y.S. 209, 141 Misc. 754, affirmed 255 N.Y.S. 1011—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N. Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103.
Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242 and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.
Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.
Tex.—Driskill Hotel Co. v. Anderson, Civ.App., 19 S.W.2d 216.
32 C.J. p 546 note 72.

36. Mo.—Owens v. Geiger, 2 Mo. 39, 22 Am.D. 435.

37. Ga.—Watson v. Loughran, 38 S.E. 82, 112 Ga. 837.
32 C.J. p 546 note 74.

38. Tex.—Washington v. Ravel, Civ. App., 14 S.W.2d 367.

39. Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., 1 N.E.2d 27, 294 Mass. 75.
Tex.—Driskill Hotel Co. v. Anderson, Civ.App., 19 S.W.2d 216.
32 C.J. p 546 note 75.
Questions for jury see infra § 21.

40. N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 210 P. 104, 28 N.M. 243.

41. N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, supra.
32 C.J. p 547 note 1.

42. Minn.—Smith v. Wilson, 31 N. W. 176, 36 Minn. 334, 1 Am.S.R. 669.
32 C.J. p 546 note 76.

43. N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 210 P. 104, 28 N.M. 243.

44. Wash.—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 546 note 78.

45. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Ind.—Wolf Hotel Co. v. Parker, 158 N.E. 294, 87 Ind.App. 333.
32 C.J. p 547 note 79.

46. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.

47. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 547 note 80.

48. Pa.—Turner v. Whitaker, 9 Pa. Super. 83.

49. Ill.—Eden v. Drey, 75 Ill.App. 102.

50. Neb.—Dunbier v. Day, 12 N.W. 109, 12 Neb. 596, 41 Am.R. 772.

51. Minn.—Olson v. Crossman, 17 N.W. 375, 31 Minn. 222.

52. Ind.—Dessauer v. Baker, Wils. 429.

On the other hand, it has been held that it is such negligence as will defeat the remedy of the guest against the innkeeper if he permits a third person to exercise acts of ownership over his baggage without informing the innkeeper that he, the guest, is the owner,[53] or if he fails to comply with a notice to place valuables in the hands of the innkeeper,[54] or with reasonable regulations designed to secure the safety of his property and brought to his knowledge.[55]

Failure to lock door. The failure of the guest to lock or fasten the door of his room will not, as a matter of law, discharge the innkeeper from his liability to answer for the goods of the guest stolen from such room.[56] However, the failure of a guest to lock his door may be considered in connection with other facts and circumstances in the case in determining whether or not he was negligent.[57] It is not a duty of a guest to notify the innkeeper that the lock is out of repair,[58] and it has been held that failure to look for a bolt, after locking the door, is not negligence.[59]

Intoxication of guest. It has been held that the intoxication of a guest whose goods are stolen from the inn while he is in such condition does not relieve the innkeeper from liability for the loss so sustained,[60] but if the intoxication of the guest contributed to the loss, he is chargeable with negligence and the innkeeper is not liable.[61]

c. Degree of Negligence

Want of ordinary care on the part of the guest which proximately contributed to the loss is usually sufficient to defeat a recovery against the innkeeper.

The rule laid down by the authorities is that the want of ordinary care on the part of the guest, that is, such care as a prudent man may reasonably be expected to exercise under like circumstances, is sufficient to defeat a recovery against the innkeeper, where it appears that the guest's negligence proximately contributed to the loss, and that the loss would not otherwise have happened;[62] but the care required of the guest is not such care as will cause him personal inconvenience.[63]

§ 15. —— Nature and Extent of Liability in General

The prevailing common-law view is that an innkeeper is liable as an insurer for all the goods of a guest lost in the inn.

Different theories have been advanced as to the law governing the innkeeper's liability for the goods of his guest.[64] It has been observed as somewhat singular that on a practical question which must be as old as the rudiments of the law there should be found at the present day such diversity of opinion and decision as obtains in regard to the question under consideration,[65] and it is even more singular that the same early case should be cited as authority for both of the conflicting rules.[66]

Although modified by statutes in some jurisdictions, as considered infra § 17, the prevailing view at common law is that, like a common carrier, an innkeeper is liable absolutely, or as an insurer, for all goods of a guest lost in the inn,[67] unless the loss

53. Ill.—Kelsey v. Berry, 42 Ill. 469.
32 C.J. p 547 note 87.

54. Mass.—Widen v. Warren Hotel Co., 159 N.E. 456, 262 Mass. 41, 50 A.L.R. 313.
32 C.J. p 547 note 88.
Effect of notice generally see infra § 17.

55. Mass.—Widen v. Warren Hotel Co., 159 N.E. 456, 262 Mass. 41, 50 A.L.R. 313.
Ohio.—Fuller v. Coats, 18 Ohio St. 343.

56. W.Va.—Cunningham v. Bucky, 26 S.E. 442, 42 W.Va. 671, 57 Am.S.R. 878, 35 L.R.A. 850.
32 C.J. p 547 note 92.

57. N.Y.—Becker v. Warner, 35 N.Y.S. 739, 90 Hun 187.
32 C.J. p 547 note 93.

58. Ala.—Lanier v. Youngblood, 73 Ala. 587.

59. Mass.—Spring v. Hager, 13 N.E. 479, 145 Mass. 186, 1 Am.S.R. 451.

60. Mich.—Rubenstein v. Cruikshanks, 19 N.W. 954, 54 Mich. 199, 52 Am.R. 806.
W.Va.—Cunningham v. Bucky, 26 S.E. 442, 42 W.Va. 671, 57 Am.S.R. 878, 35 L.R.A. 850.

61. Pa.—Shultz v. Wall, 19 A. 742, 134 Pa. 262, 19 Am.S.R. 686, 8 L.R.A. 97.
32 C.J. p 547 note 91.

62. Pa.—Benjamin v. Colonial Hotel Co., 112 A. 54, 268 Pa. 459.
32 C.J. p 547 note 97.

63. Md.—Maltby v. Chapman, 25 Md. 310.

64. Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
32 C.J. p 548 note 7.
Liability as bailee to person not guest see infra § 18.

65. N.H.—Sibley v. Aldrich, 33 N.H. 553, 66 Am.D. 745.

66. Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
32 C.J. p 548 note 10.

67. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, 150 So. 693, 227 Ala. 459—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 596, 27 Ala.App. 145, quoting Corpus Juris, and certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
Mo.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 332 Mo. 749, transferred, see Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, dissenting opinion 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.
N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, reversed on other grounds 28 N.Y.S.2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversed on other grounds 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, appeal denied 34 N.Y.S.2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559—Udell v. Hamburg-American Line, 253 N.Y.S. 209, 141 Misc. 754, affirmed 255 N.Y.S. 1011—Kaplan v. Stogop Realty Co., 233 N.Y.S.

happens by an act of God or a public enemy, considered supra § 13, or by the fault or negligence of the guest himself, considered supra § 14. The logical consequence of the rule holding innkeepers absolutely liable as insurers is that no distinction is to be made between losses happening from internal causes, such as thefts by other guests or by servants, and those which result from external causes, such as burglary and robbery,[68] or accidental fire.[69] However, in some jurisdictions, sometimes by virtue of statutory provisions, the rule as to the liability of the innkeeper for losses arising from an accidental fire has been changed so that the innkeeper is no longer liable for property lost by a fire occasioned by unavoidable casualty or superior force and without any fault or negligence on the part of the innkeeper or his servants.[70]

The minority view is that an innkeeper is responsible only if he is negligent. He owes the highest possible degree of care to his guest, but if he has been as careful as possible, and the goods have been lost or injured without his fault, he is not liable.[71]

§ 16. —— Property Covered

As a general rule, the innkeeper's liability extends to all personal property brought by the guest to the inn.

The general rule is that the innkeeper's liability is not confined to goods of any particular kind, but extends to all personal property brought by the guest to the inn.[72] An innkeeper's liability has been held not limited, like that of a carrier of passengers, to that species of property which comes under the denomination of baggage;[73] and where the guest seeks to recover for the loss of "baggage," the term is construed as not necessarily confined to articles of clothing[74] or such articles as are ordinarily used by travelers stopping at hotels as guests.[75] Thus the liability of the innkeeper extends to horses,[76] automobiles,[77] a peddler's stock of goods,[78] and to merchandise carried to an inn by a guest,[79] but not 113, 133 Misc. 611—Norris v. Manischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329—Shaine v. S. Jacobson, 201 N.Y.S. 781, 121 Misc. 590.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

Wash.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264.

32 C.J. p 548 note 12.

This prevailing rule has been stated in cases from jurisdictions not adhering thereto.

La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 142 So. 263, 175 La. 278.

Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 893, 164 Md. 620, quoting Corpus Juris.

Safety of premises

The innkeeper is bound to provide safe premises and is absolutely liable if the goods of a guest are injured by a defect in the premises.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360—32 C. J. p 549 note 21.

68. Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 596, 27 Ala.App. 145, citing Corpus Juris, and certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.

32 C.J. p 549 note 16.

69. Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242 and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

32 C.J. p 549 note 17.

Accidental fire not act of God

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242, and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

32 C.J. p 549 note 17 [a].

70. Mass.—Weiser v. Lane, 138 N.E. 391, 244 Mass. 340.

32 C.J. p 549 notes 18, 19.

Limitation of liability by statute generally see infra § 17 c.

71. Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 893, 164 Md. 620, quoting Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davison, Com.App., 23 S.W.2d 708, 712, citing Corpus Juris, and reversing Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davidson, Civ. App., 12 S.W.2d 633.

32 C.J. p 549 note 20.

Care of ordinarily prudent person

Although hotelkeeper must exercise high degree of care and diligence in protecting guests' property, exercise thereof is merely "ordinary care," and hotelkeeper is liable for loss of guest's property only if guilty of "negligence" consisting in omission to exercise care which an ordinarily prudent person would use. —Dallas Hotel Co. v. Raitman, Tex. Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 943.

72. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 482, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242, and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.

Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

32 C.J. p 550 note 23.

Property covered by statutory limitation of liability see infra § 17.

73. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.

N.Y.—Van Wyck v. Howard, 12 How. Pr. 147.

74. Tex.—Zeiger v. Woodson, Civ. App., 202 S.W. 164.

75. Tex.—Zeiger v. Woodson, supra.

76. Tenn.—Dickerson v. Rogers, 4 Humphr. 179, 40 Am.D. 642.

77. Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

Hotel furnishing parking space for guests' convenience was bound to use ordinary care for safety of guest's automobile, and such duty extended to attendant in charge of parking lot.—Todd v. Natchez-Eola Hotels Co., 157 So. 703, 171 Miss. 577.

78. Me.—Cohen v. Manuel, 39 A. 1030, 91 Me. 274, 64 Am.S.R. 225, 40 L.R.A. 491.

Mich.—Rubenstein v. Cruikshanks, 19 N.W. 954, 54 Mich. 199, 52 Am.R. 806.

79. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.

Okl.—Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Thom, 257 P. 314, 125 Okl. 239, followed in Busby Hotel & Theatre to merchandise exhibited for sale at an inn, in a room under the exclusive control of the guest, as considered infra § 19. Also, it has been held that the liability of the innkeeper includes money,[80] and is not limited to an amount necessary for traveling expenses.[81] However, it has been held that the liability of an innkeeper in the respect under consideration, extends only to the baggage of his guests, and that the term "baggage" includes only articles for the personal convenience and use of the traveler.[82]

§ 17. —— Limitation of Liability

a. By rules and notices generally
b. By contract
c. By statute

a. By Rules and Notices Generally

An innkeeper may limit his liability for the goods of his guest by promulgating just and reasonable rules which, when actually brought to the notice of the guest, will debar a recovery in the event the guest has not complied with them.

An innkeeper has a right to make such just and reasonable rules and regulations in the management of his inn as will more effectually secure the property of his guests and operate as a protection to himself,[83] and, by giving notice of such rules to the guests, may require the latter to conform thereto.[84] Actual notice to a guest, given by an innkeeper, to the effect that he will be liable for the guest's effects only to a certain extent, or on certain conditions, is binding on the guest;[85] but, in the absence of statutory authority, an innkeeper cannot limit his liability by a general, public, or constructive notice,[86] not brought to the guest's knowledge,[87] such as a notice posted in the room of the guest,[88] or on the wall of the hotel,[89] or printed on the hotel register.[90]

The commonest rule enforced is that valuable packages must be left at the office to be placed in the safe. So far as this may reasonably be required of a guest, failure by the guest to observe it will exonerate the innkeeper from liability for the goods.[91] However, the notice is effective only as to property which can conveniently be left in the safe and not as to property which the guest needs to keep by him; if applied to such property, it would be unreasonable.[92] Thus, clothing and articles of daily use are not covered by the notice.[93] Reasonable notice of the rule must be given to the guest;[94] and the terms of the notice must be construed strictly,[95] it being necessary that the notice or request, whether made orally or in the form of a printed notice brought to the attention of the guest, should be so clear and unmistakable in its terms as to leave room for no reasonable doubt as to what is intended.[96] Thus a notice that "valuables" must be put in the safe has been held not to extend to money,[97] or to certain other property.[98]

Effect of compliance. If the guest complies with the notice, the common-law liability of the innkeeper is unaffected.[99]

b. By Contract

An innkeeper may specially contract with his guests for a limited liability with regard to their effects.

An innkeeper may specially contract with his guests for a limited liability with regard to the guests' effects,[1] as by stipulating to receive goods,

Co. v. Hardin, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242, and Busby Hotel & Theatre Co. v. Hall, 257 P. 317, 125 Okl. 242.
32 C.J. p 550 note 30.

80. Ala.—Watkins v. Hotel Tutwiler Co., 76 So. 302, 200 Ala. 386, L.R.A. 1917F 834.
32 C.J. p 550 note 32.

81. Minn.—Smith v. Wilson, 31 N.W. 176, 36 Minn. 334, 1 Am.S.R. 669.
32 C.J. p 550 note 33.

82. Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
32 C.J. p 550 note 35.
Rule analogous to carrier's liability with respect to the baggage of passengers applied.—Pettigrew v. Barnum, 11 Md. 434, 69 Am.D. 212.

83. Mass.—Widen v. Warren Hotel Co., 159 N.E. 456, 262 Mass. 41, 50 A.L.R. 313.
N.Y.—Van Wyck v. Howard, 12 How. Pr. 147.

84. Ill.—Palas v. Harvey Room Co., 211 Ill.App. 580.

85. W.Va.—Nesben v. Jackson, 109 S.E. 489, 89 W.Va. 470.
32 C.J. p 551 note 43.
Statutory notices see infra subdivision c (2) of this section.

86. N.Y.—Stanton v. Leland, 4 E.D. Smith 88.

87. Ill.—Palas v. Harvey Room Co., 211 Ill.App. 580.

88. Iowa.—Bodwell v. Bragg, 29 Iowa 232.
32 C.J. p 551 note 47.

89. Ill.—Palas v. Harvey Room Co., 211 Ill.App. 580.

90. N.Y.—Bernstein v. Sweeny, 33 N.Y.Super. 271.

91. N.Y.—Stanton v. Leland, 4 E.D.Smith 88.
Ohio.—Fuller v. Coats, 18 Ohio St. 343.

92. Tenn.—Maxwell Operating Co. v. Harper, 200 S.W. 515, 138 Tenn. 640, L.R.A.1918C 672.
32 C.J. p 551 note 54.

93. Tenn.—Maxwell Operating Co. v. Harper, supra.
32 C.J. p 551 note 54.

94. Ala.—Lanier v. Youngblood, 73 Ala. 587.
32 C.J. p 551 note 55.

95. Ky.—Packard v. Northcraft, 2 Metc. 439.
32 C.J. p 551 note 56.

96. N.Y.—Van Wyck v. Howard, 12 How.Pr. 147.

97. N.Y.—Stanton v. Leland, 4 E.D. Smith 88.

98. Mineral specimens
Colo.—Brown Hotel Co. v. Burckhardt, 56 P. 188, 13 Colo.App. 59.

99. Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.
32 C.J. p 551 note 60.

1. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, 150 So. 693, 698, 227 Ala. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
Vt.—McDaniels v. Robinson, 26 Vt. 316, 62 Am.D. 574.

to keep with or without reward, as a common bailee.[2] However, a stipulation which is unreasonable and unsupported by a consideration,[3] or one that is contrary to public policy,[4] has been held void.

c. By Statute

(1) In general
(2) Mode of effecting limitation
(3) Extent of limitation and application of statutes

(1) In General

In many jurisdictions statutes have been enacted with respect to the liability of innkeepers for the effects of their guests, some of them merely declaratory of the common law and others modifying it by limiting or prescribing a mode of limiting the innkeeper's liability.

While, in the absence of statutory regulation, an innkeeper's liability depends on common-law principles,[5] in many jurisdictions statutes have been enacted with respect to the liability of innkeepers for the effects of their guests.[6] It has been said generally that they impose no new burden on the innkeeper and were enacted for his benefit.[7] Some of these statutes, or at least certain provisions thereof, are merely declaratory of the common law,[8] while others modify the common-law rule by limiting, or by prescribing a mode of limiting, the liability of an innkeeper.[9] A provision that is very common permits innkeepers to provide a place of safe deposit, and to require guests to place there money and other articles of a nature calculated to tempt dishonest persons, and easy to remove without detection, thus giving innkeepers the right to make their liability as insurers conditional on actual custody in certain cases.[10]

Strict construction. In so far as statutes of this nature are in derogation of the common law, they are to be strictly construed.[11]

2. Vt.—McDaniels v. Robinson, supra.

3. Tenn.—Maxwell Operating Co. v. Harper, 200 S.W. 515, 138 Tenn. 640, L.R.A.1918C 672.
32 C.J. p 551 note 63.

4. Okl.—Oklahoma City Hotel Co. v. Levine, 116 P.2d 997, 189 Okl. 331.

Owner's risk

A stipulation on a baggage check that the property is left at the owner's risk cannot relieve an innkeeper against his own negligence or that of his agents and servants.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Richardson, Tex.Civ. App., 276 S.W. 765.

5. Ind.—Bowell v. De Wald, 28 N.E. 430, 2 Ind.App. 303, 50 Am.S.R. 240.
N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103.

6. U.S.—Fisher v. Kelsey, Mo., 7 S. Ct. 929, 121 U.S. 383, 30 L.Ed. 930.
N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 210 P. 104, 28 N.M. 243.
32 C.J. p 551 note 64.

7. La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.
Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davison, Com.App., 23 S.W.2d 708, reversing Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davidson, Civ. App., 12 S.W.2d 633—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Raitman, Civ.App., 59 S.W. 2d 943.

Purpose of statute

(1) Purpose of statutes relating to liability of innkeepers for property of guests was to relieve innkeepers of burden of common-law liability, to limit liability in absence of special contract, and to provide a method by which innkeeper may relieve himself from liability as a depositary for hire for guest's articles of unusual value.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, Cal.App., 140 P.2d 698.

(2) The statute was intended to create mutual and reciprocal duties and rights between hotelkeeper and his guests and to maintain a fair and reasonable balance of protection to both.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

8. Okl.—Abercrombie v. Edwards, 161 P. 1084, 62 Okl. 54.
32 C.J. p 551 note 66.

9. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338.
32 C.J. p 551 note 67.

Robbery and violence

Under some statutes an innkeeper is not responsible for theft by force and arms or with exterior breaking open of doors or by any extraordinary violence.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.

Depositary for hire

(1) In some jurisdictions the liability of an innkeeper has been changed from that of insurer to that of a depositary for hire.
Ark.—Andrews v. Southwestern Hotel Co., 44 S.W.2d 675, 184 Ark. 982.
Cal.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, App., 140 P.2d 698—Muehlebach v. Paso Robles Springs Hotel, 225 P. 19, 65 Cal.App. 634—Hummingbird v. Schurich, 68 P.2d 319, 24 Cal.App. 2d Supp. 757.
Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.

(2) Where defendant hotel company was not guilty of negligence with regard to loss of jewelry by guests, defendant as bailee for hire of personal property could not be charged with loss of the jewelry, but as to loss of money stolen from room of guests, hotel company was held subject to common-law liability as insurer, notwithstanding its freedom from negligence, where the statute limiting innkeeper's liability to that of depositary or bailee for hire as to personal property expressly excluded money.—Baxter v. Shanley-Furness Co., 226 P. 391, 193 Cal. 558.

10. N.Y.—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
32 C.J. p 551 note 68.

Formal demand for return

Innkeeper waived formal demand for return of guest's property deposited in hotel safe by stating, in response to inquiry, that he could not comply with demand because of robbery.—Davis v. Cohen, 235 N.W. 173, 253 Mich. 330.

11. Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.
Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 481, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042, citing Corpus Juris.
Mich.—Davis v. Cohen, 235 N.W. 173, 253 Mich. 330.
Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.Y.—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384,

(2) Mode of Effecting Limitation

Some statutes create a limitation of liability without requiring any act to be done by the innkeeper, others stipulate certain requirements with which he must strictly comply before he may invoke the limitation.

In some jurisdictions the statutes, or statutes which were formerly in force, create a limitation of liability, at least as to certain property, without requiring any act to be done by the innkeepers,[12] as by providing that they shall not be liable for losses sustained by the guests, unless the guests deliver or offer to deliver such property to them for safe custody,[13] or unless the guests give written notice of the property in their possession.[14]

In other jurisdictions, or in the same jurisdictions with respect to other property, it is provided that, in order to effect a limitation of liability, the innkeeper shall provide a secure place of deposit for valuables, and post notices to the guests to leave their effects with him for safe-keeping.[15] In order to be relieved of his common-law liability a literal compliance by the innkeeper with the statutes is generally held necessary.[16] This is true not only as to providing the iron safe required,[17] or suitable locks and bolts on the doors of the rooms,[18] but also as to giving all notices required by the statute exactly as provided.[19] Thus, when the notice is required to be printed "in ordinary sized plain English type," printing it in very small type is not enough,[20] even if the guest could just as easily have read it.[21] Also, the omission of a material portion of the statute will render the notice ineffectual to protect the innkeeper.[22]

171 Misc. 338—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
32 C.J. p 552 note 70.

12. U.S.—Ely v. Charellen Corporation, C.C.A.Fla., 120 F.2d 984.
32 C.J. p 552 notes 72, 73.

13. U.S.—Ely v. Charellen Corporation, supra
Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.
32 C.J. p 552 note 72.

14. U.S.—Hagerstrom v. Brainard Hotel Corporation, C.C.A.N.Y., 45 F.2d 130.
32 C.J. p 552 note 73.

15. Mass.—Widen v. Warren Hotel Co., 159 N.E. 456, 262 Mass. 41, 50 A.L.R. 313.
N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 552 note 74.

Extension of common-law principle

These statutes, by providing for constructive notice, extend the common-law principle whereby the guest is bound by actual notice of a requirement of the deposit of valuables in the office or safe of the hotel.—Nesben v. Jackson, 109 S.E. 489, 89 W.Va. 470.

16. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., C.C.A.N.J., 55 F.2d 829.
Ala.—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.
Cal.—Baxter v. Shanley-Furness Co., 226 P. 391, 193 Cal. 558—Cline v. Dimmick, 255 P. 213, 214, 82 Cal. App. 155, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 552 note 76.

17. Cal.—Cline v. Dimmick, 255 P. 213, 214, 82 Cal.App. 155, quoting Corpus Juris.
Neb.—Dunbier v. Day, 12 N.W. 109, 12 Neb. 596, 41 Am.R. 772.

Type of safe

It has been held that an innkeeper is not obliged to furnish individual lock boxes for his guests, nor is it necessary that the "iron chest or other safe deposit" be burglar proof.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.

18. Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davison, Com.App., 23 S.W.2d 708, reversing Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davidson, Civ.App., 12 S.W.2d 633.

Suitability of both

The law leaves to the hotelkeeper the choice of selecting either a suitable lock or bolt for the doors of the sleeping rooms; and if he elects to place a lock and a bolt on the door, they should both be suitable for that purpose.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davison, supra.

19. N.Y.—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, reversing 28 N.Y.S.2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversing 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, and appeal denied 34 N.Y.S.2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103.
Wash.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 552 note 78.

Contra under particular statute

Under a statute providing that in no event shall liability attach to the innkeeper for the loss of jewelry unless deposit thereof is made with the hotel and a receipt taken, it was held that the innkeeper was not liable for loss of a guest's jewelry, not so deposited, even though the innkeeper was negligent, and this notwithstanding another provision of the statute requiring the innkeeper to post in each room reasonable rules and regulations for the management of the hotel, and a copy of the first-mentioned provision.—Ely v. Charellen Corporation, C.C.A.Fla., 120 F.2d 984.

Sufficiency of notice

(1) Hotel company's posted notice, "Positively not responsible for any valuables unless left at hotel office," was held not in compliance with a statute requiring innkeeper to post notice that he will not be liable for property unless placed in fireproof safe.—Baxter v. Shanley-Furness Co., 226 P. 391, 193 Cal. 558.

(2) Hotelkeeper's notice of nonliability, which did not specify furs, was held not to relieve him of liability for fur cape.—Cline v. Dimmick, 255 P. 213, 82 Cal.App. 155.

20. Mo.—Porter v. Gilkey, 57 Mo. 235.

21. Mo.—Porter v. Gilkey, supra.

22. N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855—Epp v. Bowman-Bilt-

There must be strict compliance with the statute with regard to the place of posting such notice,[23] and where the statute requires the notice to be posted in the rooms or in the office, printing it on the hotel register has been held insufficient.[24]

Actual notice to a guest, that a safe has been provided for keeping the effects of guests and that the innkeeper will not be responsible for their loss unless deposited therein, is usually considered equivalent to the statutory notice by posting,[25] but there is authority to the contrary.[26]

(3) Extent of Limitation and Application of Statutes

(a) In general

(b) Property covered

(c) Amount of liability

(a) In General

Notwithstanding the innkeeper's compliance with statutes relating to limitation of liability, he remains liable as at common law where the guest complies with the statutory requirements; and even though a guest fails to comply therewith, the innkeeper is ordinarily liable for a loss caused by the default or negligence of himself or his servants.

Notwithstanding the existence of a statute providing for limitation of liability, and compliance by the innkeeper therewith, he remains liable as at common law, unless the statute provides otherwise, where the guest placed the property in question in the custody of the innkeeper as required by the statute and notice given in pursuance thereof,[27] or where, although the guest failed to deposit the property with the innkeeper, the failure was not the cause of the loss,[28] or where the innkeeper waived the requirement of the statute,[29] unless the waiver was made in ignorance of the contents of the package offered for deposit.[30] Also the innkeeper remains under his common-law liability until a reasonable time has elapsed for depositing the goods.[31]

Although the exemption ceases when the goods are packed for departure and the innkeeper is so informed,[32] it has been held that the statute does not exempt the innkeeper from liability when the guest places jewelry in a trunk in his room preparatory to his departure on the following morning,[33] and previous neglect to place the jewelry in the hotel safe does not affect the right of recovery.[34]

Negligence of innkeeper. Although, under some statutes, an innkeeper has been held relieved from liability, at least as to certain property, even where more Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338.

32 C.J. p 552 note 83.

23. N.Y.—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, supra.
Wash.—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.

Door of each room

Where the notice is to be posted on the doors, it must be posted on the door of every room occupied by a guest.—Lanier v. Youngblood, 73 Ala. 587—32 C.J. p 552 note 79.

Public place

(1) A hotel office which was not wholly separate and apart from the lobby and the interior of which was open to public view was a "public place" within a statute requiring innkeepers who provide a safe for safekeeping of guests' valuables to post a notice thereof in three or more public places.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

(2) Posting of statute, exempting hotel from liability for loss of valuables if hotel posted notices in three or more public rooms that valuables might be left in safe, in back of hotel office where it could not be read by guests, did not comply with statute.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264.

24. N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.
Wash.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 552 note 80.

To post, within the statute, means to nail, attach, affix, or otherwise fasten up physically and to display in a conspicuous manner and not theoretically, and a posting is not made by printing or recording a notice in a book or on a card and keeping it on a desk.—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 171 Misc. 338.

25. Pa.—Shultz v. Wall, 19 A. 742, 134 Pa. 262, 19 Am.S.R. 686, 8 L.R.A. 97.
32 C.J. p 552 note 84.

26. Ala.—Lanier v. Youngblood, 73 Ala. 587—Johnston v. Mobile Hotel Co., 167 So. 595, 27 Ala.App. 145, certiorari denied 167 So. 596, 232 Ala. 175.
Wash.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264.

27. Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.
32 C.J. p 552 note 85.

Ordinary negligence

Under statute restricting liability of hotelkeeper as bailee of guests' valuables, for safekeeping, to cases where loss or destruction of the guests' articles is caused by theft or gross negligence of the hotelkeeper, or his employees, the rule of ordinary negligence does not apply.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

28. Mass.—Burbank v. Chapin, 2 N.E. 934, 140 Mass. 123.
32 C.J. p 552 note 86.

29. N.Y.—Friedman v. Breslin, 65 N.Y.S. 5, 51 App.Div. 268, affirmed 61 N.E. 1129, 169 N.Y. 574.

Authority of clerk

Hotel clerk acting within employment binds proprietor, but he has been held not authorized to waive a regulation regarding disposition of baggage to as a guest familiar with the regulation.—Widen v. Warren Hotel Co., 159 N.E. 456, 262 Mass. 41, 50 A.L.R. 313.

30. N.Y.—Bendetson v. French, 46 N.Y. 266, reversing 44 Barb. 31.

31. U.S.—Becker v. Haynes, C.C. Mass., 29 F. 441.
N.Y.—Rosenplaenter v. Roessle, 54 N.Y. 262.

32. Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 814, 143 Neb. 404, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Bendetson v. French, 46 N.Y. 266, reversing 44 Barb. 31.

33. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., C.C.A.N.J., 55 F.2d 829.

34. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., supra.

he has been negligent,[35] ordinarily an innkeeper by complying with the statute on the subject does not relieve himself from all liability for the safety of the goods of his guests, if they fail to place them in his actual custody, but only from his liability as an insurer;[36] he is still liable for a loss caused by the default or negligence of himself or his servants.[37] Indeed, a statute regulating or limiting the liability of an innkeeper is not applicable where the guest bases his cause of action solely on the negligence of the innkeeper in keeping property deposited with him and not on his common-law liability as an insurer.[38]

Compliance by guest. In order to hold the innkeeper liable under common-law principles, a guest must comply with the provisions of the statute.[39] It has been held that a guest does not comply with the statutes, even though he hands property to the innkeeper, unless he expressly makes the delivery for the purpose of deposit in the safe.[40] It has also been held that the innkeeper should be given such notice of the character of the property that he may know that it is valuable;[41] and that the mere appearance of the baggage deposited is not sufficient to put the innkeeper on notice as to its valuable nature.[42] While, in the absence of a request, it has been held that there is no obligation on the guest to state the monetary value of the goods deposited,[43] where money was deposited without disclosure of the amount by a guest in a box in a hotel safe removable by the use of two keys, one held by the guest and the other by the hotel, it was held that the liability of the innkeeper could not exceed the statutory limit.[44]

Particular innkeepers. The statutes are usually made applicable to all innkeepers,[45] but in some instances they are not so comprehensive.[46]

(b) Property Covered

The statutes providing for limitation of liability usually specify property of such a kind as to be especially liable to theft while preserving the common-law rule with reference to ordinary baggage and wearing apparel.

The statutes providing for a limitation of liability usually specify property of such a kind or character as to be peculiarly subject to loss by theft or otherwise, such as money, jewelry, ornaments, precious stones, articles of gold or silver manufacture, or other valuable articles,[47] although sometimes property of all kinds, with certain exceptions, is declared to be within the statute;[48] and when the statute specifically names the kinds of property with respect to which the innkeeper may limit his liability, the court cannot, in any case, extend it to other articles,[49] because the statutes, being in derogation of

35. U.S.—Ely v. Charellen Corporation, C.C.A.Fla., 120 F.2d 984.
32 C.J. p 552 note 91.

36. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76—Hall v. Hotel Sherman Co., 236 Ill.App. 386.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 814, 143 Neb. 404, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 552 note 92.

37. Cal.—Muehlebach v. Paso Robles Springs Hotel, 225 P. 19, 65 Cal. App. 634.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 814, 143 Neb. 404, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
32 C.J. p 552 note 93.

38. La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 814, 143 Neb. 404, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Shaine v. S. Jacobson, Inc., 201 N.Y.S. 781, 121 Misc. 590.
32 C.J. p 553 note 94.

39. Delivery within statute
Delivery of locked case of jewelry was sufficient delivery of jewelry to render innkeeper liable for loss. —Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.

40. Cal.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, App., 140 P.2d 698.
Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.
Mo.—Horton v. Terminal Hotel & Arcade Co., 89 S.W. 363, 114 Mo. App. 357.

41. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.

42. Cal.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, App., 140 P.2d 698.

43. Conn.—Stoll v. Almon C. Judd Co., 138 A. 479, 106 Conn. 551, 53 A.L.R. 1042.

44. N.Y.—Norris v. Manischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329.

45. La.—Murray v. Hagens, App., 143 So. 505.

46. Ala.—Lanier v. Youngblood, 73 Ala. 587.
32 C.J. p 553 note 98.

47. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.Y.—Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855, modified on other grounds Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App. Div. 594, affirmed 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290.
32 C.J. p 553 note 99.

Camera
Whether an expensive camera was a valuable article required to be left by guest for deposit in safe in order to render hotel liable for loss depends on peculiar facts of each case. —Ketchum v. Gordon, 298 P. 605, 151 Okl. 240.

48. U.S.—Becker v. Haynes, C.C. Mass., 29 F. 441.
Mass.—Weiser v. Lane, 138 N.E. 391.
32 C.J. p 553 note 1.

49. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.Y.—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121.
32 C.J. p 553 note 2.

Automobiles
The statute limiting an innkeeper's liability for guests' jewelry and other small and valuable articles to be kept in a safe or in the guest's room has no relation whatever to the safe care of automobiles, and hence the failure to post a copy of the statute as prescribed therein cannot be availed of by a guest to fasten liability on defendant.—Andrews v.

the common law, are to be construed strictly, as shown supra subdivision c (1) of this section.

With few exceptions, statutes regulating the liability of innkeepers for the property of their guests have practically preserved the common-law rule with reference to ordinary baggage and wearing apparel.[50] In some instances the statutes providing for a limitation of liability expressly except personal baggage, money necessary for immediate or traveling expenses, and articles of personal use,[51] and it is held that a reasonable amount of money for traveling expenses, and articles of personal use and convenience, although within the terms of the statute, are not within its spirit, and that a guest by retaining such articles in his own possession, instead of depositing them with the innkeeper, does not absolve the innkeeper from his common-law liability.[52] On the other hand it is held that the statutes apply to all the property of the kind designated, without exception of such amounts or articles as a guest may require for his traveling expenses or personal convenience.[53] If a guest sees fit to retain his money on his person or in his room he does so at his own risk in the absence of actual negligence on the part of the hotel.[54]

Watch. There is a conflict of authority on the question whether a watch comes within the statutes limiting the liability of an innkeeper and not specifically mentioning or excepting a watch. It has been held not within the statutes specifying valuable articles,[55] nor, except in a few jurisdictions,[56] is it within a statute specifying jewels and ornaments.[57] It has been held to be within a statute specifying articles of gold and silver manufacture;[58] but there is authority to the contrary.[59]

(c) Amount of Liability

In some jurisdictions the statutes limit the amount for which an innkeeper may be held liable.

In many jurisdictions the statutes limit the amount for which an innkeeper may be held liable, and this is true notwithstanding the property has been delivered to the innkeeper for safe-keeping.[60] Although, sometimes by virtue of express statutory exception, where the goods of a guest are lost through the negligence of the innkeeper, the limitation as to amount does not apply and the guest may recover the full amount of his loss,[61] under other statutes it has been held that the limitation as to the amount applies even to losses caused by the negligence of the innkeeper or his employees[62] and to a theft by an employee,[63] but does not apply to a theft by the innkeeper.[64] Although an innkeeper

Southwestern Hotel Co., 44 S.W.2d 675, 184 Ark. 982.

50. Ohio.—Palace Hotel Co. v. Medart, 100 N.E. 317, 87 Ohio St. 130, Ann.Cas.1913E 860.

51. U.S.—Becker v. Haynes, C.C. Mass., 29 F. 441.
32 C.J. p 553 note 5.

52. Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
32 C.J. p 553 note 6.

Wearing apparel
Pa.—Franchinia v. Palumbo, 79 Pa. Super. 234—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa. Dist. & Co. 6.

53. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
32 C.J. p 553 note 7.

54. Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 143 Neb. 404—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.

55. Ga.—Murchison v. Sergent, 69 Ga. 206, 47 Am.R. 754.

56. Tenn.—Rains v. Maxwell House Co., 79 S.W. 114, 112 Tenn. 219, 64 L.R.A. 470, 2 Ann.Cas. 488.

57. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
32 C.J. p 553 note 10.

Diamond studded watch
Watch ornamented with diamonds but primarily article of daily use was held not a "jewel" or "ornament" within statute relieving innkeeper from liability for loss of money, jewels, or ornaments where guest neglects to deposit such valuables in innkeeper's safe, notwithstanding the watch could not be safely worn on day of loss because of broken clasp. —Kennedy v. Bowman Biltmore Hotel Corporation, 283 N.Y.S. 900, 157 Misc. 416.

58. Ohio.—Lang v. Arcade Hotel Co., 9 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 372, 12 Cinc. L.Bul. 253.
Wis.—Steward v. Parsons, 24 Wis. 241.

59. Mich.—Weadock v. Swart, 128 N.W. 734, 163 Mich. 602, Ann.Cas. 1912A 959.

60. La.—Connecticut Fire Ins. Co. v. Hotel Grunewald Caterers, Inc., 8 La.App. 479.
Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.Y.—Norris v. Manischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 553 note 13.

Amount for each container
Statute limiting innkeeper's liability to certain amounts for each container refers to container as a single piece of baggage at time of loss.—Cline v. Dimmick, 255 P. 213, 82 Cal. App. 155.

61. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76—Hall v. Hotel Sherman Co., 236 Ill.App. 386.
32 C.J. p 553 note 14.

62. Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

63. N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

64. N.Y.—Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290, affirming 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, which modified Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

Proceeds of theft by employee
The statute limiting liability was not intended to allow a hotel to keep money of a guest in excess of the statutory limitation stolen by an employee and used by him to repay the hotel for his defalcations.—In re may not be obliged to accept for deposit from a guest property whose value exceeds the statutory limitation,[65] he may, under some statutes, specially contract for a liability greater than the statutory one.[66] An innkeeper receiving a package without a notice of value and without a request for a special agreement may assume that he is only undertaking the statutory liability.[67]

§ 18. —— Relationship of Innkeeper and Guest

a. In general
b. Liability as bailee

a. In General

The liability of an innkeeper, as such, for the loss of, or injury to, property ordinarily depends on the existence of the relation of innkeeper and guest at the time the loss or injury occurred.

Unless an innkeeper has by a special contract with a person who is not strictly a guest consented to assume the responsibility of an innkeeper for property deposited with him,[68] the extraordinary liability of an innkeeper, as such, for the loss of, or injury to, property depends on the existence of the relation of innkeeper and guest at the time the loss or injury occurred; it cannot be imposed in any case where the relation of innkeeper and guest never existed,[69] or where, at the time of loss, the owner of the goods did not intend to become a guest and did not in fact become one until after the loss,[70] or where the relation had been terminated before the loss occurred,[71] unless the loss occurred before the expiration of such a period of time as was reasonable under the circumstances for the removal of the goods.[72]

However, the requirement that the relation of innkeeper and guest must have existed at the time of the loss, in order to render the innkeeper subject to the extraordinary liability, does not mean that the actual owner of the property lost must have been a guest. If it is taken to the inn by the agent or servant of the owner, and such agent or servant is the guest of the innkeeper, the owner may enforce the innkeeper's liability, as considered infra § 21. Neither is it implied that the guest must have actually been in the inn at the time of the loss or injury. If he was a guest at the time, although temporarily absent, the innkeeper is liable,[73] and as long as the guest is actually on the premises the liability of the innkeeper continues, although the guest has paid his bill and is in the act of departing.[74]

b. Liability as Bailee

Where the relation of innkeeper and guest does not exist, the responsibility of an innkeeper for the safekeeping of the property of another is that of a bailee and his liability is governed by the rules applicable to bailments generally.

Where the relation of innkeeper and guest does not exist at the time, the responsibility of an innkeeper for the safekeeping of the property of another in his possession is that of a bailee[75] either

Brainard Hotel Co., C.C.A.N.Y., 75 F.2d 481.

65. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.

66. Consent or agreement in writing
(1) A brass baggage check given by bellboy to a hotel guest for luggage containing valuable jewelry was not a "consent in writing" by hotelkeeper to assume greater than statutory liability for loss of luggage, within the statute limiting liability unless the hotelkeeper consents in writing to a greater liability.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, 140 P.2d 698, 60 Cal.App.2d 338.
(2) Hotel clerk's statement that key to box constituted receipt for guest's money was held not a "special agreement in writing" within the statute.—Norris v. Manischewitz Broadway Central Hotel, 221 N.Y.S. 363, 129 Misc. 329.

67. N.Y.—Millheiser v. Beau-Site Co., 223 N.Y.S. 733, 129 Misc. 855, modified on other grounds Millhiser v. Beau-Site Co., 231 N.Y.S. 549, 224 App.Div. 594, affirmed 167 N.E. 447, 251 N.Y. 290.

68. Vt.—McDaniels v. Robinson, 26 Vt. 316, 62 Am.D. 574.

69. Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
La.—Murray v. Hagens, App., 143 So. 505—Sherburne v. Hotel Grunewald Caterers Co., 120 So. 269, 9 La.App. 748.
Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.
N.Y.—Kaplan v. Stogop Realty Co., 233 N.Y.S. 113, 133 Misc. 611—Mason v. Hotel Grand Union, 41 N.Y.S.2d 309.
Wash.—Smith v. Dorchester Hotel Co., 259 P. 1085, 145 Wash. 344.
32 C.J. p 554 notes 16, 17.
What constitutes, and duration of, relation of innkeeper and guest see supra § 3.

When liability arises
The liability of the innkeeper as such begins at the moment when the relation of guest and host arises.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.

70. Minn.—Parker v. Dixon, 157 N.W. 583, 132 Minn. 367, L.R.A.1916E 534, Ann.Cas.1918A 540.

71. La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 103 So. 188, 157 La. 849.
N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.
Okl.—Keisel v. Reynolds, 244 P. 1104, 125 Okl. 295.
32 C.J. p 554 note 19.

Departure without paying bill
La.—Bichard v. Lidel, 119 So. 444, 10 La.App. 6.
32 C.J. p 554 note 19 [b].

72. Cal.—Pawn v. Wall, 264 P. 268, 88 Cal.App. 597.
32 C.J. p 554 note 20.

73. N.Y.—McDonald v. Edgerton, 5 Barb. 560.

74. N.Y.—Seymour v. Cook, 53 Barb. 451, 35 How.Pr. 180.

75. La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 103 So. 188, 157 La. 849.—

with[76] or without[77] reward. This is true where goods are received by the innkeeper for the guest after the relation has terminated and the guest has departed,[78] even though the innkeeper may have agreed while the guest was at the inn to receive and forward the goods.[79] As bailee, the innkeeper is liable if the goods are lost by neglect of due care on his part,[80] or by misdelivery.[81]

In accordance with the rules governing bailments generally, an innkeeper who is deemed to be a gratuitous bailee is liable only for a loss occasioned by gross negligence[82] or fraud[83] on his part; but a higher degree of responsibility rests on him where he is deemed to be a bailee for hire,[84] whether compensation is paid directly[85] or whether the bailment is a mutual one arising as a necessary incident of a business conducted by the bailee for profit;[86] in such case he is liable for a loss arising from his failure to exercise ordinary care.[87] A contract of bailment between an innkeeper and another person not a guest with regard to a stored trunk does not cover articles not ordinarily contained in stored trunks in the absence of actual notice to the innkeeper of the contents of the trunk in question.[88]

In order to hold an innkeeper bound by a contract of bailment entered into between a mere clerk employed by him and a person not a guest, it must appear that the clerk had actual authority to make the contract;[89] entering into contracts of bailment with persons not guests is not within the apparent authority or course of employment of a clerk of a hotel.[90] However, the innkeeper may be estopped

Sherburne v. Hotel Grunewald Caterers Co., 120 So. 269, 9 La.App. 748.
Minn.—Peet v. Roth Hotel Co., 253 N.W. 546, 191 Minn. 151.
N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.
Okl.—Keisel v. Reynolds, 244 P. 1104, 125 Okl. 295.
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
32 C.J. p 555 note 24.

Guest at banquet

Invited guest of companies engaged in staging for employees an annual banquet and dance at hotel, by leaving automobile on hotel's free parking lot knowing it to be neither customary nor required that hotel give identification checks for automobiles, assumed risk that automobile might be stolen without fault or negligence of hotel, and the responsibility of the hotel is merely that of a bailee.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.

76. Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, supra.
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
32 C.J. p 555 note 25.

77. La.—Alex v. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 103 So. 188, 157 La. 849—Sherburne v. Hotel Grunewald Caterers Co., 120 So. 269, 9 La.App. 748.
Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.
N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.
Okl.—Keisel v. Reynolds, 244 P. 1104, 125 Okl. 295.
32 C.J. p 555 note 26.

78. La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 103 So. 188, 157 La. 849.
32 C.J. p 555 note 27.

79. La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114.
32 C.J. p 555 note 28.

80. Ind.—Wolf Hotel Co. v. Parker, 158 N.E. 294, 87 Ind.App. 333.
La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114—Sherburne v. Hotel Grunewald Caterers Co., 120 So. 269, 9 La.App. 748.
Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.
32 C.J. p 555 note 29.
Care required of innkeeper holding property under lien see infra § 26.

Lodger leaving without notice or paying for room cannot hold innkeeper liable for more than ordinary care in preservation of personal belongings.—Bichard v. Lidel, 119 So. 444, 10 La.App. 6.

81. Ark.—Wear v. Gleason, 12 S.W. 756, 52 Ark. 364, 20 Am.S.R. 186.
32 C.J. p 555 note 30.

Theft as misdelivery

It has been held that a theft of the bailed property will not support an action for damages therefor on the theory that there was a misdelivery.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.

82. Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, supra.
N.Y.—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559.
Okl.—Keisel v. Reynolds, 244 P. 1104, 125 Okl. 295.
32 C.J. p 555 note 32.

What constitutes gross negligence

(1) Hotels which destroyed addresses of departed guests and sent notice of proposed sale of unclaimed trunks and contents to former guest, at address found on old letter in a trunk, were guilty of actionable gross negligence in destroying registration card and selling the trunks.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.

(2) Other illustrations see 32 C.J. p 555 note 32 [a].

83. La.—Carol v. Monteleone, 71 So. 798, 139 La. 541, L.R.A.1916F 284.

84. U.S.—Adelphia Hotel Co. v. Providence Stock Co., C.C.A.Pa., 277 F. 905, affirming, D.C., 274 F. 485.
N.Y.—Loder v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559.

85. U.S.—Adelphia Hotel Co. v. Providence Stock Co., C.C.A.Pa., 277 F. 905, affirming, D.C., 274 F. 485.

86. Cal.—Hummingbird v. Schurich, 68 P.2d 319, 24 Cal.App.2d Supp. 757.
Minn.—Peet v. Roth Hotel Co., 253 N.W. 546, 191 Minn. 151.
Okl.—Oklahoma City Hotel Co. v. Levine, 116 P.2d 997, 189 Okl. 331.
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
Tex.—Baird v. Williams, Civ.App., 56 S.W.2d 893—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Richardson, Civ.App., 276 S.W. 765.
32 C.J. p 555 note 36.

87. Cal.—Hummingbird v. Schurich, 68 P.2d 319, 24 Cal.App.2d Supp. 757.
Minn.—Peet v. Roth Hotel Co., 253 N.W. 546, 191 Minn. 151.
Tex.—Baird v. Williams, Civ.App., 56 S.W.2d 893.
32 C.J. p 555 note 37.

88. N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604, modifying 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595.
32 C.J. p 555 note 38.

89. N.Y.—Booth v. Litchfield, 94 N.E. 1078, 201 N.Y. 466, 35 L.R.A.,N.S., 710.

90. Ohio.—Arcade Hotel Co. v.

from disclaiming the relation of master to a person whom he has held out as his servant and whose negligence is responsible for the loss.[91]

Sale of unclaimed chattels. An innkeeper holding goods of a former guest under a gratuitous bailment may sell them at auction pursuant to a statute permitting innkeepers to sell unclaimed chattels.[92] He must, however, comply with the statutory requirements.[93]

§ 19. —— Custody of Property by Innkeeper

a. In general
b. Actual delivery to innkeeper or his servants
c. Constructive custody

a. In General

It is a requisite of the extraordinary liability of an innkeeper for the effects of his guest that they must have been in the custody of the innkeeper as such at the time of the loss or injury.

It is a requisite of the extraordinary liability of an innkeeper for the effects of his guest that the effects, at the time of the loss or injury, must have been in the custody of the innkeeper as such.[94] No such liability is incurred where the guest assumes the entire and exclusive care, control, and possession of his goods,[95] as where the guest, by arrangement with the innkeeper, displays merchandise in a room of the inn and invites customers there, the control of the room and the goods for this purpose being in the guest.[96] However, some statutes have extended the liability of the innkeeper to cover the latter case;[97] and in the absence of statute, the innkeeper is responsible if the goods are lost or injured through his negligence.[98] Moreover, where the room is also used as a sleeping room, the innkeeper is responsible as such for the personal baggage of the guest placed in the room.[99]

Custody as bailee. An innkeeper is not responsible as such for the safe-keeping of goods of a guest delivered to his servant as an individual and not as representative of the innkeeper.[1]

b. Actual Delivery to Innkeeper or His Servants

The responsibility of the innkeeper is the same whether the goods are delivered at the time of the guest's arrival or thereafter while the relation still continues and under some circumstances the liability may even antedate the guest's arrival.

The responsibility of an innkeeper for goods delivered to, or deposited with, him or his servant by or for a guest is the same whether the delivery or deposit is made when the guest arrives at the inn and the relation of innkeeper and guest is established[2] or thereafter while the relation still continues,[3] and under some circumstances the responsibility of an innkeeper as such for the goods of a guest may commence at the time the goods are delivered to him or his servant before the prospective guest arrives at the inn, engages accommodations, and actually becomes a guest, as where the goods are previously sent to the inn and received by the innkeeper,[4] or where they are delivered to a porter or other

Waitt, 4 N.E. 398, 44 Ohio St. 32, 58 Am.S.R. 785.
32 C.J. p 555 note 40.

91. U.S.—Adelphia Hotel Co. v. Providence Stock Co., C.C.A.Pa., 277 F. 905, affirming, D.C., 274 F. 485.

92. N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.

93. N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., supra.

Notice

The statutory requirement of publication of one notice of innkeeper's sale of unclaimed chattels is for the purpose of attracting attention of prospective buyers, not of bringing home to the guest knowledge of the sale, and while the statute does not require notice of the sale to be sent to the owner of the unclaimed baggage whose address is no longer available, nor the address to be retained for an indefinite period, the innkeeper is required, in the absence of statutory direction, to exercise ordinary good faith and reasonable care in preserving the name and address of the owner.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., supra.

94. N.Y.—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559.
32 C.J. p 556 note 42.

Parked car in vacant lot

Where hotel guest parked his automobile in vacant lot provided gratis by hotel, and sample case and other personalty were stolen therefrom, hotelkeeper would be liable for loss only under rules governing negligence as bailee, not as innkeeper.—Lader v. Warsher, supra.

95. Mass.—Weiser v. Lane, 138 N.E. 391, 244 Mass. 340.
32 C.J. p 556 note 43.

Relinquishment of custody by innkeeper

Where a hotel proprietor undertook for a consideration to transport sample case to hotel, where it was delivered and identified by the guest and no arrangement made for safekeeping for hire, the hotelkeeper thereafter was at the most a gratuitous bailee, liable only for want of ordinary care.—Weiser v. Lane, supra.

96. U.S.—Fisher v. Kelsey, Mo., 7 S. Ct. 929, 121 U.S. 383, 30 L.Ed. 930, affirming, C.C., 16 F. 71, 5 McCrary 135.
32 C.J. p 556 note 44.

97. Okl.—Abercrombie v. Edwards, 161 P. 1084, 62 Okl. 54.

98. Okl.—Williams v. Norvell Shapleigh Hardware Co., 116 P. 786, 29 Okl. 331, 35 L.R.A.,N.S., 350, Ann. Cas.1913A 448.
32 C.J. p 556 note 46.

99. U.S.—Myers v. Cottrill, C.C. Wis., 17 F.Cas.No.9,985, 5 Biss. 465.

1. Pa.—Sneider v. Geiss, 1 Yeates 34.

2. Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, 33 Cal. 557, 91 Am.D. 657.
32 C.J. p 556 note 51.

3. Cal.—Pinkerton v. Woodward, supra.
32 C.J. p 556 note 52.

4. Ill.—Flint v. Illinois Hotel Co., 149 Ill.App. 404.
32 C.J. p 556 note 53.

person authorized by the innkeeper to receive them,[5] for instance, at the railroad station.[6] In these cases, however, the innkeeper's responsibility as such is conditioned on the owner becoming a guest within a reasonable time;[7] where he fails to fulfill this condition, the responsibility of the innkeeper becomes ab initio that of a mere bailee.[8]

c. Constructive Custody

Unless so required by statute it is not requisite to the innkeeper's extraordinary liability that the guest's property should be placed in his special keeping or that he should have exclusive possession of it, so long as it is within the precincts of the inn or even, under certain circumstances, when it is outside them.

Unless so required by statute, it is not requisite to the extraordinary liability of an innkeeper that property of the guest should be placed in the special keeping of the innkeeper[9] or that he be given exclusive possession or complete domination over it;[10] it is generally sufficient if the property is in the inn under the general and implied care and control of the innkeeper.[11] Thus, unless the guest assumes the exclusive control and possession of the property, as considered supra subdivision a of this section, it is deemed to be within the custody of the innkeeper so as to render him responsible therefor where it is in the room of the guest,[12] or where it is in a room or place in the inn provided or customarily used for the reception or keeping of articles of the class to which it belongs,[13] or even where it is in a public room or part of the inn,[14] such as the lobby.[15] Even a request by the guest that his goods be placed or remain in some particular room or place in the inn does not relieve the innkeeper from responsibility where the room or place is under his general control and supervision and is not in the exclusive possession of the guest.[16]

The custody of the innkeeper and his responsibility for safe-keeping commences as soon as the goods are brought into the inn,[17] or a place appurtenant thereto,[18] or, as sometimes stated, as soon as they are brought within the precincts of the inn;[19] and this is true, although there is no actual delivery of the goods[20] nor any notice given[21] to the innkeeper personally.

The goods need not necessarily be within the building strictly denominated the inn.[22] A place outside the inn premises may be adopted as a part thereof by the innkeeper, as where an inclosure for keeping the horses or vehicles of guests is not physically connected with the inn,[23] and it has even been held that a parking lot adjacent to the hotel and maintained for the convenience of its guests is a part of the inn.[24] However, an innkeeper is not liable as such for property stolen from a building

5. Ga.—Coskery v. Nagle, 10 S.E. 491, 83 Ga. 696, 20 Am.S.R. 333, 6 L.R.A. 483.
32 C.J. p 556 note 54.

6. Mass.—Dickinson v. Winchester, 58 Mass. 114, 50 Am.D. 760.

7. Ill.—Flint v. Illinois Hotel Co., 149 Ill.App. 404.
32 C.J. p 556 note 56.

8. Miss.—Edwards House v. Davis, 86 So. 849, 124 Miss. 485.
32 C.J. p 557 note 57.

9. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, 150 So. 693, 697, 227 Ala. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 557 note 59.

10. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, supra, citing Corpus Juris.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
32 C.J. p 557 note 60.

Employment of independent contractor

An innkeeper, who undertakes to transport the baggage of a guest from the hotel to the railway station, is liable for the loss of such property, although he employs an independent contractor for the purpose.—Huckins Hotel Co. v. Clampitt, 224 P. 945, 101 Okl. 190.

11. Pa.—Franchinia v. Palumbo, 79 Pa.Super. 234.
32 C.J. p 557 note 61.

12. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, 150 So. 693, 697, 227 Ala. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Franchinia v. Palumbo, 79 Pa. Super. 234.
32 C.J. p 557 note 63.

13. Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
32 C.J. p 557 note 64.

14. Ala.—Ridgely Operating Co. v. White, 150 So. 693, 697, 227 Ala. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 557 note 65.

15. Mo.—Swanner v. Conner Hotel Co., 224 S.W. 123, 205 Mo.App. 329.
32 C.J. p 557 note 66.

16. Ky.—Packard v. Northcraft, 2 Metc. 439.

17. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.
Okl.—Abercrombie v. Edwards, 161 P. 1084, 62 Okl. 54.

18. Okl.—Abercrombie v. Edwards, supra.
32 C.J. p 557 note 69.

19. N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App. Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103.
32 C.J. p 557 note 70.

20. Ga.—Rockwell v. Proctor, 39 Ga. 105.
32 C.J. p 557 note 71.

21. Mo.—Maloney v. Bacon, 33 Mo. App. 501.
32 C.J. p 557 note 72.

22. Mo.—Maloney v. Bacon, supra.
32 C.J. p 557 note 73.

23. Me.—Cohen v. Manuel, 39 A. 1030, 91 Me. 274, 64 Am.S.R. 225, 40 L.R.A. 491—Hilton v. Adams, 71 Me. 19.

Garage proprietor as agent of inn

Proprietor of garage to which hotel company directed guests for storage of automobiles and received fee therefor was held agent of hotel company in furnishing place for storage and care of guests' automobiles.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.

24. Miss.—Todd v. Natchez-Eola Hotels Co., 157 So. 703, 171 Miss. 577.

Servant; scope of employment

Parking lot attendant was held "servant" where parking lot was part of hotel, it being immaterial that attendant received no salary but depended entirely on tips; and where attendant took guest's automobile to carry a passenger for hire and on return trip engaged in a joy ride, he was held to be acting within the scope of his employment so as to render hotel liable to guest separate from the inn and kept by him in a capacity other than innkeeper.[25]

The innkeeper is responsible for the goods of a guest placed outside the inn on the direction of the innkeeper,[26] without the knowledge or consent of the guest;[27] but not where they are placed or left outside the inn at the request, or by the act, of the guest.[28]

The delivery of a baggage check by a guest or a person who subsequently becomes a guest, either on his arrival at the railroad station or on or after his arrival at the hotel, to the innkeeper or his representative places the goods the check represents in the custody of the innkeeper[29] even though the baggage is never brought within the walls of the hotel,[30] unless the innkeeper can show that the property was never delivered by the railroad company.[31] The rationale of this rule, however, has been severely criticized and the rule itself disapproved, although recovery was allowed on the ground of a breach of contract.[32]

§ 20. —— Liability of Keepers of Other Public Houses

a. Boardinghouse and lodginghouse keepers

b. Restaurant keepers

a. Boardinghouse and Lodginghouse Keepers

In the absence of statute boardinghouse and lodginghouse keepers are not insurers of the goods of their roomers and their liability is controlled by the ordinary rules of law.

In the absence of statutes changing the rule,[33] the liability of a boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper or of an innkeeper for the loss of a boarder's or lodger's goods is regulated by the ordinary rules of law, and he is liable only for a loss occasioned by his own act or negligence or that of his servants.[34] He is not an insurer,[35] and it has been held that he is not a bailee of a roomer's property[36] and owes the roomer only the duty of ordinary care of his property.[37]

Also, it has been held that if a boarder deposits goods for safe-keeping with the person with whom he boards, there is a naked deposit without reward, and hence the bailee is bound to exercise slight diligence only,[38] but other courts, taking the view that the bailment is not a depositum, or naked deposit without reward, hold that the boardinghouse keeper is under the obligation of using reasonable care in protecting the property deposited.[39]

A lodginghouse keeper has the right to make reasonable regulations governing his liability for the effects of his lodgers,[40] and a lodger, after notice, is for damage to automobile.—Todd v. Natchez-Eola Hotels Co., supra.

25. Me.—Minor v. Staples, 71 Me. 316, 36 Am.R. 318.
32 C.J. p 557 note 75.

26. Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 182, 19 Tenn. App. 360, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 557 note 76.

27. Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 19 Tenn.App. 360.
32 C.J. p 557 note 77.

28. N.Y.—Lader v. Warsher, 1 N.Y.S.2d 160, 165 Misc. 559.
Tenn.—Andrew Jackson Hotel v. Platt, 89 S.W.2d 179, 182, 19 Tenn. App. 360, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 557 note 78.

29. U.S.—Hagerstrom v. Brainard Hotel Corporation, C.C.A.N.Y., 45 F.2d 130.
32 C.J. p 557 note 79.

30. Colo.—Keith v. Atkinson, 111 P. 55, 48 Colo. 480, 139 Am.S.R. 284.

31. Ga.—Carhart v. Wainman, 40 S.E. 781, 114 Ga. 632, 88 Am.S.R. 45.

32. N.Y.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103, affirming 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421.

Not a symbolical delivery

"Clearly the delivery of a railroad check to an innkeeper is not a symbolical delivery of the baggage which it represents."—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, supra.

33. Okl.—Abercrombie v. Edwards, 161 P. 1084, 62 Okl. 54.

Receipt under statute

Detached portion of envelope in which club member deposited valuables was a "receipt" within the statute limiting liability of lodginghouse keeper unless he shall have given a receipt in writing therefor.—Greer v. Los Angeles Athletic Club, 258 P. 155, 87 Cal.App. 272.

34. Ill.—Gray v. Drexel Arms Hotel, 146 Ill.App. 604.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 556, 206 Ky. 494, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Hayes v. Wulff, 200 N.Y.S. 361.
Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, 293 P. 1084, 146 Okl. 237.
32 C.J. p 558 note 85.

Early cases contra

In a few early cases, it was held that a boarding or lodginghouse keeper was under no obligation to take care of the goods of his patrons.—Clifford v. Stafford, 145 Ill. App. 247—32 C.J. p 558 note 86.

35. N.C.—Wells v. West, 194 S.E. 313, 212 N.C. 656.
Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, 293 P. 1084, 146 Okl. 237.
32 C.J. p 558 note 84.

36. N.C.—Wells v. West, 194 S.E. 313, 212 N.C. 656.
Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, 293 P. 1084, 146 Okl. 237.

No contractual obligation

Where lodger asked owner of lodginghouse not to let anyone have his accordion, and she agreed, but permitted third person to remove it, there was no contractual obligation on part of owner of lodginghouse for breach of which an action could be maintained by lodger.—Wells v. West, 194 S.E. 313, 212 N.C. 656.

Access to room

The text rule is applicable even though the boardinghouse keeper has access to the room for maid service. —Wells v. West, supra.

37. Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, 293 P. 1084, 146 Okl. 237.

38. Kan.—Johnson v. Reynolds, 3 Kan. 251.

39. Cal.—Greer v. Los Angeles Athletic Club, 258 P. 155, 87 Cal.App. 272.
Mass.—Coe v. Ricker, 101 N.E. 76, 214 Mass. 212, 45 L.R.A.,N.S., 30, Ann.Cas.1914B 1178.

What is reasonable care depends on the circumstances.—Coe v. Ricker, supra—32 C.J. p 558 note 92.

40. N.Y.—Herter v. Dwyer, 139 N.Y.S. 505.
32 C.J. p 558 note 93.

bound to comply therewith.[41] It will be presumed that a notice that baggage or wearing apparel left for storage is at the risk of the owner entered into any implied contract arising on the reception of a trunk for storage.[42]

The clerk of a lodginghouse keeper has no implied authority to accept, for deposit, the money of one not a lodger.[43]

b. Restaurant Keepers

Since a restaurant keeper is not an insurer of the apparel of his patrons his liability is usually dependent on the establishment of a bailment.

The keeper of a restaurant or eating house is not an insurer of the property of his patrons,[44] and his liability for the loss of such property depends on whether or not a bailment is established.[45] Where a patron's coat is taken by a waiter or other servant to hang up, the restaurant keeper is a bailee and is responsible for its misdelivery or loss, through negligence,[46] and this is true, even though the words "not responsible for hats and coats" were printed on the bill of fare, and the waiters were forbidden to take hats and coats from the patrons.[47] However, where the customer himself hangs up his coat without notice to the restaurant keeper or his servants, there is no bailment, and the restaurant keeper cannot be held responsible for its loss unless it is shown that he was remiss in his general supervision of the restaurant,[48] and the fact that the customer hung his coat at a place indicated by the manager has been held not to impose liability on the restaurant keeper for his loss.[49] This is especially true where the proprietor has given notice that he will not be responsible for personal property unless checked.[50] Where an overcoat is checked at a restaurant, the restaurant keeper is not liable as bailee for the loss of a purse and contents in the pocket thereof, unless he has actual notice of their presence therein.[51]

Limitation of liability. In some jurisdictions statutes limit the amount of a restaurant keeper's liability for the loss of property deposited with him without valuation.[52]

Injury to property. A restaurant keeper is responsible for damages to the wearing apparel of a patron caused by the negligence of his servants in the conduct of the business for which they are employed.[53]

Safety of premises. A restaurant keeper must use reasonable care to see that the portions of his premises where patrons are expressly or impliedly invited to go are reasonably safe for their use,[54] and he has a duty to warn them of any danger of damage to their apparel, reasonably within his knowledge and of such a character as not to be within theirs.[55]

§ 21. —— Actions

a. In general
b. Form of action
c. Pleading
d. Evidence
e. Trial and judgment

a. In General

While ordinarily the innkeeper's peculiar liability for the loss of goods of a guest may be enforced only by the guest, if the latter is a member of the owner's family or his servant, the owner may sue.

If one lends his property to another and the bailee comes with it to an inn and it is there lost, the guest may sue by virtue of his qualified property in the goods as bailee,[56] and ordinarily he alone may enforce the innkeeper's peculiar liability.[57] If, however, the guest is a member of the owner's family the owner may sue,[58] and a master may sue for 41. N.Y.—Herter v. Dwyer, supra.

42. Ill.—Vigeant v. Nelson, 140 Ill. App. 644.
32 C.J. p 558 note 95.
43. N.Y.—Mulhauser v. Dwyer, 184 N.Y.S. 635.
44. Pa.—Maher v. Chapin's Lunch Co., 180 A. 739, 740, 119 Pa.Super. 213, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 558 note 97.
45. Pa.—Maher v. Chapin's Lunch Co., 180 A. 739, 740, 119 Pa.Super. 213, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 558 notes 99, 2.
46. Ill.—Vogelsang v. Fredkyn, 133 Ill.App. 356.
32 C.J. p 558 note 99.
47. Ill.—La Salle Restaurant & Oyster House v. McMasters, 35 Ill. App. 677.
48. N.Y.—Schleef v. Foodcraft Co., Inc., 165 N.Y.S. 209.
32 C.J. p 558 note 2.
49. Pa.—Maher v. Chapin's Lunch Co., 180 A. 739, 119 Pa.Super. 213.
50. N.Y.—Duckworth v. Codington Co., 136 N.Y.S. 68.
32 C.J. p 558 note 3.
51. N.Y.—Robin v. Colaizzi, 166 N.Y.S. 978, 101 Misc. 298.
52. N.Y.—Honig v. Riley, 155 N.E. 65, 244 N.Y. 105, reversing 216 N.Y.S. 158, 217 App.Div. 570, which affirmed 213 N.Y.S. 380, 126 Misc. 320 and modifying 209 N.Y.S. 233, 124 Misc. 809.
53. Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., 1 N.E.2d 27, 294 Mass. 75.
32 C.J. p 559 note 5.
54. Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., supra.
55. Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., supra.
56. Minn.—Chamberlain v. West, 33 N.W. 114, 37 Minn. 54.
32 C.J. p 559 note 7.
57. N.Y.—Coykendall v. Eaton, 55 Barb. 188, 37 How.Pr. 438.
32 C.J. p 559 note 8.
58. Mass.—Dickinson v. Winchester, 4 Cush. 114, 50 Am.D. 760.
32 C.J. p 559 note 10.
A father may sue the innkeeper for the loss of his goods taken to an inn by his minor son.—Epps v. Hinds, 27 Miss. 657, 61 Am.D. 528—32 C.J. p 559 note 10.

his goods lost at an inn by his servant.[59] So it has been held that both partners may sue for goods of the firm taken to an inn by one partner and lost there.[60]

Limitation of action. An action against an innkeeper for the loss of the goods of a guest must be brought within the time limited by statutes specially applicable thereto.[61] The application of general statutes of limitations to tort actions is considered in the C.J.S. title Limitations of Actions §§ 73–81, also 37 C.J. p 771 note 8–p 782 note 85.

b. Form of Action

The usual common-law form of action by a guest against an innkeeper for goods lost at an inn is an action on the case, but sometimes it is brought for breach of implied contract, or for conversion.

The most usual common-law form of action to recover of an innkeeper the value of goods of a guest, alleged to have been lost at his inn, is an action on the case for the wrong done.[62] However, the action is sometimes brought on the implied contract of the innkeeper safely to keep the goods,[63] and it has been held that the innkeeper may be sued in conversion for loss of the property;[64] but it has also been held that trover is not maintainable, unless an actual conversion is shown.[65]

c. Pleading

A declaration which shows the relation of innkeeper and guest and alleges delivery of the property to the innkeeper and a failure or refusal of the innkeeper to return it is sufficient.

It is generally necessary to show by the pleadings that defendant was an innkeeper and plaintiff his guest,[66] but, where the petition, declaration, or complaint contains such an allegation, together with an allegation of a delivery of the property or a baggage check therefor to the innkeeper coupled with the failure or refusal of the latter to return it, it states a cause of action.[67] The declaration need not set out the customary liability of innkeepers, since the custom is part of the law of the land;[68] nor is it ordinarily necessary for the petition, declaration, or complaint to negative defenses, such as contributory negligence on the part of plaintiff[69] or failure of the railroad company to deliver the property to the innkeeper,[70] it being incumbent on defendant to set up defenses in his answer.[71]

The issues, proof, and variance in actions against an innkeeper by a guest for property loss or damage are governed by the rules applicable to other civil actions.[72] Although defendants, in an action against them for the conversion of certain trunks, did not plead a special contract, they may take advantage of it as a defense when plaintiffs have introduced in evidence the baggage checks containing the alleged contract.[73]

d. Evidence

(1) Presumptions and burden of proof
(2) Admissibility, weight, and sufficiency

(1) Presumptions and Burden of Proof

Generally proof that goods of a guest have been lost or injured makes out a prima facie case of liability and

59. Mass.—Berkshire Woollen Co. v. Proctor, 7 Cush. 417.
32 C.J. p 559 note 11, p 535 note 11 [a].

Bailee as servant
In some early cases it was said that a bailee stands in the same position as a servant, and the bailor may sue the innkeeper for loss of goods.—Mason v. Thompson, 9 Pick., Mass., 280, 20 Am.D. 471—32 C.J. p 559 note 13.

60. N.Y.—Needles v. Howard, 1 E.D. Smith 54.

61. Cal.—Pawn v. Wall, 264 P. 268, 88 Cal.App. 597.

62. Pa.—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.
32 C.J. p 559 note 15.

63. Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
32 C.J. p 559 note 16.

64. Mo.—Heiser v. Berger Catering Co., 106 S.W. 579, 128 Mo.App. 210.

65. N.Y.—Hallenbake v. Fish, 8 Wend. 547, 24 Am.D. 88.

66. Ga.—Walpert v. Bohan, 55 S.E. 181, 126 Ga. 532, 115 Am.S.R. 114, 6 L.R.A.,N.S., 828, 8 Ann.Cas. 89.
Md.—Towson v. Havre-de-Grace Bank, 6 Harr. & J. 47, 14 Am.D. 254.

Bailment contract
Where the declaration states a cause of action on a contract of bailment for hire, it is not demurrable as showing that plaintiff was a boarder and not a guest.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.

67. Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, supra.
32 C.J. p 559 note 21.

Pleading cause of loss unnecessary
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, supra.

Bank notes
The term "money," as used in a declaration against an innkeeper charging him with liability for a loss of money of a guest, includes bank notes.—Towson v. Havre-de-Grace Bank, 6 Harr. & J., Md., 47, 14 Am. D. 254.

68. Ky.—Kisten v. Hildebrand, 9 B. Mon. 72, 48 Am.D. 416.

69. Ind.—Bowell v. De Wald, 28 N. E. 430, 2 Ind.App. 303, 50 Am.S.R. 240.

70. Ga.—Carhart v. Wainman, 40 S. E. 781, 114 Ga. 632, 88 Am.S.R. 45.

71. N.Y.—Gile v. Libby, 36 Barb. 70.
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
32 C.J. p 559 note 25.

72. Issue not altered by answer
In action against innkeeper for loss of automobile, answer denying allegations that it operated a garage and for an additional consideration agreed to store the automobile, and alleging instead that it had only a shed in which it permitted guests to house their automobiles, did not materially alter the issue presented by plaintiff.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.

Variance held immaterial
Fla.—Kloeppel v. Bradford, 182 So. 839, 133 Fla. 695.

73. N.Y.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.

casts on the innkeeper the burden of exonerating himself.

General rules as to presumptions and burden of proof apply in actions against innkeepers for loss or damage to goods of a guest.[74] However, whether innkeepers are held liable as insurers of goods of their guests, or only for negligence, proof that goods of a guest have been lost or injured makes out a prima facie case of liability[75] and casts on the innkeeper the burden of establishing such facts as will exonerate him.[76] Ordinarily, the burden of proving plaintiff's contributory negligence is on the innkeeper.[77] Also, where an innkeeper claims the benefit of a statute, altering his common-law liability, the burden is on him to show compliance with the statute.[78]

Where the innkeeper has complied with statutes providing for a limitation of liability and the guest has not, so that the innkeeper is no longer liable as an insurer but only for the default or negligence of himself or his servants, the burden of proving default or negligence rests on the guest.[79] So, too, where the action is based on alleged negligence of the innkeeper, the burden of proof is on the guest to make out his case of negligence and loss resulting from such negligence.[80]

Where the action is predicated on a bailment, it is held, in accordance with the modern rule governing bailments generally, that proof of delivery of the property to the innkeeper and his failure on demand to return it or to account for its loss makes out a prima facie case of liability[81] and casts on him the burden of explaining the loss.[82] Strictly speaking, defendant in such case has the burden of going forward with the evidence rather than the burden of proof,[83] which remains with plaintiff.[84] The rule is applicable at least where the bailment is one for hire,[85] or a gratuitous bailment.[86] Unexcused delay on the part of plaintiff in making inquiries concerning his property and its whereabouts may be sufficient evidence of contributory negligence to throw on him the burden of proving actual negli-

74. Ill.—Beard v. Haskell Park Bldg. Corporation, 248 Ill.App. 467.
N.Y.—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
Tex.—Washington v. Ravel, Civ.App., 14 S.W.2d 367.

Special contract

The innkeeper has the burden of showing the assent of the guest to a special contract limiting his liability.—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S. 2d 498, 173 Misc. 604.

75. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S. W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
Md.—Roueche v. Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
Mich.—Davis v. Cohen, 235 N.W. 173, 174, 253 Mich. 330, citing Corpus Juris.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 813, quoting Corpus Juris—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 828, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 234 P. 310, 311, 30 N.M. 359, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
Okl.—Ketchum v. Gordon, 298 P. 605, 151 Okl. 240.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.
32 C.J. p 560 note 29.

76. Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
Md.—Roueche v Hotel Braddock, 165 A. 891, 164 Md. 620.
Mich.—Davis v. Cohen, 235 N.W. 173, 253 Mich. 330.
Minn.—Knutson v. Fidelity Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., 279 N.W. 714, 202 Minn. 642.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 813, quoting Corpus Juris—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 828, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 234 P. 310, 311, 30 N.M. 359, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Faucett v. Nichols, 64 N.Y. 377—Rawn v. 14 East Sixtieth St. Hotel Corporation, 213 N.Y.S. 333, 126 Misc. 247.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 560 notes 29, 30.

77. U.S.—Jefferson Hotel Co. v. Warren, N.Y., 128 F. 565, 63 C.C.A. 193.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807, 813, quoting Corpus Juris.

78. Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., supra, quoting Corpus Juris—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 828, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078, quoting Corpus Juris.
Wash.—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.
32 C.J. p 560 note 32.

79. U.S.—Elcox v. Hill, Ill., 98 U. S. 218, 25 L.Ed. 103—Becker v. Haynes, C.C.Mass., 29 F. 441.
Me.—Burnham v. Young, 72 Me. 273.

80. Ark.—New York Hotel Co. v. Palmer, 251 S.W. 34, 158 Ark. 598.

81. Ill.—Miles v. International Hotel Co., 124 N.E. 599, 289 Ill. 320, reversing 211 Ill.App. 323.
N.Y.—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, reversing 28 N.Y.S.2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversing 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, appeal denied 34 N.Y. S.2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953.
Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
Tex.—Baird v. Williams, Civ.App., 56 S.W.2d 893.

82. Ill.—Miles v. International Hotel Co., 124 N.E. 599, 289 Ill. 320, reversing 211 Ill.App. 323.
N.Y.—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, reversing 28 N.Y.S.2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversing 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, appeal denied 34 N.Y. S.2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953.

83. Ill.—Miles v. International Hotel Co., 124 N.E. 599, 289 Ill. 320, reversing 211 Ill.App. 323.

84. Ark.—Andrews v. Southwestern Hotel Co., 44 S.W.2d 675, 184 Ark. 982.

85. Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W.2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.
32 C.J. p 560 note 40.

86. Ill.—Miles v. International Hotel Co., 124 N.E. 599, 289 Ill. 320 reversing 211 Ill.App. 323.

gence on the part of defendant.[87] Where plaintiff, not a guest or lodger, deposited property with the clerk of a lodginghouse keeper, he has the burden of proving that the act of the clerk in accepting the deposit was within his authority.[88] Sometimes the courts decline to indulge in presumptions as to the value of the property.[89]

A roomer in a private home has the burden of showing the negligence of the owner of the house as a condition to recovery for the loss of his property,[90] since negligence on the part of the landlord is not implied from the mere loss of property from the room.[91]

(2) Admissibility, Weight, and Sufficiency

The admissibility and weight and sufficiency of evidence are determined by the rules applied to civil actions generally.

The rules of evidence obtaining in civil cases generally are applicable in determining the admissibility,[92] as well as the weight and sufficiency,[93] of evidence in an action against an innkeeper to recover for the loss of, or injury to, the property of a guest.

e. Trial and Judgment

Matters arising on the trial of actions involving an innkeeper's liability for loss of, or damage to, the property of a guest are governed by the rules applicable to other civil actions.

In accordance with general rules, questions of law are for the court[94] while questions of fact are to be submitted to the jury for determination[95] under proper and appropriate instructions by the court,[96] provided there is sufficient evidence to re-

87. N.Y.—Giblyn v. Hanf, 126 N.Y.S. 581.

88. N.Y.—Muhlhauser v. Dwyer, 184 N.Y.S. 635.

89. Ill.—Miles v. International Hotel Co., 124 N.E. 599, 289 Ill. 320, reversing 211 Ill.App. 323.
32 C.J. p 560 note 45.

90. Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, 293 P. 1084, 146 Okl. 237.

91. Okl.—Kee v. Bethurum, supra.

92. Ill.—Coulson v. Wenzel Hotels, Inc., 248 Ill.App. 540—Hall v. Hotel Sherman Co., 236 Ill.App. 386.
Mass.—Berkshire Woollen Co. v. Proctor, 7 Cush. 417.
32 C.J. p 560 note 47.

Evidence held inadmissible
Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Richardson, Civ.App., 276 S.W. 765.
32 C.J. p 560 note 47 [b].

93. Evidence held sufficient
(1) In general.
Ill.—Burton v. Drake Hotel Co., 237 Ill.App. 76.
La.—Babin v. Thormander, App., 167 So. 241.
Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., 1 N.E.2d 27, 294 Mass. 75.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807.
N.M.—Landrum v. Harvey, 234 P. 310, 30 N.M. 359.
N.Y.—Honig v. Riley, 216 N.Y.S. 158, 217 App.Div. 570, affirming 213 N.Y.S. 380, 126 Misc. 320, which affirmed 209 N.Y.S. 233, 124 Misc. 809, reversed on other grounds 155 N.E. 65, 244 N.Y. 105.
Pa.—Franchinia v. Palumbo, 79 Pa. Super. 234.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.
32 C.J. p 561 note 48 [b].

(2) To show relationship of innkeeper and guest.—Davidson v. Madison Corporation, 247 N.Y.S. 789, 231 App.Div. 421, affirmed 177 N.E. 393, 257 N.Y. 120, 76 A.L.R. 1103—Slater v. Landes, 172 N.Y.S. 190.

(3) To show that plaintiff was negligent.—New York Hotel Co. v. Palmer, 251 S.W. 34, 158 Ark. 598.

Evidence held insufficient
(1) In general.
Cal.—Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Hotel Marysville, App., 140 P.2d 698.
Fla.—Kloeppel v. Bradford, 182 So. 839, 133 Fla. 695.
La.—Alex W. Rothschild & Co. v. Lynch, 129 So. 725, 171 La. 114—Babin v. Thormander, App., 167 So. 241.
Mich.—Davis v. Cohen, 235 N.W. 173, 253 Mich. 330.
N.Y.—Gardner v. Roosevelt Hotel, 32 N.Y.S.2d 208, 263 App.Div. 268, reversing 28 N.Y.S.2d 78, 176 Misc. 546, reversing 24 N.Y.S.2d 261, 175 Misc. 610, appeal denied 34 N.Y.S. 2d 133, 263 App.Div. 953—Lane v. Hotel Investors, 29 N.Y.S.2d 364, reversing 25 N.Y.S.2d 300—Crosby v. 20 Fifth Ave. Hotel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 227, 173 Misc. 595, modified on other grounds 17 N.Y.S.2d 498, 173 Misc. 604—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121.
Okl.—Oklahoma City Hotel Co. v. Levine, 116 P.2d 997, 189 Okl. 331.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.
32 C.J. p 561 note 48 [c].

(2) To show negligence of guest.
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807.
N.Y.—Hart v. Mills Hotel Trust, 258 N.Y.S. 417, 144 Misc. 121.

(3) To show negligence of defendant.
Ark.—New York Hotel Co. v. Palmer, 251 S.W. 34, 158 Ark. 598.
La.—Robbins v. Pontchartrain Apartments, 143 So. 263, 175 La. 278.
Miss.—Edwards Hotel Co. v. Terry, 187 So. 518, 185 Miss. 824.
N.Y.—Mason v. Hotel Grand Union, 41 N.Y.S.2d 309.
32 C.J. p 561 note 48 [c] (3).

(4) To show compliance with statutes limiting liability.—Featherstone v. Dessert, 22 P.2d 1050, 173 Wash. 264—Gillett v. Waldorf Hotel Co., 241 P. 14, 136 Wash. 615.

94. Tenn.—Smith v. Noe, 19 S.W. 2d 245, 159 Tenn. 498.

95. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., C.C.A.N.J., 55 F.2d 829.
Ark.—New York Hotel Co. v. Palmer, 251 S.W. 34, 158 Ark. 598.
Mass.—Robinson v. Weber Duck Inn Co., 1 N.E.2d 27, 294 Mass. 75.
Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 828, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
N.H.—Campbell v. Portsmouth Hotel Co., 20 A.2d 644, 91 N.H. 390, 135 A.L.R. 1196.
Tex.—Smith v. Robinson, Civ.App., 300 S.W. 651.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.
32 C.J. p 561 note 49.

96. Tex.—Smith v. Robinson, Civ. App., 300 S.W. 651.
32 C.J. p 561 note 50.

Instructions held erroneous
Ky.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Altamont Springs Hotel Co., 267 S.W. 555, 206 Ky. 494.
32 C.J. p 561 note 50 [a].

Instructions held not erroneous.
N.Y.—Honig v. Riley, 213 N.Y.S. 380, 126 Misc. 320, affirming 209 N.Y.S. 233, 124 Misc. 809, affirmed 216 N.Y.S. 158, 217 App.Div. 570, reversed on other grounds 155 N.E. 65, 244 N.Y. 105.
Pa.—Mathis v. Off, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 6.
32 C.J. p 561 note 50 [b].

quire their submission.[97] Particular questions of fact to be determined by the jury include such questions as the negligence of defendant,[98] the contributory negligence of plaintiff,[99] whether plaintiff was a guest,[1] whether the delivery of the property was made to the innkeeper or his servant in the capacity of his public calling as such,[2] whether the property lost was stolen from the hotel room,[3] and such matters of fact as require solution in order to determine whether the case comes within a statute, or an exception thereto, providing for a limitation of liability.[4]

Judgment. The judgment must conform to the pleadings and findings.[5]

§ 22. Injury to Person

a. General rules
b. From defective premises or appliances
c. From fire

a. General Rules

The keeper of an inn, lodging house, or restaurant, while not an insurer of the safety of guests, must exercise at least ordinary or reasonable care to keep them from injury. An innkeeper's liability for failure in this respect extends to acts committed by his servants in the course of their employment and to acts of other guests or of strangers, and may extend to injuries received by persons other than guests.

While an innkeeper is not an insurer of the safety of his guests,[6] and has been said not to be absolutely liable for injuries suffered by them,[7] it is his duty to take at least ordinary or reasonable care of their persons, so that they may not be injured while in the inn by want of such care on his part,[8] provided

97. Neb.—Leon v. Kitchen Bros. Hotel Co., 277 N.W. 823, 134 Neb. 137, 115 A.L.R. 1078.
Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Raitman, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 943.
32 C.J. p 561 note 51.
Evidence held sufficient to submit to jury
Neb.—Shiman Bros. & Co. v. Nebraska Nat. Hotel Co., 9 N.W.2d 807.
32 C.J. p 561 note 51 [a].

98. Cal.—Hummingbird v. Schurich, 68 P.2d 319, 24 Cal.App.2d Supp. 757.
Minn.—Knutson v. Fidelity Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., 279 N.W. 714, 202 Minn. 642.
Tex.—Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davison, Com.App., 23 S.W.2d 708, reversing Dallas Hotel Co. v. Davidson, Civ. App., 12 S.W.2d 633.
32 C.J. p 561 note 52.

99. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., C.C.A.N.J., 55 F.2d 829.
Tex.—Driskill Hotel Co. v. Anderson, Civ.App., 19 S.W.2d 216.
32 C.J. p 561 note 53.

1. U.S.—Freudenheim v. Eppley, C.C.A.Pa., 88 F.2d 280.

2. Mass.—Mason v. Thompson, 9 Pick. 280, 20 Am.D. 471.
32 C.J. p 556 note 50.

3. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., C.C.A.N.J., 55 F.2d 829.

4. U.S.—Heinz v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., supra.
Okl.—Ketchum v. Gordon, 298 P. 605, 151 Okl. 240.
Wash.—Goodwin v. Georgian Hotel Co., 84 P.2d 681, 197 Wash. 173, 119 A.L.R. 788.
32 C.J. p 561 note 54.

5. Tex.—Bristol Hotel Co. v. Pearce, Civ.App., 93 S.W.2d 188—Galveston Hotel Co. v. Goggan, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 694.

6. U.S.—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825—De Honey v. Harding, C.C.A.N.D., 300 F. 696—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F. Supp. 546.
Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182—Schlemmer v. Stokes, 117 P.2d 396, 47 Cal.App.2d 164—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76 P.2d 210, 25 Cal.App.2d 51.
Ga.—Holloman v. Henry Grady Hotel Co., 156 S.E. 275, 42 Ga.App. 347.
Iowa.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel Co., 241 N.W. 484, 214 Iowa 1150—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.
Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P.2d 340, 134 Kan. 749.
Ky.—Sidebottom v. Aubrey, 101 S.W.2d 212, 267 Ky. 45—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W.2d 790, 257 Ky. 599—Burgauer v. McClellan, 265 S.W. 439, 205 Ky. 51.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So.2d 71—Wilson v. Iberville Amusement Co., App., 181 So. 817.
Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.
Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo. App. 1159.
Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797.
N.Y.—Owen v. Straight, 269 N.Y.S. 868, 239 App.Div. 622—Barry v. Merriman, 214 N.Y.S. 66, 215 App. Div. 294.
Ohio.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N.E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.
Okl.—Mayo Hotel Co. v. Danciger, 288 P. 309, 143 Okl. 196.
Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.
Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249—Tamres v. Reed, 165 A. 538, 109 Pa.Super. 28—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131—Neagley v. Cassone, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 632, 12 Lehigh Co.L.J. 290.
R.I.—Ziegler v. Providence Biltmore Hotel Co., 195 A. 397, 59 R.I. 326.
Tex.—Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Civ. App., 174 S.W.2d 1006—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ. App., 131 S.W.2d 261, 262, error dismissed, judgment correct, quoting Corpus Juris—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused—Crockett v. Troyk, Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012—Baugh v. McCleskey, Civ.App., 292 S.W. 950.
Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.
W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 352, 119 W.Va. 690—Hunn v. Windsor Hotel Co., 193 S.E. 57, 119 W.Va. 215.
32 C.J. p 561 note 56.
At common law
(1) At common law "a hotel keeper was not liable as an insurer of . . . [his guest's] personal safety."—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 47, 224 App. Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

(2) But it has been said, as dictum, that "at common law the innkeeper was the absolute insurer of the person . . . of his guests."—Epp v. Bowman-Biltmore Hotels Corporation, 12 N.Y.S.2d 384, 385, 171 Misc. 338.

7. Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900.

8. U.S.—Snapp Hotel & Realty Co. v. Elbert, C.C.A.Mo., 108 F.2d 661—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F. Supp. 546—De Honey v. Harding, C.C.A.N.D., 300 F. 696.
Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76

they make no unreasonable use of the premises,[9] and he is liable for injury to a guest resulting from his negligence.[10] According to some authorities, the responsibility of the innkeeper is limited to the exercise of reasonable care,[11] and his liability has been said not to rise as high as that of a common carrier to its passengers;[12] but other authorities hold him to the exercise of a very high degree of care,[13] and it has been held that one entering a hotel is entitled to expect that far greater preparations to secure his safety will be made than one entering a private building.[14] What constitutes reasonable care depends on the circumstances of the particular case.[15]

In particular circumstances, an innkeeper has been held not liable for injuries to a guest on the theory of nuisance.[16]

From acts of servants. A hotel keeper has been held to a very high degree of care to protect guests

P.2d 210, 25 Cal.App.2d 51—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.

Iowa.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel Co., 241 N.W. 484, 214 Iowa 1150—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.

Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P.2d 340, 134 Kan. 749.

Ky.—Sidebottom v. Aubrey, 101 S.W.2d 212, 267 Ky. 45—Cumberland Hotel Operating Co. v. Hartman, 94 S.W.2d 637, 641, 264 Ky. 300, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—De Latour v. Roosevelt Hotel, App., 1 So.2d 353.

Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.

Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797.

N.Y.—Berry v. Merriman, 214 N.Y.S. 66, 215 App.Div. 294—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 168 Misc. 431, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App.Div. 1012, affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597.

Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.

Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249.

Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, 262, error dismissed, judgment correct, quoting Corpus Juris.

Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.

W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 119 W.Va. 690.

32 C.J. p 562 note 57.

At common law

N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

"There is at common law an implied warranty in favor of the guest, arising out of his contractual relation, that the hotel keeper has exercised the care and has not omitted to do those things that are reasonably necessary for his protection and safety."—Owen v. Straight, 269 N.W. 868, 870, 239 App.Div. 622.

Ordinary occupation

"His liability for the condition and operation of his hotel is limited to the failure to exercise ordinary care, because his is an ordinary occupation fraught with no extraordinary danger."—Neagley v. Cassone, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 632, 634, 12 Lehigh Co.L.J. 290.

Duty to child

Innkeeper must consider whether premises present any reasonably avoidable dangers to child guest, and is bound to exercise ordinary care to keep child from harm; standard of care required of innkeeper to child guest is conduct of ideal person of ordinary prudence.—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825.

9. Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.

10. Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797—Strahl v. Miller, 151 N.W. 952, 97 Neb. 820, Ann.Cas.1917A 141, affirmed 36 S.Ct. 147, 239 U.S. 426, 60 L.Ed. 364.

Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.

Liability with respect to food see Food § 61.

Connection of negligence with injury

For such negligence to be actionable it must have been in connection with the circumstances producing the guest's injury.—Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Tex.Civ.App., 174 S.W.2d 1006—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Tex.Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused—Baugh v. McCleskey, Tex.Civ.App., 292 S.W. 950.

Failure to supply key

Innkeepers were not liable to guest for injuries received by guest while attempting to enter inn through window because of failure to supply guest with key to premises.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, D.C.Conn., 27 F.Supp. 228.

11. Ky.—Burgauer v. McClellan, 265 S.W. 439, 205 Ky. 51.

Tex.—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused.

32 C.J. p 562 note 58.

12. Pa.—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131.

13. La.—Wilson v. Iberville Amusement Co., App., 181 So. 817.

32 C.J. p 562 note 59.

"The great weight of the authorities is to the effect that, instead of an innkeeper's liability being restricted to ordinary care, it is fixed at a 'very high degree of care.' "—Mayo Hotel Co. v. Danciger, 288 P. 309, 311, 143 Okl. 196.

14. N.Y.—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 168 Misc. 431, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App. Div. 1012, affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597.

15. Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900.

Iowa.—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.

Ky.—Sidebottom v. Aubrey, 101 S.W. 2d 212, 267 Ky. 45.

Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.

N.Y.—Barry v. Merriman, 214 N.Y.S. 66, 215 App.Div. 294.

Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Care commensurate with probable dangers

(1) "The defendant was obliged to exercise a degree of care commensurate or proportionate to the probable dangers that might result from the lack of such care."—Parsons v. Dwight State Co., 17 N.E.2d 197, 198, 301 Mass. 324, 118 A.L.R. 1099.

(2) "What is required is a degree of care commensurate to the risk; i. e., that to be expected from an ordinarily prudent man in the same or similar circumstances."—Gustafson v. Arthur L. Roberts Hotel Co., 261 N.W. 447, 449, 194 Minn. 575.

16. Entry by window

Innkeepers were not liable on theory of nuisance for injuries received by guest in fall while attempting to enter inn through open window under which there was drop of twenty-five feet to floor of unlighted gymnasium, in absence of showing of legal right of guest to enter by window, or that innkeepers knew, or should have known, that persons without invitation or license used window for entrance.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, D.C. Conn., 27 F.Supp. 228.

against assaults, insults, and negligent acts of servants employed by him;[17] but other authority requires only ordinary[18] or reasonable[19] care. Some of the authorities liken the liability of an innkeeper for torts of his servants to that of the liability of a carrier of passengers for the acts of its servants;[20] but other authorities, while conceding the similarity of the liabilities, consider that the limits are not the same,[21] or hold that an innkeeper is not under the duty to exercise as high a degree of care as a carrier,[22] and the stringent rule requiring carriers to protect passengers from all tortious acts of employees has been held inapplicable to innkeepers.[23] The innkeeper is under obligation to protect his guests from danger from his servants, when it is reasonably within his power to do so,[24] and is under an implied duty and obligation knowingly to select only such employees as are suitable to look after the safety and comfort of his guests and not commit acts of violence against them, so far as is reasonably within his power so to choose employees.[25]

The general rule that a master is liable for the tortious acts of his servant, committed while the servant was engaged in the execution of some matter which was within the real or apparent scope of the duties intrusted to him, even though he acted wantonly or maliciously, has been applied to innkeepers;[26] and a servant's neglect is chargeable to the innkeeper, for the latter's duty of care is not delegable.[27] Conversely, the innkeeper is not liable to a guest for a personal injury resulting from an assault and battery committed,[28] or other act done,[29] by a servant while acting outside the scope of his employment. Where injuries are suffered in an affray away from the hotel, an innkeeper is liable only if the fight is a continuation of one initiated on the innkeeper's property.[30]

In some circumstances the relation of master and servant has been held not to exist.[31]

From acts or condition of other guests or strangers. The innkeeper must protect his guest, while in the inn, against injury at the hands of third persons whether they are guests or strangers, where it is within his power or that of his servants to do so;[32] and his obligation is not met by merely

17. Okl.—Mayo Hotel Co. v. Danciger, 288 P. 309, 143 Okl. 196.

18. Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W.2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

19. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.

20. Okl.—Mayo Hotel Co. v. Danciger, 288 P. 309, 143 Okl. 196.
32 C.J. p 562 note 63.

21. U.S.—Clancy v. Barker, Neb., 131 F. 161, 66 C.C.A. 469, 69 L.R.A. 653.
N.Y.—Barry v. Merriman, 214 N.Y.S. 66, 215 App.Div. 294.

22. Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W.2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

23. Cal.—Rahmel v. Lehndorff, 76 P. 659, 142 Cal. 681, 100 Am.S.R. 154, 65 L.R.A. 88.

24. Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W.2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

25. Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, supra.

26. Conn.—Scheer v. Arrigoni, 150 A. 702, 111 Conn. 726.
Ill.—Buckley v. Edgewater Beach Hotel Co., 247 Ill.App. 239.
Mo.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 69 S.W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941.
Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797—Strahl v. Miller, 151 N.W. 952, 97 Neb. 820, Ann.Cas. 1917A 141, affirmed 36 S.Ct. 147, 239 U.S. 426, 60 L.Ed. 364.
32 C.J. p 562 note 61.

Elevator operator; substitute

Showing operation of elevator in hotel established prima facie relationship of master and servant between owner of hotel and operator; substitute placed temporarily in charge of hotel elevator by operator having authority to use substitute became during that time servant of hotel owner.—Schide v. Gottschick, 43 S.W.2d 777, 329 Mo. 64.

Masseur

Hotel was held not relieved from liability for injuries caused by negligent act of masseur in its employment on ground that masseur was independent contractor, where employment was admitted in hotel's pleadings and no request was made for issue of fact as to whether masseur was an employee, since nothing precluded a masseur from being an employee.—Tetting v. Hotel Pfister, 266 N.W. 249, 221 Wis. 141.

27. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

28. Dak.—Curtis v. Dinneen, 30 N.W. 148, 4 Dak. 245, appeal dismissed 9 S.Ct. 798, 131 U.S. 435, 33 L.Ed. 223.
Ill.—Buckley v. Edgewater Beach Hotel Co., 247 Ill.App. 239.
Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W. 2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

Retention of employee as acquiescence

Retaining hotel officer, employed to maintain order, after assault on guest does not show acquiescence in assault.—Buckley v. Edgewater Beach Hotel Co., 247 Ill.App. 239.

29. U.S.—Clancy v. Barker, Neb., 131 F. 161, 66 C.C.A. 469, 69 L.R.A. 653.
Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W. 2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

30. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.

31. Physician

Hotel corporation was not liable for negligent treatment of injured guest by physician having office in hotel building and recommended by hotel employees, in absence of allegations that he was employed by, or represented, hotel company, or that latter was negligent in recommending him, there being no relation of master and servant.—Barry v. Merriman, 214 N.Y.S. 66, 215 App.Div. 294.

32. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.
Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.
Wash.—Gurren v. Casperson, 265 P. 472, 473, 147 Wash. 257, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 562 note 67.
Liability of innkeeper for vicious acts of guest's dog see Animals § 165.

Assault after complaint to clerk

Hotel proprietors were liable for assault made on guest by intoxicated guest after notice to clerk that such guest was annoying her.—Gurren v. Casperson, 265 P. 472, 147 Wash. 257.

warning the guest.[33] Thus, an innkeeper has been held liable to a guest contracting a contagious disease for failure to warn him of the presence on the premises of a person having the disease.[34] On the other hand, no negligence can be imputed to an innkeeper for failing to anticipate a misuse by a guest of an article of common use.[35]

Liability to persons other than guests. Injury to persons other than guests from defective premises or appliances is considered infra subdivision b of this section.

An innkeeper who becomes aware of the existence of a nuisance on his premises has the duty to exercise ordinary or reasonable care to abate it,[36] and is liable to strangers for injuries resulting from his negligent failure to do so;[37] likewise, he must protect strangers from acts done by his guests while in the inn, where he has knowledge of their intended conduct.[38] However, an innkeeper is not liable to a stranger for personal injury resulting from the act of a guest where neither he nor his agents knew, or by the exercise of reasonable care could have known, that the manner and behavior of the guest were such as to indicate to a man of average prudence that the guest might commit acts which would naturally result in injury to others;[39] thus, he is not responsible for the consequences of his guest's willful act in throwing articles to the street unless he could prevent it.[40]

An invitee of a hotel guest may recover damages for assault and battery by its agents in ejecting him,[41] or by a third person whose aid the agents accepted,[42] and he need not prove malice.[43]

An innkeeper is not the insurer of the safety of licensees,[44] nor does the law impose on him any general duty to afford complete protection to a licensee;[45] but he must not injure him willfully or by his active negligence or that of an employee acting within the scope of his employment.[46]

Liability of keeper of lodging house or restaurant. It has been said that the liability of a lodging house keeper for personal injuries to a lodger is the same as that of an innkeeper.[47] A restaurant keeper has been required to exercise reasonable care to protect his patrons from injury,[48] and has been held liable for injury to a patron resulting from the negligence of a waiter in causing hot coffee to be spilled on the patron,[49] or for injury from the use of excessive force by an employee in ejecting a patron,[50] or for injury to a patron who was attacked when he attempted to leave the restaurant because of delay in serving his order;[51] and it seems that a restaurant keeper is liable for injury to one patron at the hands of another patron where he had notice through the continued offensive, boisterous, and unlawful conduct of the latter patron, and, after being so notified and warned, made no effort to protect the injured patron.[52]

b. From Defective Premises or Appliances

(1) In general
(2) Injury to persons other than guests
(3) Contributory negligence and assumption of risk

(1) In General

An innkeeper must exercise ordinary or reasonable

33. Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.

34. Iowa.—Gilbert v. Hoffman, 23 N.W. 632, 66 Iowa 205, 55 Am.R. 263.

35. N.Y.—Polsey v. Waldorf-Astoria, 222 N.Y.S. 273, 220 App.Div. 613.

Massive floor lamp
N.Y.—Polsey v. Waldorf-Astoria, supra.

36. Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.

Throwing of objects from windows by guests.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., supra.

37. Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., supra.

38. Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.

39. Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., supra.
32 C.J. p 562 note 69.

Corpus Juris quoted in considering liability of truck operator or owner for negligence in connection with misconduct of invitees.—Agsten v. Lemma, 193 S.E. 545, 547, 119 W.Va. 330.

40. Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A. L.R. 1081.

41. Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., App., 92 S.W.2d 961.

Absence of physical injury
Jerking and pushing such invitee constituted assault and battery, even though invitee sustained no physical injury.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., supra.

42. Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., supra.

Third person acting in self-defense
However, hotel whose agents were ejecting invitee's guest was held not liable for injuries inflicted on guest by third person who struck guest in necessary defense of third person's own person.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., supra.

43. Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., supra.

44. La.—Comfort v. Monteleone, App., 163 So. 670.

45. La.—Comfort v. Monteleone, supra.

46. La.—Womack v. Hotel Frances, App., 151 So. 128.

47. N.Y.—Thomas v. Wollcott, 180 N.Y.S. 798.

48. Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.

49. N.Y.—Epstein v. Childs Co., 157 N.Y.S. 210.

50. N.J.—Fuller v. State Cafeteria, 130 A. 4, 3 N.J.Misc. 759.
Exclusion after acceptance generally see supra § 9.

51. La.—Hooper v. Caldarera, App., 164 So. 441.

52. N.Y.—Molloy v. Coletti, 186 N.Y.S. 730, 114 Misc. 177.
32 C.J. p 562 note 72.

care to keep his buildings, premises, and appliances, or at least those parts of the premises which his guests are invited, or may reasonably be expected, to use, reasonably safe for their use; and if his negligence in this respect is the proximate cause of a guest's injury, he is liable.

It is the duty of an innkeeper, hotel keeper, or keeper of a lodging house,[53] or the keeper of a

53. U.S.—Hotel Dempsey Co. v. Teel, C.C.A.Ga., 128 F.2d 673, stating Georgia law—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, stating Iowa law—Snapp Hotel & Realty Co. v. Elbert, C.C.A.Mo., 108 F.2d 661—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825, 827, citing Corpus Juris—Nettles v. Emerick, D.C.Pa., 22 F.Supp. 441.

Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900—Schlemmer v. Stokes, 117 P.2d 396, 47 Cal.App.2d 164—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76 P.2d 210, 25 Cal.App.2d 51—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 744, 91 Cal.App. 715, citing Corpus Juris.

D.C.—Berghman v. Dufresne, 24 F.2d 280, 58 App.D.C. 15.

Ga.—Holloman v. Henry Grady Hotel Co., 156 S.E. 275, 42 Ga.App. 347.

Ill.—Pollard v. Broadway Central Hotel Corporation, 187 N.E. 487, 353 Ill. 312, reversing 269 Ill.App. 77.

Iowa.—Van Heukelom v. Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, 270 N.W. 16, 22, 222 Iowa 1033, citing Corpus Juris—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.

La.—De Latour v. Roosevelt Hotel, App., 1 So.2d 353.

Mo.—Marden v. Radford, 84 S.W.2d 947, 953, 229 Mo.App. 789, citing Corpus Juris—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., 60 S.W.2d 712, 713, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.

Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402.

Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131—Neagley v. Cassone, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 632, 12 Lehigh Co.L.J. 290.

Tex.—Morten Inv. Co. v. Jordan, Civ. App., 57 S.W.2d 887, reversed on other grounds Jordan v. Morten Inv. Co., 90 S.W.2d 241, 127 Tex. 37.

Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 619, 99 Utah 208, citing Corpus Juris.

W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 853, 119 W.Va. 690, quoting Corpus Juris.

32 C.J. p 562 note 73.

Test of care

"In determining whether or not a sufficient degree of care was exercised in . . . [maintaining a stairway], its conformity to custom or usage is a proper test to be applied, provided only that the construction of the stairway was not inherently dangerous."—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., Mo.App., 60 S.W.2d 712, 713.

Ingress and egress; passageways

(1) An innkeeper's duty to use reasonable care for guests' safety extends to public passageways and exits.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 119 W.Va. 690—Hunn v. Windsor Hotel Co., 193 S.E. 57, 58, 119 W.Va. 215, citing Corpus Juris.

(2) Innkeeper for hire must provide guest with reasonably safe means of ingress and egress.

Ill.—Pollard v. Broadway Central Hotel Corporation, 187 N.E. 487, 353 Ill. 312, reversing 269 Ill.App. 77.

La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So.2d 71.

(3) "The obligation of the hotel proprietor includes particularly the duty to provide safe arrangements for the entrance and departure of people."—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 207, 168 Misc. 431, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App.Div. 1012, affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597.

Window grills

"The failure to have protecting grills at the windows is not negligence. . . . No law and no custom requires them."—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825, 827.

Floors

(1) The fact that tile floor in hotel lavatory was hard and smooth, like all floors of similar construction, was of itself not negligence on the part of hotel proprietor.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.

(2) A floor that is suitable for dancing may not for that reason be said to be dangerous so as to render hotel liable for injuries sustained by an ordinary guest in fall thereon.—Heim v. Deshler-Wallick Hotel Co., Ohio App., 41 N.E.2d 580.

(3) Scrubbing of hotel floor at three o'clock in the morning with water and cleansing compound was held not negligence so as to render hotel company, or company by whom scrubbing was done under contract, liable for injuries to guest slipping on floor.—Walker v. Broad & Walnut Corporation, 182 A. 643, 320 Pa. 504.

(4) Maintenance of highly polished or oiled floors is not negligence.—Stout v. Hamilton Court Corporation, 21 Pa.Dist. & Co. 588.

(5) Mere slipperiness of lodging house kitchen floor, on which tenant fell, did not establish negligence of landlord. Comparison afforded by testimony that floor was polished like ordinary hospital corridors and so far as slipperiness was concerned that it was in about the same condition as the linoleum on the court room floor did not establish a basis on which to find negligence of landlord; and where there was no contention that floor was improperly constructed or out of repair or that wax applied was unfit or improper for use, unless jury were warranted in finding that wax was improperly applied, tenant failed to establish a breach of any duty of landlord.—Kay v. Audet, 28 N.E.2d 462, 306 Mass. 337.

Ceilings

Operation of hotel with ceilings in such condition that they would be likely to fall as result of ordinary vibrations caused by activities of hotel guests, or passing street cars or automobiles, would constitute negligence, as respects innkeeper's liability to guest for injuries by falling plaster.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P.2d 370, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.

Steps; stairs; stairways

(1) Guest injured by tripping on metal strip tacked on edge of step of hotel stairs was held not entitled to recover from hotel owner, in absence of evidence of defective construction or negligent maintenance.—Sams v. Hotel Raleigh, 172 S.E. 371, 205 N.C. 758.

(2) The existence of a slight difference in floor levels in different parts of a hotel which the public are invited to enter does not in itself constitute negligence.—Kelley v. Luke, 299 N.W. 593, 140 Neb. 283.

(3) The fact that there was a six- or seven-inch step which invitee was required to ascend and descend in going to and from a lavatory in a hotel was not of itself evidence of want of due care on part of hotel proprietor.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.

(4) Hotel was not charged with furnishing perfect or fool-proof steps, but duty toward patron was only to provide steps which could be descended in safety by the exercise of ordinary care; and hotel was not chargeable with negligence because it provided its patrons with marble steps and because it did not cover the marble with mats or other nonslip material, in absence of showing that marble was so slick that it could not be walked over in perfect safety with use of ordinary care or a showing that there was any foreign substance or cleaning restaurant[54] and, likewise, according to the decisions on the question, it is the duty of the fluid on it, to make it unusually slippery.—De Latour v. Roosevelt Hotel, La.App., 1 So.2d 353.

(5) Hotel keeper owes guests duty to use reasonable care to keep stairways safe for their use.

Mo.—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712.

N.J.—Abt v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., 162 A. 525, 109 N.J.Law 311.

(6) Hotel keeper was held, as matter of law, not liable for injuries to guest slipping on waxed wooden stairs, where there was no evidence that stairs were improperly constructed or improperly waxed, or out of repair.—Abt v. Leeds & Lippincott Co., supra.

(7) Hotel patron's fall on stairs was not, of itself, evidence of hotel company's negligence in allegedly permitting the stairs to remain in a slippery and dangerous condition; he was not entitled to recover notwithstanding stairs may have been slippery, in absence of proof that a foreign substance had rendered them dangerous, that the dangerous condition remained long enough to give the company reasonable notice, actual or constructive, of its existence, that company, after such notice, negligently failed to remove the danger or warn the guest of its presence, and that such dangerous condition was the proximate cause of the injuries; and company was not charged with notice that marble stairs were unsafe or dangerous merely because they had become allegedly wet from having been walked on by people coming from outside where it was raining, nor did such fact alone establish reasonable notice to company of its existence and danger therefrom.—Ziegler v. Providence Biltmore Hotel Co., 195 A. 397, 59 R.I. 326.

(8) "The absence of handrails from an ordinary interior stairway, walled on both sides, is not actionable negligence."—Wallimaa v. Maki, 204 N.W. 25, 163 Minn. 352, 41 A. L.R. 965.

Water fixtures

(1) An innkeeper not having actual knowledge of defect in handle of hot-water faucet of bathtub had duty of making careful and frequent inspections of bathroom in a careful endeavor to discover any defective condition that would cause an injury to a guest.—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76 P. 2d 210, 25 Cal.App.2d 51.

(2) Innkeeper cannot escape liability to a guest for injuries sustained as result of defect in a water fixture by mere fact that originally fixture was properly installed, since innkeeper must use reasonable care to guard against wear and tear of ordinary use or time alone.—Wallace v. Speier, Cal.App., 140 P.2d 900.

(3) Hotel owner was bound to exercise care to maintain mixing valve of shower bath in a safe and suitable condition for use of guests; and the mere fact that steam and hot water came from shower used by guests warranted a finding that owner was negligent in failing to discover defective condition of shower and remedy the defect or withdraw shower bath from use or to notify those entitled to use it of the danger.—Parsons v. Dwight State Co., 17 N.E. 2d 197, 301 Mass. 324, 118 A.L.R. 1099.

(4) Hotelkeeper owed guest duty to have exercised such care in maintenance of plumbing fixtures that guest could use them in ordinary way without danger; and the fact that hotelkeeper continued to maintain porcelain faucet handles after safer metal handles had been devised would not warrant a finding of negligence so as to render him liable for injuries sustained by guest as result of cutting his hand when porcelain handle broke, in absence of showing that a reasonably prudent hotelkeeper would have known that use of porcelain handles unreasonably subjected guests to danger and that metal handles were not only available but also safer.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.

Presence of ordinary rubbish or supplies

(1) Mere presence of boxes and such rubbish as would ordinarily accumulate about hotel basement was held not to show negligence of innkeeper toward guest.—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.

(2) The keeping of floor polish, floorsweep, and "trash" in hotel closet is not sufficient to charge hotel management with negligence, in absence of evidence as to whether materials were inflammable, as to what "trash" consisted of, as to whether materials were kept in containers, and as to whether they were placed near an open flame.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Jones, Tex.Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 265—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Tex.Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Revolving door

Where an extraordinary number of people in a gay, hilarious, and carousing mood took possession of main lobby of a hotel, the hotel management could readily anticipate that the revolving door would not only be subjected to excessive use, but also that it would be likely to receive rough usage and unseemly abuse, as respects hotel's liability for injuries sustained by sixty-three-year-old woman who was injured when two young persons gave an extra hard push to revolving door through which she was passing.—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 168 Misc. 431, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App. Div. 1012, affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597.

Placing cuspidors in public room of hotel was held not negligence as to guest whose ankle was cut thereby.—Kopelson v. New York Hotel Statler Co., 227 N.Y.S. 281, 131 Misc. 525.

Shuffle board

In determining whether shuffle board on which hotel guest slipped and was injured while using it as a sidewalk was safe, shuffle board was required to be considered with reference to purpose for which it was built. The fact that surface of shuffle board built on hotel lawn flush with ground level was too smooth for safe use as sidewalk did not disclose a "structural defect;" and where guest, after rain, used as a sidewalk a shuffle board which was constructed for game purposes, in absence of showing that deposits of dirt, leaves, and other debris on surface of board, which combined with smooth character of surface to cause a slippery condition, had existed long enough to constitute notice to hotel proprietor of such dangerous condition, shuffle board was not a "trap."—Kuhlman v. Vandercook, 6 N.W.2d 235, 241 Wis. 418.

Maintenance of circular platform about four inches in height in front of door leading from hotel lobby into coffee shop did not constitute negligence rendering operator of hotel liable for injuries sustained by guest who fell in passing from lobby into coffee shop.—Kelley v. Luke, 299 N.W. 593, 140 Neb. 283.

Multiple dwelling law was intended for the protection of life of occupants of building, and its breach creates a liability per se in favor of those injured thereby.—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997.

54. Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.

Mass.—Del Rosso v. F. W. Woolworth Co., 200 N.E. 277, 293 Mass. 424—O'Leary v. Smith, 150 N.E. 878, 255 Mass. 121.

Pa.—Luckhurst v. Gimbel Bros., Inc., 38 Pa.Super. 281.

Patron is an invitee

Conn.—Johnson v. Pulidy, 165 A. 355, 116 Conn. 443.

Mat

Restaurant owner was held not liable for injuries sustained by patron keeper of a boarding house,[55] to keep his buildings, premises, and appliances in a condition reasonably safe for the use of his guests, or at least those parts of the buildings and premises which they are invited, or may reasonably be expected, to use,[56] and he is obligated to use ordinary or reasonable care to accomplish this;[57] the guest is entitled to rely on, or assume, the performance of this duty,[58] and a violation of such duty constitutes negligence.[59] The duty of maintaining safe premises and appliances cannot be delegated to another, even though the latter is a proper person, so as to avoid responsibility; the innkeeper is liable if the guest is injured by his delegate's negligence.[60]

Thus there is a duty to exercise ordinary or reasonable care to keep the hallways, passageways, and stairways reasonably well lighted[61] and free who jumped and fell when a rat came from kitchen and ran under patron's table, where evidence did not show that restaurant owner had not attempted to keep premises free from rats and did not show whether rat in question came recently on the premises.—Del Rosso v. F. W. Woolworth Co., 200 N.E. 277, 293 Mass. 424.

55. Mo.—Rumann v. Montfort, 153 S.W. 1063, 168 Mo.App. 523.
32 C.J. p 564 note 8.

56. Cal.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 730, 105 Colo. 105, citing Corpus Juris.
Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
Ky.—Cumberland Hotel Operating Co. v. Hartman, 94 S.W.2d 637, 641, 264 Ky. 300, citing Corpus Juris.

Direction by another's employee as limitation

A voluntary direction given to hotel guest by employee of independently-operated garage near hotel that guest should return to hotel by rear entrance and take first door to the left after entering rear passageway was not a "legal invitation" and hence no limitation on any existing invitation by operators of hotel to use the rear passageway could arise therefrom, although evidence thereof was pertinent in considering alleged contributory negligence of guest causing her to fall into freight elevator shaft adjacent to the rear entryway.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P. 2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.

57. U.S.—Hotel Dempsey Co. v. Teel, C.C.A.Ga., 128 F.2d 673, stating Georgia law—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A. Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, stating Iowa law—Snapp Hotel & Realty Co. v. Elbert, C.C.A.Mo., 108 F.2d 661.
Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.
Ill.—Pollard v. Broadway Central Hotel Corporation, 187 N.E. 487, 353 Ill. 312, reversing 269 Ill.App. 77.
Iowa.—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N.W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.
Mass.—Del Rosso v. F. W. Woolworth Co., 200 N.E. 277, 293 Mass. 424.
Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.
Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.
W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 119 W.Va. 690.

"He is not an insurer of the safety of the premises nor of the hotel equipment."—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 667, 216 Cal. 182.

Cleaning room

Proprietor of hotel is bound to use due care to have room therein thoroughly cleaned after its occupants have left hotel, and before its assignment to incoming guests; and where hotel failed thoroughly to clean room before assignment to incoming guest, and guest stepped on needle lying on floor, hotel was held liable.—Nelson v. Ritz-Carlton Restaurant & Hotel Co., 157 A. 133, 9 N. J.Misc. 1240.

Swimming pool

The proprietor of a summer hotel who maintained a swimming pool for the use of guests did not have "an absolute duty to maintain the pool in a reasonably safe condition," but "only the duty to exercise ordinary care in the maintenance of the pool."—Bristol v. Ernst, 27 N.Y. S.2d 119, 120, 261 App.Div. 713.

58. U.S.—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825—Nettles v. Emerick, D.C.Pa., 22 F.Supp. 441.
Cal.—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, 60 P.2d 855, 7 Cal.2d 358.
Conn.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 336, 124 Conn. 400.
D.C.—Berghman v. Dufresne, 24 F.2d 280, 58 App.D.C. 15.
Pa.—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa. Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131.
Tex.—Morten Inv. Co. v. Jordan, Civ. App., 57 S.W.2d 887, reversed on other grounds Jordan v. Morten Inv. Co., 90 S.W.2d 241, 127 Tex. 37.
"When one goes to a hotel the very thing he bargains for is the use of safe premises."—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, Mo.App., 144 S.W.2d 177, 181.

Passageways

"Ordinarily a guest or patron may rely upon the safety of passageways which he is invited to use."—Fort Dodge Hotel Co., of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, 257.

Side entrance

Where hotel porch was provided with side entrance in addition to main or front entrance, guests using side entrance could rely on the implied assurance of hotel that it had provided reasonably safe facilities for their use. "Upon approaching and entering a public place the patron is not necessarily required to take the better of two entrances, so long as the one taken does not present such obvious hazards as would deter an ordinarily prudent person from attempting it under the circumstances."—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 777, 45 N.M. 50.

59. U.S.—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253.

Hotel as incidental business

Property owner is liable for guest's falling into open ditch that crossed pathway, notwithstanding running hotel was incidental to main business.—Allingham v. Long-Bell Lumber Co., 241 P. 298, 136 Wash. 681.

60. N.Y.—Stott v. Churchill, 51 N.E. 1094, 157 N.Y. 692, affirming 36 N. Y.S. 476, 15 Misc. 80.
32 C.J. p 564 note 7.

61. Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
Ky.—Burgauer v. McClellan, 265 S.W. 439, 205 Ky. 51.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.
Tex.—Morten Inv. Co. v. Jordan, Civ. App., 57 S.W.2d 887, reversed on other grounds Jordan v. Morten Inv. Co., 90 S.W.2d 241, 127 Tex. 37.
However, failure of restaurant owner to have light in stairway leading to basement has been held not negligence.—Brown v. Berles, 208 N. W. 461, 234 Mich. 353.

Measure of duty

"Defendant's duty to furnish light was to be measured by the danger to be encountered if the stairway was not reasonably illuminated."—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., Mo. App., 60 S.W.2d 712, 714.

Effect of statute

(1) Leaving hall unlighted, in vio-

of obstructions or hazards.[62]

Apart from cases in which a breach of warranty of fitness of the premises for use is found,[63] an innkeeper is liable for an injury to a guest, claimed to arise from defective premises or appliances, where, and only where, his negligence in this respect is the proximate cause of the injury,[64] provided the guest at the time is in a place where he has a right, and is reasonably expected, to go;[65] an injury to a guest while in a place where he has no right, and cannot reasonably be expected, to go is not one which the innkeeper could reasonably have anticipated, and there is no liability.[66] The innkeeper's liability has been limited to injuries resulting from defects in the premises which are known to him or which in the exercise of reasonable care he would discover;[67] and he has been said to be chargeable with all injuries occurring to his guests from latent defects in the premises.[68]

The foregoing rules have been applied in cases involving unguarded stairways,[69] and have been aplation of statute, has been held negligence per se.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N.E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.

(2) Statute regulating hotels and describing duties and powers of hotel inspector had no substantial bearing on cause of action for injuries to hotel guest falling down unguarded stairway because of insufficient lighting in hallway.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.

62. U.S.—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, stating Iowa law.
Ky.—Burgauer v. McClellan, 265 S. W. 439, 205 Ky. 51.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.

Notice of obstruction

Hotel company owed duty to give adequate notice and warning of laundry cart's presence in hotel hallway to all persons who might collide therewith; persistent use of cart in hotel hallways by laundry company's employee was notice of laundry company's method in using cart to hotel roomer as well as hotel company sued by him for injuries from tripping over cart.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel, 241 N.W. 484, 214 Iowa 1150.

63. Cal.—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, 60 P.2d 855, 857, 7 Cal.2d 358.

"The fact that the word 'warrant' was not used in the conversation between the manager of the hotel and the plaintiff is an immaterial matter."—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, supra.

Effect of inspection by guest

That guest who was injured when folding bed in apartment collapsed inspected room and its furnishings before renting room is insufficient to relieve owners from liability for breach of hotel manager's warranty of fitness for use.—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, supra.

64. U.S.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, D.C. Conn., 27 F.Supp. 228.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
Ga.—Home Owners Loan Corporation v. Brazzeal, 9 S.E.2d 773, 62 Ga.App. 683.
Ill.—Pollard v. Broadway Central Hotel Corporation, 187 N.E. 487, 353 Ill. 312, reversing 269 Ill.App. 77.
Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
Minn.—Judd v. Landin, 1 N.W.2d 861, 211 Minn. 465—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267—Gustafson v. Arthur L. Roberts Hotel Co., 261 N.W. 447, 194 Minn. 575.
Miss.—Rose v. Rather, 199 So. 299, 190 Miss. 105.
Pa.—Walker v. Broad & Walnut Corporation, 182 A. 643, 320 Pa. 504—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.
W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 853, 119 W.Va. 690, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 562 note 73, p 563 note 74.

Failure to comply with statutory safety requirements, while constituting negligence, imposes no liability unless it was the proximate cause of the guest's injury.
Cal.—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S.W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36 and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.
Minn.—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.
N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N. Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.
Pa.—Neagley v. Cassone, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 632, 12 Lehigh Co.L.J. 290.

65. Ky.—Cumberland Hotel Operating Co. v. Hartman, 94 S.W.2d 637, 264 Ky. 300.
W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 853, 119 W.Va. 690, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 563 note 75.

66. Ky.—Cumberland Hotel Operating Co. v. Hartman, 94 S.W.2d 637, 264 Ky. 300.

67. Cal.—Crawford v. Pacific States Savings & Loan Co., 71 P.2d 333, 22 Cal.App.2d 448.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
R.I.—Ziegler v. Providence Biltmore Hotel Co., 195 A. 397, 59 R.I. 326.

Rule not strictly applied

"The general rule is that the owner of property is liable for injuries resulting from defects or conditions known to the owner and not known to the invitee or licensee, but that rule should not be applied in strictness where the relationship of innkeeper and guest exists, especially where . . . it was not only the duty of the innkeeper to use ordinary care in inspecting its rooms, but the evidence shows it assumed such duty and had a rule that the rooms be inspected and the lights tried by the maids and bellboys before turning them over to guests."—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, Mo.App., 144 S.W.2d 177, 181.

Glass on stair

In action for injuries a guest sustained in stepping on a drinking glass and falling down stairs, an inference that failure to discover and remove glass was due to want of proper care was not justified, in the absence of evidence as to who placed glass on stairs, how long glass had been there, or as to failure of innkeeper properly to inspect premises. —Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Tex.Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused.

68. Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P. 2d 370, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.

69. Ala.—West v. Thomas, 11 So. 768, 97 Ala. 622.
Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.
Minn.—Judd v. Landin, 1 N.W.2d 861, 211 Minn. 465.

plied in cases involving unlighted,[70] or defective[71] stairways, unguarded or defectively guarded elevator shafts,[72] defective railings[73] or air-shaft gates,[74] unguarded openings in platforms of fire escapes,[75] defective[76] or insecurely or unsafely fastened[77] window screens, defective chairs,[78] unsafe heating appliances,[79] and an unsafe room in which the guest was placed.[80]

Maintenance and operation of elevator. The proprietor of a hotel operating an elevator therein for the transportation of his guests from one floor to another is bound to use at least ordinary care in the maintenance and operation of the elevator,[81] and a high,[82] or the highest,[83] degree of care has been required. Indeed, it is held that he is bound to use the same care and diligence for the safety of his guests while in the elevator as is required of a carrier of passengers by other means,[84] and that he is required to exercise extraordinary diligence for the safety of his guests while they are getting on, riding on, or getting off the elevator.[85] This rule of diligence is not limited to the actual technical operation of the machine, but includes such examination, inspection, and repair of its physical and mechanical parts as is necessary to keep and maintain it in a fit and proper condition for safe operation.[86] Failure to maintain safety gates in violation of a statute has been declared negligence per se;[87] but in particular circumstances failure to furnish elevator service has been held not negligence as a matter of law.[88]

Intervening force. Although an innkeeper was negligent in failing to keep his premises in a safe condition, he is not liable for an injury to a guest where an independent and intervening force or power, such as the act of another guest, was sufficient of itself to cause the injury and hence was the proximate cause thereof;[89] but he is liable where the intervening force was insufficient of itself to cause the injury and would not have caused it save for the defective condition of the premises.[90]

Liability of persons in particular relations. The lessee of a building who conducts a hotel therein has been held liable for a defective condition of the building or its appliances which causes injury to a guest,[91] and under some statutory language the

Wis.—Burling v. Schroeder Hotel Co., 291 N.W. 810, 235 Wis. 403.

70. Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.
32 C.J. p 563 note 77.

71. La.—Williams v. Mayer, supra.

72. Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P. 2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
32 C.J. p 563 note 78.

73. Cal.—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 91 Cal.App. 715.
D.C.—Berghman v. Dufresne, 24 F. 2d 280, 58 App.D.C. 15.
Neb.—Omaha Hotel Ass'n v. Walters, 36 N.W. 561, 23 Neb. 280.

74. Cal.—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 91 Cal.App. 715.

75. Cal.—Marr v. Whistler, 193 P. 600, 49 Cal.App. 364.
32 C.J. p 563 note 80.

76. Ala.—Dye-Washburn Hotel Co. v. Aldridge, 93 So. 512, 207 Ala. 471.

77. Ala.—Dye-Washburn Hotel Co. v. Aldridge, supra.

78. Colo.—Burchmore v. Antlers Hotel Co., 130 P. 846, 54 Colo. 314.
Pa.—Luckhurst v. Gimbel Bros., Inc., 38 Pa.Super. 281.

79. Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.

80. N.C.—Patrick v. Springs, 70 S. E. 395, 154 N.C. 270, Ann.Cas.1912A 1209.

Reason for rule

"Such a matter is peculiarly within the knowledge, control, and power of the innkeeper."—Crockett v. Troyk, Tex.Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012, 1014.

81. N.J.—McCracken v. Meyers, 68 A. 805, 75 N.J.Law 935, 16 L.R.A., N.S., 290.

Blind person

Hotel operating passenger elevator and blind guest had mutual duty to exercise greater care to avoid injury to such guest than would be needed for guests who are not blind. —Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.

82. Utah.—Gardner v. Newhouse Realty Co., 267 P. 186, 71 Utah 460.

83. Mont.—Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.
Ohio.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N. E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.

84. Mo.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 69 S.W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941.
Mont.—Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.
Ohio.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N.E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.
32 C.J. p 563 note 86.

85. Ga.—Bullard v. Rolader, 110 S. E. 16, 152 Ga. 369, affirming 107 S.E. 548, 26 Ga.App. 742.
32 C.J. p 563 note 87.

Providing safe means for leaving

Stopping of elevator by operator at floor and opening doors was invitation to hotel guest to leave elevator; and operator had duty to place elevator in such position that guest had reasonably safe means of leaving it, and, if operator failed to do so, he was negligent, and guest could recover for injuries caused by stumbling over shaft wall.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 69 S. W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941.

86. Ga.—Bullard v. Rolader, 107 S. E. 548, 26 Ga.App. 742, affirmed 110 S.E. 16, 152 Ga. 369.

87. Ohio.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N.E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.

88. Tex.—Robinson v. Gunter Hotel Corporation, Civ.App., 173 S.W.2d 318, error refused.

89. Ala.—Dye-Washburn Hotel Co. v. Aldridge, 93 So. 512, 207 Ala. 471.

90. Mass.—Promisel v. Hotels Statler Corporation, 189 N.E. 804, 286 Mass. 15.
32 C.J. p 563 note 90.

Fall of flower box

Where spectator in hotel balcony inadvertently shoved flower box resting without attachment or guard rail on edge of floor of balcony and box fell to main floor injuring plaintiff who was attending dance, hotel was held liable for injury as against contention that spectator's negligence was proximate cause of injury, since hotel was put on notice that precarious position of box endangered safety of persons on main floor.—Darrah v. Wilkinsburg Hotel Co., 178 A. 669, 318 Pa. 511.

91. Ga.—Home Owners Loan Corporation v. Brazzeal, 9 S.E.2d 773, 62 Ga.App. 683.

owner in fee and his lessee have been held jointly and severally liable;[92] but where the action is based on a breach of the owner's statutory duty with respect to the building, and not on a breach of a common-law duty, there is no liability on his lessee.[93] A bank operating a hotel as trustee under a trust deed has been held liable for negligence,[94] as has also its president in immediate control of the hotel;[95] and the manager of a hotel has been held liable for injuries caused by defects in the premises, regardless of who owns or constructed the building.[96]

(2) Injury to Persons Other than Guests

An innkeeper owes to persons properly invited to the premises, as by guests, the duty of maintaining the premises in reasonably safe condition and of exercising ordinary or reasonable care to protect them from injury; but this duty does not extend to a mere licensee or a trespasser. An innkeeper must use ordinary or reasonable care to keep the building from being a source of danger to persons using the adjacent streets.

While an innkeeper is not the insurer of those visiting his guests,[97] he owes at all times to persons properly invited to the hotel, by guests or otherwise, the duty of maintaining his premises in a reasonably safe condition,[98] and of exercising ordinary or reasonable care to protect such persons while in the hotel and in the part thereof open to the public from personal injury through his negligence;[99] and it has been said that he ordinarily owes to a guest of his guest the same degree of care as to such guest himself.[1] An invitee has a right to assume that proper care was exercised.[2]

Elevator

Ga.—Bullard v. Rolader, 110 S.E. 16, 27 Ga.App. 365, affirmed 107 S.E. 548, 152 Ga. 369.

92. Minn.—Judd v. Landin, 1 N.W. 2d 861, 211 Minn. 465.

93. N.Y.—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997.

94. Ky.—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.

95. Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36, and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.

96. Okl.—Seay v. Plunkett, 145 P. 496, 44 Okl. 794.

97. La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So.2d 71.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

98. Conn.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 336, 124 Conn. 400.
Iowa.—Van Heukelom v. Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, 270 N.W. 16, 22, 222 Iowa 1033, citing Corpus Juris.
Ky.—Seelbach, Inc. v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790.
La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.
Mass.—Sterns v. Highland Hotel Co., 29 N.E.2d 721, 307 Mass. 90.
Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69.
Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.
Pa.—Parsons v. Drake, 32 A.2d 27, 347 Pa. 247.
32 C.J. p 563 note 96.

Hallways

Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

Failure to keep lights in passageway held negligence per se.—Allred v. Orth, 274 P. 955, 206 Cal. 494.

Slippery stairways

That stairways in public places such as hotels are frequently smooth and somewhat slippery does not mean that the public are required to use them at their own risk, regardless of the care exercised by them in such use or the apparent possibility of using them safely by the use of proper care.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.

Revolving door; absence of attendant

The maintenance of a standard revolving door at floor level approximately four and one half inches higher than the sidewalk and with a step extending five and one half inches past the rubber strips on the four panels of door when they were at right angles with the sidewalk, was not negligence on part of owner of hotel and did not render hotel liable to invitee for injuries sustained in fall on leaving hotel through revolving door; and the fact that owner had no attendant at door was not evidence of his negligence.—Sterns v. Highland Hotel Co., 29 N.E. 2d 721, 307 Mass. 90.

99. Cal.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.
Mass.—Sterns v. Highland Hotel Co., 29 N.E.2d 721, 307 Mass. 90.
Miss.—Kramer Service v. Wilkins, 186 So. 625, 184 Miss. 483.
Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.
32 C.J. p 563 note 97.

"The owner or proprietor of a hotel likewise extends an implied invitation to guests specifically invited by tenants to come into the building, and therefore must extend to them the standard of care required for invitees."—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 711, 195 Wash. 52.

Care of injured person

"It was the duty of the hotel company to use reasonable care to see that one injured on its premises and by the operation of its business receives prompt and proper care and treatment to the end that his injuries, however occasioned, may not be aggravated by unnecessary and avoidable delay or inattention. Such care must be commensurate with the facilities available to the party charged and with the needs of the party injured, and such duty is heightened once the injured party is taken in charge by the other."—Meador v. Hotel Grover, 9 So.2d 782, 785, 193 Miss. 392.

1. Cal.—Borgnis v. California Oregon Power Co., 258 P. 394, 84 Cal. App. 465.

2. Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W. 2d 570, 303 Mich. 69.

Correction of condition

In action by invitee of a hotel for injuries received when she slipped on waxed, uncarpeted, tile stairway, use of the stairs in view of her knowledge in the past of the slippery condition did not constitute contributory negligence as a matter of law, since the invitee had the right to assume that hotel in exercise of ordinary care for the safety of its invitees would discover and remove the danger.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal.App. 2d 450.

Warning

"Defendant's duty to the plaintiff was to exercise reasonable care to keep its premises in a reasonably safe condition for her use according to the invitation, or, at least, to warn her against any dangers attendant upon such use that were not known to her or obvious to an ordinarily intelligent person, and either were known or, in the exercise of reasonable care, should have been known to the defendant."—Sterns v.

This duty has been held not to obtain so as to render the innkeeper liable where the injury to the invitee was due to a patent defect[3] or structural insecurity[4] in the premises or equipment of the hotel.

The duty to keep the premises in repair does not extend to a mere gratuitous licensee;[5] the only duty owed by an innkeeper or lodging house keeper to a trespasser or mere licensee is not to injure him willfully or wantonly or by active negligence,[6] and he is not liable to him for negligence in failing to keep the premises in good repair.[7] The duty to keep in repair does not extend to a person who, although invited to the hotel by a guest, loses the position of an invitee and becomes a trespasser or mere licensee, as where he enters or remains in the hotel for an unlawful or improper purpose,[8] or where, going beyond the scope and purpose of the invitation, he goes into some portion of the premises not covered by the invitation, or to which there is no reason to expect him to go;[9] but where the unlawful purpose is known to defendant's servant in charge, the rule as to trespassers does not apply.[10]

The duty of exercising care in the maintenance and operation of a passenger elevator is owed by the innkeeper to every person having lawful business on the premises, whether guest, visitor, or otherwise.[11]

Persons using streets; fall of objects from windows. An innkeeper is bound to use ordinary or reasonable care to maintain the building in such condition that it is not a source of danger to persons using the streets adjacent thereto,[12] but he is not an insurer in this respect.[13] To sustain a recovery for injuries from an object alleged to have fallen from the window or window sill of an inn, there must be some causal connection between such fall and the acts of the innkeeper or of persons for whose acts he may be held responsible.[14] The innkeeper's responsibility for acts of permanent guests rises no higher than that of a landlord who rents his building as an apartment house; he is not required to contract with such a guest against the latter's placing articles on window sills, in order to be relieved of liability. With respect to premises occupied by transient guests, an innkeeper is under no duty to inspect window sills to see whether objects are placed there, and is not liable for injury from the fall of objects so placed unless he knew, or should have known, of such placement and of the danger, and failed to take immediate steps to remove the danger.[15]

Highland Hotel Co., 29 N.E.2d 721, 722, 307 Mass. 90.

3. Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, 201 P. 462, 187 Cal. 206.

Defect held not patent

Cal.—Allred v. Orth, 274 P. 955, 956, 206 Cal. 494.

Guest's knowledge not imputed to visitor

"To charge the invitee, who was totally unfamiliar with the premises, with the knowledge which the guest who resided therein possessed of said premises, would be a distortion of legal principles."—Allred v. Orth, supra.

4. Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, 201 P. 462, 187 Cal. 206.

5. Pa.—Parsons v. Drake, 32 A.2d 27, 347 Pa. 247.

Permission to view parade

That persons not connected with a hotel or its guests had been permitted to view parades from a hotel balcony did not alter status of plaintiffs as "gratuitous licensees" so as to entitle them to recover from hotel owners for injuries sustained when floor of balcony on which plaintiffs were standing to view a parade gave way.—Parsons v. Drake, supra.

6. Cal.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.

La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.

32 C.J. p 563 note 91.

7. Fla.—Noyes v. Fisher, 159 So. 666, 118 Fla. 494.

Mass.—Rathgeber v. Kelley, 13 N.E. 2d 1, 299 Mass. 444.

N.Y.—Morrison v. Hotel Rutledge Co., 193 N.Y.S. 428, 200 App.Div. 636.

Promise to repair was gratuitous, and its nonperformance imposed no liability on operator of lodging house.—Rathgeber v. Kelley, 13 N.E. 2d 1, 299 Mass. 444.

8. La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So.2d 71.

N.C.—Jones v. Bland, 108 S.E. 344, 182 N.C. 70, 16 A.L.R. 1383.

9. Cal.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.

32 C.J. p 563, note 3.

10. Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.

11. N.J.—McCracken v. Meyers, 68 A. 805, 75 N.J.Law 935, 16 L.R.A., N.S., 290.

Utah.—Gardner v. Newhouse Realty Co., 267 P. 186, 71 Utah 460.

12. Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 907, 230 Iowa 739.

13. Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., supra.

Reasonably foreseeable act; reasonable prudence

In action against hotel operators for injuries to infant struck by window screen which fell when hotel guest attempted to raise it, it was not reasonably foreseeable that guest, in looking for parade, would raise screen out of guides, which could not be done by holding onto handles, and would apply outward pressure necessary to dislodge screen; defendants' acts would be gauged "by the reasonably prudent person rule."—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., supra.

14. Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.

Screen

Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 230 Iowa 739.

15. Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.

Placement by occupants of apartments

Fact that bottles were placed on window sill by occupants of apartments was held not sufficient to charge proprietor with notice as to windows of transient guests.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., supra.

(3) Contributory Negligence and Assumption of risk

Contributory negligence or assumption of risk may bar recovery by a guest or other person against an innkeeper for injuries claimed to result from a defect in the building, premises, or appliances.

A guest or other person has the duty of exercising ordinary or reasonable care for his own safety, or care commensurate with the danger,[16] particularly where a defect in the building, premises, or appliances of an inn or restaurant is an obvious one, or is known to him;[17] and where he is guilty of contributory negligence, he cannot recover from the innkeeper[18] or restaurant keeper.[19] Voluntary assumption of risk may also bar recovery.[20] The guest has been said to assume the risk of patent defects;[21] but a guest using ordinary care may, it is held, recover from an innkeeper for injuries resulting from the latter's negligence in allowing a defect, even though the guest knew of it.[22] It has been held that a guest assumed the risk of injury where, after having been in the hotel for such a length of time that he knew, or had an opportunity to know, of the alleged defects which he claims was the cause of his injury, he voluntarily elected to remain;[23] but a guest does not, by voluntarily taking a room in a building not having safeguards as required by statute, assume the risk of the owner's negligence in failing to comply with the statute.[24]

Under some circumstances a guest or lodger is deemed guilty of contributory negligence in using a dark or unlighted stairway[25] or in using a 16. U.S.—De Honey v. Harding, C.C.A.N.D., 300 F. 696.

Iowa.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel Co., 241 N.W. 484, 214 Iowa 1150.
La.—De Latour v. Roosevelt Hotel, App., 1 So.2d 353.
Mo.—Gray v. Levy, 48 S.W.2d 20, 226 Mo.App. 991.
Neb.—Kelley v. Luke, 299 N.W. 593, 140 Neb. 283.
Pa.—Walker v. Broad & Walnut Corporation, 182 A. 643, 320 Pa. 504—Stout v. Hamilton Court Corporation, 21 Pa.Dist. & Co. 588.
Va.—Baker v. Butterworth, 89 S.E. 849, 119 Va. 402, L.R.A.1916F 1287.
"Special care" not required.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 836, 838, 124 Conn. 400.
Use of stairway instead of elevator held not negligence.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal. App.2d 450.
Claim of care as mere conclusion
Plaintiff's testimony that she was very careful about walking up and down the steps was but the statement of a legal conclusion and insufficient to negative contributory negligence.—Seelbach, Inc. v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790.
Guest in state of voluntary intoxication is to be judged by the same standard of conduct and held to the same degree of care as a sober man in like circumstances.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.

17. Ga.—Vaissiere v. J. B. Pound Hotel Co., 190 S.E. 354, 184 Ga. 72, affirming J. B. Pound Hotel Co. v. Vaissiere, 187 S.E. 279, 54 Ga.App. 162.
Ky.—Seelbach, Inc. v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790.
Mo.—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.
Pa.—Levitt v. B/G Sandwich Shops, 144 A. 71, 294 Pa. 291.
S.D.—Harris v. Midwest Oil Co. of South Dakota, 292 N.W. 397, 67 S.D. 300.
Wash.—Viles v. Thunborg, 2 P.2d 666, 164 Wash. 190.
32 C.J. p 564 note 11.
Contributory negligence as matter of law
That guest suing for injuries from fall on hotel stairs knew of defect in steps does not make her contributorily negligent as matter of law, if she exercised care which a reasonably prudent person would exercise, under like circumstances.—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.

18. Cal.—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442.
Ga.—Vaissiere v. J. B. Pound Hotel Co., 190 S.E. 354, 184 Ga. 72, affirming J. B. Pound Hotel Co. v. Vaissiere, 187 S.E. 279, 54 Ga.App. 162.
Iowa.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel Co., 241 N.W. 484, 214 Iowa 1150.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S.W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.
Minn.—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.
Mo.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 69 S.W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941—Gray v. Levy, 48 S.W.2d 20, 226 Mo.App. 991—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.
Pa.—Walker v. Broad & Walnut Corporation, 182 A. 643, 320 Pa. 504.
S.D.—Harris v. Midwest Oil Co. of South Dakota, 292 N.W. 397, 67 S.D. 300.
Wash.—Viles v. Thunborg, 2 P.2d 666, 164 Wash. 190.
32 C.J. p 564 note 12.
Fire see infra subdivision c of this section.
Guest's blindness was fact which jury was required to consider in deciding question of his contributory negligence in stepping through partially open door of passenger elevator in hotel.—Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.
Failure to use handrails held contributory negligence as matter of law.—Seelbach, Inc., v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790.
Proceeding in darkness
Plaintiff proceeding at ordinary pace in utterly strange locus in dark was held contributorily negligent, precluding recovery for injuries sustained, in falling into entranceway to hotel basement.—Erickson v. McKay, 242 N.W. 133, 207 Wis. 497.

19. Minn.—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.
Pa.—Levitt v. B/G Sandwich Shops, 144 A. 71, 294 Pa. 291.

20. W.Va.—Hunn v. Windsor Hotel Co., 193 S.E. 57, 58, 119 W.Va. 215, citing Corpus Juris.
Test of conduct
"In considering his conduct [to determine whether plaintiff assumed risk], the plaintiff is to be judged by the conduct of the ordinary man similarly situated."—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E. 2d 573, 576, 313 Mass. 56.
Doctrine held inapplicable
Ky.—Seelbach, Inc., v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790.

21. Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182.

22. Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.

23. Wash.—Glass v. Colman, 45 P. 310, 14 Wash. 635.

24. Miss.—Jabour v. McKnight, 111 So. 370, 145 Miss. 885.

25. Me.—Cook v. McGillicuddy, 75 A. 338, 106 Me. 119.
N.Y.—Thomas v. Wolcott, 180 N.Y.S. 798.
Contributory negligence as matter of law
Hotel guest, hurrying from her room diagonally across corridor, paying no attention to where she was going and not using her senses.

dark or unlighted passageway,[26] as in instances where lighted stairways,[27] or the means of providing light,[28] are available to him. On the other hand, it is held that a guest cannot be charged with contributory negligence or assumption of risk merely because he uses a darkened stairway where the elevator is out of commission and the stairway is the only means available for passing between his room and the ground floor,[29] or where, on instructions from an employee, he uses an insufficiently lighted hallway, but exercises care;[30] and contributory negligence[31] and assumption of risk[32] have been found absent in other circumstances. A guest's instinctive choice of hazards, representing the exercise of his best judgment in seeking to escape danger, cannot be deemed contributory negligence, even if he erred in his choice.[33] Where the guest is in a dangerous predicament as a result of his own fault, whatever duty of the innkeeper then arises depends on his knowledge, actual or imputed, of the situation; in such case, the negligence of the guest must have spent its force and terminated so as to cease to be a proximate cause of his injury, before the innkeeper may be held liable for any subsequent neglect or nonfeasance, as distinguished from malfeasance or affirmative acts on his part.[34]

c. From Fire

An innkeeper's duty to exercise reasonable care to prevent injury to his guests applies in the event of fire; thus, on discovery of a fire, he must reasonably warn guests, and he is liable for injuries resulting from his failure to comply with statutes or ordinances as to fire.

An innkeeper's duty to exercise reasonable care of the persons of his guests, so as to avoid injury, applies to the outbreak of fire on the premises,[35] although contributory negligence on the part of the guest may relieve the innkeeper of liability.[36] Thus the latter has been required, on the discovery of a fire, seasonably to warn the guest[37] and call the fire department,[38] the duty to warn not arising until the hotel keeper knows about the fire;[39] but a hotel keeper has been held not negligent in failing to assure a guest of his safety, so as to prevent and stepping into a darkened stairway located about seven inches from the intersection of corridors, was held contributorily negligent as matter of law.—De Honey v. Harding, C.C.A.N.D., 300 F. 696.

26. N.Y.—Dailey v. Distler, 100 N.Y.S. 679, 115 App.Div. 102.
Va.—Baker v. Butterworth, 89 S.E. 849, 119 Va. 402, L.R.A.1916F 1287.

27. N.Y.—Thomas v. Wollcott, 180 N.Y.S. 798.

28. Me.—Cook v. McGillicuddy, 75 A. 378, 106 Me. 119.
32 C.J. p 564 note 18.

29. Wash.—Ritter v. Norman, 129 P. 103, 71 Wash. 563, 43 L.R.A.,N.S., 657.

30. Ohio.—Chardon Lakes Inn Co. v. MacBride, 10 N.E.2d 9, 56 Ohio App. 40.

31. Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900.
Kan.—Bradley v. Allis Hotel Co., 109 P.2d 165, 153 Kan. 166.
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.
Wash.—Allingham v. Long-Bell Lumber Co., 241 P. 298, 136 Wash. 681.
32 C.J. p 562 note 67 [b].

32. N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.

33. N.Y.—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997.

34. Or.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.

35. Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W. 2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Watchman's negligent failure to discover fire is chargeable to owners.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

36. Cal.—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S.W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.
Neb.—Strahl v. Miller, 151 N.W. 952, 97 Neb. 820, Ann.Cas.1917A 141, affirmed 36 S.Ct. 147, 239 U.S. 426, 60 L.Ed. 364.

Choice of hazards
In action for death of a lodger arising out of fire, act of lodger in jumping from second-story room was an instinctive choice of hazards which represented exercise of his best judgment, and could not be deemed contributory negligence, even if he erred in his choice.—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997.

37. Ala.—West v. Spratling, 86 So. 32, 204 Ala. 478.
Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 187 N.W. 121, 108 Neb. 49.
Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct.
W.Va.—Stewart v. Raleigh County Bank, 2 S.E.2d 274, 121 W.Va. 181.
Statutory requirement of notice see supra § 7.

"In case of danger from fire . . . it is his duty to give a guest such warning as a reasonable, prudent person would give under like or similar circumstances, taking into consideration the extent of the fire, the size of the building, and the equipment of the hotel installed for the safety and protection of his guests."—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P. 2d 340, 342, 134 Kan. 749.

Ordinary care must be exercised to warn the guest.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Tex.Civ.App., 180 S.W.2d 1010; distinguishing Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Civ.App., 174 S.W.2d 1006.

Watchman's negligent failure to warn sleeping guests was chargeable to owners.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

Place of origin of fire
Operator of hotel has duty in case of fire to warn guests after fire has been discovered by him or his employees, even though fire originates in room occupied by guest, and not in room that is under control of operator, unless he has not sufficient time so to do.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Tex.Civ.App., 180 S.W.2d 1010.

38. Tex.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., supra—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosden, Civ.App., 131 S.W. 2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct.

39. Ohio.—Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.

injury suffered in fleeing from supposed danger,[40] and negligence in delaying a guest's departure during a fire is not actionable where it is not the proximate cause of his injury.[41]

The mere fact that a hotel is not fireproof will not support a claim of negligence.[42] When the duty to provide fire escapes or other safeguards against fire is imposed by statute or ordinance, as considered supra § 7, a failure in that respect renders the innkeeper liable to any guest who may be injured in consequence thereof,[43] but not to a guest whose injury is not proximately caused by such failure;[44] and it has been held that a guest will not be charged with waiving the provisions of the statute or ordinance by remaining in the hotel with knowledge of the lack of fire escapes,[45] although there is authority to the contrary.[46] Compliance by a hotel owner with a statute requiring fire escapes has been held to absolve him from negligence in not providing means of escape in addition to those required;[47] but by other authority a hotel keeper has been held not acquitted of a charge of common-law negligence in failing to provide sufficient exits by compliance with a statute imposing minimum requirements below which negligence per se arises.[48]

In the absence of a statute or ordinance making it a duty to provide fire escapes, liability for personal injuries caused by fire can be predicated only on negligence in the occurrence of the fire and the attendant circumstances;[49] likewise, where there is no duty to furnish fire-fighting equipment, the fact that such equipment is furnished, but is not kept in usable condition, is not negligence.[50] Without reference to statute or ordinance, the innkeeper has been held to have the duty of seeing to it that access to the fire escape is unobstructed and unhindered.[51]

§ 23. —— Actions

The rules governing civil actions generally, and, in particular, those governing actions involving negligence, apply in actions against innkeepers.

Although it has been held that a guest who is injured in an inn may maintain an action against the innkeeper for breach of an implied contract to keep his premises reasonably safe, or sue him ex delicto,[52] the action is usually in tort.[53] Where a complaint charged negligence and breach of warranty, dismissal of the cause as to negligence, from which dismissal no appeal was taken, does not relieve defendants from liability for breach of warranty.[54]

It has been held that a guest cannot maintain a joint action on the case against a hotel corporation and its officer for an assault by the latter.[55]

Survival of an action against an innkeeper or restaurant owner is considered in Abatement and Revival § 145 f.

Pleading. In an action against an innkeeper to recover damages for death or personal injury, the declaration, petition, or complaint must state a cause of action[56] by alleging the existence, at the

40. Iowa.—Bell v. Daugherty, 200 N. W. 708, 199 Iowa 412, 37 A.L.R. 154.

41. N.Y.—Walker v. Posner, 299 N. Y.S. 499, 252 App.Div. 382.

42. Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

43. Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36 and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.
Miss.—Jabour v. McKnight, 111 So. 370, 145 Miss. 835.
N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N. Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.
32 C.J. p 564 note 24.
Risk not assumed
A guest does not, by voluntarily taking a room in a building not equipped with fire escapes as required by statute, assume the risk of the owner's negligence in failing to comply with the statute.—Jabour v. McKnight, 111 So. 370, 145 Miss. 835.

44. Cal.—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S. W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.
Pa.—Neagley v. Cassone, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 632, 12 Lehigh Co.L.J. 290.
32 C.J. p 564 note 24 [a].

45. Wash.—Moore v. Dresden Inv. Co., 298 P. 465, 472, 162 Wash. 289, 77 A.L.R. 1258, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 564 note 25.

46. N.Y.—Armaindo v. Ferguson, 55 N.Y.S. 769, 37 App.Div. 160.
Tex.—Radley v. Knepfly, Civ.App., 124 S.W. 447, affirmed 135 S.W. 111, 104 Tex. 130.

47. Tex.—Baugh v. McCleskey, Civ. App., 292 S.W. 950.

48. Ohio.—Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.

49. N.Y.—Acton v. Reed, 93 N.Y.S. 911, 104 App.Div. 507.
32 C.J. p 565 note 27.

50. Tex.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Civ.App., 180 S.W.2d 1010—Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Civ.App., 174 S.W.2d 1006.

51. Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249.

52. Me.—Norcross v. Norcross, 53 Me. 163.
N.Y.—Schell v. Vergo, 4 N.Y.S.2d 644, 166 Misc. 839.

53. Mo.—Stanley v. Bircher, 78 Mo. 245.
N.Y.—People v. Willett, 26 Barb. 78, 6 Abb.Pr. 37, 15 How.Pr. 210.
Form of action against innkeepers generally see Actions § 49 e (6).

54. Cal.—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, 60 P.2d 855, 7 Cal.2d 358.

55. Ill.—Buckley v. Edgewater Beach Hotel Co., 247 Ill.App. 239.

56. Ga.—Hendricks v. Jones, 111 S. E. 81, 28 Ga.App. 335.
32 C.J. p 565 note 33.

time of the injury, of the relation of innkeeper and guest[57] or of such other relation as imposed on defendant the duty of exercising care for the safety of plaintiff;[58] negligence on the part of defendant;[59] the causal connection between that negligence and plaintiff's injury;[60] and agency for defendant.[61] Less particularity is required in the complaint where the facts stated in it are such that defendant, from their nature and his relation to them, has full information concerning them.[62]

Plaintiff's pleading need not negative defenses,[63] such in some jurisdictions as contributory negligence;[64] but where it shows on its face that plaintiff, with full knowledge of the unsafe condition, did not exercise ordinary care, it is subject to demurrer.[65] Immaterial and prejudicial allegations are subject to exception.[66]

A petition alleging acts of concurring negligence by the owner and the lessee of a hotel, which acts concurred in causing the injury, has been held not demurrable for misjoinder of parties[67] or causes of action.[68]

Issues, proof, and variance. Where plaintiff has alleged a specific act of negligence, he is necessarily confined to proof of such alleged negligence as a basis for recovery;[69] but an immaterial variance between the pleading and proof will not itself defeat recovery.[70] Where plaintiff alleges that the hotel's construction is inherently dangerous and unusual, evidence to show that it is not unusual, by showing the similar construction of other hotels, is within the issues raised by plaintiff;[71] and other

Cause of action held stated

Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.

La.—Williams v. Mayer, App., 4 So. 2d 71.

Miss.—Meador v. Hotel Grover, 9 So. 2d 782, 193 Miss. 392.

Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.

Pa.—Tyson v. Plymouth Country Club, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 116, 57 Montg.Co. 140.

W.Va.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 119 W.Va. 690.

Cause of action held not stated

U.S.—Gumbart v. Waterbury Club Holding Corporation, D.C.Conn., 27 F.Supp. 228.

Ga.—Avary v. Anderson, 120 S.E. 683, 31 Ga.App. 402.

N.Y.—Percival v. Hirzler, 5 N.Y.S. 2d 197, 254 App.Div. 822, motion granted 17 N.E.2d 462, 279 N.Y. 612, affirmed 19 N.E.2d 920, 280 N.Y. 511.

Tex.—Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Civ. App., 174 S.W.2d 1006.

Justiciable issue held sufficiently presented in action against hotel company and its elevator operator for death of one injured while riding in elevator, by allegations as to defendants' neglect of duty to give or procure medical aid and comfort to injured man.—Meador v. Hotel Grover, 9 So.2d 782, 193 Miss. 392.

Uncertainty held fatal

Utah.—Pennock v. Newhouse Realty Co., 93 P.2d 482, 97 Utah 408.

Amendment may be permitted in a proper case.—Tyson v. Plymouth Country Club, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 116, 57 Montg.Co. 140.

57. Allegations held sufficient

"Being entertained as a guest at defendant's inn" sufficiently alleges defendant to be an innkeeper.—Norcross v. Norcross, 53 Me. 163.

58. Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, 201 P. 462, 187 Cal. 206.
32 C.J. p 565 note 35.

59. Ga.—Holloman v. Henry Grady Hotel Co., 156 S.E. 275, 42 Ga.App. 347.
Tex.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Civ. App., 180 S.W.2d 1010.
32 C.J. p 565 note 36.

Allegations held material

Tex.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., supra.

Allegations held too general

Tex.—Baugh v. McCleskey, Civ.App., 292 S.W. 950, 951.

Pleading held insufficient

Ga.—Vaissiere v. J. B. Pound Hotel Co., 190 S.E. 354, 184 Ga. 72, affirming J. B. Pound Hotel Co. v. Vaissiere, 187 S.E. 279, 54 Ga.App. 162—Holloman v. Henry Grady Hotel Co., 156 S.E. 275, 42 Ga.App. 347.
Tex.—Hays v. The Texan, Inc., Civ. App., 174 S.W.2d 1006.

60. Or.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.

Allegations held sufficient

Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, 201 P. 462, 187 Cal. 206—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App. 2d 446.

Allegations held insufficient to raise issue

Allegations that there was an obstruction, namely, a radiator, in front of the window leading to the fire escape, and that said window was stuck and could not be opened, were insufficient, in absence of allegation that guest killed in hotel fire made any effort to use fire escape, to raise any issue of proximate cause of the guest's death.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Tex.Civ.App., 180 S.W. 2d 1010.

61. Actual or ostensible agency

Since a hotel's liability to guest for injuries resulting from negligent repair of dress by valet shop employees would be the same irrespective of distinctions between actual and apparent or ostensible agency, guest could plead both actual and ostensible agency in her petition, and either would support judgment.—Bradley v. Allis Hotel Co., 109 P.2d 165, 153 Kan. 166.

62. Pa.—Tyson v. Plymouth Country Club, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 116, 57 Montg.Co. 140.
32 C.J. p 565 note 38.

63. Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, 201 P. 462, 187 Cal. 206.

64. Cal.—Goldstein v. Healy, supra.
Va.—Baker v. Butterworth, 89 S.E. 849, 119 Va. 402, L.R.A.1916F 1287.

65. Ga.—Avary v. Anderson, 120 S.E. 683, 31 Ga.App. 402—Hendricks v. Jones, 111 S.E. 81, 28 Ga.App. 335.
Va.—Baker v. Butterworth, 89 S.E. 849, 119 Va. 402, L.R.A.1916F 1287.

Contributory negligence and assumption of risk held not shown by allegations.—Early v. Lowe, 195 S.E. 852, 119 W.Va. 690.

66. Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Allegations as to fire-hazardous materials entering into construction of hotel were held immaterial.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, supra.

67. Ga.—Home Owners Loan Corporation v. Brazzeal, 9 S.E.2d 773, 62 Ga.App. 683.

68. Ga.—Home Owners Loan Corporation v. Brazzeal, supra.

69. Iowa.—Johnson v. Lincoln Hotel Co., 177 N.W. 550, 189 Iowa 291.

Matters to be proved

Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 230 Iowa 739.
Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W.2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.

70. Ala.—West v. Spratling, 86 So. 32, 204 Ala. 478.
32 C.J. p 565 note 43.

71. U.S.—MacLaughlin v. Hull, C.C.A.Wash., 87 F.2d 641.

evidence has likewise been held to be within the issues made by the pleadings.[72]

Presumptions and burden of proof; res ipsa loquitur. One suing an innkeeper for personal injuries resulting from negligence has the burden of establishing defendant's negligence, as in failing to exercise reasonable care to keep the premises in a safe condition,[73] or in failing to comply with a statute or ordinance as to safeguards,[74] and of proving that the negligence charged,[75] or the claimed violation of such statute or ordinance,[76] was the proximate cause, or a cause, of the injury; and defendant claiming that plaintiff waived compliance with the statute has the burden of proof.[77] Under general rules as to the burden of proof of contributory negligence accepted in the particular jurisdiction, the burden may[78] or may not[79] be on defendant to prove contributory negligence.

The mere occurrence of a fire in a hotel does not give rise to a presumption of negligence on the part of the hotel keeper;[80] and the same has been said as to the mere occurrence of an accident to a guest.[81]

Where plaintiff alleges specific acts of omission or commission, he cannot rely on the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.[82] However, an innkeeper is said to fall within the rule of res ipsa loquitur,[83] and, in circumstances in which the rule is applicable, he has the burden of explaining the accident and of showing facts relieving him of liability.[84] Thus, in par-

72. Impaired vision and hearing after accident
Evidence of plaintiff guest's impaired vision and hearing after fall was, under expert evidence attributing such impairment to nervous shock, within the issues made by the complaint, alleging shock and disturbance of nervous system, and denial of such allegation for lack of information.—Hall v. Bakersfield Community Hotel Corporation, 125 P.2d 889, 52 Cal.App.2d 158.

73. U.S.—Ennis v. Bridger, D.C.Pa., 41 F.Supp. 672, affirmed, C.C.A., 129 F.2d 1019.
Cal.—Schlemmer v. Stokes, 117 P.2d 396, 47 Cal.App.2d 164.
Iowa.—Johnson v. Lincoln Hotel Co., 177 N.W. 550, 189 Iowa 291.
Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.
N.Y.—Polsey v. Waldorf-Astoria, 222 N.Y.S. 273, 220 App.Div. 613.
Ohio.—Walker v. Toledo Hotel Co., 17 N.E.2d 422, 59 Ohio App. 229.
Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.
Time of discovering fire; delay in calling fire department
Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Glass on stairs; act of servants
Tex.—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused.
Fall of screen
Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 230 Iowa 739.
Exact defect causing injury
Hotel guest, injured by collapse of bed, need not produce testimony pointing out exact defect in bed which caused it to collapse.—Tamres v. Reed, 165 A. 538, 109 Pa.Super. 28.

74. Wash.—Evans v. Saran, 128 P.2d 763, 14 Wash.2d 533.

75. Tex.—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused.

76. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.
Wash.—Evans v. Saran, 128 P.2d 763, 14 Wash.2d 533.

77. N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

78. Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36 and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.
Mass.—Parsons v. Dwight State Co., 17 N.E.2d 197, 301 Mass. 324, 118 A.L.R. 1099.
Mo.—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.
Assumption of risk
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.
N.Y.—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574.

79. Iowa.—Walker v. Roosevelt Hotel Co., 241 N.W. 484, 487, 214 Iowa 1150.

80. Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249.
Tenn.—Weeks v. McNulty, 48 S.W. 809, 101 Tenn. 495, 70 Am.S.R. 693, 43 L.R.A. 185.
Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

81. Ill.—Elliott v. Congress Hotel, 41 N.E.2d 330, 314 Ill.App. 287.
"Burden of explanation"
Hotel guest's showing of manner in which injury from collapse of bed occurred would not cast "burden of explanation" of accident on hotel keeper.—Tamres v. Reed, 165 A. 538, 539, 109 Pa.Super. 28.

82. Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.
Iowa.—Van Heukelom v. Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, 270 N.W. 16, 22, 222 Iowa 1033, quoting Corpus Juris—Johnson v. Lincoln Hotel Co., 177 N.W. 550, 189 Iowa 291.
Allegations held general
U.S.—Nettles v. Emerick, D.C.Pa., 22 F.Supp. 441.
Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P.2d 370, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.

83. Fla.—Reichenbach v. New Alamac Hotel Corporation, 194 So. 250, 141 Fla. 797.

84. U.S.—Nettles v. Emerick, D.C. Pa., 22 F.Supp. 441.
Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P.2d 370, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
Fla.—Reichenbach v. New Alamac Hotel Corporation, 194 So. 250, 141 Fla. 797.
Iowa.—Van Heukelom v. Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, 270 N.W. 16, 22, 222 Iowa 1033, quoting Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa. Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131. 32 C.J. p 565 note 50.
Fire
N.Y.—Owen v. Straight, 269 N.Y.S. 868, 239 App.Div. 622.
Corpus Juris statement cited in connection with applicability of res ipsa loquitur doctrine in action for physician's malpractice.—Gebhardt v. McQuillen, 297 N.W. 301, 308, 230 Iowa 181.

ticular circumstances a prima facie case of negligence has been held made out by proof that plaintiff was injured by the fall of a ceiling, or a part thereof,[85] an elevator,[86] a window shade,[87] or the upper portion of a folding bed,[88] or by reason of the defective working of a faucet,[89] or by falling down an elevator shaft,[90] as where the shaft adjoined the lobby and the door to it had been left open on a dark day,[91] or where the door had a defective lock;[92] but in other cases the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur has been held inapplicable,[93] as where there is no evidence as to how the accident occurred,[94] or where the injury was due at least partly to the act of an independent contractor's employee.[95]

A presumption has been indulged that a guest used due and ordinary care to avoid injury,[96] and that a guest endangered by fire promptly took advantage of whatever means he saw available to reach a place of safety;[97] and it will not be presumed that a guest intentionally remained in the building with knowledge of the presence of a fire.[98] It will be assumed that defendant knew of the dim lighting of a portion of the premises,[99] and that snow will track into a vestibule and, unless removed, become slushy.[1]

Admissibility of evidence. In actions involving innkeepers, particular evidence sought to be introduced has variously been held admissible[2] or inadmissible.[3]

Weight and sufficiency of evidence. In particular cases, evidence has been held sufficient to sustain a verdict or judgment for plaintiff,[4] to show,

85. Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P.2d 870, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.
32 C.J. p 565 note 46.

86. Ga.—Bullard v. Rolader, 107 S.E. 548, 26 Ga.App. 742, affirmed 110 S.E. 548, 152 Ga. 369.
32 C.J. p 565 note 47.

87. U.S.—Hotel Dempsey Co. v. Teel, C.C.A.Ga., 128 F.2d 673, stating Georgia law.

88. Pa.—Lyttle v. Denny, 71 A. 841, 222 Pa. 395, 128 Am.S.R. 814, 20 L.R.A.,N.S., 1027, 15 Ann.Cas. 924.

89. Pa.—Manchester v. Barnett, 27 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 28 Berks Co. 131.

90. Iowa.—Van Heukelom v. Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, 270 N.W. 16, 22, 222 Iowa 1033, quoting Corpus Juris.

91. N.C.—Jones v. Bland, 108 S.E. 344, 182 N.C. 70, 16 A.L.R. 1383.

92. Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.

93. Fall of bottle from hotel window
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.

Fire
(1) Doctrine did not apply where hotel caught fire and guest was injured when dropping from window —Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.

(2) It was so held where fire allegedly originated in porter's closet under exclusive control of hotel agents and employees.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Tex.Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Tex.Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Falls
(1) Doctrine was held inapplicable to injuries to hotel guest falling when heel caught in stairway carpet.—Hoffman v. Shad, 224 N.Y.S. 722, 221 App.Div. 668.

(2) Doctrine was held inapplicable to injuries to hotel guest falling while attempting to reach allotted place at table on platform.—Rose v. Adelphia Hotel, 149 A. 644, 300 Pa. 1.

(3) Where a guest stepped on a drinking glass and fell down stairs, doctrine was not applicable in the absence of proof that glass was used by innkeeper in the operation of its business, or evidence indicating by whom glass was used or how it got on stairs.—Montfort v. West Texas Hotel Co., Tex.Civ.App., 117 S.W.2d 811, error refused.

(4) Where an invitee in hotel fell from lavatory into anteroom and suffered injury, doctrine did not apply.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.

Collapse of chair
Fla.—Reichenbach v. New Alamac Hotel Corporation, 194 So. 250, 141 Fla. 797.

Cutting hand on faucet handle
Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.

Insect bite
Ohio.—Cunningham v. Neil House Hotel Co., App., 33 N.E.2d 859.

94. Iowa.—Boles v. Hotel Maytag Co., 265 N.W. 133, 221 Iowa 211.

95. Iowa.—Boles v. Hotel Maytag Co., supra.

96. Cal.—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 91 Cal.App. 715.

97. Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249.

98. Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36, and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.

99. Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69.

1. Mich.—Keech v. Clements, supra.

2. U.S.—MacLaughlin v. Hull, C.C.A.Wash., 87 F.2d 641.
N.Y.—Owen v. Straight, 269 N.Y.S. 868, 239 App.Div. 622.
32 C.J. p 565 note 52 [a].

Absence of complaints
U.S.—MacLaughlin v. Hull, C.C.A. Wash., 87 F.2d 641.

Similar physical arrangements in other hotels
U.S.—MacLaughlin v. Hull, supra.

Custom as to use of passageway
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.

Presence of safety doors on elevator
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

3. Cal.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.
32 C.J. p 565 note 52 [b].

Falls by others
N.J.—Crouse v. Stacy-Trent Co., 164 A. 294, 110 N.J.Law 124.

Prior fire
Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

4. U.S.—Snapp Hotel & Realty Co. v. Elbert, C.C.A.Mo., 108 F.2d 661.
Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P.2d 340, 134 Kan. 749.
La.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.
Minn.—Green v. Elgin Hotel Co., 295 N.W. 905, 209 Minn. 178.
Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 187 N.W. 121, 108 Neb. 49.
N.J.—Nelson v. Ritz-Carlton Restaurant & Hotel Co., 157 A. 133, 9 N.J.Misc. 1240.

or support a finding, that defendant was the operator or owner of the hotel,[5] that defendant exercised due care,[6] that he was guilty of negligence or did not exercise ordinary or reasonable care,[7] that he failed to maintain the premises or appliances in reasonably safe condition,[8] that he exercised due care to do so,[9] that plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence,[10] that the accident occurred in a particular manner,[11] that defendant's negligence was the proximate cause of plaintiff's injury,[12] that defendant gave guests reasonable warning of fire,[13] that neither guests[14] nor the fire department[15] were notified of a fire until a certain period had elapsed after an employee knew of it, that failure to warn deceased of a fire was the proximate cause of his death,[16] that the violation of statutes relating to the prevention of fires was the proximate cause of the injury,[17] that failure to provide adequate fire escapes was not the proximate cause of death,[18] that failure to close an elevator door was negligence contributing to the happening of the accident,[19] or that decedent was familiar with the condition of the building as to fire escapes,[20] and as to other matters.[21]

In other cases, evidence has been held insufficient to sustain or justify a verdict or judgment for plaintiff,[22] to show, or sustain a finding, that defendant was guilty of negligence or failed to use reasonable care,[23] that plaintiff's injury was caused by defend-

N.Y.—Meyer v. Weller Hotel Corporation, 33 N.Y.S.2d 450, 263 App. Div. 1026—Bernucci v. Marfre Holding Corporation, 14 N.Y.S.2d 304, 171 Misc. 997—Amsterdam v. Hotel Astor, 224 N.Y.S. 273, 130 Misc. 656.

Okl.—Seay v. Plunkett, 145 P. 496, 44 Okl. 794.

Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429—Kalo & Sullivan v. William Penn Hotel Co., 86 Pa.Super. 359.

5. Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.

Circumstantial evidence; quantum of proof required

In guest's action against hotel company for injuries, direct proof of ownership and operation of the hotel by defendant was not necessary, but such fact could be proved by circumstantial evidence; where lack of ownership and operation of hotel by defendant was not specifically asserted as a defense and a general denial only was interposed, very slight proof was sufficient to establish fact of ownership and operation by defendant, since such facts were peculiarly within defendant's knowledge.—Payant v. Corpus Christi Plaza Hotel Co., Tex.Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 665, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Lease and rent receipts to another, from defendant were held not conclusive.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.

6. Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797.

7. Cal.—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App.2d 446.

Conn.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 336, 124 Conn. 400.

Ga.—Hooks v. Sanford, 116 S.E. 221, 29 Ga.App. 640.

Minn.—Green v. Elgin Hotel Co., 295 N.W. 905, 209 Minn. 178.

N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.

Tex.—Crockett v. Troyk, Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012.

8. Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 91 Cal.App. 715.

Conn.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 336, 124 Conn. 400.

Dangerous and improperly lighted steps

N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.

Obstruction of only way to escape from fire

Wash.—Moore v. Dresden, 298 P. 465, 162 Wash. 289, 77 A.L.R. 1258.

9. Cal.—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76 P.2d 210, 25 Cal.App.2d 51.

10. Cal.—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442.

Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S.W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42.

Wis.—Burling v. Schroeder Hotel Co., 291 N.W. 810, 235 Wis. 403.

Twenty per cent of total causal negligence

Wis.—Burling v. Schroeder Hotel Co., supra.

11. Cal.—Robertson v. Weingart, 267 P. 741, 91 Cal.App. 715.

12. Cal.—Hall v. Bakersfield Community Hotel Corporation, 125 P.2d 889, 52 Cal.App.2d 158—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App.2d 446.

Pa.—Ritchey v. Cassone, 145 A. 822, 296 Pa. 249.

Tex.—Crockett v. Troyk, Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012.

13. Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 198 N.W. 159, 111 Neb. 797.

14. Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P.2d 340, 134 Kan. 749.

15. Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, supra.

16. Ala.—West v. Spratling, 86 So. 32, 204 Ala. 478.

17. Ky.—Louisville Trust Co. v. Morgan, 203 S.W. 555, 180 Ky. 609, 7 A.L.R. 396.

18. Tex.—Radley v. Knepfly, Civ. App., 124 S.W. 447, affirmed 135 S.W. 111, 104 Tex. 130.

19. Mass.—Bechtold v. Rae, 120 N.E. 377, 231 Mass. 151.

20. Tex.—Radley v. Knepfly, Civ. App., 124 S.W. 447, affirmed 135 S.W. 111, 104 Tex. 130.

21. Nuisance

Evidence that during convention numerous objects, including bags containing water, were thrown from hotel was held to sustain finding that nuisance existed, as regards hotel's liability to pedestrian whom others, seeking to avoid one of such bags, pushed against taxicab, that innkeeper "was aware of the creation and maintenance of the nuisance, and that damage was likely to result therefrom," and that hotel failed to exercise reasonable care to identify wrongdoers.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 117, 229 Mo.App. 910.

Injury in prosecution of proprietor's business

Evidence that hotel manager voluntarily responded to guest's complaint to clerk with opprobrious words, followed by assault and battery, authorized inference that injury was committed in prosecution of proprietor's business.—Hooks v. Sanford, 116 S.E. 221, 29 Ga.App. 640.

22. U.S.—Dove v. Lowden, D.C.Mo., 47 F.Supp. 546.

La.—De Latour v. Roosevelt Hotel, App., 1 So.2d 353.

N.Y.—Jean v. Algonquin Hotel Co., 15 N.Y.S.2d 759, 258 App.Div. 127.

Pa.—Ferguson v. Sturch, 61 Pa.Super. 516.

Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Weir, Civ.App., 116 S.W.2d 1169, error refused.

23. Cal.—Schlemmer v. Stokes, 117 P.2d 396, 47 Cal.App.2d 164.

Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 230 Iowa 739.

Mass.—Kay v. Audet, 28 N.E.2d 462, 306 Mass. 337.

Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.

ant's negligence,[24] that there was a dangerous defect on the premises,[25] that a dangerous condition was the cause of the accident,[26] that defendant knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, of a dangerous condition in the premises,[27] that those responsible for the management of the hotel permitted a fire to start,[28] that the hotel was of a certain area, so as to require a certain number of fire escapes,[29] that an article of furniture was so topheavy that it could be easily toppled over,[30] to show contributory negligence on the part of plaintiff,[31] negligence in leaving the door of an elevator shaft unlocked and open,[32] or an implied invitation to a guest to enter an elevator,[33] and as to other matters.[34]

Questions of law and fact. The determination of the factual questions presented by conflicting testimony is for the jury.[35] Questions of fact include the following: Negligence of defendant or his servants;[36] plaintiff's contributory negligence or N.Y.—Dinegar v. Sweeney, 300 N.Y.S. 1202, 253 App.Div. 781, affirmed 17 N.E.2d 452, 279 N.Y. 591—Walker v. Posner, 299 N.Y.S. 499, 252 App.Div. 382.

Falls by others

The testimony of two witnesses that they slipped on the rug on which plaintiff also slipped is not sufficient proof of defendant's negligence.—Stout v. Hamilton Court Corporation, 21 Pa.Dist. & Co. 588.

24. U.S.—Ennis v. Bridger, D.C.Pa., 41 F.Supp. 672, affirmed, C.C.A., 129 F.2d 1019.

25. N.Y.—Hoffman v. Shad, 224 N.Y.S. 722, 221 App.Div. 668.

26. Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.
N.Y.—McGinn v. Shelter Island Heights Ass'n, 23 N.Y.S.2d 336, 260 App.Div. 938, reargument denied 24 N.Y.S.2d 1008, 260 App.Div. 1019, appeal denied 31 N.E.2d 517, 285 N.Y. 857.

27. Mass.—O'Leary v. Smith, 150 N.E. 878, 255 Mass. 121.
N.Y.—Dinegar v. Sweeney, 300 N.Y.S. 1202, 253 App.Div. 781, affirmed 17 N.E.2d 452, 279 N.Y. 591.

28. Tex.—National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

29. Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Wier, Civ.App., 116 S.W.2d 1169, error refused.

30. N.Y.—Polsey v. Waldorf-Astoria, 222 N.Y.S. 273, 220 App.Div. 613.

31. Cal.—Allred v. Orth, 274 P. 955, 206 Cal. 494—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.
Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36, and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.

32. Iowa.—Johnson v. Lincoln Hotel Co., 177 N.W. 550, 189 Iowa 291.

33. Mo.—Gray v. Levy, 48 S.W.2d 20, 226 Mo.App. 991.

34. Posting of diagrams
N.Y.—Acton v. Reed, 93 N.Y.S. 911, 104 App.Div. 507.

Cause of fall of elevator
Minn.—Burr v. Curtis Hotel Co., 186 N.W. 302, 151 Minn. 200.

Fall of bottle from window
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.

35. Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

36. U.S.—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825.
Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App.2d 446.
Conn.—Johnson v. Pulidy, 165 A. 355, 116 Conn. 443.
Ill.—Elliott v. Congress Hotel, 41 N.E.2d 330, 314 Ill.App. 287.
Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69—McLeod v. Savoy Hotel Co., 255 N.W. 308, 267 Mich. 352.
Minn.—Green v. Elgin Hotel Co., 295 N.W. 905, 209 Minn. 178.
Mo.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 69 S.W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo. App. 1159.
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.
N.Y.—Jean v. Algonquin Hotel Co., 7 N.Y.S.2d 412, 255 App.Div. 279—Friedman v. Shindler's Prairie House, 230 N.Y.S. 44, 224 App.Div. 232, affirmed Miller v. Shindler's Prairie House, 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574, and followed in 230 N.Y.S. 876, 224 App.Div. 772, affirmed 166 N.E. 329, 250 N.Y. 574—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 168 Misc. 431, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App.Div. 1012, affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597—Amsterdam v. Hotel Astor, 224 N.Y.S. 273, 130 Misc. 656.
Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402—Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.
Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429—Tamres v. Reed, 165 A. 538, 109 Pa.Super. 28.
Tex.—Crockett v. Troyk, Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012.
32 C.J. p 566 note 56.

Decision within trial judge's "sound discretion"
Cal.—Wallace v. Speier, App., 140 P.2d 900, 903—Adams v. Dow Hotel, 76 P.2d 210, 212, 25 Cal.App.2d 51.

Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury
U.S.—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253—Nettles v. Emerick, D.C.Pa., 22 F.Supp. 441.
Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.
Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56—Promisel v. Hotels Statler Corporation, 189 N.E. 804, 286 Mass. 15—Sheridan v. Hotels Statler Co., 185 N.E. 33, 282 Mass. 456.
Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69—Yarington v. Huck, 187 N.W. 298, 218 Mich. 100.
Mo.—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712.
Neb.—Stewart v. Weiner, 187 N.W. 121, 108 Neb. 49.
N.J.—Crouse v. Stacy-Trent Co., 164 A. 294, 110 N.J.Law 124.
N.Y.—Owen v. Straight, 196 N.E. 395, 267 N.Y. 453, reversing 275 N.Y.S. 1000, 242 App.Div. 892, and reargument denied 198 N.E. 395, 268 N.Y. 544—Schubart v. Hotel Astor, 8 N.Y.S.2d 567, 255 App.Div. 1012, affirming 5 N.Y.S.2d 203, 168 Misc. 431, and affirmed 22 N.E.2d 167, 281 N.Y. 597.
Tex.—Payant v. Corpus Christi Plaza Hotel Co., Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 665, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Utah.—Gardner v. Newhouse Realty Co., 267 P. 186, 71 Utah 460.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant submission to jury
Cal.—Fuller v. Vista Del Arroyo Hotel, 108 P.2d 920, 42 Cal.App.2d 400.
Mass.—Kay v. Audet, 28 N.E.2d 462, 306 Mass. 337.
N.C.—Schwingle v. Kellenberger, 8 S.E.2d 913, 217 N.C. 577.
Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.
Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview exercise of due care,[37] or his assumption of risk;[38] proximate cause;[39] the sufficiency of an intervening force, of itself, to cause the injury;[40] the unsafe or defective condition of the premises or of appliances,[41] and, according to the judicial deci-

v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct —National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

When question of law

"The . . . [question] of negligence . . . [is] ordinarily . . . [a question] of fact for the jury, and it is only when the evidence is such that all reasonable minds would reach the same conclusions that . . . [it becomes a question] of law for the court."—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, 257.

Blind guest

Mont.—Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.

Discoverability of defect

In action against innkeeper for injuries sustained when plaintiff fell from a horse because of an allegedly defective stirrup fastener, it was the province of the jury to determine whether the defect could have been discovered by a reasonable examination, but it was the court's duty in the first instance to determine whether there was sufficient evidence to warrant the submission of that question to the jury.—Ennis v. Bridger, D.C.Pa., 41 F.Supp. 672, affirmed, C.C.A., 129 F.2d 1019.

Evidence of stalling and sticking of elevator, without other evidence, was held insufficient to require submission of an issue of negligence.—Payant v. Corpus Christi Plaza Hotel Co., Tex.Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 665, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Mere maintenance of marble stairway, fan-shaped at turn, was held not to authorize submission of question of negligence in such respect to jury, although such stairs required greater care on part of user than wooden or carpeted stairway.—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., Mo.App., 60 S.W.2d 712.

37. U.S.—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825.
Cal.—Hall v. Bakersfield Community Hotel Corporation, 125 P.2d 889, 52 Cal.App.2d 158—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App.2d 446—Boyd v. Gogna, 60 P.2d 521, 16 Cal.App.2d 442—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
Conn.—Adams v. Mohican Hotel, 200 A. 336, 124 Conn. 400—Johnson v. Pulidy, 165 A. 355, 116 Conn. 443—Scheer v. Arrigoni, 150 A. 702, 111 Conn. 726.
D.C.—Berghman v. Dufresne, 24 F.2d 280, 58 App.D.C. 15.
Ill.—Pollard v. Broadway Central Hotel Corporation, 187 N.E. 487, 353 Ill. 312, reversing 269 Ill.App. 77.
Kan.—Criswell v. Bankers' Mortg. Co., 278 P. 722, 128 Kan. 609.
Mass.—Parsons v. Dwight State Co., 17 N.E.2d 197, 301 Mass. 324, 118 A.L.R. 1099.
Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69—McLeod v. Savoy Hotel Co., 255 N.W. 308, 267 Mich. 352—Brown v. Berles, 208 N. W. 461, 234 Mich. 353.
Minn.—Green v. Elgin Hotel Co., 295 N.W. 905, 209 Minn. 178—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.
Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.
N.Y.—Richards v. Olsen, 21 N.Y.S.2d 371, 259 App.Div. 1112, reargument denied Richards v. Olson, 22 N.Y.S. 2d 536, 260 App.Div. 828.
Ohio.—McDowell v. Rockey, 167 N.E. 589, 32 Ohio App. 26.
Tex.—Morten Inv. Co. v. Jordan, Civ. App., 57 S.W.2d 887, reversed on other grounds Jordan v. Morten Inv. Co., 90 S.W.2d 241, 127 Tex. 37.
Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52—Allingham v. Long-Bell Lumber Co., 241 P. 298, 136 Wash. 681.
32 C.J. p 566 note 57.

Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury

Cal.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P. 2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S. W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42.
Mass.—Sheridan v. Hotels Statler Co., 185 N.E. 33, 282 Mass. 456.
Mich.—Keech v. Clements, 5 N.W.2d 570, 303 Mich. 69.
Mo.—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712.
N.J.—Crouse v. Stacy-Trent Co., 164 A. 294, 110 N.J.Law 124.
Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402.
Tex.—Wilkerson v. Brin, Civ.App., 268 S.W. 1010.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

When question of law

"The . . . [question] of . . . contributory negligence . . . [is] ordinarily . . . [a question] of fact for the jury, and it is only when the evidence is such that all reasonable minds would reach the same conclusions that . . . [it becomes a question] of law."—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253, 257.

Blind guest

Mont.—Gohn v. Butte Hotel Co., 295 P. 262, 88 Mont. 599.

38. Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182.
Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56.
Minn.—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.

Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury

Cal.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P. 2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.

39. Cal.—Parker v. Manchester Hotel Co., 85 P.2d 152, 29 Cal.App.2d 446.
Mich.—McLeod v. Savoy Hotel Co., 255 N.W. 308, 267 Mich. 352.
Mo.—Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712.
N.Y.—Meyer v. Weller Hotel Corporation, 33 N.Y.S.2d 450, 263 App. Div. 1026—Spear v. Koshelle, 269 N.Y.S. 391, 150 Misc. 305.
Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.
Wis.—Burling v. Schroeder Hotel Co., 291 N.W. 810, 235 Wis. 403.
32 C.J. p 566 note 58.

Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury

Cal.—Ingledue v. Davidson, 283 P. 837, 102 Cal.App. 697.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant submission to jury

Cal.—Fuller v. Vista Del Arroyo Hotel, 108 P.2d 920, 42 Cal.App.2d 400.
Ky.—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S. W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.
Tex.—Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Jones, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 265 —Texas Hotel Co. of Longview v. Cosby, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 261, error dismissed, judgment correct —National Hotel Co. v. Motley, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 461, error dismissed, judgment correct.

40. Ala.—Dye-Washburn Hotel Co. v. Aldridge, 93 So. 512, 207 Ala. 471.

41. Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177 —Stein v. Buckingham Realty Co., App., 60 S.W.2d 712—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo. App. 1159.
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.

sions on the question, plaintiff's[42] or defendant's[43] knowledge thereof; the requirements for due care beyond the statutory minimum;[44] defendant's performance or breach of his duty seasonably to warn a guest of a fire,[45] or of his statutory duty to provide fire escapes[46] or proper lighting;[47] whether a guest was warned of a fire in time to permit his escape;[48] whether an employee delayed in notifying the fire department after receiving notice of a fire;[49] existence of relationship of master and servant;[50] existence of actual or ostensible agency;[51] the competency of an elevator operator;[52] negligence in failing to equip an elevator with safety devices;[53] credibility of witnesses;[54] identity of deceased;[55] the inference to be drawn from the application of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur;[56] the sufficiency of evidence to overcome the inference of negligence established by such application;[57] and other matters.[58]

In particular circumstances, the state of the evidence has been held[59] or held not[60] to justify tak-

N.Y.—Richards v. Olsen, 21 N.Y.S. 2d 371, 259 App.Div. 1112, reargument denied Richards v. Olson, 22 N.Y.S.2d 536, 260 App.Div. 828.
Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402.
Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.
32 C.J. p 566 note 60.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant submission to jury
D.C.—Kenney v. Washington Properties, 128 F.2d 612, 76 U.S.App.D.C. 43, 146 A.L.R. 1.

42. Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury
Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P.2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.

43. U.S.—Baker v. Dallas Hotel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 73 F.2d 825.
32 C.J. p 566 note 61.

Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury
Cal.—Sommerfield v. Miratti, 121 P. 2d 746, 49 Cal.App.2d 450.

44. Ohio.—Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.

45. Ala.—West v. Spratling, 86 So. 32, 204 Ala. 478.
Tex.—Smith v. The Texan, Inc., Civ. App., 180 S.W.2d 1010.

46. Ala.—West v. Spratling, 86 So. 32, 204 Ala. 478.
Mo.—Burt v. Nichols, 173 S.W. 681, 264 Mo. 1, L.R.A.1917E 250.

47. Utah.—Carpenter v. Syrett, 104 P.2d 617, 99 Utah 208.

48. Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, 8 P. 2d 340, 134 Kan. 749.

49. Kan.—Parker v. Kirkwood, supra.

50. Mo.—Schide v. Gottschick, 43 S. W.2d 777, 329 Mo. 64.

51. Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury
Kan.—Bradley v. Allis Hotel Co., 109 P.2d 165, 153 Kan. 166.

52. Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury.—McLeod v. Savoy Hotel Co., 255 N.W. 308, 267 Mich. 352.

53. Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

54. Ky.—Pirtle's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 541, 241 Ky. 455, followed in Taylor's Adm'x v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 44 S.W.2d 549, 241 Ky. 36, and Pirtle's Adm'r v. Hargis Bank & Trust Co., 49 S.W.2d 1002, 243 Ky. 752.
Minn.—Burr v. Curtis Hotel Co., 186 N.W. 302, 151 Minn. 200.
Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

55. Evidence held to warrant submission of question to jury
Mo.—Burt v. Nichols, 173 S.W. 681, 264 Mo. 1, L.R.A.1917F 250.

56. U.S.—Hotel Dempsey Co. v. Teel, C.C.A.Ga., 128 F.2d 673, stating Georgia law.

57. Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P.2d 370, 21 Cal.App. 85.
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
Ohio.—Fineberg v. Lincoln-Phelps Apartment Co., 9 N.E.2d 1011, 55 Ohio App. 402.

58. Status as licensee or business visitor
Cal.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.
Pa.—Parsons v. Drake, 32 A.2d 27, 347 Pa. 247.

Falls by other persons
Mo.—Burnison v. Souders, 35 S.W.2d 619, 225 Mo.App. 1159.

Use of particular portion of premises
Whether operators of hotel might reasonably have expected guest to use the rear entryway, whether bellboy had advised guest to use it, and whether bellboy was authorized to give guest such advice, were questions for the jury.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.

Character and manner of occurrence of explosion
Tex.—Crockett v. Troyk, Civ.App., 78 S.W.2d 1012.

Appearance of color contrast in dim light
Mo.—Cumming v. Allied Hotel Corporation, App., 144 S.W.2d 177.

Instability of lamp
N.Y.—Polsey v. Waldorf-Astoria, 222 N.Y.S. 273, 220 App.Div. 613.

Possibility of preventing accident
Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.

Statement as warranty
Cal.—Shattuck v. St. Francis Hotel and Apartments, 60 P.2d 855, 7 Cal.2d 358.

Operation of hotel by defendant
Pa.—Tomko v. Feldman, 194 A. 338, 128 Pa.Super. 429.
Tex.—Payant v. Corpus Christi Plaza Hotel Co., Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 665, error dismissed, judgment correct.

59. U.S.—Sweeny v. Sears, C.C.A. Me., 111 F.2d 124.
D.C.—Kenney v. Washington Properties, 128 F.2d 612, 76 U.S.App.D. C. 43, 146 A.L.R. 1.
Ga.—Castleberry v. Fox, 113 S.E. 110, 29 Ga.App. 35.
Iowa.—Kapphahn v. Martin Hotel Co., 298 N.W. 901, 230 Iowa 739.
Ky.—Seelbach, Inc. v. Mellman, 170 S.W.2d 18, 293 Ky. 790—Turner v. Taylor's Adm'x, 90 S.W.2d 73, 262 Ky. 304.
Mass.—Kay v. Audet, 28 N.E.2d 462, 306 Mass. 337—O'Leary v. Smith, 150 N.E. 878, 255 Mass. 121.
Neb.—Pierce v. Burlington Transp. Co., 297 N.W. 656, 139 Neb. 423.
N.C.—Schwingle v. Kellenberger, 8 S. E.2d 918, 217 N.C. 577.
Or.—Doherty v. Arcade Hotel, 134 P.2d 118, 170 Or. 374.

60. Cal.—Topley v. Zeeman, 13 P.2d 666, 216 Cal. 182.
Conn.—Johnson v. Pulidy, 165 A. 355, 116 Conn. 443.
D.C.—Berghman v. Dufresne, 24 F.2d 280, 58 App.D.C. 15.
Kan.—Bradley v. Allis Hotel Co., 109 P.2d 165, 153 Kan. 166.
Ky.—Petty's Adm'r v. Smith, 163 S. W.2d 16, 291 Ky. 42.
Mass.—McFadden v. Bancroft Hotel Corporation, 46 N.E.2d 573, 313 Mass. 56—Promisel v. Hotels Statler Corporation, 189 N.E. 804, 286 Mass. 15.
Mich.—McLeod v. Savoy Hotel Co., 255 N.W. 308, 267 Mich. 352—Yarington v. Huck, 187 N.W. 298, 218 Mich. 100.

ing the case from the jury, as by the direction of a verdict. Thus, it is error to take the case from the jury where plaintiff is entitled to the benefit of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.[61]

Instructions. In actions involving innkeepers, the propriety of instructions has been adjudicated with respect to duty to keep premises safe,[62] mere accident as cause of injury,[63] proximate cause,[64] installation or operation of elevator,[65] an ordinance regulating fire escapes,[66] liability of an innkeeper for assault by an employee,[67] contributory negligence on the part of plaintiff,[68] and other matters.[69] Where several persons are sued for injuries sustained by a guest, each of defendants is entitled to a charge that would permit the jury to absolve from liability those who were not responsible for plaintiff's injuries.[70]

§ 24. Injury to Business

While a guest may be liable to the hotelkeeper for injury to the latter's business by permitting offensive conditions constituting a nuisance to exist in his room, he is not liable if the injury is not the proximate result of the acts done or permitted.

While a guest who knowingly permits offensive conditions constituting a nuisance to continue in the rooms hired by him and under his control, thereby causing other guests to leave the hotel and deterring still other persons from becoming guests, may be liable to the hotel keeper for the injury to the latter's business,[71] he is not liable for mere passiveness with regard to such conditions where they exist outside of the rooms under his control,[72] nor is

Minn.—Jewell v. Blanchett Inv. Co., 271 N.W. 461, 199 Minn. 267.
N.J.—Crouse v. Stacy-Trent Co., 164 A. 294, 110 N.J.Law 124—Nelson v. Ritz-Carlton Restaurant & Hotel Co., 157 A. 133, 9 N.J.Misc. 1240—Fuller v. State Cafeteria, 130 A. 4, 3 N.J.Misc. 759.
N.Y.—Owen v. Straight, 269 N.Y.S. 868, 239 App.Div. 622.
Ohio.—Mitchell v. Hotel Berry Co., 171 N.E. 39, 34 Ohio App. 259.
Tex.—Payant v. Corpus Christi Plaza Hotel Co., Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 665, error dismissed, judgment correct—Wilkerson v. Brin, Civ.App., 268 S.W. 1010.
Utah.—Gardner v. Newhouse Realty Co., 267 P. 186, 71 Utah 460.

61. Cal.—Mintzer v. Wilson, 68 P. 2d 370, 21 Cal.App.2d 85.

62. Instructions held proper or erroneously refused
Colo.—Rudolph v. Elder, 95 P.2d 827, 105 Colo. 105.
N.Y.—Bristol v. Ernst, 27 N.Y.S.2d 119, 261 App.Div. 713—Jean v. Algonquin Hotel Co., 15 N.Y.S.2d 759, 258 App.Div. 127.
Or.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.
Pa.—Parsons v. Drake, 32 A.2d 27, 347 Pa. 247.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

Instructions held erroneous
N.Y.—Bristol v. Ernst, 27 N.Y.S.2d 119, 261 App.Div. 713.
Utah.—Pennock v. Newhouse Realty Co., 93 P.2d 482, 97 Utah 408.

Charge held adequate
N.Y.—Hurley v. Wyckoff, 13 N.Y.S. 2d 891, 257 App.Div. 1032, transferred, see 11 N.Y.S.2d 878, 257 App. Div. 875.

Prejudicial error held not shown
N.Y.—Hoffman v. Shad, 224 N.Y.S. 722, 221 App.Div. 668.

63. Instruction held proper
Ill.—Elliott v. Congress Hotel, 41 N. E.2d 330, 314 Ill.App. 287.

64. Instruction held erroneously refused
N.Y.—Jean v. Algonquin Hotel Co., 15 N.Y.S.2d 759, 258 App.Div. 127.

Instruction held erroneous
Or.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.

65. Instructions held proper or not erroneous
Mo.—Jenkins v. Missouri State Ins. Co., 69 S.W.2d 666, 334 Mo. 941.
Utah.—Sutton v. Otis Elevator Co., 249 P. 437, 68 Utah 85.
Wash.—Holm v. Investment & Securities Co., 79 P.2d 708, 195 Wash. 52.

66. Instruction held proper
Cal.—Marr v. Whistler, 193 P. 600, 603 Cal.App. 364.

67. Instructions held proper
Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., App., 92 S.W.2d 961.

Instructions held erroneous
Ky.—Ledington v. Williams, 78 S.W. 2d 790, 257 Ky. 599.
Mo.—Livesay v. Ambassador Operating Co., App., 92 S.W.2d 961.
Okl.—Mayo Hotel Co. v. Danciger, 288 P. 309, 143 Okl. 196.

68. Instruction held erroneously refused
N.Y.—Jean v. Algonquin Hotel Co., 15 N.Y.S.2d 759, 258 App.Div. 127.

Instructions held erroneous or properly refused
U.S.—Fort Dodge Hotel Co. of Fort Dodge v. Bartelt, C.C.A.Iowa, 119 F.2d 253—MacLaughlin v. Hull, C. C.A.Wash., 87 F.2d 641.
N.M.—Snodgrass v. Turner Tourist Hotels, 109 P.2d 775, 45 N.M. 50.
Or.—Scholl v. Belcher, 127 P. 968, 63 Or. 310.

69. Definition of "stairway"
In action by inn luncheon guest for injuries sustained in fall on steps leading to platform at entrance of dining room, instruction defining "stairway" as a series of steps ascending or descending to different level, and charging that if steps involved constituted stairway within State Housing Act, failure of innkeeper to maintain handrails as required by law was negligence, it was held not error as charging that steps involved constituted stairway.—McStay v. Citizens' Nat. Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, 43 P.2d 560, 5 Cal.App.2d 595.

Abatement of nuisance
In action against hotel by pedestrian whom others pushed against taxicab when seeking to avoid bag containing water which, among numerous other objects, was thrown from hotel during three-day convention, instruction that repeated falling of objects from building into streets, interfering with use thereof on numerous occasions, constitutes public nuisance, was held not improper, although unnecessary, since under both parties' evidence court could have told jury that public nuisance existed; instruction authorizing recovery on finding that hotel's negligent failure to abate nuisance caused injury was held sufficient, and such instruction, together with instruction that repeated falling of objects into streets constitutes public nuisance, was not objectionable as departing from theory of negligence pleaded in petition.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.

70. Mich.—Toutloff v. King, 5 N.W. 2d 542, 302 Mich. 689.

71. U.S.—Parkes v. Seasongood, C.C. R.I., 152 F. 583.
Injury to good name of hotel, boarding or lodging house as nuisance, see the C.J.S. title Nuisances § 19, also 46 C.J. p 680 note 96.

72. U.S.—Parkes v. Seasongood, supra.
32 C.J. p 566 note 65.

he liable for an injury to the hotel keeper's business which is not the proximate result of the acts done or permitted by him.[73]

§ 25. Wrongful Entry of Guest's Room

After a guest has been assigned to a room he is entitled to its exclusive occupancy for all lawful purposes subject only to the right of the innkeeper to enter the room at proper times for proper purposes; and for any wrongful invasion of this right of privacy the innkeeper is liable in damages.

An innkeeper is bound to respect and give reasonable attention to the privacy of a guest,[74] and after a person has been received as a guest and assigned to a room he is entitled to the exclusive use thereof[75] for all proper and lawful purposes,[76] and at all times until it is vacated[77] on his ceasing to be a guest.[78] The right of the guest is subject only to the right of the innkeeper, his agents and servants, to enter the room at proper times for proper purposes,[79] as when necessary in the proper and reasonable discharge of their duties,[80] either in the course of the general conduct of the inn[81] or on the happening of some unanticipated, controlling emergency;[82] and these entries by the innkeeper and his employees must be at such times and in such manner as are consistent with the rights of the guest.[83]

There is a right on the part of the guest to decent, respectful, and considerate treatment at the hands of the innkeeper and his servants,[84] and a corresponding obligation on the part of the innkeeper that neither he nor his servants shall abuse or insult the guest or indulge in any speech or conduct that may unnecessarily subject him to physical discomfort or distress of mind.[85] Hence, where the innkeeper, his servants, or persons under his control or acting under his orders, without justification or excuse, enter the room of a guest while it is occupied by him and make unfounded charges of immorality against him, or engage in other speech or conduct that is abusive, insulting, or wanting in ordinary respect and decency, the guest has a right of action against the innkeeper,[86] which he may enforce by an action either in contract or in tort,[87] and may recover such damages as will compensate him for the injuries which are the direct effects of the wrongful acts,[88] including damages not only for the unwarranted disturbance of his right of privacy,[89] but also for the injury to his feelings resulting from the humiliation,[90] for physical ills and pains which were caused by the wrongs[91] or

73. U.S.—Parkes v. Seasongood, supra.
32 C.J. p 566 note 66.

74. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.
32 C.J. p 567 note 78.

75. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 28, 214 Ala. 396, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.
32 C.J. p 566 note 68.

76. Mass.—Frewen v. Page, 131 N.E. 475, 238 Mass. 499.
N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.

77. Mass.—Frewen v. Page, 131 N.E. 475, 238 Mass. 499.

78. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.

79. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 28, 214 Ala. 396, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.
32 C.J. p 566 note 73.

80. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.
32 C.J. p 566 note 74.

81. La.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.
Pa.—Wolk v. Pittsburgh Hotels Co., 131 A. 537, 284 Pa. 545, 42 A.L.R. 1081.
32 C.J. p 566 note 75.

82. N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.
32 C.J. p 567 note 76.

83. Mont.—Jones v. Shannon, 175 P. 882, 55 Mont. 225.
N.Y.—De Wolf v. Ford, 86 N.E. 527, 193 N.Y. 397, 127 Am.S.R. 969, 21 L.R.A.,N.S., 860, reversing 104 N.Y.S. 876, 119 App.Div. 808.

84. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A. Mo., 293 F. 17.
Mo.—Gore v. Whitmore Hotel Co., 83 S.W.2d 114, 229 Mo.App. 910.
32 C.J. p 567 note 79.

85. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A. Mo., 293 F. 17.
32 C.J. p 567 note 80.
Liability of innkeeper for assault and battery see supra § 22.

86. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, supra.
La.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.
32 C.J. p 567 note 81.
Innkeeper's suspicion no defense
Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.

87. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A. Mo., 293 F. 17.
32 C.J. p 567 note 82.

88. Wis.—Meshane v. Second St. Co., 222 N.W. 320, 197 Wis. 382.
32 C.J. p 567 note 83.
Punitive damages were held not recoverable for acts of hotel detective in pushing guest aside when opening door to her room.—Meshane v. Second St. Co., 222 N.W. 320, 197 Wis. 382.
Damages held excessive
La.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.
N.Y.—Hurd v. Hotel Astor Co., 169 N.Y.S. 359, 182 App.Div. 49.

89. Mass.—Frewen v. Page, 131 N.E. 475, 238 Mass. 499.

90. U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A. Mo., 293 F. 17.
32 C.J. p 567 note 85.
Punitive damages
Pa.—Kalo & Sullivan v. William Penn Hotel Co., 86 Pa.Super. 359.

91. N.Y.—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., 126 N.E. 647, 228 N.Y. 106, affirming 168 N.Y.S. 131, 181 App.Div. 61.
32 C.J. p 567 note 86.

were the direct effects of the mental distress and anguish,[92] and also for any unlawful restraint of his liberty.[93] On the other hand, there can be no recovery where the incident which is the subject of the action was brought about solely by the violation by plaintiff and her husband of a reasonable rule or regulation adopted by defendant.[94]

The rulings on such matters as the pleadings,[95] issues, proof, and variance,[96] evidence,[97] and trial[98] in actions of this nature are in accord with those made in civil actions generally.

Inferences from register. The proprietor of a hotel is charged with knowledge of the sex and identity of guests assigned to particular rooms;[99] he is not justified in intruding on their privacy by assuming, contrary to the fact, that they are not registered,[1] or by drawing false inferences from the character of their signatures on the register.[2] However, he is not put on notice, by their names on the register, of the relation existing between two guests registering on different days and assigned to different rooms.[3]

§ 26. Compensation and Lien

a. Right and liability in general
b. Securing and enforcing right

a. Right and Liability in General

An innkeeper can charge only a reasonable compensation and he must usually perform his whole obligation before being entitled to it.

An innkeeper may charge for entertaining a guest at rates made by the innkeeper,[4] or by agreement of the parties,[5] or, in the absence of agreement, reasonable compensation.[6] An undertaking to board and lodge a guest implies an engagement to pay the usual and reasonable attentions to his health and comfort without extra charge therefor,[7] but not to provide the services of a nurse in a severe and protracted illness.[8]

Before being entitled to compensation the innkeeper or boardinghouse keeper must perform his whole obligation.[9] If the obligation is to furnish both room and board, the innkeeper cannot recover compensation, although he furnishes the room, if he has failed to provide proper board,[10] but, although the innkeeper is forbidden by law to recover for liquor he has furnished to his guest, he may nevertheless recover the amount due for board.[11] Under some circumstances, compensation may be recovered for a period of time when the guest was not present, as where the guest had made a contract for a definite time,[12] or where he was temporarily absent and a rule of the innkeeper provides for a reasonable charge in such cases.[13] However, where a guest is removed from the premises by the innkeeper,[14] or where a guest or boarder leaves an inn, because of its unsanitary condition, although under an agreement to remain,[15] the innkeeper may recover only for the time of the actual occupancy of the guest or boarder, and of course a boardinghouse keeper cannot recover compensation for a period of time after he has closed the house, even on a contract for board covering that period.[16]

By statute in some jurisdictions, unless a person is an innkeeper, he cannot recover for entertain-

92. N.Y.—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., supra.

93. Mass.—Frewen v. Page, 131 N.E. 475, 238 Mass. 499.

94. N.Y.—Hurd v. Hotel Astor Co., 169 N.Y.S. 359, 182 App.Div. 49.

95. La.—Moody v. Kenny, 97 So. 21, 153 La. 1007, 29 A.L.R. 474.
32 C.J. p 567 note 90.

96. N.Y.—Boyce v. Greeley Square Hotel Co., 126 N.E. 647, 228 N.Y. 106, affirming 168 N.Y.S. 191, 181 App.Div. 61.
32 C.J. p 567 note 91.

97. Wis.—Meshane v. Second St. Co., 222 N.W. 320, 197 Wis. 382.
32 C.J. p 567 note 92.

Admissibility
Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.

Evidence held sufficient
U.S.—Emmke v. De Silva, C.C.A.Mo., 293 F. 17.
Ga.—Newcomb Hotel Co. v. Corbett, 108 S.E. 309, 27 Ga.App. 365.

98. Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., 108 So. 26, 214 Ala. 396.
32 C.J. p 567 note 93.

Instructions
Ala.—Dixon v. Hotel Tutwiler Operating Co., supra.
Pa.—Kalo & Sullivan v. William Penn Hotel Co., 86 Pa.Super. 359.

99. Ga.—Newcomb Hotel Co. v. Corbett, 108 S.E. 309, 27 Ga.App. 365.

1. Mass.—Frewen v. Page, 131 N.E. 475, 238 Mass. 499.

2. Ga.—Newcomb Hotel Co. v. Corbett, 108 S.E. 309, 27 Ga.App. 365.

3. N.Y.—Hurd v. Hotel Astor Co., 169 N.Y.S. 359, 182 App.Div. 49.
32 C.J. p 567 note 97.

4. Pa.—Whalley v. Toddington, 13 Phila. 2.
32 C.J. p 568 note 99 [a].
Statutory regulation of rates, or posting thereof see supra § 5.

5. Pa.—Shoemaker v. Beaver, 42 Leg.Int. 511.
32 C.J. p 568 note 1.

6. Ga.—Baldwin v. Webb, 49 S.E. 265, 121 Ga. 416.
Ky.—Kemper v. Asher's Adm'x, 114 S.W.2d 525, 272 Ky. 461.

7. Del.—Kennard v. Hobson, 6 Del. 36.

8. Del.—Kennard v. Hobson, supra.

9. N.Y.—Wilson v. Martin, 1 Den. 602.

10. N.Y.—Wilson v. Martin, supra.

11. Pa.—Chase v. Burkholder, 18 Pa. 48—Scattergood v. Waterman, 2 Miles 323.

12. La.—Donlin v. Pierce, 133 So. 178, 16 La.App. 24.
32 C.J. p 568 note 11.

13. N.Y.—Smith v. Keyes, 2 Thomps. & C. 650.

14. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

15. Me.—Williams v. Sweet, 110 A. 316, 119 Me. 228, 10 A.L.R. 121.
32 C.J. p 568 note 13.

16. N.Y.—Kohn v. Geist, 168 N.Y.S. 21.

ment furnished in the absence of an express agreement for compensation.[17]

b. Securing and Enforcing Right

(1) Innkeepers

(2) Boardinghouse and lodginghouse keepers

(1) Innkeepers

(a) Actions

(b) Lien

(a) Actions

An innkeeper may enforce his charges by an action in the proper form.

An innkeeper may enforce his charges by an action in the proper form.[18] Where the action is brought on the implied promise of the guest, the innkeeper must prove the reasonable value of the entertainment furnished,[19] and, under some statutes, he must also prove his status as an innkeeper.[20] In such action, the guest may recoup the value of goods lost from his rooms.[21] The rulings on such matters as the pleadings,[22] evidence,[23] and trial[24] in actions of this nature are in accord with those made in civil actions generally.

(b) Lien

aa. In general

bb. Duration

cc. Property covered

dd. Charges secured

ee. Care and use of property detained

ff. Enforcement

aa. In General

Both at common law and under modern statutes an innkeeper is entitled to a lien on the effects of his guests for the reasonable charges for their entertainment.

Both at common law,[25] and under statutory provisions,[26] an innkeeper is entitled to a lien on the effects of guests for the amount of the reasonable charges for their entertainment. This extraordinary privilege corresponds to, and is concurrent with, the extraordinary liabilities which the law imposes on the innkeeper.[27] The lien is not created by a contract, but by law;[28] the innkeeper, being obliged by law to receive the guest, as considered

17. Ky.—Rice v. Meade, 272 S.W. 415, 209 Ky. 173—Snowden v. Snowden, 96 S.W. 922, 29 Ky.L. 1112—Ramsey v. Keith, 76 S.W. 142, 25 Ky.L. 582.

18. Me.—Williams v. Sweet, 110 A. 316, 119 Me. 228, 10 A.L.R. 121.
32 C.J. p 568 note 20.
Enforcement of lien see infra subdivision b (1) (b) ff of this section.

Rent represented by note
Where owner of apartment building accepted from occupants of apartment a note payable in one year in payment of rent arrearage, owner in action to recover possession of premises could not, before note became payable, recover judgment for amount of rent represented by note.—Roberts v. Casey, 93 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.

19. N.Y.—Roche v. Road Drivers' Ass'n, 96 N.Y.S. 205.

20. Ky.—Rice v. Meade, 272 S.W. 415, 209 Ky. 173—Snowden v. Snowden, 96 S.W. 922, 29 Ky.L. 1112—Ramsey v. Keith, 76 S.W. 142, 25 Ky.L. 582.

21. Mass.—Burbank v. Chapin, 2 N.E. 934, 140 Mass. 123.
Liability of innkeeper for loss of guest's goods generally see supra §§ 12–21.

22. Tex.—McDaniel v. Turner, Civ. App., 269 S.W. 496.

23. Ill.—Williams v. Webster Hotel Co., 145 N.E. 622, 315 Ill. 64.
32 C.J. p 568 note 21 [a].

Exhibits
Pa.—Hotel Redington v. Guffey, 25 A.2d 773, 148 Pa.Super. 502.

24. Questions for jury
Mass.—Barclay Park Corporation v. Bancroft, 43 N.E.2d 1, 311 Mass. 747.
Tex.—Jordan v. Junkin, Civ.App., 83 S.W.2d 1045.

25. Ala.—Ruff v. Hanson, 133 So. 716, 222 Ala. 676.
Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 511, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098, citing Corpus Juris.
Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, 225 N.W. 549, 550, 247 Mich. 226, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 568 note 25.

26. Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 511, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—In re Aldrich's Estate, 233 N.Y.S. 676, 133 Misc. 715.
32 C.J. p 569 note 26.

Apartment hotel
(1) May be within the statutes.—McMann v. Beaux Arts Apartments, 262 N.Y.S. 342, 146 Misc. 833.

(2) However, such a statute has been held inapplicable when the apartment was occupied under a yearly lease creating the relation of landlord and tenant.—Kuszewska v. Steiger Hotel Operating Co., 272 N.Y.S. 659, 152 Misc. 80, affirmed 279 N.Y.S. 733, 244 App.Div. 709.

A hospital is not entitled to an innkeeper's statutory lien under such a statute.—Hull Hospital v. Wheeler, 250 N.W. 637, 216 Iowa 1394.

Statutes held not invalid
Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.
Mo.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 332 Mo. 749, transferred, see Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.

27. Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, 225 N.W. 549, 550, 247 Mich. 226, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 33, 332 Mo. 749, quoting Corpus Juris, transferred, see Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.
32 C.J. p 569 note 27.

28. Ala.—Semple School for Girls v. Yielding, 80 So. 158, 16 Ala.App. 584.
Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.
Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, 225 N.W. 549, 550, 247 Mich. 226, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 33, 332 Mo. 749, quoting Corpus Juris, transferred see Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.

supra § 9, is given the lien by the law as a protection.[29] Consequently an innkeeper may maintain his lien even against a guest who is not legally capable of making a binding contract.[30]

It is essential to the existence of the lien that the goods on which it is claimed should have been brought to the inn by a person coming in the character of a guest,[31] but it is not necessary that the guest should in all cases be the owner of the goods, as considered infra subdivision b (1) (b) cc of this section.

bb. Duration

Where the lien of an innkeeper has once attached to the goods of a guest, it ordinarily continues until the innkeeper voluntarily surrenders them to the guest or the debt is satisfied.

Where the lien of an innkeeper has once attached to the goods of a guest, it continues wherever they may be taken by the innkeeper,[32] even though they are taken by him into another state, the laws of which would not create such a lien.[33] Although it has been held that the innkeeper may allow the guest to take the property temporarily without parting with his lien,[34] ordinarily the lien is at an end when the innkeeper voluntarily delivers the goods to the guest,[35] and he cannot afterward retake the property or assert the lien,[36] unless he was induced to give up the goods by fraud,[37] in which case he may recover them and the lien will again attach.[38] However, the surrender of the property to a prosecuting attorney for use as evidence does not constitute a loss of the lien, since it would be presumed that his custody was lawful and the surrender was involuntary.[39]

The lien is of course destroyed by payment or satisfaction of the debt,[40] or, it is held, where the guest has a right of set-off equaling or exceeding the amount of the charges covered by the lien;[41] but the lien is not lost by the innkeeper suing the guest and attaching the goods held.[42] However, an existing lien for accrued rent is not waived by the acceptance of a guest's check in payment for current rent,[43] or by the grant of more than the usual time to pay the bill[44] in the absence of evidence warranting such an inference.[45] It has also been held that the lien is not waived or lost by a failure to assert it on refusing to deliver the goods to a chattel mortgagee when possession was demanded under the mortgage,[46] or by a promise to send home the subject of the lien, where the consideration therefor is void.[47]

cc. Property Covered

The lien of an innkeeper extends generally to all property brought by the guest to the inn, including property not belonging to the guest when the innkeeper was either ignorant of the true ownership or knew that the guest had lawful possession of it.

While the lien of an innkeeper extends generally to all property, and each article thereof, brought by the guest to the inn,[48] it cannot be exercised over the person of the guest.[49]

29. Ala.—Semple School for Girls v. Yielding, 80 So. 158, 16 Ala.App. 584.
Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 511, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098, citing Corpus Juris.
Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, 225 N.W. 549, 550, 247 Mich. 226, quoting Corpus Juris.

30. Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 33, 332 Mo. 749, quoting Corpus Juris, transferred see, Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.
32 C.J. p 569 note 32.

31. Colo.—Wall v. Garrison, 19 P. 469, 11 Colo. 515.
32 C.J. p 569 note 33.
Lien on goods of boarder see infra subdivision b (2) (b) of this section.
Lien for care of horses
Mich.—Elliott v. Martin, 63 N.W. 525, 105 Mich. 506, 55 Am.S.R. 461.
32 C.J. p 569 notes 36, 37.

32. N.H.—Jaquith v. American Express Co., 60 N.H. 61.

33. N.H.—Jaquith v. American Express Co., supra.

34. Tenn.—Caldwell v. Tutt, 10 Lea 258, 43 Am.R. 307.

35. Ga.—Brown v. Harmon, 1 S.E.2d 33, 59 Ga.App. 373—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 883, 48 Ga.App. 109, citing Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 569 note 42.

36. Ga.—Brown v. Harmon, 1 S.E.2d 33, 59 Ga.App. 373—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.
32 C.J. p 569 note 43.

37. Wis.—Manning v. Hollenbeck, 27 Wis. 202.

38. Wis.—Manning v. Hollenbeck, supra.

39. Ohio.—M. & M. Hotel Co. v. Nichols, App., 32 N.E.2d 463.

40. Colo.—Hanlin v. Walters, 34 P. 686, 3 Colo.App. 519.

41. Colo.—Hanlin v. Walters, supra.

42. W.Va.—Lambert v. Nicklass, 31 S.E. 951, 45 W.Va. 527, 72 Am.S.R. 828, 44 L.R.A. 561.

43. Colo.—Davis v. Brinkhouse Hotel Co., 219 P. 1074, 74 Colo. 199.

44. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Klamt v. Loeffler, 276 N.Y.S. 698, 153 Misc. 781.

45. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Klamt v. Loeffler, supra.

46. N.Y.—Corbett v. Cushing, 4 N.Y.S. 616, 15 Daly 170.

47. Me.—Danforth v. Pratt, 42 Me. 50.

48. Mich.—Cohen v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., Limited, of London, England, 225 N.W. 549, 550, 247 Mich. 226, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 570 note 59.
Property exempt from execution as subject to innkeeper's lien see Exemptions § 89.
Automobile has been held not baggage within a lien statute although kept in the hotel garage.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
Horses employed in transporting mails
U.S.—U. S. v. Barney, D.C.Md., 24 F. Cas.No.14,525, 3 Hughes 545, 2 Wheel.Cr. 513.

49. N.Y.—Grinnell v. Cook, 3 Hill 485, 38 Am.D. 663.
32 C.J. p 570 note 61.

Except in jurisdictions where the rule has been modified or abrogated by statute,[50] the rule at common law and under some statutes is that the lien of an innkeeper may attach to goods which are not the property of the guest but which were brought by him to the inn and were received by the innkeeper in his capacity as such without knowledge of their true ownership[51] or with knowledge that while the title is in another, yet that the guest as agent, servant, or otherwise, is in lawful possession thereof.[52] The rule has been applied even to stolen property,[53] and to property, such as pianos, which a traveler does not ordinarily carry with him as a part of his luggage.[54] On the other hand, where goods are brought to the inn with notice or knowledge on the part of the innkeeper that they are the property of a third person, no lien attaches,[55] except under a statute extending the lien to property under the control of a guest,[56] but even under such statutes it has been held that the lien does not extend to stolen property.[57]

Persons not guests or not chargeable. The right of an innkeeper to a lien does not extend to the property of persons who are not guests of the inn,[58] and where a person goes to an inn under such circumstances that he is not chargeable because the bill is to be paid by another, the goods of the guest who is not chargeable cannot be held on lien.[59]

dd. Charges Secured

The lien operates to secure the payment of the charges for whatever the guest has ordered and the innkeeper has furnished, including reasonable expenditures in keeping the property held under the lien.

The innkeeper's lien operates to secure the payment of the charges for whatever the guest has ordered and the innkeeper has furnished,[60] and where the keeping of the property held under the lien involves expense, the lien covers reimbursement of reasonable expenditures in that respect.[61] However, it has been held that an innkeeper has no lien for storage charges incurred in caring for deceased tenant's property.[62] Also, an innkeeper has no lien for money loaned to his guest, unless the guest is an infant and the money borrowed by him was expended for necessaries.[63]

ee. Care and Use of Property Detained

The innkeeper must take due care of the goods he holds on lien.

An innkeeper holding goods on lien is bound to take due care of the goods, which has been said to be extraordinary care when he is holding them by an innkeeper's lien.[64] He may make reasonable use of the property, if such use is beneficial to the owner, as for instance in the case of live animals, but in that case he is bound to account for the value of the use.[65] It has been held that the principles of

50. Cal.—Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. v. Farb, 6 P.2d 358, 120 Cal.App.Supp. 773.
32 C.J. p 570 notes 66, 67.

51. Ill.—Baldwin Piano Co. v. Congress Hotel, 243 Ill.App. 118.
Ohio.—M. & M. Hotel Co. v. Nichols, 32 N.E.2d 463, 467, quoting Corpus Juris.
32 C.J. p 570 note 68.

In Missouri

(1) An early statute was held to limit the lien in favor of innkeepers to the property belonging to a guest. —Mercer v. Lowery, 181 S.W. 1050, 193 Mo.App. 106—Wyckoff v. Southern Hotel Co., 24 Mo.App. 382.

(2) However, a later statute, covering to some extent the same subject matter, was held to extend the right to a lien so that it exists practically as it does at common law, and since the statute is no broader than the common law, it was held not invalid.—L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 60 S.W.2d 32, 332 Mo. 749, transferred, see Lines Music Co. v. Holt, App., 48 S.W.2d 92, and dissenting opinion L. E. Lines Music Co. v. Holt, 61 S.W.2d 326, 332 Mo. 749.

52. Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.
32 C.J. p 570 note 69.

Salesman's samples

Ill.—National Malted Food Corporation v. Crawford, 254 Ill.App. 415.

53. Ky.—Black v. Brennan, 5 Dana 310.
32 C.J. p 570 note 70.

54. Ill.—Baldwin Piano Co. v. Congress Hotel, 243 Ill.App. 118.
32 C.J. p 570 note 71.
Priority between chattel mortgage lien and innkeeper's lien see Chattel Mortgages § 302.

55. N.C.—Pate Hotel Co. v. Blair, 177 S.E. 330, 207 N.C. 464.
32 C.J. p 571 note 72.

56. Iowa.—Brown Shoe Co. v. Hunt, 72 N.W. 765, 103 Iowa 586, 64 Am. S.R. 198, 39 L.R.A. 291.
Ohio.—M. & M. Hotel Co. v. Nichols, App., 32 N.E.2d 463, 467, quoting Corpus Juris.

Construction of statute

Ohio.—M. & M. Hotel Co. v. Nichols, App., 32 N.E.2d 463.

57. Ohio.—M. & M. Hotel Co. v. Nichols, App., 32 N.E.2d 463.

58. Iowa.—Brin v. Sidenstucker, 8 N.W.2d 423, 145 A.L.R. 359.

Person in company of guest

The innkeeper has no right to detain the baggage of a person in the company of the guest who is in default.—Kennedy v. Muller, 1 Wkly. N.C., Pa. 445.

59. N.J.—Baker v. Stratton, 19 A. 661, 52 N.J.Law 277.
32 C.J. p 571 note 75.

Husband and wife

Where a wife, or the husband and wife, are accorded accommodation at an inn, but the contract is made with, or credit is extended to, the husband alone, the goods of the wife are not subject to the lien.—Mercer v. Lowery, 181 S.W. 1050, 193 Mo. App. 106, 109—32 C.J. p 571 note 73.

60. Pa.—Maddox v. Cambridge Springs Co., 11 Pa.Dist. 358, 26 Pa. Co. 356.
32 C.J. p 571 note 78.

61. Ky.—Black v. Brennan, 5 Dana 310.
32 C.J. p 571 note 79.

62. N.Y.—In re Aldrich's Estate, 233 N.Y.S. 676, 133 Misc. 715.

63. Ky.—Watson v. Cross, 2 Duv. 147.

64. Colo.—Dutton Hotel Co. v. Fitzpatrick, 193 P. 549, 69 Colo. 229.
32 C.J. p 571 notes 86, 87.

65. Vt.—Alvord v. Davenport, 43 Vt. 30.

the law of bailment, as they apply to negligent breach of duty arising out of an implied contract of bailment, discussed in Bailments § 26, are not affected by the statutory lien given to innkeepers,[66] and a hotel selling property of a guest under its lien has been held liable for other property of the guest which was not offered for sale, was not returned to the guest, and had disappeared.[67]

ff. Enforcement

At common law an innkeeper cannot sell or pledge property held by him under a lien, the proper procedure being by a bill in equity to foreclose it, but under statutes various methods of enforcing the lien have been provided.

At common law an innkeeper cannot sell[68] or pledge[69] property held by him under a lien. The proper method of enforcing the lien, in the absence of statute, is by a bill in equity to foreclose it; and on such a bill the court may order the sale of the goods.[70] The bill or petition must state facts sufficient to entitle plaintiff to a lien,[71] including an allegation that he is the keeper of an inn, hotel, or tavern.[72] The lien may be set up in answer to a suit in replevin brought by the owner of the goods.[73]

Under statute. The ineffectiveness of the innkeeper's lien for the purpose of enforcing his charges against delinquent guests has been remedied by statutes authorizing the sale of goods held under such a lien.[74] The methods of enforcing the lien vary according to the provisions of the particular statute,[75] and such statutes have been held, sometimes by virtue of express provision therein, not to preclude any other existing remedy for the enforcement of innkeepers' liens.[76] Although stolen property brought to an inn by a guest may be subject to the innkeeper's lien, such property is not within the provision of a statute giving innkeepers power to sell under their lien,[77] and under some statutes, if property subject to the lien does not belong to the guest it cannot be sold summarily after notice, but only on execution to satisfy a judgment for the hotel charges.[78]

(2) Boardinghouse and Lodginghouse Keepers

(a) Actions

(b) Lien

(a) Actions

The rules applicable in civil actions generally apply in actions by a boardinghouse keeper to recover for board and lodging.

In an action by a boardinghouse keeper to recover for board and lodging, it is essential to a recovery that plaintiff prove the amount which the accommodations furnished were reasonably worth,[79] or the usual and customary rates charged by plaintiff,[80] or an express agreement by defendant to pay a certain rate.[81] General rules apply to issues, proof and variance,[82] and evidence[83] in such actions.

(b) Lien

Boardinghouse and lodginghouse keepers had no lien at common law but many modern statutes give them this privilege and provide suitable means of enforcement.

At common law, the keepers of boardinghouses, lodginghouses, and like establishments, as well as innkeepers, who with regard to particular patrons occupy the position of keepers of boardinghouses or lodginghouses not being subject to the extraordinary liabilities imposed on innkeepers, are not entitled to the corresponding privilege of a lien on the effects of their boarders or lodgers,[84] but the tendency of modern legislation has been to extend this privilege, and a lien is now given by statute in

66. N.C.—Wells v. West, 194 S.E. 313, 212 N.C. 656.

67. N.Y.—Lane v. Hotel Investors, 25 N.Y.S.2d 300, reversed on other grounds 29 N.Y.S.2d 364.

68. Mo.—Case v. Fogg, 46 Mo. 44.
32 C.J. p 571 note 90.

69. Mich.—People v. Husband, 36 Mich. 306.

70. N.Y.—Fox v. McGregor, 11 Barb. 41.
32 C.J. p 571 note 92.

71. Ky.—Southwood v. Myers, 3 Bush 681.

72. Ky.—Southwood v. Myers, supra.

73. Iowa.—Pollock v. Landis, 36 Iowa 651.

74. Pa.—Gump v. Showalter, 43 Pa. 507.
32 C.J. p 571 note 97.

75. Cal.—Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. v. Farb, 6 P.2d 358, 120 Cal.App.Supp. 773.
32 C.J. p 571 note 1.

76. Mich.—Polk v. Melenbacker, 99 N.W. 867, 136 Mich. 611.

77. Pa.—Gump v. Showalter, 43 Pa. 507.

78. Cal.—Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. v. Farb, 6 P.2d 358, 120 Cal.App. Supp. 773.
Right of owner to assert claim
Cal.—Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. v. Farb, supra.

79. Ga.—Baldwin v. Webb, 49 S.E. 265, 121 Ga. 416.

80. Ga.—Baldwin v. Webb, supra.

81. Ga.—Baldwin v. Webb, supra.

82. Minn.—Doyle v. Swanson, 288 N. W. 152, 206 Minn. 56.

83. Ky.—Kemper v. Asher's Adm'x, 114 S.W.2d 525, 272 Ky. 461.
Presumption exists that boarder has agreed to pay regular and established rate of boardinghouse which has for some time been in existence.
—Moore v. Sykes' Estate, 149 So. 789, 167 Miss. 212.
Weight and sufficiency
La.—Donlin v. Pierce, 133 So. 178, 16 La.App. 24.
Miss.—Moore v. Sykes' Estate, 149 So. 789, 167 Miss. 212.

84. Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.
32 C.J. p 572 note 7.

many jurisdictions to the keepers of such houses,[85] and such statutes have been held constitutional,[86] except in so far as they attempt to confer a lien on the property of a third person.[87]

In order for the lien to attach, the person claiming it must be within the class of persons named in the statute,[88] and the person for whom the accommodations are furnished must be a boarder or lodger,[89] but it has been held immaterial whether the boarder is transient or permanent.[90] The statutory lien for board will not be extended to cover charges other than board.[91] The lien attaches as soon as the services are performed, although payment may be postponed by agreement until a future day.[92] It not only includes the right of detention of the property,[93] but the lien is lost if the boardinghouse keeper parts with his possession of it.[94] Also, it has been held that the lien of a boardinghouse keeper is released on tender of the amount due for board.[95]

Property of third person. Usually,[96] but not always,[97] the lien is limited, either by the terms or construction of the statute, to the property of the boarder or lodger and cannot be exercised on property of a third person brought to the house by the boarder or lodger as his own property. However, an existing lien on the property of a boarder is not terminated by a sale of the property by the boarder to a third person; it may operate to secure charges for board subsequently furnished while the property remains in the house and until notice of the sale is given the boardinghouse keeper.[98]

Property of married woman. A boardinghouse keeper has no lien on the effects of a wife, for a debt contracted by her husband alone for her or their board,[99] but the rule is otherwise where credit was extended to the wife,[1] or where by statute her property is chargeable with expenses of the family.[2] It has even been held that a pledge by a wife of her separate property for a board debt due from her husband for the board of both does not create a boardinghouse keeper's lien but gives rise at most to an equitable lien or charge on the property, which must be declared and enforced by an equitable action or counterclaim.[3]

Enforcement. The statutes usually provide a mode or modes of enforcing the lien given to boardinghouse keepers,[4] and, while it has been held that, where an adequate mode of enforcing it is prescribed, such mode of enforcement is exclusive of all others,[5] it has also been held that the same remedies afforded innkeepers are extended to keepers of boardinghouses.[6]

85. Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 116 Conn. 112.
Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.
La.—Davis v. Nicholson, App., 153 So. 340.
Mich.—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N.W. 785, 272 Mich. 38.
32 C.J. p 572 note 9.
Purpose of statute
Ala.—Ruff v. Hanson, 133 So. 716, 222 Ala. 676.
Construction of statute
Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.

86. Tenn.—Nance v. O. K. Houck Piano Co., 155 S.W. 1172, 128 Tenn. 1, Ann.Cas.1914D 834.

87. N.Y.—Van Laar v. Marchesini, 175 N.Y.S. 456, 107 Misc. 186.

88. Minn.—State v. Bowman, 279 N. W. 214, 202 Minn. 44.
32 C.J. p 572 note 13—8 C.J. p 1132 note 14 [f].
Statutes creating innkeepers' liens as inapplicable to warehousemen see the C.J.S. title Warehousemen and Safe Depositaries § 63, also 67 C. J. p 548 notes 68, 69.

89. Cal.—Roberts v. Casey, 98 P.2d 654, 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 767.
Conn.—Carroll v. Cooney, 163 A. 599, 116 Conn. 112.
Iowa.—Cedar Rapids Inv. Co. v. Commodore Hotel Co., 218 N.W. 510, 205 Iowa 736, 56 A.L.R. 1098.
Mich.—Brams v. Briggs, 260 N.W. 785, 272 Mich. 38.
32 C.J. p 572 note 14.
Pupil in a boarding school as guest or boarder within the statutory definition see C.J.S. title Schools and School Districts § 9, also 56 C.J. p 175 note 69.

90. N.Y.—Stewart v. McCready, 24 How.Pr. 62.

91. N.H.—Cross v. Wilkins, 43 N.H. 332.
32 C.J. p 572 note 16.

92. Mass.—Smith v. Colcord, 115 Mass. 70.

93. Ala.—Ruff v. Hanson, 133 So. 716, 222 Ala. 676.
Purpose of detention
The keeper of a boardinghouse does not in that capacity have a valid statutory lien on the property of a deceased boarder where in the first instance he held the property and claimed a lien, not for the purpose of securing payment for accommodations furnished, but rather for the purpose of withholding the property for the benefit of decedent's children.—Matter of Stiens, 113 N.Y.S. 1105, 60 Misc. 631.

94. Ga.—Brown v. Harmon, 1 S.E.2d 33, 59 Ga.App. 373—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.

95. N.Y.—Braun v. Eckstein, 128 N. Y.S. 1077.

96. Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.
32 C.J. p 572 note 20.

97. Pa.—Singer Mfg. Co. v. Flennigan, 7 Pa.Co. 45.

98. Mass.—Bayley v. Merrill, 10 Allen 360.

99. N.J.—Baker v. Stratton, 19 A. 661, 52 N.J.Law 277.
Wis.—Chickering-Chase Bros. Co. v. White, 106 N.W. 797, 127 Wis. 83.
30 C.J. p 923 note 84.

1. N.Y.—Birney v. Wheaton, 2 How. Pr.,N.S., 519.

2. Colo.—McDonnell v. Solomon, 170 P. 951, 64 Colo. 226.

3. Wis.—Chickering-Chase Bros. Co. v. White, 106 N.W. 797, 127 Wis. 83.

4. Ga.—Turner v. Priest, 171 S.E. 881, 48 Ga.App. 109.

5. Mo.—Coates v. Acheson, 28 Mo. App. 255.

6. Ala.—Ruff v. Hanson, 133 So. 716, 222 Ala. 676.

IV. OFFENSES

§ 27. By Innkeepers

Various acts or conduct on the part of innkeepers constitute penal offenses.

At common law, in addition to creating a right of action for damages, as considered supra § 10, the wrongful refusal by an innkeeper to entertain a traveler is a public offense for which the innkeeper may be indicted and fined,[7] and various laws have been enacted making certain acts or conduct by innkeepers a penal offense.[8] Thus, illegally keeping a public house without a license, or other breach of a public regulation by an innkeeper, is generally a penal offense,[9] and the punishment may be inflicted as often as the offense is repeated.[10]

It is no defense to a prosecution for keeping an inn without a license that defendant was ignorant of the fact that he had no license,[11] or, it is held, that he is merely the manager rather than the proprietor,[12] but it is a defense that he is a mere servant or agent.[13] However, the conviction of defendant for operating a rooming house without a license cannot be sustained when the undisputed evidence discloses that the house was operated by his wife in her name.[14] The fact that an innkeeper is not licensed is not a defense to a prosecution for exacting more than the established rates.[15]

An indictment drawn substantially in the language of the statute which embraces in its terms the material ingredients of the offense is sufficient.[16]

Hotel runners. Under a statute penalizing the diversion or attempt to divert any traveler or other person to another hotel, guilt is established when it is shown that there has been an attempt to divert.[17]

§ 28. By Guests, Boarders, or Lodgers

In some jurisdictions it is an offense for a person, with intent to defraud, to obtain accommodation at a public house without paying therefor, or to obtain credit by false pretenses, or to abscond or secretly remove his baggage without paying his bill.

In a number of jurisdictions it is made an offense by statute for a person, with the intent to defraud, to obtain food, lodging, or other accommodation at an inn, hotel, boardinghouse, rooming house, or restaurant without paying therefor, or to obtain credit by the use of false pretenses, or, after obtaining credit, to abscond without paying the charges against him.[18] While the validity of these statutes has been upheld[19] as not creating imprisonment for debt,[20] yet, being penal in their nature, they are subject to strict construction,[21] and will not be applied to persons, acts, or omissions not coming within their terms.[22]

A mere failure, refusal, or inability to pay does not constitute the offense contemplated by the statutes;[23] there must be an intent to defraud[24] existing at the time the board or other accommodation

7. Ky.—Watson v. Cross, 2 Duv. 147. 32 C.J. p 573 note 33.

8. Wash.—State v. Thomas, 287 P. 667, 156 Wash. 583.

Zoning laws

N.J.—Benequit v. Borough of Monmouth Beach, 13 A.2d 847, 125 N. J.Law 65.

Recovery of penalty

Some statutes provide that penalties may be recovered by overseers of the poor against innkeepers for nonobservance of the provisions of the statutes.—Olp v. Leddick, 14 N. Y.S. 41—32 C.J. p 573 note 36.

Statute invalid

A statute that provides for the imprisonment of a hotelkeeper for refusal to pay inspection fees is unconstitutional, as authorizing imprisonment for debt.

Iowa.—Hubbell v. Higgins, 126 N. W. 914, 148 Iowa 36, Ann.Cas. 1912B 822.

Wash.—State v. McFarland, 110 P. 792, 60 Wash. 98, 140 Am.S.R. 909.

9. R.I.—State v. Barrett, 38 A. 949, 20 R.I. 313.
32 C.J. p 573 note 34.

10. Me.—State v. Johnson, 65 Me. 362.

11. Ky.—Commonwealth v. Keathley, 82 S.W. 232, 26 Ky.L. 493.
32 C.J. p 573 note 39.

12. Ala.—Winter v. State, 30 Ala. 22.

13. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Lavery, 37 N.E. 884, 158 Mass. 13.
32 C.J. p 573 note 41.

14. Ga.—Jones v. City of Atlanta, 122 S.E. 642, 32 Ga.App. 40.

15. N.C.—State v. Wynne, 8 N.C. 451.

16. R.I.—State v. Barrett, 38 A. 949, 20 R.I. 313.
32 C.J. p 573 note 38.

17. N.Y.—People v. Boord, 23 N.Y. S.2d 792, 260 App.Div. 681, affirmed 35 N.E.2d 195, 285 N.Y. 806.

Entrapment

N.Y.—People v. Boord, supra.

18. Ark.—Garrett v. State, 275 S.W. 902, 169 Ark. 527.
N.C.—State v. Barbee, 122 S.E. 753, 187 N.C. 703.
32 C.J. p 573 note 43.

19. Ind.—Clark v. State, 84 N.E. 984, 171 Ind. 104, 16 Ann.Cas. 1229.
32 C.J. p 574 note 44.

20. Ala.—Ex parte King, 15 So. 524, 102 Ala. 132.
Minn.—State v. Benson, 10 N.W. 471, 28 Minn. 424.

21. Ill.—Hutchinson v. Davis, 58 Ill. App. 358.
N.C.—State v. McRae, 86 S.E. 1039, 170 N.C. 712.

22. Miss.—Robinson v. State, 100 So. 377, 135 Miss. 774, followed in McLendon v. State, 123 So. 852.
N.Y.—Cooper v. Schirrmeister, 26 N. Y.S.2d 668, 176 Misc. 474.
32 C.J. p 574 note 47.

Persons obtaining lodging for others

Ark.—Garrett v. State, 275 S.W. 902, 169 Ark. 527.

23. Miss.—Robinson v. State, 100 So. 377, 135 Miss. 774, followed in McLendon v. State, 123 So. 852.
N.C.—State v. Barbee, 122 S.E. 753, 187 N.C. 703.
32 C.J. p 574 note 48.

24. Miss.—Easterling v. State, 194 So. 289—Robinson v. State, 100 So. 377, 135 Miss. 774, followed in McLendon v. State, 123 So. 852.
N.C.—State v. Barbee, 122 S.E. 753, 187 N.C. 703.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cooper, 47 Dauph.Co. 249.
32 C.J. p 574 note 49.

is obtained;[25] and where false representations are relied on as the inducement for the furnishing of board, they must have been made before, rather than after, the board was obtained,[26] and must have been the means of obtaining it.[27]

Under some statutes it is a separate offense for a guest, boarder, or lodger secretly or surreptitiously to remove his baggage from the hotel, inn, boardinghouse, or lodginghouse where he is stopping without paying or satisfying the charges against him.[28] The object of these statutes is to protect the lien of the keeper of the house,[29] and an intent to defraud is not an element of the offense.[30] Where the baggage is openly removed, although the removal is not seen by the innkeeper or his servants, the offense is not committed.[31]

The indictment or complaint must state the elements of the offense under the statute,[32] but it need not allege that the board obtained was of any value,[33] or negative matters of defense.[34] Some statutes make certain acts prima facie evidence of an intent to defraud, such as refusal to pay on demand,[35] or surreptitious removal of baggage.[36] In some jurisdictions, in order to support a conviction there must be a showing that a copy of the law, printed in distinct type, was posted in the lobby, waiting room, or place most frequented by guests.[37]

§ 29. By Licensing Officials

Members of a licensing board are answerable criminally for a corrupt exercise of their power.

The members of a licensing board are answerable criminally for a corrupt exercise of their power to grant or refuse a license to an innkeeper.[38]

INNOCENCE. The absence of guilt.[1] While it has been said that there may be some ambiguity as to what the word means, innocence cannot be asserted of an action which violates existing law.[2]

It is the opposite of "guilt" see 39 C.J.S. p 416 note 39.

INNOCENT. Free from guilt; acting in good faith and without knowledge of incriminatory circumstances, or of defects or objections;[3] free from legal or specific wrong;[4] not injurious.[5]

Specifically, in construing maximum price regulations, the word "innocent," as applied to changes in manufacturing formulæ or to methods of manufacture, has been said to mean such changes or methods as do not result in circumvention or evasion of the established maximum price.[6]

Innocent purchaser. One who by an honest contract or agreement purchases property or acquires an interest therein, without knowledge or means of knowledge sufficient to charge him in law with notice of any infirmity in law in the title of the seller;[7] one who pays, or obligates himself to pay, the full purchase price of property to the vendor, with no notice of any claim or right to the property in another;[8] a person who purchases without notice, actual or constructive, of any infirmity, and pays a valuable consideration and acts in good faith.[9]

25. N.Y.—People v. Nicholson, 55 N.Y.S. 447, 25 Misc. 266.

26. Ala.—Chauncey v. State, 80 So. 403, 130 Ala. 71, 89 Am.S.R. 17.
Mo.—State v. Tull, 42 Mo.App. 324.

27. Ala.—Chauncey v. State, 80 So. 403, 130 Ala. 71, 89 Am.S.R. 17.
Mo.—State v. Kingsley, 18 S.W. 994, 108 Mo. 135—State v. Tull, 42 Mo. App. 324.

28. N.C.—State v. Hill, 81 S.E. 408, 166 N.C. 298.
32 C.J. p 574 note 53.

29. Ind.—State v. Engle, 58 N.E. 698, 156 Ind. 339.

30. N.C.—State v. Engle, supra—State v. Hill, 81 S.E. 408, 166 N.C. 298.

31. Ill.—Hutchinson v. Davis, 58 Ill.App. 358.

32. Miss.—Easterling v. State, 194 So. 289—Robinson v. State, 100 So. 377, 135 Miss. 774, followed in McLendon v. State, 123 So. 852.
32 C.J. p 574 note 54.

Indictment or information held sufficient
Kan.—State v. Ainsworth, 72 P.2d 962, 146 Kan. 665.
Mo.—State v. Turnidge, App., 93 S.W.2d 1031.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cooper, 47 Dauph.Co. 249.

33. Minn.—State v. Benson, 10 N.W. 471, 28 Minn. 424.

34. Mo.—State v. Turnidge, App., 93 S.W.2d 1031.

35. Ark.—Garrett v. State, 275 S.W. 902, 169 Ark. 527.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Berryman, 72 Pa.Super. 479.

36. Ark.—Garrett v. State, 275 S.W. 902, 169 Ark. 527.
Mo.—State v. Turnidge, App., 93 S.W.2d 1031.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Berryman, 72 Pa.Super. 479.

37. Ga.—Phillips v. State, 147 S.E. 777, 39 Ga.App. 540.

38. N.Y.—People v. Jones, 54 Barb. 311.

1. Black L.D.

2. U.S.—Shevlin-Carpenter Co. v. Minnesota, Minn., 30 S.Ct. 663, 666, 218 U.S. 57, 54 L.Ed. 930.

3. Black L.D.

4. Century D.

5. Eng.—Macfarlane v. Taylor, L.R. 1 H.L.Sc. 245.

6. U.S.—Brown v. Mars, Inc., C.C.A. 135 F.2d 843, 849.

7. Kan.—Burdg v. Scott, 208 P. 662 673, 111 Kan. 610.
32 C.J. p 575 note 9.

8. Mont.—Gallatin Valley Nat. Bank v. Ingle, 164 P. 535, 537, 53 Mont. 414.

9. N.C.—Lockridge v. Smith, 173 S.E. 36, 40, 206 N.C. 174.
Essential elements
(1) To constitute an innocent purchaser, there must be a purchase without notice, actual or construc-

It is a term analogous to "bona fide purchaser," defined in 11 C.J.S. p 389 note 64–p 390 note 89, and to "holder in due course," discussed in Bills and Notes § 301 et seq. For references to particular applications or specific uses of the phrase see 32 C.J. p 574 note 8 and consult the Descriptive-Word Index.

Other phrases employing the word are set out in the note.[10] Still other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 32 C.J. p 575 notes 10–17.

INNOCENTLY. Artlessly; blamelessly; guilelessly; guiltlessly; harmlessly; in an innocent man-tive, of the outstanding claim urged against the thing purchased, and there must have been the payment of a valuable consideration.—Lipsitz v. Rice, Tex.Civ.App., 233 S.W. 594, 597.

(2) "To constitute . . . [an innocent purchaser] three elements . . . [are] essential—valuable consideration, absence of notice, and good faith."—Houston Oil Co. v. Hayden, 135 S.W. 1149, 1152, 104 Tex. 175.

(3) "To be an innocent purchaser, the vendee, must, in good faith, pay a valuable consideration without notice of outstanding legal or equitable rights."

Mont.—Degenhart v. Cartier, 192 P. 259, 260, 58 Mont. 245.

Tex.—Tate v. Kramer, 23 S.W. 255, 257, 1 Tex.Civ.App. 427.

Held "innocent purchaser"

(1) One who acquired special improvement bonds after repeated inquiry by himself and former owners relative to future payment.—Prange v. City of Marion, 48 N.E.2d 980, 991, 319 Ill.App. 136.

(2) One who acquires title from the survivor of the community with the apparent legal title in fee simple to the land without notice of another's equitable rights therein, and without notice of facts sufficient to put him on inquiry.—Ashcroft v. Fleming, Tex.Civ.App., 168 S.W.2d 304, 308.

(3) Purchaser of oil and gas leasehold estate from a widow as community survivor, without notice of a claim that the land had been purchased with separate funds of the deceased husband.—Boyd v. Orr, Tex. Civ.App., 170 S.W.2d 829, 833.

(4) Where check representing proceeds of life policy was indorsed to insured's employer which executed its check to beneficiary after deducting insured's debt to employer, the employer thereby became an "innocent purchaser for value".—Renchie v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., Tex.Civ.App., 174 S.W.2d 87, 90.

(5) Where grantee in security deed, under exercise of power of sale, became purchaser at such sale and failed to record sale, and thereafter grantee entered into a parol agreement of tenancy with original grantor who remained in actual possession, and grantor while thus in possession cut timber on the land and disposed of it to a third person who had no notice of sale under the power, such third person was an "innocent purchaser for value."—Beavers v. Reynolds Bros. Lumber Co., 24 S.E.2d 813, 814, 68 Ga.App. 858.

Held not "innocent purchaser"

(1) One who acquires title to certain lands by conveyance in consideration of love and affection from his mother is not an innocent purchaser, where such lands belonged to the community of his father and mother, and he had already inherited his father's interest subject to a parol trust therein.—Eaton v. Husted, Tex., 172 S.W.2d 493, 500.

(2) One who purchases at a voluntary sale from his debtor, and pays no money, but credits the amount of the consideration on a pre-existing debt, is not a bona fide purchaser for value.—Lipsitz v. Rice, Tex.Civ.App., 233 S.W. 594, 597.

(3) One who takes title with knowledge that another has an interest in the property.—Harper v. Davis, 172 S.W.2d 445, 447, 294 Ky. 603.

(4) "The purchaser at a sheriff's sale is not an innocent purchaser. He knows the limitations on the sheriff's power, and buys what the sheriff can sell, and no more." Brewer v. Warner, 182 P. 411, 413, 105 Kan. 168, 5 A.L.R. 385.

(5) Subsequent purchaser of a mortgage note which had been extinguished by payment made by a volunteer.—Reichwein v. McCarthy, 50 N.E.2d 440, 320 Ill.App. 238.

(6) Where evidence showed that defendant seeking to establish a trust in land was living on the land at time plaintiff acquired title thereto, plaintiff was not an "innocent purchaser".—Cluck v. Sheets, Tex. Civ.App., 171 S.W.2d 857, 860.

(7) Where owner of refreshment stand, by arrangement with chairman of property committee, moved stand to county land to try out location and thereafter realty was purchased by another who had observed stand on realty, such purchaser was not an "innocent purchaser" for value without notice of understanding between owner of stand and county.—Welter v. Capponi, 9 N.W.2d 115, 116, 242 Wis. 625.

10. Phrases construed

(1) "Innocent agent" see Criminal Law § 84 b, also 32 C.J. p 574 notes 5, 6.

(2) "Innocent and injured party."—Jones v. Jones, 235 S.W. 481, 482, 208 Mo.App. 632. See also Divorce § 123, as to plaintiff's burden of showing status as innocent and injured party.

(3) "Innocent and virtuous woman," within abduction statute, see Abduction § 12.

(4) "Innocent conveyance," a technical term in the English law of conveyancing used to designate such conveyances as may be made by a leasehold tenant without working a forfeiture.—Black L.D.

(5) "Innocent holder for value" affected by mistaken certification of check by bank see Banks and Banking § 376 a.

(6) "Innocent misrepresentation" see such C.J.S. titles as Contracts §§ 147–152, 160; Deeds §§ 56, 57; Fraud § 24; Guaranty § 32; Insurance § 473, also 32 C.J. p 1286 note 36–p 1290 note 72, §§ 476, 477, also 1 C.J. p 421 note 91–p 423 note 17, §§ 487–490, also 26 C.J. p 154 note 61–p 156 note 83, and §§ 595–607, also 37 C.J. p 449 note 6–p 470 note 19; Landlord and Tenant § 223, also 35 C.J. p 1160 note 82–p 1163 note 65; Mortgages § 141, also 41 C.J. p 433 note 20–p 435 note 47; Release § 26, also 53 C.J. p 1216 note 53–p 1217 note 59; Sales § 37, also 55 C.J. p 121 note 27–p 122 note 35; Subscriptions § 8, also 60 C.J. p 961 notes 15, 16; Vendor and Purchaser §§ 55–61, also 66 C.J. p 567 note 22–p 583 note 36, § 67, also 66 C.J. p 602 note 75–p 606 note 13; and consult the Descriptive-Word Index.

(7) "Innocent party" in divorce suit as entitled to preference in awarding custody of child see Divorce § 309 e.

(8) "Innocent possession," as not convertible in legal terminology with "lawful possession."—Milligan v. Brooklyn Warehouse & Storage Co., 68 N.Y.S. 744, 749, 34 Misc. 55.

(9) "Innocent suitors," authorized by statute to recover damages for personal injuries from sellers of intoxicating liquors held not to include automobile accident victims who had repeatedly purchased drinks for the driver and thus contributed to his intoxication from which their injuries resulted.—Pearson v. Renfro, 50 N.E.2d 598, 600, 320 Ill.App. 202.

(10) "Innocent wife," in connection with amount awarded for permanent alimony, see Divorce § 236 a.

ner.[11] The term has been distinguished from "knowingly."[12]

INNOMINATE. In the civil law, not named or classed; belonging to no specific class, hence ranking under a general head.[13]

"Innominate contracts" see Contracts § 10 in Pocket Parts.

INNONIA. In old English law, a close or inclosure.[14]

IN NOSTRA LEGE UNA COMMA EVERTIT TOTUM PLACITUM.[15]

INNOTESCIMUS. Latin, literally "We make known." A term formerly applied to letters patent, derived from the emphatic word at the conclusion of the Latin forms. It was also a species of exemplification of charters of feoffment or other instruments not of record.[16]

INNOVATE. To change or alter, by introducing something new; to remodel; to revolutionize.[17]

INNOVATION. A change effected by innovating; a change in customs, something new, and contrary to established customs, manners, or rights.[18]

In Scotch law, the exchange of one obligation for another, so as to make the second obligation come in the place of the first, and be the only subsisting obligation against the debtor.[19]

IN NOVO CASU, NOVUM REMEDIUM APPONENDUM EST.[20]

INNOXIARE. In old English law, to purge one of a fault and make him innocent.[21]

INNS OF CHANCERY and INNS OF COURT. See Inn ante p 1125 note 46, p 1126 note 47.

IN NUBIBUS. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 note 17.

INNUENDO. In its general sense, it has been said to mean acts done by hinting, by insinuation, by intimation.[22]

More specifically, or technically, a clause in the declaration, indictment, or other pleading containing an averment which is explanatory of some preceding word or statement.[23]

The term has been distinguished from "averment" see 7 C.J.S. p 1308 note 64.

In indictments and informations generally see Indictments and Informations § 106; and in slander or libel cases see the C.J.S. title Libel and Slander § 3, also 36 C.J. p 1148 notes 9–28, § 162, also 37 C.J. p 22 note 6–p 26 note 38, § 174, also 37 C.J. p 41 notes 10–17, § 295, also 37 C.J. p 147 note 79–p 148 note 89.

IN NULLO EST ERRATUM. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 notes 18, 19.

IN OBSCURA VOLUNTATE MANUMITTENTIS FAVENDUM EST LIBERATI.[24]

IN OBSCURIS INSPICI SOLERE QUOD VERISIMILIUS EST, AUT QUOD PLERUMQUE FIERI SOLET.[25]

IN OBSCURIS QUOD MINIMUM EST SEQUIMUR.[26]

IN ODIUM SPOLIATORIS OMNIA PRÆSUMUNTUR.[27]

INOFFICIOSUM. Latin, in the civil law, contrary to natural duty or affection; inofficious.[28]

11. Webster Int.D.

Phrase construed

"Acted innocently."—Christie v. Cooper, 1900, 2 Q.B. 522, 528—32 C.J. p 575 note 18 [a].

12. Mo.—Cheffer v. Eagle Discount Stamp Co., 156 S.W.2d 591, 595, 348 Mo. 1023.
35 C.J. p 918 note 64.

13. Black L.D.

14. Black L.D.

15. A maxim meaning "In our law, one comma upsets the whole plea."—Tayler L. Gloss.

16. Black L.D.

17. Tex.—Kemper v. State, 138 S.W. 1025, 1041, 63 Tex.Cr. 1.

18. Tex.—Kemper v. State, supra.

19. Black L.D.

20. A maxim meaning "A new remedy is to be applied to a new case."—Black L.D.

21. Black L.D.

22. Ga.—Jones v. Poole, 8 S.E.2d 532, 534, 62 Ga.App. 309.

23. Bouvier L.D.

Purpose

"The office of an innuendo is to declare what the words meant to those to whom they were published."—Washer v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 136 P.2d 297, 301, 21 Cal.2d 822.

24. A maxim meaning "Where the expression of the will of one who seeks to manumit a slave, is obscure, liberty is to be favored."—Black L.D.

25. A maxim meaning "Where there is obscurity, we usually regard what is probable or what is generally done."—Bouvier L.D.

Similarly rendered

"In obscure cases, we usually look at what is most probable, or what most commonly happens."—Black L.D.

26. A maxim meaning "In obscure or doubtful cases, we follow that which is the least."—Black L.D.

27. A maxim meaning "All things are presumed against a wrong-doer."—Bouvier L.D.

Applied in State v. Crowell, 50 S.W. 893, 894, 149 Mo. 391, 73 Am.S.R. 402—32 C.J. p 576 note 37 [a].

Similarly rendered

"To the prejudice (in condemnation) of a despoiler, all things are presumed; every presumption is made against a wrongdoer."—Black L.D.

28. Black L.D.

INOFFICIOUS. Unnatural.[29]

INOFICIOSIDAD. In Spanish law, anything done contrary to a duty or obligation assumed, or in opposition to natural affection or pity, the word being applied particularly in matters relating to wills and testaments, donations or gifts, dower and the like,[30] any or all of which may be subject to revocation or reduction when they affect injuriously the rights of creditors or heirs.[31]

IN OMNI ACTIONE UBI DUÆ CONCURRUNT DISTRICTIONES, VIDELICET IN REM ET IN PERSONAM, ILLA DISTRICTIO TENENDA EST QUÆ MAGIS TIMETUR ET MAGIS LIGAT.[32]

IN OMNIBUS. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 note 20.

IN OMNIBUS CAUSIS PRO FACTO ACCIPITUR ID, IN QUO PER ALIUM MORÆ SIT, QUO MINUS FIAT.[33]

IN OMNIBUS CONTRACTIBUS, SIVE NOMINATIS, SIVE INNOMINATIS, PERMUTATIO CONTINETUR.[34]

IN OMNIBUS FERE MINORI ÆTATI SUCCURITUR.[35]

IN OMNIBUS [FERE] PŒNALIBUS JUDICIIS, ET ÆTATI ET IMPRUDENTIÆ SUCCURRITUR.[36]

IN OMNIBUS IMPERATORIS EXCIPITUR FORTUNA, CUI IPSAS LEGES DEUS SUBJECIT.[37]

IN OMNIBUS OBLIGATIONIBUS, IN QUIBUS DIES NON PONITUR, PRÆSENTI DIE DEBETUR.[38]

IN OMNIBUS QUIDEM, MAXIME TAMEN IN JURE, ÆQUITAS SPECTANDA SIT.[39]

IN OMNI RE NASCITUR RES QUÆ IPSAM REM EXTERMINAT.[40]

INOPERATIVE. Not active, not operative, producing no effect;[41] lacking in operation or effect; destitute of result; ineffectual;[42] the commonly understood meaning of the word is that a thing is not in effect.[43]

It has been held synonymous with "void."[44]

INOPPORTUNE. At the wrong time; unseasonable in time.[45]

INOPS CONSILII. Latin, destitute of counsel; without legal counsel. The term is applied to the acts or condition of one acting without legal advice, as a testator drafting his own will.[46]

29. N.J.—In re Willford, Prerog., 51 A. 501, 502.
"Inofficious will" see the C.J.S. title Wills § 1, also 32 C.J. p 576 note 40 and 68 C.J. p 412 notes 27, 28.

30. Escriche Diccionario.

31. Black L.D.

32. A maxim meaning "In every action where two distresses concur, that is in rem and in personam, that is to be chosen which is most dreaded, and which binds most firmly."—Black L.D.

33. A maxim meaning "In all causes, that is taken for a fact in which, by means of another, there may be a hindrance to prevent its being done."—Morgan Leg.Max.
Applied in The Palo Alto, D.C.Me., 18 F.Cas.No.10,700, 2 Ware 344, 349, 6 N.Y.Leg.Obs. 262.

34. A maxim meaning "In all contracts, whether nominate or innominate, an exchange [of value, i. e., a consideration] is implied."—Black L. D.
Slightly different rendition
"In all agreements, whether it is named or not, an exchange is comprised."—Tayler L. Gloss.

35. A maxim meaning "In all cases aid is given to minors."—Morgan Leg.Max.

36. A maxim meaning "In nearly all penal judgments, immaturity of age and imbecility of mind are favored."—Black L.D.
Similarly rendered
"In all trials for penal offences, allowance is made for youth and lack of discretion."—Bouvier L.D.

37. A maxim meaning "God subjects in all things, the fortunes of emperors to the laws of the land."—Peloubet Leg.Max.

38. A maxim meaning "In all obligations in which a date is not put, the debt is due on the present day; the liability accrues immediately."—Black L.D.
Similarly rendered
"In all obligations, when no time is fixed for the performance, the thing is due immediately."—Bouvier L.D.

39. A maxim meaning "In all things, but especially in law, equity is to be regarded."—Black L.D.

40. A maxim meaning "In every thing, the thing is born which destroys the thing itself."—Bouvier L. D.
Similarly rendered
"In everything there arises a thing which destroys the thing itself; everything contains the element of its own destruction."—Black L.D.

41. Webster New Int.D.

42. N.Y.—In re Merritt's Will, 14 N. Y.S.2d 103, 107, 171 Misc. 812.
Phrase construed
"Inoperative or invalid," referring to a patent, construed as meaning failing to secure to the inventor the monopoly of his actual invention.—American Automotoneer Co. v. Porter, Mich., 232 F. 456, 459, 146 C.C.A. 450.

43. Ala.—Brand v. State, 6 So.2d 446, 447, 242 Ala. 15.

44. Vt.—Merrill v. Englesby, 28 Vt. 150, 157.

45. Ill.—Pennsylvania Co. v. Sloan, 17 N.E. 37, 41, 125 Ill. 72, 8 Am.S. R. 337.

46. Black L.D.
Phrase applied
(1) To an Indian.—Hastings v. Farmer, 4 N.Y. 293, 299.
(2) Applied in other cases.—Poor v. Considine, Ohio, 6 Wall., U.S., 458, 481, 18 L.Ed. 869—32 C.J. p 576 note 55.

IN ORDER. See In 42 C.J.S. p 479 note 21.

INORDINATUS. An intestate.[47]

INORGANIC DUST. Mineral dust; it comes from rock, coal, and other minerals, and is often referred to as "silica;" the breathing of it is harmful, and may cause chronic bronchitis and other respiratory diseases, since it sticks, does not dissolve, and irritates.[48]

It is distinguished from "organic dust."[49]

IN OTHER WORDS. See In 42 C.J.S. p 479 notes 23, 24.

IN PAIS. See In 42 C.J.S. p 488 notes 84, 85.

IN PAPER. See In 42 C.J.S. p 483 note 82(36).

IN PARI CAUSA POSSESSOR POTIOR HABERI DEBET.[50]

IN PARI CAUSA POTIOR EST CONDITIO POSSIDENTIS.[51]

IN PARI DELICTO. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 note 21–27.

IN PARI DELICTO POTIOR EST CONDITIO DEFENDENTIS (ET POSSIDENTIS).[52]

IN PARI MATERIA. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 notes 28, 29.

INPENY and OUTPENY. In old English law, a customary payment of a penny paid on entering into, and going out of, a tenancy.[53]

IN PERICULO QUI ETIAM TUTUS CAVET SETINUS EST.[54]

IN PERPETUAM REI MEMORIAM. See In 42 C.J.S. p 490 note 30.

IN PERPETUITY. In its broad general sense see In 42 C.J.S. p 483 note 82 (37) and in its legal sense see the C.J.S. title Perpetuities § 1, also 48 C.J. p 933 note 1–p 934 note 11.

IN PERSON. See In 42 C.J.S. p 479 notes 25–31.

47. Black L.D.

48. Miss.—Meridian Grain & Elevator Co. v. Jones, 169 So. 771, 176 Miss. 764.

49. Miss.—Meridian Grain & Elevator Co. v. Jones, supra.

50. A maxim meaning "In an equal cause he who has the possession should be preferred."—Black L.D.

Maxim paraphrased

"When two parties have equal rights, the advantage is always in favor of the possessor."—Bouvier L. D., citing Broom Leg.Max. p 714.

51. A maxim meaning "In an equal case (i. e., where the claimants are in a similar position), the possessor is in the better position."—Trayner Leg.Max.

More specifically

"In a case of equal or mutual fault the condition of the party in possession is the better one."—Black L.D.

52. A maxim meaning "In a case of equal or mutual fault between two parties, the condition of the party defending [or in possession] is the better one."—Black L.D.

Other forms of the maxim

(1) In pari delicto, melior est conditio possidentis.—Keel v. Larkin, 3 So. 296, 298, 83 Ala. 142, 3 Am.S.R. 702—32 C.J. p 576 note 63—1 C.J. p 958 note 39 [a] (1).

(2) "In pari delicto melior est conditio defendentis," that is, where both parties are equally at fault, the condition of the defendant [or possessor] is best.—Eidson v. Maddox, 24 S.E.2d 895, 897, 195 Ga. 641.

(3) "In pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis" means when each party is equally in fault, the law favors him who is actually in possession, that is, the parties will be left where they are.—Reaves Lumber Co. v. Cain-Hurley Lumber Co., 279 S.W. 257, 258, 152 Tenn. 339.

Similarly rendered

(1) "Among those in equal wrong the situation of the defendant is the stronger."—Norris v. York, 185 P. 43, 44, 105 Kan. 448.

(2) "Where both parties are equally in fault, the condition of the defendant is preferable."—Bouvier L. D.

(3) "Where parties are equally involved in an unlawful agreement the law will not interpose to grant relief to either of them but will leave them where it found them."—McGhee's Adm'r v. Elcomb Coal Co., 156 S.W.2d 868, 869, 288 Ky. 540.

(4) "Where the wrong of the one party equals that of the other, the defendant is in the stronger position."—Van Antwerp v. Van Antwerp, 5 So.2d 73, 79, 242 Ala. 92.

(5) The law generally forbids redress to one for an injury done him by another, if he himself first be in the wrong about the same matter whereof he complains. The maxim is: "In pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis."—Byers v. Byers, 25 S.E.2d 466, 470, 223 N.C. 85.

Discussion of the maxim

(1) "The maxim, 'In pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis' is but a corollary to the general rule 'Ex dolo malo non oritur actio,' and it neither limits nor controls it."—Stewart v. Wright, Mo., 147 F. 321, 340, 77 C.C.A. 499. See also 33 C.J.S. p 117 note 93.

(2) It is a maxim long established and constantly acted upon by courts both of law and equity and is a complement of the other well known maxim: "Ex turpi causa actio non oritur."—Eidson v. Maddox, 24 S.E. 2d 895, 897, 195 Ga. 641.

(3) It is a maxim of public policy equally respected in courts of law and courts of equity.—Baldwin v. Campfield, 8 N.J.Eq. 891, 899.

(4) "It is impossible to apply the rule in pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis, where there has been in fact no delictum at all."—Scheuerman v. Scheuerman, 8 Alta. L. 417, 422.

Maxims applied or explained

U.S.—Randall v. Howard, Md., 2 Black 585, 588, 17 L.Ed. 269—Hannay v. Eve, Ga., 3 Cranch 242, 246, 2 L.Ed. 427.

Ill.—Miller v. Marckle, 21 Ill. 152, 154.

Ky.—McGhee's Adm'r v. Elcomb Coal Co., 156 S.W.2d 868, 869, 288 Ky. 540.

N.C.—Byers v. Byers, 25 S.E.2d 466, 470, 223 N.C. 85.

32 C.J. p 576 note 63 [b], p 577 note 64 [d]—1 C.J. p 958 note 39 [a].

See generally Contracts §§ 272–278, and Equity §§ 94–99.

53. Black L.D.

54. A maxim meaning "He is most free from danger who, even when safe, is on his guard."—Morgan Leg. Max.

IN PERSONAM. See Actions §§ 12 (5), 52.

IN PLACE. See the C.J.S. title Mines and Minerals § 3, also 40 C.J. p 744 notes 16-28.

IN PŒNALIBUS CAUSIS BENIGNIUS INTERPRETANDUM EST.[55]

IN POSSESSION. See In 42 C.J.S. p 483 note 82 (38), (39).

IN PRÆPARATORIIS AD JUDICIUM FAVETUR ACTORI.[56]

IN PRÆSENTIA MAJORIS CESSAT POTENTIA MINORIS.[57]

IN PRÆSENTIA MAJORIS POTESTATIS, MINOR POTESTAS CESSAT.[58]

IN PRETIO EMPTIONIS ET VENDITIONIS NATURALITER LICET CONTRAHENTIBUS SE CIRCUMVENIRE.[59]

IN PROPRIA CAUSA NEMO JUDEX.[60]

IN PURSUANCE OF. See In 42 C.J.S. p 479 note 32-p 480 note 36.

INQUEST. In its broadest sense a term including any judicial inquiry, but more generally confined to an inquiry by jury.[61] The most familiar use of the word is to designate the inquiry by a coroner into the causes of death, whether sudden, violent, or in prison.[62] The term "inquest," however, is sometimes used to signify the jury itself before whom the question is brought,[63] and may then be defined as a body of men appointed by law to inquire into certain matters;[64] but the finding of such men on an investigation is also called an inquest,[65] or an "inquisition," hereinafter defined.

In a narrower, and somewhat different sense, it means sometimes the trial of the issue of fact where the plaintiff alone introduces testimony, the defendant usually not appearing.[66]

Phrases. The word occurs in phrases, elsewhere discussed, as indicated in the note.[67]

INQUILINATO. In Spanish law, tenancy, the right acquired by the lessee in the house occupied under the lease; also the lease contract itself and the rental provided therein.[68]

INQUILINO. In Spanish law, the occupying lessee of a house.[69]

INQUILINUS. In Roman law, a tenant; one who hires and occupies another's house; but particularly a tenant of a hired house in a city, as distinguished from "colonus," the hirer of a house or estate in the country.[70]

INQUIRE. To make investigation concerning; to search for; to seek.[71]

55. A maxim meaning "In penal cases, the more favorable interpretation is to be made."—Bouvier L.D.
Applied in Daniel v. Vaccaro, 41 Ark. 316, 331.
Similarly rendered
"In penal causes or cases, the more favorable interpretation should be adopted."—Black L.D.

56. A maxim meaning "In things preceding judgment the plaintiff is favored."—Black L.D.

57. A maxim meaning "In presence of the greater the power of the inferior ceases."—Broom Leg.Max.

58. A maxim meaning "In the presence of the superior power, the inferior power ceases."—Black L.D.

59. A maxim meaning "In the price of buying and selling, it is naturally allowed to the contracting parties to overreach each other."—Black L.D.

60. A maxim meaning "No one can be judge in his own cause."—Black L.D.

61. N.Y.—People v. Coombs, 55 N.Y.S. 276, 284, 36 App.Div. 284.
Broad signification
Where the procedure of the particular court has some reference to peculiar jurisdictions not of the common law, the term "inquest" is to be taken as a term of larger signification than in the common-law courts.—Matter of Hermann, 145 N.Y.S. 291, 298, 83 Misc. 283.

62. Bouvier L.D.
See also Coroners §§ 13-27.

63. Ga.—Davis v. Bibb County, 42 S.E. 403, 405, 116 Ga. 23.

64. U.S.—Geiger v. U. S., Md., 162 F. 844, 845, 89 C.C.A. 516.
"Summoning an inquest"
Phrase held to mean "summoning a jury."—Davis v. Bibb County, 42 S.E. 403, 405, 116 Ga. 23.

65. Black L.D.

66. N.Y.—Haines v. Davis, 6 How. Pr. 118, 119.
In New York the name is also given to a species of proceeding under the state practice, allowable where the defendant in a civil action has not filed an affidavit of merits or verified his answer. In such case the issue may be taken up out of its regular order, on plaintiff's motion, and tried without the admission of any affirmative defense.—Black L.D.

67. Phrases elsewhere discussed
(1) "Coroner's inquest" see Coroners §§ 13-27.
(2) "Grand inquest" see Grand Juries § 1 a note 2.
(3) "Inquest before grand jury" see Grand Juries §§ 37-44.
(4) "Inquest of damages" see Damages § 163 et seq.
(5) "Inquest of office" see Escheat § 8.

68. Escriche Diccionario.

69. Escriche Diccionario.

70. Black L.D.

71. Century D.
Phrases construed
(1) "Inquire and report," words long used in England and in this country as a formula for a reference to a master in chancery to obtain and report information to the court.—Austin v. Ahearne, 61 N.Y. 6, 12.
(2) "Inquire into the circumstances," as importing a judicial investigation of the questions of fact.—Matter of Gill, 88 N.Y.S. 466, 467, 95 App.Div. 174.
(3) "Inquiring into and reporting," as meaning gathering information and distributing it.—U. S. Fidelity

INQUIRENDO. An authority given to some official person to institute an inquiry concerning the crown's interests.[72]

INQUIRY. The usual literary meaning of the word is question, query, or request for information;[73] also defined as investigation into facts, causes, effects, and relations generally; research.[74]

It has been distinguished from "claim" see 14 C.J.S. p 1185 note 79.

INQUISICION. In Spanish law, generally the judicial investigation of crime; and specifically the ecclesiastical tribunal established in Spain to investigate and punish heresy and other offenses against the faith. The Royal Decrees of 1820 and 1834 abolished it.[75]

INQUISIDOR. In Spanish law, an inquisitor, the ecclesiastical judge of the tribunal of the "inquisición" who took cognizance of causes relating to the faith, and anciently the investigating or examining judge of any court who, as a matter of course, conducted investigations of crime and examinations of criminals.[76]

INQUISITIO. In old English law, an inquisition or inquest.[77]

INQUISITION. Examination; inquiry; investigation; the act of inquiring.[78] In its broadest sense, the term includes any judicial inquiry, but is more generally confined to an inquiry by jury.[79]

In practice, an inquiry or inquest; particularly, an investigation of certain facts made by a sheriff, together with a jury impaneled by him for the purpose;[80] a finding of facts by a jury;[81] the instrument of writing on which their decision is made is also called an inquisition.[82]

In common-law courts an "inquisition" is often synonymous with "trial;" but where reference is made to a jurisdiction other than the common law the terms may have a larger signification than in the common-law courts.[83]

INQUISITOR. A designation applied to sheriffs, coroners super visum corporis, and the like, who have power to inquire into certain matters.[84]

In ecclesiastical law, the name of an officer who is authorized to inquire into heresies, and the like, and to punish them; a judge.[85]

IN QUO QUIS DELINQUIT, IN EO DE JURE EST PUNIENDUS.[86]

IN RE. See In 42 C.J.S. p 491 note 33.

IN REBUS MANIFESTIS ERRAT QUI AUCTORITATES LEGUM ALLEGAT; QUIA PERSPICUA VERA NON SUNT PROBANDA.[87]

IN REBUS NOVIS CONSTITUENDIS EVIDENS ESSE INUTILES DEBET, UT RECEDATUS AB EO JURE, QUOD DIU ÆQUAM VISUM EST.[88]

& Guaranty Co. v. Commonwealth, 118 S.W. 1000, 1001, 133 Ky. 740.

72. Black L.D.

73. Md.—Reiser Co. v. Baltimore Radio Show, 181 A. 465, 468, 169 Md. 306.

74. Standard D.

Phrases construed

(1) "Inquiry into title" construed as including an effort to show a cessation of the use of the property for the purposes for which it was conveyed and hence to establish reverter as provided in the deed.—Boutwell v. Board of Education of Escambia County, Ala., 12 So.2d 349, 350.

(2) "Reasonable inquiry," as requiring that information be sought from persons known by the person seeking such information to be reliable, or, if unknown, from persons identified and approved by some reliable person known to be reliable.—Julian v. Daniel, 95 S.E. 907, 908, 175 N.C. 549—52 C.J. p 1186 note 8.

(3) "Writ of inquiry," a writ sued out by a plaintiff in a case where the defendant has let the proceedings go by default, and an interlocutory judgment has been given for damages generally, where the damages do not admit of calculation.—Black L.D. See also Damages § 171.

(4) Other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 32 C.J. p 578 notes 93–97.

75. Escriche Diccionario.

76. Escriche Diccionario.

77. Black L.D.

78. Ind.—Carver v. Louthain, 38 Ind. 530, 547.

Inquisition in lunacy see the C.J.S. title Insane Persons §§ 14–34, also 32 C.J. p 634 note 57–p 652 note 7.

79. Del.—Phillips v. Vessells, 126 A. 51, 2 W.W.Harr. 490.

80. Black L.D.

81. N.Y.—Newton v. Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co., 15 Hun 595, 597.

82. Black L.D.

83. N.Y.—Matter of Hermann, 145 N.Y.S. 291, 298, 83 Misc. 383.

In England

"There were in England two kinds of inquisitions, where the crown is concerned—one of instruction, or information, and the other of intitling."—Eppes v. Cralle, 1 Munf. 258, 266, 15 Va. 258, 266.

84. Black L.D.

85. Black L.D.

86. A maxim meaning "In whatever thing one offends, in that is he rightfully to be punished."—Black L.D.

More freely rendered

"One who fails to perform the duties of his office ought to be punished, in that office."—Rapalje & L. L. D.

87. A maxim meaning "He errs who alleges the authorities of law in things manifest; because obvious truths need not be proved."—Bouvier L.D.

Applied in Jeffrey's Case, 5 Coke 66b, 67a, 77 Reprint 155.

Similarly expressed

"In clear cases, he mistakes who cites legal authorities; for obvious truths are not to be proved." The maxim is "applied to cases too plain to require the support of authority; 'because,' says the report, 'he who endeavors to prove them obscures them.' "—Black L.D.

88. A maxim meaning "In settling new matters, the utility must be

IN REBUS QUÆ SUNT FAVORABILIA ANIMÆ, QUAMVIS SUNT DAMNOSA REBUS, FIAT ALIQUANDO EXTENSIO STATUTI.[89]

IN RE COMMUNI MELIOR EST CONDITIO PROHIBENTIS.[90]

IN RE COMMUNI NEMINEM DOMINORUM JURE FACERE QUICQUAM, INVITO ALTERO, POSSE.[91]

IN RE COMMUNI POTIOR EST CONDITIO PROHIBENTIS.[92]

IN RE DUBIA BENIGNIOREM INTERPRETATIONEM SEQUI, NON MINUS JUSTIUS EST, QUAM TUTIUS.[93]

IN RE DUBIA MAGIS INFICIATIO QUAM AFFIRMATIO INTELLIGENDA.[94]

IN RE LUPANARI, TESTES LUPANARES ADMITTENTUR.[95]

IN REM. See Actions §§ 1 a (6), 52.

IN REM ACTIO EST PER QUAM REM NOSTRAM QUÆ AB ALIO POSSIDETUR PETIMUS, ET SEMPER ADVERSUS EUM EST QUI REM POSSIDET.[96]

IN REM SUAM TUTOR FIERI NON POTEST AUCTOR.[97]

IN RE OBSCURA MELIUS EST FAVERE REPETITIONI QUAM ADVENTITIO LUCRO.[98]

IN RE PARI, POTIOREM CAUSAM ESSE PROHIBENTIS CONSTAT.[99]

IN RE POTIOREM CAUSAM ESSE PROHIBENTIS CONSTARE.[1]

IN RE PROPRIA INIQUUM ADMODUM EST ALICUI LICENTIAM TRIBUERE SENTENTIÆ.[2]

IN REPUBLICA MAXIME CONSERVANDA SUNT JURA BELLI.[3]

IN RESTITUTIONEM, NON IN PŒNAM, HÆRES SUCCEDIT.[4]

IN RESTITUTIONIBUS BENIGISSIMA INTERPRETATIO FACIENDA EST.[5]

IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE. See generally the C.J.S. titles Contracts §§ 238–258; Corporations § 189 c (7); Injunctions §§ 84, 138–149; and Monopolies § 15 et seq, also 41 C.J. p 99 note 6 et seq.

IN REX NON POTEST CONJUNCTIM TENERE CUM ALIO.[6]

INROLL and INROLLMENT. See 30 C.J.S. p 257 notes 14–20.

very apparent in order to justify a departure from laws long acquiesced in as salutary."—Morgan Leg.Max.

89. A maxim meaning "In things that are favorable to the spirit, though injurious to things, an extension of the statute should sometimes be made."—Black L.D.

90. A maxim originating in the Roman law and meaning "In common property the condition of the one prohibiting is the better."—Gulf Refining Co. v. Carroll, 82 So. 277, 278, 145 La. 299.

91. A maxim originating in the Roman law and meaning "One coproprietor can exercise no authority over the common property against the will of the other."—Gulf Refining Co. v. Carroll, 82 So. 277, 278, 145 La. 299.

92. A maxim meaning "In a partnership the condition of one who forbids is the more favorable."—Black L.D.

93. A maxim meaning "In a doubtful case, to follow the milder interpretation is not the less more just than it is the safer course."—Bouvier L.D.

94. A maxim meaning "In a doubtful matter, the denial or negative is to be understood, or regarded, rather than the affirmative."—Black L.D.

95. A maxim meaning "In a matter concerning a brothel, prostitutes are admitted as witnesses."—Black L.D.

Applied or explained in Van Epps v. Van Epps, 6 Barb., N.Y., 320, 324.

96. A maxim meaning "The action in rem is that by which we seek our property which is possessed by another, and is always against him who possesses the property."—Black L.D.

97. A maxim meaning "A tutor cannot act, or transact for his own behoof."—Trayner Leg.Max.

98. A maxim meaning "In an obscure case it is better to favor repetition than adventitious gain."—Morgan Leg.Max.

99. A maxim meaning "In a thing equally shared by several, it is clear that the party refusing to permit the use of it has the better cause." It is applied to partnerships, where one partner has a right to withhold his assent to the acts of his copartner.—Black L.D.

Applied in Griswold v. Waddington, 16 Johns., N.Y., 438, 491.

Similarly rendered

"Where a thing is owned in common, it is agreed that the cause of him prohibiting (its use) is the stronger."—Bouvier L.D.

1. A maxim meaning "A better cause in the matter is found to exist on the part of the person defending."—Taylor L. Gloss.

2. A maxim meaning "It is extremely unjust that any one should be judge in his own cause."—Black L.D.

3. A maxim meaning "In the state, the laws of war are to be especially upheld."—Black L.D.

Applied in Tyler v. Pomeroy, 8 Allen, Mass., 480, 484.

4. A maxim meaning "The heir succeeds to the restitution, not the penalty." That is to say: "An heir may be compelled to make restitution of a sum unlawfully appropriated by the ancestor, but is not answerable criminally, as for a penalty."—Black L.D.

5. A maxim meaning "The most benignant interpretation is to be made in restitutions."—Black L.D.

6. A maxim meaning "One king can not hold conjointly with another."—Morgan Leg.Max.

INSACULACION. In Spanish law, a mode of selecting by lot certain judicial, and other, officials, by drawing the names from a sack, vase, or other suitable receptacle.[7]

INSANE. See Insane Persons § 2.

Phrases employing the word and discussed elsewhere are referred to in the note.[8]

INSANELY. See Insane Persons § 2.

7. Escriche Diccionario.

8. Phrases discussed elsewhere
(1) "Insane asylum" see Asylums § 1.
(2) "Insane delusions" see the C. J.S. titles Criminal Law § 60; Insane Persons § 2, also 32 C.J. p 605 note 73—p 608 note 6; and Wills § 18, also 68 C.J. p 433 note 95—p 437 note 20.
(3) "Insane impulse" see Insane Persons § 2.
(4) "Insane irresistible impulse" as affecting the responsibility for, or the capacity to commit, crime see Criminal Law § 61.

WORDS AND PHRASES AND MAXIMS
IN THIS VOLUME

	Page
Absolute injuries	1115
Due influence	378
In eo, quod plus sit, semper inest et minus	41
In eo quod vel is qui petit, vel is a quo petitur a lucri factus est, durior causa est petitoris	41
Industrial	1
Industrial insurance	39
Industriam, per	39
Industry	39
Inebriate	40
Inebriation	40
Inebriety	40
Inc, code of	40
Ineffectual	40
Inefficiency	40
Inefficient	41
Ineligibility	41
Ineligible	41
In equali jure melior est conditio possidentis	41
Inequality	41
Inequitable	41
Inert	41
Inertia	41
In esse	42
In esse potest donationi, modus, conditio, sive causa; ut, modus est; si, conditio; quia, causa	42
Inest de jure	42
Inevitable	42
Inewardus	42
Inexcusable	42
In executione sententiæ, alibi latæ, servare jus loci in quo fit executio; non ubi res judicata	42
In expositione instrumentorum, mala grammatica, quod fieri potest, vitanda est	42
In extremis	42
In fact	42
In facto quod se habet ad bonum et malum magis de bono quam de malo lex intendit	42
Infalistatus	42
Infallible	42
Infamador	43
Infamia	43
Infamis	43
Infamous	43
Infamous punishment	43
Infamy	43
Infancy	44
Infangenthef	44
Infans	44
Infans est quia, propter defectum ætatis, pro se fari nequeat	44
Infans non multum a furioso distat	44
Infantado	44
Infantazgo	44
Infante	44
Infantes de damno præstare tenentur, de pœna non item	44
Infantia	44
Infanticide	44
Infanticidio	44
Infanzon	371
Infatuation	371
In favorabilibus annus incœptus pro completo habetur	372
In favorabilibus, magis attenditur quod prodest quam quod nocet	372
In favorem vitæ libertatis et innocentiæ omnia præsumuntur	372
Infect	372
Infected	372
Infection	372
Infectious	373
Infectious disease	373
Infeft	373

	Page
Infeftment	373
Infensare curiam	373
Infeoffment	373
Infer	373
Inference	373
Inferential	375
Inferior	375
Inferiority	376
Inferred	373
Infeudacion	376
Infeudation	376
Inficiari	376
Inficiatio	376
In fictione juris semper æquitas existit	376
In fictione juris semper subsistit æquitas	376
Infidel	376
Infidelidad	376
Infidelis	377
Infidelitas	377
Infidelity	377
Infidencia	377
Infiduciare	377
Infiht	377
Infinitesimal	377
Infinitum in jure reprobatur	377
Infirm	377
Infirmary	377
Infirmative	377
Infirmity	377
Inflame	377
Inflammable	378
Inflammation	378
Inflammatory	378
Inflict	378
Inflicted	378
Infliction	378
Influence	378
Influenza	383
Infold	383
Inform	383
Informacion	383
Informal	383
Informality	383
Informant	383
Informante	383
In forma pauperis	383
Information	383
Informatus non sum	385
Informe	385
Informer	385
Infortiatum	385
Infortunium, homicide per	385
Infra	385
Infraccion	386
Infraction	386
Infragante	386
In fraudem vero qui, salvis verbis legis, sententiam ejus circumvenit	386
Infringement	386
Infringer	386
Infugare	386
Infula	386
In full	386
Infurcion	386
Infusion	386
Inge	386
In generalibus versatur error	386
In genere quicunque aliquid dicit, sive actor sive reus, necesse est ut probat	386
Ingeniero	387
Ingenious	387
Ingenium	387
Ingenuidad	387
Ingenuitas	387
Ingenuity	387
Ingenuus	387
In good faith	387
Ingots of steel	387
Ingratitude	387
Ingredient	387
In gremio legis	387
Ingress	387
Ingressu	387
Ingressus	387
Ingrossator	387
Ingrossing	388
Inguinal	388
Inhabil	388
Inhabit	388
Inhabitancy	388
Inhabitant	388
Inhabited	388, 392
In hæredes non solent transire actiones quæ pœnales ex maleficio sunt	392
Inhale	392
Inhere	392
Inherent	392
Inherently	393
Inherent power	393
Inheretrix	393
Inherit	393
Inheritable	394
Inheritance	394
Inheritor	394
Inhibiter	394
Inhibition	394

	Page
Inhibitor	394
In his enim quæ sunt favorabilia animæ, quamvis sunt damnosa rebus fiat alquando extentio statuti	395
In his quæ de jure communi omnibus conceduntur, consuetudo alicujus patriæ vel loci non est alleganda	395
Inhoc	395
Inhonestus	395
Inhumacion	395
Inhuman	395
In iis quæ sunt meræ facultatis nunquam præscribitur	395
Inimical	395
In invitum	395
Iniquidad	395
In quissima pax est anteponenda justissimo bello	395
Iniquity	395
Iniquum est alios permittere, alios inhibere mercaturam	395
Iniquum est aliquem rei sui esse judicem	395
Iniquum est ingenuis hominibus non esse liberam rerum suarum alienationem	395
Initial	395
Initialia testimonii	395
Initia magistratuum meliora firma; finis inclinat	395
Initiate	396
Initiation	396
Initiative	396
Initiator	396
In itinere	396
In judgment	396
In judiciis minori ætati succurritur	396
In judicio non creditur nisi juratis	396
Injunction	396
In jure	1110
Injure	1109
Injured	1109
In jure non remota causa, sed proxima spectatur	1110
Injures graves	1110
Injuria	1110
Injuria fit ei cui convicium dictum est, vel de eo factum carmen famosum	1111
Injuria illata judici, seu locum tenenti regis videtur ipsi regi illata maxime si fiat in exercentem officium	1111
Injuria non excusat injuriam	1111
Injuria non fit volenti	1111
Injuria non præsumitur	1111
Injuria propria non cadet beneficium facientis	1111
Injuria servi dominum pertingit	1111
Injurious	1111
Injuriously	1111
Injury	1112
Injury to property	1117
Injury to the person	1115
In jus	1110
Injustice	1123
Injustum est, nisi tota lege inspecta, de una aliqua ejus particula proposita judicare vel respondere	1123
Ink	1123
In kind	1123
Inlagare	1123
Inlagation	1123
Inlagh	1123
Inlaid linoleum	1123
Inland	1124
Inlantal	1124
Inlantale	1124
Inlaughe	1124
In law	1124
Inlaw	1124
Inleased	1124
In lege omnia semper in præsenti stare consentur	1124
Inlet	1124
In lieu of	1124
Inligare	1124
In limine	1124
In loco facti imprestabilis subest damnum et interesse	1124
In loco parentis	1124
In majore summa continetur minor	1124
In maleficiis voluntas spectatur non exitus	1124
In maleficio ratihabitio mandato comparatur	1124
Inmate	1124
In maxima potentia minima licentia	1125
In mercibus illicitis non sit commercium	1125
In-migrants	1125
Inmuebles	1125
Inmune	1125
Inmunidad	1125
Inn	1125
Innamium	1126
Innavigability	1126
Innavigable	1126
In necessariis, unitas; in non necessariis, libertas; in omnibus, caritas	1126
Inner	1126
Innings	1126
Innocence	1203
Innocent	1203

	Page
Innocently	1204
Innocent purchaser	1203
Innominate	1205
Innonia	1205
In nostra lege una comma evertit totum placitum	1205
Innotescimus	1205
Innovate	1205
Innovation	1205
In novo casu, novum remedium apponendum est	1205
Innoxiare	1205
Inns of chancery	1125, 1205
Inns of court	1126, 1205
In nubibus	1205
Innuendo	1205
In nullo est erratum	1205
In obscura voluntate manumittentis favendum est liberati	1205
In obscuris inspici solere quod verisimilius est, aut quod plerumque fieri solet	1205
In obscuris quod minimum est sequimur	1205
In odium spoliatoris omnia præsumuntur	1205
Inofficiosum	1205
Inofficious	1206
Inoficiosidad	1206
In omni actione ubi duæ concurrunt districtiones, videlicet in rem et in personam, illa districtio tenenda est quæ magis timetur et magis ligat	1206
In omnibus	1206
In omnibus causis pro facto accipitur id, in quo per alium moræ sit, quo minus fiat	1206
In omnibus contractibus, sive nominatis, sive innominatis, permutatio continetur	1206
In omnibus fere minori ætati succuritur	1206
In omnibus [fere] pœnalibus judiciis, et ætati et imprudentiæ succurritur	1206
In omnibus imperatoris excipitur fortuna, cui ipsas leges deus subjecit	1206
In omnibus obligationibus, in quibus dies non ponitur, præsenti die debetur	1206
In omnibus quidem, maxime tamen in jure, æquitas spectanda sit	1206
In omni re nascitur res quæ ipsam rem exterminat	1206
Inoperative	1206
Inopportune	1206
Inops consilii	1206
In order	1207
Inordinatus	1207
Inorganic dust	1207
In other words	1207
In pais	1207
In paper	1207
In pari causa possessor potior haberi debet	1207
In pari causa potior est conditio possidentis	1207
In pari delicto	1207
In pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis (et possidentis)	1207
In pari materia	1207
Inpeny	1207
In periculo qui etiam tutus cavet setinus est	1207
In perpetuam rei memoriam	1207
In perpetuity	1207
In person	1207
In personam	1208
In place	1208
In pœnalibus causis benignius interpretandum est	1208
In possession	1208
In præparatoriis ad judicium favetur actori	1208
In præsentia majoris cessat potentia minoris	1208
In præsentia majoris potestatis, minor potestas cessat	1208
In pretio emptionis et venditionis naturaliter licet contrahentibus se circumvenire	1208
In propria causa nemo judex	1208
In pursuance of	1208
Inquest	1208
Inquilinato	1208
Inquilino	1208
Inquilinus	1208
Inquire	1208
Inquirendo	1209
Inquiry	1209
Inquisicion	1209
Inquisidor	1209
Inquisitio	1209
Inquisition	1209
Inquisitor	1209
In quod quis delinquit, in eo de jure est puniendus	1209
In re	1209
In rebus manifestis errat qui auctoritates legum allegat; quia perspicua vera non sunt probanda	1209
In rebus novis constituendis evidens esse inutiles debet, ut recedatus ab eo jure, quod diu æquam visum est	1209
In rebus quæ sunt favorabilia animæ, quamvis sunt damnosa rebus, fiat aliquando extensio statuti	1210
In re communi melior est conditio prohibentis	1210
In re communi neminem dominorum jure facere quicquam, invito altero, posse	1210

	Page
In re communi potior est conditio prohibentis	1210
In re dubia benigniorem interpretationem sequi, non minus justius est, quam tutius..	1210
In re dubia magis inficiatio quam affirmatio intelligenda	1210
In re lupanari, testes lupanares admittentur..	1210
In rem	1210
In rem actio est per quam rem nostram quæ ab alio possidetur petimus, et semper adversus eum est qui rem possidet	1210
In rem suam tutor fieri non potest auctor	1210
In re obscura melius est favere repetitioni quam adventitio lucro	1210
In re pari, potiorem causam esse prohibentis constat	1210
In re potiorem causam esse prohibentis constare	1210
In re propria iniquum adiiodum est alicui licentiam tribuere sententiæ	1210
In republica maxime conservanda sunt jura belli	1210
In restitutionem, non in pœnam, hæres succedit	1210
In restitutionibus benigissima interpretatio facienda est	1210
In restraint of trade	1210
In rex non potest conjunctim tenere cum alio	1210
Inroll	1210
Inrollment	1210
Insaculacion	1211
Insane	1211
Insanely	1211
Intentional injury	1118
Internal injuries	1118
Irreparable injury	1118
Legal injury	1119
Malicious injury	1119
Nonpecuniary injury	1119
Outpeny	1207
Pecuniary injury	1119
Permanent injury	1120
Personal injury	1115
Private injuries	1121
Public injuries	1121
Reasonable inference	375
Under the influence of liquor	378
Undue influence	379
Unlawful injury	1121
Wanton injury	1114
Willful injury	1121

INDEX TO

INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES

Accounting, § 7, pp. 30, 31
  By-laws, failure to adopt as ground for accounting, § 2
  Condition precedent to action against member, § 9, p. 33, n. 41
Actions, § 9, pp. 33–39
  Attorney, power to employ, § 5, p. 8
  Breach of contract, post
  Damages, post
  Injunction, post
Admission to membership, § 7, pp. 13, 14
Advances to member, § 7, pp. 28–31
  Action by third person to recover excess advances, § 9, p. 38
Agency relationship between members and association, § 7, p. 14
Agents, § 6
  Contract creating agency, § 5, p. 10, n. 77
  Fraud of agent in obtaining contract between members and associations, § 7, p. 19
  Marketing agreement constituting agency contract, § 7, p. 23
  Membership card signed by, § 7, p. 13, n. 6
  Notice to agent imputable to society, § 5, p. 9
  Ouster for misrepresentations by, § 2
  Revocation of cooperative's agency contract, § 5, p. 11, n. 82
  Third person's duty to ascertain authority, § 5, p. 10, n. 77
Agricultural Adjustment Act, voting under, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Amendment,
  Articles of incorporation, § 3, n. 34
  By-laws, § 3
  Pleading in action by retiring member, § 9, p. 35, n. 50
Appointment of officers and agents, § 6
Arbitration award, power to use funds to pay, § 5, p. 8, n. 54
Articles of association, § 3
  Powers, duties, rights and liabilities governed by, § 5, p. 8
Articles of incorporation,
  Construction, § 3, n. 34
  Contracts, articles as part of, § 7, p. 22
  Eligibility and admission to membership governed by, § 7, pp. 13, 14
  Signing as condition precedent to performance of contract, § 7, p. 18, n. 51
Assessments for depreciation, § 7, p. 30, n. 2
Assessments on members and stockholders, § 7, pp. 16, 17
Assets subject to creditors' claims, § 5, p. 8
Assignments, power to assign, § 5, p. 8
Association defined, § 1
Attachment of certificates for profits issued to member, § 7, p. 15
Attorney, power to employ, § 5, p. 8
Attorney's fee,
  Contract for providing for fee for breach of contract, § 7, p. 19
  In action by association against member, § 9, p. 36, n. 55
Authority of officers and agents, § 6
Bona fide purchaser of products covered by marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
Books and records, inspection by member, § 7, p. 15
Breach of contract,
  Between members and societies, § 7, pp. 23–26
  Damages, § 9, pp. 36, 37
  Damages against third person inducing breach, § 9, p. 37
  Damages for inducing, § 9, p. 39
  Evidence of breach, § 9, p. 36, n. 54
  Injunction for inducing member to breach contract, § 9, p. 37
  Liability for inducing, § 7, p. 21, n. 91
  Marketing contract, defense to breach, § 7, p. 26
  Remedies, § 9, pp. 33–39
  Unauthorized deductions as constituting, § 7, p. 29
Burden of proof,
  Action between member and association, § 9, p. 35
  Actions by third person against association, § 9, p. 38, n. 78
By-laws, §§ 3, 4
  Contracts, by-laws as part of, § 7, p. 22
  Contracts binding members by provisions of by-laws, § 7, p. 19
  Deductions from proceeds of sale, § 7, p. 29
  Eligibility and admission to membership governed by, § 7, pp. 13, 14
  Injunction by third person to prevent enforcement of invalid by-law, § 9, p. 38
  Members' knowledge of, § 7, p. 20, n. 72
  Members' liability limited by, § 7, p. 16
  Receiver appointed for failure to adopt, § 2
  Repurchase of stock authorized by, § 7, p. 14
  Statements to members, § 7, p. 30
  Transfer of stock restricted by, § 7, p. 14
  Voting for director, § 6, p. 11, n. 88
  Withdrawal or expulsion of members, § 7, p. 31
  Withdrawing member's rights, § 7, p. 32
Cancellation of contract, § 7, pp. 31, 32
Certificate of convenience and necessity, § 5, p. 9
Certificate of termination of contract, § 7, p. 21
Certificates of stock, § 7, p. 14
Charter, §§ 2, 3
  Contract between members and foreign association before filing charter, § 7, p. 19
  Expulsion or withdrawal of members, § 7, p. 31
  Filing by foreign association, § 5, p. 9
  Powers, duties, rights and liabilities governed by, § 5, p. 8
Classes, § 1
Collateral attack on organization, § 7, p. 15, n. 19

Committee for organization,
Absence of members affecting organization, § 2
Decision as condition to enforcement of contract, § 7, p. 18, n. 51
Estoppel to show invalidity of contract, § 7, p. 21
Compromise agreements for cancellation and termination of marketing contracts, § 7, p. 32
Condition precedent to action against member, § 9, p. 33, n. 41
Condition precedent to action for breach of contract, § 9, p. 34, n. 45
Consideration for contract between members and association, § 7, p. 18
Constitutionality of statutes, § 1
Construction,
Articles of incorporation, § 3, n. 34
By-laws, § 3
Contract, § 7, pp. 26–28
Contract between members and associations, § 7, pp. 21–23
Contracts of subscription and for purchase of stock, § 7, pp. 13, 14
Statutes providing for organization, § 1
Continuing breach of contract of member with society, § 7, p. 24
Contracts, § 5, pp. 10, 11
Between members, § 7, p. 20
Breach of contract, ante
By-law operating as contract, § 3
Cancellation, §7, pp. 31, 32
Construction, § 7, pp. 26–28
De facto corporation, § 4, p. 48
Interference of third persons with, § 9, p. 37
Members and association, § 7, pp. 17–28
Members' individual liability on, § 7, p. 17
Membership contract, § 7, p. 14
Restraining trade, § 4
State co-operative union and national union, § 5, p. 9
Ultra vires contracts, post
Conversion, officers' liability for, § 6, p. 12, nn. 93, 97
Conversion of property, § 5, p. 8
Costs in action between member and association, § 9, p. 36
Counterclaim in actions between association and members, § 9, p. 34
Counting, failure to account justifying ouster, § 2
Credit,
Constitutionality of statute prohibiting giving or taking, § 1, n. 6
Power to engage in transactions on, § 5, p. 9
Power to pledge, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Criminal offenses, § 8
Dairy co-operative,
Agreement to be bound by by-laws, § 3, n. 41
Control confirmed by contract, § 4, n. 46
Damages,
Actions by or against association, § 9, pp. 36, 37
Actions by or against third persons, § 9, p. 39
Association's action against third person for, § 9, p. 37
Breach of contract, § 9, p. 34
Evidence to show damages, § 9, p. 36, n. 54
Debts,
Liability of members and stockholders for, § 7, pp. 16, 17
Debts—Continued,
Officers' and directors' liability for, § 6
Power to incur, § 5, p. 8
Deductions, withdrawing member's right to recover, § 7, p. 33
Deductions from proceeds of sale, § 7, pp. 28–31
De facto corporation, § 2
Contracts with, § 4, n. 48
Subscription agreement, § 7, p. 14, n. 8
Defense to breach of marketing contract, § 7, p. 26
Definitions, § 1
Directors, § 6
Burden of proof in action by third persons against, § 9, p. 38, n. 78
By-laws relating to voting for, § 6, p. 11, n. 88
Compromise agreements for cancelling and terminating marketing contracts, § 7, p. 32
Earnings apportioned by, § 7, p. 15
Expulsion of members by, § 7, p. 31
Release of marketing agreement by, § 7, p. 26, n. 58
Discharge of marketing contract, § 7, pp. 24, 25
Discontinuance of production, § 7, pp. 26–28
Discrimination by marketing society as breach of contract, § 7, p. 24
Dissolution, § 2
Distribution of supplies, power to engage in, § 5, p. 8
Distributive society,
Construction of articles of incorporation, § 3, n. 34
Defined, § 1
Dividends, § 7, p. 15
Dues, local union's liability to national union for dues collected, § 5, p. 10, n. 73
Duress affecting contracts between members and associations, § 7, p. 19
Duties of society, § 5, pp. 7–11
Earnings, apportionment of, § 7, p. 15
Educational institutions, organization of associations under statute providing for, § 2
Election of officers, § 6
Electric light system, organization for purpose of operating, § 2
Electric membership corporation requirement of certificate of convenience and necessity, § 5, p. 9
Eleemosynary institutions, organization of associations under statute providing for, § 2
Eligibility to membership or ownership of stock, § 7, pp. 13, 14
Estoppel,
Association to assert title, evidence of, § 9, p. 38, n. 78
Defense precluded by sale of product to bona fide purchaser, § 7, p. 28
Deny agent's authority, § 6
Member to assert mortgage on products, § 7, p. 28
Members relating to contracts, § 7, pp. 20, 21
Question validity of contract, § 5, p. 11
Recover damages against member for breach of contract, § 7, p. 26
Evidence,
Action between association or member and third persons, § 9, p. 38
Action between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Burden of proof, ante

Exclusive agent, validity of statute authorizing association to become, § 4, n. 46
Exclusive remedies, § 9, p. 33
Excuse for breach of contract, § 7, p. 26
Excuses for nonperformance of contract between members and societies, § 7, pp. 24, 25
Existence of association, directors' right to question, § 6
Expulsion of members or stockholders, § 7, p. 31
Federal Grain Futures Act governing sale by cooperative grain company, § 5, p. 11, n. 81
Fiduciary relationship between stockholders and officers, § 7, p. 14
Filing by-laws, § 3, n. 36
Filing charter by foreign association, § 5, p. 9
Filing report, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Filling stations, foreign union's liability for injuries at, § 5, p. 10, n. 75
Foreign association,
Contracts between members and association before filing charter, § 7, p. 19
Remedies for breach of contract, § 9, p. 34, n. 46
Foreign union's liability for injuries, § 5, p. 10, n. 75
Fraud,
Evidence in action between member and association, § 9, p. 36, n. 54
Ground for rescinding marketing contract, § 7, p. 31
Inducing membership contract, § 7, p. 14
Issuing excessive shares of stock, § 7, p. 13, n. 3
Obtaining contract between members and associations, § 7, p. 19
Pleading in action by member against association, § 9, p. 35, n. 50
Future delivery, contract for, § 5, p. 10
Garnishment, transfer of stock attached in proceedings by third person, § 9, p. 38
General association, § 5, pp. 9, 10
Gift of commodity to wife affecting husband's liability for breach of contract, § 7, p. 26, n. 62
Ice cream, power to manufacture, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Incorporation. Articles of incorporation, ante
Infant as member, § 7, p. 13, n. 3
Injunction,
Appointment of receiver affected by right to injunction, § 2
Against members by third persons, § 9, p. 39
By association against third person, § 9, p. 37
By or against association, § 9, p. 33
Decree, § 9, p. 36, n. 55
Parties, § 9, p. 34, n. 49
By third person against association, § 9, p. 38, n. 72
By third person against member, § 9, p. 37
Contracts authorizing injunction for breach of contract, § 7, p. 19
Inspection by member of books and records, § 7, p. 15
Insurance proceeds as taking place of products destroyed, § 7, pp. 30, 31
Intent in becoming member, § 7, p. 13
Interest on advances to members, § 7, p. 29, n. 94
Issues and proof in action between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Joint and several liability for breach of contract between members and society, § 7, p. 24
Joint judgment against members in favor of third persons, § 9, p. 39, n. 80
Joint liability of association and members, § 7, p. 17
Joint venture, marketing plan as, § 7, p. 22, n. 96
Judgment in action between member and association, § 9, p. 36
Judgment in actions between association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 39
Legality of objects, § 4
Legislative encouragement and approval of formation, § 1
Liabilities of members and stockholders, § 7, pp. 16, 17
Liabilities of society, § 5, pp. 7–11
Lien on crops grown under marketing contract, § 7, pp. 27, 28
Liquidated damages, provision of contract stipulating for as exclusive remedy, § 9, p. 33
Liquidated damages for breach of contract between marketing society and members, § 4
Liquidated damages on breach of contract, § 9, p. 36
Liquidation, interest of members payable on, § 7, p. 32, n. 27
Loans to association, members' liability on, § 7, p. 17
Local associations, § 5, pp. 9, 10
Contract with general association as creating contract of sale, § 7, p. 23, n. 11
Members as members of parent association, § 7, p. 14
Managers,
Consent to person becoming stockholder, § 7, p. 13, n. 3
Officers' liability for conversion by, § 6, p. 12, n. 97
Marketing society,
Amendment of by-laws, § 3, n. 37
Construction of contracts with members, § 7, pp. 21–23
Construction of statute, § 1, n. 7
Contracts, § 5, p. 10, nn. 77, 78; § 5, p. 11, nn. 83, 84
Contracts with members as contract of sale or agency, § 7, p. 23
De facto corporations, § 4, n. 48
Defined, § 1
Discrimination as breach of contract, § 7, p. 24
Estoppel of member to assert invalidity of contract, § 7, p. 21
Exemption of members from liability for debts, § 5, p. 10, n. 78
Losses apportioned among stockholders, § 7, p. 17
Membership, § 7, p. 13, n. 5
Performance or breach of contracts with members, § 7, pp. 23–26
Powers, § 5, p. 8, nn. 49, 54, 55; § 5, p. 9, n. 64
Public policy to aid, § 1, n. 4
Recording contracts between members and societies, § 7, p. 21
Restraint of trade, contract or by-law as constituting, § 4
Meetings of stockholders and members, § 7, p. 15
Members, § 7, pp. 13–33
Actions by third person against, § 9, pp. 37–39
By-laws binding on, § 3
Estoppel relating to contracts, § 7, pp. 20, 21
Evidence of membership, § 9, p. 36, n. 54
Exemption from liability for debts, § 5, p. 10, n. 78
Injunction by third person against, § 9, p. 37

Members—Continued,
Knowledge of by-laws, § 7, p. 20, n. 72
Remedies, § 9, pp. 33–39
Membership fee, recovery on withdrawal, § 7, p. 32, n. 27
Merger of preliminary agreements into written contract with members, § 7, p. 20
Milk control board, assessment of members in derogation of powers of, § 7, p. 16, n. 38
Misrepresentations of agents as justifying ouster, § 2
Modification of marketing contract by oral agreement, § 7, p. 20
Mortgage on crops grown under marketing contract, § 7, pp. 27, 28
National associations, § 5, pp. 9, 10
Nature, § 1
Negotiability of stock certificates, § 7, p. 14, n. 10
Non-profit corporations, organization of associations under statute providing for, § 2
Note in payment of stock, § 7, p. 13, n. 3
Notes, member's liability on, § 7, p. 17
Notice,
Assessment against stockholders, § 7, p. 17, n. 41
Association, § 5, p. 9
Association was cooperative, § 7, p. 14, n. 6
Association's powers, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
By purchaser of marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
Contract between members and association, § 7, p. 21
Incorporation, § 7, p. 13, n. 4
Intention to withdraw, § 7, p. 31, n. 18
Meeting of stockholders, § 7, p. 15, n. 32
Members of association's powers, § 7, p. 14
Officer of association's affairs, § 6
Offenses, § 8
Officers, § 6
Compromise agreements for cancellation and termination of marketing contracts, § 7, p. 32
Fiduciary relationship between stockholders and officers, § 7, p. 14
Fraud of officer in obtaining contract between members and associations, § 7, p. 19
Notice to officer imputable to association, § 5, p. 9
Release of members from marketing contract, § 7, p. 26
Option to terminate contract, § 5, p. 11; § 7, p. 31
Organization, § 2
Contracts before organization between members and association, § 7, p. 19
Origin and growth, § 1, n. 2
Ouster, § 2
Over issued stock, right of holder to profits, § 7, p. 15
Parol contracts modifying marketing agreement, § 7, p. 20
Partial illegality of contract between members and association, § 7, p. 19
Parties,
Actions between association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 38
Actions between members and association, § 9, p. 34
Patronage dividends, § 5, p. 10, n. 77; § 7, p. 15, n. 20
Pecuniary profit, organization for, § 2
Penalties, third person's liability for, § 9, p. 39
Performance of contract,
Between members and societies, § 7, pp. 23–26
Question for jury, § 9, p. 36, n. 55
Personal injuries, foreign union's liability for, § 5, p. 10, n. 75
Pleadings in actions,
Between association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 38
Between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Pledge of products as superior to marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
Pooling grain, power of society, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Powers, members' right to attack exercise of powers, § 7, p. 15
Powers of society, § 5, pp. 7–11
Preference of member's claim for proceeds of crops, § 7, p. 30
Preferential contracts with members, § 7, p. 20
Preliminary injunction, association's right to, § 9, p. 34, n. 43
Presumption of fairness of contract of association with members, § 7, p. 18, n. 53
Presumptions in action between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Priority of crop lien over association's rights, § 7, p. 28
Produce included within marketing contract, § 7, pp. 26–28
Productive society, defined, § 1
Profits,
Distribution of, § 7, p. 30
Loss as element of damages in action by association, § 9, p. 36
Rights of members, § 7, p. 15
Withdrawing member's rights, § 7, p. 33
Public market, power to operate, § 5, p. 9
Public policy,
Activities of association as against, § 4
Contract or by-law of marketing society, § 4
Public utility, certificates or permits required of society performing functions of, § 5, p. 9
Purchase of member's interest, § 7, p. 31, n. 12
Purpose of legislation, § 1, n. 5
Purposes of organization, §§ 2, 4
Questions for jury in actions between,
Association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 39, n. 70
Member and association, § 9, p. 36, n. 55
Ratification of wrongful retention of money by association, § 7, p. 29, n. 87
Receivers, § 2
Assessment on stockholders of association in receivership, § 7, p. 17
Recording contracts between members and association, § 7, p. 21
Records, inspection by member, § 7, p. 15
Referendum under Agriculture Adjustment Act, power to vote, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
Reimbursement of association for advances, § 7, p. 29
Release,
Land as terminating marketing contract, § 7, p. 27
Members as breach of marketing contract, § 7, p. 26
One member as releasing other members, § 9, pp. 37, 38
Remedies, § 9, pp. 33–39

Removal of officers and agents, § 6
Repeal of by-laws abrogating contract, § 3
Replevin by association to obtain possession of crop under marketing contract, § 7, p. 27
Report,
  Duty to file, § 5, p. 8, n. 49
  Officers' liability affected by failure to file, § 6, p. 12, n. 93
Repurchase of stock by association, § 7, p. 14
Rescission,
  Marketing contract, § 7, pp. 25, 31, 32
  Sale of stock, § 7, p. 14, n. 15
Research, power to use funds for, § 5, p. 9
Reserve fund,
  Available for payment of debts, § 5, p. 9, n. 60
  Withdrawing member's rights in fund, § 7, p. 32
Reserves,
  Deductions from sale for reserves, § 7, p. 29
  Member's right to participate in, § 7, p. 30
Restraint of trade, contract or by-law as constituting, § 4
Rights of members of association, § 7, pp. 14–16
Rights of society, § 5, pp. 7–11
Rural electric cooperative, validity of articles of incorporation, § 3, n. 34
Sales,
  Bona fide purchaser of products without notice of marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
  Deductions from proceeds, § 7, pp. 28–31
  Land terminating marketing contract, § 7, p. 27
  Marketing contract as constituting, § 7, p. 23
  Products by association, § 7, p. 22
Sales contracts, § 5, pp. 10, 11
Sequestration, marketing agreement enforceable by, § 9, p. 33, n. 41
Set-off in actions between association and members, § 9, p. 34
Sharecropping,
  Marketing contract enforceable against crops raised under contract, § 7, p. 27
  Owner signing marketing agreement as guarantor, § 7, p. 29, n. 95
Specific performance, contracts authorizing remedy for breach of contract, § 7, p. 19
Specific performance by or against association, § 9, p. 33
Statutes,
  Compliance with statute relating to organization, § 2
  Contracts, statutes as part of, § 7, p. 22
  Eligibility and admission to membership, § 7, pp. 13, 14
  Liability of members and stockholders imposed by, § 7, p. 16
  Members' right to attack validity of incorporation statute, § 7, p. 15
  Powers, duties, rights and liabilities governed by, § 5, p. 8
Stock,
  Attack in garnishment proceedings by third person, § 9, p. 38
  Certificates of stock, § 7, p. 14
  Construction of contract to purchase, § 7, p. 14
  Contract authorizing forfeiture for breach of contract, § 7, p. 19
  Negotiability of certificates, § 7, p. 14, n. 10
Stock—Continued,
  Purchaser of stock of withdrawing member, § 7, p. 32, n. 27
  Transfer, § 7, p. 14
  Value of retiring member's stock, § 7, p. 33
Stockholders, § 7, pp. 13–33
  Existence of association distinct from, § 2
  Expulsion, § 7, p. 31
  Quorum, by-laws defining, § 3, n. 40
  Removal of directors and officers, § 6, p. 12, n. 88
  Voting for adoption of by-laws, § 3, n. 37
Stores,
  Members' liability for debts of, § 7, p. 16, n. 33
  Organization for purpose of operating, § 2
Subscription to stock governing eligibility and admission to membership, § 7, pp. 13, 14
Subsidiaries, § 5, p. 10
Surplus,
  Distribution of, § 7, p. 30
  Withdrawing member's right to share in, § 7, p. 32
Telephone system, organization for purpose of operating, § 2
Terminating production of commodity under marketing contract, § 7, p. 27
Termination of membership or contract, § 7, pp. 31–33
Third persons,
  Agreement between member and third person waiving right to withdraw, § 7, p. 31
  Authority of agent, duty to ascertain, § 5, p. 10, n. 77
  By-laws binding on, § 3
  Directors' acts, right to question, § 6
  Interest in products covered by marketing agreement, § 7, pp. 26–28
  National union's liability for tort of local union, § 5, p. 10
  Payment of dividends to, § 7, p. 15
  Remedies of or against, § 9, pp. 37–39
  Title affected by recording contracts between members and societies, § 7, p. 2
  Title of third person acquiring products without notice of marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
Title, time when title passes under marketing agreement, § 7, p. 23
Title of third person acquiring products without notice of marketing agreement, § 7, p. 28
Title of third person affected by recording contracts between members and societies, § 7, p. 21
Torts, national union's liability for, § 5, p. 10
Transfer of stock, § 7, p. 14
Trial,
  Actions between association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 39
  Actions between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Trust relationship between members and association, § 7, p. 14
Trusts, marketing agreement creating trust relationship, § 7, p. 23
Ultra vires contracts, § 5, p. 10, n. 78; § 7, p. 20; § 7, p. 23, n. 11
  Estoppel to question, § 5, p. 11
  Exclusive marketing agreement, § 5, p. 11, n. 84
  Third person's right to object, § 9, p. 37
Undisclosed principal, liability of member as, § 7, p. 17

Value of stock, officer's duty to disclose, § 7, p. 14
Variance in action between member and association, § 9, p. 35
Vendors of land, by marketing agreement, § 7, p. 22, n. 6
Venue of actions,
Between association or members and third persons, § 9, p. 38
Between member and association, § 9, p. 34
Voting at stockholders' meetings, § 7, p. 15, n. 32
Waiver,
Fraud in inducing membership contract, § 7, p. 14
Waiver—Continued,
Performance of conditions in contracts between members and association, § 7, p. 18
Provisions of contracts with members, § 7, p. 20
Warehouseman's liability for inducing breach of contract, § 9, p. 37, n. 62
Wife,
Lease of land to wife terminating husband's liability to deliver crop, § 7, p. 26, n. 62
Party in action between member and association, § 9, p. 34, n. 49
Withdrawal from association, § 7, pp. 31–33

INDEX TO INFANTS

Abandoned children,
Delinquency statute applicable to, § 98, p. 228
Estoppel to attack order declaring child abandoned, § 101, n. 55
Investigation by probation officer before proceedings to declare, § 99, p. 241, n. 20
Notice of proceedings, § 99, p. 247, n. 3
Rights of parents defaulting in proceedings to declare child abandoned, § 100, p. 262
Abandoned contract, specific performance of, § 75, p. 172, n. 92
Abandonment,
Property rights, § 31
Theory of defense in lower court, review of, § 126, p. 363
Abatement,
Action on death of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Criminal prosecution, § 94, n. 26
Plea of, § 96, p. 216
Delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Absent infant defendants, appointment of guardian ad litem for, § 108, p. 279
Acceptance,
Deed by infant, § 47, p. 110
Gift by infant donee, § 47, p. 119
Service of process, § 115, p. 318
Accomplice's testimony,
Corroboration in prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 78
Sustaining adjudication of delinquency, § 99, p. 249, n. 29
Accord and satisfaction,
Plea admitting infancy, § 116, p. 329
Pleading in action by infant, § 116, p. 323
Accounting,
Consent by guardian ad litem to reference to take account, § 119, p. 338
Intermeddler with estate of infant, § 35
Person conducting sale of realty, § 65
Purchase money of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Vacation of judgment, § 123, p. 359
Accounts stated,
Liability on accounts stated for necessaries, § 78, p. 189
Validity of, § 76, p. 185
Accusation in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Acknowledgment,
Consent to act as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 297
Debt as constituting ratification, § 74, p. 168
Deed by infant wife, ratification of, § 51, p. 128
Service of process, § 115, pp. 318, 320
Acquiescence,
Contract, ratification, § 74, p. 169
Acquiescence—Continued.
Default judgment, affecting right to vacate, § 123, p. 353
Partition as ratification, § 51, n. 27
Acquisition of property, §§ 36–56, pp. 101–132
Power to acquire, § 31
Actions, §§ 103–127, pp. 265–371
Disaffirmance by bringing,
Contract, § 75, p. 174
Deed or mortgage, § 51, p. 126
Release, § 76, p. 183
Settlement, § 80
Disaffirmance of contract, actions after, § 75, pp. 177–179
Guardian Ad Litem, generally, post
Law governing, § 20
Next friend, generally, post
Order for sale, action to obtain, § 64, pp. 139–148
Ratification of insurance policy by bringing action, § 76, p. 181
Set aside sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 154
Actions on the case,
Adult party against infant disaffirming contract, § 75, p. 179
Damages on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
Adjournment,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Administrator's sale, return of consideration on avoidance by infant, § 46, pp. 109, 110
Admissibility of evidence. Evidence, generally, post
Admissions,
Adult co-defendant, § 117, p. 331
Attorney, § 114, p. 312
Binding on infant, § 22
Failure to deny allegations, § 116, p. 328
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Infancy in pleading, § 116, p. 329
Adults,
Admissions by adult co-defendant, § 117, p. 331
Contract for benefit of infant, § 76, p. 185
Co-owners as persons who may secure order for sale, § 61
Guardian ad litem or next friend must be, § 110, p. 292
Guardian ad litem's compensation, liability of adult co-defendant, § 112, p. 310
Joinder as party,
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 108, p. 278
Rights of adults to join as parties, § 106, p. 273
Joint contracts with, § 76, p. 186
Joint note with adult, § 79, p. 195
Joint settlement agreements with, § 80

Adults—Continued,
Judgment void as to infants as valid as to adult co-defendants, § 122, p. 340
Juvenile offenders,
Contact with adult convicts, § 96, p. 224
Treated as adult, §§ 93, 94
Partnership agreements with adult, § 82
Party to contract,
Adult party bound, § 75, p. 171
Rights and remedies on disaffirmance by infant, § 75, p. 179
Advances, § 84
Payment of necessaries, § 78, p. 194
Adversary proceedings,
Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Sale of realty,
Guardian ad litem as party in, § 64, pp. 140, 141
Infant as party in, § 64, p. 140
Nature of proceedings to secure order, § 64, p. 139
Notice of application in, § 64, p. 143
Adverse interest,
Guardian ad litem or next friend affecting right to compensation, § 112, p. 306
Infant's attorney, § 114, p. 312
Next friend affecting consent judgment, § 122, p. 345
Adverse party as liable for compensation of guardian or next friend, § 112, p. 310
Adverse possession,
Emancipation by marriage affecting, § 29, p. 92
Infant's property, § 32
Affidavits,
Appeal in forma pauperis, § 126, p. 365
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 296, 297
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 246
Dismissal motion supported by, § 118, n. 30
Fees of guardian ad litem, § 112, p. 307
Next friend's right to sue, § 109, p 286
Notice of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Service of process against infant by publication, § 115, p. 316
Affidavits of defense,
Action by infant, § 116, p. 324
Contract for necessaries, § 116, p. 327
Affirmance of contracts. Ratification, generally, post
Affirmance of judgment in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 257
Age,
Burden of proof,
Criminal prosecution. § 96, p. 216
Violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 76, n. 12
Misrepresentation, § 117, p. 330
Capacity to commit crime, § 94, n. 26; § 95
Computation in determining whether to proceed against infant as delinquent or criminal, § 98, pp. 237–239
Contracts, age at which permitted, § 71, p. 160
Delinquency proceedings affected by, § 98, pp. 237–239
Age—Continued,
Dependent or delinquent child, classification according to age, § 98, p. 231
Evidence, § 117, pp. 331, 333
Criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 218
Misrepresentation, § 117, p. 333, n. 24
Findings in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 220
Indictment in prosecution for contributing to delinquency of minor alleging age, § 16, p. 75, n. 6
Inspection determining age in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 218
Instructions in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 220
Lewd and lascivious acts, age of child as element of offense, § 11, p. 63, n. 79
Majority, §§ 2, 3
Legislative power to change, § 19
Misrepresentation of age,
Burden of proof, § 117, p. 330
Damages for, § 92, p. 21
Disaffirmance of contract obtained by, § 75, p. 178, n. 71
Employment obtained by right to recover deposit affected by, § 85, p. 201
Estopping infant from claiming disabilities, § 27, pp. 88–90
Evidence, § 117, p. 333, n. 24
Pleading, § 116, pp. 324, 326
Proof under general denial, § 116, p. 328, n. 36
Questions for jury, § 119, p. 336, n. 54
Recovery for use or depreciation on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 114, 115
Tort, § 90
Pleading, § 116, p. 324
Concealment and misrepresentation of, § 116, p. 326
Presumption in criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 216
Appeal, § 96, p. 222
Punishment, ascertaining age before sentence, § 96, p. 224
Question for jury in criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 219
Sentence reciting age, § 96, p. 221
Status as party affected by coming of age pending suit, § 106, p. 273
Agents,
Appointment by infant, § 23
Avoidance of agent's cancellation of policy, § 76, p. 181
Burden of proof of agency for infant, § 117, p. 330, n. 68
Contracts,
Agents of infant, § 76, pp. 184, 185
Infant agent, § 76, p. 186
Games, permitting minor to play, § 15
Infant acting as, § 21
Misrepresentation of age induced by agent, § 27, p. 90
Motor vehicles, liability for negligent operation by, § 91, pp. 208, 209
Negligence, liability of infant for, § 91, pp. 207–209
Ratification of contracts by, § 74, p. 166
Restoration of consideration received by agent on disaffirming property transaction, § 46, p. 109

Agents—Continued,
Torts, infant's liability for, § 97, p. 208
Aggravated assault, instruction in prosecution for, § 96, p. 219, n. 18
Alien land law, violation by infant, § 94, n. 28
Alienation of property, §§ 36–56, pp. 101–132
Emancipation by marriage affecting capacity, § 20, p. 92
Emancipation under civil law, alienation after, § 28, p. 91
Allowance, necessaries in excess of, § 78, p. 188
Amendment,
Answer after attaining majority, § 116, p. 322
Appearance by attorney, § 114, p. 311
Judgment for failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 281
Parties, § 106, p. 274
Petition for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 296
Pleadings, § 116, p. 320
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 290
New guardian ad litem after amendment, § 113
Relief against judgment by, § 123, pp. 355, 358
Return of process, § 115, p. 319
Statutes relating to delinquent, dependent or neglected children, § 97, p. 228
Substituting person suing on behalf of, § 106, p. 275
Summons, § 115, p. 314
Amount of recovery for necessaries, § 78, p. 188
Ancestor's debts,
Mortgage of infant's property to pay father's debts, § 68
Sale of infant's realty for purpose of paying, § 63
Appraisal, § 64, p. 146
Family meeting not required, § 64, p. 145
Infant as party in proceedings, § 64, p. 140
Notice of application, § 64, p. 143
Parties to suit to confirm contract, § 66, p. 152
Petition, § 64, p. 142
Setting aside sale for failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 66, p. 153
Annulment of marriage, appointment of guardian in suit for, § 108, p. 278, n. 31
Answer,
Action against infant, § 116, pp. 320–323
Action by infant, § 116, pp. 324, 325
Action by or against, § 116, pp. 320–329
Appointment of next friend, objections to, § 108, p. 282, n. 76; § 109, p. 286
Denying infancy, § 116, p. 324
Disaffirmance of note, § 79, p. 196
Dismissal of action before answer, § 118, n. 29
Incapacity to sue, § 108, p. 282
Oath, evidence, § 116, p. 327
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Proceedings to vacate judgment, § 123, p. 359
Waiver of irregularities in service of summons, § 115, p. 319
Antenuptial contracts, § 55
Appeal and error, § 126, pp. 362–369
See, also, Review, generally, post
Abandoned child, denial of application for custody, § 100, p. 262
Appeal and error—Continued,
Costs on appeal, § 127, pp. 369, 370
Liability of guardian ad litem, § 127, p. 371
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 252–257
Dismissal of action after appeal, § 118, n. 29
Guardians ad litem, post
Next friend,
Appointment, § 110, p. 290, n. 24; § 110, p. 298; § 126, pp. 364, 365
Authority terminated by appeal, § 113
Presumptions, post
Proceedings for sale of realty, § 64, p. 148
Confirmation of sale, § 66, p. 151
Ruling on exception to report of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Relief against judgment void on its face, § 123, p. 356
Appeal bond in delinquency proceedings, dismissal of appeal for failure to file, § 99, p. 255
Appearance,
Attorney, § 114, pp. 311–313
Before appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 295
Consideration in determining age, § 98, p. 239
Criminal prosecution, § 96, pp. 214, 215
Defective service of process, appearance after attaining majority not required, § 115, p. 320
Delinquency proceedings curing defective notice or failure of notice, § 99, p. 248
Guardians ad litem, post
Next friend in appellate court, § 126, p. 364
Parent in proceedings for custody, § 99, p. 250
Waiver,
Irregularities in service of summons, § 115, p. 319
Personal service of process, § 115, p. 318
Service of application for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 96
Appellate courts,
Compensation of guardian ad litem or next friend for services in, § 112, p. 308
Power to fix compensation of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, p. 307
Appellate jurisdiction,
Dependency or delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 254
District court relating to property, § 57, n. 91
Appliances or devisees for child, § 9
Application,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Mother's pension, § 10
Notice, post
Order to sell realty, § 64, pp. 141–144
Proceedings for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 95, 96
Appointment,
Guardians ad litem, post
Next friend, post

Appraisal of realty to be sold under order of court, § 64, p. 146
Appraiser, power to act as, § 24
Approval of sale of realty not previously ordered, § 66, p. 152
Arbitration,
Agreement, capacity to make, § 76, p. 185
Power of guardian ad litem or next friend to submit to, § 111, p. 300
Arraignment in delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Arrest, § 96, p. 212, n. 48
Care of arrested child, § 97, p. 227, n. 89
Probation officers, § 17
Arrest of judgment,
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 283
Motion as within jurisdiction of juvenile court, § 96, p. 221, n. 33
Arson by infant, indictment, § 96, p. 212, n. 49
Assault and battery on child, juvenile court's jurisdiction of prosecution for, § 16, p. 74
Assignments,
Contract,
Avoidance of contract against assignee, § 75, p. 170
Notice of rescission to assignee, § 75, p. 174
Contract to purchase by infant, § 47, p. 111
Insurance policy or benefits by infant, § 76, p. 182
Inventions, employment contract agreeing to assign, § 85, p. 200, n. 24
Next friend, judgment to joint tort feasor, § 124, p. 360, n. 91
Property rights, § 49
Right to disaffirm property transaction, § 43, p. 106
Wages to secure loan, § 84, n. 17
Assignments for benefit of partnership's creditors, infant partner bound by, § 82
Assignments of errors, § 126, p. 367
Appeal from juvenile court in prosecution for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 255
Assumpsit,
Action against infant for money tortiously taken, § 104, p. 267
Proof of infancy under plea of nonassumpsit, § 116, p. 329
Attainment of majority. Majority, generally, post
Attempt to take indecent liberties, § 11, p. 64, n. 80
Attempted rape, § 11, p. 64, n. 80
Attorneys,
Acknowledgment of service of process by, § 115, p. 318, n. 63
Admission by, § 114, p. 312
Adverse interest, § 114, p. 312
Appeal, right to select attorney on attaining majority pending, § 126, p. 365, n. 63
Appearance by, § 114, pp. 311–313
Appointment by infant, § 23
Authority, § 114, pp. 312, 313
Compensation or fees, § 114, p. 313
Allowance in proceedings to sell realty, § 67, n. 73
Attorneys—Continued,
Compensation or fees—Continued,
Counsel of guardian ad litem awarded out of,
Income, § 112, p. 309, n. 28
Trust property, § 112, p. 309, n. 30
Item of costs, § 127, p. 369, n. 21; § 127, p. 370, n. 31
Fees of attorney for guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, p. 307
Reimbursement of guardian ad litem or next friend for, § 112, p. 306
Compromise and settlement, power, § 114, p. 313
Consent by, § 114, p. 312
Consent judgment,
Attorney representing both sides of controversy, § 122, p. 345
Unauthorized attorney, § 122, p. 345
Criminal prosecutions,
Absence of counsel as harmless error, § 96, p. 222, n. 53
Representation by attorney in, § 96, pp. 214, 215
Delinquency proceedings, appointment to represent infant in, § 99, p. 242
Disaffirmance of contract of employment, § 76, p. 185
Expenditures, reimbursement for, § 114, p. 313
Guardian ad litem,
Appointment as, § 110, p. 295, n. 12
Attorney of adverse party, § 110, p. 294
Employment to assist in appeal, § 126, p. 363
Fees, § 112, pp. 306, 307
Awarded out of income or trust property, § 112, p. 309, nn. 28, 30
Power to employ, § 111, pp. 304, 305
Proceedings to sell realty, allowance to, § 67, n. 73
Selected by, § 110, p. 293
Lien for expenditures, § 114, p. 313
Next friend, power to employ, § 111, pp. 304, 305
Plea of guilty under advice of, § 96, p. 216, n. 75
Referee in proceedings to determine custody, appointment as, § 8, p. 59, n. 27
Remission of judgment, power to remit, § 114, p. 312, n. 82
Representation of infant by, § 114, pp. 311–313
Service of case made or notice of appeal on, § 126, p. 366
Services as necessaries, § 78, p. 192
Stipulations by, § 114, p. 312, n. 82
Waiver,
Accused infant of right to counsel, § 96, p. 214
Infant's rights by, § 114, p. 312
Safeguards of accused infant, § 96, p. 214
Withdrawal of infant's attorney, § 114, p. 312
Automobiles,
Answer in action to rescind purchase, § 116, p. 324
Disaffirmance of purchase dependent on surrender of certificate of title, § 47, p. 114, n. 81
Evidence of knowledge purchaser was infant, § 117, p. 333, n. 24
Liability for negligent operation, § 91, pp. 207–209
Necessary, § 78, pp. 192, 193
Presumption repairs are not necessaries, § 117, p. 331

Automobiles—Continued,
Restoration on disaffirming purchase, § 47, p. 113, n. 74
Service of process on nonresident minor motorist, § 115, p. 316, n. 27
Aviation instruction course as necessary, § 78, p. 192
Avoidance,
Disaffirmance, generally, post
Plea of infancy, § 116, p. 326
Bail pending appeal from commitment order, § 99, p. 253
Bailment,
Automobile, care of infant bailee in operating, § 91, p. 208
Intermeddler treated as bailee, § 35
Tort with regard to property bailed to infant, § 89
Validity of contract, § 77
Bank examiners reduction of minors' deposits, § 34, n. 56
Bastardy bond, validity of, § 76, p. 180
Bastardy proceedings, jurisdiction of, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
Benefits, retention as constituting ratification of contract, § 74, p. 169
Bets, §§ 15, 83
Bill in action by or against, § 116, p. 320
Bill of exceptions,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 256
Remedy for review, § 126, p. 362
Bill of particulars in prosecutions for contributing to delinquency of minor, § 16, p. 75, n. 6
Bill of review,
Infant, bill of review by, § 119, p. 336
Relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 355, 356
Vacate judgment, § 123, p. 351
Billiard and pool, permitting minors to play as offense, § 15
Billiard hall, permitting congregating at as offense, § 15
Bills and notes, § 79, pp. 194–196
Necessaries, note given for, § 78, p. 189
Pleading,
Disaffirmance, § 116, p. 326
Infancy, § 116, p. 325
Note given for necessaries, § 116, p. 327
Promise to pay as release or waiver of error, § 126, p. 363
Right of action on note, § 104, p. 266, n. 98
Binding out children by societies for care and protection, § 18
Bodily needs, article supplying as necessaries, § 78, pp. 190, 191
Bona fide purchasers,
Disaffirmance as against, § 43, p. 106; § 51, p. 124
Deeds, § 51, p. 123
Exchanged property, § 47, p. 117
Title affected by, § 47, p. 116
Estoppel of infant against, § 26, p. 87, n. 54
Grantees of guardian ad litem purchasing infant's property, § 111, p. 305, n. 69
Leasehold, § 69
Notice of sale of realty under order of court, failure to give affecting, § 66, p. 149
Personalty, purchase from purchaser, § 56
Bona fide purchasers—Continued,
Property of infant transferred under valid contract, § 75, p. 179
Ratification affecting rights of, § 51, p. 123
Realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 155
Setting aside judgment, protection against, § 123, p. 354
Bonds,
Confession of judgment on, § 122, p. 345
Conveyance bond, § 50
Cost on appeal, § 126, p. 365
Family homes, § 7, p. 55, n. 86
Guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 298
Order directing giving, § 110, p. 297
Receiving payments on judgment, § 124, p. 361
Infants' bonds, § 76, p. 180
Lease, proceedings for, § 69
Mortgage, proceedings for order, § 68
Necessaries, liability on bond given for, § 78, p. 189
Next friend, § 110, p. 298
Failure to give affecting right to receive payment of judgment, § 124, p. 360
Receiving payments on judgments, § 124, p. 361
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 367
Security for costs, § 127, p. 369
Nonresident awarded custody of neglected child, § 100, p. 259, n. 91
Person outside jurisdiction of court awarded custody of child, § 7, p. 58
Sale of realty, person conducting, § 65
Setting aside sale for failure to give, § 66, p. 153
Special guardian in proceedings to sell realty, premium as item of cost, § 67
Withdrawing money collected on judgment paid into court, § 124, p. 361
Breach of bond of person conducting sale of realty, § 65
Breach of contract,
Liability for tortious breach, § 89
Negligence consisting in, liability for, § 91, p. 207
Breach of warranty, liability in tort for, § 89
Bridal outfit as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Briefs, striking brief of guardian ad litem, § 126, p. 364
Building and loan associations,
Disaffirmance of purchases financed by association, § 47, p. 112
Stock subscription, § 86, n. 52
Building and loan deposits, § 34, n. 58
Burden of proof,
Action by or against, § 117, pp. 330, 331.
Age in proceeding to determine whether infant should be proceeded against as delinquent, § 98, p. 239
Capacity to commit crime, § 96, p. 217
Criminal prosecutions, generally, § 96, pp. 216, 217
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 248, 249
Error in appellate court, § 126, p. 367
Invalidity of order adjudicating delinquency or dependency, § 101

Burden of proof—Continued,
Nonexpenditure of consideration for release, § 76, p. 183
Prosecutions for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 75
Qualifications of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 295, n. 11
Ratification of antenuptial settlement, § 55
Setting aside or vacating judgment, § 123, pp. 358, 359
Validity of contract, § 71, p. 164; § 73
Business, articles used for business as necessaries, § 78, p. 190
Business contracts, §§ 81, 82, pp. 197–199
Caddying as unlawful employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 2
Cancellation,
Judgment, action for, § 123, p. 356
Mortgage, disaffirmance of, § 47, p. 118
Option to lessee to purchase, § 69
Parent's naturalization, guardian ad litem to protect infant's interest, § 108, p. 278, n. 32
Policy, avoidance of agent's cancellation, § 76, p. 181
Capacity to acquire and alienate property, § 36
Capacity to commit crime, § 95
Evidence, § 96, p. 218
Instructions, § 96, pp. 219, 220
Presumption of, § 96, pp. 216, 217
Question for jury, § 96, p. 219
Capacity to contract, § 71, pp. 160–164
Emancipation affecting capacity, § 30, p. 98
Capacity to sue and be sued, § 103
Capital cases, jurisdiction of juvenile court to try, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
Caption of delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 240, n. 2
Carnal knowledge of male infant, § 11, p. 64
Case made, service on attorney, § 126, p. 366
Cash surrender value, recovery on disaffirming contract, § 76, p. 182
Caveat emptor doctrine applicable to purchaser of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 155
Census reports as evidence of age, § 117, p. 331
Certificate of title, surrender on disaffirmance of purchase of truck, § 47, p. 114, n. 81
Certificates accompanying petition in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
Certiorari for review,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 253, 257
Judgment, § 126, p. 363
Judgment awarding custody, § 8, p. 60
Chambers of court,
Hearing proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Protective powers over property exercised at, § 57, n. 96
Change of venue of delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Charter of vessel, validity of contract, § 76, p. 185
Chattel mortgages. Mortgages, generally, post.
Checks, § 79, pp. 194–196
Plea of infancy, § 116, p. 325
Child labor, § 12, pp. 65–69
Evidence in prosecution for violating law, § 16, p. 78
Indictment negativing exceptions, § 16, p. 74, n. 5
Child-placing agencies, repeal of juvenile court's authority, § 6, p. 54, n. 61
Child-placing licenses, abolition of authority to issue, § 5, p. 52, n. 46
Children's court division of domestic relations court as criminal court, § 6, p. 55, n. 71
Children's courts, jurisdiction of delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Chronometers as necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Cigarette dealer's bond, recovery on bond for sale to child, § 11, p. 64, n. 89
Circuit courts' jurisdiction of delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Circumstantial evidence,
Capacity to commit crime, § 96, p. 218
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 77
Ratification, § 117, p. 332
City's liability for mother's pension, § 10, p. 61, n. 55
Civil law, emancipation under, § 28, p. 91
Civil nature of delinquency proceedings, § 99, pp. 240, 241
Claim and delivery, plea of infancy as defense, § 47, p. 114
Cleaning machinery as unlawful employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
Clerical errors,
Affidavit proving notice of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Order appointing guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 298
Clerk of court, power to appoint guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288
Clothing,
Failure to furnish as cruelty, § 14
Necessary, § 78, p. 190
Co-defendants,
Admissions by adult co-defendant, § 117, p. 331
Compensation of guardian ad litem, liability for, § 112, p. 310
Costs in action against infant suing with adults, § 127, p. 369
Judgment void as to infants as valid as to adult co-defendants, § 122, p. 340
Reversal of judgment as to adult co-defendant, § 126, p. 369
Service of process on parent, guardian, etc., as co-defendants, § 115, p. 318
Waiver of objection of failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 283
Collateral attack,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 109, p. 287; § 110, p. 299
Judgments, decrees, or orders, § 123, pp. 354, 355, 356
Awarding custody, § 8, p. 60
By or against infant, § 120, pp. 340–342
Delinquency or dependency, § 101
Failure of next friend, to perform duties, § 111, p. 302, n. 30
Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Fraud as ground, § 123, pp. 351, 358
Removing disabilities of minority, § 30, p 94, n. 56; § 30, p. 98
Rendered without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 108, pp. 279, 281

Collateral attack—Continued,
Judgments, decrees, or orders—Continued,
Rendered without process or service, § 115, pp. 316, 320
Sale of realty, § 64, p. 147
Mortgage under order of court, § 68
Sale for less than appraised value, § 64, p. 146
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, pp. 150, 154
Collection of proceeds of infant's claim by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 302
College education as necessary, § 78, p. 191
Collusion,
Ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 350
Setting aside judgment obtained by, § 123, p. 356
Cologne as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Commissioner in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Appointed to conduct sale, § 66, p. 151
Powers of, § 66, p. 157
Commitment, § 96, pp. 222–225
Bond for release, § 76, p. 180
Infant lunatic, right to avoid property transaction, § 43, p. 107
Juvenile delinquents and dependents, §§ 97–102, pp. 225–265
Warrant of commitment stating age, § 96, p. 221
Committing magistrate, juvenile court as, § 96, p. 213, n. 52
Commonwealth as party in proceedings for sale of realty, § 64, p. 140, n. 21
Compensation,
Attorneys, ante
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, pp. 305–310
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Competition, injunction against violation of agreement not to compete, § 85, p. 201
Complaint,
Action by or against infant, § 116, pp. 320, 324–327
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Evidence in prosecution for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 76, n. 17
Impeachment or avoidance of judgment, § 123, pp. 357, 358.
Injunction against execution, § 125
Service on guardian ad litem, § 115, p. 318
Compromises and settlements, § 80
Attorney's power, § 114, p. 313
Consent judgment following compromise, § 122, p. 344
Dismissal of action based on settlement, § 118
Guardian ad litem's power, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 361
Litigation, court's power to authorize, § 105
Next friend's power, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Parent's petition for approval by court, § 108, p. 276, n. 27
Ratification by infant, § 74, p. 165
Compulsion affecting criminal liability, § 94
Concealment of age, pleading, § 116, p. 326
Conclusiveness,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 299
Judgments or decrees, § 122, pp. 339–345
Appointment of next friend, § 109, p. 286
Authorizing lease, § 69
Awarding custody, § 8, p. 59
By or against infant, § 122, pp. 339–345
Delinquency or dependency, § 101
Infant represented by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 300
Rendered after attainment of majority, § 115, p. 320
Rendered without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 286
Sale of realty, § 64, p. 147
Judicial emancipation, § 30, pp. 97–99
Return of process, § 115, p. 319
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 154
Service of process, § 115, pp. 319, 320
Concurrent jurisdiction to order sale, § 62
Condition of estate, petition alleging in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 142
Conditions of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Conditions precedent,
Action for relief after disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 178
Action to impeach or avoid judgment, § 123, p. 356
Appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, pp. 288, 289
Avoidance of contract, § 75, pp. 174–176
Disaffirmance of conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 124
Injunction suit against execution, § 125
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Return or tender of consideration or property on disaffirming property transaction, § 46, p. 109
Conditional ratification of contract, § 74, p. 165
Conditional sales,
Title on disaffirmance, § 47, p. 116, n. 10
Title vesting in purchaser from infant, § 47, p. 111
Conditional substitution of party, § 106, p. 275, n. 7
Confession of infant sustaining adjudication of delinquency, § 99, p. 249, n. 29
Confession of judgment, § 122, p. 345
Infant's power to give warrant to confess, § 23, n. 23
Setting aside, § 123, pp. 352, 359
Confinement of accused infant during trial, § 96, p. 219
Confirmation,
Mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Sale of personalty, § 70
Sale of realty, § 66, pp. 151, 152.
Not previously ordered, § 66, p. 152
Purchaser's liability relating to proceeds affected by lack of confirmation, § 66, p 157
Settlement and satisfaction of judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 361

Conflict of laws, § 20
Persons who shall represent minors, § 109, p. 283
Congregating at gaming places as offense, § 15
Consent,
Attorney, § 114, p. 312
Court,
Compromise or settlement by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Election by guardian ad litem or next friend for infant, § 111, p. 300
Defense to prosecution for taking indecent liberties, § 11, p. 64, n. 80
Guardian ad litem, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Sale curing defects in notice of application to sell, § 64, p. 143
Infant or guardian to order for sale, § 61
Infant to reference, § 119, p. 338
Marriage affecting emancipation, § 29, pp. 92, 93
Next friend, post
Other person to avoidance of property transaction, § 43, p. 105
Parents,
Emancipation proceedings, § 30, p. 95, n. 75
Permitting minors to frequent gaming places, § 15
Playing certain games, § 15
Parents, etc., to conveyance of property by emancipated child under civil law, § 28, p. 91
Person appointed to act as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 297
Violation of rights, § 26, p. 88
Consent judgments and decrees,
Adverse interest of next friend taking consent judgment, § 122, p. 345
Attorney without authority agreeing to consent judgment, § 122, p. 345
By or against infant, § 122, pp. 343–345
Collateral attack, § 122, p. 341
Direct attack on, § 123, p. 356
Guardian ad litem's liability for consenting to, § 111, p. 301, n. 28
Relief against, § 123, p. 350
Rendered without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 281, n. 54
Return of consideration as condition precedent to setting aside, § 123, p. 354
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Setting aside or vacating, § 122, p. 344; § 123, pp. 352, 354
Bill in nature of bill of review, § 123, p. 356, n. 39
Bill of review to set aside, § 123, p. 355, n. 26
Grounds for, § 123, p. 351
Consideration,
Employment contract, § 85, p. 201
Mortgage without consideration as void, § 51, p. 121
Note, recitals as to consideration as binding on infant, § 79, p. 195
Presumption of, § 117, p. 329, n. 64
Ratification,
Contract, § 74, p. 166
Retention or disposal as constituting, § 74, p. 169
Conveyance by retaining, § 51, p. 122
Mortgage by receiving, § 51, p. 123
Consideration—Continued,
Ratification—Continued,
Property transactions, § 40, p. 104
Retention or disposal as constituting, § 40, p. 104
Recovery on disaffirmance of property transactions, § 42
Adult party, § 75, p. 179
Consideration for purchase furnished by adult, § 47, p. 118
Infant, § 75, p. 177
Restoration on disaffirming,
Compromise or settlement, § 80
Condition precedent to action for relief after disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 178
Contract, generally, § 75, pp. 174–176
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, pp. 124, 125
Married female infant, § 51, p. 128
Employment of attorney, § 76, p. 185
Partnership agreement, § 82
Property transaction, generally, § 46, pp. 108–110
Purchase, § 47, pp. 113–116
Release, § 76, p. 183
Restoration on setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 353; § 123, p. 359, n. 83
Tender on disaffirming,
Compromise or settlement, § 80
Contract, § 75, pp. 177–179
Mortgage or conveyance, § 51, p. 124
Property transaction, § 45; § 46, p. 109
Want of consideration as defense, § 104, p. 266
Constables, power to act as, § 24
Constitutional provisions,
Courts' powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Guaranties inapplicable in delinquency case, § 97, p. 226, n. 81; § 99, p. 240
Constitutionality of statutes,
Age of majority of females, § 2; § 36, n. 72
Appointment of guardian to represent unborn child, § 108, p. 277, n. 28
Control and custody, § 7, p. 55, n. 86
Delinquents, dependents and neglected children, § 97, p. 225
Denying trial in prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 73
Determination whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 234, n. 59
Exclusive jurisdiction in delinquency cases, § 99, p. 243, n. 54
Exempting children from criminal laws, § 98, p. 232
Juvenile court act, § 6, p. 54
Mothers' pensions laws, § 10
Construction of judgment by or against infant, § 120
Construction of statutes,
Care and protection of child, § 4
Contributing to dependency or delinquency of child, § 13
Cruelty to child, § 14
Delinquent, dependent and neglected children, § 97, pp. 225–228
Employment, § 12, p. 65

Construction of statutes—Continued,
Exempting children from criminal laws, § 98, p. 232
Jurisdiction to order sale, § 62
Juvenile courts, § 6, p. 54
Mothers' pensions laws, § 10
Protecting health or morals, § 11, p. 65
Removing disabilities of infancy on marriage, § 29, p. 93
Constructive service of process on infant, § 115, p. 315
Contempt, appellate court's jurisdiction to find delinquent child's parent in, § 99, p. 255
Contingent estate or interest,
Guardian ad litem's power to relinquish, § 111, p. 304, n. 47
Sale under order of court, § 61
Continuance,
Appointment of next friend, § 110, p. 290
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, review of rulings, § 99, p. 256
Contracts, §§ 71–86, pp. 160–202
Action on contracts by or against infant, § 104, pp 263, 267
Burden of proving matters in avoidance, § 117, p. 330
Criminal responsibility affected by incapacity to contract, § 94
Disaffirmance, generally, post
Emancipation as removing minor's incapacity to contract, § 28, p. 91
Fraud, post
Law governing, § 20
Nonsuit in action on, § 118
Pleading misrepresentation of age, § 116, p. 326
Presumption,
Knowledge of defects, § 117, p. 329, n. 54
Person entering into contract is adult, § 117, p. 330
Purchase, § 47, p. 111
Disaffirmance, § 47, pp. 112–118
Sale of property, § 50
Torts connected with, §§ 89–91
Contributing to delinquency or dependency of child, § 13
Evidence, § 16, pp. 76, 77
Indictment and information, § 16, p. 74
Instructions, § 16, p. 79
Issues and proof, § 16, p. 75, n. 9
Jurisdiction of prosecution, § 16, p. 73, n. 94
Question for jury, § 16, p. 79, n. 42
Sentence, § 16, p. 80
Conversion,
Bailed goods, liability for, § 89, n. 84
Intermeddler with infant's property, § 35, n. 61
Refusal to return personalty after disaffirmance of sale, § 56
Conveyances. Deeds and conveyances, generally, post
Co-owners as persons who may secure order for sale, § 61
Coram nobis, relief against judgment by writ, § 123, pp. 351, 356
Corporate employee's liability for violation of child labor law, § 12, p. 68
Corporations for care and protection of children, § 18
Correction of sentence, § 96, p. 221
Corroboration of evidence in prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 78, 79
Costs,
Actions by or against, § 127, pp. 369–371
Appeal by infants, § 126, p. 365
Delinquency and dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 257
Fees of attorney for guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, p. 307
Proceedings for sale of realty, § 67
Proceedings to vacate judgments, § 123, p. 359
Co-tenants,
Disability of one co-tenant affecting limitations against another, § 32
Infant as, § 33
County courts,
Jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Estate, § 57
Order for sale, § 62
Powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
County jail, commitment of infant offender to, § 96, p. 222, n. 57
County judge, service of petition for removal of disabilities of minority on judge, § 30, p. 96
County's liability for support of dependent child, § 9
Court officer appointed as guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 292
Courts,
Allowances or compensation for guardian ad litem or next friend, court in which made, § 112, pp. 306–308
Custody, care and control, powers relating to, §§ 5–7, pp. 51–58
Duty to protect infants, § 19
Election, exercising infant's right, § 25
Juvenile courts, generally, post
Sale, power to authorize, § 62
Caveats as necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Creditors' right to avoid assignment by infant, § 49
Crimes, §§ 93–102, pp. 210–265
Capacity to commit crime, generally, ante
Contract in course of committing, § 71, p. 160, n. 27
Delinquency statute applicable to children growing up in crime, § 98, p. 228
Delinquents, juvenile offenders as, § 98, pp. 232–239
Dependent child as criminal, § 98, p. 230
Criminal jurisdiction of juvenile courts, § 6, p. 55
Criminal law, exemption of juvenile offenders from, § 98, pp. 232–239
Criminal nature of delinquency proceedings, § 99, pp. 240, 241, 243
Cross-bill, cross-complaint or cross-action,
Cost of bill filed by infant, § 127, p. 370
Defense of infant, § 116, p. 321
Dismissal of, § 118
Guardian ad litem, necessity for appointment, § 100, p. 285
Guardian ad litem or next friend,
Maintainable by, § 109, p. 284
Right to defend, § 110, p. 288, n. 95

Cross-bill, cross-complaint or cross-action—Continued.
Reinstatement by appellate court, § 126, p. 369
Service of process on infant, § 115, p. 315, n. 15
Cruelty to children, § 14
Evidence, § 16, p. 78
Questions for jury, § 16, p. 79, n. 42
Society for prevention, § 18
Curative statutes,
Sales of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 153
Validating judgments rendered without personal service, § 115, p. 316
Curator ad bona abolished, § 107, n. 26
Curator ad hoc,
Appointment of, § 110, p. 288
Defined, § 107
Curator ad litem defined, § 107
Curtesy, joinder of infant wife in conveyance for purpose of releasing, § 63
Custody, §§ 4–18, pp. 50–81
Delinquent or dependent, procedure affecting, § 99, pp. 239–257
Guardian ad litem in actions regarding, § 108, p. 278, n. 33
State control and custody, § 31
Damages,
Injury to land, right to maintain action for, § 104, p. 267
Personal injuries, § 104, pp. 268–270
Credit of consideration for release, § 76, p. 183
Torts, § 92
Dancing as prohibited employment, § 12, p. 67, n. 7
Dangerous employment prohibited, § 12, p. 67
Day in court to show cause against judgment after attaining majority, § 123, p. 349
Death,
Guardian ad litem or next friend as abating action, § 113
Infant,
Disaffirmance of property transaction after, § 43, p. 107
Privileges extending to personal representative after, § 19
Parent abating delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Death sentence, § 96, p. 223
Debts,
Acknowledgment of debt as constituting ratification, § 74, p. 168
Ancestor's debts, generally, ante
Bond of person conducting sale of realty to pay, § 65
Evidence of necessity of selling realty, to pay, § 64, p. 145
Necessaries, exceeding income, § 78, p. 188, n. 19
Partnership debts, § 82
Petition alleging debts in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 142
Sale under order of court for purpose of paying, § 63; § 64, p. 139
Decisions reviewable in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 254
Declarations,
Accused infant as evidence of age, § 96, p. 218, n. 95
Action by or against infant, § 116, pp. 324–329
Declarations—Continued,
Ownership of property, § 26, p. 87
Ratification of contract, § 74, pp. 167, 168
Decrees. Judgments and decrees, generally, post
Deeds and conveyances, § 51, pp. 120–129
Acceptance by infant, § 41, p. 110
Authority of law, conveyances under, §§ 59, 60
Decree for conveyance of land, § 122, p. 345
Delivery of deed to infant, § 47, p. 110
Disaffirmance, § 51, pp. 123–127
Estoppel to disaffirm affected by misrepresentation as to age, § 27, p. 89
Evidence,
Admissible under pleadings, § 116, p. 328, n. 37
Intelligence in determining time for disaffirming, § 117, p. 332
Married infant, § 51, p. 128
Mortgage disaffirmed by executing deed after majority, § 51, p. 126
Trust property held by infant as trustee, § 37
Emancipated female minor, § 29, p. 92
Gift, § 53
Grantee, infant as, § 47, p. 110
Mining claims and locations, § 51, p. 121
Order of court, conveyances under, §§ 61–70, pp. 135–160
Partition deeds, § 51, p. 129
Ratification, § 51, pp. 122, 123
Married infant's conveyances, § 51, p. 128
Recording deed to infant as delivery, § 47, p. 110
Sale under order of court in contravention of deed, § 61
Trust property held by infant as trustee, § 37
Void or voidable, § 51, pp. 120, 121
Infant spouse, § 51, p. 127
Deeds of trust executed by, § 52
De facto officer, infant acting as, § 24
Default in proceedings to declare child abandoned, § 100, p. 262
Default judgments, § 122, pp. 342, 343
Collateral attack on, § 122, p. 341
Discretion of court to avoid, § 123, p. 346
Laches affecting relief against, § 123, pp. 348, 349
Relief against, infancy as ground, § 123, p. 350
Setting aside or vacating, § 122, p. 342; § 123, p. 352; § 123, p. 355, n. 20
Defenses against, § 123, p. 353
Minority of wife, § 29, p. 92, n. 31
Defects in sale of realty under order of court,
Cured by confirmation, § 66, p. 152
Vitiating order for sale, § 64, p. 139
Defending criminal prosecution in person, § 96, p. 214
Defenses, § 116, pp. 320–323
Contracts, actions on, § 104, p. 266
Contributing to dependency or delinquency, § 13
Court's duty to see that proper defenses are made, § 105
Cruelty, § 14, n. 58
Pleading and proving in proceedings to set aside judgment, § 123, pp. 358, 359
Relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 352–354
Deficiency in quantity of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 156

Definitions, § 1
- Any other place, § 11, p. 64, n. 81
- Child, § 11, p. 64, n. 80
- Dangerous machinery, § 11, p. 67, n. 11
- Delinquent child, § 13, p. 71, n. 57
- Dependent child, § 13, p. 71, n. 57
- Indecent liberties, § 11, p. 63, n. 80
- Juvenile court, § 6, p. 53
- Machinery, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
- Occupation, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
- Steam machinery, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
- Work, § 12, p. 67, nn. 5, 7

Delegation of legislative authority to remove disabilities, § 28, p. 91

Delegation of state's authority to control and custody, § 7, p. 55

Delinquent children,
- Attainment of majority, § 2, n. 15
- Contributing to delinquency or dependency of child, generally, ante
- Defined, § 98, p. 229
- Distinguished from,
  - Dependent child, § 98, p. 230
  - Incorrigible child, § 98, p. 230
  - Neglected child, § 98, p. 231
- Juvenile court's jurisdiction, § 6
- Juvenile delinquents and dependents, commitment of, generally, post.
- Societies for care and protection, § 18

Delivery,
- Deed to,
  - Infant, § 47, p. 110
  - Purchaser of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 152
- Gift to infant donee, § 47, p. 119

Demand,
- Action for relief after disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 178
- Prosecution of action requiring demand by next friend, § 111, p. 300

Demurrer,
- Application for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
- Defense of infancy raised by, § 116, p. 323
- Joint plea of infancy, § 116, p. 325
- Objection raised by,
  - Appointment of next friend, § 109, p. 286
  - Incapacity to sue, § 108, p. 282
  - Irregularity of appointment of next friend, § 108, p. 282, n. 76
  - Name of guardian ad litem, § 106, p. 274, n. 99
  - Person representing infant, § 116, p. 325
  - Qualifications of next friend, § 110, p. 292
- Waiving objection of failure to file affidavit of right of next friend to sue, § 109, p. 286

Demurrer to evidence raising objection to appointment of next friend, § 109, p. 286

Dependent children,
- Contributing to delinquency or dependency of child, generally, ante
- Defined, § 98, pp. 229, 230
- Delinquent child, dependent child as, § 98, p. 229, n. 5
- Juvenile delinquents and dependents, commitment of, generally, post
- Societies for care and protection, § 18

Dependent children—Continued,
- Support, § 9

Depositions in actions by or against, § 117, p. 332

Deposits in bank,
- Infant, deposits by, § 34
- Payments received on judgment, § 124, p. 361
- Recovery by infant partner, § 82
- Right of action by infant to recover, § 104, p. 266, n. 99
- Statute relieving against disability, § 28, p. 91, n. 6
- Time deposit as loan, § 84, n. 20

Deposits in building and loan association, § 34, n. 58

Deposits in court,
- Money collected on judgment, § 124, p. 361
- Remand by appellate court for direction to deposit money in, § 126, p. 369

Depreciation,
- Payment for depreciation on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 114, 115
- Property exchanged, seller's liability for depreciation on disaffirmance, § 47, p. 117

Deputy clerk of court, power to appoint guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288

Deputy county clerk, infant holding office of, § 24

Deputy sheriff, power to act as, § 24

Description,
- Parties in actions by or against, § 106, p. 274
- Real property or interest to be sold,
  - Notice of application for sale, § 64, p. 144
  - Notice of sale under order of court, § 66, p. 149
  - Order or decree for sale, § 64, p. 147
  - Petition, § 64, pp. 142, 143
  - Setting aside sale for misdescription, § 66, p. 153
  - Variance between description in referee's report and petition, § 64, p. 146
- Realty and interest in petition for order to mortgage, § 68.

Designation of parties in action by or against, § 106, p. 274

Dilatory plea,
- Infancy as, § 116, p. 325
- Time for filing by guardian ad litem, § 116, p. 322

Directed verdict in action by or against infant, § 119, p. 337

Disabilities generally, §§ 19–30, pp. 81–99

Disaffirmance,
- Acquisition or alienation of property, §§ 42–46, pp. 105–110
- Actions, ante
- Acts constituting disaffirmance,
  - Contract, § 75, p. 174
  - Conveyance or mortgage, § 51, pp. 125–127
  - Property transactions, § 45
  - Purchase, § 47, p. 113
- Administrator's sale, § 46, pp. 109, 110
- Adult parties to purchases, rights and liabilities on disaffirmance, § 47, p. 118
- Adult's contract for benefit of infant, § 76, p. 185
- Agent's contract, § 76, pp. 184, 186
- Assignment,
  - Insurance policy, § 76, p. 182
  - Right to disaffirm property transaction, § 43, p. 106

Disaffirmance—Continued,
Bill or note, § 79, pp. 195, 196
Bona fide purchasers, ante
Building and loan deposit, § 34, n. 58
Business contracts, § 81
Cancellation of mortgage, § 47, p. 118
Compromises and settlements, § 80
Compulsory contract of adult, § 76, p. 184
Consideration, generally, ante
Contracts, disaffirmance in general, § 71, pp. 160, 161; § 75, pp. 170–179
Deeds and conveyances, ante
Deposits in bank, § 34, n. 57
Depreciation, payment for depreciation on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 114, 115
Election between ratification and avoidance, § 73
Election to disaffirm, § 38
Employment contract, § 76, p. 185; § 85, p. 201
Endorsement of note, § 79, pp. 195, 196
Estoppel to disaffirm, § 26, pp. 87, 88
False representation as to age, § 27, pp. 88–90
Lease, § 54
Married female from disaffirming conveyance, § 51, p. 128, n. 14
Property transactions, § 43, p. 106
Purchase, § 47, p. 112
Evidence, § 117, p. 333, n. 24
Exchange of property, § 47, p. 117
Executed contracts, post
Fiduciary acts, § 21
Insane infant's committee, right to avoid property transaction, § 43, p. 107
Insurance contracts, § 76, pp. 181, 182
Intent to disaffirm purchase, § 47, p. 113
Interest on money paid seller, § 47, p. 117
Joint contracts with adults, § 76, p. 186
Sale, § 50
Joint property transactions with adults, § 43, p. 106
Joint purchases by infant and adult, § 47, p. 118
Judgment rendered without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 282, n. 73
Lapse of time as ratification,
Property transactions, § 40, p. 104
Purchase, § 47, p. 112
Lease to infant, § 47, pp. 118, 119
Loans, § 84
Marriage settlements and antenuptial contracts, § 55
Married infant's conveyance or mortgage, § 51, pp. 127, 128
Misrepresentation of age affecting right, § 90, n. 93
Mortgages, post
Necessaries, executory contract for, § 78, p. 188
Notice of disaffirmance of property transactions, § 45
Partial disaffirmance, § 38
Contracts, § 73
Property transaction, § 43, p. 105
Purchase, § 47, pp. 111, 112
Partnership agreements, § 82
Persons who may disaffirm property transactions, § 43, pp. 106, 107
Pleading, § 116, p. 326
Disaffirmance—Continued,
Price, recovery by infant on disaffirmance, § 47, pp. 116, 117
Privies' right to disaffirm property transactions, § 43, p. 106
Purchases, § 47, pp. 112–118
Personalty, § 47, p. 110
Question for jury, § 119, p. 337
Ratification,
Conveyance or mortgage,
Lapse of time without disaffirming, § 51, p. 123
Precluding disaffirmance, § 51, p. 123
Reinstating disaffirmed conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 125
Disaffirmed contract, § 75, p. 177
Failure to disaffirm, § 74, p. 169
Ratified contract, § 74, p. 170
Reasonable time for disaffirming, post
Releases, § 76, p. 183
Mortgage, § 47, p. 118
Rent, post
Rescission of disaffirmance of property transaction, § 42
Return of property on disaffirming,
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, pp. 124, 125
Property transactions, § 46, pp. 108–110
Purchase, § 47, pp. 113–116
Right of action to disaffirm, § 104, p. 267
Right to avoid property transactions, § 43, pp. 105–107
Rights of infants on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 116, 117
Sale,
Personalty, § 56
Saloon, § 78, p. 190
Sale under special or private acts, § 60
Satisfaction of mortgage, § 47, p. 118
Subscription to stock, § 86
Tender,
Property on disaffirmance of property transaction, § 46, p. 109
Property purchased as condition to disaffirmance, § 47, p. 114
Time, post
Title reinvested on disaffirming purchase, § 47, p. 116
Tortious use or disposition of property after, § 89, n. 79
Use of property, payment for use on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 114, 115
Vendor's lien on disaffirmance of joint contract with adult, § 47, p. 118
Withdrawal of disaffirmance of property transaction, § 42
Written instrument disaffirming property transaction, § 45
Discharge,
Delinquency proceedings as barring subsequent proceedings, § 101
Delinquent child from custody, § 100, p. 261
Encumbrances,
Mortgage to raise funds to discharge, § 68
Sale under order of court for purpose of, § 63
Next friend from liability, § 113

Discontinuance of action on becoming of age, § 113
Discretion of court,
Adjournment of delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Adjudication of age in proceedings to determine whether infant should be proceeded against as delinquent, § 98, p. 238
Application for sale of realty, § 64, p. 145
Appointment,
Attorney for infant in probate proceedings, § 114, p. 312
Guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288
Bond of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 298
Compensation and allowances of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, pp. 306, 308, 309
Confirmation of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Costs, § 127, pp. 370, 371
Allowance to infant, § 127, p. 369
Custody, § 7, pp. 56, 57
Disposition of child in proceedings for custody or commitment, § 100, p. 258
Duration of custody or commitment of dependent or delinquent child, § 100, p. 261
Public or private sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Punishment, § 96, p. 222, n. 57; § 96, p. 223, nn. 59–61; § 96, p. 224
Rehearing in equity, § 119, p. 336
Relief against judgment, § 123, p. 346
Removal,
Disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 97
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Reopening delinquency or dependency proceedings for further evidence, § 99, p. 250
Review of rulings, § 126, pp. 367, 368
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 256
Separate trials in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Suspension of criminal proceedings, § 98, p. 234, n. 58
Time for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 290
Transfer of criminal proceedings to juvenile court, § 98, p. 237
Dismissal,
Action by or against infant, § 118; § 119, p. 337
Appeal, § 126, pp. 364–366
Proceedings for custody or commitment, § 99, pp. 255, 256
Delinquency proceedings as bar to subsequent proceedings, § 101
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem or next friend, § 108, p. 282
Failure to file affidavit of right of next friend to sue, § 109, p. 286
Disposal of property or consideration as constituting ratification,
Property transaction, § 40, p. 104
Purchase, § 47, p. 111
Dissolution of partnership containing infant member, § 82
Guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 278, n. 31
District courts,
Jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Estate, § 57
Proceedings to remove disabilities, § 30, p. 94, n. 69
Powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Divorce,
Child of divorced parents as dependent, § 98, p. 230
Juvenile court divested of jurisdiction relating to custody, § 99, p. 243
Notice to parent of criminal prosecution against divorced minor, § 96, p. 215, n. 70
Doli incapax, plea of, § 96, p. 215, n. 73
Domestic relations courts, jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Prosecution for contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 95
Domicile or residence,
Evidence of nonresidence in proceedings for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 97, n. 4
Jurisdiction,
Custody and control, § 5
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 244, 245
Juvenile court dependent on, § 6, p. 55
Mothers' pensions affected by, § 10
Removal of disabilities dependent on, § 30, pp. 94, 95
Status governed by, § 20
Dormancy statute affecting judgment for infant, § 122, p. 340
Dower, joinder of infant husband in conveyance for purpose of releasing, § 63
Driver's license, suspending for traffic violations, § 100, p. 258, n. 82
Due action as terminating authority of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Duress,
Instructions on defense in criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 219, n. 18
Ratification of contract obtained under, § 74, p. 166
Earning power, right to recover damages for impairment, § 104, pp. 268, 269
Economic condition of person desiring custody considered in determining interest of child, § 7, p. 57, n. 98
Education,
Judicial allowance for, § 58
Necessaries, § 78, pp. 191, 192
Burden of proof, § 117, p. 330, n. 79
Question for jury, § 119, pp. 337, 338
Sale under order of court for purpose of, § 63; § 64, p. 139
Ejectment,
Action by or against, § 104, p. 267
Conclusiveness of judgment rendered after attainment of majority, § 115, p. 320
Pleading disaffirmance of conveyance, § 116, p. 326
Showing cause against judgment in, § 123, p. 348, n. 24

Election,
- Avoidance,
  - Acquisition of property, § 36
  - Contract, § 71, pp. 162, 163
- Guardian ad litem or next friend for infant, § 111, p. 300
- Mode of trial of criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 219
- Power of exercising right of, § 25
- Ratification or avoidance, §§ 38, 73
- Remedies, right of action dependent on election, § 104, p. 266

Electrical instruction course as necessary, § 78, p. 192
Eligibility to public office or employment, § 24
Emancipation, §§ 28–30, pp. 90–99
- Disaffirmance of contract of purchase by emancipated infant, § 47, p. 112
- Judicial emancipation, § 30, pp. 93–99
- Marriage, emancipation by, § 29, pp. 91–93
- Questions for jury, § 119, p. 336, n. 54
- Ratification of contract after, § 74, p. 166, n. 93
- Recovery for services rendered by emancipated child, § 85, p. 201
- Right of action by emancipated child for impairment of earning capacity or loss of services, § 104, p. 269

Employee of infant, service of process on, § 115, p. 317
Employment,
- Certificate, § 11, pp. 67, 68
- Contracts, § 85, pp. 200–202
  - Capacity to make, § 76, p. 185
- Evidence in prosecution for violating regulations, § 16, p. 78

Employment,
- Gaming places, § 15, n. 68
- Indictment and information for violating child labor law, § 16, p. 74, n. 5
- Regulation of, § 12, pp. 65–69

Encumbrances,
- Emancipation under civil law, § 28, p. 91
- Mortgage of property to raise funds to discharge, § 68
- Necessaries, § 78, p. 194
- Order of court, § 68
- Proceeds of sale of realty sold under order of court applied to pay, § 66, p. 156
- Sale under order of court,
  - Encumbered property, § 61
  - Purpose of discharging, § 63

Endorsement of note, § 79, pp. 195, 196
Engaged in business defined, § 81
Enticing female child into disorderly house, § 11, p. 64
Entitling delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 240, n. 2
Entry,
- Default judgment, § 122, p. 342
- Infant as disaffirmance of deed, § 51, pp. 126, 127
- Judgment or decree, § 121

Equitable conversion,
- Court's power to authorize, § 57, n. 5
- Infant's property, § 31

Equitable estate or title,
- Jurisdiction to order sale of, § 62
- Person purchasing realty under order of court, § 66, p. 152
- Sale under order of court, § 61

Equitable nature of delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 240
Equitable principles as basis of disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 170
Equities affecting disaffirmance, § 43, p. 106
Equity,
- Action to set aside judgment, § 123, p. 356
- Capacity to sue and be sued in equity, § 103
- Confirmation by equity court of sale of realty not previously ordered, § 66, p. 152
- False representation as to age as estopping infant, § 27, p. 89
- Infant as party in suits, § 106, pp. 273, 274
- Infant as ward of equity court, § 7, p. 56
- Jurisdiction,
  - Custody, care and control of infant, § 5, pp. 51, 52
  - Property, § 57
  - Removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 94
  - Sales or conveyances, ordering or authorizing, §§ 62, 63
    - Purpose of reinvesting proceeds, § 63
- Lease of property, power to authorize, § 69
- Mortgages, authority to order, § 68
- Parties in suits by or against infants, § 103, pp. 273, 274
- Presumption of jurisdiction of proceedings for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 97, n. 20
- Proceedings to remove disability of minority as equitable case, § 30, p. 94
- Real party in action by or against infant, § 106, p. 273
- Rehearing in equity, § 119, p. 336
- Relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 348, 352
- Relief in equity on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
- Restoration of child to parents after termination of commitment, § 100, p. 261
- Sale of personalty, power to authorize, § 70
- Setting aside sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 154
- Showing cause against judgment after attaining majority, § 123, p. 349
- Transfer of proceedings for custody to, § 99, p. 259

Escape from correctional institution, § 100, p. 261, n. 18
Estates,
- Intermeddling with, § 35
- Jurisdiction of courts over, §§ 57, 58
- Sale under order of court, § 61
- Application of doctrine to infant, §§ 26, 27, pp. 86–90
- Claim of benefit of statute requiring written ratification, § 74, p. 166
- Consent judgment, estoppel to set aside, § 123, p. 354
- Deed to realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 152
- Deny validity,
  - Contract, § 75, p. 171
  - Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 153
- Disaffirmance, ante
- Emancipation decree as estopping minor, § 30, p. 99
- Error on appeal, estoppel to allege, § 126, p. 367

Estates—Continued,
Evidence of estoppel against infant, § 117, p. 332
False representation as to age as estopping infant to claim disabilities, § 27, pp. 88–90
Insurance beneficiary by false warranties and representations by infant, § 76, p. 181
Judgment against infant, estoppel to attack, § 123, p. 352
Order declaring child abandoned, estoppel to attack, § 101, n. 55
Partition deeds, § 51, p. 129
Pleading estoppel to assert defense of infancy, § 116, p. 326
Question for jury as to estoppel of setting up minority, § 119, p. 336, n. 55
Recovery of installments paid on disaffirmed settlement, § 80
Right of infant to assert against adult, § 26, p. 88
Sue on same cause after dismissal, § 118
Surety on bond of person conducting sale of realty, § 65
Evidence,
Actions by or against, § 117, pp. 329–334
Admissibility under pleadings, § 116, pp. 328, 329
Age in proceedings to determine whether infant should be proceeded against as delinquent, § 98, p. 239
Answer under oath as, § 116, p. 327
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, pp. 217, 218
Review of harmless error, § 96, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 248–250
Estoppel against infant, § 26, p. 87
Fee of guardian ad litem, reasonableness of, § 112, p. 307
Guardian ad litem appointed after introduction of, § 110, p. 291
Judgment supported by, § 120
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 75–79
Ratification of employment contract, § 85, p. 202
Referee or master in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 97
Included in judgment, § 30, p. 98, n. 23
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 256, 257
Dependent on record, § 126, p. 367
Vacating or setting aside judgment, § 123, pp. 358, 359
Weight of evidence as question for jury in prosecutions for violations of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 79
Examination of infants before trial, § 117, p. 332
Exception,
Answer of infant by guardian, § 116, p. 323
Grounds of review in lower court, § 126, p. 363
Juvenile court preserving right to review, § 99, p. 254
Master's report, time for taking, § 119, p. 338
Report of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Exchange of property,
Disaffirmance of contract affecting liability for value of property traded in, § 47, p. 118, n. 30
Jurisdiction to sell authorizing exchange, § 62
Presumption of value of property exchanged on disaffirmance of contract, § 47, p. 117, n. 19
Return of property on disaffirmance of contract, § 47, p. 117
Rights on disaffirming contract, § 47, p. 117
Exclusive jurisdiction,
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 213, n. 51; § 96, p. 214
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 242, n. 32; § 99, p. 243
Ordering sale, § 62
Proceedings to determine whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 235
Executed contracts,
Disaffirmance, § 71, p. 161; § 73
Purchase contracts, § 47, p. 112
Restoration or recovery of consideration, § 75, pp. 176, 177
Time of, § 75, p. 172
Ratification, § 73; § 74, pp. 168, 169
Services, § 85, p. 200
Voidable nature of, § 71, p. 162
Execution,
Deed to purchaser of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 152
Instruments, denial under oath, § 116, p. 327
Mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Execution to enforce judgment,
Action by or against, § 125
Judgment directing execution on movables, § 121
Executors and administrators,
Disaffirmance,
Endorsement, § 79, p. 195
Infant's contract, § 75, p. 171
Negotiable instrument by, § 79, p. 195
Property transaction by, § 43, p. 107
Ratification,
Infant's contract by, § 74, p. 166
Property transactions by, § 39
Revocation of gift of infant by, § 53
Executory contracts,
Disaffirmance, § 71, p. 161; § 73
Restoration of consideration, § 75, p. 176
Time of, § 75, p. 172
Necessaries, § 78, p. 188
Ratification, § 73; § 74, pp. 168, 170
Voidable nature of, § 81, p. 162
Exhibits,
Action against infant, showing removal of disabilities, § 116, p. 324
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
Ex parte petition for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 95
Expenses,
Attorney, reimbursement for, § 114, p. 313
Guardian ad litem or next friend, reimbursement for, § 112, p. 306
Property purchases, allowance on disaffirmance, § 47, p. 116

Expert testimony of mentality in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 218
Express ratification of property transactions, § 40, p. 103
Extension of time for sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Extra costs in proceedings to sell realty, § 67
Extra-hazardous employment prohibited, § 12, p. 57
False imprisonment, release of infant as defense to action for, § 76, p. 183, n. 44
False pretenses, capacity to commit, § 94
False representations. Fraud, generally, post
False return of process, § 115, p. 319
False warranties and representations in application for insurance, defense in action on infant's policy, § 76, p. 181
Family, liability for necessaries furnished to, § 78, p. 187
Family homes, bond of, § 7, p. 55, n. 86
Family meeting,
  Place of sale of realty fixed by, § 66, p. 150
  Required to declare necessity of sale of infant's realty, § 64, p. 145
Fear, commission of crime under fear, § 94
Federal Employees' Liability Act,
  Action by next friend on behalf of infant, § 109, p. 284, n. 9
  Right of action for damages under, § 104, pp. 270, 271, nn. 39, 46
Feeble minded child, delinquency statute applicable to, § 98, pp. 228, 229
Felonious intent as element of offense, § 95
Felony if committed by adult considered misdemeanor when committed by infant, § 94
Females,
  Age of majority, § 2
  Married infants, post
Fertilizers for infant's father's benefit as necessaries, § 78, p. 190, n. 47
Fictitious person appointed as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 292
Fiddle and fiddlestrings as necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Fiduciary, purchase of realty sold under order of court by, § 66, p. 151
Fiduciary capacity, disaffirmance of acts performed by infant in, § 21
Filing judgment or decree removing disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 97
Final appealable orders in proceedings for custody or commitment, § 99, p. 254
Final judgment, commitment of delinquent child considered as, § 102
Financial responsibility of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 292
  Irresponsibility as ground for removal, § 113
Findings,
  Action by or against infant, § 119, p. 338
  Appeal in prosecutions for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, consideration, § 16, p. 80
  Conclusiveness on appeal in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 256
  Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 220
  Custody of child, proceedings relating to, § 101
  Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 251, 252
Findings—Continued.
  Review of, § 126, p. 368
Flag, child refusing to salute as dependent or neglected child, § 13, p. 71, n. 57
Food,
  Failing to furnish as cruelty, § 14
  Necessary, § 78, p. 190
Foreclosure,
  Appeal from, § 126, p. 362
  Bill of review to set aside decree of, § 119, p. 336
  Mortgages,
    Complaint in action against infant, § 116, pp. 323, 324
    Equal in amount to value of property, § 61
    Infancy as defense, § 51, p. 122
    Infant's property, § 51, pp. 121, 122
    Ordered by court, § 68
    Pleading,
      Action against infant to foreclose, § 116, pp. 323, 324
      Ratification, § 116, p. 327
    Purchaser's title acquired before disaffirmance of purchase, § 47, p. 116, n. 8
  Reference to master in action against infant, § 119, p. 338
  Trust deed executed by infant, § 52
Forfeiture of compensation by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 112, p. 306
Forgery of consent of parents to play pool, § 15, n. 88
Form of remedy for review, § 126, p. 362
Forma pauperis, appeal in, § 126, p. 365
Formal answer,
  Action against infant, § 116, p. 323
  Verification of, § 116, p. 327
Fraud,
  Age, representations as to. Age, generally, post
  Application for removal of disabilities of minority containing fraudulent allegations, § 30, p. 96, n. 83
  Collateral attack on ground of fraud, § 123, p. 351
  Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 154
  Consent judgment obtained by, § 122, p. 344
  Consideration recovery by infant disaffirming fraudulent contract, § 75, pp. 178, 179
  Contracts,
    Disaffirmance barred by, § 75, p. 170
    Fraud of infant, § 71, p. 164
    Intent to defraud hirer as offense, § 94
    Sale contract, § 50
    Tort, § 90
  Decree of delinquency, § 101, n. 60
  Defense in prosecution for violating child labor law, § 12, p. 69
  Estoppel of infant by, § 26, pp. 86–88; § 27, pp. 88–90
  Partnership agreement induced by, § 82
  Payment to next friend of judgment fraudulently obtained, § 124, p. 361
  Purchase obtained by infant's fraud, § 47, p. 111
  Return of property or consideration on disaffirming fraudulent property transaction, § 46, p. 109
  Return of service of process, § 115, p. 319

'aud—Continued,
Setting aside judgment obtained by, § 123, pp. 346, 348, 350, 352, 356–358
Judgment allowing fee to guardian ad litem, § 112, p. 308
Setting aside sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 153
Taking advantage of infancy to perpetrate, § 19
Tort, liability for, § 90
riends as parties in proceedings to remove disabilities, § 30, p. 95, n. 80 ugitive from justice, jurisdiction of juvenile offender affected by, § 99, p. 244 undamental error requiring reversal, § 126, p. 366 unds, allowances of guardian ad litem or next friend payable out of, § 112, pp. 309, 310 urniture as necessary, § 78, p. 193 ambling contracts, § 83
ambling with minors, § 15
ames, permitting minors to play as offense, § 15
aming places, permitting minors to frequent, § 15
eneral issue or general denial,
Admitting infancy, § 116, p. 329
Appointment of next friend, § 109, p. 286
Evidence of differences under, § 116, p. 329
Execution of instruments, § 116, p. 327
Guardian ad litem, § 116, p. 322
Proof admissible under, § 116, p. 328
ift,
Acquisition of property by, § 47, p. 119
By infant, § 53
ood faith,
Defense in prosecution for violating child labor law, § 12, p. 60
Right to avoid affected by, § 75, p. 170
Property transaction, § 43, p. 105 rand jury proceedings against delinquent child, § 96, p. 212, n. 50
randparents,
Acceptance of gift to infant donee, § 47, p. 119
Appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 293 ross negligence, liability for, § 91, p. 207
uardians,
Ad litem. Guardians ad litem, gnerally, post
Antenuptial contracts made through, § 55
Assignment of policy, revocation dependent on appointment, § 76, p. 182
Consent,
Engaging in business, § 81
Order for sale, § 61
Court as guardian,
Accused infant, § 96, p. 214, n. 55
Delinquent, dependent or neglected child, § 101
Proceedings relating to property, § 57
Criminal prosecutions, appointment in, § 96, p. 215
Disaffirmance,
Contract, § 75, p. 171
Property transactions by, § 44
Dismissal of action brought against wishes of guardian, § 118
Emancipation by marriage removing disability to sue without, § 29, p. 92
Funds, payment by next friend to, § 111, p. 300
Guardians—Continued,
Hearing in proceedings relating to custody or commitment, § 99, p. 249
Intermeddler treated as, § 35
Necessaries,
Consent of guardian affecting liability for, § 78, p. 188, n. 14
Liability affected by guardian furnishing, § 78, pp. 187, 188, 192
Notice to guardian,
Application for order to mortgage realty, § 68
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 247
Prosecution against infant, § 96, p. 215
Order for sale of property secured by, § 61
Nature of proceedings, § 64, p. 139
Parental emancipation as removing inability to sue without guardian, § 28, p. 91
Party in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Payment of judgment to, § 124, p. 360
Removal of general guardian on appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288
Restoration of consideration by guardian on avoidance of property transaction, § 46, p. 109
Sale of realty under order of court conducted by, § 66, p. 150
Satisfaction of judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 360
Service,
Notice of application for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend on, § 110, p. 296
Process,
Guardian, service on, § 115, pp. 316–318
Infant in presence of guardian, § 115, p. 315
Statute discharging guardian on marriage of ward as removing disabilities of infancy, § 29, p. 93
Torts committed by order or authority of, § 87, p. 203
Waiver of right of appointment, § 26, p. 88, n. 74
Guardians ad litem,
Abatement of action on death, § 113
Absent infant defendants, § 108, p. 279
Acceptance of appointment, § 110, p. 297
Acknowledgment of consent to act, § 110, p. 297
Admissions by, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Binding on court, § 122, p. 343, n. 57
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Adverse interest,
Disqualifying, § 110, p. 294
Right to compensation, § 112, p. 306
Affidavits,
Allowance of fee, § 112, p. 307
Proceedings for appointment, § 110, pp. 296, 297
Allowances, § 112, pp. 305–312
Amendment of petition for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Answer, § 116, pp. 321, 322, 324
Proceedings for order to sell realty filed by, § 64, p. 144

Guardians ad litem—Continued,
Answer—Continued,
Verification of, § 116, p. 327
Appeal, § 126, pp. 364, 365
Appointment, appeal from, § 110, p. 290, n. 24; § 110, p. 298
Authority terminated by appeal, § 113
During minority, § 126, p. 366
Duty to appeal, § 111, p. 302; § 126, pp. 362, 363
Appearance,
Acceptance of appointment, § 110, p. 297, n. 43
Appellate court, § 126, p. 364
Appointed before service of process, § 110, p. 288, n. 95
Before appointment, § 110, p. 295
Effect, § 111, p. 300
Appellate court, allowance for services in, § 112, p. 308
Application for appointment, § 110, pp. 291, 295, 296
Appointment, § 109, pp. 285–287; § 110, pp. 287–299
Appeal, appointment on, § 126, pp. 364, 365
General guardian, appointment as, § 110, p. 292
New trial for failure to appoint in time, § 110, p. 335
Parties entitled to complain on appeal of failure to appoint, § 126, p. 367
Pleading, § 116, pp. 324, 325
Pleading and proof, § 116, p. 329
Presumptions of regularity on appeal, § 126, p. 367
Proof of, § 116, p. 329
Reversal for failure to appoint, § 126, p. 368
Review,
Failure to appoint, § 126, p. 363, n. 41
Moot question relating to, § 126, p. 367
Rulings dependent on record, § 126, p. 366
Setting aside judgment for failure to appoint, § 123, p. 352
Variance between pleading and proof, § 116, p. 329
Arbitration, power to submit to, § 111, p. 300
Attorneys, ante
Authority, § 111, pp. 299–305
Representing infant, § 109, pp. 283–287
Termination of, § 113
Bond, § 110, p. 298
Order directing giving of, § 110, p. 297
Payment of judgment conditioned on giving, § 124, p. 361
Clerical error in order of appointment, § 110, p. 298
Co-defendants' waiver of objection of failure to appoint, § 108, p. 283
Collateral attack on appointment, § 109, p. 287; § 110, p. 299
Collection of proceeds of infant's claim, § 111, p. 302
Commissioner taking deposition of infant, guardian acting as, § 117, p. 332
Compensation, § 112, pp. 305–310
Attorney, power to contract for payment, § 111, pp. 304, 305
Guardians ad litem—Continued,
Compensation—Continued,
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Compromise and settlement, power to, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Conclusiveness,
Appointment, § 110, p. 299
Judgment, § 122, p. 340
Rendered without appointment, § 109, p. 286
Condition precedent to appoint, § 110, pp. 288, 289
Conflict of laws as to persons who shall represent minors, § 109, p. 283
Conflicting appointments, § 113
Consent,
Infant to appointment, § 209, p. 285
Person appointed to act, § 110, p. 297
Power to give, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Consent judgment or decree,
Binding on court, § 122, p. 343, n. 57
Liability for consenting to, § 111, p. 301, n. 28
Contempt for nonpayment of costs by guardian, § 127, p. 370, n. 34
Costs, liability for, § 127, pp. 370, 371
Court officer appointed as, § 110, p. 292
Criminal prosecution, appointment in, § 96, pp. 214, 215
Cross-bill, cross-complaint or cross-action, § 109, pp. 284, 285; § 110, p. 288, n. 95
Death abating action, § 113
Defense, duty to defend, § 116, pp. 321, 322
Defined, § 107
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, appointment in, § 99, p. 245
Demurrer raising objection, § 116, p. 325
Name, § 106, p. 274, n. 99
Deposit in bank of money received in payment of judgment, § 124, p. 361
Deposition,
Infant taken in presence of, § 117, p. 332
Notice of taking served on, § 117, p. 332
Dilatory pleas, time for filing, § 116, p. 322
Disaffirmance of contract by, § 75, p. 171
Discharge of judgment in favor of infant by, § 124, p. 360
Dismissal,
Failure to appoint, § 108, p. 282
Infant's appeal by, § 126, p. 364
Duties, § 111, pp. 299–305
Election for infant, § 111, p. 300
End of suit as terminating authority, § 113
Evidence,
Duty to preserve in record, § 117, p. 334
Reasonableness of fee, § 112, p. 307
Expenses, reimbursement for, § 112, pp. 305–310
Extra compensation, § 112, p. 309
Failure to appoint, effect of, § 108, pp. 279–281
Financial responsibility of, § 110, p. 292
Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Forfeiture of compensation, § 112, p. 306
General denial,
Filed by, § 116, p. 322
Putting in issue execution of instruments, § 116, p. 327
Governor authorized to appoint, § 109, p. 283

Guardians ad litem—Continued,
Joinder in answer filed by other defendants, § 116, p. 322
Judgment,
Not entered in name of guardian, § 121
Relief against judgment for improper representation, § 123, p. 350
Representation by guardian curing failure to serve process, § 115, pp. 316, 317
Vacation or setting aside,
Appointment without service, § 123, p. 351, n. 73
Failure to appoint, § 123, p. 352
Failure to make active defense, § 116, p. 321
Judgment allowing fee, § 112, pp. 307, 308
Judgments and decrees,
Failure to appoint affecting, § 108, pp. 279–281
Failure to make defense or file report as affecting, § 120
Irregularities in proceedings for appointment affecting, § 110, p. 295
Jurisdiction to appoint, § 110, p. 287
Knowledge as binding on infant, § 111, p. 300
Leave of court to settle or compromise claims, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Letters of guardianship, § 109, p. 287
Lien for services, § 112, p. 310
Loss of right to object to failure to appoint, § 108, p. 283
Married female infants, § 108, pp. 278, 279
Married woman appointed as, § 110, p. 292
Motion,
Allowance of fees, § 112, p. 307
Appointment, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Motives, § 111, p. 300
Name of guardian, suits not brought or defended in, § 106, p. 274
Necessity for representation, § 108, pp. 276–283
Neglect, liability for, § 111, p. 301
New trial for failure to appoint in time, § 119, p. 335
Next friend distinguished, § 107
Nomination by adverse party, § 110, pp. 292, 293
Nonresident aliens, § 110, p. 288, n. 95.
Nonresident infants, § 108, p. 279; § 109, p. 284, n. 9
Nonsuit for failure to appoint, § 108, p. 282
Notice,
Appeal, § 126, p. 366
Application,
Allowance of attorney's fees, § 114, p. 313, n. 89
Appointment, § 110, p. 296
Proceedings to sell realty, cured by appointment or consent, § 64, p. 143
Appointment, § 110, p. 298
Service on, § 115, p. 318
Taking deposition served on, § 117, p. 332
Nunc pro tunc appointment, § 110, p. 290
Curing failure to serve parents, § 115, p. 317, n. 43
Nunc pro tunc filing of bond, § 110, p. 298
Guardians ad litem—Continued,
Oath, § 110, p. 299
Objections,
Irregularities in proceedings for appointment, § 110, p. 295
Qualifications, § 110, p. 292
Option to bring suit by next friend or guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 284
Order of appointment, § 110, pp. 297, 298
Ore tenus application or suggestion for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Partition, § 109, p. 284, n. 9
Party,
Action by or against infant, § 106, pp. 272, 273
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, pp. 140, 141
Payments to, § 111, p. 299, n. 95; § 111, p. 302
Judgment, § 124, p. 360
Persons who may act as, § 109, p. 283
Persons who may apply for appointment, § 110, p. 291
Persons who may be appointed, § 110, pp. 291–294
Petition,
Allowance of fees, § 112, p. 307
Appointment, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Pleading representation, § 116, pp. 324–326
Powers, § 111, pp. 299–305
Premature appointment, § 110, p. 288
Presumptions,
Appointment, § 109, p. 287
Proof sustaining appointment, § 110, p. 295
Protection of infant's interests, § 122, p. 342
Regularity of appointment, § 109, p. 287
Sufficiency of proof to sustain appointment, § 110, p. 295
Validity of appointment, § 110, p. 299
Verification of answer of, § 116, p. 327
Probate proceedings, § 108, p. 279
Probation officer as, § 17
Proceedings for appointment, § 110, pp. 295–299
Property, custody of, § 111, p. 300
Protection of infant's interests, § 111, pp. 301, 302
Public guardian, § 109, p. 283
Purchase of infant's property by, § 111, p. 305
Qualifications, § 110, pp. 291–295
Record of appointment, § 109, p. 287
Reference, consent by guardian to, § 119, p. 338
Relatives appointed as, § 110, pp. 293, 294
Removal, § 113
Review of, § 126, pp. 367, 368
Representation by, §§ 107–113, pp. 275–311
Rescission of order of appointment, § 110, p. 298
Return of consideration paid to guardian in satisfaction of judgment before setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 353
Return of service of process, appointment after, § 110, p. 290
Review of rulings,
Appointment, § 126, pp. 367, 368.
Dependent on record, § 126, p. 366
Removal, § 126, pp. 367, 368
Satisfaction of judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 360
Second appointments, § 110, p. 288

Guardians ad litem—Continued,
Second guardian appointed in controversy respecting compensation of first guardian, § 112, p. 308
Selection by,
General guardian, § 110, p. 293
Infant, § 110, p. 293
Service,
Notice,
Appeal, § 126, p. 366
Application, § 110, p. 296
Taking deposition, § 117, p. 332
Process, failure to serve on infant cured by appointment, § 115, p. 315
Summons, complaint and notice, § 115, p. 318
Summons of appointment served on, § 110, p. 298
Setting aside sale of realty sold under order of court for failure to appoint, § 66, p. 153
Stay of appeal for nonpayment of costs by insolvent guardian, § 126, p. 365
Substitution of next friend for, § 106, p. 275
Supervision by court, § 105; § 111, p. 299
Termination of authority, § 113
Testamentary guardian appointed as, § 110, p. 292
Time,
Appointment, § 110, pp. 289–291
Pleading, § 116, p. 322
Unborn child, § 108, p. 277, n. 28
Unknown heirs, proceedings against, § 108, p. 279
Variance between pleading and proof as to appointment, § 116, p. 329
Verification,
Petition for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Pleadings by, § 116, p. 327
Waiver,
Infant's rights, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Objection of failure to appoint, § 108, pp. 282, 283
Objection to, § 116, p. 325
Process by, § 110, p. 288, n. 97
Safeguards of accused infant, § 96, p. 214
Service of summons on, § 115, p. 319
Written acceptance, § 110, p. 297
Withdrawal on failure to protect infant's interest, § 111, p. 301, n. 22
Guardianship of state, § 4
Guests in motor vehicle, liability for negligent injury, § 91, p. 207, n. 9
Guilty. Plea of guilty, generally, post
Habeas corpus proceedings to determine custody, § 8, p. 58
Harmless error,
Criminal prosecutions, § 86, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 256
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Harness as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Health, regulations for protection, §§ 11–16, pp. 62–80
Hearing,
Application to sell realty, designation of time in notice, § 64, p. 144
Confirmation of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 249–251
Hearing—Continued,
Petition for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 96, 97
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, pp. 145, 146
Heirs of infant,
Disaffirmance,
Ancestor's property transactions by, § 43, p. 107; § 44
Estoppel to disaffirm property transactions, § 43, p. 106
Infant ancestor's conveyance, § 51, p. 127
Infant's contract, § 75, p. 171
Hiring contracts, validity of, § 76, p. 185
Home, purchase as necessary, § 78, p. 191
Horse as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Hospital care, right of action by injured child to recover for, § 104, p. 270
Husband and wife,
Conveyances and mortgages of infant husband or wife, § 51, pp. 127, 128
Next friend of married female infant, § 110, p. 294, n. 79
Order for sale of property secured by husband, § 61
Illegitimate minor's proceedings for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 93, n. 52
Parties, § 30, p. 96
Implied contract to pay for necessaries, § 78, p. 189
Implied ratification,
Contract, § 74, pp. 167, 168
Partnership agreements, § 82
Property transactions, § 40, p. 103
Improvements,
Mortgage of property to raise funds to make, § 68
Necessary, § 78, p. 193
Purchaser from infant, allowance for on disaffirmance, § 51, p. 125
Realty sold under order of court, allowance to purchaser on restoration of realty to infant, § 66, p. 156
Improvidence as ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 352
Imputed negligence, liability for negligence under doctrine of, § 91, pp. 207, 209.
Inadequate price,
Refusing sale of realty, § 66, pp. 151, 152
Setting aside sale of realty under order of court, § 66, pp. 153, 154
Income,
Allowance for support and maintenance made out of, § 58
Petition alleging in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 142
Incorrigible children,
Defined, § 98, p. 230
Delinquency statute applicable to, § 98, p. 228
Proceedings against as criminal, § 98, p. 234, n. 58
Transfer of criminal prosecution against from juvenile to criminal courts, § 98, p. 236, n. 65; § 98, p. 237
Indecent liberties with children, § 11, p. 63
Evidence, § 16, pp. 76, 77
Instructions, § 16, p. 79
Question for jury, § 16, p. 79, n. 42

Independent status of juvenile courts, § 6, p. 54
Indian minor's proceedings for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 93, n. 52
Indictment and information,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 246
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 74, 75
Industrial schools or farms, commitment to, § 96, pp. 223, 224; § 100, p. 263
Infancy defined, § 1
Information and belief, averring removal of disabilities, § 116, p. 324
Injunction,
Bond, ratification of, § 76, p. 180, n. 93.
Enforcement of contract for personal services, § 85, pp. 201, 202
Enforcement of judgment, § 123, p. 357; § 125
Issued without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 281, n. 63
Irreparable injury by infant lessee, infancy as defense, § 47, p. 119
Marriage of female under bail in delinquency proceedings, § 98, p. 231, n. 37
Injustice as ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 351
Innocence, presumption of, § 96, p. 216
Inns, liability for entertainment furnished at, § 76, p. 184, n. 64
In personam, order adjudicating delinquency or dependency, § 101
In rem proceedings,
Determination of custody, § 8, p. 58
Necessity for appointment of guardian ad litem before service of process, § 110, p. 289
Order for sale, § 64, p. 139
Insane infant's committee, right to avoid property transaction, § 43, p. 107
Insanity of husband affecting right to mother's pension, § 10, p. 61, n. 57
Inspection determining age in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 218
Instructions,
Action by or against infant, § 119, pp. 336–338
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, pp. 219, 220
Review of failure to give, § 96, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 79
Insurance,
Change of beneficiary as revoking assignment of policy, § 76, p. 182
Contracts, § 76, pp. 180–182
Election by infant beneficiary to avoid or affirm, § 76, p. 182
False representations and warranties by infant affecting beneficiary, § 76, p. 181
Releases of claims under insurance contract, § 76, p. 183
Intent,
Abandonment of child, § 98, p. 228
Capacity to entertain criminal intent, § 95
Child labor law violations, § 12, p. 68
Contributing to dependency or delinquency, § 13
Intent—Continued,
Disaffirmance,
Property transaction, § 45
Purchase, § 47, p. 113
Evidence of criminal intent, § 96, p. 218
Indecent liberties, § 11, p. 63, n. 80
Injuries, § 88
Lewd and lascivious acts on body of child, § 11, p. 63, n. 79
Ratification,
Contract, § 74, pp. 167, 168
Conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 122
Property transactions, § 40, p. 105
Interest,
Infant's liability for, § 71, p. 164
Paid seller on disaffirming purchase, § 47, p. 117
Ratification by payment of,
Contract, § 74, p. 168
Mortgage, § 51, p. 122
Intermeddling with infants' estates, § 35
Intervention,
Proceedings to remove disabilities, § 30, p. 95, n. 80
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 140
Inventions, employment contract agreeing to assign, § 85, p. 200, n. 24
Investigation,
Determination of custody, § 8, p. 59
Judgment or decree by consent or confession against infant, § 122, pp. 343, 344
Setting aside judgment for failure to investigate, § 123, p. 352
Misrepresentation of age, § 27, p. 90, n. 92
Investments,
Court's powers to authorize, § 57, n. 5
Proceeds of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Irregularities in sale of realty under order of court,
Effect of, § 66, p. 154
Purchaser's rights, § 66, p. 155
Issues,
Actions by or against, § 116, pp. 328, 329
Consent judgment outside issues, § 122, p. 345
Issues and proof in prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 75
Jail, commitment of delinquent female pending proceedings, § 100, p. 263
Janitor, employment as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Joinder of infant wife,
Deed or conveyance, § 51, p. 127
Husband's mortgage, § 68
Joinder of parties,
Actions by or against, § 106, pp. 273, 274
Appellees in proceedings relating to custody, § 99, p. 253
Guardian ad litem or next friend, necessity affected by joinder of adult, § 108, p. 278
Husband,
Appointment of wife as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 292
Infant married female, § 108, p. 279
Impeachment or avoidance of judgment, § 123, p. 357
Infant in application for order for sale of property, § 61

Joinder of parties—Continued,
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 140
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 95
Joint adventures, contract to enter into, § 76, p. 186
Joint answer in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Joint contracts with adults, § 76, p. 186
Purchase, vendor's lien on disaffirmance, § 47, p. 118
Sale, § 50
Joint decree, § 121
Joint enterprise in operation of vehicle, liability, § 91, pp. 208, 209, n. 1018
Joint mortgage with adult, § 51, p. 121, n. 91
Joint note of infant and adult, § 79, p. 195
Joint order for sale of realty, § 64, p. 147
Joint owners,
Persons who may secure order for sale, § 61
Sale under order of court for purpose of dividing proceeds among, § 63
Joint plea of infancy, § 116, p. 325
Joint property transaction with adult, right to disaffirm, § 43, p. 106
Joint purchases by infant and adult, § 47, p. 118
Joint settlement contracts with adult, § 80
Joint torts, liability for, § 87, p. 203
Judgments and decrees,
Accounting on vacation of judgment, § 123, p. 359
Actions by or against, §§ 120–125, pp. 338–362
Answer to sustain, § 116, p. 321
Appearance by attorney, defects affecting validity, § 114, p. 312
Assignment by next friend of judgment to joint tort feasor, § 124, p. 360, n. 91
Bill of review to vacate, § 123, p. 351
Bona fide purchasers, relief against, § 123, p. 354
Bond of person receiving payment, § 124, p. 361
Burden of proof in proceedings to impeach or avoid, § 123, p. 358
Collateral attack, ante
Commitment of delinquent, dependent, or neglected child, § 102
Conclusiveness, ante
Condition precedent for relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Confession of judgment, generally, ante
Confirmation of settlement and satisfaction, § 124, p. 361
Consent judgments and decrees, generally, ante
Construction, § 120
Conveyance of land, decree for, § 122, p. 345
Costs in proceedings to revoke, § 123, p. 359
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, pp. 220–222
Curative statutes validating judgments rendered without personal service, § 115, p. 316
Custody, proceedings to determine, § 8, p. 59
Day in court, § 123, p. 349
Default judgments, generally, ante
Delinquency or dependency, adjudication of, § 101
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 252
Direct attack on, § 123, pp. 354–357
Dismissal of action after judgment, § 118, n. 29
Dormant judgments, § 122, p. 340
Entry, § 121
Entry of default judgment, § 122, p. 342
Equitable relief against, § 123, p. 348
Judgments and decrees—Continued,
Estoppel to attack, § 123, p. 352
Evidence in proceedings to impeach or avoid, § 123, pp. 358, 359
False return of process affecting validity, § 115, p. 319
Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Form, § 121
Fraud or error in decree, relief by infant against, § 104, p. 266
Fraud or neglect as ground for relief against, § 123, p. 350
Grounds for relief against, § 123, pp. 349–352
Guardians ad litem, ante
Infancy as defense in action on judgment, § 122, p. 340
Injunction against execution of judgments, § 125
Injustice or improvidence as ground for relief against, § 123, pp. 351, 352
Jurisdiction of proceedings to impeach, § 123, p. 357
Laches affecting relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 348, 349
Lease, judgment authorizing, § 69
Nature of proceedings for relief against, § 123, pp. 355, 356
Next friend, post
Nisi, entry nisi giving right to show cause after majority, § 123, p. 349
Notice of proceedings to avoid or impeach, § 123, p. 357
Parties in proceedings to impeach or avoid, § 123, p. 357
Payment, § 124, pp. 359–361
Payment into court, § 124, p. 361
Pleading in proceedings to impeach or avoid, § 123, pp. 357–359
Presumption of validity, § 122, p. 342
Consent judgment, § 122, p. 344
Proceedings for relief against, § 123, pp. 354–359
Process, judgment affected by failure to serve, § 115, p. 316
Parents, guardians, etc., § 115, p. 317
Question for jury in proceedings to impeach or avoid, § 123, p. 358
Relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 345–359
Remission by attorney, § 114, p. 312, n. 82
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 94, 97–99
Rendition, § 121
Reservation of right to show cause after majority, § 123, pp. 346–349
Return,
Consideration on setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 359, n. 83
Funds and property received as condition to relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Review of judgment against infant, action for, § 123, p. 346
Sale of realty, proceedings for, § 64, pp. 147, 148
Satisfaction, § 124, pp. 359–361
Service of summons in proceedings to avoid or impeach, § 123, p. 357
Setting aside or vacating, § 123, pp. 345–359
Allowing fee to guardian ad litem, § 112, pp. 307, 308
Appeal, judgment on, § 126, p. 368

Judgments and decrees—Continued,
Setting aside or vacating—Continued,
Appointment of guardian ad litem before granting motion, § 110, p. 290, n. 24
Emancipation judgment, § 30, p. 99
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, pp. 280, 281
Failure to interpose defense, § 116, p. 321
Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Showing cause against judgment after attaining majority, § 123, pp. 346–349, 351–355
Summary judgments against infant, § 120
Summons in proceedings to avoid or impeach, § 123, p. 357
Tender of funds and property received as condition to relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Time for application to show cause against or vacate judgment, § 123, pp. 346–349
Validity, § 122, pp. 330–345
Writ of error coram nobis for relief against, § 123, p. 351
Judicial allowance for support and maintenance, § 58
Judicial emancipation or removal of disabilities, § 30, pp. 93–99
Judicial notice,
Court's records in proceedings to restore committed child to parents, § 100, p. 262
Juvenile judge on appeal, § 99, p. 254
Junk, purchasing from minor as offense, § 11, p. 64
Jurisdiction,
Appellate jurisdiction in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 254
Avoidance or impeachment of judgment, § 123, p. 357
Collateral attack on judgment for want of jurisdiction, § 122, p. 341
Criminal or delinquent proceedings, determination, § 98, p. 235
Criminal prosecutions against, § 96, pp. 212–214
Custody, care and control, §§ 5–7, pp. 51–56
Jurisdiction dependent on notice, § 8, p. 59
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 242–245
Discharge of child from custody, § 100, p. 261
Equity, ante
Estates, jurisdiction of courts over, §§ 57, 58
Guardians ad litem or next friend, appointment of, § 110, p. 287
Health and morals, prosecution for violating regulations for protection of, § 16, pp. 73, 74
Juvenile courts, post
Lease of property, proceedings to order, § 69
Method by which jurisdiction over infant can be acquired, § 115, p. 314
Mother's pension, § 10
Objection to, mode of raising, § 116, p. 324
Presumption of jurisdiction on collateral attack of judgment, § 122, p. 342
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 94
Pleading jurisdiction, § 30, p. 96
Presumption of jurisdiction, § 30, pp. 97, 98
Sale, proceedings for, § 62
Personalty, § 70
Realty,
Collateral attack for want of jurisdiction, § 64, p. 147
Jurisdiction—Continued,
Sale, proceedings for—Continued,
Realty—Continued,
Pleading jurisdiction, § 64, p. 141
Waiver by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 304, n. 48
Want of jurisdiction as ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 351
Jury trial,
Appeal in delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 255
Criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 219
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Issue of age in proceedings to determine whether infant should be proceeded against as delinquent, § 98, p. 239
Waiver of, § 119, p. 335
Jury's authority to fix period of detention of delinquent child, § 100, p. 261
Justices of the peace,
Jurisdiction of prosecution for contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 94
Review of convictions by, § 96, p. 222
Justification as defense in prosecution for cruelty, § 14, n. 58
Juvenile courts, § 6, pp. 53–55
Appeal in prosecutions for violation of regulation for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Arrest of judgment, motion as within jurisdiction of, § 96, p. 221, n. 33
Capital cases, jurisdiction to try, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
Continuance of jurisdiction until delinquent reaches majority, § 100, p. 259
Judgment awarding custody, § 8, p. 60
Jurisdiction, § 6
Criminal prosecution, § 96, pp. 213, 214
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Determination whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 235
Violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 73, 74
Waiver, § 98, p. 234
Jurisdiction of proceedings to determine whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 235
Order of court for appliances or devices for child, § 9
Period of detention of delinquent child, power to fix, § 100, p. 261
Presumptions as to capacity to commit crime unaffected by juvenile court law, § 96, p. 217, n. 84
Remand of convicted infant to, § 96, p. 221
Suspension of proceedings in criminal court by referring prosecution to juvenile court, § 96, p. 214
Transfer of criminal case to, § 98, p. 237
Juvenile delinquents and dependents, commitment of, §§ 97–102, pp. 225–265
Accusation or application, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Appeal, § 99, pp. 252–257
Appellate jurisdiction, § 99, p. 254
Assignment of errors on appeal, § 99, p. 255
Children who may be committed, § 98, pp. 228–239
Costs of proceedings, § 99, p. 257

Juvenile delinquents and dependents, commitment of —Continued,
Dismissal or withdrawal of appeal, § 99, pp. 255, 256
Disposition of child, § 100, pp. 258–263
Findings, § 99, pp. 251, 252
Hearing, § 99, pp. 249–252
Judgment or decree, § 99, p. 252
Jurisdiction of proceedings, § 99, pp. 242–245
Notice of proceedings, § 99, pp. 246–248
Order, § 99, p. 252
Parties to proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Review of proceedings, § 99, p. 253
Pendency of juvenile proceedings as ground for abatement of criminal prosecution, § 94, n. 26
Preliminary inquiry to determine whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, pp. 234–239
Procedure affecting custody or commitment, § 99, pp. 239–257
Record on review of proceedings to commit, § 99, p. 255
Review of proceedings to commit, § 99, pp. 252–257
Supersedeas on review of proceedings, § 99, pp. 254, 255
Suspension of order or commitment, § 100, p. 260
Trial, § 99, pp. 249–252
Venue of proceedings, § 99, pp. 244, 245
Waiver of right to be treated as delinquent, § 98, pp. 233, 234
Juvenile judge, judicial notice on appeal, § 99, p. 254
Kid gloves as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Kidnapping, juvenile court's jurisdiction of prosecution, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
Kindred, joinder in proceedings for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 95
Knowledge,
Child labor law violation, element of offense, § 12, p. 69
Contributing to dependency or delinquency, element, § 13
Evidence of knowledge of infancy, § 117, p. 333, n. 24
Gaming,
Permitting minors to frequent gaming places, § 15
Permitting minors to play, § 15
Indictment alleging, § 16, p. 74, n. 5.
Guardian ad litem or next friend as binding on minor, § 111, p. 300
Infant as to bringing of suit, § 109, p. 285
Intention to apply for order of sale, § 61
Purchaser of defects in proceedings to sell realty, § 66, p. 155
Ratification affected by knowledge,
Contract, § 74, p. 166
Property transactions, § 40, pp. 103, 104
Unlawfulness of act, § 95
Laches, setting aside or vacating judgment, § 123, pp. 348, 349
Lapse of delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Lapse of time without disaffirming as ratification,
Conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 123
Property transactions, § 40, p. 104
Lapse of time without disaffirming as ratification— Continued,
Purchase, § 47, p. 112
Law governing, § 20
Leases,
By infant, § 54
Order of court, § 69
Ratification of conveyance by leasing land, § 51, p. 122
To infants, § 47, pp. 118, 119
Leave of court,
Action to avoid judgment, § 123, p. 356
Answer after judgment, § 116, p. 322
Compromise or settlement by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Next friend to bring action, § 111, p. 300
Petition for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 355, n. 25
Removal of child out of jurisdiction, § 7, p. 58
Suit in infant's name, § 109, p. 285
Legislative power,
Age of majority, § 2
Removal of disabilities, § 28, pp. 90, 91
Letter disaffirming property transaction, § 45
Letter of attorney, infant's power to execute, § 23
Letters of guardianship issued to guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 287
Lewd and lascivious acts on body of child, § 11, p. 63
Evidence, § 16, pp. 76, 77
Instructions, § 16, p. 79
Libel,
Liability for, § 88
Right to maintain action, § 104, p. 268
License,
Engaging in business, § 81
Guardian to sell realty as validating parent's contract, § 64, p. 147, n. 52
Liens,
Attorney for expenditures, § 114, p. 313
Consideration on disaffirmance of conveyance, § 51, p. 124
Determination in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Guardian ad litem for services, § 112, p. 310
Purchase money,
Paid by infant, § 47, p. 117
Realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Purchaser for improvements, taxes, etc. on disaffirmance of deed, § 51, p. 125
Sale under order of court,
Property encumbered by, § 61
Purpose of discharging, § 63
Life insurance, capacity to contract for, § 76, pp. 180, 181
Limitation of actions,
Disaffirmance within period of, § 75, p. 172
Property transaction, § 44
Emancipation by marriage permitting operation of statute, § 29, p. 92
Setting aside sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 154
Suspension during infancy, § 32
Time limitations begin to run, § 32
Limited or restricted order removing disabilities, § 30, p. 98
Liquor as necessary, § 78, p. 193

Loans, § 84
Insurer to insured infant, § 76, p. 181
Necessary, § 78, pp. 193, 194
Loco parentis, person contributing to dependency or delinquency, § 13
Lodging as necessary, § 78, pp. 190, 191
Loss of right to object to failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 283
Lost consideration, restoration or recovery on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, pp. 175, 177
Maintenance, §§ 9, 10, pp. 60–62
Judicial allowance for, § 58
Mortgage of property to provide, § 68
Pending determination of custody, § 8, p. 60
Realty as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Sale under order of court for purpose of, § 63; § 64, p. 139
Majority,
Age of, §§ 2, 3
Answer and defenses, affected by attainment pending action, § 116, pp. 322, 324
Appeal, prosecution on attainment of majority, § 126, p. 365
Costs, liability after attainment of majority, § 127, p. 371
Detention of delinquent child until majority is reached, § 100, p. 261
Disaffirming,
Property transaction, § 44
Purchase, § 47, p. 113
Emancipation by attainment of, § 28, p. 91
Estoppel creating status of majority, § 26, n. 52
Guardian ad litem's right to prosecute appeal after attainment, § 126, p. 365
Judgment avoided on attaining, § 123, p. 345
Law governing, § 20, n. 1
New trial for newly discovered evidence of, § 119, p. 336
Next friend's power to prosecute appeal after attainment, § 126, p. 365
Pleading new promise after obtaining, § 116, p. 327
Process affected by attainment pending action, § 115, p. 320
Proof of new promise after, § 116, p. 328
Ratification,
Lease by retaining possession after, § 47, p. 118
Property transactions after attainment, § 41
Setting aside irregular judgment after attainment, § 123, p. 346
Showing cause against judgment after attaining, § 123, pp. 346, 349
Supplemental bill required on attaining majority pending action, § 116, p. 324
Time for appeal after attaining, § 126, pp. 365, 366
Title vesting in infant on attainment, § 31
Malice, presumption of, § 96, p. 217
Malicious injuries, § 88
Malpractice suit, right of action for injuries to child before birth, § 104, p. 270, n. 49
Management of property, § 31
Manslaughter, juvenile court's jurisdiction of prosecution, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
Margin transactions, recovery of money deposited, § 76, p. 186
Marriage,
Contributing to delinquency by marrying female, § 13, p. 71, n. 57
Emancipation by, § 29, pp. 91–93
Limitations beginning to run on marriage of female minor, § 32
Marriage settlement, § 55
Married infants,
Delinquency statute applicable to, § 98, pp. 231, 232
Female infant,
Capacity to sue or be sued, § 103, n. 80
Contributing to delinquency, § 13, n. 42
Guardian ad litem or next friend,
Actions by or against married female infant, § 108, pp. 278, 279
In proceedings to foreclose mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Husband as next friend, § 110, p. 294, n. 79
Married Women's Acts as removing disabilities, § 29, p. 93
Notice to parent of criminal prosecution against, § 96, p. 215, n. 70
Married woman appointed as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 292
Master,
Inducing servant to lead life of prostitution, § 11, p. 64, n. 83
Liability for acts of servant in permitting minor to frequent gaming places, § 15
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Reference to master in action by or against, § 119, p. 338
Mayor, notice to mayor of prosecution against infant, § 96, p. 221
Mechanic's lien for infant's services, § 85, p. 201, n. 31
Medical treatment,
Burden of proving liability for, § 117, p. 331
County's liability for, § 9, n. 45
Court's power to order, § 11, p. 64
Failure to furnish as cruelty, § 14
Necessary, § 78, p. 191
Right of action by injured child to recover for, § 104, p. 270
Medicine as necessaries, § 78, p. 191
Medium of payment for realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 154
Mental capacity,
Choice of custodian, § 7, p. 58, n. 7
Evidence in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 218
Presumption on appeal in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 222
Mental suffering, right to recover for, § 104, p. 268
Mineral servitude, adverse possession against infant, § 32, n. 46
Mining claims and locations, conveyance by infant, § 51, p. 121
Minor defined, § 1
Minority defined, § 1
Misnomer,
Infant in action against, § 106, p. 274
Objection to, § 115, p. 314
Misrepresentations,
Age, ante.
Fraud, generally, ante.

Mistake,
- Description of property in petition in proceedings for sale of realty, § 64, p. 142
- Relief against judgment, § 123, p. 350
- Setting aside order allowing fee to guardian ad litem, § 112, p. 308
- Vacating judgment, § 123, p. 351

Mittimus directing commitment to public institution, § 102

Modification,
- Appellate court,
  - Judgment, § 126, p. 369
    - Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 257
  - Order of juvenile court, § 99, p. 255
  - Sentence, § 96, p. 222
- Findings in delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 252
- Judgment of foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
- Orders,
  - Custody, § 8, p. 59; § 100, p. 260
  - Sale of realty, § 64, p. 148

Moot questions on appeal, § 126, p. 367
- Dismissal of appeal in delinquency case, § 99, p. 255

Morals, regulations for protection, §§ 11–16, pp. 62–80

Mortgages, § 51, pp. 121–129
- See, also, Encumbrances, generally, ante
- Decree removing disabilities of minority affecting right to mortgage, § 30, p. 98, n. 31
- Disaffirmance, § 51, pp. 123–127
  - Against mortgagee, § 43, p. 106
  - Cancellation, satisfaction or release, § 47, p. 118
  - Deed by executing mortgage after majority, § 51, p. 126
  - Estoppel affected by misrepresentation as to age, § 27, p. 89
  - Mortgage of married infant, § 51, p. 128
- Emancipation by marriage removing disability to mortgage, § 29, p. 92
- Foreclosure, ante
- Fraudulent disposition of mortgaged property by infant as offense, § 94, n. 29
- Joinder of infant wife in mortgage of husband's property, § 59
- Necessaries, mortgage to secure payment of, § 78, p. 194
- Order of court, mortgage under, § 68
  - Jurisdiction to mortgage authorizing exchange, § 62
  - Persons who may secure order, § 61
- Ratification, § 51, pp. 122, 123
  - Married infant's mortgages, § 51, p. 128
- Right of infant to take, § 47, p. 118
- Sale of mortgaged property under order of court, § 61
- Void or voidable, § 51, p. 121
  - Infant spouse, § 51, p. 127

Mothers' pensions, § 10

Motions,
- Allowance of guardian ad litem's fees, § 112, p. 307
- Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 295, 296
- Relief against judgments, § 123, pp. 355, 356

Motive for avoidance of contract, § 75, p. 170

Motor vehicles. Automobiles, generally, ante.

Municipal court's jurisdiction of prosecution for contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 94

Murder,
- Capacity to commit, § 95, n. 46
- Evidence in prosecution for, § 96, p. 218, n. 4
- Instructions on lesser degrees, § 96, p. 220
- Jurisdiction of prosecution, § 96, p. 213, nn. 51, 52
  - Juvenile court, § 98, p. 233, n. 49
- Verdicts, § 96, p. 220, n. 25

Natural guardian, sale ordered on application of, § 61

Nature of remedy or proceedings,
- Action by adult party to contract against disaffirming infant, § 75, p. 179
- Custody, determination, § 8, p. 58
- Delinquency proceedings, § 99, pp. 240, 241, 243
- Disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
- Foreclosure of mortgage ordered by court, § 68
- Order for sale, § 64, p. 139
- Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 73
- Relief against judgments, § 123, pp. 355, 356
- Removal of disability of minority, § 30, p. 94
- Review, § 126, p. 362

Necessaries,
- Attorney's services, § 111, p. 305, n. 58
- Bond for release from commitment, § 76, p. 180
- Burden of proof, § 117, pp. 330, 331
- Contracts for, § 71, p. 162; § 78, pp. 186–194
- Defined, § 78, p. 189
- Employment contract on consideration of furnishing, § 85, p. 201
- Encumbrance for necessaries, § 78, p. 194
- Insurance contracts, § 76, p. 180
- Loan for purchase of, § 78, pp. 193, 194
- Pleading, § 116, p. 327
  - Negativing, § 116, p. 325
- Presumptions, § 117, p. 331
- Question of law or fact, § 119, p. 337
- Ratification of contract by promise to pay debt of father for, § 74, p. 168, n. 29
- What are, § 78, pp. 189–193

Necessary parties. Parties, generally, post

Necessity for sale under order of court,
- Evidence of, § 64, p. 145
- Pleading, § 64, p. 142

Neglect,
- Guardian ad litem, § 111, p. 301
- Next friend in allowing dismissal of action, § 118

Neglected children, § 98, pp. 230, 231
- Delinquent child, neglected child as, § 98, p. 229, n. 5
- Juvenile court's jurisdiction, § 6
- Proceedings for commitment, §§ 97–102, pp. 225–265
- Societies for care and protection, § 18

Negligence,
- Liability for, § 91, pp. 206–209

Negligence—Continued,
Right of action for negligent injuries, § 104, pp. 268–271
New promise, proof of new promise after majority, § 116, p. 328
New trial,
Actions by or against infant, § 119, pp. 335, 336
Appeal barred by new trial, § 126, p. 362
Appointment of guardian or next friend on hearing of motion, § 110, p. 290
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 280
Prosecution for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 73, n. 93
Newly discovered evidence,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Majority, as ground for new trial, § 119, p. 336
Setting aside judgment on ground of, § 123, p. 352
Newspapers, selling as prohibited employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 3.
Next friend,
Abatement of action on death, § 113
Acceptance of appointment, § 110, p. 297
Acknowledgment of consent to act, § 110, p. 297
Admissions by, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Adverse interest,
Consent to judgment, § 122, p. 345
Disqualifying, § 110, p. 294
Right to compensation affected by, § 112, p. 306
Affidavits,
Appeal in forma pauperis, filed by, § 126, p. 365
Proceedings for appointment, § 110, pp. 296, 297
Right to sue, § 109, p. 286
Allowances, § 112, pp. 305–312
Amendment of petition for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Appeal by, § 126, pp. 364, 365
During minority, § 126, p. 366
Appeal from appointment, § 110, p. 298, n. 60
Appearance in appellate court for infant, § 126, p. 364
Appellate court, allowance for service in, § 112, p. 308
Application,
Appointment, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Next friend for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 95
Appointment, § 109, pp. 285–287; § 110, pp. 287–299
Appeal, appointment, § 126, pp. 364, 365
Defect in order of appointment affecting judgment, § 121
Pleading, § 116, pp. 324, 325
Variance between pleading and proof, § 116, p. 329
Arbitration, power to submit to, § 111, p. 300
Assignment by judgment to joint tort feasor, § 124, p. 360, n. 91
Next friend—Continued,
Attorney, power to employ, § 23; § 111, pp. 304, 305
Attorney's fees, reimbursement for, § 112, p. 306
Authority, § 111, pp. 299–305
Representation, § 109, pp. 283–287
Termination of, § 113
Bond, § 110, p. 298
Failure to give affecting right to receive payment of judgment, § 124, p. 360
Payment of judgment conditioned on giving, § 124, p. 361
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 367
Security of cost, § 127, p. 369
Bringing suit against wishes and without knowledge of infant, § 109, p. 285
Collateral attack,
Appointment, § 110, p. 299
Judgment for failure to perform duties, § 111, p. 303, n. 30
Collection of proceeds of infant's claim, § 111, p. 302
Compensation, § 112, pp. 305–310
Attorney, power to contract for payment, § 111, pp. 304, 305
Compromise and settlement, power to, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Conclusiveness,
Appointment, § 110, p. 299
Judgment as to, § 122, p. 340
Consent,
Appointment, § 109, p. 285
Judgment by next friend having adverse interest, § 122, p. 345
Person appointed to act, § 110, p. 297
Power to give, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Sale, curing defects in notice of application, § 64, p. 143
Continuance on appointment of next friend, § 110, p. 290
Costs, liability for, § 127, pp. 370, 371
Courts, power to select, § 111, p. 300
Cross-bill, cross-complaint or cross-action, § 109, pp. 284, 285; § 110, p. 288, n. 95
Death abating action, § 113
Defined, § 107
Demand, prosecution of action requiring, § 111, p. 300
Demurrer raising objection to pleading representation, § 116, p. 325
Discharge from liability, § 113
Discharge of judgment in favor of infant by, § 124, p. 360
Dismissal,
Action brought by, § 118
Failure to appoint, § 108, p. 282
Failure to file affidavit of right to sue, § 109, p. 286
Duties, § 111, p. 299–305
Election for infant, § 111, p. 300
End of suit as terminating authority, § 113
Expenses, reimbursement for, § 112, pp. 305–310
Failure to appoint, effect of, § 108, pp. 279–281
Financial responsibility of, § 110, p. 292
Forfeiture of compensation, § 112, p. 306
Funds, disposition by, § 111, p. 300

Next friend—Continued,
Guardian ad litem distinguished, § 107
Judgments and decrees,
Defective entry of order of appointment affecting judgment against infant, § 121
Irregularities in proceedings for appointment affecting, § 110, p. 295
Not entered in name of, § 121
Relief against judgment for improper representation, § 123, p. 350
Jurisdiction to appoint, § 110, p. 287
Knowledge,
Binding on infant, § 111, p. 300
Intention of next friend to apply for order of sale, § 61
Leave of court,
Bring action, § 111, p. 300
Settle or compromise claims, § 111, pp. 302, 303
Married woman appointed as, § 110, p. 292
Motion for appointment, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Name of, suits not brought or defended in, § 106, p. 274
Necessity for representation, § 108, pp. 276–283
Neglect in allowing dismissal of action, § 118
Nonresident appointed as, § 110, p. 293
Nonresident infant, § 109, p. 284, n. 9
Nonsuit for failure to appoint, § 108, p. 282
Notice,
Application for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Appointment, § 110, p. 298
Nunc pro tunc appointment, § 110, p. 290
Objections,
Incapacity or defects in appointment, § 109, p. 286
Irregularities in proceedings for appointment, § 110, p. 295
Qualifications, § 110, p. 292
Option to bring suit by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 109, p. 284
Order for sale of property secured by, § 61
Nature of proceedings, § 64, p. 139
Order of appointment, § 110, pp. 297, 298
Ore tenus application or suggestion for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Party,
Action by or against infant, § 106, pp. 272, 273
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 140, n. 31
Payments to, § 111, p. 299, n. 95
Judgment to, § 124, p. 360
Persons who may act as, § 109, p. 283
Persons who may be appointed, § 110, pp. 291–294
Petition for appointment, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Pleading,
Action brought by, § 115, p. 320
Representation, § 116, pp. 324–326
Powers, § 111, pp. 299–305
Attorney, appointment, § 23
Proceedings for appointment, § 110, pp. 295–299
Proof of infancy in action brought by, § 116, p. 328
Property, custody of, § 111, p. 300
Protection of infant's interests, § 111, pp. 301, 302
Purchase of infant's property by, § 111, p. 305
Qualifications, § 110, pp. 291–295
Recognizance for cost, § 127, p. 371
Next friend—Continued,
Record of appointment, § 109, p. 286
Reimbursement for cost, § 127, p. 371
Relative appointed as, § 110, pp. 293, 294
Removal, § 113
Review of, § 126, pp. 367, 368
Representation by, §§ 107–113, pp. 275–311
Return of consideration paid to next friend in satisfaction of judgment before setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 353
Review of rulings relating to removal, § 126, pp. 367, 368
Satisfaction of judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 360
Selection by infant, § 110, p. 293
Service,
Notice of appeal, § 126, p. 366
Notice of application, § 110, p. 296
Summons of appointment, § 110, p. 298
Setting aside default judgment by petition in name of next friend, § 123, p. 355, n. 30
Substitution as party, § 106, p. 275
Supervision by court, § 105; § 111, p. 299
Termination of authority, § 113
Time for appointment, § 110, pp. 289–291
Trustees of juvenile institutions appointed as, § 110, p. 293
Verification,
Petition for appointment, § 110, p. 296
Pleadings by, § 116, p. 327
Waiver,
Infant's rights, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Objection,
Failure to file affidavit of right to sue, § 109, p. 286
Married woman acting as, § 110, p. 292, n. 50
Next of kin,
Joinder in petition for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 95
Notice of application for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Nil debit, proof of issue under plea, § 116, p. 329
Nomination of guardian ad litem by adverse party, § 110, pp. 292, 293
Nonresident appointed as next friend or guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 293
Nonresident infants,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend for, § 108, p. 279; § 109, p. 284; § 110, p. 288, n. 95
Publication of process in action against, § 115, p. 316
Nonsuit,
Action by or against infant, § 118; § 119, p. 337
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem or next friend, § 108, p. 282
Notice,
Action by or against, § 115, pp. 313–320
Appeal, § 126, p. 366
Application,
Allowance of attorney's fees, § 114, p. 313, n. 89
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 296

Notice—Continued,
Application—Continued,
Modification or vacation of order for sale of realty, § 64, p. 148
Order to mortgage realty, § 68
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, pp. 143, 144
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 96
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 298
Avoidance or impeachment of judgment, proceedings for, § 123, p. 357
Criminal prosecution against infant, § 96, p. 215
Custody, proceedings to determine, § 8, p. 59
Decree as notice of removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 98, n. 29
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 246–248
Disaffirmance of property transaction, § 45
Estoppel arising from failure to give notice of infancy, § 27, p. 90
Guardians ad litem, ante
Infant's privileges and disabilities, § 19
Mayor or selectmen of criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 221
Powers of societies for care and protection of children, § 18
Rescission of contract, § 75, p. 174
Revocation,
Assignment of policy, § 76, p. 182
Mother's pension, § 10
Sale of realty under order of court, § 64, p. 147; § 66, p. 149
Service, post
Substitution of party, § 115, p. 315, n. 15
Trial, § 119, p. 335
Nunc pro tunc,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 290
Curing failure to serve process on parents, § 115, p. 317, n. 43
Filing,
Affidavit of right of next friend to sue, § 109, p. 286
Bond of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 298
Oath of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 299
Objections,
Confirmation of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Demurrer, ante
Grounds of review in lower court, § 126, p. 363
Irregularities in proceedings for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 295
Juvenile court preserving right to review, § 99, p. 254
Noticing by court whether raised by infant's representative or not, § 105, n. 54
Order awarding custody, § 8, p. 60
Qualifications of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 292
Suing without appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 108, pp. 282, 283
Waiver, post
Obligations imposed or authorized by law, § 76, p. 184
Offenses, §§ 93–102, pp. 210–265
Acts contributing to destruction of health and morals, § 11, p. 63
Contributing to delinquency or dependency of child, § 13
Cruelty to children, § 14
Employment regulations, violation of, § 12, p. 65
Gaming with minors and permitting minors to frequent or play, § 15
Health and morals, violating regulations for protection of, § 16, pp. 73–80
Office, eligibility to hold, § 24
Oil and gas lease, removal of disabilities for purpose of joining in, § 30, p. 93, n. 53
Oiling machinery as unlawful employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
Option in lease permitting purchase, cancellation of, § 69
Oral,
Application for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
Contract creating agency of infant, § 21
Demurrer, § 116, p. 323
Disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 174
Ratification of contract, § 51, p. 122; § 74, p. 166
Orders of court,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 109, pp. 285, 287; § 110, pp. 297–299.
Arbitration made under, § 76, p. 185
Commitment, suspension of, § 100, p. 260
Conveyances under, §§ 61–70, pp. 135–160
Custody, awarding, § 8, pp. 59, 60
Modification of, § 100, p. 260
Delinquency or dependency, adjudication of, § 101
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 252
Employment of attorney by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 305
Mortgage, § 68
Publication of process against infant, § 115, p. 316
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 97–99
Sales under, §§ 61–70, pp. 135–160
Setting aside order allowing fee to guardian ad litem, § 112, p. 308
Ordinances, jurisdiction of prosecution for violation of, § 96, p. 213, n. 53
Ordinary as guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 292, n. 38
Ornaments as necessaries, § 78, p. 190
Orphans,
County's liability for support, § 9, n. 45
Withdrawal of petition to adjudge orphans to be wards of court, § 99, p. 250
Orthopedic shoes, municipality's liability for, § 9, n. 46
Outcry as evidence in prosecution for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 76, nn. 17, 19.
Outstanding title, purchaser by intermeddler with infant's estate, § 35
Overseer of roads, holding office of, § 24
Overseers of poor, discretion in awarding mother's pension, § 10
Parents,
Acceptance of service by, § 115, p. 318, n. 63
Appeal by parents in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 253

Parents--Continued,
Appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 293, 294
Child labor law, liability for violation, § 12, p. 69
Command of parent as defense to crime, § 94
Consent,
Engaging in business, § 81
Withdrawal of appeal by infant in delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 256
Consent or supervision of employment, § 12, p. 68
Custody and control of child, order freeing child from, § 100, p. 258
Father as proper person to bring suit on behalf of minors, § 109, p. 283
Hearing in proceedings relating to custody or commitment, § 99, p. 249
Knowledge of intention to apply for order of sale, § 61
Mother's pension, recovery against father, § 10
Necessaries, liability affected by parents supplying, § 78, pp. 187, 188, 191, 192
Notice,
Criminal prosecution against child, § 96, p. 215
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 247
Parties,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 95, 96
Sale of infant's realty, § 64, p. 140, n. 21
Restoration of child to parents after termination of commitment, § 100, pp. 261, 262
Sale of infant's property,
Application of, § 61
Purpose of paying parent's debts, § 63
Service of process on, § 115, pp. 316–318
Torts committed by order or authority of, § 87, p. 203
Parole, § 96, pp. 224, 225
Part of estate, statute authorizing sale by court, § 61
Part payment of debt as constituting ratification of contract, § 74, p. 168
Partial disaffirmance. Disaffirmance, ante
Partial ratification. Ratification, post
Parties,
Actions by or against, § 106, pp. 272–275
Application for appointment of guardian ad litem by, § 110, p. 291
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Appeal, parties to, § 126, pp. 364, 365
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 253
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Error, parties entitled to allege, § 126, p. 367
Impeachment or avoidance of judgment, § 123, p. 357
Joinder of parties, generally, ante
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 95, 96
Sale under order of court, proceedings for, § 64, pp. 140, 141
Designation in application, § 64, p. 142
Parties to application, § 61
Substitution, notice of, § 115, p. 315, n. 15
Parties—Continued,
Suit to confirm contract of sale of realty, § 66, p. 152
Partition,
Acceptance of service by parent, § 115, p. 318, n. 63
Answer in suit against infant, § 116, p. 321
Bond of person conducting sale, § 65
Collateral attack on judgments on ground minor was represented by incompetent person, § 110, p. 292, n. 39
Divestiture of title by, § 59
Estoppel of emancipated minors to attack partition decree, § 30, p. 99, n. 34
Guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 278, n. 31
Appointment of, § 108, p. 279, n. 51; § 109, p. 284, n. 9
Investing title in proceedings, § 57, n. 5
Next friend, § 108, p. 278, n. 31
Parties in suits by or against, § 106, p. 274
Private sale of realty, § 66, p. 150, n. 25
Return of proceeds of sale on setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 359, n. 83
Right to maintain action for, § 104, p. 268
Tutor ad hoc's authority to accept petition, § 115, p. 318, n. 63
Unknown heirs, appointment of guardian ad litem in partition suit against, § 108, p. 279, n. 51
Partition deeds, § 51, pp. 128, 129
Partnership,
Agreements, § 82
Evidence of partnership relationship with infant, § 117, p. 332
Guardian ad litem for infant partner in insolvency or dissolution proceedings, § 108, p. 278, n. 31
Interest, agreement to sell, § 56
Passes stipulating for release of liability as binding, § 76, p. 183, n. 40
Patents, ratification of assignment, § 49, n. 62
Paupers,
Mothers' pensions, § 10
Support of infant paupers, § 9
Payment,
Debt as constituting ratification of contract, § 74, p. 168
Guardian ad litem or next friend, payments to, § 111, p. 299, n. 95; § 111, p. 302
Judgment, § 124, pp. 359–361
Into court, § 124, p. 361
Price of realty sold under order of court, § 66, pp. 156, 157
Into court, § 66, p. 156
Penalty, right of action to recover, § 104, p. 266
Penitentiary,
Commitment of delinquent child to, § 100, p. 263
Sentence to, § 96, p. 224
Transfer of infant convict to, § 96, p. 224
Pensions for mothers, § 10
Performance bond required by juvenile court, appellate court's jurisdiction to forfeit, § 99, p. 255
Period of detention, commitment to state, § 102
Permitting minors to frequent or play at certain places, indictment for, § 16, p. 74, n. 5
Personal defense, infancy as, § 116, p. 325
Personal injuries,
Answer in action by infant to recover for, § 116, p. 323

Personal injuries—Continued,
Payment and satisfaction of judgment in favor of infant, § 124, p. 360, n. 92
Petition in action against infant for, § 116, p. 323
Right to maintain action for, § 104, pp. 268–271
Weight and sufficiency of evidence in action for, § 117, p. 332
Personal privilege,
Disaffirmance as, § 75, p. 171
Bill or note, § 79, p. 195
Property transaction, § 43, p. 106
Ratification as, § 74, p. 166
Personal representatives. Executors and administrators, generally, ante
Personal service,
Notice in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Process, § 115, p. 313
Infant, service on, § 115, pp. 315–317
Waiver of, § 115, pp. 318, 319
Persons,
Acting for infant, contracts by, § 76, pp. 184, 185
Entitled to,
Appeal in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 253
Apply for appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 291
Appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 291–294
Avoid contract, § 75, p. 171
Conduct sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Purchase realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 151
Ratify contract, § 74, p. 166
Resist application for removal of disabilities. § 30, p. 97, n. 4
Secure order for sale of property, § 61
Liable for violation of employment regulations, § 12, pp. 68, 69
Petition,
Action by or against infant, § 116, pp. 324–327
Allowance of fees for guardian ad litem, § 112, p. 307
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 295, 296
Conduct of case as one of delinquency, § 98, p. 237
Confirmation of sale of realty, § 66, p. 152
Custody of delinquent child, § 100, p. 261, n. 26
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Discharge of delinquent from custody, § 100, p. 261
Impeachment or avoidance of judgment, § 123, pp. 357, 358
Orders,
Mortgage of realty, § 68
Sale of realty, § 64, pp. 141–144
Collateral attack on sale for insufficiency, § 66, p. 154
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 95, 96
Setting aside order awarding custody, § 8, p. 60
Tutor ad hoc's authority to accept, § 115, p. 318, n. 63
Verification, post
Petition in error, joinder in, § 126, p. 364
Physical appearance as evidence of age, § 117, p. 331
Physical examination in dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 250
Pistols as necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Place,
Confinement of delinquent or dependent child, § 100, pp. 262, 263
Punishment, § 96, pp. 223, 224
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Plea,
Abatement raising objection of incapacity to sue, § 108, p. 282
Action against infant, § 116, pp. 320–323
Criminal prosecution, § 96, pp. 215, 216
Guardian ad litem appointed before plea, § 110, p. 290, n. 20
Infancy, as disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 174
Plea of guilty, § 96, p. 215
Delinquency, established by, § 99, p. 249
Findings of guilt unnecessary on entry of plea, § 96, p. 220
Infant not represented by counsel, § 96, p. 214, n. 63
Waiver of right to be treated as delinquent, § 98, p. 234
Pleadings,
Actions by or against, § 116, pp. 320–329
Amendment, ante
Answer, generally, ante
Complaint, generally, ante
Custody, proceedings to determine, § 8, pp. 58, 59
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Disaffirmance of note, pleading as, § 79, p. 196
Impeachment or avoidance of judgment, § 123, pp. 357–359
Incapacity to sue, § 108, p. 282
Infancy as defense to prescription, § 32, p. 46
Injunction against execution, § 125
Judgment conforming to, § 120
New pleadings after remand by appellate court, § 126, p. 369
Next friend, alleging infant sued by, § 109, p. 285
Protection of infant's interests whether proper relief is asked in pleadings or not, § 105
Sale of realty proceedings for, § 64, pp. 141–145
Police courts,
Jurisdiction,
Contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 94
Criminal prosecutions against infant, § 96, p. 213, n. 51
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Review of commitments by, § 96, p. 222
Posting notice of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Power of attorney, presumption of execution, § 117, p. 329, n. 64
Power to sell as authorizing mortgage, § 68
Preference of child considered in determining custody, § 7, p. 58
Preliminary inquiry,
Proceeding against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, pp. 234–239
Prosecution for crime, § 94, n. 26

Preliminary order in proceedings to determine custody, § 8, pp. 59, 60
Premature appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288
Premium note, infant's liability on ratification on insurance contract, § 76, p. 181
Premiums,
Bond of special guardian in proceedings to sell realty as item of cost, § 67
Life insurance, capacity to contract for payment, § 76, p. 181
Recovery on disaffirmance of contract, § 76, p. 182
Prenatal injury, right of action for, § 104, p. 270
Presentation in lower court of grounds for review, § 126, p. 363
Presumptions,
Acceptance and delivery of gift to infant donee, § 47, p. 119
Acceptance of deed by infant, § 47, p. 110
Actions by or against, § 117, pp. 329–331
Appeal, § 126, p. 367
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 256, 257
Prosecutions for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Capability of infants to commit negligence, § 91, p. 207
Compliance with statutes relating to order for sale, § 64, p. 139
Criminal prosecution, § 96, pp. 216, 217
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 249
Estate described in petition for sale of property includes all infant's realty, § 64, p. 143
Guardians ad litem, ante
Knowledge of right to disaffirm contract, § 74, pp. 166, 167
Notice of delinquency and dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 248
Orders for sale of realty, § 64, p. 147
Probation officer made investigation, § 99, p. 249
Process and service, § 115, p. 319
Purchaser's knowledge of proceedings to sell realty, § 66, p. 155
Recital of service of process and record, § 115, p. 319
Removal of disabilities, regularity and jurisdiction of proceedings for, § 30, pp. 97, 98
Validity,
Contracts, § 73
Judgment, § 122, p. 342
Consent judgment, § 122, p. 344
Orders,
Adjudication of delinquency or dependency, § 101
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 299
Value of property exchanged on disaffirming contract, § 47, p. 17, n. 19
Verification of answer of guardian ad litem, § 116, p. 327
Waiver of notice of proceedings to determine custody, § 8, p. 59
Price,
Realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Recovery by infant on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 116, 117
Prior unsuccessful attack on judgment as defense in proceedings to vacate, § 123, p. 353
Private act conferring power of sale, § 60
Private sale,
Confirmation of sale of realty not previously ordered, § 66, p. 152
Realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Notice of, § 66, p. 149
Petition for, § 64, p. 141
Privies in estate, right to disaffirm infant's property transactions, § 43, p. 106
Privileges, generally, §§ 19–30, pp. 81–99
Privy's right to disaffirm infant's contract, § 75, p. 171
Probate court,
Approval of settlement between infant heirs, § 122, p. 343, n. 54
Jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Estate, § 57
Order for sale, § 62
Removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 94
Powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Probate officer, commitment of child to, § 101, n. 52
Probate proceedings,
Guardian ad litem, appointment in, § 108, pp. 278, 279
Representation by court appointed attorney, § 114, p. 312
Probation, § 96, p. 221
Delinquent child, § 100, pp. 258, 259
Probation officers, § 17
Investigation by before proceedings to declare child abandoned, § 99, p. 241, n. 20
Presumption of making investigation, § 99, p. 249
Service of citation in custodial proceedings, § 99, p. 247, n. 3
Procedure,
Criminal prosecutions against, § 96, p. 212
Custody or commitment of delinquent or dependent, § 99, pp. 239–257
Proceedings,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 295–299
Custody, determination, § 8, pp. 58–60
Orders, proceedings for,
Lease, § 69
Mortgage, § 68
Sale, § 64, pp. 139–148
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 93–99
Proceeds,
Mortgage ordered by court, disposition of, § 68
Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, pp. 156, 157
Costs of proceedings paid out of, § 67
Process,
See, also, Summons, post
Action by or against, § 115, pp. 313–320

Process—Continued,
Avoidance or impeachment of judgment, proceedings for, § 123, p. 357
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 247, 248
Dismissal for failure to serve third person, § 118
Guardian ad litem or next friend, time of appointment, § 110, p. 290
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 96
Sale of realty, proceedings for, § 64, pp. 143, 144
Service, post
Waiver by infant or guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 288, n. 97
Prochein ami. Next friend, generally, ante.
Professional education as necessary, § 78, p. 191
Profits,
Intermeddler's liability for, § 35
Purchaser's liability for profits on disaffirmance of conveyance, § 51, p. 125
Realty sold under order of court, recovery by infant, § 66, p. 156
Proof,
Action by or against, § 116, pp. 328, 329
Notice of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Proper parties. Parties, generally, ante
Property, §§ 31–70, pp. 99–160
Alienation or incumbrance after emancipation under civil law, § 28, p. 91
Allowances of guardian ad litem or next friend payable out of, § 112, pp. 309, 310
Attorney's fees payable out of, § 114, p. 313
Declarations disclaiming ownership, § 26, p. 87
Emancipation by marriage removing disabilities respecting, § 29, p. 92
Estoppel of infant to assert title, § 26, p. 87
Guardian ad litem's or next friend's custody of, § 111, p. 300
Law governing, § 20
Mother's pension affected by property of child, § 10
Parties in actions relating to, § 106, p. 274
Rights of action respecting, § 104, pp. 267, 268
Sale of real property under order of courts, §§ 61–67, pp. 135–157
Property right, common law disability as, § 19
Prosecutions for offenses, § 96, pp. 212–225
Violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 73–80
Prospective purchaser as person who may secure order for sale, § 61, n. 45
Protection,
Infants, §§ 4–18, pp. 50–81
Infant's interest,
Court, § 105
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, pp. 301, 302
Litigant in appellate court, § 126, p. 363
Presumptions on appeal, § 126, p. 367
Provisional commitment of delinquent without notice, § 99, p. 248
Public guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 283
Public sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Public trial of delinquent child, § 97, p. 227, n. 91
Publication,
Notice,
Filing petition for removal or disabilities, § 30, p. 96
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Process against infant, § 115, pp. 315, 316
Punishment, § 96, pp. 222–225
Jury to fix, § 96, p. 219
Punitive damages for torts, § 92
Purchase,
Acquisition of property by, § 47, pp. 110–118
Infant's property by guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 305
Purchase price or money,
Affidavit of defense in action by infant to recover, § 116, p. 324
Recovery on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
Right of action to recovery, § 104, p. 268
Sale of realty under order of court,
Abatement or recovery on deficiency in quantity, § 66, p. 156
Proceeds, duties respecting, § 66, p. 157
Return to purchaser, § 66, p. 156
Security for, § 66, p. 156
Purchaser,
Realty sold under order of court, rights and liabilities of, § 66, pp. 154–156
Title, post
Purpose,
Mortgage under order of court, § 68
Sales and conveyances under order of court, § 63
Pleading, § 64, p. 142
Qualifications of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 291–295
Quantum meruit recovery for services on disaffirmance of contract, § 85, p. 201
Quarantine of state institution preventing immediate commitment, § 102
Quarter sessions, jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Prosecution for contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 97
Quasi-criminal nature of delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 240
Questions of law and fact,
Actions by or against, § 119, pp. 336–338
Age in determining whether to proceed against infant as delinquent or criminal, § 98, p. 238
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 219
Neglected child, § 98, p. 230
Place of commitment of delinquent child, § 100, p. 262
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 79
Reasonable time, post
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 368
Vacating or setting aside judgment, § 123, p. 359
Quieting title, appointment of guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 285, n. 24
Quitclaim deed operating as disaffirmance,
Conveyance, § 51, p. 126

Quitclaim deed operating as disaffirmance—Continued,
Mortgage, § 51, p. 126
Rape, juvenile court's jurisdiction of prosecution for, § 16, p. 74
Ratification,
Account stated, § 76, p. 185
Acquisition or alienation of property, §§ 39–41, pp. 103–105
Acts, constituting ratification, § 40, pp. 103–105
After avoidance, § 42
Time for ratification, § 41
Acts constituting ratification, §§ 39–41, pp. 103–105
Conveyance or mortgage, § 51, pp. 122, 123
Purchases, § 47, pp. 111, 112
Antenuptial settlement, § 55
Appeal without representation, § 126, p. 365
Appointment and acts of agent, § 23
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, defects in proceedings cured by, § 110, p. 295
Arbitration agreement, § 76, p. 185
Assignment, § 49, n. 62
Assignment for benefit of partnership's creditors, § 82
Bill or note, § 79, p. 195
Bonds, § 76, p. 180
Burden of proof, § 117, p. 330
Compromises and settlements, § 80
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, p. 302
Consideration, ante
Contracts, §§ 72–74, pp. 164–170
Sale, § 40
Court's power to ratify acts, § 57
Deed of trust, § 52
Deeds and conveyances, § 51, pp. 122, 123, 128
Disaffirmance, ante
Disposition of property as constituting ratification of purchase, § 47, p. 111
Election to ratify, § 38
Emancipation, ratification after, § 28, p. 91
Employment contract, § 85, pp. 200–202
Evidence, § 117, pp. 332, 333
Gift to infant, § 47, p. 119
Injunction bond, § 76, p. 180, n. 93
Insurance policy, § 76, pp. 181, 182
Intent to ratify conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 122
Inventions, employment contract agreeing to assign, § 85, p. 200, n. 24
Joint contract with adult, § 76, p. 186
Judgment rendered without appointment of guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 282
Lapse of time without disaffirmance as ratification,
Conveyance or mortgage, § 51, p. 123
Purchase, § 47, p. 112
Lease by infant, § 54
Lease to infant, § 47, p. 118
Loans, § 84
Married infant's conveyances, § 51, p. 128
Mortgage, § 51, pp. 122, 123
Married infants, § 51, p. 128
Partial ratification, § 38
Contracts, § 73
Ratification—Continued,
Partial ratification—Continued,
Partition, § 51, n. 27
Purchases of property, § 47, p. 111
Partition deeds, § 51, p. 129
Partnership agreement, § 82
Pleading, § 116, pp. 326, 327
Presumption of intention to ratify, § 117, p. 329, n. 64
Purchases of property, § 47, pp. 111, 112
Infant's property by guardian ad litem, § 111, p. 305
Question for jury, § 119, p. 337
Recognizance, § 76, p. 180
Releases, § 76, p. 183
Retention of property as constituting ratification of purchase, § 47, p. 111
Right of action on ratified contract, § 104, p. 267
Sale,
Personalty, § 56, n. 81
Realty under order of court, § 66, pp. 152, 153
Suretyship contract, § 76, p. 184
Time, post
Tort, § 87, p. 204
Trust agreement, § 76, p. 185, n. 72
Vendor's lien on purchase of land ratified by infant, § 47, p. 118
Reacknowledgment,
Instrument after ratification, § 40, p. 103
Original instrument as constituting ratification, § 40, p. 105
Real party in action by or against, § 106, pp. 272, 273
Real property,
Description, ante
Property, generally, ante
Reasonable doubt,
Capacity to commit crime, § 96, p. 218
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 249, n. 28
Reasonable time for disaffirming,
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, pp. 123, 124
Property transactions, § 44
Affecting ratification, § 40, p. 104
Purchase, § 47, pp. 112, 113
Questions of law or fact,
Contract, § 75, p. 173
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, p. 124
Infant feme covert, § 51, p. 128
Property transaction, § 40, p. 104
Purchase, § 47, p. 112
Receiver,
Partnership containing infant member, § 82
Proceeds of sale of realty, powers and compensation, § 66, p. 157
Property of minor female, § 57, n. 6
Reclaiming property as disaffirmance of deed, § 51, p. 126
Recognizance,
Infant, § 76, p. 180
Next friend for cost, § 127, p. 371
Record,
Appeal, § 126, pp. 366, 367
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 255, 256

Record—Continued,
Appeal—Continued,
Prosecutions for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Appointment,
Guardian ad litem, § 109, p. 287
Next friend, § 109, p. 286
Deed as delivery to infant, § 47, p. 110
Error appearing in record as ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 353
Investigation to determine whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 235, n. 59
Preservation of evidence in, § 117, p. 334
Service of process, § 115, p. 319
Redelivery of original instrument as constituting ratification, § 40, p. 105
Redemption from tax sale, sale of realty for purpose of raising funds for, § 63, n. 88
Reference,
Action by or against infant, § 119, p. 338
Attorney's fees, reference to determine, § 114, p. 313, n. 89
Consent judgment, reference to determine best interest of minor, § 122, p. 344
Custody, proceedings to determine, § 8, p. 59
Mortgage, proceedings for order, § 68
Sale of realty, proceedings for order, § 64, p. 146
Reformation of erroneous decree against minors, § 123, p. 346
Reformatory,
Commitment to, § 96, p. 224
Delinquent child, § 100, p. 263
Sentence to, § 96, pp. 221, 223
Transfer of inmate to penitentiary, § 96, p. 224
Refund to seller of money paid for benefit of infant disaffirming contract, § 47, p. 117
Rehearing,
Action by infant, § 119, pp. 335, 336
Appeal, estoppel to allege error on motion for, § 126, p. 367
Condition precedent to action to impeach or avoid judgment, § 123, p. 356
Reimbursement,
Next friend for cost, § 127, p. 371
Support and maintenance, § 58
Reinvestment,
Proceeds of sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Sale under order of court for purpose of reinvesting proceeds, § 63
Petition, § 64, p. 142
Relation back of ratification of contract, § 74, p. 170
Relation to child as element of offense of contributing to dependency or delinquency, § 13
Relatives,
Application for appointment of guardian ad litem by, § 110, p. 291
Appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 293, 294
Custody of child as between relative and stranger, § 7, p. 57
Parties,
Removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 95, n. 80
Sale of realty, § 64, p. 140
Releases, § 76, pp. 182–184
Error, § 126, p. 363
Mortgage, disaffirmance of, § 47, p. 118
Sureties on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 176, n. 44
Religious considerations in determining custody, § 7, p. 58
Religious education affecting custody, § 100, p. 260
Remainderman, disaffirming deed by infant remainderman, § 51, p. 124
Remainders,
Answer in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 144
Sale for purpose of paying claims chargeable against life estate, § 63
Sale under order of court, § 61
Remand of cause by appellate court, § 126, p. 369
Remedies, what law governs, § 20
Removal,
Child from jurisdiction of custodial court, § 7, pp. 57, 58
Disabilities, §§ 28–30, pp. 90–99
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Incapacity to contract, § 71, p. 164
Mothers' pensions defeated by, § 10
Proceeds of sale of realty, jurisdiction to order sale for purpose of removal from state, § 63
Rent,
Disaffirmance of,
Contract, § 47, p. 117
Conveyance, § 51, p. 125
Lease, § 47, pp. 118, 119
Purchase, § 47, pp. 116, 117
Intermeddler's liability for, § 35
Ratification of lease by acceptance of, § 54
Sale under order of court, recovery by infant, § 66, p. 156
Reopening delinquency or dependency proceedings for further evidence, § 99, p. 250
Repairs,
Contract for, § 76, p. 186
Necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Repeal of statutes,
Delinquent, dependent, or neglected children, § 97, p. 228
Health or morals, statutes protecting, § 11, p. 65
Jurisdiction of delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 242, n. 32
Mothers' pensions laws, § 10
Replevin to recover consideration on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, pp. 177, 179
Replication or reply,
Admission of infancy by reply, § 116, p. 329
Necessaries, § 116, p. 327
New promise after majority, § 116, p. 327
Ratification, § 116, p. 326
Report,
Master or referee,
Action by or against, § 119, p. 338
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Mortgage ordered by court, § 68
Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 151
Representation of infant by attorney, § 114, pp. 311–313

Representations in application for insurance, capacity to make, § 76, p. 181
Resale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 151
Rescission,
Contract. Disaffirmance, generally, ante
Order appointing guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 298
Resentence, § 96, p. 291
Delinquent child to state prison, § 100, p. 263, n. 46
Reservation in lower court for grounds for review, § 126, p. 363
Residence. Domicile or residence, generally, ante
Respondeat superior, liability for negligence under doctrine of, § 91, pp. 207, 208
Restoration,
Consideration, ante
Funds and property,
Condition to relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Disaffirming,
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, pp. 124, 125
Property transaction, § 46, pp. 108–110
Purchase, § 47, pp. 113–116
Sale under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Status quo on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, pp. 174–176
Retention of property, consideration or benefits as constituting ratification,
Contract, § 74, p. 169
Property transaction, § 40, p. 104
Purchase, § 47, p. 111
Return,
Consideration, generally, ante
Process in action by or against, § 115, p. 319
Property. Restoration, generally, ante
Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 151
Reversal,
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, pp. 280, 281
Judgment in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 257
Review, § 126, pp. 362–369
See, also, Appeal and error, generally, ante
Adjudication of juvenility in proceedings to determine whether infant should be proceeded against as delinquent, § 98, p. 238
Confirmation of sale of realty, § 66, p. 151
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 252–257
Judgment against infant, action for, § 123, pp. 346, 355
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Sale of realty, proceedings for, § 64, p. 148
Rights of action, § 104, pp. 266–271
Rules of practice or procedure,
Appointment of guardian or next friend, § 110, p. 295
Delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 242
Infant bound by, § 103
Saddles as necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Sales,
Authority of law in general, §§ 59, 60
Sales—Continued,
Disaffirming chattel mortgage by sale, § 51, p. 126
Divestiture of title by, § 59
Jurisdiction, ante
Order of court, sales under, §§ 61–70, pp. 135–160
Ground, § 63
Pleading, § 64, p. 142
Personalty, §§ 56, 70
Property by infant, § 50
Realty,
Adversary proceedings, ante
Ancestor's debts, ante
Joint contract with adult to sell, § 76, p. 186
Purchase price or money, ante
Removal of disability to sell realty, § 30, p. 95
Statutes, post
Saloon, disaffirmance of purchase, § 78, p. 190
Salute to flag,
Children suspended from school for refusal to salute as neglected, § 98, p. 230, n. 26
Juvenile court's jurisdiction in delinquency proceedings for failure to salute, § 99, p. 244
Satisfaction of judgment, § 124, pp. 359–361
Restoration of consideration received before setting judgment aside, § 123, p. 353
Satisfaction of mortgage, disaffirmance of, § 47, p. 118
School authorities issuing employment certificate, § 12, p. 68
School census reports as evidence of age, § 117, p. 331
Sealed contract, capacity to make, § 71, p. 164
Securities, validity of contract dealing in, § 76, pp. 185, 186
Security,
Costs,
Appeal, § 126, p. 365
Bond by next friend for, § 127, p. 369
Purchase money for realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 156
Seizure of person to enforce order awarding custody, § 8, p. 59
Selectmen, notice to selectmen of prosecution against infant, § 96, p. 221
Self-support, delinquency statute applicable to children incapable of, § 98, pp. 228, 229
Sentence, § 96, pp. 220–222
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 79, 80
Separate estate, sale under order of court, § 61
Separate maintenance, guardian ad litem in action for, § 108, p. 278, n. 35
Separate trials in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Service,
Application or process for removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 96
Guardians ad litem, ante
Notice,
Appeal, § 126, p. 366
Application for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 296
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 247
Sale of realty, proceedings for, § 64, p. 144

Service—Continued,
Process,
Action by or against, § 115, pp. 314–320
Appointment of guardian ad litem after return of service, § 110, p. 290
Avoidance or impeachment of judgment, § 123, p. 357
Dismissal of action for failure to serve third person, § 118
Infant as condition precedent to appointment of guardian ad litem, § 110, pp. 288, 289
Presumption of service on appeal, § 126, p. 367
Review of rulings, § 126, p. 367
Dependent on record, § 126, p. 366
Sale of realty, proceedings for, § 64, pp. 143, 144
Contracts for, § 85, pp. 200–202
Infant, to engage services of another, § 76, p. 185
Necessaries, § 78, p. 193
Partner, recovery for services rendered as, § 82
Right of action for loss of, § 104, p. 269
Set-off and counterclaim,
Damages,
Disaffirming or breach of employment contract, § 85, p. 201
Inability to rent premises after disaffirmance of lease, § 47, p. 119
Purchase price on disaffirming contract, § 47, p. 117
Purchaser's allowances against rent and profits on disaffirmance of deed, § 51, p. 125
Value of necessaries furnished by employer in action for compensation, § 85, p. 201
Setting aside,
Consent judgments and decrees, ante
Default judgments, ante
Judgments and decrees, ante
Order for sale of realty, § 64, p. 148
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, pp. 153, 154
Failure to hold in time, § 66, p. 149
Shelter, failure to furnish as cruelty, § 14
Showing cause against judgment after attaining majority, § 123, pp. 351–355
Signature to petition in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 143
Silence,
Age, as misrepresentation, § 90
Disaffirmance of note, § 79, p. 196
Ratification,
Contract, § 74, p. 169
Note, § 79, p. 195, n. 34
Singing as prohibited employment, § 12, p. 67, n. 7
Situs of realty affecting court's power to order sale, § 62
Slander,
Liability for, § 88
Right to maintain action, § 104, p. 268
Societies for care and protection of children, § 18
Special act conferring power of sale, § 60
Special curator, § 107
Special defense, infancy as, § 116, p. 325
Special demurrer raising objection of failure to file affidavit of right of next friend to sue, § 109, p. 286
Special guardians,
Appointment, § 110, p. 287
Appointment to sell realty under order of court, § 66, p. 151
Accounting for proceeds, § 66, p. 156
Premium for bond as item of cost, § 67
Probate proceedings, § 108, p. 279
Report, § 119, p. 338
Supervision of performance of duties, § 105, n. 59
Special nature of delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 240
Specific performance,
Abandoned contract, § 75, p. 172, n. 92
Assignee of infant's contract to purchase, § 47, p. 111
Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, pp. 153, 155
Stakeholders, withdrawal of bet deposited with, § 88
State,
Delinquent, dependent or neglected child as ward of, § 101
Guardianship, § 4
Party in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Power to assume control and custody, § 7, p. 55
Power to retake child committed to institution, § 100, p. 262, n. 27
Support of infant by, § 9
Statement of facts in proceedings for custody, § 99, p. 256
Status, § 19
Adjudication of delinquency or dependency as determining, § 101
Law governing, § 20
Statutes,
Answer in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Appeals from juvenile court proceedings, § 99, p. 253
Appraisal of realty to be sold under order of court, § 64, p. 146
Betting with minor, § 15
Bond of person conducting sale of realty, § 65
Business contracts, § 81
Chambers of court, hearing proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Consent of infant or guardian to order for sale, § 61
Constitutionality of statutes, generally, ante
Construction of statutes, generally, ante
Contributing to dependency or delinquency of child, § 13
Courts' powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Cruelty to children, § 14
Decree in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 147
Deed of trust executed by infant, § 52
Disaffirmance of deed or mortgage, § 51, pp. 125, 126
Disposal of infant's land, § 59
Emancipation, proceedings to procure, § 30, p. 93
Employment, regulation of, § 12, pp. 65–69
Family meeting as condition precedent to sale of realty, § 64, p. 145
Guardian ad litem,
Appointed in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141

Statutes—Continued,
Guardian ad litem—Continued,
Party in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, pp. 140, 141
Jurisdiction of courts to order sale, § 62
Juvenile court's jurisdiction of prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 73, 74
Knowledge of intention to apply for order of sale, § 61
Life insurance contracts, capacity to contract for, § 76, pp. 180, 181
Marriage removing disabilities, § 20, p. 92
Marriage settlements, § 55
Mortgage, authority confirmed by statute, § 68
Mothers' pensions, § 10
Negligence of motor vehicle driver, liability of infant for, § 91, p. 209
Notice,
Application in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, pp. 143, 144
Parent or guardian of criminal prosecutions against infant, § 96, p. 215
Sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 149
Order in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 147
Order for sale, compliance with statute, § 64, p. 130
Parties,
Removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 95
Sale of realty, § 64, p. 140
Partition of lands owned by infants, § 51, p. 129
Payment of deposits to infant, § 34, n. 59
Person who may secure order for sale of realty, § 61
Pleading matters required by statute in proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
Presumption of capacity to commit crime, § 96, p. 217
Private sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Procedure affecting custody or commitment of delinquents and dependents, § 99, pp. 240–242
Protection of health and morals, § 11, pp. 62–65
Public sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Punishment, § 96, pp. 222–225
Purposes of sales and conveyances under order of court, § 63
Reduction of grade of offense, § 94
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, p. 94
Repeal of statutes, generally, ante
Restoration,
Consideration,
Avoidance of property transaction, § 46, p. 109
Disaffirmance, § 75, p. 176
Property on disaffirming purchase, § 47, p. 114
Sale,
Conforming to statute, § 62
Personalty, § 70
Property under order of court, § 61
Realty under order of court to comply with, § 66, p. 149
Setting aside sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 153
Statutes—Continued,
Terms and conditions of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Time,
Appeal after attaining majority, § 126, pp. 365, 366
Disaffirming,
Contracts, § 75, p. 172
Release, § 76, p. 183
Show cause against or vacate judgment, § 123, pp. 346–349
Vacating order for sale of realty, § 64, p. 148
Title of purchaser of realty sold under order of court protected by statute, § 66, p. 156
Written ratification,
Contract, § 74, p. 166
Property transactions, § 40, p. 103
Stay,
Appeal for nonpayment of cost, § 126, p. 365
Proceedings pending determination whether suit is for infant's benefit, § 109, p. 285
Step father, appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 293
Stipulations, attorney's power to stipulate, § 114, p. 312, n. 82
Stock,
Bona fide purchaser from purchaser of infant, § 56
Recovery of money paid brokers on disaffirmance of purchase, § 47, p. 116, n. 12
Subscription to, § 86
Validity of contract dealing in, § 76, pp. 185, 186
Stranger, custody of child as between relative and stranger, § 7, p. 57
Street trades,
Engaging in as unlawful employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
Person liable for employing child in, § 12, p. 68, n. 17
Supervision by parent, § 12, p. 68, n. 15
Striking,
Brief of guardian ad litem, § 126, p. 364
Next friend as party, § 106, p. 275
Subscription to stock, § 86
Subsequent conveyance or mortgage as disaffirmance of original conveyance, § 51, p. 126
Substituted service of process on infant, § 115, p. 315
Substitution of parties,
Actions by or against, § 106, pp. 274, 275
Notice of, § 115, p. 315, n. 15
Successive proceedings for review, § 126, p. 363
Suggestions by infant in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 146
Summary judgment against infant, § 120
Summary nature of proceedings affecting custody or commitment of delinquents or dependents, § 99, p. 241
Summary proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Summons,
See, also, Process, ante
Action by or against, § 115, pp. 313–320
Avoidance or impeachment of judgments, § 123, p. 357
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 248

Summons—Continued,
Withdrawal as terminating authority of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Summons in error, § 126, p. 366
Summons of appointment served on guardian ad litem or next of kin, § 110, p. 298
Superior courts,
Jurisdiction,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 243
Prosecution for contributing to delinquency, § 16, p. 73, n. 94
Powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Supersedeas on appeal in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 254, 255
Supervision of children bound out by societies for care and protection, § 18
Support, §§ 9, 10, pp. 60–62
Delinquency statute applicable to children incapable of self-support, § 98, pp. 228, 229
Judicial allowance for, § 58
Mortgage of property to provide, § 68
Sale under order of court for purpose of, § 63
Supreme court,
Jurisdiction of control and custody of child, § 7, p. 56, n. 90
Powers relating to custody, care and control, § 5, p. 52
Sureties,
Liability on disaffirming contract, § 79, p. 195
Released on disaffirmance,
Contract, § 75, p. 176, n. 44
Note, § 79, p. 196, n. 53
Suretyship contract of infant, § 76, p. 184
Surgical operations,
Jurisdiction to require child to submit to, § 99, p. 244
Modification by minor of contract for, § 78, p. 191, n. 63
Power of court to order, § 11, p. 64
Surplusage,
Commitment of delinquent child, § 102
Pleadings alleging representation, § 116, p. 325
Surprise as ground for relief against judgment, § 123, p. 350
Surrogate,
Consent to action for partition, § 104, p. 268, n. 21
Settlement of action approved by, § 105, n. 70
Suspension,
Criminal proceedings against infant, § 98, p. 234, n. 58
Execution in favor of infant, § 125
Order of commitment, § 100, p. 260
Sentence, § 96, p. 221
Suspensive appeals from juvenile court, § 99, p. 253
Swindling, capacity to commit, § 94
Tax liens, determination in proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 145
Taxes,
Allowance to purchaser on disaffirmance, § 51, p. 125
Necessary, § 78, p. 193
Realty sold under order of court, refund to purchaser on restoration of realty to infant, § 66, p. 156
Telegram as necessary, § 78, p. 193, n. 2
Temporary custodian, § 8, p. 59, n. 23; § 8, p. 60
Tenancy in common, sale under order of court, § 61
Tender,
Consideration, ante,
Funds and property received as condition to relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 353, 354
Property on disaffirming property transaction, § 46, p. 109
Property purchased as condition to disaffirming, § 47, p. 114
Termination,
Authority of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Mother's pension, § 10
Terms of sale of realty under order of court, § 66, p. 150
Territorial effect of order removing disabilities, § 30, p. 99
Territorial jurisdiction of juvenile court, § 6, p. 55
Testamentary guardian,
Appointed as guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 292
Service of notice of application for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend on, § 110, p. 296
Theatrical work as unlawful, § 12, p. 66, nn. 2, 3; § 12, p. 67, n. 5
Third persons,
Delivery of deed to third person for benefit of infant, § 47, p. 110
Disaffirmance,
Contract, right to take advantage of, § 75, p. 179
Property transaction by, § 43, p. 106
Purchase, rights of third persons on, § 47, p. 116
Estoppel of infant by third person's misrepresentation as to age, § 27, p. 90
Rights under sales of personalty, § 56
Timber, purchaser's liability for timber cut on disaffirmance of deed, § 51, p. 125
Time,
Appeal, § 126, pp. 365, 366
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 254
Prosecutions for violation of regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 80
Application to show cause against or vacate judgment, § 123, pp. 346–349
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, pp. 289–291
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 141
Avoidance of contract, § 75, pp. 171–173
Commitment of delinquent child, § 102
Disaffirmance,
Compromises and settlements, § 80
Conveyances or mortgages, § 51, pp. 123, 124
Married female infant, § 51, p. 128
Insurance contracts, § 76, p. 181, n. 22
Loans, § 84
Marriage settlement and antenuptial contracts, § 55
Negotiable instrument, § 79, p. 195
Property transactions, § 44

Time—Continued,
Disaffirmance—Continued,
Purchase, § 47, pp. 112, 113
Releases, § 76, p. 183
Entry of default judgment, § 122, p. 342
Exception to master's report, § 119, p. 338
Hearing,
Application to sell realty designated in notice, § 64, p. 144
Delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 250
Majority, time of attaining, § 3
Modification or vacation of order for sale of realty, § 64, p. 148
Notice,
Proceedings for order to sell realty, § 64, p. 144
Sale of realty under order of court, § 64, p. 147; § 66, pp. 149, 150
Objection,
Authority of next friend, § 109, p. 286
Failure to appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, p. 282
Pleading by guardian ad litem, § 116, p. 322
Raising or determining juvenility entitling offender to trial as delinquent, § 98, p. 234, n. 59
Ratification, § 41
Acquisition or alienation of property, § 41
Contract, § 74, pp. 165, 166
Conveyance, § 51, p. 123
Purchases, § 47, p. 111
Rendition or entry of judgment, § 121
Sale of realty under order of court, notice to designate, § 66, p. 149
Sentence, waiver of, § 96, p. 221, n. 33
Statutes, ante
Tender of consideration on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 179
Time deposit as loan, § 84, n. 20
Title,
Attack on infant's title as divestiture of, § 59
Conveyance by infant, § 51, p. 121
Determination of validity in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 145
Divestiture of, § 59
Estoppel of infant to assert, § 26, p. 87
Judgment in action against infant to try title, § 120
Majority, title vesting in infant on attainment, § 31
Note transferred by infant's endorsement, § 79, p. 195
Purchaser,
Foreclosure sale under trust deed executed by infant, § 52
Infant's personalty, § 56
Realty sold under order of court, § 66, pp. 154–156
Confirmation as perfecting, § 66, p. 152
Reinvested on disaffirming purchase, § 47, p. 116
Sale by infant, § 47, p. 111
Special or private acts conferring power of sale, § 60
Tobacco,
Manufacturing as prohibited employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 8
Tobacco—Continued,
Selling or furnishing to infant as offense, § 11, p. 64
Torts, §§ 87–92, pp. 202–210
Actions by or against infants for, § 104, pp. 268–271
Agreement to pay damages as binding, § 80, p. 196, n. 56
False representation as to age as, § 27, p. 89, n. 78
Note in settlement of, § 79, p. 195
Trading contracts, § 81
Traffic violations, punishment by suspending driver's license, § 100, p. 258, n. 82
Transcript on appeal barring writ of error, § 126, p. 363
Transfer,
Cause on appeal, § 126, pp. 365, 366
Criminal case from juvenile to criminal courts, § 98, pp. 235–237
Proceedings for custody to equity, § 99, p. 250
Trespass,
Infant retaking possession of property after disaffirming contract, § 75, p. 179
Partnership's assignee for creditors for taking firm's assets, § 82
Reversal of judgment as to infant, § 126, p. 369
Right to bring action, § 104, p. 267
Trial,
Action by or against, § 119, pp. 335–338
Criminal prosecution, § 96, pp. 219–222
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 249–251
De novo on appeal in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 255
Jury trial, generally, ante
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 79, 80
Trover,
Consideration, recovery on disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
Infant refusing to restore consideration after disaffirming contract, § 75, p. 179
Right to maintain, § 104, p. 268
Truancy as constituting child delinquent, § 98, p. 229, n. 9
Trustees,
Contracts of infant trustee, § 76, p. 186
Infant acting as, § 21
Infant failing to restore consideration on avoidance of contract as trustee, § 75, p. 175
Intermeddler treated as, § 35
Juvenile institutions, trustee appointed as next friend, § 110, p. 293
Trusts,
Agreement by infant, validity of, § 76, p. 185
Fund or property,
Chargeable with costs, § 127, p. 370
Compensation of guardian ad litem paid out of, § 112, p. 309, n. 30
Held by infant in trust, § 37
Lien discharged by disaffirmance of contract, § 75, p. 177
Tuition, county's liability for, § 9, n. 45

Tutors,
Consent to emancipation proceedings, § 30, p. 95, n. 75
Judgment against, § 121
Representation by, § 108, p. 277, n. 28
Unborn child,
Guardian appointed to represent, § 108, p. 277, n. 28
Protection of interest of person not in being by decree for sale of realty, § 64, p. 147
Right of action for prenatal injuries, § 104, p. 270
Sale under order of court of land of persons not in being, § 61
Title of purchaser affected by lack of representative of, § 66, p. 155, n. 19
Unchastity as defense to prosecution for contributing to dependency or delinquency, § 13
Uncle, appointment as guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 293
Unknown heirs,
Appointment of guardian ad litem for, § 108, p. 279
Prosecution of appeal by guardian ad litem of, § 126, p. 364
Unproductive property, sale under order of court, § 63
Use and occupation, right to maintain action for, § 104, p. 267
Use of property, payment for use on disaffirming purchase, § 47, pp. 114, 115
Usurious loan by infant, § 84
Vacating. Setting aside, generally, ante
Vacation of court, order removing disabilities entered in, § 30, p. 96, n. 3
Vacations, employment certificates during school vacations, § 12, p. 68, n. 12
Validation of judgments rendered without personal service or process, § 115, p. 316
Validity,
Contracts in general, § 71, pp. 160–164
Sale of realty sold under order of court, § 66, p. 154
Value,
Necessaries,
Burden of proving, § 117, p. 331
Recovery of, § 78, p. 188
Property,
Evidence in proceedings for order to sell, § 64, p. 145
Petition alleging in proceeding to sell, § 64, p. 143
Ancestor's debts, sale to pay, § 64, p. 142
Services, recovery of, § 85, p. 201
Variance between pleading and proof,
Actions by or against, § 116, pp. 328, 329
Delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 246, n. 86
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, p. 75
Vehicle as necessary, § 78, pp. 192, 193
Vendor's lien,
Proof of waiver without pleading, § 116, p. 328
Property purchased by infant, § 47, p. 118
Venue,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 244, 245
Proceedings to secure order for sale, § 62
Venue—Continued,
Removal of disabilities of minority, § 30, pp. 94, 95
Pleading venue, § 30, p. 96
Verdict,
Action by or against infant, § 119, p. 338
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 220
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 251
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 79, 80
Review of, § 126, p. 368
Verification,
Petition,
Appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 110, p. 296
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 245, 246
Proceedings to sell realty, § 64, p. 143
Removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 96
Pleadings, § 116, p. 327
Proceedings to impeach or avoid judgment, § 123, p. 358
Vested estate, sale under order of court, § 61
Vested rights,
Common law disabilities, § 19
Mother's pension, § 10
Vexatious defenses, guardian ad litem's duty to make, § 116, p. 321
Visitation of delinquent child by officers, § 100, p. 259
Void contract not subject to ratifications, § 74, p. 165
Voidable contract subject to ratification, § 74, p. 165
Wages, § 85, p. 201
Repudiation of collection by emancipated minor, § 28, p. 91, n. 15
Waiver,
Application of doctrine to infants, § 28, p. 88
Defense of infancy, § 116, p. 325
Disability by suing out writ of error, § 126, p. 365
Effects of venue in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 245
Error, § 126, p. 363
Findings, § 119, p. 338
Guardians ad litem, ante
Infant's rights,
Attorney, § 114, p. 312
Guardian ad litem or next friend, § 111, pp. 303, 304
Jurisdiction of proceedings to determine whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent, § 98, p. 235
Notice,
Delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, p. 248
Proceedings to determine custody, § 8, p. 59
Objections,
Capacity or defects in appointment, § 109, p. 286
Failure to,
Appoint guardian ad litem, § 108, pp. 282, 283
File affidavit of right of next friend to sue, § 109, p. 286
Fix time for hearing delinquency case, § 99, p. 250

Waiver—Continued,
Objections—Continued,
Incapacity to sue, § 108, p. 283
Married woman acting as next friend, § 110, p. 292, n. 50
Representation, § 116, p. 325
Parent's right of action for injuries to child, § 104, pp. 269, 270
Personal service of process, § 115, pp. 318, 319
Process,
Attainment of majority, § 115, p. 320
Guardian ad litem or infant, § 110, p. 288, n. 97
Process or service in proceedings for removal of disabilities, § 30, p. 96
Rights,
Appeal in delinquency proceedings, § 99, p. 254
Counsel in criminal prosecution, § 96, p. 214
Failure to object on trial, § 126, p. 363, n. 41
Treatment as delinquent, § 98, pp. 233, 234
Safeguards in criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 214
Statutory requirements, § 57
Time for pronouncing sentence, § 96, p. 221, n. 33
Trial by jury, § 119, p. 335
Vendor's lien, proof without pleading waiver, § 116, p. 328
Written acceptance by guardian ad litem, § 110, p. 297
Waivered minor as criminal, § 97, p. 226, n. 81
Want of consideration, defense to action on contract, § 104, p. 266
Ward of state, § 4
Wards of court, § 7, pp. 56, 57
Institution of action, § 105
Warrant to confess judgment, infant's power to execute, § 23, n. 23
Warranties,
Application for insurance, capacity to make, § 76, p. 181
Liability in tort for breach, § 89
Title of realty sold under order of court, § 66, pp. 155, 156
Waste, deduction of damages for waste from consideration on disaffirming deed, § 51, p. 125
Wasted consideration, restoration on disaffirmance,
Contract, § 75, pp. 175, 177
Release, § 76, p. 183
Wayward child,
Hearing in proceedings to commit, § 99, p. 250
Place of commitment, § 100, p. 263, n. 42
Wayward child—Continued,
Separate trials, § 99, p. 251
Weather, exposing child to weather as cruelty, § 14
Wedding outfit as necessary, § 78, p. 193
Weight and sufficiency of evidence,
Action by or against infant, § 117, pp. 332–334
Criminal prosecutions, § 96, p. 218
Prosecutions for violating regulations for protection of health and morals, § 16, pp. 77–79
Welfare and interest of child in determining custody, § 7, p. 57
Wife of special guardian appointed to sell realty, purchase by, § 66, p. 151
Wills,
Contest, right to maintain action, § 104, p. 267
Sale under order of court in contravention of will, § 61
Winding up partnership containing infant member, § 82
Wiping machinery as unlawful employment, § 12, p. 66, n. 3
Withdrawal,
Appeal in delinquency or dependency proceedings, § 99, pp. 255, 256
Attorney for infants, § 114, p. 312
Avoidance of property transactions, § 42
Bank deposit, § 34
Building and loan deposits, § 34, n. 58
Petition to adjudge orphans ward of courts, § 99, p. 250
Summons as terminating authority of guardian ad litem or next friend, § 113
Withholding delinquency petition from files, § 99, p. 246
Witnesses in proceedings for custody or commitment, § 99, p. 250
Workmen's Compensation Act,
Child labor act not to be construed together, § 12, p. 65, n. 95
Contractual powers, § 71, p. 160, n. 27
Writ, form when infant is plaintiff, § 115, p. 314
Writ of entry, right to bring, § 104, p. 267
Writ of error, Appeal and error, generally, ante
Writ of error coram nobis, remedy for relief against judgment, § 123, pp. 351, 356
Writing,
Disaffirmance of property transaction, § 45
Ratification,
Contract, § 74, p. 166
Property transactions, § 40, pp. 103–105

INDEX TO INJUNCTIONS

Abandonment,
- Ground for motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 916
- Pleading by defendant, § 183, n. 9
- Presumption of, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
- Restrictive covenants, general disregard of, § 87, p. 593

Abatement, plea of, § 183, n. 17

Absence,
- Judge to whom application for preliminary injunction is made, § 169, p. 813
- Parties as concluded by decree, § 220, n. 18

Absentee ballots, determination of matters respecting, § 115, p. 642, n. 49

Abstract business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568

Abstract of title,
- Attaching to petition, § 182, p. 858, n. 86
- Demurrer for defects in, § 185, p. 873
- Dismissal for defects in, § 198, p. 911, n. 90

Abstract right or wrong, issuance to enforce or prevent, § 19, p. 429, n. 97

Abstractors, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575

Abuse of discretion,
- County commissioners, § 110
- School boards and officers, § 112, p. 638

Abuse of process,
- Ground for dissolution, § 242
- Prevention of, § 37, p. 470

Abusive and insulting language,
- Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–736
- Strike accompanied by, § 147, p. 747

Academic questions, invoking to decide, § 19, p. 429, n. 97

Acceptance of injunction bond by defendant, § 166, p. 790

Accident,
- Actions at law, ground for enjoining, § 40, p. 485
- Ground for issuance, § 37, p. 473
- Restriction omitted from deed through, enforcement, § 87, p. 584

Accountants, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575

Accounting,
- Awarded in decree for permanent injunction, § 217, p. 951
- Enjoining suit for, § 41, p. 490
- Reference to take account, § 201

Accused persons, matters preventing fair trial, relief in respect of, § 137

Acknowledgment of injunction bond, § 166, p. 789

Acquiescence,
- Breach of contract, § 80, p. 553
  - Sale of business, § 84, p. 567
- Building restrictions, violation of, § 87, p. 590
- Delay in conjunction with acquiescence as defense to suit, § 171, pp. 818, 819

Acquiescence—Continued,
- Encroaching structures, § 67, p. 534
- Highway officers, proceedings of, § 113
- Public officers and boards, acts of, § 108, p. 618
- Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 586

Action on case to determine damages as condition precedent to action on bond, § 292, p. 1074

Actions,
- Bond, action on, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
- Damages independently of bond, §§ 307, 308
- Multiplicity of suits, generally, post
- Restraining prosecution of, §§ 36–51, pp. 468–505; § 162
  - Accident and mistake, § 37, p. 473; § 40, p. 485
  - Accounting suit, § 41, p. 490
  - Actions and proceedings enjoinable, §§ 41–46, pp. 489–498
  - Adequacy of remedy, § 37, p. 468
  - Adequate remedy at law, § 40, p. 479
  - Administrative board proceedings, § 43
  - Arbitration proceedings, § 43
  - Bond, § 166, pp. 782, 786
    - Accrual of action on partial dissolution of injunction, § 292, p. 1073
    - Force of judgment, § 290
  - Breach of warranty, § 40, p. 484
  - Certiorari available, § 40, p. 489
  - Commissioner's court proceedings, § 43
  - Concurrent jurisdiction as affecting right, § 41, p. 490
  - Contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023; § 266, p. 1027
  - Continuance of injunction, § 234, p. 974
  - Costs, § 221, p. 961
  - Counterclaim, existence as ground, § 40, p. 486
  - Defect in title, § 40, p. 484
  - Defense available in law action, § 40, p. 481
  - Discharge as precluding, § 40, p. 485
  - Discretion of court, § 36
  - Dismissal for want of jurisdiction, § 198, p. 910, n. 83
  - Dissolution, § 246; § 250, p. 990
    - Nonjoinder of parties, § 241, pp. 980, 981
  - Effect of injunction, § 207, p. 938
  - Ejectment, § 40, p. 488
  - Equitable defenses available, § 40, p. 482
  - Equitable estoppel, § 40, p. 483
  - Equities warranting interference, § 37, p. 469
  - Equity suit, § 41, p. 490
  - Evasion of law of domicile, § 49, p. 501
  - Eviction under paramount title, § 40, p. 484
  - Evidence, § 192, pp. 891, 894
  - Existence of other remedy, § 40, pp. 479–489
  - Failure of consideration as adequate defense at law, § 40, p. 483

Actions—Continued,
Restraining prosecution of—Continued,
Final decree, § 917, p. 952
Forcible entry and detainer, § 40, p. 487
Foreign states or countries, § 49, pp. 499–503
Former adjudication as ground, § 40, p. 486
Fraud, § 37, p. 472; § 40 p. 485
Garnishment proceedings, § 43
Grounds for relief, §§ 37–39, pp. 468–479
Inadequacy of remedy at law, § 37, p. 469
Incompetency of witnesses as ground, § 40, p. 487
Infringement suit, § 41, p. 491
Injunction suit, § 41, p. 490
Irreparable injury, § 37, p. 470
Judge as party defendant, § 175, p. 826
Judgment as prerequisite, § 41, p. 492
Jurisdiction, § 168, p. 797, n. 69
Laches as ground, § 40, p. 483
Lack of jurisdiction, § 40, p. 489
Legal and equitable defenses available, § 40, p. 483
Limitations as ground, § 40, p. 483
Litigants restrained, § 50
Mandamus proceedings, § 44
Mistake, § 40, p. 485
Modification of injunction, § 237
Multiplicity of suits, § 38, pp. 473–479
Municipal court proceedings, § 43
Operation and effect, § 50
Other courts, § 48
Other states or countries, § 49, pp. 499–503
Payment as adequate defense precluding, § 40, p. 485
Persons entitled, § 51
Pleading, § 182, pp. 848, 849
Police court proceedings, § 43
Preliminary injunction,
After notice, § 180, p. 839
Without notice, § 180, p. 841, n. 41
Protection of officers of court, § 37, p. 471
Real property actions, § 40, p. 487
Receivership suit, § 41, p. 490
Remedy by appeal or certiorari, § 40, p. 489
Res judicata, § 40, p. 487
Retention of jurisdiction to grant specific performance, § 217, p. 952
Same court, § 47
Service of process, § 179
Set-off, existence as ground, § 40, p. 486
Settlement as precluding, § 40, p. 485
Special proceedings, § 43
State, action by, § 41, p. 490
Suitability of form as affecting right, § 40, p. 480
Threatened suit, § 37, p. 471
Venue, § 170, pp. 814, 815
Vexatious litigation, § 39; § 40, p. 486
Want of consideration as adequate defense at law, § 40, p. 483
Workmen's compensation court proceedings, § 43
Actors, breach of contract for services of, § 82, p. 563
Actual injury, necessity of showing, § 22, p. 439
Actual violation of right, necessity of, § 21, pp. 435–439
Additional answer after amendment of bill, § 186, p. 876
Additional injunction bond, § 166, pp. 790, 791
Additional parties, § 177, pp. 833–836
Additional relief, § 182, p. 867; § 217, pp. 951–956
Amendment of pleading seeking, § 186, p. 875
Adequate remedy at law, § 25, pp. 450–456
Absence of as authorizing, § 14, p. 423, n. 55
Appeal and error, § 40, p. 489
Boycott, § 140, p. 720
Buildings erected in violation of fire limits, § 155, p. 767
Burden of proving inadequacy, § 190, p. 885
Business, injury to, § 138, p. 685
Certiorari, post
Collection of money, § 76
Completeness, § 25, p. 452
Consolidation, multiplicity of suits, § 38, p. 477
Contracts,
Breach of contract, § 80, pp. 549, 552
Exclusive privileges, § 81
Sale of chattels, § 83
Performance of, § 90
Violation of, § 93
Conversion of personal property, § 71
Corporate election, validity of, § 106
Corporations,
Creditors of, § 102
Exercise of powers, § 99
County commissioners, illegal acts of, § 110
Criminal acts, § 150, pp. 761–764
Criminal prosecutions, § 156, p. 770
Based on invalid law, § 158, p. 777
Damages, compensation by way of, § 25, p. 455
Demurrer,
Failure to allege inadequacy, § 185, p. 872
Ground of adequacy, § 185, p. 873
Discretion in respect of, § 25, p. 452, n. 59
Dismissal on ground of, § 198, pp. 911, 915
Disputed title, § 54
Dissolution on ground of, § 246
Effect of, § 25, p. 450
Efficiency, § 25, p. 452
Ejectment as, § 25, p. 454; § 40, p. 488; § 54
Elections, matters relating to, § 115, p. 642
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 534
Federal officers or agencies, relief in case of, § 109, p. 623
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction dependent upon, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Forcible entry and detainer, § 25, p. 454; § 40, p. 488
Foreign courts, remedy available in, § 25, p. 454
Former adjudication as, § 40, p. 486
Forthcoming bond in ball-trover suit, § 52, p. 506, n. 46
Full relief, § 37, p. 469
Garnishment proceedings, § 43
Governor, ministerial acts of, § 109, p. 630
Highway officers, injured persons having, § 113
Incidental relief, § 25, p. 454
Insolvency as affecting, § 25, p. 453
Insulting conduct, § 131

Adequate remedy at law—Continued,
Invalid statutes or ordinances, enforcement of, § 119, p. 654
Labor disputes, Norris-LaGuardia Act, § 138, p. 702
Legal actions or proceedings, relief precluded, § 40, p. 479
Libel or slander, § 135
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 411; § 25, p. 456
More adequate remedy in equity, § 37, p. 468
Motion to vacate or modify permanent injunction, § 218, p. 958
Multiplicity of suits,
Effect of, § 38, p. 474
Prevention of, § 24
Negligence of party asking injunction, § 25, p. 453
New parties necessary for complete justice, § 37, p. 469
Norris-LaGuardia Act, denial of relief in case of, § 138, p. 702
Payment of money, § 76
Permanent injunction, raising question on hearing for, § 200, p. 927
Personal rights,
Absence of, § 130
Availability, § 137
Physical injury, threat of, § 131
Pleading,
Adequacy of remedy, § 183, n. 9
Inadequacy, § 182, pp. 849, 863, 864
Political rights, § 19, p. 431
Political subdivisions, changes in boundaries, § 115, p. 644
Possession of real property, § 52, p. 507
Practicalness of, § 25, p. 452
Promptness, § 25, p. 452
Property rights, protection of, § 52, p. 506
Public officers and boards, misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 660
Public service commissions, unauthorized acts, § 109, p. 630
Public service companies, compelling performance of duties, § 101
Public welfare, protection of, § 123, p. 663
Real property, actions relating to, § 40, p. 487
Removal or destruction of buildings or other structures, § 68
Replevin, § 25, p. 454; § 54
Retention of injunction suit to award damages affected by, § 217, p. 955
Sale or transfer of stock, § 73
School boards or officers, illegal acts of, § 112, p. 637
Securities, transactions involving, § 123, p. 669
State officers or boards, illegal acts of, § 109, p. 628
State railroad commissions, illegal acts of, § 109, p. 639
Statutory remedy, § 25, p. 455
Stay or execution of criminal judgment, § 161
Sufficiency of, § 25, p. 451
Trade secrets, protection of, § 148, p. 752
Transfer of notes or other instruments, § 74
Trespass, § 25, p. 454
Public officers, § 108, p. 619
Adequate remedy at law—Continued,
Trespass or other injury to real property, §§ 58, 60
Continuing trespass, § 64, p. 527
Trespass to try title, § 54
Water supply, breach of contract for, § 86
Adjoining owners, unsightly structures, relief as to, § 57, n. 17
Adjutant general, party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Administration of justice, interference with, § 137
Administrative boards, restraining proceedings before, § 43
Administrative order,
Jurisdiction of federal three-judge court to determine validity, § 168, pp. 802–806, 809
Pleading in suit to restrain violation of, § 182, p. 864, n. 83
Administrative remedies, federal boards and officers, exhaustion as condition to relief, § 109, p. 624, n. 61
Administrators,
Executors and administrators, generally, post
Wage and hour division, Fair Labor Standards Act, instituting action under, § 138, p. 708
Admissibility of evidence. Evidence, generally, post
Admissions,
Demurrer admitting truth of allegations, § 185, p. 873
Motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 915
Pleading, proof of, § 188
Voluntary dismissal as constituting, § 198, p. 908
Adverse possession,
Protection of, § 53, p. 513
Restrictive covenants, enforcement against adverse possessors, § 87, p. 583
Adverse right or claim, necessity of, § 20
Advertising,
Labor dispute by picketing, § 143, p. 737
Photographs, unauthorized use in connection with, § 132, n. 77
Signs, maintenance of, § 70, n. 6
Advisory nature of jury's verdict, § 199, p. 923
Affidavits,
Amendment of pleadings, affidavit opposing, § 186, p. 878
Annexed to bill verifying statements on information and belief, § 182, p. 856
Answer as affidavit on motion to dismiss, § 250, p. 990
Basis for injunction, § 182, p. 844
Bill as affidavit on motion to dissolve, § 249
Contempt proceedings, § 272, pp. 1037–1041
Continuing,
Injunction, § 233
Temporary restraining order, § 235
Counter affidavits opposing issuance, § 197
Demurrer, consideration of affidavits in determining sufficiency of bill, § 185, p. 874
Dismissal,
Defective affidavit, § 198, p. 914
Insufficiency, § 198, p. 910
Dissolution or discharge, § 251, pp. 995–997
Evidence, affidavits as, § 195, pp. 900–904
Injunction not previously refused, § 164
Motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 915
Omissions from bill shown by, § 182, p. 845

Affidavits—Continued,
Permanent injunction granted notwithstanding defective affidavit, § 213
Perpetual injunction, issuance on, § 199, p. 921
Pleadings treated as, § 194
Preliminary injunction,
Application heard on affidavits, § 199, p. 920
Issuance on, § 199, p. 918
Without notice, § 180, p. 842
Second amendment of bill accompanied by, § 186, p. 876
Service of moving affidavits with order, § 208
Special injunction, § 6
Substitute for answer on motion to dissolve, § 251, p. 996
Supplemental affidavits on motion to dismiss, § 251, p. 996
Affirmative action, mandatory injunction requiring, § 5, p. 409, n. 29
Affirmative relief,
Defendant or intervenor, § 216
Motion to dissolve, § 253
Agents,
Affidavits in support of application for injunction made by, § 195, p. 903
Contempt, § 207, p. 937; § 263, pp. 1012–1015
Party defendant, § 175, p. 831
Service of writ or order on, § 208
Trade secret, injunction against use by, § 148, p. 753, n. 24
Verification of pleadings by, § 187, p. 880
Violation by, preventing, § 263, p. 1011
Agreement of parties affecting jurisdiction of suit, § 168, p. 795
Agricultural Adjustment Act, license, dealing in commodities after revocation, § 123, p. 663, n. 59
Agricultural Prorate Commission, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 810, n. 31 Aid of,
Another equity, common injunctions in, § 6
Equitable remedies, § 37, p. 471
Other actions, issuance in, § 13
Aiders and abettors,
Contempt for disobeying, § 207, p. 938
Injunction against, § 151, p. 763, n. 2
Liability for contempt, § 263, pp. 1011, 1012, 1013
Air, obstruction of, § 70
Airplanes, pleading in suit to restrain trespass by, § 182, p. 850, n. 31
Alien property laws, injunction against violation, § 155, p. 766
Alienation of affections, restraining, § 137
Alternative allegations in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 853
Alternative relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Prayer for, § 182, p. 867
Amendment,
Order fixing amount of injunction bond, § 166, p. 788
Parties, § 177 pp. 835, 836
Pleadings, § 186, pp. 875–878
Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1082
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Demurrer to amended bill, § 185, p. 874
Dismissal for want of equity when bill is amendable, § 198, p. 911
Amendment—Continued,
Pleadings—Continued,
Dissolution,
Amendment before granting, § 241, p. 978
Consideration of amended pleading on motion for, § 249
Failure to verify, § 241, p. 981
Ground of amendment, § 243
Notice of affidavit in support of application filed in amendment, § 195, p. 903
Second application to dissolve after, § 232
Service of amended bill after demurrer, § 185, p. 874
Verification, § 187, pp. 879, 880
Amended petition, § 195, p. 902
Voluntary dismissal precluded amendment, § 198, p. 908
Verification,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, pp. 902, 903
Pleading, § 187, pp. 881, 882
Amount in controversy,
Amendment of pleading to cure want of averment, § 186, p. 875.
Dismissal for want of jurisdictional amount, § 198, p. 910
Dissolution on ground of want of jurisdictional amount, § 241, p. 979
Jurisdiction affected by, § 168, p. 795
Federal three-judge court, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Amount of injunction bond, § 166, pp. 787, 788
Ancillary injunction,
Homestead rights, protection of, § 55, p. 516, n. 33
Parties, § 51
Pleading to sustain, § 182, p. 347
Purpose for which granted, § 13.
Ancillary proceeding, suit for injunction as, § 162
Ancillary relief, prayer for, § 182, p. 867.
Animals,
Running at large, § 155, p. 765
Trespass by, § 69
Annexation of territory, road improvement districts, § 113
Annoyance, vexatious suits instituted for, § 39
Answer, § 183
Additional answer after amendment of bill, § 186, p. 876
Affidavits on motion to dissolve, § 251, pp. 995, 996
Affidavits to support, § 195, p. 900
Amendments,
Allowed after filing, § 186, p. 877
Conform to proof, § 186, p. 876
Bond, action on, § 299, pp. 1084, 1085
Common injunction to compel, § 6
Complainant's use of answer on motion to dissolve, § 251, p. 997
Contempt proceedings, § 272, pp. 1038, 1040, 1041
Corporations, verification of answer of, § 250, p. 994
Default judgment in failure to answer, § 212
Demurrer to, grounds of, § 185, p. 873
Demurrer to bill or complaint, § 185, p. 874
Dissolution or discharge, post

Answer—Continued,
Evidence,
Answer as, § 196, pp. 904–907
Application for preliminary injunction, § 199, pp. 920, 921
Hearing or trial of suit before expiration of time for answering, § 199, p. 919
Motion to dissolve before or after answer, § 247
Prayer,
Affirmative relief, § 216
Damages, § 285
Preliminary injunction issued before, § 205
Supplemental answer, § 186, p. 879
Time for answering as condition on refusing preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Verification, § 187, pp. 879, 880; § 250, pp. 993, 994
Waiver of defects in parties, § 178
Anticipated violation of right, issuance for, § 21, pp. 435–439
Anti-Trust Act,
Boycotts, violations of, § 140, p. 723
Labor unions charged with violating, § 138, p. 699
Appeal and error,
Adequate remedy by, § 40, p. 489
Acts of public officers, § 108, p. 619
Bond,
Accrual of action on bond affected by appeal from order of dissolution, § 292, p. 1071
Action on, § 303
Attorney's fees on appeal as damages on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1101
Damages pending appeal after dissolution, liability on bond for, § 315, pp. 1107, 1108
Injunction bond superseded by, § 294
Order of dissolution superseded by, § 255
Contempt proceedings, § 274, pp. 1045–1047
Continuance of injunction pending appeal, damages for, § 315, pp. 1107, 1108
Costs,
Appeal from motion to dissolve, § 254
Recoverable for breach of bond, § 315, p. 1099
Counsel fees on appeal as damages, § 315, p. 1101
Criminal prosecutions, injunction against, § 157, n. 83
Damages, post
Discretion of court, abuse of, § 14, p. 426
Discretionary ruling on continuance, modification or dissolution, § 226, p. 966
Dismissal of appeal unless injunction order is performed, § 276, p. 1052
Dissolution or discharge, post
Forcible entry and detainer, injunction pending, § 40, p. 488, n. 30
Litigation as to title or right, protection pending, § 56, p. 520
Modification of injunction, § 229, p. 969
After affirmance, § 236
Review of, § 238
National Labor Relations Board, review of proceedings, § 138, p. 704
Public officers and boards, remedy by way of for misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 660
Appeal and error—Continued,
Reinstatement of dissolved injunction pending or after appeal, § 256
Relief obtainable by appeal, § 25, p. 454
Restraining order, effect of appeal on, § 8
Restraining prosecution of, § 42
Stay,
Appeal operating as, § 219
Liability for contempt, § 260
Suspension on appeal, § 229 p. 969
Appearance,
Bond, action on, § 298
Common injunction to compel, § 6
Defect in service cured by, § 248
Hearing on trial of suit before, § 199, p. 919
Jurisdiction acquired by, § 168, p. 794, n. 33
Suit for injunction, § 179
Sureties in proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1063
Waiver of notice of application for preliminary injunction, § 180, p. 843
Appearance day, § 179, n. 7
Appellate courts,
Contempt proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Jurisdiction to,
Grant injunction, § 168, p. 798
Modify injunction, § 236
Punish for violation, § 270, p. 1030
Preliminary injunction, power to issue, § 169, pp. 812, 813
Application for injunction, §§ 162–223, pp. 779–963; § 182, pp. 844–869
Appointment, public officers, § 116
Apprehension of injury,
Boycotts, § 140, p. 721
Issuance in case of, § 21, p. 437
Approval of injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
Arbitration,
Breach of contract, provision for as affecting right to relief, § 80, p. 557
Collective bargaining, proceedings under, § 138, p. 690
Labor dispute, restraining strike creating breach, § 147, p. 744
Labor unions, failure to invoke as precluding relief, § 138, p. 692
Refusal to arbitrate as defense in suit to restrain strike, § 147, p. 747
Restraining arbitration proceedings, § 43
Party in action to enjoin, § 175, p. 823, n. 58
Arbitrators, presumption of integrity and competency, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Argumentative pleading,
Answering argumentative allegations, § 183
Bill for injunction, § 182, p. 853
Arrest, § 160
Business premises, right to enjoin, § 108, p. 620, n. 35
Evidence in suit to restrain, § 192, p. 893
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin, § 168, p. 807, n. 24
Interference with corporation accompanied by, § 97
Assault,
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–736
Striker as contempt, § 264, p. 1019, n. 10

Assent in conjunction with delay as defense to suit, § 171, p. 818
Assessment of damages,
  Bonds for injunctions, generally, post
  Damages, post
Assignee,
  Bond, as party to action on, § 297 p. 1080
  Contempt proceedings, institution, § 271, p. 1033
  Preventing violation by, § 263 p. 1011
  Trade secret, entitled to injunctive relief, § 148, p. 752
Assignment, contracts, restraining breach, § 94
Assistance, restraining issuance of writ of, § 42, n. 95
Associations,
  Contempt by disobeying injunction, § 263 pp. 1014, 1015
  Injunction against, § 214, n. 49
  Officers, evidence of violation by injunction by, § 273, p. 1043
  Party defendant, § 175, p. 830
  Promoter representing association affecting necessity of joinder, § 175, p. 831, n. 31
Assumed name, preventing business in, § 22, p. 441, n. 90
Attachment,
  Relief obtainable by, § 25, p. 454
  Restraining levy of, § 42, n. 94
Attempt at settlement, labor disputes, necessity, § 138, pp. 703, 718
Attorney general,
  Party defendant, § 175, p. 826
  Proper party complainant, § 174
  Public welfare, party to suit involving, § 123, p. 670, n. 4
  Recount of votes at referendum election, authority to bring action to enjoin, § 115, p. 646
  Securities, instituting suit for violation of statutes respecting, § 123, p. 667
  Substitution as party, § 177, p. 834
  United States, proceedings on behalf of, § 123, p. 670
Attorneys,
  Absence of attorney from hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 907.
  Advice of counsel,
    Defense to contempt proceedings, § 268
    Mitigating punishment, § 269
  Affidavit,
    Basis of application taken before, § 187, p. 881
    Support of application for injunction made by, § 195, p. 903
  Appearance by may be ratified, § 179, n. 10
  Contempt, post
  Illegal practice of law, § 123, p. 666
  Knowledge of injunction affecting client's liability for contempt, § 261
  Party defendant, § 175, p. 831, n. 36, 39
  Service,
    Notice of motion to dissolve on, § 248
    Process on, § 179
    Writ or order on, § 208
  Verification of pleading by, § 187, p. 880
Attorney's fees,
  Burden of proving reasonableness in action on bond, § 300, p. 1085
Attorney's fees—Continued,
  Contempt proceedings, § 277
  Damages, element of, § 315, pp. 1099–1108
  Evidence in action on bond, § 300, pp. 1087, 1088
Injunction bond as covering, § 166, p. 788, n. 43; § 282, p. 1057, n. 36
  Item of cost, § 221, p. 962
  Jury's determination in action on bond, § 305
  Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Authors, breach of contract for personal services, § 82, p. 562
Auxiliary remedies,
  Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 411
  Use of writ as, § 13
Bail-trover, forthcoming bond in as furnishing adequate remedy at law, § 52, p. 506, n. 46
Bakery business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Balance of convenience,
  Breach of contract, relief against, § 80, p. 557
  Foreign states, prosecution of actions in, § 49, p. 501
  Preliminary injunction, consideration of, § 30, p. 464
  Public welfare, consideration in determining right to relief, § 123, p. 663 n. 56
Balanced equities, ground for continuing injunction, § 234, p. 974
Ballots, certifying and printing names on, § 115, p 643.
Bank night, § 152, n. 13
  Injunction against interference with, § 156, p. 769, n. 56
  Jurisdiction of preliminary injunction, § 169, p. 813, n. 57
Banks,
  Boycotts, threat of, § 140, pp. 723, 724
  Breach of contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 568
  Restraining business violating law, § 155, p. 766
Bannerring, labor unions, § 140, p. 724
Bar association, illegal practice of law; maintenance of suit to enjoin, § 123, p. 667, n. 87
Barber business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Baseball,
  Dissemination of play-by-play description of game, restraining, § 149, p. 760, n. 82
  Driving balls on premises, § 70, n. 6
  Parks, enjoining erection, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
  Players, breach of contract for services of, § 82, p. 563
  Tickets obtained from speculators, injunction against refusal, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Bathing, trespass on subaqueous lands, § 70, n. 6
Bawdy houses, injunction against keeping, § 155, p 766
Bay windows,
  Encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
  Erection or maintenance of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3
Beneficial interest in land, parties in suit to protect, § 173, p. 820
Bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 844–869
  See, also, Complaint, generally, post
  Affidavit in support of application founded on allegations of bill, § 195, p. 901

Bill for injunction—Continued,
Affidavits to support bill, § 195, p. 900
Motion to dissolve, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Construction of injunction in relation to bill, § 207, p. 936
Contempt proceedings, determination of sufficiency in, § 271, p. 1037
Demurrer to, § 185, pp. 871–875
Dissolution on ground of defects in, § 241, p. 980
Evidence, bill as, § 194
Motion to make more definite and certain, § 185, p. 871
Preliminary injunction issued before filing, § 205
Reference to bill to ascertain meaning of writ or order, § 206, pp. 933, 934
Supplemental bill, § 186, pp. 878, 879
Use and effect on motion to dissolve, § 249
Verification, § 187, pp. 879–882
Bill of lading, enjoining negotiation of, § 72, n. 54
Billboards, restrictive covenants, erection in violation, § 87, p. 591, n. 97
Bills and notes,
Collection or payment of, § 76
Interest on note where suit enjoined, § 315, p. 1107
Transfer of, § 74
Want of consideration, restraining action on ground of, § 40, p. 484
Blacklist, § 146
Blacksmith business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Blacksmith shop, restrictive covenant as to, § 87, p. 595
Blank, signing injunction bond by surety, § 166, p. 789
Blanket injunctions, labor unions, § 138, p. 697
Blasting, prevention of, § 70, n. 6
Blue Sky Law, violation of, § 123, p. 667
Boarding house, restrictive covenants, violation of, § 87, p. 592, n. 99
Boards. Public officers and boards, generally, post
Boating, trespass on subaqueous lands for, § 70, n. 6
Bona fide purchaser,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 582
Bondholders,
Boycotts, right to relief against, § 140, p. 726
Necessary parties defendants, § 175, p. 823, n. 56
Bonds,
Appeal and error, ante
Condition of refusing,
Permanent injunction, § 202, p. 930
Preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Corporations, issuance of, § 103
Dissolving injunction on giving, § 217, p. 956; § 226, pp. 965, 966; § 231
Diversion of funds collected for payment of, § 122, p. 662
Modifying injunction on giving bond, § 231
Party defendant in suit to enjoin issuance, § 175, p. 830
Public officers, issuance of, § 121
Suspension of injunction, § 219
Bonds for injunctions, §§ 165, 166, pp. 779–792
Absence of injury as defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1076
Accrual of right of action on, § 292, pp. 1069–1074
Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Acquiescence in obedience to writ affecting liability, § 281, p. 1057
Act of God, damages for injuries occasioned by, § 309
Action on, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
Action on case to determine damages as condition precedent to action on bond, § 292, p. 1074
Admissibility of evidence in action on, § 300, pp. 1086, 1087
Admissions in pleadings, § 299, p. 1084
Alteration,
Discharging surety, § 294
Presumption against, § 300, p. 1085, n. 43
Amendment of pleading in action on, § 299, p. 1082
Amount of damages in action on bond, §§ 309–316, pp. 1091–1108
Answer in action on, § 299, pp. 1084, 1085
Appeal and error, ante
Appearance,
Action on, § 298
Sureties in proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1063
Arrest of judgment-debtor as discharging surety, § 294
Assignee as party in action on, § 297, p. 1080
Attorney's fees, generally, ante
Breach of bond, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
Pleadings, § 299, p. 1082
Burden of proof,
Action on bond, § 300, p. 1085
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1066
Cancellation, § 294
Chambers, agreement to try case at chambers as discharging surety, § 294
Class action, parties in action on bond given in, § 297, p. 1080
Co-defendants,
Action on bond, § 297, p. 1081
Right to damages, § 278
Collateral attack on judgment in action on, § 302
Common law bond, extent of liability on, § 282, p. 1057, n. 34
Complaint in action on bond, § 299, pp. 1082–1084
Conclusiveness,
Assessment of damages, § 287
Dissolution order in action on bond, § 293, p. 1074
Injunctive decree against sureties, § 220
Condition precedent to action on, § 292, pp. 1069–1074
Pleading, § 299, p. 1082
Conditions prescribed by statute, § 282, p. 1059
Conjectural damages recoverable on, § 312; § 315, p. 1096
Consent to injunction as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1077
Construction,
Liability, § 282, pp. 1058, 1059
Pleading in action on, § 299, p. 1082
Continuing injunction on giving bond, § 231
Costs,
Action on, § 304
Covered by, § 282, p. 1057, n. 36

Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Costs—Continued,
Procuring dissolution recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1098, 1099
Review of rulings, § 303
Crops, recovery of bond for loss of, § 315, p. 1095
Cross-complaint in action on, § 299, p. 1084, n. 11
Damages,
Allowed or recoverable on bond, §§ 309–316, pp. 1091–1108
Assessment,
Action on, § 305
Condition precedent to action on, § 292, pp. 1073, 1074
Independent actions, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
Injunction suit, §§ 283–287, pp. 1059–1067; §§ 288, 289
Co-defendant's right of action on bond for, § 278
Evidence of, § 300, pp. 1086–1088
Liability for, § 282, pp. 1057–1059
Pleading in action on bond, § 299, pp. 1083, 1084
Review of rulings on, § 303
Right of action on bond for damages, § 278
Scope of bond limiting amount, § 310
Declaration in action on bond, § 299, pp. 1082–1084
Decree or award of damages in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1067
Defects in bond or injunction as defense in action on bond, § 293, pp. 1075, 1076
Defendant in action on, § 297, p. 1081
Defenses,
Action on bonds, § 293, pp. 1074–1078
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1066
Demand,
Condition precedent to action on, § 292, p. 1070
Payment, pleading, § 299, p. 1082
Demurrer in action on bond, § 299, p. 1082
Deposition, cost of procuring recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1098, n. 3
Depreciation, damages for recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1096, 1097
Deprivation of use or occupation of property, damages recoverable on bond, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Discharge from liability, § 294
Discontinuance of injunction suit, accrual of action on bond on, § 292, p. 1072
Discretion of court, post
Dismissal of injunction suit,
Accrual of action on bond on, § 292, pp. 1071–1073
Defects in bond, § 166, p. 787; § 198, p. 914
Discharging surety, § 294
Prima facie case in action on bond, § 300, p. 1087
Want of bond, § 198, p. 914
Dissolution,
Accrual of action on bond on, § 292, pp. 1070–1073
Approval of bond by refusal to dissolve, § 166, p. 790

Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Dissolution—Continued,
Damages for procuring recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1097–1099
Defective or insufficient bond, § 166, p. 787; § 241, p. 982
Discharge of security from liability on dissolution, § 294
Failure to give, § 166, p. 792; § 242
Motion to dissolve as waiver of bond, § 247
Pleading denying dissolution in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Prima facie case in action on bond, § 300, p. 1087
Employment, damages for loss of employment recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1097
Enforcement of liability in injunction suit, §§ 288, 289
Escrow, evidence of execution of bond as escrow, § 300, p. 1088
Estoppel,
Challenge validity of injunction in action on, § 293, p. 1075
Deny issuance or service of injunction in action on, § 293, p. 1075
Deny recitals of bond, § 293, p. 1076
Deny validity of bond, § 166, p. 792
Recitals in, estoppel by, § 300, p. 1086
Evidence,
Action on, § 300, pp. 1085–1088
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1065–1067
Excessive damages in action on, § 309
Exclusiveness of remedy to assess damages in injunction suit, § 283, pp. 1060, 1061
Execution,
Condition precedent to action on bond, § 292, p. 1070
Unsatisfied, pleading in action on, § 299, pp. 1082, 1083
Executor's or administrator's liability on, § 280
Exemplary damages recoverable on, § 313
Expenses of procuring dissolution recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1097, 1098
Expert testimony, absence of in action on bond, § 300, p. 1088
Extension of time as discharging surety, § 294
Extent of liability, § 282, pp. 1057–1059; §§ 309–316, pp. 1091–1108
Failure to give, § 166, pp. 791, 792
Federal court's power to enforce liability, § 288
Final determination of injunction suit,
Accrual of action on bond dependent on, § 292, pp. 1070–1073
Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Findings in proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1067
Fraud,
Assessment of damages, § 300, p. 1086
Defense in action on, § 293, p. 1076
Pleading fraud in procuring bond, § 299, p. 1084
Good faith as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1076
Gratuitous legal services as not recovered by bond, § 315, p. 1105

Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Hearing,
Entry of judgment against sureties for damages, § 289
Motion to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1064–1067
Impropriety of issuing injunction as defense in action on, § 293, pp. 1074, 1075
Inadequate damages in action on, § 309
Individual capacity of officers, suing in, § 297, p. 1080
Injury to property, damages for recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1096, 1097
Insolvency of principal, pleading, § 299, pp. 1082–1084
Instructions in action on bond, § 301
Intent of parties, § 282, p. 1058
Interest recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1107 Invalidity of injunction as defense in action on bond, § 293, pp. 1074, 1075
Issuance,
Another injunction as defense to action on bond, § 293, p. 1077
Injunction, pleading, § 299, p. 1083
Issues in action on, § 299, p. 1085
Joinder of parties,
Action on bond, § 297, pp. 1080, 1081
Motion for assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1063
Joint and several liability of surety, § 282, p. 1058
Joint motion for assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1063
Joint or several bonds, parties in action on, § 297, p. 1081
Judge, authority to issue, pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Judgment or decree,
Action on, § 302
Bond having force of, § 290
Injunction against judgment, § 166, p. 784
Collection, § 166, p. 782
Enforcement, § 166, p. 786, n. 24; § 166, p. 788
Power to enter judgment on bond in injunction suit, § 289
Jurisdiction of action on, § 295
Recital in judgment, § 302
Jury's power to assess damages, § 305
Leave to sue on bond, § 292, p. 1070
Pleading, § 299, p. 1082
Limitation of action on, § 296
Market value, evidence in action on bond, § 300, p. 1088
Misnomer as discharging surety, § 294
Mistake as discharging surety, § 294
Mitigation of damages in action on, § 293, pp. 1076, 1077
Evidence of, § 300, p. 1087
Modification of injunction,
Action on bond, accrual of, § 292, p. 1073
Attorney's fees for services in procuring as recoverable, § 315, p. 1104
Condition of giving bond, § 231
Discharging surety, § 294
Provision for giving bond, § 237
Moot case as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1077

Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Motive for suing out injunction pleaded in bar, § 299, p. 1084
Nature of action on, § 291
New bond as discharging former bond, § 294
Nominal damages recoverable on, § 314
Non est factum, burden of proof on plea of, § 300, p. 1085
Nonpayment by principal, pleading, § 299, pp. 1082, 1083
Notice,
Entry of judgment against sureties for damages, § 289
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Occupation of property, damages recoverable on bond for deprivation of, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Officers as parties in action on bond, § 297, p. 1080
Pari delicto, attorney's fees to parties in pari delicto, on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1102
Partial dissolution giving rise to action on bond, § 292, p. 1073
Parties,
Action on, § 297, pp. 1079–1081
Appeal in action on, § 303
Motion for assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1063
Payment of damages from other sources as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1077
Penalty of bond affecting damages, § 311
Performance of conditions, burden of proving, § 300, p. 1085
Permanent injunction granted notwithstanding failure to give, § 213
Persons entitled to damages for breach, § 278
Persons liable on, § 280
Petition,
Action on bond, § 299, pp. 1082–1084
Failing to ask for fixing of bond, § 182, p. 867
Plaintiffs in action on bond, § 297, pp. 1079–1081
Plea in action on, § 299, pp. 1084, 1085
Pleading,
Action on, § 299, pp. 1081–1085
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Preliminary injunction, finality of judgment affected by filing motion to assess damages on, § 215, p. 950
Premature action on bond, § 292, p. 1071; § 299, p. 1082
Premature motion to cancel, § 294
Presumptions,
Action on, § 300, p. 1085
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1066
Proceedings for assessment of damages, § 286, pp. 1063–1067
Process,
Action on, § 298
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Profits, loss of profits recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, pp. 1095, 1096
Proof in action on, § 299, p. 1085
Propriety of injunction, pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Public attorney, fees recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1102
Questions of fact in action on, § 301

Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Real party in interest in action on, § 297, p. 1079
Recitals in bond,
Estoppel, § 300, p. 1086
Precluding defenses, § 293, p. 1076
Record of injunction suit,
Evidence in action on, § 300, p. 1086
Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Reference,
Assess damages on, § 283, p. 1060
Cost recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1098
Proceedings to assess damages, § 287
Reference to bond to determine meaning or order, § 206, p. 934
Reinstated injunction, § 256
Release of liability, § 294
Remote damages recoverable on, § 312
Removal from state as discharging security, § 294
Rental value recoverable on bond as damages, § 315, p. 1095
Replication or reply in action on bond, § 299, p. 1085
Restraining order disclosing necessity for bond, § 210
Rights and remedies of surety, § 306
Scope of bond limiting amount of damages, § 310
Scope of inquiry in action on, § 291
Second bond, liability on, § 282, p. 1059
Security for damages, § 166, p. 784
Separate hearing on motion to dissolve affecting recovery of attorney's fees, § 315, p. 1104
Service of injunction,
Estoppel to deny in action on bond, § 293, p. 1075
Pleading, § 299, p. 1083
Set-off against damages on breach of bond, § 316
Settlement, pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Speculative damages recoverable on, § 312; § 315, p. 1096
State,
Co-defendant in action on bond, § 297, p. 1081
Liability on bond in suit in name of, § 280
Party in action on bond payable to, § 297, p. 1081
Statutes, § 165; § 166, pp. 781–792
Assessment of damages, § 284
Conditions of bond, §§ 282, p. 1059
Limitation of amount of damages in action on, § 309
Power to enter judgment on bond in injunction suit, § 289
Preliminary injunction, § 166, pp. 781, 782
Stenographer's fee recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1098, n. 3
Stipulation varying liability of sureties, § 282, p. 1059
Strikes enjoined under Norris-La Guardia Act, § 147, p. 748
Suggestion of assessment of damages, § 286, pp. 1063–1067
Sureties as parties on appeal in action on, § 303
Taxes, liability for, § 282, p. 1057, n. 82
Bonds for injunctions—Continued,
Time,
Accrual of liability, § 282, p. 1059
Awarding damages, § 286, pp. 1065, 1066
Hearing motion to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1065, 1066
Loss of time as recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1097
Suit on bond, § 296
Transcript on appeal in action on, § 303
Trial of action on bond, § 301
Trustee as party in action on bond, § 297, p. 1080
Use of property, damages recoverable on bond for deprivation of, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Value of property,
Evidence of, § 300, p. 1087
Recoverable on bond, § 315, p. 1095
Variance in action on, § 299, p. 1085
Venue of action on, § 295
Violation of injunction as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1077
Voluntary dismissal, accrual of action on bond, § 292, p. 1072
Waiver, § 232
Waiver of action on bond, evidence of, § 300, p. 1087, n. 73
Want of consideration,
Defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1076
Evidence of, § 300, p. 1085
Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Want of jurisdiction as defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1075
Weight and sufficiency of evidence in action on, § 300, pp. 1087, 1088
Wife as party in action on bond, § 297, p. 1080
Witnesses' fees as recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1098, n. 97
Wrongful injunction,
Damages affected by giving, § 281, p. 1055
Liability, § 281, p. 1055
Books and records, corporations, inspection of, § 103
Boundaries,
Adequate remedy at law by proceeding to establish, § 25, p. 454
Decree for defendant establishing, § 216
Hedge fence forming, preventing removal of, § 68
Political subdivisions, elections respecting changes, § 115, p. 644
Boycotts, §§ 139–142, pp. 719–728
Adequate remedy at law, § 140, p. 720
Advisers, relief against, § 140, p. 727
Anti-Trust Act, violation of, § 140, p. 723
Apprehension of injury as ground for relief, § 140, p. 721
Bannering, restraining, § 140, p. 724
Bondholders, right to relief, § 140, p. 726
Capital, § 140
Cessation of acts complained of, § 140, p. 721
Coercion,
Customers, § 140, p. 722
Dealers not to sell materials, § 140, p. 724
Workmen, § 140, p. 721
Combinations constituting, § 140, p. 721
Conspiracy in furtherance of, § 140, p. 722
Contempt by violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1020; § 266, p. 1024, n. 80
Criminal nature of acts, effect of, § 140, p. 720

Boycotts—Continued,
Customers, coercing to withhold patronage, § 140, p. 722
Damages, jurisdiction to award, § 140, p. 720
Disciplinary measures to compel withholding patronage, § 142
Established business, necessity of showing, § 140, p. 721
Evidence in suits against, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Force, coercion of workmen by means of, § 140, p. 721
Industrial disputes, §§ 140–142, pp. 720–728
Intimidation, coercion of workmen by means of, § 140, p. 721
Irreparable injury, § 140, p. 720
Jurisdiction to restrain, § 120, p. 720
Labor, § 141
Labor disputes, §§ 140–142, pp. 720–728
Labor unions, discharge of members as precluding relief, § 140, p. 721
Libelous matter, publication of, § 140, p. 723
National unions, relief against, § 140, p. 727
Norris-La Guardia Act, jurisdiction to restrain under, § 140, p. 725
Patronage, coercing customers to withhold, § 140, p. 722
Persons entitled to relief against, § 140, p. 726
Persons subject to restraint, § 140, p. 727
Preliminary injunction, cessation of acts after, § 140, p. 721
Primary boycott, § 140, p. 720
Combinations and nature of, § 140, p. 725
Refusal to handle materials and supplies, § 140, p. 723
Restraint of trade, illegal agreement in nature of, § 139
Secondary boycott, generally, post
State courts, jurisdiction to restrain, § 140, p. 720
Statutory provisions, § 140, p. 725
Strikes, threat of, § 140, pp. 723, 724
Supporters, relief against, § 140, p. 727
Threatened injury, § 140, p. 721
Unfair, publication of, § 140, p. 724
Violence, coercion of workmen by means of, § 140, p. 721
Workmen, coercion of, § 140, p. 721

Breach of contract,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 886, n. 91
Collective labor agreements, § 138, p. 690
Corporate officers as parties defendant in suit to enjoin violation, § 175, p. 829
Demurrer in suit to enjoin breach, § 185, p. 873
Employment contracts,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 887
Covenants not to engage in business, § 84, p. 571
Inducing breach, § 89
Requiring workers to return to work, § 147, p. 743
Soliciting of employees to strike in breach of, § 147, p. 745
Strike creating breach, § 147, p. 744
Strike in violation of, § 147, pp. 748, 749
Enjoining, § 79
Enticing away employees or customers, § 85

Breach of contract—Continued,
Exclusive privileges, § 81
Expiration of injunction restraining breach, § 207, p. 936
Inducing, § 89
Labor unions, § 138, p. 694
Parties in suits to enjoin, § 174
Personal services, § 82, pp. 560–564
Persons entitled to injunction, § 94
Persons who may be restrained, § 95
Picketing to induce, § 143, p. 732
Pleading in action to restrain, § 182, pp. 847, 848, 862
Public service companies, § 86
Refrigeration, § 86
Relief against, § 80, pp. 549–558
Restraint of trade, § 84, pp. 564–577
Sale,
Business, § 84, p. 565
Chattels, § 83
Telephone or telegraph business, § 86
Use of property, covenants as to, § 87, pp. 579–596
Wills, contract not to contest, § 88

Breach of covenant, pleading irreparable injuries in action to restrain breach, § 182, p. 862

Breach of peace,
Labor disputes involving, § 138, p. 697
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, p. 739

Breach of trust, public officers, § 108, p. 614

Breach of warranty, insolvency of grantor as ground, § 40, p. 484

Bridges,
Issuance depriving public of, § 31
Preventing building of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3

Broadcasts, phonograph records, restraining, § 52, p. 505, n. 30

Bucket shops, injunction against keeping, § 155, p. 766

Building and loan associations, disposition of funds, § 102, n. 4

Building inspector's order, § 152, p. 764, n. 11

Buildings or other structures,
Contempt for violating injunction respecting, § 264, p. 1017
Encroachment by, § 67, pp. 531–535
Erection in violation of fire limits, § 155, p. 767
Evidence in suit to restrain violation, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Obstruction of light, air and view, § 70
Public buildings, use of, § 127
Removal or destruction of, § 68
Restrictive covenants, § 87, pp. 579–596
Building line, § 87, p. 592, n. 10
Schools, illegal use of, § 112, p. 637, n. 93

Burden of proof,
Assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1066
Bond, action on, § 300, p. 1085
Contempt proceedings, § 273, pp. 1041, 1042
Motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 999
New matter in answer, § 250, p. 994
Suit for injunction, § 190, pp. 884–887

Business. Trade, business or occupation, generally, post

Butcher business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568

By-laws of corporations,
Compelling posting of, § 101
Exercise of powers under, § 98; § 107, n. 70
Calling elections, § 115, p. 643
Canals,
Issuance depriving public of, § 31
Officers, restraining acts of, § 114
Cancellation,
Contract,
Relief to defendants, § 216
Temporary injunction pending suit for, § 90
Instrument, permanent injunction providing for, § 217, pp. 951, 952
Canvass of votes, elections, § 115, p. 645
Capacity to sue,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885, n. 74
Demurrer for lack of, § 178
Capital, boycott of, § 140, pp. 720–727
Capital cases, irreparable injury, § 23, p. 447, n. 18
Carriers, dealing in tickets of, § 75
Cause of action, existence of act giving rise to as essential, § 19, p. 429
Caution,
Issuance of, § 15
Labor disputes, interference with, § 138, p. 687
Cease and desist order,
Mandatory injunction, nature as, § 5, p. 409, n. 23
Nature as, § 1, n. 1
Certainty,
Decree granting permanent injunction, § 211, pp. 944, 945
Evidence to sustain issuance, § 192, pp. 889, 890
Judgment in contempt proceedings, § 274
Mandatory injunction, order for, § 206, p. 935
Moving papers, uncertainty as ground for denying continuance of injunction, § 234, p. 974
Pleading,
Answer, § 183
Justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
Bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 853–857
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1039
Insolvency of defendant, § 182, p. 864
Motion to make bill more certain, § 185, p. 871
Writ or order, § 206, pp. 932–934; § 210
Essential to liability for contempt, § 259, pp. 1008, 1009
Certificate of election, compelling giving of, § 115, p. 645
Certiorari,
Adequate remedy by way of, § 40, p. 489
Municipal officers, § 111, p. 636
Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 619
Misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 660
Relief obtainable by, § 25, p. 454
Cessation of acts, effect of, § 22, p. 445
Chambers of court,
Allowance of injunction at, § 168, p. 796
Contempt, punishment at chambers, § 270, p. 1029
Discharge of surety by agreement to try case at, § 294
Motion to dismiss, hearing at chambers, § 198, p. 915
Change in circumstances after bringing suit,
Effect of, § 29
Ground for dismissal, § 198, p. 912
Change in circumstances after bringing suit—Cont'd,
Jurisdiction to award damages, § 217, p. 945
Change of law as ground for modifying injunction, § 237
Change of venue,
Issuance for purpose of, § 42
Preliminary injunction granted before hearing motion, § 205
Changed conditions, restrictive covenants, enforcement of, § 87, p. 588
Character of restraint granted, § 206, pp. 934, 935
Charitable corporations, labor laws, application to, § 138, pp. 717, 719
Charters, corporations, violation of, § 99
Chattel mortgages,
Disposal of property, § 72
Transfer, § 74
Chattels, breach of contracts for sale of, § 83
Chief of police, contempt for disobeying injunction, § 264, p. 1021
Chinese laundry, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Chiropody, license, practicing without, § 124, p. 674
Chiropractors, license, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 30
Church property, injunction against interference, § 155, p. 766
Church purposes, covenant to use land for, breach, § 87, p. 580
Cigarette tax, enjoining collection, § 157, n. 80
Circuit court of appeals, power to grant, § 168, p. 798
Circuit court's jurisdiction to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 65
Circumstantial evidence,
Contempt proceedings, § 273, p. 1042
Issuance, § 192, p. 891
Citizen required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 785
Civil nature of suit for, § 162
Civil rights,
Criminal acts affecting, § 151, pp. 762–764
Protection limited to, § 19, p. 430
Statute, injunction against violation, § 155, p. 766
Civil service, appointment or removal of officers within, § 116
Class suits, § 174; § 176, p. 832; § 176, p. 833, n. 62
Dismissal, § 198, p. 908
Classification, common and special injunction, § 6
Clayton Act,
Picketing under, § 143, pp. 740, 741
Secondary boycott, § 140, p. 726
State laws modeled on, § 138, p. 709
Strikes, enjoining, § 147, p. 749
Violation of, § 138, p. 695
Clean hands,
Applicability of maxim, § 26
Breach of contract, relief as requiring, § 80, p. 554
Police officers, assistance in violating the law, § 108, p. 621
Prosecution of actions or proceedings, § 51
Cleaning and dyeing business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Clear case,
Elections, restraining holding of, § 115, p. 645
Necessity of, § 19, p. 431

Clear right,
See, also, Doubtful cases, generally, post
Federal officers and agencies, relief against, § 109, p. 623
Legislative bodies, § 108, p. 615, n. 76
Ordinances, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 653
Police officers, relief as against, § 108, p. 621
Statutory provisions, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 653

Clerk of court,
Execution of injunction bond before, § 166, p. 790
Filing injunction bond with, § 166, p. 790
Party defendant in suit to restrain enforcement of orders, etc., § 175, pp. 828, 829
Preliminary injunction issued by, § 169, p. 813

Closed shop,
Contracts, attempt to force, restraining, § 138, p. 698
Picketing to procure, § 143, p. 737

Cloud on title, preventing acts creating, § 22, p. 439, n. 73

Co-defendants,
Answer justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 994, 995
Cross-bill against, § 184
Jurisdiction of, § 168, p. 794, n. 33
State as co-defendant in action on bond, § 297, p. 1081

Coercion,
Boycotts, ante
Breach of contract, inducing, § 89
Property rights, interference accompanied by, § 52, p. 506
Secondary boycotts containing elements of, § 140, p. 720
Strike accompanied by, § 147, pp. 746–750
Strikes by third persons, injunction against, § 147, p. 745

Collateral attack,
Contempt judgment, § 259, p. 1007; § 274
Final decree, § 215, p. 949, n. 57
Judgment in action on bond, § 302

Collateral matters, special injunction founded on, § 6

Collection of money, prevention of, § 76

Collective bargaining,
National Labor Relations Board, direction for election to determine representative, § 138, p. 705
Protecting right of, § 138, p. 688
Railroad employees, interference with right, § 138, p. 708
State labor laws, violation of, § 138, p. 709

Collector of customs, party defendant, § 175, p. 827, n. 90

Collusion, public officers and boards, § 108, p. 617

Collusive suit, ground for dissolution, § 241, p. 979

Colored persons, covenant not to sell or lease to, breach, § 87, p. 580, n. 84

Columnist, breach of contract for personal services, § 82, p. 562

Combinations, injunction against criminal combinations, § 153

Commercial buildings, restrictive covenants, erection in violation of, § 87, p. 592

Commercial enterprise, photographs, unauthorized use in connection with, § 132, n. 77

Commissioners, special proceedings before, § 43

Commissions. Public officers and boards, generally, post

Commodities, statutory regulation repealing, violation, § 123, p. 663

Common injunction, § 6
Dissolution, effect of answer on motion to dissolve, § 250, p. 990
Issuance of, § 205

Common injury,
Joinder of parties in suit to enjoin, § 176, p. 832
Right in case of, § 22, p. 441

Common interest of defendants, joinder of, § 176, p. 833

Common law injunction bond, defective statutory bond good as, § 166, p. 787

Common pleas court's jurisdiction to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 64

Community property, pleading in suit to enjoin attempted deprivation of, § 182, p. 857, n. 82

Comparative inconvenience or injury, consideration of, § 30, p. 462
Trespass on real property, § 64, p. 527

Compelling action by, § 4

Compensation, fees and salaries,
Attorney's fees, generally, ante
Corporate officers, unreasonable salaries, § 102, n. 4
Item of costs, § 221, p. 962
Fees of referee and stenographer, § 221, p. 960

Competition,
Burden of proof in suits for injunction to enforce covenants against, § 190, p. 887
Contract for sale of business involving, breach of, § 84, p. 566
Compensations, restraining, § 97
Employment contract not to engage in, breach of, § 84, p. 571
Evidence in suit to restrain engaging in competing business, § 192, pp. 892, 895, 896
Former employees engaging in competitive business, § 148, pp. 755–757
Interference with business as result of, § 138, p. 685
Pleading,
Action to restrain agreement not to engage in, § 182, p. 847
Suit to enjoin breach of contract not to engage in, § 182, p. 860, n. 99
Title in suit to enjoin competition, § 182, p. 857, n. 82

Complainants, § 174
Contempt, § 263, pp. 1013, 1014
Joinder, § 176, pp. 831, 832

Complaint,
See, also, Bill for injunction, generally, ante
Bond, action on, § 299, pp. 1081–1084
Suit for injunction, § 182, pp. 844–869
Demurrer to, § 185, pp. 871–875
Evidence, complaint as, § 194
Preliminary injunction issued before filing, § 205
Service of summons and complaint, § 179, n. 7
Use and effect on motion to dissolve, § 249
Verification, § 187, pp. 879, 882

Completed acts,
- County or town officers, § 110
- Mandatory injunction in respect of, § 5, p. 410
- Police officers, § 108, p. 621
- Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 619
- School boards and officers, § 112, p. 638
- State officers or boards, § 109, p. 629

Compromise and settlement, restraining, § 45
Concealment,
- Defense of limitations precluded by, § 46
- Facts in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 846

Conclusions,
- Admission,
  - Failure to deny, § 183
  - Motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 915
- Affidavit in support of application in injunction, § 195, p. 902
- Counter affidavits opposing issuance, § 197
- Pleading,
  - Amendment to cure defects, § 186, p. 875
  - Bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 855, 856
  - Demurrer,
    - Admitting conclusions in pleading, § 185, p. 873
    - Ground of, § 185, p. 872
  - Evidence sustaining issuance of injunction, § 194
  - Findings on allegations of, § 199, pp. 922, 923
  - Fraud, § 182, p. 865
  - Inadequacy of remedy at law, § 182, p. 863
  - Irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
  - Plaintiff's injury, § 182, pp. 859, 860
  - Plea or answer, § 183
    - Justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
- Setting out conclusions constituting grounds of court's action, § 206, p. 932

Conclusiveness,
- Decision on dissolution in action on bond, § 293, p. 1074
- Dismissal, § 198, p. 916
- Dissolution, § 255
- Evidence to sustain issuance, § 192, p. 890
- Judgment or decree, § 220
  - Final judgment or decree, § 215, p. 949
  - Surety on dissolution bond, § 231
- Verdict or finding in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 923
- Voluntary dismissal, § 198, p. 908

Concurrent jurisdiction, right as affected, § 41, p. 490
Condemnation proceedings,
- Protection of title or right to property pending, § 56, p. 519
- Suspension of injunction until commencement of, § 239

Conditional injunction, contempt for violating, § 258, p. 1004
Conditions,
- Granting or refusing injunction, § 202, pp. 928–930
  - Dissolution for noncompliance, § 242
  - Payment of damages or security as, § 217, p. 956
- Suspension of injunction, § 219

Conditions precedent,
- Actions for damages independently of bond, § 307
- Assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 285
- Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1082
- Suit for injunction, § 164
- Wrongful injunction, action for, § 307

Conduct of complainant as affecting right, § 26
Confession of judgment, conditions prerequisite to injunction against law action, § 41, p. 492
Confidential relationship of party enjoined from disclosing trade secret, § 148, pp. 752–755
Confiscatory ordinances, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 653, n. 58
Conflicting evidence as ground for continuing injunction, § 234, p. 974
Consent,
- Breach of contract, § 80, p. 554
- Conveyance in violation of injunction, § 207, p. 938
- Dismissal, § 198, pp. 908, 916
- Dissolution, § 242
- Encroaching structures, § 67, p. 534
- Hearing during vacation, § 199, p. 919
- Injunction bond by defendant, § 166, p. 790
- Strike, restraining union from, § 147, pp. 744, 745

Consent decree,
- Modification of, § 218, p. 957, n. 83
- Vacation of, § 218, p. 958

Consideration,
- Contracts, relief for breach of dependent on, § 80, p. 556
- Contracts in restraint of trade, inadequacy as ground for refusal of relief, § 84, p. 565
- Employment contracts, breach of covenant in, § 84, p. 573
- Injunction bond, § 166, pp. 786, 787

Consolidated school districts, illegal act in organization, § 112, p. 637, n. 90
Consolidation, multiplicity of suits, adequate remedy at law by, § 38, p. 477
Consortium, intrusion into family affairs destructive of, § 137
Conspiracies, § 153
- Boycotts, furtherance of, § 140, p. 722
- Defraud, restraining prosecution of action, § 37, p. 472, n. 63
- Evidence in suit to restrain, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 897
- Injunction to prevent, § 155, p. 766

Constitutional provisions,
- Burden of proving unconstitutionality, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
- Continuance of injunction restraining enforcement of unconstitutional statute, § 234, p. 974, n. 16
- Dissolution of injunction against enforcement of unconstitutional statute issued by three-judge court, § 229, p. 966
- Jurisdiction of federal three-judge court, § 168, pp. 798–811
- Modification of injunction against enforcement of unconstitutional statute issued by three-judge court, § 228, p. 966
- Party defendant in suit involving constitutional questions, § 175, p. 825

Constitutional provisions—Continued,
Pleading unconstitutionality to sustain jurisdiction, § 182, p. 847; § 182, p. 852, n. 45
Public officers, § 108, p. 615
Restraining prosecutions based on unconstitutional statutes or ordinance, §§ 157, 158, pp. 773–778
Right to injunction, § 11
Secondary boycott, violation of, § 140, p. 726
Construction,
Bill or complaint for injunctive relief, § 182, pp. 867, 868
Criminal statute, misinterpretation as ground for restraining prosecution, § 156, p. 771; § 158, p. 773
Cross-bill, § 184
Final judgment or decree, § 215, pp. 948–950
Injunction, § 206, p. 934; § 207, pp. 935–938
Instrument affecting dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 991
Mandatory injunction order, § 206, p. 935
Order on motion to dissolve, § 253
Statute,
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 782
Preliminary injunction, § 11
State statute, federal three-judge court's power to construe, § 168, p. 803; § 168, p. 810, n. 33
Verdict in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 923
Constructive notice, restrictive covenants, enforcement, § 87, p. 582
Constructive possession, trespass or other injury to real property, § 58
Constructive service,
Process in suit for injunction, § 179
Writ or order, § 208
Contempt, §§ 257–277, pp. 1003–1053
Ability to obey, § 262
Accusation, § 272, pp. 1037–1041
Acquiescence in violation, § 266, p. 1026
Affecting liability, § 263, p. 1011
Evidence, § 273, p. 1042
Acts constituting, § 264, pp. 1015–1023
Acts of complainant as defense, § 266, p. 1026
Admissibility of evidence, § 273, p. 1042
Admissions as evidence, § 273, p. 1042
Advice of counsel,
Defense, § 268
Mitigating punishment, § 269
Affidavit in proceedings for, § 272, pp. 1037–1041
Affirmance, § 275, p. 1047
Judgment affecting liability, § 258, p. 1006
Agents,
Liability, § 263, pp. 1012–1015
Preventing violation by, § 263, p. 1011
Agreement to violate, § 264, p. 1016
Aiders and abettors, issues in proceedings against, § 272, p. 1041
Amendment of pleadings, § 272, p. 1040
Ancillary proceedings, § 271, p. 1033
Answer in contempt proceedings, § 272, pp. 1038, 1040, 1041
Appellate court,
Jurisdiction to punish for contempt, § 270, p. 1030
Proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Contempt—Continued,
Assault by striker, § 264, p. 1019, n. 10
Assignee,
Entitled to institute proceedings, § 271, p. 1033
Preventing violation by, § 263, p. 1011
Association and officers, agents, and members, § 263, pp. 1014, 1015
Evidence of violation by officer, § 273, p. 1043
Attorneys,
Advice,
Defense, § 268
Mitigating punishment, § 269
Fees as item of cost, § 277
Knowledge of injunction, § 261
Liability for, § 207, p. 938; § 263, p. 1013
Authorization by court, legislature or third parties as defense, § 266, p. 1027
Bill, determination of sufficiency in proceedings for, § 271, p. 1037
Bill of particulars in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1038
Body execution to collect cost of proceedings, § 277
Bond for injunction issued in lieu of contempt proceedings, § 166, p. 782
Boycott injunction, § 264, p. 1020; § 266, p. 1024, n. 80
Buildings or other structures, violation of injunction respecting, § 264, p. 1017
Burden of proof in proceedings for, § 273, pp. 1041, 1042
Business and professions, violation of injunction respecting, § 264, pp. 1022, 1023
Certainty,
Judgment in proceedings for, § 274
Writ or order as essential to liability, § 259, pp. 1008, 1009
Certified questions for purpose of review, § 275, p. 1045
Certiorari to review proceedings, § 275, p. 1045
Change in condition or rights as defense, § 266, p. 1025
Character of defendants as defense, § 266, p. 1024
Character of proceedings, determination of, § 271, pp. 1032, 1033
Circumstantial evidence, § 273, p. 1042
Citizen, proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Civil nature of proceedings, § 271, pp. 1030–1033
Collateral attack,
Contempt judgment, § 274
Judgment granting injunction in contempt proceedings, § 259, p. 1007
Collection of cost of proceedings, § 277
Commitment, § 274
Payment of fine, commitment until, § 276, p. 1050
Compensatory fine, § 276, pp. 1050, 1051
Complainant or his agent, § 263, pp. 1013, 1014
Conditional judgment, § 258, p. 1004
Conditional penalty for nonpayment of fine, § 276, p. 1050
Conduct constituting, § 264, pp. 1015–1023
Conduct of complainant as defense, § 266, p. 1026
Conflict of law as to punishment, § 276, p. 1049

Contempt—Continued,
Consent decree, violation arising from construction, § 264, p. 1017
Consent to violation, § 266, p. 1026
Conspirator's liability, § 263, p. 1012
Construction of decree in determining violation, § 264, pp. 1016, 1017
Contracts, execution by public officer as constituting, § 264, pp. 1020, 1021
Conveyance or disposition of property, § 264, p. 1018
Copyright infringement injunction, § 264, p. 1023
Corporation, officers, agents, and employees, § 263, p. 1014
Evidence of violation by officer, § 273, p. 1043
Costs of proceedings, § 277
Courts,
Authorization as defense, § 266, p. 1027
Power to punish, § 270, pp. 1029, 1030
Criminal contempt, § 258, p. 1005; § 271, pp. 1031–1037; § 272, pp. 1037–1041; § 273, pp. 1041–1044; § 274; § 275, pp. 1045–1047; § 276, pp. 1047–1050; § 277
Criminal court's power to punish, § 270, p. 1029
Criminal nature of proceedings, § 271, pp. 1030–1033
Cross-examination of defendant, § 271, p. 1036
Damages as punishment, § 276, pp. 1050, 1051
Decisions reviewable, § 275, p. 1045
Decoy, violation of injunction in dealing with, § 266, p. 1026
Defenses, §§ 266–268, pp. 1024–1028
Evidence, § 273, p. 1042
Pleading, § 272, p. 1041
Delay in instituting proceedings, § 271, p. 1034
Demurrer in proceedings for, § 272, p. 1040
Denunciation of judge issuing injunction, § 264, p. 1018
Discharge on answer, § 272, p. 1041
Discretion of court,
Attorney's fees, allowance of, § 277
Punishment, § 276, pp. 1048, 1049
Dismissal,
Action as defense, § 266, p. 1025
Appeal unless injunction order is performed, § 276, p. 1052
Proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Dissolution, person in contempt applying for, § 224
Dissolved injunction, § 258, pp. 1005, 1006
Division of federal district court, power to punish, § 270, p. 1030
Divorce obtained in violation of injunction, § 276, p. 1052
Employment, interference with, § 264, p. 1019
Enjoining contempt proceeding, §§ 42, 50
Entitling proceedings, § 271, pp. 1031, 1032
Determining nature of, § 271, p. 1033
Entry of judgment in proceedings for, § 274
Evidence in proceedings, § 273, pp. 1041–1044
Defendant, § 271, p. 1036
Excuse for violating injunction, § 258, p. 1004; § 259, pp. 1007–1010, 1012; §§ 266–268, pp. 1024–1028
Exemplary damages, § 276, p. 1051
Contempt—Continued,
Federal court's jurisdiction to punish, § 270, p. 1030
Final determination adverse to complainant as defense, § 266, p. 1025
Fine, § 276, pp. 1048–1053
Judgment imposing, § 274
Form and nature of proceedings, § 271, pp. 1030–1033
Good faith,
Defense, § 267
Excusing liability, § 263, p. 1012
Mitigating punishment, § 269
Handbills, picketing injunction violated by distributing, § 264, p. 1019
Harmless error, § 275, p. 1047
Hearing of proceedings, § 271, pp. 1035–1037
Impossibility of performance, § 262
Imprisonment, § 276, pp. 1048–1053
Nonpayment of costs, § 277
Independent proceedings, § 271, p. 1033
Indictment, § 272, p. 1038
Indirect contempt, § 257
Information and belief, pleading, § 272, p. 1040
Information in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1038
Injury,
Lack of injury as mitigating punishment, § 269
Plaintiff, pleading, § 272, p. 1039
Want of injury from performance of forbidden act as defense, § 266, pp. 1024, 1025
Intent, § 264, p. 1016; §§ 267, 269; § 1071, p. 1033
Invited error, § 275, p. 1047
Issues in proceedings, § 272, p. 1041
Judgment conforming to, § 274
Judge's advice as defense, § 268
Judgment in proceedings, § 274
Jurisdiction,
Contempt proceedings, § 270, pp. 1029, 1030
Determination in proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Review, § 1075, p. 1046
Violation outside jurisdiction, § 264, p. 1017
Jury trial of proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Justification for violation, §§ 266–268, pp. 1024–1028
Burden of proof, § 273, p. 1042
Knowledge of injunction, § 261; § 263, pp. 1011, 1012
Evidence, § 273, pp. 1043, 1044
Pleading, § 272, p. 1039
Labor disputes, violation of injunction relating to, § 264, pp. 1018–1020
Laches affecting proceedings, § 271, p. 1034
Landlord's liability for acts of tenant, § 263, p. 1011
Legislative authorization as defense, § 266, p. 1027
Leniency in punishing, § 276, p. 1048
Mandate violated, §§ 258–260, pp. 1004–1009
Mandatory injunction, § 258, pp. 1004, 1005; § 264, p. 1018
Merger of preliminary injunction affecting liability, § 258, p. 1005

Contempt—Continued,
Misjoinder of parties in proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Mitigation of punishment, § 269
Modification,
Contempt order, § 274
Judgment by appellate court, § 275, p. 1047
Modified injunction, § 258, p. 1006
Municipal corporations and municipal officers and agents, § 263, p. 1015
Penalties, § 276, p. 1049
New trial,
Remand of proceedings for, § 275, p. 1047
Suspending decree affecting liability, § 260
Notice,
Injunction, § 261; § 263, pp. 1012, 1013, 1015
Pleading, § 272, p. 1039
Proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Obstructing employer's place of business, § 264, p. 1020
Officers, § 263, p. 1015; § 264, pp. 1020, 1021
Corporation officers, § 263, p. 1014
Violation of injunction against interfering with, § 264, p. 1023
Order,
Contempt proceedings, § 274
Injunction, order for,
Determination of validity in proceedings for contempt, § 271, p. 1037
Pleading, § 272, p. 1039
Ordinance,
Authorizing act as defense, § 266, p. 1027
Violating injunction against enforcement, § 264, p. 1021
Overt act, § 264, p. 1016
Parties,
Contempt proceedings, § 271, pp. 1033–1035
Liability of parties to suit for, § 263, pp. 1010–1012
Parties not named in order, § 263, pp. 1013, 1015
Review of proceedings, parties entitled, § 275, p. 1045
Payment,
Cost, § 277
Fine, § 276, p. 1050
Penalty for violation, § 276, pp. 1047–1052
Performance of prohibited acts, § 264, p. 1015
Personal representative, proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Persons liable, § 263, pp. 1010–1015
Persons who may institute proceedings, § 271, pp. 1033, 1034
Persuading employees to refrain from working, § 264, p. 1018
Petition in proceedings for, § 272, p. 1037
Picketing injunction, § 264, p. 1019; § 266, p. 1024, n. 80
Place of violation, § 264, p. 1017; § 270, p. 1029
Plea, § 272, p. 1040
Pleading in proceedings, § 272, pp. 1037–1041
Judgment conforming to, § 274
Poverty rendering performance impossible, § 262
Power to punish, § 270, pp. 1028–1030
Prayer for punishment, § 272, p. 1040
Contempt—Continued,
Presumptions,
Appeal, § 275, p. 1046
Complaint or affidavit, § 272, p. 1038
Contempt proceedings, § 273, p. 1041
Privies,
Liability for, § 263, p. 1013
Proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Privilege as litigant denied as punishment, § 276, p. 1052
Proceedings to punish, §§ 271–275, pp. 1030–1047
Process in contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Procuring or permitting violation by third person, § 264, p. 1017
Profits, want of profit from performance of prohibited act as defense, § 266, p. 1024
Proof in proceedings for, § 272, p. 1041
Judgment conforming to, § 274
Punishment, § 276, pp. 1047–1052
Mitigation, § 269
Power to punish, § 270, pp. 1028–1030
Prayer for punishment, § 272, p. 1040
Proceedings to punish, §§ 271–275, pp. 1030–1047
Purging of contempt, § 276, p. 1052
Questions considered on review, § 275, p. 1046
Rainfall as justifying disobedience, § 266, p. 1024, n. 74
Real party in interest in proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Reasonable doubt as to guilt, § 273, p. 1042
Receiver, proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Record,
Order as essential to liability, § 259, p. 1008
Reviewing proceedings, § 275, p. 1045
Reinstated injunction, § 270, p. 1030
Remedial punishment, § 276, pp. 1047, 1048
Reopening proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Reply in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1038
Resettlement affecting liability, § 258, p. 1006
Return, § 272, p. 1040
Reversal on appeal, § 275, p. 1047
Reversed order, § 258, pp. 1004, 1005
Review of proceedings, § 275, pp. 1045–1047
Scope,
Inquiry, § 271, pp. 1036, 1037
Review of proceedings, § 275, pp. 1045–1047
Second injunction preventing proceedings for violation of first injunction, § 266, p. 1026
Security to obey injunction, § 276, p. 1049
Seizure of employer's property, § 264, § 1020
Sentence, § 276, pp. 1047–1052
Separate contempts, § 265
Punishment for, § 276, pp. 1049, 1050
Servants,
Liability, § 263, pp. 1012, 1014
Preventing violation by, § 263, p. 1011
Service of order for injunction affecting liability, § 261; § 263, pp. 1011–1012
Sickness rendering performance impossible, § 262
Spirit of injunction, violation as constituting, § 264, p. 1016
State as party to proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Statute fixing punishment, § 276, p. 1048
Statutory limitations for instituting proceedings, § 271, p. 1035

Contempt—Continued,
- Stay,
  - Appeal affecting liability, § 260
  - Proceedings pending appeal, § 275, p. 1045
- Stipulation for dissolution as defense, § 266, p. 1026
- Strike injunctions, § 264, pp. 1018–1020; § 266, p. 1027, n. 11; § 270, p. 1029, n. 38
- Striking out pleading, § 272, p. 1040
- Subsequent compliance as mitigating punishment, § 269
- Subsequent obedience as defense, § 266, p. 1025
- Successors in interest, § 263, p. 1013
  - Right to institute proceedings, § 271, pp. 1033, 1034
- Summary trial, § 271, p. 1036
- Supreme court's jurisdiction to punish, § 270, p. 1030
- Surplusage in pleadings, § 272, p. 1040
- Suspension of decree by motion for new trial, § 260
- Termination of injunction affecting liability, § 258, pp. 1005, 1006
- Third party's authorization as defense, § 266, p. 1027
- Time,
  - Instituting proceedings, § 271, pp. 1034, 1035
  - Payment of fine, § 276, p. 1050
  - Rendering judgment, § 274
- Trademark infringement injunction, § 264, p. 1023
- Trial of proceedings, § 271, pp. 1035–1037
- Unconstitutional punishment, § 276, p. 1049
- Unfair competition injunction, § 264, p. 1022
- Unfair to organized labor signs, carrying as violation, § 264, p. 1019
- Validity,
  - Injunction order considered on appeal in contempt proceedings, § 275, pp. 1046, 1047
  - Regularity of judgment, § 259, pp. 1006–1009
- Variance in proceedings for, § 272, p. 1041
- Venue of contempt proceedings, § 270, p. 1029
- Verification of pleadings, § 272, p. 1040
- Void injunction, § 259, pp. 1006–1009
- Voluntary association and officers, agents and members, § 263, pp. 1014, 1015
- Waiver as defense, § 266, p. 1026
- Want of jurisdiction as defense, § 266, pp. 1024, 1025
- Weight and sufficiency of evidence in proceedings for, § 273, pp. 1042–1044
- Witness, defendant as, § 271, p. 1036
- Writ violated, §§ 258–260, pp. 1004–1009
- Wrongful acts of complainant as defense, § 266, p. 1026

Contest of elections, remedy by, § 115, p. 642, n. 49
Contest of wills, breach of contract as to, § 88
Contingency, preliminary injunction where relief dependent on, § 19, p. 483
Continuance of hearing, § 199, pp. 919, 920
Continuing acts, multiplicity of suits as result of, § 24
Continuing injunction, §§ 233–235, pp. 972–975
- Additional bond, § 231
- Bond, continuance on condition of giving, § 231
- Construction of order, § 253
- Damages arising from continuance pending appeal, § 315, pp. 1107, 1108

Continuing injunction—Continued,
- Discretion of court, § 226, pp. 964–966
- Entry of order or decree of continuance, § 253
- Grounds, § 234, pp. 972–974
- Hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
- Mandamus to control discretion, § 226, p. 966
- New bond on continuance as discharging former bond, § 294
- Proceedings to obtain, § 235
- Relative convenience or injury determining right, § 227
- Restraining order, effect of, § 8, n. 6
- Review of discretion, § 226, p. 966
- Scope of inquiry before granting, § 233
- Special injunction, § 6
- Terms imposed, §§ 230, 231, pp. 969–971
- Wrongful continuing affecting right to damages, § 281, p. 1056

Continuing injury, prevention of, § 22, p. 444
Continuing trespass, § 64, pp. 525–528
- Animals, § 69
- Cutting of timber, § 66
- Easements, preventing acquisition of, § 64, p. 528
- Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 532
- Establishment of title as condition to injunction, discretion of court, § 55, p. 516
- Insolvency of trespasser, § 63
- Irreparable injury, § 58
- Licensee, protection from, § 53, p. 511
- Multiplicity of suits, numerous actions for, § 38, p. 477, n. 10
- Relief against, § 13, n. 47

Continuing wrong, laches as defense to injunction, § 171, p. 817
Continuous supervision,
- Breach of contract requiring, § 80, p. 557
- Enforcement requiring, § 29

Contracts, §§ 77–95, pp. 547–601
- Adequate remedy at law, ante
- Breach of contracts, generally, ante
- Contempt by entering into new public contract, § 264, pp. 1020, 1021
- Corporation, § 103
- Dismissal by agreement affecting accrual of action on bond, § 292, pp. 1072, 1073
- Evidence in injunction suit involving, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 891, 892, 894, 895
- Execution of, § 90
- Forfeiture of, § 91
- Fraud, ground for restraining actions on, § 40, p. 485
- Incapacitating self from performing, § 92
- Labor unions, interference with, § 138, p. 692
  - State laws, § 138, p. 710
- Making of, § 77
- Mandatory injunction, violation of, § 93
- Negative covenants or stipulations, §§ 78, 79
- Parties in suits involving, § 173, p. 820; § 174; § 175, p. 823, n. 56
- Performance of, § 90
- Pleading nonperformance, § 182, p. 857, n. 82
- Preventing others from performing, § 92
- Public officers and boards, unauthorized contracts, § 120
- Public service companies, § 86
- Restrictive covenants or stipulations, §§ 78, 79

Contracts—Continued,
School buildings, restraining execution of, § 112, p. 637, n. 90
Teachers, protection of, § 112, p. 639
Trade secrets, protection from breach of contract, § 148, pp. 753, 754
Violation of injunction, § 207, p. 938
Want of consideration, defense of as precluding injunction against action on, § 40, p. 483
Convenience. Balance of convenience, generally, ante
Conversion,
Prevention of, § 71
Violation of injunction, § 264, p. 1080
Conveyance or other disposition of property, §§ 72–74, pp. 541–544.
Contempt in disobeying injunction relating to, § 264, p. 1018
Co-plaintiffs, verification of pleadings by, § 187, p. 880
Copy of writ or order, service of, § 208
Copyright infringement, contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023
Cornering market, injunction to prevent, § 155, p. 766
Cornices, encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Corporate stock, transfer or pledge of, § 73
Corporations, §§ 96–107, pp. 601–614
Agents, contempt in disobeying injunction, § 263, p. 1014
Answer without oath preventing issuance, § 196, p. 907
Bonds issued, § 103
By-laws,
Compelling posting of, § 101
Exercise of powers, § 98; § 107, n. 70
Cancelled funds, purchase of membership certificate with, § 102, n. 15
Charters, violation of, § 99
Compelling performance of duties, § 101
Conclusiveness of judgment against, § 220
Contempt,
Disobeying injunction, § 263, p. 1014
Violating injunction against interfering with corporate privileges, § 264, p. 1023
Contracts of, § 103
Deadlock in management, § 102
Dealings with property, § 102
De facto officers, exercise of powers, § 106
Denial of rights of stockholders, § 103
Directors, breach of trust, § 102
Discrimination, § 98
Disposition of property, § 102
Election of officers, § 105
Evidence in injunction suits involving franchises, management, etc., § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
Exceeding powers, § 99
Exercise of powers, §§ 98-103, pp. 604–612
Franchises, generally, post
Fraudulent sale of securities, restraining officers, § 123, p. 668, n. 91
Funds, misapplication of, § 102
Infringement of rights of stockholders, § 103
Inspection of books and records, § 103
Invasion of franchise or rights, § 97
Libel against, § 134
Management of affairs, §§ 98–103, pp. 604–612
Corporations—Continued,
Misapplication of funds of property, § 102
Misuse of powers, § 99
Officers, §§ 104–107
Acting as, § 106
Contempt in disobeying injunction, § 263, p. 1014
Discretion of, §§ 102, 107
Election of, § 105
Evidence of violation by, § 273, p. 1043
Exercise of powers, § 106
Mandatory injunction, § 104
Necessary parties defendant, § 175, p. 829
Removal and reinstatement, § 105
Rights to office, § 104
Optometry, practicing of, § 124, p. 672, n. 26
Parties,
Defendant, § 175, pp. 829, 830
Suit against improper use of corporate name, § 174
Suits relating to rights in, § 173, p. 820
Permanent injunction against, § 214
Practice of law, restraining, § 123, p. 666, n. 81
Preliminary injunction, post
Presumption of commission of criminal acts by, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Property, dealings with, § 102
Protection of rights, § 97
Public service companies, generally, post
Quo warranto, remedy against distinguished, § 96
Sale of assets, § 102
Seizure of records, prevention of, § 52, p. 508, n. 63
Stockholders, generally, post
Threatened interferences, § 97
Ultra vires acts, § 100
Verification of answer by, § 187, p. 880; § 250, p. 994
Voting of stock, § 105
Corroboration of witnesses testifying to overcome answer, § 196, p. 904
Corruption, calling of election, § 115, p. 643
Costs,
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Contempt proceedings, § 277
Motion to dissolve, § 254
Suit for injunction, § 221, pp. 960–962
Wrongful injunction, county's liability for, § 279
Counter-affidavits,
Affidavits in rebuttal, § 195, pp. 903, 904
Motion to dissolve, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Opposing issuance, § 197
Counterclaim. Set-off and counterclaim, post
Counter injunction, § 27
Dissolution effected by, § 248
County,
Liability for costs and damages for wrongful injunction, § 279
Party defendant in suit for injunction, § 125, p. 824
County board of education, party in suit to enjoin teachers' minimum salaries, § 175, p. 826, n. 78
County boards and officers, § 110
County courts,
Controlling or preventing acts by, § 110
Jurisdiction to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 62, 66

County school superintendent, party defendant in suit to restrain change of boundaries, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
County seats, removal of, § 110
Court commissioner,
  Party defendant in suit to enjoin sale, § 175, p. 829
  Preliminary injunction issued by, § 169, pp. 812, 813
Courts,
  Inability to grant complete injunctive relief, § 217, p. 952
  Publication of proceedings of, § 129
  State courts, post
Covenants,
  Burden of proof in action to enforce, § 190, p. 887
  Evidence in injunction suit involving, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 891, 894
  Parties in suit to enjoin breach, § 174
  Pleading in action to restrain breach, § 182, pp. 847, 848
    Irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
  Use of property, breach of, § 87, pp. 579–596
Credibility of witnesses testifying by affidavit, § 197
Credit, compelling entry of, § 74
Creditors,
  Corporations, misapplication of funds, § 102
  Injunction against soliciting customers of debtor, § 148, p. 756, n. 56
  Necessary parties in suits for, § 173, p. 820
Creditors' bill, timber involved, restraining cutting and carrying pending, § 56, p. 521
Criminal acts, §§ 150–155, pp. 760–767
  Boycotts, acts constituting, § 140, p. 720
  Evidence in suits to restrain, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 897
  Labor unions, acts constituting, § 138, p. 689
  Presumption of commission by corporation, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
  Property vesting in criminal by, prevention of, § 32
  Trespass, real property, § 61
Criminal prosecutions,
  Evidence in suit to restrain, § 192, p. 893
  Illegal practice of law, adequacy as remedy, § 123, p. 667
  Illegal practice of medicine, etc., adequate remedy by, § 124, p. 675
  Injunctions against, §§ 156–161, pp. 768–779
  Interference with corporation accompanied by, § 97
  Libel and slander, doubtful remedy by, § 134, n. 81
  Pleading in suit to enjoin, § 182, p. 860, n. 99
Crops, interference with harvesting of, § 70, n. 6
Cross-bill or cross-complaint,
  Attorney's fees for maintaining recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1102
  Bonds, action on, § 299, p. 1084, n. 11
  Damages for wrongful issuance of injunction, § 283, p. 1060
  Decree for defendant dependent on cross-bill, § 216
  Demurrer to, § 185, p. 872
  Dismissal for want of jurisdiction, § 198, p. 910, n. 83
Cross-bill or cross-complaint—Continued,
  Evidence in action on bill in cross-bill, § 191, p. 889
  Final decree conforming to, § 211, p. 945
  Injunction, cross-bill for, § 182, p. 844
  Service on attorney of nonresident, § 179
  Suit for injunction, § 184
  Voluntary dismissal after filing, § 198, p. 908
Cross-examination of witnesses before issuing injunction, § 199, p. 918
Cross injunction, § 7
Crown not required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 785
Cumulative penalty, enjoining prosecutions under statute imposing, § 157
Custody of children, protection by way of, § 137
Custom in presenting petition to judge before filing, § 182, p. 844
Customers,
  Boycotts, coercing to withhold patronage, § 140, p. 722
  Breach of contract not to entice away, § 85
  Contracts, inducing breach of, § 89
  Enjoining use of information concerning, § 148, pp. 755–757
  Evidence in suit to prevent solicitation, § 192, pp. 892, 895
  Injunction against circulating false patent claims among customers, § 149, pp. 758, 759
  Molesting customers of competitor, § 149, p. 760
  Picketing interfering with, § 143, pp. 733–735
  Soliciting business by former employee, § 148, pp. 755–757
Cutting or removal of timber,
  Contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023
  Damages for wrongful injunction against, § 315, p. 1096, n. 78
  Evidence in suit to prevent, § 191, pp. 891, 894
  Irreparable injury from cutting, title required to enjoin, § 53, p. 512, n. 10
  Litigation as to right, restraining cutting and removal pending, § 56, p. 521
  Prevention of, §§ 66, 71
    Mortgagee, § 53, p. 511
  Trespasser, enjoining cutting by, § 63
Dam, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin construction, § 168, p. 807, n. 24
Damages arising from issuance of injunction, §§ 278–316, pp. 1053–1108
  Act of God, damages occasioned by, § 309
  Action on case to determine damages as condition precedent to action on bond, § 292, p. 1074
  Actions for damages independently of bond, §§ 307, 308
  Adequate compensation by as precluding injunction, § 25, pp. 451, 455
  Amendment to correct statement of damages, § 186, p. 875
  Amount of damages recoverable, §§ 309–316, pp. 1019–1108
  Appeal and error,
    Attorney's fees on appeal as damages, § 315, p. 1101
    Costs on appeal as element of damages, § 315, p. 1099

Damages arising from issuance of injunction—Continued,
Appeal and error—Continued,
Damages pending appeal after dissolution, § 315, pp. 1107, 1108
Review of rulings on damages for breach, § 303
Appearance by sureties in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1063
Assessment of damages,
Action on bond, § 305
Condition precedent to action on bond, § 292, pp. 1073, 1074
Independent action, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
Injunction suit, § 217, pp. 953–956; §§ 283–287, pp. 1059–1067; §§ 288, 289
Attorney's fees as element, § 315, pp. 1099–1108
Award in injunction suit, § 217, pp. 953–956
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Boycott,
Jurisdiction to award, § 140, p. 720
Laborer, interference with right, § 141
Breach of contract, provision for as affecting right to relief, § 80, p. 556
Burden of proof in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1066
Conclusiveness of assessment, § 287
Condition precedent to assessment in injunction suit, § 285
Conjectural damages, § 312; § 315, p. 1096
Contempt proceedings, damages as punishment, § 276, pp. 1050, 1051
Contingent fee contract as basis for recovery of attorney's fee, § 315, p. 1105
Costs,
Ascertaining damages, § 254
Awarded in injunction suit, § 221, p. 961
Procuring dissolution as element, § 315, pp. 1098, 1099
Counterclaim against damages on dissolution, § 316
County's liability for, § 279
Crops, loss of crops as element, § 315, p. 1095
Cross-action to recover, § 184
Cross-petition for damages, § 283, p. 1060
Decree or award of damages in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1067
Deductions from damages, § 316
Defendant, award to, § 216
Defenses in action to assess, § 286, p. 1066
Depreciation, damages for, § 315, pp. 1096, 1097
Deprivation of use or occupation of property, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Discretion of court,
Amount of attorney's fees allowed as damages, § 315, p. 1105
Assessment in injunction suit, § 284
Damages, granting of, § 286, p. 1065
Granting in injunction suit, § 286, p. 1065
Jury trial in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1064
Temporary injunction bond, damages under, § 283, p. 1060, n. 57
Dissolution or discharge,
Accrual of damages after dissolution, § 282, p. 1059
Action on bond for damages, § 292, p. 1071

Damages arising from issuance of injunction—Continued,
Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Assessment in injunction suit, §§ 283–287, pp. 1059–1067; § 288
Bond having force of judgment, § 290
Condition precedent to assessment in injunction suit, § 285
Continuing after dissolution, § 309
Decree or award of damages, § 286, p. 1067
Desist and refrain order, § 281, p. 1056
Entry of judgment on bond, § 289
Expenses and cost in procuring as element of damages, § 315, pp. 1097–1099
Improper dissolution, § 281, p. 1056, n. 18
Loss of time in procuring dissolution, § 315, p. 1097
Matters arising subsequent to issuance as ground, § 281, p. 1056
Personal representative's liability, § 279
Prayer in answer for damages, § 285
Profits, § 282, p. 1058, n. 36
Reference to assess, § 286, p. 1064
Bond, § 283, p. 1060
Restraint not actually imposed, § 281, pp. 1056, 1057
Set-offs and deductions, § 316
Statutory provisions relating to assessment, § 284
Suggestion of damages, § 286, p. 1064
Sureties' liability for, § 280
Dissolution bond for, § 231
Time,
Awarding, § 286, pp. 1065, 1066
Motion or suggestion to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1063, 1064
Employment, damages for loss of, § 315, p. 1097
Enforcement of liability in injunction suit, §§ 288, 289
Evidence of damages,
Action on bond, § 300, pp. 1086–1088
Proceedings to assess, § 286, pp. 1065–1067
Excessive damages, § 309
Exclusiveness of remedy to assess damages in injunction suit, § 283, pp. 1060, 1061
Exemplary damages, § 313
Expenses in procuring dissolution as element, § 315, pp. 1097, 1098
Extent of liability, §§ 281, 282, pp. 1054–1059
Federal courts' power to assess, § 288
Three-judge courts, § 168, p. 800, n. 86
Findings in proceedings to assess, § 286, pp. 1065, 1067
Forfeiture of damages, § 278
Fraud in assessment, evidence of, § 300, p. 1086
Good faith mitigating damages, § 293, p. 1076
Hearing and determination of motion to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1064–1067
Hearing before entry of judgment against sureties for damages, § 289
Inadequate damages, § 309
Injuries capable of compensation in, § 5, p. 412
Injury to property, damages for, § 315, pp. 1095, 1096
Interest as element, § 315, p. 1107
Joinder of parties in motion to assess, § 286, p. 1063

Damages arising from issuance of injunction—Continued,
Judge's power to assess, § 286, p. 1064
Jury trial to assess damages, § 286, p. 1064
Liquidated damages, generally, post
Mitigation of damages, § 293, pp. 1076, 1077
Evidence of, § 300, p. 1087
Mode of assessment in injunction suit, § 286, p. 1064
Motion for assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 286, pp. 1063, 1064
Municipal officers, adequate remedy by action for, § 111, p. 636
Nature of proceedings to assess damages, § 286, pp. 1064–1067
Nature of right, §§ 281, 282, pp. 1054–1059
Nominal damages, post
Notice,
Assessment, § 286, p. 1065
Entry of judgment against sureties for damages, § 289
Occupation of property, damages for deprivation of, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Order awarding damages, § 287
Parties entitled to move for assessment, § 286, p. 1063
Payment or obligation to pay attorney's fee as requisite to recovery, § 315, p. 1105
Penalty of bond affecting damages, § 311
Personal representative's liability, § 279
Persons entitled, § 278
Persons liable, § 279
Plaintiff's acts or omissions, damages resulting from, § 315, p. 1108
Pleading,
Action for damages for violating injunction, § 272, p. 1040
Award in injunction suit dependent on, § 217, p. 953
Damages in action on bond, § 299, pp. 1083, 1084
Inability to respond in damages in bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 864, 865
Suit for injunction, § 182, p. 861
Violating injunction, § 272, p. 1040
Prayer,
Answer, for damages, § 285
Injunction and damages, § 182, p. 867
Preliminary injunction, damages arising after making permanent, § 282, p. 1059
Presumptions in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1066
Proceedings for assessment in injunction suit, § 286, pp. 1063–1067
Process in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1065
Profits, loss as element, § 315, pp. 1095, 1096
Record as evidence in proceedings to assess, § 286, pp. 1066, 1067
Reductions of damages,
Dissolution, § 316
Duty to reduce, § 315, p. 1108
Reference to assess damages, § 201; § 283, p. 1060; § 284; § 286, pp. 1063–1065; §§ 287, 288
Attorney's fees on reference as element of damages, § 315, p. 1102
Costs as element, § 315, p. 1098
Damages arising from issuance of injunction—Continued,
Reference to assess damages—Continued,
Motion for appointment of referee, § 286, pp. 1063–1065
Rehearing in proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1065
Remote damages, § 312
Rental value of property as element, § 315, p. 1095
Report of referee assessing damages, § 286, p. 1065
Restrictive covenants, injunction against breach regardless, § 87, p. 585
Set-off against damages on dissolution, § 316
Speculative damages, § 312; § 315, p. 1096
Statutory provisions,
Assessment in injunction suit, § 284
Limitation of amount, § 309
Stenographer's fee as element of, § 315, p. 1098, n. 3
Suggestion of assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 286, pp. 1063, 1064
Supplemental motion for assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 286, p. 1063, n. 91
Surety on dissolution bond, liability for, § 231
Time,
Damages for loss of, § 315, p. 1097
Hearing motion to assess, § 286, pp. 1065, 1066
Motion or suggestion of damages, § 286, pp. 1063, 1064
Trustee's power to execute release, § 294
Use of property, damages for deprivation of, § 315, pp. 1094, 1095
Value of use of property as element, § 315, p. 1095
Venue of motion for appointment of referee to assess, § 286, p. 1063
Waiver of time for filing motion to assess, § 286, p. 1064
Deadlock in management, corporations, § 102
Death of party,
Dismissal after death, § 198, p. 915
Ground for dissolution, § 245
Plaintiff,
Amendment of pleadings after, § 186, p. 877
Substitution of parties on, § 177, p. 833
Debt, judgment for debt notwithstanding injunction was improperly granted, § 217, p. 953
Deceased persons, libel, relatives' right to enjoin, § 134
Declaration in action on bond, § 299, pp. 1082–1084
Declaration of result of elections, § 115, p. 645
Declaratory proceedings to test validity of criminal statute, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
Decrees,
Final judgment or decree, generally, post
Judgment or decree, generally, post
Dedicated property, diversion of use, § 127, n. 54
De facto corporation, name in which suit may be brought against, § 175, p. 829
De facto employees, enjoining picketing by, § 143, p. 729, n. 68
De facto officers,
Interference on behalf of, § 116
School districts, spending of funds, § 122, p. 660, n. 22

Default judgment or decree,
Injunction decree, § 212
Service on defendant, § 208
Defects,
Injunction as defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1075
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 791
Defense in action on bond, § 293, pp. 1075, 1076
Parties, § 178
Amendment of pleadings to cure, § 186, p. 875
Dismissal for, § 198, p. 912
Proceedings affecting injunction, § 222
Service of writ or order, § 208
Title, purchase money actions, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 484
Verification of pleading, § 187, pp. 881, 882
Answer, § 250, p. 994
Defendants, § 175, pp. 822–831
Amendment of parties, § 177, p. 835
Bond,
Action on, § 297, p. 1081
Protection of, § 166, p. 790
Co-defendants, generally, ante
Joinder, § 176, p. 833
Relief for, § 216
Defenses,
Affidavit to contradict or explain new matter set up in defense, § 195, p. 904
Arising after joinder of issue, § 184
Assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1066
Bonds, action on, § 293, pp. 1074–1078
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885
Demurrer to answer setting up unavailable defenses, § 185, p. 873
Joinder of defendants with common defense, § 176, p. 833
Proof of, § 188
Res judicata considered on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 927
Restraining setting up of, § 46
Suits for injunction, § 167
Deficiency in quantity, vendor and purchaser, enjoining recovery of purchase money, § 40, p. 485
Definiteness. Certainty, generally, ante
Definitions, § 1
Irreparable injury, § 23, p. 447
Labor disputes, § 138, pp. 699, 713
Mandatory injunction, § 5, pp. 409–413
Permanent injunction, § 3
Preliminary injunction, § 2
Preventive injunction, § 4
Prohibitory injunction, § 4
Restraining order, § 8
Temporary injunction, § 2, n. 8
Trade secret, § 148, pp. 750, 751
Delay,
Applying for injunction, § 171, pp. 816–819
Laches, generally, post
Demurrer,
Adequacy of legal remedy, question raised by demurrer, § 200, p. 927
Admission of facts stated on information and belief, § 182, p. 857
Amendment of demurrer, § 186, p. 876
Demurrer—Continued,
Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1082
Conclusions in pleadings waived by failure to demur, § 182, p. 856
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Defects in parties as ground, § 178
Dismissal on demurrer, § 198, p. 914
Dissolution on sustaining demurrer, § 241, p. 978
Exhibits, failure to file as ground, § 182, p. 868
Motion to dissolve operating as, § 249
Prayer for process, failure to ask as ground for, § 182, p. 867
Suit for injunction, § 185, pp. 871–875
Dental practice, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 570
Dentists,
Breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 576
Illegal practice of, § 124, pp. 672, 673
Criminal liability as affecting right, § 124, p. 674
License, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 28
Department of Public Works, restraining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Departmental regulation, Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to determine validity of determinations, § 168, p. 805
Deposit,
Lieu of bond, § 166, p. 784
Security for payment of damages as condition to issuance, § 917, p. 956
Deposit in court, dissolution for failure to make, § 242
Depositions,
Cost recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1098, n. 3
Restraining taking of, § 42
Deraignment of title, property rights, injunction relating to, § 53, p. 512
Desist and refrain order, damages on dissolution, § 281, p. 1056
Destruction,
Buildings or other structures, prevention of, § 68
Property, irreparable injury, § 23, p. 448
Detaching territory, school districts, § 112, p. 637, n. 90
Difficult questions of law and fact determined on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 927
Diligence, stockholders, prevention of illegal acts, § 103
Direct evidence to sustain issuance, § 192, p. 891
Direction of verdict in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 921
Directors, corporations, breach of trust, § 102
Disability of judge to whom application for preliminary injunction is made, § 169, p. 813
Disbursing officer, party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Discharge,
Defense of in law actions as adequate remedy, § 40, p. 485
Dissolution or discharge, generally, post
Liability on injunction bond, § 294
Disciplinary measures of union to compel members to strike, § 147, p. 745
Discontinuance,
Acts, effect of, § 22, p. 445

Discontinuance—Continued,
Assessment of damages on discontinuance, § 285
Bond, accrual of action on bond on discontinuance, § 292, p. 1072.
Dissolution by discontinuing, § 244
Restraining, § 45
Securities, transactions involving, § 123, p. 669
Service, public service corporations, § 101
Suit, § 198, p. 908
Discovery,
Answer to bill justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 994
Continuing injunction until discovery can be had, § 234, n. 974
Corporate officers as party for purpose of compelling, § 175, p. 829
Cost where bill is brought for discovery and injunction, § 221, p. 960
Issuance on bill for, § 37, p. 472
Motion to dissolve before answer where discovery is sought, § 247
Discretion
Canal officers, controlling of, § 114
Corporate officers, § 107
County officers, exercise of, § 110
Courts. Discretion of court, generally, post
Defendant as to compliance with injunction order, § 206, p. 934
Drainage officers, controlling, § 114
Election officers, exercise of, § 115, p. 646
Federal boards or officers, exercise of, § 109, p. 622
Governor, exercise of, § 109, p. 629
Highway boards and officers, § 113
Municipalities and municipal officers, § 111, p. 634
Public officers, generally, § 108, p. 616
Letting of contracts, § 120
School boards and officers, controlling matters of, § 112, p. 638
State officers or boards, § 109, p. 626
Discretion of court,
Adequate remedy at law, § 25, p. 452, n. 59
Amendment of demurrer, § 186, p. 876
Assessment of damages,
Federal court, § 288
Injunction suit, § 284
Attorney's fees,
Allowance in contempt proceedings, § 277
Amount of allowance as damages, § 315, p. 1105
Bond,
Amount of, § 166, p. 787
Condition of granting restraining order, § 165
Dissolving, continuing or modifying injunction, § 231
Enforcement of liability in injunction suit in federal court, § 288
Form of, § 166, p. 787
Preliminary injunction, § 166, pp. 783, 784
Breach of contract,
Restraining, § 80, p. 551
Restraint of trade, § 84, p. 565
Building restrictions, relief in respect to violation, § 87, p. 590
Burden of proof in hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 999
Discretion of court—Continued,
Conditions on granting or refusing preliminary injunction, § 202, pp. 928, 929
Continuance, § 199, p. 920
Hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Continuing injunction, § 226, pp. 964–966
Continuing trespass, establishment of title or right as condition to injunction, § 55, p. 516
Costs,
Injunction suit, § 221, p. 960
Motion to dissolve, § 254
Counterclaim added to answer, § 186, p. 879
Damages, ante
Discontinuance of suit, § 198, p. 908
Dismissal, § 198, pp. 909, 914
Dissolution, § 226, pp. 964–966
Answer, dissolution on, § 250, p. 991
Enforcement of injunction, § 223
Evidence,
Admission on hearing of motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 997
Hearing oral evidence on application for preliminary injunction, § 199, p. 920
Extension of time for answering, § 183
Grant of relief, § 14, pp. 420–426; § 36
Grant or refusal of injunction on answer denying equities, § 196, pp. 905, 906
Intervention, § 177, p. 834
Issuance of preliminary injunction without hearing, § 199, pp. 917, 918
Joinder of agents or servants as defendants, § 175, p. 831
Jury trial in proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1064
Leave to amend pleadings, § 186, p. 877
Litigation as to title or right, protection pending, § 56, p. 519
Mandatory injunction, encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 534
Modification,
Decree, § 218, p. 956, n. 73
Injunction, § 226, pp. 964–966; § 236
Multiplicity of suits, determination of, § 38, p. 474
New parties, § 177, p. 833
Postponement of hearing, § 199, p. 920
Preliminary injunction, post
Property rights, protection of, § 52, p. 506
Public officers and boards, relief against, § 108, p. 616
Punishment for contempt, § 276, pp. 1048, 1049
Railway labor disputes, mandatory injunction, § 138, p. 708
Reference to assess damages in federal court, § 288
Relative inconvenience or injury, consideration, § 30, p. 462
Reopening,
Case for further evidence, § 199, p. 920
Contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Restrictive covenants, enforcement, § 87, p. 583
Retention of jurisdiction to award damages, § 217, p. 955, n. 50
Second application for preliminary injunction, § 199, p. 923
Security or sureties on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789, n. 58, 59
Stay of decree, § 219

Discretion of court—Continued,
Suspension,
Injunction, § 239
Injunctive decree, § 219
Terms imposed on continuing, dissolving, or modifying injunction, §§ 230, 231, pp. 969, 970
Time,
Amendment of pleading, § 186, p. 877
Hearing on demurrer, § 185, p. 874
Notice of application for preliminary injunction, § 180, p. 843
View of premises on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 997
Discrimination,
Corporations, § 98
Union laborers, carriers by water, § 138, p. 695
Disease, domestic animals, control and eradication of, § 124, p. 671, n. 12
Dismissal,
After hearing, dismissal, § 199, p. 924
Before hearing, § 198, pp. 908–916
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Complaint by federal judge, § 168, p. 801
Conclusions in pleadings waived by failure to move for dismissal, § 182, p. 856
Contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Cost, § 221, p. 961
Discharge of surety by dismissal, § 294
Dissolution by dismissal, § 244
Federal three-judge court,
Convened to hear motion for, § 168, p. 805, n. 14
Power to determine motion, § 168, p. 802, n. 96; § 168, p. 810, n. 35
Motion for injunction based on amendment made without leave, § 186, p. 877
Motion to dismiss operating as demurrer ore tenus, § 185, p. 873
Restraining, § 45
Verification of pleadings,
Failure as ground for dismissal, § 187, p. 879
Filed separate from bill as ground for, § 187, p. 881
Want of jurisdiction, § 168, p. 809
Dispossession, mandatory injunction operating as, § 5, p. 410, n. 29
Disputed questions, preliminary injunction in case of, § 19, p. 434
Disputed rights, breach of contract involving, § 80, p. 552
Disputed title, remedy as proper to establishment of, § 54
Dissolution or discharge, §§ 240–256, pp. 977–1003
Abuse of process as ground, § 242
Acquiescence affecting right to dissolve, § 241, p. 982
Adequacy of legal remedy as ground, § 246
Adjournment, cost of, § 254
Affidavits,
Bill as, § 249
Support of or in opposition to motion, § 251, pp. 995–997
Affirmative relief to defendant, § 253
Amended bill,
Considered on motion, § 249
Dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 990

Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Amendment,
Bill after granting temporary injunction operating as dissolution, § 186, p. 878
Pleadings as ground, § 243
Amount of bond given on dissolution, § 231
Answer,
Affidavits in support of or to contradict answer on motion to dissolve, § 251, pp. 995, 996
Motion to dissolve as part of answer, § 183
Motion to dissolve before or after answer, § 247
Praying for dissolution, § 247
Use and effect on motion, § 250, pp. 989–995
Appeal and error,
Accrual of action on bond, § 292, p. 1071
Attorney's fees on appeal from dissolution order as damages, § 315, p. 1101
Costs on appeal recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1099
Damages pending appeal, § 315, pp. 1107, 1108
Dissolution on appeal, § 229, p. 969
Appeal bond superseding,
Injunction bond, § 294
Order of dissolution, § 255
Appellate court's or judge's power, § 229, p. 969
Application, persons entitled to make, § 224
Argumentative answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
Attorney,
Absence from hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 997
Fees in procuring dissolution,
Element of damages, § 315, pp. 1099–1108
Evidence of reasonableness, § 300, p. 1087
Authority of court or officer, § 229, pp. 967–969
Bill,
Attack by motion to dissolve, § 185, p. 871
Use and effect on motion, § 249
Bond, dissolution on giving, § 217, p. 956; § 226, pp. 965, 966; § 231
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Burden of proof in hearing on motion, § 252, p. 999
Certainty of answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
Chambers, power to dissolve in, § 229, p. 969
Co-defendant's answer justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 994, 995
Collusive suit as ground, § 241, p. 979
Common injunction, § 6
Common law bond given to dissolve, § 231
Complaint, use and effect on motion, § 249
Conclusions,
Answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
Pleadings waived by failure to move for, § 182, p. 856
Conclusiveness,
Decision in action on bond, § 293, p. 1074
Denial of motion to dissolve, § 253
Judgment as against surety on dissolution bond, § 231
Conditional dissolution, § 253
Conduct of plaintiff as ground, § 241, p. 979
Consent to dissolution, § 242
Consideration for bond given to dissolve, § 231

Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Construction,
Instrument affecting dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 991
Order, § 253
Contempt,
Excused by stipulation for dissolution, § 266, p. 1026
Violating dissolved injunction, § 258, pp. 1005, 1006
Contemptor applying to dissolve, § 224
Continuance of hearing of motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Continuing injunction where dissolution would amount to denial of relief, § 234, p. 973
Costs, § 254
Appeal from dissolution order recoverable on breach of bond, § 315, p. 1099
Element of damages, § 315, pp. 1098, 1099
Counter-affidavits, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Court commissioner's power, § 229, p. 968
Court's authority, § 229, pp. 967–969
Damages, ante
Death of party as ground, § 245
Decree of dissolution, § 253
Defects and irregularities,
Bond, § 166, p. 787
Ground, § 241, pp. 980–982
Waiver by motion, § 247
Demurrer, hearing on demurrer before motion to dissolve, § 185, p. 874
Denial of principal relief as ground, § 244
Deposit in court, failure to make as ground, § 242.
Diligence, want of diligence as ground, § 242
Discontinuance as constituting, § 244
Discovery, answer to bill justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 994
Discretion of court, § 226, pp. 964–966
Dissolving on answer, § 250, p. 991
Dismissal,
Dissolving temporary injunction, § 198, p. 916; § 244
Motion to dissolve, § 198, pp. 912–914
Effect of dissolution, § 255
Emergency cases, time for hearing motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Entry,
Final decree as ground, § 244
Order or decree of dissolution, § 253
Evidence,
Hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 997, 999, 1000
Support of or in opposition to motion, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Exceptions to answer affecting dissolution, § 250, p. 995
Excusing violation of injunction by moving to dissolve, § 258, p. 1004
Exhibits attached to motion as basis to dissolution, § 251, p. 996
Expenses of procuring dissolution as element of damages, § 315, pp. 1097, 1098
Final decree,
Affected by dissolution of preliminary injunction, § 213
Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Final decree—Continued,
Providing for dissolution of temporary injunction, § 213
Final disposition on motion to dissolve, § 253
Finality of determination of motion, § 255
Fraud as basis of bill affecting dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 991
Fullness of answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 993
Grounds, §§ 241–246, pp. 978–986
Hearing and determination of motion, § 252, pp. 997–1000
Illusory answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 992
Imminence of trial as ground for denying dissolution, § 247
Importance of questions affecting dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 991
Improbability of success as ground, § 241, p. 979
Improvident issuance as ground, § 241, p. 279
Inconvenience or injury to public or third person, § 228
Information and belief, denials on as justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 992, 993
Intervenors entitled to oppose application, § 225
Irreparable injury resulting from dissolution, § 250, p. 991
Issuance of further injunction as ground, § 243
Joinder of motions to dismiss and dissolve, § 198, p. 914
Judge's authority, § 229, pp. 967–969
Jurisdiction,
Dissolution for want of, § 226, p. 966
Motion, § 229, pp. 967–969
Laches,
Prosecuting injunction as ground, § 242
Seeking dissolution, § 241, p. 982
Lapse of time,
Ground, § 242
Motion, § 247
Leave of court to file second application, § 232
Lis pendens affording adequate protection as ground, § 246
Mandamus,
Control of discretion, § 226, p. 966
Directing act restrained as ground, § 244
Merits, dissolution of temporary injunction on disposition of suit on merits, § 244
Minority of defendant as ground for, § 241, p. 979
Misjoinder,
Causes of action as ground, § 246
Parties as ground, § 241, pp. 980, 981
Misrepresentation as ground, § 241, pp. 979, 980
Motions, §§ 247–252, pp. 986–1000
Joinder of motion to dismiss with motion to dissolve, § 198, p. 914
Place of hearing motion to dissolve in vacation, § 229, p. 968
Reinstate dissolved injunction, § 256
Venue of motion, § 229, p. 968
Nature of answer justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 992–995
New matter in answer justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 994

Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Nonjoinder of parties as ground, § 241, pp. 980, 981
Nonresident, dissolution without awaiting answer of, § 250, p. 995
Notice,
Application, want of or defects in notice as ground, § 241, p. 981
Motion, § 248
Reinstate, § 256
Office terminating as ground, § 242
Order, §§ 253, 255
Partial dissolution, § 253
Action on bond, § 292, p. 1073
Parties to bond given to dissolve, § 231
Penalty on ground suit is brought for delay, recovery on motion, § 253
Pendency of other proceedings as ground for postponing motion, § 247
Persons entitled to,
Make application, § 224
Oppose application, § 225
Pleadings, defects as ground, § 241, p. 980
Postponement of motion, § 247
Presumption of court's power to act, § 229, p. 967
Previous inconsistent injunction as ground, § 246
Prima facie evidence of damage, dissolution as, § 286, p. 1066, n. 48
Proceedings in action as ground, § 243
Public interest, injury affecting right to dissolve, § 228
Question of law, dissolution of injunction involving, § 226, p. 966
Questions considered on hearing of motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 998, 999
Reference of hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 999
Rehearing,
Motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Order of dissolution, § 256
Reinstatement of dissolved injunction, § 256
Jurisdiction to punish for violation, § 270, p. 1030
Relative convenience or injury determining right, § 227
Remedy on new application as ground for denying, § 241, p. 980
Res judicata, determination on motion as, § 255
Restitution of property, § 253
Restraining order, § 8
Return of service of process, dissolution for failure to return, § 241, p. 981
Review of discretion, § 226, p. 966
Scope of inquiry on hearing of motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 998, 999
Second application barred by, § 255
Service,
Bill, want of diligence as ground for, § 242
Notice of motion, § 248
Points and authorities, failure as ground, § 241, pp. 981, 982
Process, failure to serve or defective service as grounds for, § 241, p. 981
Setting aside order or decree of dissolution, § 253
Special injunction, § 6; § 250, p. 991
Dissolution or discharge—Continued,
Special order for reinstatement, § 256
Special term, motion heard at, § 229, p. 968
Statute legalizing acts enjoined or protecting complainant as ground, § 242
Stay, failure to stay proceedings as ground, § 242
Sua sponte, § 229, pp. 968, 969
Subpœna, failure to take out and serve within reasonable time as ground, § 242
Subsequent conditions or causes as ground, § 242
Substitution of surety on dissolution bond, § 231
Successive application, § 232
Supplemental affidavits, § 251, p. 996
Supplemental bill considered on motion, § 249
Suppression of facts as ground, § 241, pp. 979, 980
Supreme court's or judge's power to dissolve, § 229, p. 969
Surety on bond given to dissolve, § 231
Term of court, dismissal at next term after dissolution, § 198, p. 914
Termination of acts sought to be enjoined as ground, § 246
Terms,
Imposed, §§ 230, 231, pp. 969–971
Noncompliance as ground, § 242
Third persons' injury or inconvenience affecting right, § 228
Time,
Hearing motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Motion to dissolve, § 241, p. 978; § 247
Motion to reinstate, § 256
Service of notice of motion, § 248
Truth of allegations on motion,
Answer, § 250, p. 989
Bill, § 249
Vacation of court, motion made during, § 229, p. 968, n. 28; § 229, p. 969
Vagueness and uncertainty of writ as ground, § 241, p. 980
Verification,
Answer justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 993, 994
Want of or defects in as ground for, § 241, p. 981
View of premises on motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 997, 998
Violator applying to dissolve, § 224
Waiver,
Grounds by failure to specify in notice of motion, § 248
Irregularities by motion to dissolve, § 241, p. 980
Notice of motion or defects therein, § 248
Want of equity as ground, § 241, p. 978
Notice of motion, § 248
Want of jurisdiction as ground, § 241, p. 979
Without prejudice, § 253
Distillery, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Distinctions,
Common and special injunction, § 6
Mandamus, § 9
Perpetual and interlocutory injunction, § 2, n. 8

Distinctions—Continued,
Prohibition, § 10
Restraining order, § 8
District attorney,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Party defendant, § 175, p. 826
District court,
Federal three-judge court as, § 168, p. 807
Jurisdiction of state district court to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 62
Power of federal district court to grant, § 168, p. 798
District judge, preliminary injunction issued by, § 169, p. 813; § 205
Disturbance of peace, restraining prosecution for, § 159
Diversion of water,
Contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023; § 266, p. 1026, n. 5
Joinder of parties complainant, § 176, p. 832
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 410, n. 29
Restraining, § 70, n. 6
Diversity of citizenship affecting jurisdiction of federal three-judge court, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Dividends,
Preliminary injunction without notice against collection, § 180, p. 841, n. 41
Stockholders as parties in action to enjoin payment, § 175, p. 830
Divisible contracts, restraint of trade, breach of, § 84, p. 565
Division of cost, § 221, p. 961
Divorce,
Injunction bond in proceedings to restrain taking of children, § 166, p. 782, n. 78
Preliminary injunction, restraining cohabitation with another, § 137
Violation of injunction by obtaining, § 276, p. 1052
Dogs, trespass by, § 69
Doing equity,
Applicability of maxim, § 26
Fair Labor Standards Act, violations of, § 138, p. 707
Pleading, § 182, pp. 865, 866
Property rights, protection of, § 52, p. 506
Domestic animals, disease among, control and eradication, § 124, p. 671, n. 12
Domestic rights, protection of, § 137
Domicile as meaning residence within venue statute, § 170, p. 814, n. 65
Dormant judgment, garnishment on, restraining, § 43, n. 24
Doubtful cases,
See, also, Clear right, generally, ante
Breach of contract, § 80, p. 552
Contracts in restraint of trade, § 84, p. 565
Issuance in, § 18; § 19, p. 431
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 411
Preliminary injunction, § 19, p. 431
Public officers and boards, disposition of funds, § 122, p. 661
Restrictive covenants, enforcement, § 87, p. 584
Drafts of orders submitted by parties, § 206, p. 932, n. 73
Drainage officers, restraining acts of, § 114
Drains,
Encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain obstruction, § 176, p. 832
Maintenance of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3
Driver's license or permit,
Invalid ordinance authorizing revocation, enforcement, § 119, p. 655, n. 65
Jurisdiction of federal three-judge court to restrain suspension, § 168, p. 800, n. 84
Driveways, obstruction of, § 70, n. 6
Drycleaning business, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Dumping, restraining, § 70, n. 6
Duration, restraining order, § 8
Duress,
Evidence obtained by, restraining introduction of, § 42
Transfer of securities obtained by, § 74
Dwellings, restrictive covenants as to, enforcement, § 87, p. 591
Easements,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885
Contempt by violating injunction against interference, § 264, p. 1023
Continuing trespass, preventing acquisition of, § 64, p. 528
Decree granting to defendant, § 216
Eaves, encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Economic struggle, use in aid of, § 19, p. 435, n. 52
Editorial writer, breach of contract for personal services, § 82, p. 562
Ejectment,
Adequate remedy at law by, § 25, p. 454; § 40, p. 488; § 54
Multiplicity of suits, § 38, p. 473, n. 74
Substitute for action of, § 52, p. 507
Trespass, injunction against in aid of, § 56, p. 519
Election commissioners, party defendants, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Election of remedies, effect of, § 26
Elections, § 115, pp. 641–647
Absentee ballots, determination of matters respecting, § 115, p. 642, n. 49
Ballots, matters relating to, § 115, p. 643
Calling or holding, § 115, p. 643
Canvass of votes, § 115, p. 645
Certificate of election, § 115, p. 645
Certifying candidates, § 115, p. 643
Corporate officers, § 105
Declaration of result, § 115, p. 645
Initiative and referendum elections, § 115, p. 646
Interference with, § 115, p. 642
Ministerial acts, compelling performance, § 115, p. 646
Numbered ballots, § 115, p. 642
Preliminary acts, § 115, p. 642
Premature suit to restrain tabulation of returns, § 171, p. 815
Qualifications of candidates, determination of, § 115, p. 642, n. 54
Voting machines, use of, § 115, p. 642, n. 49
Electricity,
Breach of contract to supply, § 86

Electricity—Continued,
Issuance resulting in cutting off, § 31
Emergency injunction bond, liability on, § 281, p. 1056, n. 18; § 282, p. 1058, n. 36
Emergency legislation, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 657, n. 81
Emergency Price Control Act,
Burden of showing violation, § 190, p. 886, n. 91
Discretion of court, § 14, p. 420, n. 54
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to restrain enforcement, § 168, p. 808, n. 25; § 168, p. 811, n. 36
Employees,
Blacklist, restraining, § 146
Boycotts, coercion of, § 140, p. 721
Breach of contract by, § 82, p. 560
Breach of contract not to entice away, § 85
Contempt, liability for, § 263, pp. 1012, 1014
Former business association, injunction against asserting, § 149, pp. 757, 758
Labor unions, generally, post
List of customers, injunction against use, § 148, pp. 755–757
Parties defendant, § 175, p. 831
Picketing, generally, post
Right to labor, protection of, § 141
Services by employees remaining in service, injunction to compel performance, § 147, p. 743
Strikes, generally, post
Trade secret, injunction against using or disclosing, § 148, pp. 753–755
Use of information as to customers, enjoining, § 148, pp. 755–757
Violation by, preventing, § 263, p. 1011
Withdrawal from service, enjoining, § 147, pp. 742, 743
Employers,
Breach of contract by, § 82, p. 560
Combinations of, § 138, p. 690
Employment, persuading others not to accept, § 147, p. 747
Employment contracts,
Breach of contract, ante
Labor unions, § 138, p. 691
Breach of, § 138, p. 692
Encroachments,
Buildings or other structures, § 67, pp. 531–535
Evidence in suits to require removal, § 192, pp. 891, 894
Removal of, § 68
Enforcement,
Injunction or restraining order, § 223
Issuance as dependent on ability, § 29
Enticing employees or customers, breach of contract forbidding, § 85
Entitling,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, p. 903
Counter-affidavits opposing issuance, § 197
Entry,
Injunction order, § 211, p. 940
Order for preliminary injunction, § 206, p. 932
Permanent injunction, § 214
Equitable grounds, grant on, § 16
Equitable jurisdiction, grant or refusal of, § 12
Equitable lien, writ as creating, § 207, p. 937
Equitable remedy, nature as, § 1
Equitable right, title or interest,
Ejectment, injunction on application of one having, § 40, p. 488
Protection of, § 19, p. 430; § 53, p. 512
Equities warranting injunction, § 37, p. 469
Equity,
See, also, specific heads
Suits in equity, restraining, § 41, p. 490
Espionage, police officers, relief against, § 108, p. 620
Estoppel,
Action at law, issuance in case of equitable estoppel, § 40, p. 483
Acts creating, § 26
Arbitration agreement, injunction respecting, § 43
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Ejectment, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 488
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 533
Highway officers, proceedings by, § 113
Public officers, complaints in respect of, § 108, p. 618
Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 586
Eviction,
Dissolution of injunction restraining, § 246
Paramount title, insolvency as ground for issuance, § 40, p. 484
Evidence,
Admissible under pleadings, § 188
Amendment of pleading granted after closing evidence, § 186, p. 877
Answer as, § 196, pp. 904–907
Assessment of damages, proceedings for, § 286, pp. 1066, 1067
Bonds, action on, § 299; § 300, pp. 1085–1088
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1041; § 273, pp. 1041–1044
Judgment conforming to, § 274
Continuance to procure evidence on motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Continuing injunction on ground of conflicting evidence, § 234, p. 974
Damages awarded in injunction suit, dependent on, § 217, p. 953
Demurrer, consideration of evidence in determining sufficiency of bill, § 185, p. 874
Dissolution or discharge of injunction, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Final decree conforming to, § 211, pp. 945, 946
Findings supported by, § 199, p. 922
Hearing on motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 997, 999, 1000
Illegally obtained, injunction to prevent admission in criminal prosecution, § 156, p. 769, n. 56
Issues determined by pleadings and evidence, § 199, p. 920
Law action, restraining improper use of, § 42
Modification of injunction, evidence in proceedings to obtain, § 238
Motion to vacate or modify final decree, § 218, p. 958
Offer of proof, § 199, p. 920
Opinion evidence of value of attorney's services in computing damages, § 315, p. 1106, n. 99
Pleading evidence in bill, § 182, p. 856
Presentation at hearing, § 199, p. 917, n. 83

Evidence—Continued,
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Reference to take testimony, § 201
Reopening case for further evidence, § 199, p. 920
Suit for injunction, §§ 189–197, pp. 883–907
Taking evidence on defendant's failure to answer, § 212
Verdict supported by, § 199, p. 923
Examination of witnesses before issuing injunction, § 199, p. 918
Excavations, irreparable injury, § 68
Exceeding powers, corporations, § 99
Exceptions to,
Answer preventing dissolution, § 250, p. 995
Injunction, § 222
Exclusive bargaining agency, labor unions, recognition of, § 138, p. 698
Exclusive privileges, breach of contracts for, § 81
Inducing, § 89
Excuse,
Failure to file exhibits, § 182, p. 869
Laches, § 171, p. 819
Executed contracts, injunction respecting, § 29, n. 69
Execution in judicial proceedings,
Action on bond to enjoin, § 293, p. 1078
Condition precedent to action on, § 292, p. 1070
Criminal judgment, § 161
Sale,
Bond for injunction against sale, § 166, pp. 784, 788
Prevention, § 72
Violation of injunction against disposition of property, § 264, p. 1018
Execution of injunction bond, § 166, pp. 789, 790
Executors and administrators,
Accounting, restraining disposal of property pending, § 56, p. 521, n. 94
Answer on information and belief justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 992, 993
Bond for injunction,
Liability on, § 280
Required to give, § 166, p. 786
Liability for damages on dissolution, § 279
Proper party defendant, § 175, p. 822, n. 52
Substitution as parties, § 177, p. 833
Title, remedy as available to determine, § 54, n. 20
Executory contract, breach of, § 80, p. 554
Exemption from giving injunction bond, § 166, pp. 785, 786
Exhibits,
Construction of bill with exhibits, § 182, p. 868
Demurrer on ground of absence of or defects in, § 185, p. 873
Filing, § 182, pp. 868, 869
Motion for dissolution, § 251, p. 996
Status of plaintiff shown by exhibit, § 182, p. 857
Existence of injury,
Irreparable injury, § 23, pp. 446–448
Necessity, §§ 22, 23, pp. 439–449
Existence of right protected, §§ 19–21, pp. 429–439
Ex parte affidavits in support of application for, § 195, p. 901
Ex parte application,
Mandatory injunction on, § 5, p. 413, n. 58
Restraining order on, dissolution, § 8
Statutory requirements as to bond, § 166, p. 781
Ex parte hearing, extent of order granted on, § 206, p. 934
Expenditures, public officers, § 122, pp. 659–662
Expulsion to compel union member to strike, § 147, p. 745
Extension,
Stay or suspension of decree, § 219
Time for answering, § 183
Extent,
Damage, issuance as dependent on, § 22, p. 441
Restraint granted, § 206, pp. 934, 935
Extraordinary remedy, mandatory injunction as, § 5, p. 409
Extraordinary writ, nature as, § 1, n. 1
Extreme necessity, mandatory injunction in case of, § 5, p. 413
Facts,
Determination on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 925
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 844–853, 855, 856
Failure of consideration,
Defense at law as precluding, § 40, p. 483
Restraining transfer of securities on ground of, § 74
Failure to prosecute as ground for dismissal, § 198, p. 912
Fair Labor Standards Act,
Burden of proving exemption from, § 190, p. 886, n. 91
Discretion of court, § 14, p. 420, n. 54
Evidence in suit to restrain violation, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 893, 895
Order enjoining violation, § 206, p. 934, n. 92
Parties to litigation under, § 123, p. 670, n. 11
Violations of, § 138, p. 707
Fairways, restraining unauthorized use, § 70, n. 6
Federal agents, three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Federal Alcohol Administration Act, jurisdiction to restrain enforcement of, § 168, p. 798, n. 82
Federal boards and officers, § 109, pp. 622–625
Administrative remedies, exhaustion as prerequisite to relief, § 109, p. 624, n. 61
Land Department, relief against officers, § 109, p. 625
Ministerial duties, § 109, p. 623
State courts, power of supervision, § 109, p. 622, n. 51
Federal Communications Commission, administrative remedies, exhaustion as condition to relief against, § 109, p. 624, n. 61
Federal courts,
Assessment of damages on bonds, § 288
Dissolution, § 283, p. 1060
Attorney's fees in procuring dissolution as element of damages, § 315, p. 1099
Bonds, enforcement of liability in injunction suit, § 288
Clayton Act, jurisdiction of labor disputes, § 138, p. 695
Construction of bond taken in, § 282, p. 1059
Contempt, jurisdiction to punish, § 270, p. 1030
Jurisdiction to issue, § 168, p. 798
National Labor Relations Act, jurisdiction under, § 138, p. 704

Federal courts—Continued,
Norris-LaGuardia Act, jurisdiction of labor disputes under, § 138, p. 696
Public welfare, protection of, § 123, p. 663, n. 56
State jurisdiction to grant additional relief against, § 217, p. 952
State officers, appointment or removal, § 116, n. 21
Three-judge court,
Dismissal for want of jurisdiction, § 198, p. 916, n. 64
Dissolution, power of single judge, § 229, p. 968
Pleading jurisdiction, § 182, p. 847
Power to grant, § 168, pp. 798–811
Preliminary injunction,
Enforcement of statute, § 119, p. 658
Issued by, § 205
Jurisdiction to issue, § 169, p. 812
Signing findings and decrees, § 206, p. 932
Federal labor laws, violation of, § 138, p. 694
Federal receivership, labor disputes involving, § 138, p. 699
Fees,
Attorney's fees, generally, ante
Compensation fees and salaries, generally, ante
Fences,
Covenant to alter, breach of, § 87, p. 580, n. 84
Encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Highway officers, improper removal, § 113
Removal or destruction of, § 68
Ferries, issuance depriving public of, § 31
Fiduciary required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 786
Filing,
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
Pleading,
Preliminary injunction issued before, § 205
Suit for injunction, § 182, p. 844
Filling stations, ordinance as evidence in suit to restrain erection, § 188, p. 55
Final determination of injunction suit as condition precedent to action for damages independently of bond, § 307
Final hearing, mandatory injunction on, § 5, p. 413
Final judgment or decree, §§ 211–220, pp. 940–960
See, also, Judgment or decree, generally, post
Additional relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Alternative relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Certainty, § 211, pp. 944, 945
Collateral attack, § 215, p. 949, n. 57
Conclusiveness, § 215, p. 949; § 220
Consent decree, vacation or modification, § 218, p. 957, n. 83, p. 958.
Construction, § 215, pp. 948–950
Default, § 212
Defendant, relief for, § 216
Definiteness, § 211, pp. 944, 945
Dissolution on entry, § 244
Enforcement, § 223
Entry without hearing, § 211, p. 941
Evidence, conforming to, § 211, pp. 945, 946
Exceptions to, § 222
Findings, conforming to, § 211, p. 946
Form, § 211, pp. 941–946
Incidental relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Final judgment or decree—Continued,
Intervenor, relief for, § 216
Labor union activities, § 211, pp. 943, 944
Modification, § 218, pp. 956–959
Injunction, decree need not provide for, § 211, p. 944
Motion to modify or vacate, § 218, pp. 958, 959
Objections to, § 222
Opening, § 218, pp. 956–959
Operation and effect, § 215, pp. 948–950
Penalty for disobeying injunction inserted in decree, § 211, p. 944
Persons against whom entered, § 214
Persons concluded, § 220
Pleading, conforming to, § 211, p. 945
Prayer, necessity for prayer to sustain, § 211, p. 945
Preliminary injunction, granting or refusing affecting final decree, § 213
Pro confesso, § 212
Stay, § 219
Suspension, § 219
Time,
Restraint provided for by decree, § 211, p. 944
Vacating or modifying, § 218, p. 958
Vacation, § 218, pp. 956–959
Finality, permanent injunction, § 3
Financial assistance to striking workers, § 147, pp. 747, 748
Financial injury, public right, violation resulting in, § 22, p. 442
Financial responsibility,
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 864
Sureties on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Findings,
Assessment of damages, proceedings for, § 286, p. 1067
Damages awarded in injunction suit dependent on, § 217, p. 954
Final decree conforming to, § 211, p. 946
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Reference to make findings, § 201
Signing by three-judge court, § 206, p. 932
Suit for injunction, § 199, pp. 922, 923
Fines, injunction against collection, § 161, n. 47
Fire escapes, encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Fire hazard, erection of garage creating, § 57, n. 17
Fire limits,
Injunction against violation, § 155, p. 767
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain construction of building in violation of, § 176, p. 832
Ordinance fixing, violation of, § 124, p. 671, n. 20; § 124, p. 672
Fish commissioners' order, restraining prosecution for violating, § 159
Fishing, trespass on lands for, § 70, n. 6
Fixtures, removal or destruction of, § 68
Flats, restrictive covenants as to, § 87, p. 592
Floodlights, restrictive covenant not to use, enforcement, § 87, p. 581, n. 92
Flumes, preventing construction of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3
Force,
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–736
Strike accompanied by, § 147, pp. 747, 749, 750
Forced sale, bond for injunction to restrain, § 166, p. 782

Forcible entry and detainer,
Adequate remedy at law by, § 25, p. 454; § 40, p. 488
Substitute for action of, § 52, p. 507
Foreclosure, preliminary injunction against, § 17
Foreign corporations, jurisdiction of suit against, § 168, p. 795, n. 37
Foreign countries, actions and proceedings in, restraining prosecution, § 49, pp. 499–503
Foreign courts, remedies available in as adequate remedy at law, § 25, p. 454
Foreign divorce, restraining marriage after, § 137, n. 25
Forfeiture,
Contracts, restraining, § 91
Injunction against, § 156, p. 769, n. 56
Restrictive covenants, provision for as affecting right to relief, § 87, p. 584
Form,
Final judgment or decree, § 211, pp. 941–946
Remedy, §§ 1–11, pp. 405–419
Restraining order, § 210
Suit for, § 162
Writ or order, § 206, pp. 931–935
Forma pauperis, statute authorizing suits in as dispensing with bond, § 166, p. 782
Former adjudication, action at law, restraining on ground of, § 40, p. 486
Formula, protection by injunction, § 148, pp. 750–757
Food, remedy as available in respect of, § 124, p. 671, n. 12
Food law, injunction against violating, § 155, p. 766
Forthcoming bond, ball-trover suit, adequate remedy at law, § 52, p. 506, n. 46
Foundations, encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Frame buildings, restrictive covenants as to, § 87, p. 592
Framing issue of title, § 217, p. 952
Franchises,
Dentistry, practice of, § 124, p. 674
Evidence in suits involving, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
Law practice, protection of right, § 123, p. 667, n. 83
Medicine, practice of, § 124, p. 674
Misuse of, § 99
Optometry, practice of, § 124, p. 674
Protection of, § 97
Fraud,
Actions or proceedings at law, grounds for issuance, § 37, pp. 470, 472; § 40, p. 485
Assessment of damages procured by, § 300, p. 1086
Contracts, ground for restraining actions on, § 40, p. 485
Defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1076
Defense of limitations precluded by, § 46
Dissolution on ground of fraud, § 241, pp. 979, 980
Dissolution on answer where bill alleges fraud, § 250, p. 991
Election, calling, § 115, p. 643
Evidence obtained by, restraining introduction of, § 42
False and fraudulent placards, pickets carrying, § 143, p. 737
False and fraudulent statement,
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, p. 739
Fraud—Continued,
False and fraudulent statement—Continued,
Pickets carrying, § 143, p. 733
Granting injunction on answer denying equities where bill alleges fraud, § 196, p. 906
Issuance tending to promote, § 12
Labor disputes, relief on ground of, § 138, p. 697
Labor unions, relief on ground of, § 138, p. 695
Motion to dissolve before answer where fraud is alleged, § 247
Notes obtained by, enjoining collection, § 76
Persons participating in fraud as parties defendant, § 175, p. 830
Picketing not involving fraud, § 143, pp. 737, 738
Pleading,
Action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Bill for injunction, § 182, p. 865
Information and belief, § 182, p. 856
Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 617
Strike,
Conduct of, § 147, p. 748
Inducing others to strike, § 147, p. 747
Trade secret obtained by, enjoining disclosure, § 148, p. 753
Transfer of securities by, § 74
Fraud order, burden of proving improper issuance, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
Free speech, labor unions, exercise of right, § 138, p. 699
Freeholder, surety on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Fruit trees, preventing destruction of, § 66
Fugitive trespass, real property, § 60
Function of writ, § 1
Funds,
Corporations, misappropriation, § 102
Litigation in respect of, protection pending, § 56, p. 521
Public officers and boards, disposition of, § 122, pp. 659–662
Furniture business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Future injuries, compensation awarded in injunction suit for, § 217, p. 954
Future picketing, § 143
Gambling,
Fair grounds, § 155, p. 766
Prosecution for, § 159
Gambling houses, injunction against keeping, § 155, p. 766
Garage,
Breach of contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 568
Pleading in suit to enjoin construction, § 182, p. 860, n. 2, 5
Garbage collection privilege, interference with, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Garnishment, restraining proceedings in, § 43
Gas,
Breach of contract to supply, § 86
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain discontinuance of service, § 176, p. 832
Gas company,
Enjoining prosecution under statute prohibiting conduct of business, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
Injunction against asserting rights under unconstitutional act, § 149, p. 760

General denial,
Demurrer to, § 185, p. 873
Suit for injunction, § 183
Verification, § 187, p. 880
General prayer, § 182, pp. 866, 867
Good faith,
Defense in action on bond, § 293, p. 1076
Presumption in suit for injunction, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Restraining acts in, § 19, p. 435
Good will,
Breach of contract for sale of business with, § 84, p. 566
Evidence in injunction suit involving sale of, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 891, 892, 894
Governmental subdivisions as parties defendant, § 175, pp. 824, 825
Governor,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Party defendant in suit to enjoin enforcement of law, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Power to issue against, § 109, p. 629
Grand jury investigations, § 156, p. 770
Grocery, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Gross wrong, prosecution of law action resulting in, § 37, p. 470
Groundless fears, issuance in case of, § 21, p. 438
Grounds for grant or denial of, §§ 16–18; §§ 37–39, pp. 468–479
Absence of precedent, § 18
Insolvency, § 25, p. 453
Preliminary injunction, § 17
Growing crops, trespasser, enjoining removal, § 63
Habeas corpus,
Jurisdiction of federal three-judge court, § 168, p. 802
Relief obtainable by, § 25, p. 454
Hackman, enjoining prosecution for violating regulations, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
Handbills, picketing injunction violated by distributing, § 264, p. 1019
Hardship,
Foreign states or countries, actions prosecuted in, § 49, p. 500
Multiplicity of suits, § 38, p. 475
Ordinance inflicting, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 657
Harmlessness of continuance, § 234, p. 974
Health,
Acts endangering public health, § 124, pp. 671–675
Ordinance, city as party in suit to enjoin, § 175, p. 824
Hearing,
Contempt proceedings, § 271, pp. 1035–1037
Continuance of temporary restraining order, § 235
Demurrer, § 185, pp. 873–875
Final decree entered without, § 211, p. 941
Motion to dissolve, § 252, pp. 997–1000
Suit for injunction, § 199, pp. 916–927
Hearsay,
Evidence as sufficient to sustain issuance, § 192, p. 891
Verification of pleadings on, § 187, p. 881
Hedges, removal or destruction of, § 68
Heirs, substituted as party, § 177, p. 833
Highway boards and officers, controlling acts of, § 113
Highways, obstruction or interference with, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Holding elections, § 115, p. 644
Homesteads,
Adequate remedy at law, ancillary relief, § 55, p. 516, n. 33
Determination of right to make entry, § 109, p. 625
Ejectment, protection against, § 40, p. 488, n. 36
Horserace betting permitted under certificate system, § 150, p. 760, n. 87
Hours of labor law, injunction against violation, § 155, p. 766
Householder, surety on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Husband and wife,
Bond for injunction, wife as party in action on, § 297, p. 1080
Breach of contract not to engage in certain business, § 84, p. 577
Labor unions, contracts with employer providing for discharge of married women, § 138, p. 692, n. 20
Protection of marital rights, § 137
Transfers by spouse, § 72
Ice, cutting and removal of, preventing, § 70, n. 6
Ice business,
Breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Drivers or route men, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Ignorance excusing laches, § 171, p. 819
Ill-advised acts, municipal officers or agents, § 111, p. 634
Illegal acts,
Contracts, protection of supposed rights under, § 19, p. 429
Elections, holding of, § 115, p. 644
Issuance resulting in furtherance of, § 33
Labor unions, relief as to, § 138, p. 698
Meetings, police officers, restraining interference with, § 108, p. 621, n. 50
Practice of law, prevention of, § 123, p. 666
Illicit relationships, relief in respect of, § 130, n. 73
Impersonation, prevention of, § 130, n. 69
Implied negative covenants, enjoining breach of, § 80, p. 550
Importance of questions affecting dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 991
Incidental relief, § 25, p. 454; § 217, pp. 951–956
Inciting strikes by third person, injunction against, § 147, p. 745
Incompetency of witnesses, actions at law, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 487
Inconsequential damage, issuance in case of, § 22, p. 440
Inconsistent allegations in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 853
Inconvenience to public or third persons, consideration of, § 31
Indemnity bond as condition of refusing preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Independent contractor's employee, injunction against disclosure of trade secret by, § 148, p. 754

Indian lands, parties in suit to enjoin lease, § 175, p. 823, n. 57
Indictment, injunction against prosecutions by, § 156, p. 770
Indispensable parties,
Defendants, § 175, pp. 822–824, 828, 829, 830
Jurisdiction of, § 168, p. 794, n. 33
Suits for, § 173, p. 820
Inducing breach of contract, § 89
Industrial board or commission, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 108, p. 808, n. 25; § 168, p. 810, n. 32
Industrial disputes. Labor disputes, generally, post
Ineffectual injunction, § 29
Transfer of stock, § 73
Infants,
Contracts unenforcible because of infancy, breach of, § 80, p. 551
Custody of, protection, § 137
Dissolution on ground of infancy, § 241, p. 979
Inferences, bill negativing reasonable inferences, § 182, pp. 854, 855
Information and belief,
Affidavits in support of application for injunction, § 195, p. 902
Answer on as evidence, § 196, pp. 904, 907
Bill for injunction on, § 182, pp. 856, 857
Denials on as justifying dissolution, § 250, pp. 992, 993
General denial putting allegations in issue, § 183
Pleading insolvency, § 182, p. 865.
Verification of pleadings on, § 187, p. 881
Information improperly obtained by competitor, injunction to protect, § 148, p. 757
Infringement suit,
Affidavit in opposition to motion to dissolve, § 256, p. 996
Claims of patent infringement, § 149, pp. 758, 759
Government as party in action to enjoin patent infringement, § 175, p. 825, n. 69
Injunction against intervenor's customers, § 216
Notice of suit to public, restraining, § 136
Suits, enjoining prosecution of, § 41, p. 491
Initiative and referendum, restraining election under, § 115, p. 646
Injuria sine damno, § 29
Injury,
Existence and nature of, §§ 22, 23, pp. 439–449
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 859–862
Injustice as ground for modifying injunction, § 237
Insolvency,
Amendment of pleading to cure want of averment, § 186, p. 875
Breach of warranty, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 484
Demurrer for failure to allege, § 185, p. 872
Grounds for, § 25, p. 453
Irreparable injury regardless, § 23, p. 448
Libel and slander, right to relief as affected by, § 134, n. 89
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 864, 865
Restraining proceedings in, § 43
Surety on injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
Trespasser on real property, § 63
Inspection,
Corporate books and records, § 103
Issue joined, § 199, p. 921
Instructions,
Bond, action on, § 301
Suit for injunction, § 199, p. 921
Insult, protection from, § 131
Insurance,
Fraud in obtaining policy, restraining action on, § 37, p. 472, n. 63
Incontestable clause, invoking of, § 37, p. 470, n. 41
Rates, contempt by violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1021
Insurance agents, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Insurance superintendent or commissioner,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Restraining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Intent,
Discontinue acts as grounds for denying injunction, § 196, p. 906
Presumption in suit for injunction, § 190, p. 884
Interest in property. Property rights, generally, post
Interest or right in subject-matter, pleading, § 182, pp. 857, 858
Interference, restraining of, § 1
Interim restraint, matters determined by, § 200, p. 927
Interlineation of pleadings as mode of amendment, § 186, p. 878
Interlocutory injunction. Preliminary injunction, generally, post
Intermeddlers, injunction against inciting or coercing strikes, § 147, p. 745
Internal revenue commissioner, party defendant, § 175, p. 826
Internal revenue laws, jurisdiction of suit to enjoin collection, § 168, p. 798, n. 82
Interstate commerce,
Burden of proving employer engaged in, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
Interference by persuading others to join strike, § 147, p. 747
Restraining calling of strike interfering with, § 147, p. 744
Secondary boycott, interference with, § 140, p. 726
Intervention,
Dissolution, intervenors entitled to oppose application for, § 225
Injunction bond as protecting intervenor, § 166, p. 790
Motion by intervenor to dismiss, § 198, p. 909, n. 82
Relief for intervenor, § 216
Suit for injunction, § 177, pp. 834, 835
Voluntary dismissal before intervention, § 198, p. 908 Intimidation,
Boycotts, coercion of workmen by means of, § 140, p. 721
Breach of contract, inducing by, § 89
Labor unions, § 138, p. 689
Railroads, § 138, p. 696
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–737, 740
Property rights, interference accompanied by, § 52, p. 506
Publication tending to intimidate, § 135

Intimidation—Continued,
Secondary boycotts, § 140, p. 720
Strike accompanied by, § 147, pp. 746–750
Intoxicating liquors,
Covenant not to use premises for sale of, § 87, p. 595
Injunction against violation, § 155, pp. 766, 767
Restraining prosecution for violating regulations, § 159
Intruders, public office, protection against, § 116
Invalid ordinances, passage of, § 118
Invalid statutes,
Enforcement of, § 119, p. 650
Governor, acts in pursuance of, § 109, p. 630
Involuntary dismissal of suit, § 198, pp. 909–916
Iron and tin business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Irregularities. Defects, generally, ante
Irreparable injury,
Actions or proceedings resulting in, § 37, p. 470
Affidavits to contradict answer on motion to dissolve, § 251, p. 997
Arrest causing, § 160
Boycotts resulting in, § 140, p. 720
Breach of contract, generally, § 80, pp. 549, 552; § 93
Inducing, § 89
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885
Business, acts resulting in, § 138, p. 684
Business restrictions, enforcement, § 87, p. 594
Condition precedent to issuance, § 16
Continuing injunction, grounds for, § 234, p. 973
Continuing trespasses, real property, § 58; § 64, p. 525
Conveyance or disposition of property, § 72
Corporations, exercise of powers, § 99
County commissioners, illegal acts resulting in, § 110
Criminal acts,
Civil rights or property, injury to, § 150, pp. 763, 764
Public property, interest or welfare, injury to, § 152
Criminal conspiracies and combinations, § 153
Criminal prosecutions,
Causing, § 158, pp. 773, 776
Restraining on ground of, § 157
Cutting of timber, title required to enjoin, § 53, p. 512, n. 10
Defined, § 23, p. 447
Demurrer for failure to allege, § 185, p. 872
Discretion in modifying, continuing or dissolving injunction against act working irreparable injury, § 226, pp. 965, 966
Dismissal of actions causing, § 45
Dissolution,
Answer where irreparable injury may result, § 250, p. 991
Bond, affected by, § 231
Lack of danger of, § 246
Doubt as to, § 23, p. 447, n. 18
Employment contract, breach of covenant in, § 84, p. 573
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, pp. 532, 534
Essential, § 16
Evidence, § 192, pp. 894, 897, 898
Irreparable injury—Continued,
Excavations, § 68
Federal boards and officers, ultra vires acts resulting in, § 109, p. 622
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction dependent on, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Forcible entry and detainer, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 488
Foreign states or countries, actions prosecuted in, § 49, p. 500
Granting injunction on answer denying equities, § 196, p. 906
Highway officers, acts resulting in, § 113
Issuance resulting in, § 30, p. 463
Labor disputes,
Necessity to prevent, § 138, p. 695
Norris-LaGuardia Act, § 138, p. 702
Relief on ground of, § 138, p. 697
Leases, prevention of, § 53, p. 511
Licensee, protection against, § 53, p. 511
Litigation as to title or right, protection during, § 56, p. 519
Municipal officers or agents, interference with property rights, § 111, p. 633
National Labor Relations Board, proceedings, § 138, p. 705
Necessity, § 23, pp. 446–448
Norris-LaGuardia Act, necessity, § 138, p. 702
Ordinances, passage resulting in, § 118
Pleading in suit for injunction, § 182, pp. 861, 862, 864, 865
Police officers, illegal acts resulting in, § 108, p. 620
Preliminary injunction, § 17
Enforcement of statute, § 119, p. 657
Issue without notice, § 180, pp. 839, 840, 842
Necessity, § 23, p. 447
Showing of, § 19, p. 432
Presumptions, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Prevention of, § 25, p. 451
Property rights,
Establishment of title as prerequisite to protection, § 55, p. 518
Protection against, § 52, p. 506
Protection against, § 1
Public officers and boards, acts resulting in, § 108, pp. 615, 618
Public service commissions, temporary injunction to prevent, § 109, p. 631
Railroad commissions, illegal acts resulting in, § 109, p. 630
Refrigeration, discontinuance of service, § 86
Repeated trespasses on real property, § 64, p. 526
Restraining order granted without notice, § 180, pp. 839, 840
Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 585
Resulting, from issuance, § 30, p. 463
Sale of business with agreement not to compete, breach of, § 84, p. 567, n. 21
Securities, transactions involving, § 123, p. 669
Special skill, breach of contract for personal services requiring, § 82, p. 562
Threat of as warranting, § 21, p. 436
Trespass or other injury to real property, §§ 58, 65
Isolated acts, labor unions, restraining, § 138, p. 698
Issuance, §§ 12–35, pp. 419–468
Absence of precedent as affecting right, § 18

Issuance—Continued,
- Actions in which authorized, § 13
- Adverse right or claim, § 20
- Anticipated violation of right, § 21, pp. 435–439
- Caution required, § 15
- Clean hands doctrine, § 26
- Conduct of complainant as affecting right, § 26
- Crimes, prevention of, § 32
- Damages arising from, §§ 278–316, pp. 1053–1108
- Discretion of court, § 14, pp. 420–426
- Doubtful cases, § 18
- Estoppel, § 26
  - Deny issuance in action on bond, § 293, p. 1075
- Evidence in action on bond, § 300, p. 1086
- Existence of,
  - Injury, §§ 22, 23, pp. 439–449
  - Right protected, §§ 19–21, pp. 429–439
- Former injunction as affecting right, § 27
- Grounds for grant or denial of, §§ 16–18
- Illegal acts, furtherance of, § 33
- Inconvenience to public or third persons, § 31
- Ineffectual injunction, § 29
- Irreparable injury, generally, ante
- Jurisdiction, § 12
- Motive of complainant, § 26
- Multiplicity of suits, prevention of, § 24
- Nature,
  - Injury, §§ 22, 23, pp. 439–449
  - Right protected, §§ 19–21, pp. 429–439
- Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
- Preliminary injunction, § 205
  - Grounds for grant or denial of, § 17
- Presumption of regularity, § 207, p. 936
- Prior injury, § 22, p. 443
- Proceedings in which authorized, § 13
- Propriety of granting, § 12
- Unnecessary injunction, § 29
- Waiver of right, § 26

Issues,
- Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1085
- Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1041
  - Judgment conforming to, § 274
- Determination of, § 199, p. 920
  - Application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 925
  - Fact issues on motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 909
- Suit for injunction, § 188

Jehovah's Witnesses, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin arrest, § 168, p. 807, n. 24

Jitney licenses, enjoining discontinuance of, § 52, p. 505, n. 30

Joinder of causes,
- Dismissal on ground of misjoinder, § 198, p. 911, n. 90
- Dissolution for misjoinder, § 246

Joinder of motions to dismiss and dissolve, § 198, p. 914

Joinder of parties, § 173, p. 821; § 175, pp. 830, 831; § 176, pp. 831–833
- Actions for damages independently of bond, § 308
- Bond,
  - Action on, § 297, pp. 1080, 1081
  - Enjoining exempt and nonexempt parties, effect, § 166, p. 786
- Contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1035

Joinder of parties—Continued,
- Demurrer,
  - Misjoinder, § 178; § 185, p. 872
  - Nonjoinder, § 185, pp. 872, 873
- Dismissal for failure to join, § 198, p. 912
- Motion for assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1063
- Striking out parties improperly joined, § 177, p. 835
- Subordinate and inferior officers as defendants, § 175, pp. 825, 826
- Time of objection to misjoinder, § 178
- Wrongful injunction, action for, § 308

Joint defendants, venue of suit against, § 170, p. 814, n. 65

Joint wrongdoers, injunction against, § 214

Judges,
- Advice as defense to violation, § 268
- Authority to dissolve or modify, § 229, pp. 967–969
- Change of judge in contempt proceedings, § 270, p. 1029, n. 38
- Party defendant in suit to enjoin action at law, § 175, p. 826
- Power to issue injunction, § 168, pp. 797, 798
- Preliminary injunction, absence or disability of judge to whom application is made, § 169, p. 813

Judgment or decree,
- Assessment of damages, § 286, p. 1067
- Bonds for injunctions, ante
- Collateral attack in contempt proceedings, § 259, p. 1007
- Contempt proceedings, § 274
- Dissolution, § 253
- Evidence in suit to prevent enforcement, § 192, p. 893
- Final judgment or decree, generally, ante
- Findings to sustain, § 199, p. 922
- Law actions, prerequisite to restraining prosecution, § 41, p. 492
- Mandatory injunction to enforce, § 5, p. 411
- Notice of entry against sureties for damages, § 289
- Parties in suit to enjoin enforcement, § 173, p. 820
  - Defendant, § 175, pp. 828, 829
- Permanent injunction as part of, § 3
- Pleading in action to restrain enforcement, § 182, p. 849
- Preliminary injunction against enforcement after notice, § 180, p. 839
- Scope of, § 206, p. 934
- Service of process on nonresident in suit to restrain enforcement, § 179
- Signing by three-judge court, § 206, p. 932
- Stay or execution of criminal judgment, § 161

Judicial construction of presumption, § 207, p. 936

Jurat of verification of pleading, § 187, p. 881

Jurisdiction,
- Additional, alternative and incidental relief dependent on, § 217, p. 951
- Bond, action on, § 295
- Complete relief, jurisdiction to grant, § 217, pp. 953, 956
- Contempt, ante

Jurisdiction—Continued,
Damages, jurisdiction to award in injunction suit, § 217, pp. 953–956
Demurrer for want of, § 185, p. 871
Dismissal for want of jurisdiction, § 198, pp. 910, 916
Dissolution of injunction, § 229, pp. 967–969
Ground of want of, § 226; § 241, p. 979
Enforcement of judgment of decree, § 223
Evidence to sustain jurisdiction, § 192, p. 891
Labor disputes, federal courts, § 138, p. 696
Lack of as ground for restraining action at law, § 40, p. 489
Modification of injunction, § 229, pp. 967–969; § 236
Pleading,
Jurisdiction, § 182, p. 847
Want of jurisdiction in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Preservation of, temporary injunction, § 14, p. 423, n. 55
Recital in judgment as to jurisdiction in action on bond, § 302
Retention of jurisdiction to grant other relief, § 217, pp. 952, 953
Suit for injunction, §§ 168, 169, pp. 793–813
Trial before tribunal having jurisdiction, § 199, p. 917
Waiver of objection, § 222
Want of jurisdiction,
Actions at law, grounds for issuance, § 40, p. 489
Action on bond, defense to, § 293, p. 1075
Contempt proceedings, defense to, § 266, pp. 1024, 1025
Jury, submission of issue to, § 199, pp. 920, 921
Jury trial, § 199, pp. 921, 922
Contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1036
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1064
Justices of the peace, practice of law, prevention of, § 123, p. 667, n. 88
Justification of sureties on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Knowledge of defendant, pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 859
Labor, protection of right to, § 141
Labor disputes, § 138, p. 686
Affidavits sustaining issuance of injunction in, § 195, p. 901, n. 71
Attempt at settlement as prerequisite to relief, § 138, p. 703
State laws, § 138, p. 718
Boycotts, §§ 140–142, pp. 720–728
Breach of the peace in connection with, § 138, p. 698
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 887
Clayton Act,
Effect of, § 138, p. 695
State laws modeled on, § 138, p. 709
Collective bargaining, breach of agreement, § 138, p. 709
Contempt in violating injunction concerning, § 264, pp. 1018–1020
Contractual relations, interference with, state laws, § 138, p. 710
Labor disputes—Continued,
Defined, § 138, pp. 699, 718
Evidence in suit involving, § 189; § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Exhaustion of remedies under state labor relations acts, § 138, p. 719
Fair Labor Standards Act, violations of, § 138, p. 707
Federal receivership involved, effect of, § 138, p. 699
Federal statutes, violation of, § 138, p. 694
Fraud, relief on ground of, § 138, p. 697
Interference with, § 138, p. 686
Irreparable injury,
Norris-LaGuardia Act, § 138, p. 702
Relief in case of, § 138, p. 697
Jurisdiction of federal courts, § 138, p. 696
Local peace officers, resort to as prerequisite, § 138, pp. 702, 718
National Labor Relations Act, jurisdiction under, § 138, p. 704
National Labor Relations Board, powers of, § 138, p. 704
Negotiation, Railway Labor Act, § 138, p. 708
Non-profit charitable corporations, laws as applying to, § 138, p. 717
Norris-LaGuardia Act, post
Notice of time for hearing, § 199, p. 919, n. 4
Peaceful boycott, restraining, § 140, p. 725
Permanent injunction, § 211, p. 944
Picketing not involving, § 143, pp. 731, 737, 738, 739
Pleading in suits involving, § 182, pp. 851, 852
Railway Labor Act, § 138, p. 708
Refusal of injunction on answer denying equities, § 196, p. 905, n. 19
Restraining injunction dependent upon existence of, § 143, p. 730
Restraining order under Anti-Injunction Act, § 210, n. 62
Secondary boycott, restraining, § 140, p. 725
Settlement, attempt at as prerequisite § 138, pp. 703, 718
Status quo, statutes preserving, § 138, p. 711
Statutory provisions,
State laws, § 138, pp. 709–719
Violation of federal statute, § 138, p. 694
Violence, acts of, § 138, p. 697
Prior acts of as justifying relief, § 138, p. 710
Labor Relations Board,
National Labor Relations Board, generally, post
State Board as party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Labor standards. Fair Labor Standards Act, generally, ante
Labor unions,
Activities, injunction against, § 211, pp. 943, 944
Anti-Trust Act, charge of violating, § 138, p. 699
Arbitration, failure to invoke as precluding relief, § 138, p. 692
Bannering, restraining of, § 140, p. 724
Blanket injunctions against, § 138, p. 697
Book showing discharge of employee belonging to, restraining keeping, § 146

Labor unions—Continued,
Boycotts,
Discharge of union members as precluding relief, § 140, p. 721
Disciplinary measures to compel withholding patronage, § 142
Breach of contract with, § 138, p. 694
Closed shop contracts, restraining attempt to force, § 138, p. 699
Collective labor agreements, breach of, § 138, p. 690
Conclusiveness of judgment against officers and members, § 220
Construction of injunction against, § 206, p. 935, n. 6
Contempt,
Officer in disobeying injunction, § 264, p. 1019
Violating injunction against, § 266, p. 1024, n. 80
Contractual relations, interference with, § 138, p. 692
Employment contracts, breach of, § 138, pp. 691, 692
Exclusive bargaining agency, recognition of, § 138, p. 698
Expulsion, threat of to compel members to withhold patronage, § 142
Fine, threat of to compel members to withhold patronage, § 142
Fraud, relief on ground of, § 138, p. 695
Free speech, exercise of, § 138, p. 699
Highway construction, interference in respect of, § 113, n. 27
Illegal acts, restraining, § 138, p. 698
Inducing breach of contract, § 138, p. 694
Jurisdictional disputes, interference with, § 138, p. 692
Label, pleading title in suit to enjoin use, § 182, p. 858, n. 82
Libel and slander, publication of, § 140, p. 723
Mandatory injunctions against, § 138, p. 697
Married women, contracts with employer providing for discharge, § 138, p. 692, n. 20
Members,
Indispensable parties, § 175, p. 823, n. 56
Injunction against, § 214, n. 49
Restraining striking by, § 147, p. 750
National unions, boycotts, relief against, § 140, p. 727
Nonobservance of rules before calling strike affecting right to enjoin picketing, § 143, p. 729
Officers and representatives, injunction against persons holding themselves out as, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Organization under, § 138, p. 687
Party by representation, § 175, p. 831, n. 31
Peaceful dissemination of information, § 138, p. 698
Picketing, generally, post
Pleading in suits involving disputes, § 182, pp. 851, 852
Seniority rights, protection of, § 138, p. 692
Strikes, § 147, pp. 742–750
Trespass, § 138, p. 688
Violence,
Accomplishment of lawful purpose, § 138, p. 698, n. 74
Labor unions—Continued,
Violence—Continued,
Enjoining acts of, § 138, p. 689
Vote, restraining, § 19, p. 430, n. 7
Willful destruction of property, protection from, § 138, p. 698
Laches,
Breach of contract, § 80, p. 554
Exclusive privileges, § 81
Sale of business, § 84, p. 567
Building restriction,
Enforcement, § 87, p. 596
Violation of, § 87, p. 590
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 887, n. 97
Complaint showing laches, § 182, p. 845, n. 86
Counterclaim, defense to, § 167
Demurrer on ground of, § 185, p. 872
Dissolution of injunction, § 241, p. 982
Ground for dissolution, § 242
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 533
Ground for issuance, § 40, p. 483
Modification of injunction affected by, § 238
Preliminary injunction, § 172
Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, pp. 586, 590, 596
Suits for injunction, § 171, pp. 816–819
Land. Real property, generally, post
Land department,
Contest before, protection of title pending, § 56, p. 519
Relief against officers of, § 109, p. 625
Land scrip, determination of right to, § 109, p. 625
Landlord and tenant,
Conclusiveness against landlord of injunction against tenant, § 220, n. 18
Contempt, landlord's liability, § 263, p. 1011
Ouster of tenant, § 54, n. 20
Laundry business, drivers or route men, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 576
Law, illegal practice of, § 123, p. 666
Law action. Actions, generally, ante
Law of the case, ruling sustaining demurrer as, § 185, p. 874
Lawful acts in furtherance of strike, § 147, p. 746
Lawyer's practice, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Leases,
Irreparable injury, prevention of, § 53, p. 511
Restrictive covenants as to use of land, enforcement by lessees, § 87, p. 582
Leave of court,
Affidavits in rebuttal of counter-affidavits, § 195, p. 903
Amendment of pleading, § 186, p. 877
Application,
Dissolution, §§ 224, 232
Stay of decree, § 219
Bill for injunction, filing, § 182, p. 844
Bond, action on, § 292, p. 1070; § 299, p. 1082
Second application for dissolution, § 232
Service of process on attorney, § 179
Supplemental pleading, leave to file, § 186, pp. 878, 879
Legal rights, grant to protect, § 12
Legality of purpose, labor disputes, § 138, p. 686

Legislative apportionment, adequate remedy at law to compel, § 25, p. 456
Legislative bodies, clear legal right as essential, § 108, p. 615, n. 76
Legislative committee, illegal acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Legislative powers, municipal corporations, exercise of, § 118
Lis pendens purchaser, intervention by, § 177, p. 835, n. 75
Levee commissioners, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Libel and slander, §§ 134–136, pp. 679–682
Boycotts, publication of libelous matter, § 140, p. 723
Criminal prosecution, doubtful remedy by, § 134, n. 81
Injury to business, § 135
Jurisdiction to restrain, § 134
Pickets carrying libelous statements, § 143, p. 733, n. 99
Pleading in action to restrain, § 182, p. 849
Publication, § 152, n. 11
Slander of title, § 136
Strike accompanied by libelous statements, § 147, n. 746
License,
Chiropractors, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 30
Dentistry, prevention of practice without, § 124, p. 672, n. 24; § 124, p. 673, n. 28
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 535
Irreparable injury, prevention of, § 53, p. 511
Medicine or surgery, practice without, § 124, p. 672, n. 28; § 124, p. 673, n. 29
Optometry, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 28
Ordinances requiring, enforcement, § 119, p. 657
Osteopathy, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 30
Revocation or interference with, § 70
Statutory requirements, violation of, § 123, p. 663; § 155, p. 766
Tax, adequate legal remedy to recover, relief as precluded by, § 119, p. 655, n. 64
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain enforcement, § 176, p. 832
Liens,
Creation by public injunction, § 217, p. 951
Grant to protect and not to create, § 207, p. 936
Life estates, interference with, § 53, p. 511
Light,
Breach of contract to supply, § 86
Obstruction of, § 70
Limitations of actions,
Bond, action on, § 296
Defense of as subject to injunction, § 46
Issuance on ground of, § 40, p. 483
Suits for injunction, § 171, p. 816
Limited jurisdiction,
Federal three-judge court, § 168, p. 807, n. 24
Power of courts of to grant injunction, § 168, p. 797
Preliminary jurisdiction, jurisdiction to issue, § 169, p. 812
Liquidated damages,
Awarded in injunction suit, § 217, p. 954
Breach of contract providing for, § 80, p. 556; § 81; § 138, p. 692
Contract not to engage in business, § 84, p. 574
Sale of business providing, breach of, § 84, p. 567
Liquidation, enjoining boards of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Lis pendens, litigation as to title or right, alienation of property pending, § 56, p. 521
List of customers, injunction against use, § 148, pp. 755–757
Livery stable,
Injunction against erection, § 155, p. 765
Restrictive covenant as to use of premises, § 87, p. 595
Livestock, trespass by, § 69
Livestock inspectors, restraining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Local peace officers, labor disputes, resort to as prerequisite, § 138, pp. 702, 718
Location of building, restrictive covenants, enforcement, § 87, p. 592
Lockout of employees, breach of agreement respecting, § 138, p. 691
Log slide, erection over land of another, § 70, n. 6
Longshoremen, non-union labor, conspiracy to prevent shipment by employer of, § 138, p. 695
Lowest bidders, public contracts, letting to, § 120
Mail, restraining calling of strike interfering with passage, § 147, p. 744
Malice,
Libel, existence of as affecting right to relief, § 134
Property rights, interference accompanied by, § 52, p. 506
Malicious prosecution as remedy for wrongful issuance, § 281, p. 1055
Management, corporation, § 98
Managers,
Breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Corporation, injunction against use of trade secret by, § 148, p. 753, n. 24
Mandamus,
Adequate remedy at law by, § 25, p. 456
County officers, compelling performance of duties, § 110
Directing act restrained as ground for dissolution, § 244
Discretion in continuing, modifying or dissolving injunction, control of, § 226, p. 966
Distinguished, § 9
Election officers, compelling performance of duties, § 115, p. 646
Municipal officers, adequate remedy by, § 111, p. 636
Public service commissions, adequate remedy by, § 109, p. 631
Public service companies, adequate remedy by, § 101
Relief obtainable by, § 25, p. 454
Remedy by way of, acts of public officers, § 108, p. 619
Staying proceedings by, § 44

Mandate, nature of, § 203
Mandatory injunction,
- Adequate remedy by mandamus, § 25, p. 456
- Allowance at chambers or in vacation, § 168, p. 796
- Canal officers, § 114
- Caution required, § 15
- City as party in suit for, § 175, p. 824, n. 62
- Collection of money, § 76
- Compelling performance of legal duty, § 9
- Conditions imposed on granting, § 202, p. 930
- Contempt, § 258, pp. 1004, 1005; § 264, p. 1018
- Contracts, violation of, § 93
- Corporate officers, § 104
- Criminal judgment, compelling stay, § 161
- Damages awarded on denial of, § 217, p. 955, n. 50
- Demurrer to bill for, § 185, p. 873
- Discretion of court, § 14, p. 424
- Dispossession by, § 52, p. 508
- Dissolution, § 255, n. 5
  - Person entitled to apply for, § 224, n. 80
- Drainage officers, § 114
- Encroachment by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 532
- Evidence of inability to obey, § 273, p. 1044
- Form and requisites of order, § 206, p. 935
- Hearing during vacation, § 199, p. 919
- Issuance on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 926
- Labor disputes, § 138, p. 697
- Laches, § 171, p. 816, n. 86
- Modification, § 237
- Municipal officers, § 111, p. 636
- Nature and form, § 5, pp. 409–413
- Notice, § 180, p. 840
  - Application, § 180, p. 838, n. 17
- Objection to, § 222
- Payment of money, § 76
- Permanent injunction providing mandatory relief, § 211, p. 941 n. 78
- Prayer for, § 182, p. 866
- Preliminary injunction, § 5, p. 412
- Public officers,
  - Payment from public funds, § 122, p. 662
  - Reinstatement, § 116
- Public service companies, compelling performance of duties, § 101
- Railway labor disputes, discretion of court, § 138, p. 708
- Reinstatement of public officers, § 116
- Relative conveniences, balancing of, § 30, p. 462, n. 72
- Restrictive covenant, use of property, § 87, p. 595
- Trespass, real property, § 64, p. 528
- Union officers, compelling members to return to work, § 147, p. 744
- Water supply, § 86

Manicurists, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Marital rights, protection of, § 137
Marketing agreement, injunction to prevent enforcement, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Married women. Husband and wife, generally, ante
Martial law,
- Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to determine validity of order, § 168, p. 804, n. 7
- Governor, illegal declaration of, § 109, p. 630

Mass picketing, § 148, pp. 735, 737, 740
Master and servant. Employees, ante
Master in chancery, preliminary injunction, power to issue, § 169, p. 813, n. 58
Material rights, mandatory injunction requiring invasion of, § 5, p. 411
Maxims, pleading doing or offering to do equity, § 182, pp. 865, 866
Mayor, party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Mechanic's liens, right to restrain disposal of property, § 72
Medical practice, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 570
Medicine,
- Contempt for violating injunction against unauthorized practice, § 264, p. 1022, n. 48
- Evidence in suit to prevent practice of, § 191, p. 888; § 192, p. 895
- Illegal practice of, § 124, p. 672
  - Criminal liability as affecting right, § 124, p. 674
- Practicing without license, § 124, p. 673, n. 29; § 124, p. 674

Meetings, public boards or officers, § 117
Megaphone, restraining prosecution for use of, § 159
Mercantile agency, use or publication of information procured by, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Merger of,
- Order for preliminary injunction in decree for perpetual injunction, § 244
- Preliminary injunction affecting liability for contempt, § 258, p. 1005

Military force,
- Governor, illegal use of, § 109, p. 630
- State, illegal use of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87

Milk business, drivers or route men, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 576
Milk testing apparatus, enjoining prosecution for using, § 159
Minimum price, picketing to compel employer to maintain, § 143, p. 731
Mining operations, restraining, § 70, n. 6
Ministerial acts,
- Election officers, compelling performance, § 115, p. 646
- Federal officers or agencies, § 109, p. 623
- Governor, § 109, p. 630
- Municipal corporations, publication of ordinance, § 118
- Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 616
- School boards, performance of, § 112, p. 638, n. 99
- State officers and boards, compelling performance, § 109, p. 629

Misjoinder of,
- Causes of action, ground for dissolution, § 246
- Parties, ground for dissolution, § 241, pp. 980, 981

Misrepresentation of facts in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 846
Mistake,
- Actions at law, grounds for enjoining, § 40, p. 485
- Breach of contract entered into, § 80, p. 558
- Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 534
- Ground for issuance, § 37, p. 478

Mistake—Continued,
Municipal officers, exercise of discretion, § 111 p. 634
Restrictions omitted from deed through, remedy, § 87, p. 584
Misuse of powers, corporations, § 99
Mitigation of terms imposed on granting or refusing preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Mixed questions of law and fact, highway boards and officers, § 113
Modification of contempt order, § 274
Modification of final judgment or decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Modification of injunction, §§ 236–238, pp. 975–977
Appellate court's or judge's power, § 229, p. 969
Attorney's fees for services in procuring as recoverable on bond, § 315, p. 1104
Authority of court or officer, § 229, pp. 967–969
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Chambers, modification in, § 229, p. 968
Contempt proceedings after modification, § 258, p. 1006
Court's authority, § 229, pp. 967–969
Decree need not provide for, § 211, p. 944
Discharge of surety by, § 294
Discretion of court, § 226, pp. 964–966; § 236
Excusing violation of injunction by moving to modify, § 258, p. 1004
Final decree modifying temporary injunction, § 213
Grounds, § 237
Judge's authority, § 229, pp. 967–969
Jurisdiction of motion, § 229, pp. 967–969
Laches, § 238
Mandamus to control discretion, § 226, p. 966
Motion, § 238
Person entitled to apply for, § 224
Proceedings to obtain, § 238
Review of,
Discretion, § 226, p. 966
Rulings, § 238
Successor judge's power, § 229, p. 968
Terms imposed, §§ 230, 231, pp. 969–971
Time for modifying, § 236
Vacation of court, modification during, § 229, p. 969
Modification of terms imposed on granting or refusing preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Monopolies. Restraint of trade, generally, post
Moot cases or questions,
Costs on controversy becoming moot, § 221, p. 961, n. 31
Dismissal of, § 198, p. 912
Election matters, § 115, p. 642
Issuance, § 29
Mortgages,
Foreclosure,
Costs in suit to enjoin, § 221, p. 961
Preliminary injunction against, § 17
Mortgagees as necessary parties in suits for, § 173, p. 820
Removal of timber, mortgagee as having sufficient interest to enjoin, § 53, p. 511
Right of mortgagee to restrain disposal of property, § 72
Motion pictures, covenants not to use premises for, enforcement, § 87, p. 594, n. 34
Motions,
Dismiss, motions to, § 198, pp. 914, 916
Dissolution or discharge, ante
Making bill more definite and certain, § 185, p. 871
Modification of injunction, § 238
Modification or vacation of decree granting permanent injunction, § 218, pp. 958, 959
Permanent injunction, § 211, p. 945
Suits for injunction, § 185, pp. 871–875
Supplemental decree, § 218, p. 959
Motive,
Corporate directors, consideration in stockholders' action, § 103
Prosecution, affecting injunctive relief, § 156, p. 771
Right as affected by, § 26
Strike, motive for, § 147, p. 743
Suing out injunction, pleaded in bar in action on bond, § 299, p. 1084
Moving buildings, contempt in violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1017
Multifariousness, demurrer on ground of, § 185, p. 872
Multiplicity of suits,
Adequate remedy at law, § 24
Assertion of right, § 38, pp. 475, 476
Commencement of action, § 38, p. 475
Conditions precedent, ascertaining right at law as, § 38, p. 478
Consolidation, adequate remedy at law by, § 38, p. 477
Continuance of injunction to prevent, § 234, p. 974
Continuing trespass,
Numerous actions for, § 38, p. 477, n. 10
Real property, § 64, p. 528
Counterclaim, cause of action available as, § 38, p. 477
Criminal acts, ground for injunction, § 150, p. 762
Criminal prosecution, restraining for purpose of avoiding, § 157
Damages awarded in injunction suit to avoid, § 217, p. 953
Discretion of court, determination of, § 38, p. 474
Enjoining picketing to avoid, § 143, p. 735
Federal boards and officers, ultra vires acts, § 109, p. 623
Garnishment proceedings, prevention of, § 43
Illegal action under invalid statutes or ordinances giving rise to, § 119, p. 652
Imminency of action, § 38, p. 475
Incidental relief, § 38, p. 478
Joinder of numerous complainants to avoid, § 176, p. 832
Numerous actions by different plaintiffs, § 38, p. 476
Ordinances, passage resulting in, § 118
Pleading, § 182, p. 865
Prevention of, § 24; § 25, p. 451; § 38, pp. 473–479
Property rights,
Avoidance of, § 55, p. 516
Protection against, § 52, p. 506
Public injury or right, § 22, p. 442

Multiplicity of suit—Continued,
Public officers and boards,
Illegal acts requiring, § 108, p. 618
Misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 660, n. 26
Restraining prosecution of actions or proceedings, § 51
Separate plaintiffs against one defendant, § 38, p. 475
Set-off, cause of action available as, § 38, p. 477
State officers or boards, illegal acts requiring, § 109, p. 627
Trespass,
By animals, § 69
On land, § 62
Vexatious suits, § 39
Municipal corporations, § 111, pp. 633–636
Amendment of parties to include city, § 177, p. 835, n. 82
Bond for injunction, exemption from giving, § 166, p. 785
Bonds,
Diversion of funds collected for payment of, § 122, p. 662
Party defendant in suit to enjoin issuance, § 175, p. 830
Contempt by violating injunction, § 263, p. 1015; § 264, p. 1021
Electricity, compelling furnishing of, § 86
Expenditures, restraining, § 122, p. 661
Intervention by, § 177, p. 834, n. 75
Legislative power, exercise of, § 118
Ministerial acts, publication of ordinance, § 118
Ordinances, post
Parties in suit relating to rights in, § 173, p. 820
Party defendant in suit for injunction, § 175, pp. 824, 825
Police regulations,
Enforcement of, § 119, p. 654, n. 61; § 123, p. 665
Violation of, § 124, p. 671
Preliminary injunction against after notice, § 180, p. 839
Resolutions, enactment or publication, § 118
Sanitary regulations, § 123, p. 665
Violation of, § 124, p. 671
Temporary injunction, § 108, p. 619
Wrongful injunction, liability for, § 281, p. 1055
Municipal courts, special proceedings before, § 43
Municipal finance commission, party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Municipal licenses, enforcement of, § 119, pp. 650–658
Municipal officers. Public officers and boards, generally, post
Municipal ordinances. Ordinances, post
Mutual insurance,
Assessments, joinder of parties in suit to restrain levy, § 176, p. 832, n. 42
Company officers, defendants in suit to enjoin purchase of land, § 175, p. 829
Mutuality,
Breach of contract,
Exclusive privileges, § 81
Relief as dependent on, § 80, p. 554
Covenant not to engage in certain business, § 87, p. 594
Mutuality—Continued,
Restrictive covenants wanting in, enforcement, § 87, p. 583
Naked legal title, ejectment by one holding, injunction against, § 40, p. 488
Naked trespass, real property, § 60
Names, breach of contract not to open up competing business, § 84, p. 570
Customers, injunction against disclosure, § 148, p. 755
Unauthorized use of, § 132, n. 70
Naprapathy, license, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 28
National Industrial Recovery Act, party defendant in suit to enjoin enforcement of penalties, § 175, p. 827, n. 90
National Labor Relations Act, labor disputes, jurisdiction of federal courts under, § 138, p. 704
National Labor Relations Board,
Injunction against picketing dependent on determination by, § 143, p. 741
Power to grant restraining orders, § 138, p. 704
Regional director, restraining hearings by, § 138, p. 707
Service of process on, § 179, n. 7
Trial examiners, restraining hearings by, § 138, p. 707
Natural gas, breach of contract for sale of, § 83, p. 564, n. 96
Nature of,
Action or proceedings,
Amendment of pleading changing, § 186, p. 876
Bond, action on, § 291
Contempt proceedings, § 271, pp. 1030–1033
Injury,
Irreparable injury, § 23, pp. 446–448
Issuance as dependent on, §§ 22, 23, pp. 439–449
Mandate, § 203
Remedy, §§ 1–11, pp. 405–419
Right protected, §§ 19–21, pp. 420–439
Suit for, § 162
Naval mine depot, government as party in suit to enjoin maintenance, § 175, p. 825, n. 69
Necessary parties, § 173, p. 820
Amendment to include, § 177, p. 835
Defendants, § 175, pp. 822, 823, 826–831
Ne exeat, refusal to discharge unless injunction order is performed, § 276, p. 1052
Negative covenants,
Breach of, § 80, p. 550
Employment contracts, breach of, § 82, p. 562
Restraining breach of, §§ 78, 79
Negativing reasonable inferences in bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 854, 855
Negligence, remedy at law, availing of, § 25, p. 453
Negotiable instruments. Bills and notes, generally, ante
Negotiation,
Instruments or securities for payment of money, § 74
Labor disputes, Railway Labor Act, § 139, p. 708
Negroes, picketing to compel employment, § 143, p. 731
New cause of action, amendment of pleading alleging, § 186, p. 876

New injunction bond, § 166, pp. 790, 791
New matter in answer,
Affidavits to contradict on motion to dissolve, § 251, p. 997
Justifying dissolution, § 250, p. 994
New parties, § 177, pp. 833–836
Dissolution opposed by, § 225
Voluntary dismissal preventing bringing in, § 198, p. 908
New process, protection by injunction, § 148, pp. 750, 751
New trial,
Contempt proceedings remanded for, § 275, p. 1047
Suspension of decree by motion, § 260
Newspapers,
Boycott, combination in restraint of trade, § 139
Breach of contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 568
Injunction to compel delivery for resale, § 149, p. 760, n. 82
"No admittance" signs as disclosing secrecy of process entitled to protection, § 148, p. 751, n. 5
Nominal damages, § 314
Awarded in injunction suit, § 217, p. 954
Bond, recoverable on, § 314
Dismissal of injunction suit without prejudice, § 292, p. 1072
Issuance in case of, § 22, p. 440
Trespass on real property, § 64, p. 526
Nominal parties, damages awarded against, § 217, p. 954
Non-profit charitable corporations, labor laws, application to, § 138, pp. 717, 719
Nonresident,
Dissolution without awaiting answer, § 250, p. 995
Jurisdiction of suit against, § 168, p. 794, n. 34
Notice as condition to granting permanent injunction, § 202, p. 930
Order to show cause why preliminary injunction should not issue, § 180, p. 838, n. 17
Publication of writ or order affecting, § 208
Service of process on, § 179
Non-union labor, conspiracy to prevent shipment by employer of, § 138, p. 695
Norris-LaGuardia Act,
Adequate remedy at law, denial of relief in case of, § 138, p. 702
Attempt at settlement of labor disputes under, § 138, p. 703
Boycotts, jurisdiction to restrain under, § 140, p. 725
Construction of, § 138, p. 696
Enjoining picketing under, § 143, pp. 736–741
Irreparable injury, necessity of, § 138, p. 702
Labor disputes,
Jurisdiction under, § 138, p. 696
Meaning of term, § 138, pp. 698, 699
State laws modeled on, § 138, p. 710
Meaning of terms under, § 138, p. 713
Temporary injunction, § 138, p. 699
Local peace officers, resort to as prerequisite to relief under, § 138, p. 702
Strikes, § 147, pp. 748, 749
Notary public, party defendant in suit to restrain enforcement of orders, etc., § 175, pp. 828, 829
Notes. Bills and notes, generally, ante
Notice,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, p. 903
Amendment of pleadings, § 186, p. 878
Application for,
Injunction, dissolution for want of or defects in, § 241, p. 981
Preliminary injunction or restraining order, § 180, pp. 837–843
Building restrictions, enforcement against persons having, § 87, p. 589
Contempt,
Affected by notice of injunction, § 261; § 263, pp. 1012, 1013, 1015
Proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Dissolution of injunction granted without notice, § 240
Intention to ask for injunction, § 179, n. 7
Judgment for damages in injunction suit, § 289
Motion to,
Dissolve, § 248
Waiver of want of notice or defects therein, § 247
Reinstate dissolved injunction, § 256
Nonresident, condition to granting permanent injunction, § 202, p. 930
Permanent injunction, issuance, § 199, p. 918
Pleading notice to defendant in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 859
Preliminary injunction, post
Proceedings to,
Assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Continue temporary restraining order, § 235
Restrictive covenants, relief as dependent on, § 87, p. 582
Special injunction on, § 6
Suit for, waiver, § 232
Time for hearing, § 199, p. 919
Novel questions determined on application for preliminary injunction. § 200, p. 927
Nuisance,
Affidavit in opposition to motion to dissolve, § 251, p. 996
Buildings constituting, restraining demolition, § 111, p. 636, n. 78
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
Joinder of parties complainant, § 176, p. 832
Persuasion to join strike, § 147, p. 746
Picketing, § 143, pp. 735, 740
Verification of pleadings in suit to enjoin, § 187, p. 879
View of premises on motion to dissolve injunction, § 252, p. 998
Nulla bona, pleading return nulla bona as sufficient allegation of insolvency, § 182, p. 865
Number of,
Customers affecting injunction against soliciting, § 148, p. 757
Picketers affecting injunctive relief, § 143, pp. 735, 740
Numbered ballots, use of, § 115, p. 642, n. 52
Numerous complainants, § 174
Numerous parties or actions, relief against, § 24

Nunc pro tunc objection to report of master, § 201
Obedience to writ or mandate, § 258, p. 1004
Objections to,
Affidavits on hearing application for preliminary injunction, § 199, p. 921
Injunction, § 222
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 792
Parties, § 178
Report of referee or master, § 201
Obstruction of,
Access, picketing involving, § 143, p. 733
Stream, joinder of parties complainant, § 176, p. 832
Streets, enjoining prosecution for, § 159
Occupation. Trade, business, or occupation, generally, post
Occupation tax,
Dentists, practicing without payment of, § 124, p. 672, n. 24
Restraining prosecution for nonpayment, § 159
Offenses, construction of injunction where disobedience is advanced, § 207, p. 936
Offer of proof in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 920
Offer to do equity, pleading, § 182, pp. 865, 866
Officers,
Corporations, ante
Public officers and boards, generally, post
Oil,
Possession under oil and gas lease, temporary injunction, § 52, p. 508, n. 60
Production proration order, preliminary injunction without notice against violation of, § 180, p. 841, n. 41
Prospecting permits, government as party in suit to enjoin issuance, § 175, p. 825, n. 69
One-man sitdown strike, restraining, § 138, p. 709
Opening final judgment or decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Operation and effect of injunction order, § 207, pp. 936–938
Opinion evidence of value of attorney's services in computing damages, § 315, p. 1106, n. 99
Opinions, pleading,
Bill for injunction, § 182, pp. 855, 856
Irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
Oppression, prosecution of law action resulting in, § 37, p. 470
Oppressiveness,
Issuance operating as, § 12
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 412
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, p. 534
Optometrists, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 576
Optometry,
Contempt for violating injunction against practice of, § 264, p. 1022, n. 48
Illegal practice of, § 124, p. 672
Criminal liability as affecting right, § 124, p. 674
License, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 28; § 124, p. 674
Order, §§ 204–208, pp. 930–939
Amendment of order fixing amount of injunction bond, § 166, p. 788
Bond, order requiring, § 166, p. 788
Order—Continued,
Contempt proceedings, § 274
Determination of validity in, § 271, p. 1037
Dissolution, § 253
Of injunction, § 255
Effect of entry, § 211, p. 940
Exception to, § 222
Extension of injunction, § 235
Injunction as, statutory provisions, § 11
Judicial notice in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Party defendant in suit to restrain enforcement, § 175, pp. 828, 829
Pleading in,
Action to restrain enforcement, § 182, p. 849
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1039
Show cause why preliminary injunction should not issue, § 180, p. 837; § 180, p. 838, n. 17
Waiver of, § 180, p. 843
Ordinances,
Arbitrary enforcement, § 111, p. 634, n. 66
Burden of proving unconstitutionality, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
City as party defendant in suit involving enforcement, § 175, pp. 824, 825
Contempt,
Ordinance authorizing act as defense, § 266, p. 1027
Violating injunction against enforcement, § 264, p. 1021
Criminal prosecutions for violation of, §§ 156, 161, pp. 768–779
Dismissal of suit seeking to enjoin enforcement, § 198, p. 916
Enactment of, § 118
Enforcement of, § 123, p. 665
Evidence in suit to,
Prevent enforcement, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
Restrain erection of filling station, § 188, n. 55
Expiration of injunction restraining enforcement, § 207, p. 936
Federal three-judge court, jurisdiction to determine constitutionality, § 168, p. 805
Fire limits, violation of, § 124, p. 671, n. 20; § 124, p. 672
Hearing in suit to enjoin enforcement, § 199, p. 918, n. 89
Intervention in suit to enjoin enforcement, § 177, p. 834, n. 72
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain enforcement, § 176, p. 832
Notice of suit to enjoin manner of enforcing, § 180, p. 838, n. 17
Nuisance, abolition of, § 111, p. 636, n. 78
Parties in suit to enjoin ordinance confirming agreement, § 173, p. 820, n. 30
Pleading in suit to enjoin,
Enforcement, § 182, p. 857, n. 82
Prosecutions under, § 182, p. 853; § 182, p. 860, n. 99
Violation, § 182, p. 861
Preliminary injunction, enforcement of, § 119, p. 657

Ordinances—Continued,
Presumption of prior enactment, § 190, p. 884, n. 67
Publication of, § 118
Violation of, § 150, p. 761; § 151, p. 763, n. 2; § 155, pp. 766, 767
Zoning ordinances, violation of, § 155, p. 767
Ore tenus demurrer, motion to dismiss as, § 185, p. 873
Organization efforts, labor unions, § 138, p. 687
Ornamental trees, preventing destruction of, § 66
Osteopathy, license, practicing without, § 124, p. 673, n. 29
Other remedies,
Adequate remedy at law, generally, ante
Existence, etc., § 25, pp. 450–456
Overt act, threat of injury unaccompanied by, § 21, p. 439
Owner of trade secret entitled to injunctive relief, § 148, p. 752
Ownership,
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 858
Presumption, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Paper title, pleading, § 182, p. 858
Parish police jury, controlling or preventing acts by, § 110
Parks, illegal use of, § 128
Restrictive covenants as to, enforcement, § 87, p. 592, n. 98
Parties, §§ 173–178, pp. 819–836
Actions for damages independently of bond, § 308
Amendment of pleadings,
As to parties, § 186, p. 878, n. 79
Curing defects, § 186, p. 875
Bond,
Action on, § 297, pp. 1079–1081
Parties entitled to damages for breach, § 278
Breach of contract, suit to restrain, §§ 94, 95
Conclusiveness of decree as to party, § 220
Contempt, ante
Damages awarded against, § 217, p. 954
Death as ground for dissolution, § 245
Defects as ground for dissolution, § 241, p. 980
Defendants, generally, ante
Dismissal,
Defects in, § 198, p. 912
Part of parties on dissolution, § 198, p. 914
Dissolution,
Conduct of plaintiff as ground, § 241, p. 979
Misjoinder or nonjoinder, § 241, pp. 980, 981
Parties entitled to,
Apply for, § 224
Oppose application for, § 225
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction affected by defects, § 168, p. 811, n. 39.
Joinder of parties, generally, ante
Jurisdiction, § 168, pp. 793–795
Affected by agreement of, § 168, p. 795
Motion for assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 286, p. 1063
Necessary parties, ante
New parties, ante
Nominal parties, damages awarded against, § 217, p. 954
Permanent injunction against, § 214
Parties—Continued,
Proper parties, § 174
Defendants, § 175, pp. 823–826, 829, 830
Public improvement contracts, restraining letting of, § 120
Public officers and boards, post
Temporary restraining order, § 210
Wrongful injunction, action for, § 308
Partnership,
Affidavit in opposition to motion to dissolve injunction relating to partnership settlement, § 251, p. 996
Competing business by retiring partner, breach of contract forbidding, § 84, p. 567
Damages occasioned by injunction, § 278, n. 93
Holding defendant out as partner, injunction against, § 149, p. 757
Use of firm name by retiring partner, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Past injuries, damages awarded in injunction suit for, § 217, p. 954
Patents,
Breach of contract not to contest, § 88
Claims of infringement, § 149, pp. 758, 759
Infringement, generally, ante
Presumption of issuance, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Trade secret, distinguished, § 148, pp. 750, 751
Patronage,
Labor unions, disciplinary measures to compel members to withhold, § 142
Picketing interfering with, § 143, pp. 734, 741; § 144
Soliciting patronage by former employee, § 148, pp. 755–757
Payment,
Defense of in law action as precluding, § 40, p. 485
Party defendant in suit to enjoin, § 175, p. 830
Pleading payment or offer to pay, § 182, p. 866
Prevention of, § 76
Public officers, compelling payment from public funds, § 122, p. 662
Peace officers as parties defendant in suit to enjoin picketing, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Peaceful boycott, labor disputes, restraining, § 140, p. 725
Peaceful dissemination of information, labor unions, § 138, p. 698
Peaceful persuasion,
Join strike, § 147, pp. 746, 747, 749
Not to accept employment, § 147, p. 747
Peaceful picketing, § 143, pp. 728–731, 733, 736, 737, 740, 741
Decree should exclude, § 211, p. 944, n. 94
Pecuniary responsibility, adequate remedy at law, consideration in determining, § 25, p. 453
Penalty,
Contract for sale of business providing, breach of, § 84, p. 567
Disobeying injunction, insertion in decree, § 211, p. 944
Restraining criminal prosecution on ground of severity of, § 158, p. 777, n. 11
Restrictive covenants, provision for as affecting right to relief, § 87, p. 584
Pendente lite. Preliminary injunction, generally, post

Pending actions,
Adequate remedy at law by, § 25, p. 454
Effect of, § 27
Equitable suit, pendency of as affecting right to enjoin criminal prosecution, § 157
Multiplicity of suits, § 38, p. 474
Title or right to property, protection, § 56, pp. 518–521
Penitentiary commissioners, enjoining boards of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Performance, contracts, § 90
Injunction against breach as requiring, § 80, p. 553
Permanent injunction,
Accounting awarded in decree for, § 217 p. 951
Additional relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Alternative relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Bond as condition of granting, § 165
Cancellation of instrument provided for in decree, § 217, p. 951
Conditions on granting or refusing, § 202, pp. 929, 930
Continuing process, § 215, p. 949, n. 65
Costs, § 221, pp. 960, 961
Defined, § 3
Ejectment, action of, § 40, p. 488, n. 36
Evidence, § 199, p. 921
Sustaining issuance on defendant's default, § 189
Extent of relief, § 211, pp. 941–943
Final judgment or decree, §§ 211–220, pp. 940–960
Form and contents of decree, § 211, pp. 941–946
Incidental relief, § 217, pp. 951–956
Issuance on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 926
Labor disputes, § 211, p. 944
Labor union activities, § 211, pp. 943, 944
Modification of decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Motion to modify or vacate decree granting, § 218, pp. 958, 959
Opening decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Order of dissolution as not preventing permanent injunction, § 255
Persons against whom entered, § 214
Prayer, § 182, p. 866
Scope of inquiry, § 200, p. 927
Stay of decree, § 219
Suspension of decree, § 219
Time for modifying decree, § 218, p. 958
Trial or hearing, § 199, p. 918
Vacating decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Verification of pleadings seeking, § 187, p. 880
Vested rights created by, § 215, p. 950
Without prejudice to recover in action at law, § 211, p. 945
Permits,
Invalid statute or ordinance respecting, request as condition to relief, § 119, p. 655, n. 64
Ordinance requiring, enforcement of, § 119, p. 657
Perpetual injunction. Permanent injunction, generally, ante
Personal property,
See, also, Property rights, generally, post
Corporations, dealings with, § 102
Disposition of, § 72
Personal property—Continued,
Disputed title, remedy as proper to establishment, § 54
Restrictive covenants as to use, breach of, § 87, p. 579
Trespass with reference to, § 71
Personal rights, §§ 130–149, pp. 677–760
Adequate remedy at law,
Absence of, § 130
Availability, § 137
Domestic rights, § 137
Evidence in injunction suit affected, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 896
Irreparable injury to, illegal acts of police officers, § 108, p. 621
Marital rights, § 137
Physical injury, protection from, § 131
Privacy, § 132
Private writings, § 133
Protection in general, § 130
Personal service of writ or order, § 208
Personal services, breach of contracts for, § 82, pp. 560–564
Personam, suit for injunction as suit in personam, § 162
Persons,
Bound or affected by injunction, § 207, pp. 937, 938
Entitled to, § 35
Injunction to protect trade secrets, § 148, p. 752
Make affidavit in support of affidavit for injunction, § 195, p. 903
Move to dismiss, § 198, p. 909
Restrain,
Picketing, § 143, pp. 741, 742
Prosecution of actions or proceedings, § 51
Verify pleadings, § 187, p. 880
Final decree, persons against whom entered, § 214
Represented by another, joinder as party defendant, § 175, p. 831
Required to give injunction bond, § 166, pp. 785, 786
Subject to restraint, § 34
To whom injunction bond is payable, § 166, pp. 788, 789
Who may be enjoined from,
Picketing, § 143, p. 742
Striking, § 147, pp. 749, 750
Under Clayton Act, § 147, p. 749
Using or disclosing trade secret, § 148, pp. 752–755
Persuading others to,
Join strike, § 147, pp. 746, 747, 749
Refuse employment, § 147, p. 747
Violate contract, § 89
Petition, § 182, pp. 844–869
Dissolution for defects in, § 241, p. 978
Leave to intervene, § 177, p. 835
Pharmacy,
Illegal practice of, § 124, p. 672
Criminal liability as affecting right, § 124, p. 674
Statutory provisions regulating practice, violation, § 124, p. 673, n. 28

Phonograph records, protection against broadcast of, § 52, p. 505, n. 30
Photograph gallery, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Photographs,
Advertisement or unauthorized use in connection with, § 132, n. 77
Improper use, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Physical injury, protection from, § 131
Physicians and surgeons,
See, also, Medicine, generally, ante
Breach of contract for,
Employment, § 84, p. 576
Sale of practice, § 84, p. 570
Picketing, §§ 143–145, pp. 728–742
Burden of proving violence and intimidation, § 190, p. 887, n. 96
Committee to settle dispute, § 235
Contempt in violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1019; § 266, p. 1024, n. 80
Costs on controversy becoming moot, § 221, p. 961, n. 31
Decree against picketing, § 211, p. 944, n. 94
Definition of term as used in injunction order, § 206, p. 936, n. 6
Employment of pickets, injunction to protect right of union, § 143, p. 741
Evidence in suit to restrain, § 192, pp. 893, 896
Extension of injunction against, § 235
Interfering with workmen, § 145
Joinder of defendants, § 176, p. 833, n. 62
Peace officer as party defendant in suit to enjoin, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Peaceful picketing, injunction against, § 143, p. 730
Police officers, relief against, § 108, p. 620
Service of process on pickets, § 179, n. 7
Unlawful strike, picketing in furtherance of, § 143, pp. 732, 740
Pin-ball machines, injunction against seizure, § 156, p. 769, n. 56
Plaintiff,
Action on bond, § 297, pp. 1079–1081
Verification of pleadings by, § 187, p. 880
Plea in abatement, § 183, n. 17
Plea in suit for injunction, § 183
Pleadings, §§ 181–188, pp. 844–884
Actions for damages independently of bond, § 308
Amendment, ante
Answer, generally, ante
Bill for injunction, generally, ante
Bond, action on, § 299, pp. 1081–1085
Certainty, ante
Complaint, generally, ante
Conclusions, ante
Contempt proceedings, § 272, pp. 1037–1041
Judgment conforming to, § 274
Cross-bill or cross-complaint, generally, ante
Damages, ante
Defects affecting validity of decree, § 222
Defendants' relief dependent upon, § 216
Demurrer, generally, ante
Determination of sufficiency on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 925
Dissolution for defects in, § 241, p. 978
Evidence, pleadings as, §§ 193, 194; § 196, pp. 904–907
Pleadings—Continued,
Final decree conforming to, § 211, p. 945
Findings within issues made by, § 199, p. 922
Intervenor, § 177, p. 834
Issues determined by pleadings and evidence, § 199, p. 920
Parties determined by, § 173, p. 820
Prayer for relief, post
Preliminary injunction issued without notice dependent on pleadings, § 180, pp. 841–843
Public officers and boards, post
Reply, post
Verification of pleadings, post
Wrongful injunction, action for, § 308
Pledges,
Corporate stock, restraining, § 73
Instruments or securities for payment of money, § 74
Plumbers,
Breach of contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 568
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain enforcement of licensing ordinance, § 176, p. 832
Points and authorities, dissolution for failure to serve, § 241, pp. 981, 982
Police courts, special proceedings before, restraining, § 43
Police officers,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to determine validity of orders, § 168, p. 804, n. 9
Performance of duties, § 108, p. 620
Police regulations, municipal corporations,
Restraining enforcement of, § 119, p. 654, n. 61
Violation of, § 123, p. 665; § 124, p. 671
Political matters,
Elections, generally, ante
Governor, controlling, § 109, p. 630
Power to interfere, § 111, p. 635, n. 71
Political rights,
Protection of, § 19, p. 430
Relief in respect of, § 137
Political subdivisions, changes in boundaries, elections for, § 115, p. 644
Pollution of water, contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023
Pool rooms, injunction against maintenance, § 155, p. 766
Port commissioners, federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Portable buildings, restrictive covenants, violation of, § 87, p. 592
Positive act, mandatory injunction commanding performance of, § 5, p. 409
Possession,
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885
Contempt for violating injunction against interfering with, § 264, p. 1023
Evidence in suit to restrain interference with, § 192, p. 894
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 858
Presumption in suit for injunction, § 190, p. 884
Property rights, right of as prerequisite to protection, § 53, p. 509
Possessory action, injunction suit as, § 162, n. 50
Possessory remedy, injunction as, § 52, p. 507
Possibility of injury, issuance in case of, § 21, p. 437
Postmaster general, party defendant, § 175, p. 826

Postponement of hearing, § 199, pp. 919, 920
Power of court, § 36
  Bond, power to require, § 166, pp. 783, 784
  Federal three-judge court, § 168, pp. 807–811
  Punishment for contempt, § 270, pp. 1029, 1030
Practice of law,
  Evidence in suit to prevent, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
  Pleading in action to restrain illegal practice, § 182, p. 850, n. 29
  Preventing illegal practice, § 123, p. 666
Practice of medicine. Medicine, ante
Practice of optometry. Optometry, ante
Prayer for punishment in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Prayer for relief, § 182, pp. 866, 867
  Amendment, § 186, p. 875
  Construction of,
    Bill by resorting to prayer, § 182, p. 868
    Injunction in relation to bill, § 207, p. 936
  Decree granted only on prayer, § 211, p. 945
  Temporary injunction without hearing where prayer omitted, § 199, p. 917, n. 83
Precedent, absence of as affecting right, § 18
Preemption, determination of right to, § 109, p. 625
Prejudice to defendant by delay as defeating suit, § 171, pp. 818, 819
Preliminary injunction,
  Absence of judge to whom application is made, § 169, p. 813
  Acceptance of injunction bond by defendant, § 166, p. 790
  Acknowledgment of injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
  Additional bond, § 166, pp. 790, 791
  Administrator required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 786
  Affidavits, § 164; § 199, p. 920
    Sustaining issuance, § 195, pp. 900–904
  Amendment of,
    Bill after granting, § 186, p. 878
    Pleading after granting, § 186, p. 877
  Amount of injunction bond, § 166, pp. 787, 788
  Answer as evidence, § 196, pp. 904–907
  Appellate court, discretion, § 14, p. 426, n. 69
  Approval of injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
  Balance of convenience, consideration of, § 30, p. 464
  Bill as basis for issuance, § 194
  Blank, signing injunction bond by surety, § 166, p. 789
  Boards not required to give bond, § 166, p. 785
  Bond, § 166, pp. 780–792
    Modification of injunction to provide for giving, § 237
  Boycotts, cessation of acts after, § 140, p. 721
  Breach of contract, § 80, p. 552, n. 74
  Building covenant, removal of structure erected in violation of, § 87, p. 596
  Caution in granting, § 15
  Chambers, allowance in, § 168, p. 796
  Citizen required to give bond, § 166, p. 785
  Clear case as essential, § 19, p. 432
  Clerk of court,
    Execution of injunction bond before, § 166, p. 790
    Filing bond with, § 166, p. 790
Preliminary injunction—Continued
  Commissions not required to give bond, § 166, p. 785
  Common-law bond, defective statutory bond good as, § 166, p. 787
  Complaint as evidence, § 194
  Conclusiveness of order, § 207, p. 937
  Condition precedent, § 164
  Conditions on granting or refusing, § 202, pp. 928, 929
  Consent to injunction bond by defendant, § 166, p. 790
  Consideration for injunction bond, § 166, pp. 786, 787
  Contempt, generally, ante
  Contingency, relief dependent on, § 19, p. 433
  Continuing, §§ 233–235, pp. 972–975
  Contracts, performance, §§ 90, 93
  Corporations,
    Derivative action by members, § 98
    Directors, stockholders' suit, § 103, n. 22
    Interference with, § 97
    Officers, removal of, § 105
    Preliminary injunction against after notice, § 180, p. 839
  Costs, § 221, pp. 960–962
  Counter affidavits opposing issuance, § 197
  Court's power to require bond, § 166, pp. 783, 784
  Damages,
    Arising after preliminary injunction is made permanent, § 282, p. 1059
    Sustained by granting, § 166, p. 784
  Defects and irregularities in injunction bond, § 166, p. 791
  Defined, § 2
  Demurrer,
    Hearing on demurrer before motion to dissolve, § 185, p. 874
    To complaint for permanent injunction affecting, § 185, p. 875
  Deposit in lieu of bond, § 166, p. 784
  Disability of judge to whom application is made, § 169, p. 613
  Discretion of court, § 14, p. 423, n. 55; § 14, p. 424
    Amount of injunction bond, § 166, p. 787
    Bond, § 166, pp. 783, 784
    Enforcement of statute, § 119, p. 658
    Form of injunction bond, § 166, p. 787
    Granting preliminary injunction without notice, § 180, p. 841
    Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 619
    Security or sureties on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789, n. 58, 59.
  Dismissal,
    After hearing, § 199, p. 924
    Bill, for defects in bond, § 166, p. 787
    Suit, § 198, pp. 908–916
  Dispensing with notice, § 180, pp. 839–843
  Disputed questions as affecting right, § 19, p. 434
  Dissolution or discharge, generally, ante.
  Divorce action, restraining cohabitation with another, § 137
  Doubtful cases, § 19, p. 431
  Ejectment, § 40, p. 488, n. 36

Preliminary injunction—Continued
- Estoppel to deny validity of injunction bond, § 162, p. 792
- Evidence,
  - Hearing, § 199, pp. 920, 921
    - Of motion, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 897–899
  - Verified pleadings as, §§ 193, 194
- Execution of injunction bond, § 166, pp. 789, 790
- Executor required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 786
- Failure to give injunction bond, § 166, pp. 791, 792
- Federal three-judge court, power or jurisdiction of, § 168, pp. 798, 801, 802; § 169, p. 812
- Fiduciary required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 786
- Filing injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
- Final decree,
  - Affected by granting or denying, § 213
  - Making temporary injunction permanent, § 213
- General demurrer, § 185, p. 871
- Grounds for, § 17
- Highway boards or officers, § 113
- Intervenor protected by injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
- Irreparable injury, ante
- Issuance, § 205
- Joinder of exempt and nonexempt parties affecting necessity for bond, § 166, p. 786
- Jurisdiction of,
  - Parties, § 168, p. 794, n. 33
  - Proceeds, § 169, pp. 811–813
- Jury trial on application for, § 199, p. 921
- Laches, § 172
- Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 412
  - Allowance at chambers, § 168, p. 796
- Merger of order in decree for perpetual injunction, § 244
- Modification, §§ 236–238, pp. 975–977
- Motion to dissolve as manner of attacking sufficiency of bill, § 185, p. 871
- Municipal corporations, § 108, p. 619
  - Bond dispensed with, § 166, p. 785
- New bond, § 166, pp. 790, 791
- Norris-LaGuardia Act, labor disputes under, § 138, p. 699
- Notice, § 180, pp. 837–843
  - Issuance, waiver of, § 222
  - Motion to dissolve as waiver of want of notice for defects therein, § 247
  - Proceedings, power to modify injunction affected by giving, § 236
- Objections to,
  - Granting, § 222
  - Injunction bond, § 166, p. 792
- Officers not required to give bond, § 166, p. 785
- Oil and gas lease, possession under, § 52, p. 508, n. 60
- Operation and effect of, § 207, pp. 936–938
- Order granting or refusing, § 207, pp. 932–939
- Ordinances, enforcement, § 119, p. 657
- Parties from whom bond is required, § 166, pp. 785, 786
- Performance of contract, § 93
- Persons,
  - Protected by injunction bond, § 160, p. 790

Preliminary injunction—Continued
- Persons—Continued,
  - To whom injunction bond is payable, § 166, pp. 788, 789
  - Who may issue, § 205
- Petition for, § 182, pp. 846, 847
- Pleadings as evidence, §§ 193, 194
- Possession of property, § 52, p. 508
- Prayer, § 182, p. 866
- Premature suit, § 172
- Prerequisite to perpetual injunction, § 3
- Prima facie showing as essential, § 19, p. 433
- Prosecuting attorney, injunction bond payable to, § 166, pp. 788, 789
- Public officers and boards, § 108, p. 619
- Public service commissions, § 109, p. 631
- Purpose of bond, § 166, p. 784
- Receiver required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 786
- Reference to other papers to determine meaning or order granting, § 206, p. 934
- Rehearing, § 199, pp. 923, 924
- Renewal of motion, § 199, pp. 923, 924
- Requisites and sufficiency of bond, § 166, pp. 786–790
- Res judicata considered on application for, § 200, p. 927
- Restraining order pending application, § 8
- Scope of inquiry on application for, § 200, pp. 924–927
- Second application, § 199, pp. 923, 924
- Security, § 166, pp. 780–792
- Separate suit to restrain law action, § 162
- Service of,
  - Summons or subpœna, § 209
  - Writ or order, § 208
- Signing,
  - Injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
  - Order for issuance, § 206, p. 932
- State,
  - Bond not required, § 166, p. 785
  - Injunction bond payable to, § 166, p. 788
- Status quo, maintenance of, § 17
- Statutory provisions, § 17
  - Bonds, statutory requirements, § 166, pp. 781, 782
  - Construction, § 11
  - Enforcement, § 119, p. 657
  - Injunction without notice, § 180, p. 839
- Subpœna, injunction granted before issuance of, § 905
- Summons, injunction granted before issuance of, § 205
- Sureties on injunction bonds, § 166, p. 789
- Surplusage in injunction bond, § 166, p. 791
- Taxpayer required to give injunction bond, § 166, p. 785
- Time,
  - Filing injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
  - Injunction remains in force, § 207, p. 936
  - Issuance, § 205
- Trial or hearing, § 199, pp. 917, 918
- Undertaking, § 166, pp. 780–792
- United States not required to give bond, § 166, p. 785
- Vacation of court, allowance during, § 168, p. 796

Preliminary injunction—Continued
Verification of,
Motion for, § 187, p. 879
Pleadings, § 187, pp. 879, 882
Evidence, verified pleadings as, §§ 193, 194
Verified petition insufficient to sustain issuance, § 192, p. 898
Waiver of,
Failure to give bond, § 166, p. 792
Objection to,
Defects in injunction bond, § 166, p. 792
Granting, § 222
Withdrawal of party furnishing injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Zoning ordinance, violation of, § 123, p. 665, n. 78
Premature suit for, § 171, p. 815
Malicious procuring, § 307
Preliminary injunction, § 172
Preponderance of evidence to sustain issuance, § 192, pp. 890, 891
Prerequisites, existence of right violated, § 19, p. 429
Prerogative writ, nature as, § 1
Presence of three federal judges at final hearing, § 168, p. 807
Present controversy, necessity of, § 20
President of United States, wartime requisitions, § 109, p. 622, n. 52
Presumptions,
Bond, action on, § 300, p. 1085
Contempt proceedings, § 273, p. 1041
Court's power to act on motion to dissolve, § 229, p. 967
Damages, proceedings to assess, § 286, p. 1066
Federal three-judge court, presumption of powers of, § 168, p. 807, n. 24
Injunction suits, § 190, p. 884
Preliminary injunction without notice, presumption in favor of, § 180, p. 841, n. 47
Public officers, legality of acts, § 108, p. 615
Regularity of issuance, § 207, p. 936
Preventing enforcement of rights acquired by crime, § 154
Preventive injunction, defined, § 4
Preventive nature, § 22, p. 444
Preventive relief, purpose of furnishing, § 1
Price agreements, breach of, § 87, p. 580
Price control. Emergency Price Control Act, generally, ante
Price regulations, violation of, discretion of court, § 14, p. 420, n. 54
Prima facie case,
Ground for continuing injunction, § 234, p. 973
Temporary injunction as requiring, § 19, p. 433
Primary boycott,
Combinations and nature of, § 140, p. 725
Restraining, § 140, p. 720
Primary elections, controlling officers of, § 115, p. 642
Principal and agent, delivery of checks to agent, § 74
Prior injunction in force, effect of, § 27
Prior injury, issuance in case of, § 22, p. 448
Prisoners, mandatory injunction to secure interview with attorney, § 5, p. 410, n. 31
Privacy,
Evidence in injunction suit affecting, § 191, p. 888
Protection of right of, § 132
Private banking, enjoining prosecution for violating regulations, § 159
Private individuals,
Public property,
Maintenance of suits for protection of, § 125
Restraining illegal,
Transfer, § 126
Use, § 127
Public welfare, maintenance of suit involving, § 123, p. 670
Private roads, trespass on, § 70, n. 6
Private writings, protection of, § 133
Privies, contempt, liability for, § 207, p. 938; § 263, p. 1013
Prize fight, injunction to prevent, § 155, p. 766
Probability of success as ground for continuing injunction, § 234, p. 973
Probate courts,
Jurisdiction to grant injunction, § 168, p. 797
Restraining proceedings in, § 43
Probate judges,
Party in suit to enjoin settlement of estate, § 175, p. 826
Practice of law, prevention of, § 123, p. 667, n. 88
Procedure, labor disputes, statutory regulations, § 138, p. 712
Proceedings. Actions, generally, ante
Process, §§ 179, 180, pp. 836–843
Abuse of,
Ground for dissolution, § 242
Prevention, § 37, p. 470
Bond, action on, § 298
Contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Demurrer for failure to serve, § 185, p. 872
Injunction as, § 1, n. 1
Party defendant in suit to restrain enforcement, § 175, pp. 828, 829
Prayer for process, § 182, p. 867
Proceedings to assess damages, § 286, p. 1065
Protection by injunction, § 148, pp. 750–757
Service, post
Profane language by picketer, § 143, p. 735, n. 9
Professions. Trade, business, or occupation, generally, post
Profits, loss as ground for enjoining picketing, § 143, p. 730
Prohibition,
Distinguished, § 10
Relief obtainable by writ of, § 25, p. 454
Remedy by writ of, acts of public officers, § 108, p. 619
Staying proceedings by writ of, § 44
Prohibition commissioner as party defendant, § 175, p. 827, n. 90
Prohibitory injunction,
Defined, § 4
Mandatory injunction as auxiliary to, § 5, p. 411
Promissory notes. Bills and notes, generally, ante
Promoters, association represented by promoter as party defendant, § 175, p. 831, n. 31
Promptness, adequate remedy at law, § 25, p. 452
Proper parties, § 174
Defendants, § 175, pp. 823–826, 829, 830
Property,
Personal property, ante
Public property, post
Real property, post

Property rights, §§ 52–76, pp. 505–547
Adequate remedy at law, protection of, § 52, p. 506
Arrest interfering with, § 160
Bond for injunction where rights not involved, § 166, p. 782
Boycotts, violation of, § 140, p. 721
Burden of proving necessity of protection, § 190, p. 886, n. 92
Business,
Injury to, § 138, p. 685
Right to carry on, § 138, p. 683
Clayton Act, interference with, § 138, p. 695
Collective bargaining, railway employees, § 138, p. 708
Complicated rights, § 52, p. 505
Criminal acts,
Affecting, § 151, pp. 762–765
Interfering with as ground for enjoining prosecution, § 156, p. 771
Criminal prosecution,
Injuring, ground for restraining, § 157
Invading property rights, § 158, pp. 773, 776
Derailgnment of title, injunction respecting, § 53, p. 512
Discretion of court, protection of, § 52, p. 506
Evidence in injunction suits involving, § 191, pp. 887, 888; § 192, pp. 891, 892, 894
Injury to as essential, § 16
Intentional interferences, § 52, p. 506
Interest in property. Title or interest, post, this head
Invalid statute or ordinance depriving of, enforcement, § 119, p. 651
Invasion of, generally, § 52, pp. 505–508
Irreparable injury, § 52, p. 506
Establishment of title as prerequisite to relief against, § 55, p. 518
Illegal acts of police officers, § 108, p. 620
Labor unions, interference with, § 138, p. 690
Libel or slander affecting, relief as against, § 135
Multiplicity of suits,
Avoidance of, § 55, p. 516
Protection against, § 52, p. 506
Municipal officers or agents, interference with, § 111, p. 633
Optometry, protection of by licensed practitioner, § 124, p. 674, n. 35
Personal property, generally, ante
Possession as sufficient to maintain injunction, § 53, p. 510
Prima facie title, establishment as prerequisite to injunction, § 55, p. 517
Protection of, § 52, p. 505
Relief as limited to, § 130
Seniority rights, protection, § 138, p. 691
Sole ownership as essential to protection, § 53, p. 511
Threatened injury to as essential, § 19, p. 430, n. 8
Title or interest, §§ 53–56, pp. 509–521
Admitted title, § 55, p. 517
Adverse possession, § 53, p. 513
Burden of proof, § 190, p. 885
Clear right or title, § 55, p. 517
Common rights with public, § 53, p. 511
Property rights—Continued,
Title or interest—Continued
Continuing injunction to determine disputed title, § 234, p. 973
Decree vesting title in defendant, § 216
Demurrer on ground of failure to show, § 185, p. 873
Deraignment of title, § 53, p. 512
Dispute over title as affecting right, § 19, p. 431
Doubtful or disputed title, § 54
Establishment, § 55, p. 515
Equitable interest as sufficient, § 53, p. 512
Establishment of, § 55, pp. 515–518
Evidence in suits involving, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 897
Full ownership as essential, § 53, p. 511
Lessee as having, § 53, p. 511
Licensee, § 53, p. 511
Life estate, § 53, p. 511
Litigation as to title or right,
Possession and use pending, § 56, p. 520
Protection pending, § 56, pp. 518–521
Appeal, § 56, p. 520
Removal of property pending, § 56, p. 520
Sale or transfer pending, § 56, p. 520
Mortgagee, § 53, p. 511
Necessity of, § 53, p. 509
Permanent injunction, question of title determined on application for, § 200, p. 927
Pleading, § 182, pp. 857, 858
Possessory right, § 53, p. 509
Preliminary injunction, question of title determined on application for, § 200, p. 927
Prima facie right or title, § 55, p. 517
Prima facie showing, § 53, p. 509
Prior adjudication at law as essential to relief, § 55, p. 517
Reference to determine title, § 201
Remainder or reversion as sufficient, § 53, p. 511
Remedy as proper for trial of title, § 54
Sale, restraining, § 72
Settlement of question of title and final decree, § 217, p. 952
Slander of title, § 136
Statutory exceptions as to establishment of title, § 55, p. 517
Statutory provisions, § 53, p. 511
Sub-lessee, § 53, p. 511
Sufficiency, § 53, p. 510
Superior right, § 53, p. 510
Technical right, § 53, p. 511
Trespasser, § 53, p. 510, n. 72
Trustees and other representatives, § 53, p. 512
Unauthorized possession, § 53, p. 510
Warrantor of title, § 53, p. 512
Tortious interferences, § 52, p. 506
Trade secret, § 148, p. 751
Transfer of possession, § 52, p. 508
Trespass, equitable interest as basis for suit to enjoin, § 53, p. 512
Waste, equitable interest as basis of suit to enjoin, § 53, p. 512

Prosecuting attorney,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to determine validity of orders, § 168, p. 804, n. 9
Injunction bond payable to, § 166, pp. 788, 789
Provisional employees, civil service, dismissal of, § 116
Provisional remedy,
Preliminary injunction as, § 2
Restraining order, § 8
Public, injury or inconvenience to, consideration of, § 31
Public contracts, bond for injunction against, persons entitled to damages on, § 278, n. 98
Public domain, establishment of title at law as condition to relief, § 55, p. 516
Public eating house, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Public garage, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Public health, acts endangering, § 124, pp. 671–675
Public improvements,
Continuing injunction respecting, § 234, p. 973
Dissolution of injunction relating to, § 228
Public injury, § 22, p. 441
Pleading in suit to restrain, § 182, pp. 860, 861
Special injury in addition to, § 22, p. 442
Public interest,
Bond in suit involving, § 166, p. 783
Business affected with, conduct of, § 123, p. 663, n. 56
Continuing injunction to protect rights, § 234, p. 972
Damages awarded in lieu of injunction inflicting injury on public, § 217, p. 956
Injury to affecting right to dissolve, § 228
Laches as defense in suits involving, § 171, pp. 817, 819
Public lands, patents, determination of right to, § 109, p. 625
Public nuisance, prevention of, § 1
Public officers and boards, §§ 108–122, pp. 614–662
Acquiescence in acts of, § 108, p. 618
Appointment of officers, § 116
Apprehension of unauthorized act, § 108, p. 618
Bonds,
Diversion of funds collected for payment of, § 122, p. 662
Exemption from giving injunction bond, § 166, p. 785
Issuance of, § 121
Breach of trust, § 108, p. 614
Burden of proof in suits by or against, § 190, p. 886
Canals, § 114
Collusion, § 108, p. 617
Compelling performance of duties, § 108, p. 615
Completed wrongs, § 108, p. 619
Constitutional provisions, § 108, p. 615
Contempt, violating injunction, § 263, p. 1015; § 264, pp. 1020, 1021
Against interfering with, § 264, p. 1023
Contracts for improvements, unauthorized contracts, § 120
Counties, § 110
Court officers, actions against, restraining, § 37, p. 471
Public officers and boards—Continued,
Criminal prosecutions based on invalid orders of, § 158, p. 776
Decree awarding officer damages for erroneous issuance, § 286, p. 1067
De facto officers, interference on behalf of, § 116
Discretion, § 108, p. 616
Court's discretion, relief against, § 108, p. 616
Letting of contracts, § 120
Disposition of public funds, § 122, pp. 659–662
Dissolution of injunction against officer on termination of office, § 242
Diversion of public funds, § 122, p. 660, n. 23
Drainage officers, § 114
Election, § 115, pp. 641–647
Evidence in suits by or against, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
Proof in suit by official to restrain violation of law, § 188
Existence of injury, § 108, p. 618
Expenditures, § 122, pp. 659–662
Federal, § 109, pp. 622–625
Federal boards and officers, generally, ante
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to,
Determine validity of orders, § 168, pp. 804, 805
Enjoin unconstitutional orders, § 168, p. 799
Funds, payment or other disposition thereof, § 122, pp. 659–662
Highways, § 113
Illegal expenditures, § 122, pp. 659–662
Improvements, unauthorized contracts for, § 120
Irreparable injury, acts resulting in, § 108, pp. 615, 618
Lowest bidders, letting contracts to, § 120
Meetings of, § 117
Ministerial acts, § 108, p. 616
Misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 660
Multiplicity of suits, illegal acts requiring, § 108, p. 618
Municipal officers, § 111, pp. 633–636
Official acts of, § 108, p. 614
Parties,
Complainants, § 174
Defendants, § 175, pp. 825–829
Municipal officers as proper parties defendant, § 175, p. 826
Restraining illegal expenditures, § 122, p. 661
Payment of public funds, § 122, pp. 659–662
Compelling, § 122, p. 662
Penalty for violating injunction, municipal officers, § 276, p. 1049
Personal trespasses, restraining, § 119, p. 651, n. 48
Pleadings,
Construction of, suit to restrain acts, § 182, p. 868, n. 91, 92
Insolvency, pleading in suit to restrain acts, § 182, p. 865
Invalidity or wrongfulness of acts, pleading, § 182, p. 859
Irreparable injury, pleading in suit to enjoin acts, § 182, p. 862
Negativing reasonable inferences in suit to enjoin acts, § 182, p. 855

Public officers and boards—Continued,
Pleadings—Continued,
Suit to restrain,
Officers, § 182, pp. 852, 853
Violation of law, suit by officers, § 182, pp. 850, 851
Verification of pleadings,
Before, § 187, p. 881
Injunction suits by, § 187, p. 879; § 187, p. 880, n. 18
Police officers, § 108, p. 620
Power to restrain in general, § 108, pp. 614–621
Powers, exercise of, § 108, p. 617
Presumption of regularity of official acts, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Private rights, violation of, § 108, p. 615
Proceedings of, § 117
Public welfare, maintenance of suit relating to, § 123, p. 670
Quasi-judicial powers, § 108, p. 617
Removal of officers, § 116
School boards and officers, post
Scope of inquiry on application to enjoin acts of, § 200, p. 924
Securities, issuance of, § 121
Slight injury as result of illegal act, § 108, p. 618
Special damage, showing of, § 108, p. 619
State, post
Statutory provisions, § 108, p. 615
Subordinate, § 108, p. 615, n. 74
Substitution of successor as party, § 177, p. 834
Taxpayers' right to restrain, § 108, p. 619
Temporary injunctions, § 108, p. 619
Towns, § 110
Unauthorized contracts for improvements, § 120
Verification of pleadings, § 187, p. 880, n. 18; § 187, pp. 879, 881
Public places, illegal use of, § 128
Public policy,
Breach of contract against, § 80, p. 551
Building restrictions not contrary to, enforcement, § 87, p. 589
Contracts contrary to,
Contracts in restraint of trade, breach of, § 84, p. 564
Restraining execution, § 90
Inducing breach of contract contrary to, § 89
Labor disputes, statutes relating to as declaring, § 138, p. 711
Restrictive covenants contrary to, enforcement, § 87, p. 583
Public property,
Appropriation of, § 127
Criminal acts affecting, injunction against, § 152
Disposition of, § 126
Erection of building on, § 127
Interference with proper use of, § 127
Protection of, §§ 125–129
Unlawful transfer of, § 126
Use of, § 127
Public safety, acts endangering, § 124, pp. 671–675
Public safety commission, restraining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Public service commissions,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Preliminary injunction against, § 109, p. 631
Unauthorized acts by, § 109, p. 630
Public service companies,
Breach of contracts, § 86
Compelling performance of duties, § 101
Quasi-public duties, § 25, p. 456
Discontinuance of service, § 101
Rates or tolls, § 99
Public Utility Holding Company Act, party defendant in suit to enjoin enforcement, § 175, p. 826, n. 82; § 175, p. 827, n. 85
Public welfare,
Federal government, right to relief, § 123, p. 663, n. 56
Protection of, §§ 123, 124, pp. 662–675
Public works, laches as defense to suit to enjoin, § 171, p. 819
Publication,
Blacklist, § 146
Court proceedings, § 129
Ordinances or resolutions, § 118
Writ or order, § 208
Puerto Rico district court as federal district court requiring convening of three-judge court, § 168, p. 800, n. 86
Punishment for violation. Contempt, ante
Purchasers,
Necessary parties in suits for, § 173, p. 820
Pendente lite, joinder as parties, § 173, p. 821
Restrictive covenants, restraining breach as against, § 87, p. 583
Trade secret, purchaser entitled to injunctive relief, § 148, p. 752
Purpose, § 1
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 409
Temporary injunction, § 2, n. 8
Qualification of surety on injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Quasi-criminal proceedings, injunction against, § 156, pp. 768–771
Quasi-judicial,
Powers, public officers and boards, § 108, p. 617
Tribunals, adequate remedy at law before, § 25, p. 456
Quasi-municipal corporation commissioners, parties in suit for injunction, § 175, p. 826, n. 78
Quasi-public corporation,
Injunction against employee withdrawing from service of, § 147, p. 743
Laches as defense to suit against, § 171, p. 819
Questions of law and fact,
Bond, action on, § 301
Continuing injunction to determine question of law, § 234, p. 973, n. 5
Difficult questions determined on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 927
Suit for injunction, § 199, p. 917
Quieting title, equitable interest as sufficient, § 53, p. 512
Quo warranto,
Certification of election, remedy by way of, § 115, p. 646
Corporations, remedies distinguished, § 96

Quo warranto—Continued,
Infractions, remedy by way of, § 115, p. 644
Public officers and boards, remedy by way of for misappropriation of funds, § 122, p. 661
Public service commissions, mandatory injunction pending, § 101
Relief obtainable by, § 25, p. 454
School districts, adequate remedy to determine validity of organization, § 112, p. 638, n. 94
Title or right to property involved, protection pending, § 56, p. 519
Quotations, use of exchange quotations, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Race track, injunction against maintenance, § 155, p. 766
Radio broadcasting,
Administrative remedies, exhaustion as prerequisite to relief, § 109, p. 624, n. 61
License, restraining without, § 123, p. 663, n. 60
Name of broadcaster, unauthorized use of, § 132, n. 78
Railroad commission,
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to,
Determine validity of orders, § 168, p. 804, n. 9
Enjoin acts of, § 168, p. 806, n. 19
Illegal acts of, § 109, p. 630
Injunction bond not required, § 166, p. 785, n. 8
Railroads,
Depot, contempt in violating injunction against changing location, § 264, p. 1017, n. 84
Issuance depriving public of, § 31
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain operation, § 176, p. 832
Labor unions, restraining intimidation, § 138, p. 696
Location of roads, § 99
Maintenance of operation, § 70, n. 6
Preliminary injunction against after notice, § 180, p. 839
Preventing building of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3
Tickets, enjoining dealing in, § 75
Railway Labor Act, interference with rights under, § 138, p. 708
Rates,
Burden of proving unreasonableness, § 190, p. 886, n. 90
City as party defendant in suit relating to, § 175, pp. 824, 825
Contempt by violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1021
Federal three-judge court,
Jurisdiction to,
Determine validity, § 168, p. 805, n. 12
Enjoin, § 168, p. 808, n. 25
Nature of as rate-making body, § 168, p. 807, n. 24
Injunction against enforcement of laws fixing, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Pleading in bill to restrain excessive rates, § 182, p. 861
Public service corporations, § 99
Restraining prosecution for violating rate regulations, § 159
Ratification of appearance by attorney, § 179, p. 10
Real party in interest,
Complainant, be, § 35
Defendant, § 175, p. 822, n. 52
Real property,
See, also, Property rights, generally, ante
Actions relating to, restraining, § 40, p. 487
Conveyance or disposition of, §§ 72–74, pp. 541–544
Disputed title, remedy as proper to establishment, § 54
Parties in suit to protect interest in, § 173, p. 820
Recovery of possession, § 52, p. 507
Restrictive covenants as to use, breach of, § 87, p. 580
Title or interest. Property rights, ante
Trespass or other injury, §§ 57–70, pp. 521–540
Adequate remedy at law, ante
Adverse possession, title by as sufficient to protect against, § 53, p. 513
Amendment of parties in suit to enjoin trespass, § 177, n. 90
Animals, § 69
Comparative injury, § 64, p. 527
Consideration of equities, § 64, p. 527
Constructive possession as essential, § 58
Continuing injunction to determine disputed title, § 234, p. 973
Continuing trespass, generally, ante
Criminal trespass, § 61
Cross-bill in action to enjoin trespass, § 184, n. 32
Cutting of timber, § 66
Damages for trespass awarded in injunction suit, § 217, p. 956, n. 67
Demurrer for defects in abstract of title attached to petition, § 185, p. 873
Destruction of,
Buildings or other structures, § 68
Inheritance, § 65
Dogs, § 69
Encroachments by buildings or other structures, § 67, pp. 531–535
Equitable interest as sufficient to base suit to enjoin, § 53, p. 512
Establishment of title, § 59
Evidence in suit to restrain, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 891, 894
Inadequacy of,
Damages, continuing trespass, § 64, p. 527
Remedy at law, § 61
Insolvency of trespasser, § 63
Interference with property rights, § 53, p. 510, n. 72
Irreparable injury, § 58
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain trespass, § 176, p. 832
Labor unions, § 138, p. 688
Laches barring suit to enjoin trespass, § 171, p. 871, n. 4
Lawful acts, § 57
Mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 410, n. 29
Multiplicity of suits, § 62
Naked trespass, § 60
Nominal damage, § 64, p. 526

Real property—Continued,
Trespass or other injury—Continued,
Party defendant, § 175, p. 827, n. 87
Permanent occupation, § 65
Persons entitled to relief, § 58
Pleading, § 182, p. 850
Insolvency, § 182, p. 864
Irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
Title, § 182, p. 857, n. 82
Possession as essential to relief, § 58
Possessory nature of action to restrain trespass, § 162, n. 50
Privity of title as essential, § 57
Removal of,
Buildings or other structures, § 68
Timber, § 66
Repeated trespasses, § 64, pp. 525–528
Scrambling possession, § 58, n. 20
Statutory provisions, § 58
Temporary trespass, § 60
Threatened trespass, § 57
Trivial damage, § 64, p. 526
Unauthorized entry, § 57
Waste, § 64, p. 525
Reamendment of bill, § 187, p. 876
Reasonable probability of injury, necessity, § 21, p. 437
Reasonableness of restraint, § 206, p. 934
Rebates, injunction against giving or receiving, § 155, p. 766
Rebuttal, affidavits in rebuttal of counter-affidavits, § 195, pp. 903, 904
Receiver,
Bond for injunction, § 166, p. 786
Contempt proceedings instituted by, § 271, p. 1034
Enjoining suit for, § 41, p. 490
Injunction against employees withdrawing from service of, § 147, p. 743
Jurisdiction of injunction against, § 168, p. 795
Persons sued in individual capacity improperly enjoined as receiver, § 207, p. 938, n. 27
Restraining,
Calling of strike against, § 147, p. 744
Disciplinary measures to compel employees to strike, § 147, p. 745
Venue of injunction against, § 170, p. 814, n. 65
Receivership, bond for injunction incident to, § 166, p. 782
Reception of evidence in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 920
Reconsideration of motion to dismiss, § 198, p. 915
Record,
Construction of bill by resorting to records, § 182, p. 868
Entry of order for preliminary injunction, § 206, p. 932
Order, record of as essential to liability for contempt, § 259, p. 1008
Prior suit, as evidence in suit for injunction, § 191, p. 889
Redress of own grievance, remedy by way of, § 25, p. 456
Reference,
Damages, ante
Fees of referee as costs, § 221, p. 960
Reference—Continued
Hearing motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 999
Suit for injunction, § 201
Reference to bill or other paper to ascertain meaning of writ or order, § 206, pp. 933, 934
Referendum, restraining, § 115, p. 646
Reformation of contract, temporary injunction pending suit for, § 90
Refrigeration, discontinuance of service, § 86
Registration officers or boards, restraining performance of duties, § 115, p. 643
Rehearing, § 199, pp. 923, 924
Reinstatement,
After voluntary dismissal, § 198, p. 908
Corporate officers, § 105
Discharged injunction, jurisdiction to punish for violation, § 270, p. 1030
Dismissed suit, § 198, p. 912
Public officers, § 116
Teachers, mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 412, n. 56
Relation back of,
Amendment of pleading, § 186, p. 878
Order,
Granting injunction, § 207, p. 936
Reinstating injunction, § 256
Relative convenience, restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 587
Relative inconvenience or injury,
Issuance as affected, § 30, pp. 461–465
Restrictive covenants, consideration of, § 87, p. 595
Release of liability on injunction bond, § 294
Religious corporation, party defendant in suit against trustees, § 175, p. 829
Rem, suit for injunction as suit in rem, § 162
Remainderman, joinder of remainderman represented by executor, § 175, p. 831, n. 31
Remainders, interference with, § 53, p. 511
Remand of case by federal three-judge court to single judge, § 168, p. 811
Remedial nature of writ, § 1, n. 1
Remote purchaser, breach of contract for sale of business, right to relief, § 84, p. 569, n. 59
Removal of,
Buildings or other structures, prevention of, § 68
Causes, prevention of, § 37, p. 471
Corporate officers, § 105
County seat, preventing, § 110
Officers, § 116
Injunction against, § 159
Timber, mortgagee as having sufficient interest to enjoin, § 53, p. 511
Renewal of motion for,
Dismissal, § 198, p. 915
Interlocutory injunction, § 199, pp. 923, 924
Rent commission, attorney general substituted as party for, § 177, p. 834
Reopening case for further evidence, § 199, p. 920
Reparation of injury, invalid statute or ordinance, enforcement, § 119, p. 654, n. 62
Repealed laws, protection of supposed rights under, § 19, p. 429
Repeated,
Acts, multiplicity of suits resulting, § 24
Arrests, § 160
Trespasses, real property, § 57; § 64, pp. 525–528

Replevin,
Adequate remedy at law by, § 25, p. 454; § 54
Multiplicity of suits, § 38, p. 476, n. 94
Reply,
Action for injunction, § 183
Amendment, § 186, p. 877
Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1085
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1038
Motion to dissolve,
After filing, § 247
Overcome by reply, § 251, p. 997
Verification, § 187, p. 880
Report of referee or master, § 201
Representative capacity, persons in as parties defendant, § 175, pp. 830, 831
Representative suits, § 174; § 176, p. 833, n. 62
Request for injunction as condition to convening federal three-judge court, § 168, pp. 801, 802
Requisites and sufficiency of,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, pp. 901–903
Demurrer, § 185, p. 873
Notice of application for preliminary injunction or restraining order, § 180, p. 843
Showing to justify preliminary injunction or order without notice, § 180, pp. 841–843
Verification of pleadings, § 187, pp. 880, 881
Writ or order, § 206, pp. 931–935
Rescission, temporary injunction pending suit for rescission of contract, § 90
Resettlement affecting liability for contempt, § 258, p. 1006
Residence,
See, also, Nonresident, generally, ante
Defendant's, affecting venue, § 170, pp. 813, 814
Service of writ or order by leaving copy at, § 208
Res judicata,
Actions at law, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 487
Defense considered on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 927
Dismissal as constituting, § 198, p. 916
Federal three-judge court, doctrine applicable to, § 168, p. 809, n. 25
Injunctive decree as, § 220
Resolutions, municipal corporations, enactment and publication, § 118
Restaurants,
Breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Restrictive covenants, operation in violation of, § 87, p. 592, n. 97
Restoration,
Property on violation of injunction by complainant, § 263, p. 1014
Status quo as punishment, § 276, pp. 1051, 1052
Restraining order, §§ 8, 210
Authority to modify or dissolve, § 229, pp. 967–969
Bond for restraining order continued where order operates as injunction pendente lite, § 166, p. 791
Bond or undertaking as condition of granting, § 165
Caution required, § 15
Contempt for violation. Contempt, generally, ante
Restraining order—Continued,
Continuing, §§ 233–235, pp. 972–975
Discretion of court, § 14, p. 424
Modifying or dissolving, § 226, pp. 964–966
Dispensing with notice, § 180, p. 838, n. 17; § 180, pp. 837–843
Dissolution, §§ 240–256, pp. 977–1003
Enforcement, § 223
Nature as, § 1
Notice of application, § 180, pp. 837–843
Obedience, § 258, p. 1004
Pending hearing, § 210
Prayer, § 182, pp. 866, 867
Suspension, § 219
Verification of pleading, § 187, p. 879
Restraint of trade,
Boycott, illegal agreement in nature of, § 139
Breach of contracts in, § 84, pp. 564–577
Contracts in, execution of, § 90, n. 4
Restrictive covenants,
Breach of, § 87, pp. 579–596
Restraining, §§ 78, 79
Burden of proof in suits involving, § 190, p. 887
Evidence,
Injunction suit involving, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 891, 894, 897
Waiver or modification of, § 192, pp. 893, 897
Pleading in action to restrain violation, § 182, p. 848
Irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
Retail liquor license, property right, protection of, § 52, p. 505, n. 30
Retention of jurisdiction,
Federal three-judge court, § 168, p. 809
Granting of other relief, § 217, pp. 952, 953
Retroactive operation of injunction, § 258, p. 1004
Return of,
Restraining order, § 210
Service of process, dissolution for failure to return, § 241, p. 981
Subpœna served on defendant, § 179
Writ or order, § 208
Reversionary interest, protection of, § 53, p. 511
Revival of injunction suit, amendment of pleadings after, § 186, p. 877
Right of action for injunction, § 163
Right to,
Injunction,
Constitutional and statutory provisions, § 11
Discretion of court, § 14, p. 425
Property. Property rights, ante
Rival business, breach of covenant not to engage in, § 84, p. 574
Roads, joinder of parties in suit to restrain opening, § 176, p. 832
Running at large, injunction to prevent, § 155, p. 765
Sabotage, presumption, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Safety, acts endangering public safety, § 124, pp. 671–675
Salaries. Compensation, fees, and salaries, generally, ante
Sales,
Agency contract, pleading in action to restrain breach, § 182, p. 847
Breach of contract, § 83

Sales—Continued,
Contract, pleading irreparable injury in action to enjoin breach of exclusive contract, § 182, p. 862
Corporate,
Property, § 102
Stock, § 73
Interstate Commerce Act, enjoining prosecution of sales in violation of, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
Restraining, § 72
Securities,
Evidence in suit for injunction against, § 192, p. 896
Fraudulent sales, § 123, p. 668, n. 92
Salesmen, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Saloon, restrictive covenant as to use of premises for, § 87, p. 595
Sanitary regulations, municipal corporations, violation of, § 123, p. 665; § 124, p. 671
Satisfaction of judgment, presumption of, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Scale of wages, breach of agreement fixing, § 138, p. 691
School boards and officers, § 112, pp. 636–640
Appointment or discharge of teachers, § 112, p. 639
De facto officers, spending of funds, § 122, p. 660, n. 22
Parties defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
School district,
Party defendant in suit for injunction, § 175, p. 824
Trustees, intervention by, § 177, p. 834, n. 72
School program, interference with, prevention, § 123, p. 663, n. 56
School property,
Buildings, illegal use of, § 112, p. 637, n. 93
Use of, § 127, n. 60
Schools,
Covenant to use land for school purposes, breach, § 87, p. 580, n. 84
Dissolution of injunction interfering with, § 228
Site, effect of order enjoining purchase, § 207, p. 937, n. 19
Teachers, post
Scire facias, enjoining issuance of writ, § 42
Scope of,
Inquiry at trial or hearing, § 200, pp. 924–927
Proceedings, § 162
Scrambling possession, trespass or other injury to real property, § 58, n. 20
Searches and seizures,
Corporate records, prevention of, § 52, p. 508, n. 63
Injunction against, § 156, p. 769, n. 56
Protection from, § 130, n. 71
Without warrant, § 52, p. 506
Second application, § 27
For preliminary injunction, § 199, pp. 923, 924
Secondary boycott,
Clayton Act, restraining under, § 140, p. 726
Interstate commerce, interference with, § 140, p. 726
Jurisdiction to restrain, § 140, p. 720
Labor disputes, restraining, § 140, p. 725
Secondary evidence in suits for injunction, § 191, p. 889
Secret process, injunction to protect, § 148, pp. 750–757
Secretary of agriculture,
Jurisdiction to annul orders of, § 168, p. 798, n. 82
Party defendant, § 175, p. 827
Secretary of interior, party defendant, § 175, p. 827
Secretary of state,
Party defendant, § 175, p. 828, n. 90
Referendum, restraining putting on ballots, § 115, p. 647
Restraining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
Secretary of treasury, party defendant, § 175, p. 827
Secretary of war, party defendant, § 175, p. 827
Secrets. Trade secrets, post
Securities,
Public officers, issuance of, § 121
Statutory provisions relating to, violation, § 123, p. 667
Securities Act,
Burden of proving violation, § 190, p. 886, n. 91
Evidence in suits for violation of, § 192, pp. 892, 896
Pleading in suit to restrain violation of, § 182, p. 851
Securities and Exchange Commission, maintenance of suit for injunction, § 123, p. 668
Securities Exchange Act, violation of, § 123, p. 668
Security,
Consideration in considering application to continue injunction, § 233
Damages awarded in injunction suit, § 217, pp. 953–956
Injunction, §§ 165, 166, pp. 779–792
Obedience to injunction, § 276, p. 1049
Security traders, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Segregation ordinance, enforcement of, § 119, p. 656, n. 67
Seines, enjoining prosecution for fishing with, § 159
Seniority rights, collective bargaining contracts, protection, § 138, p. 691
Sentimental reasons, issuance of, § 22, p. 440
Separate proceedings, suit for injunction as, § 162
Serious dispute as ground for continuing injunction, § 234, p. 973
Servants. Employees, ante
Service contracts. Employment contracts, ante
Service of,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, p. 903
Bill, dissolution for want of diligence in serving, § 242
Dissolution or discharge, ante
Injunction,
Bond, liability on bond to person not served, § 281
Estoppel to deny service in action on bond, § 293, p. 1075
Pleading in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Notice of,
Application for preliminary injunction or restraining order, § 180, p. 843
Motion to dissolve, § 248
Order for injunction affecting liability for contempt, § 261; § 263, pp. 1010–1012

Service of—Continued,
Points and authorities, dissolution for failure, § 241, pp. 981, 982
Process, § 209
Demurrer for failure to serve, § 185, p. 872
Dissolution on ground for defects in, § 241, p. 981
Injunction suit, § 179
Registered mail, § 179
Requisite to protection of injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
Restraining order, § 210
Writ or order, § 208
Set-off and counterclaim,
Action for injunction, § 184
Addition to answer, § 186, p. 879
Affirmative relief to defendant dependent on, § 216
Defenses to counterclaim, § 167
Dissolution, against damages on dissolution, § 316
Existence of as ground for issuance, § 40, p. 486
Multiplicity of suits, cause of action available as, § 38, p. 477
Retention of jurisdiction for purpose of awarding relief on, § 217, p. 952
Setting aside,
Order modifying final decree, § 218, p. 959
Transfers and contracts in violation of injunction, § 207, p. 938
Settlement,
Labor disputes, attempt as prerequisite to relief, § 138, pp. 703, 718
Law actions, defense of as precluding, § 40, p. 485
Sewage, issuance preventing discharge of, § 31
Sewers, preventing construction of, § 22, p. 440, n. 3
Shade trees. Trees, generally, post
Sheriff,
Fees as item of costs, § 221, p. 962
Party defendant in suit to restrain enforcement of orders, etc., § 175, pp. 828, 829
Shopper's league, conclusiveness of judgment, § 220
Shopping guide, newspaper, publication as violation of agreement not to publish newspaper, § 84, p. 568, n. 49
Shrubbery, preventing destruction of, § 66
Sidewalks,
Issuance depriving public of, § 31
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain enforcement of ordinance requiring construction, § 176, p. 832
Pickets,
Limiting number using, § 143, p. 735
Right to use, § 143, p. 738, n. 46
Signature,
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Order for issuance of preliminary injunction, § 206, p. 932
Verification of pleading, § 187, p. 881
Sit-down strikers, jurisdiction to punish for contempt, § 270, p. 1029, n. 38
Site of schoolhouse, restraining change in, § 112, p. 637, n. 90
Situation of parties, consideration of, § 26
Slander. Libel and slander, generally, ante
Slaughter houses, injunction against maintenance, § 155, p. 765
Slot machines, seizure and confiscation of, § 108, p. 621, n. 50
Small Loan Law, violation of, § 123, p. 664, n. 61
Solicitation of another's customers,
Contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1022
Former employee, § 148, pp. 755–757
Solvency,
Defendant, considered on application to continue injunction, § 233
Employee, breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 574
Sound trucks, pleading to enjoin enforcement of ordinance prohibiting use, § 182, p. 857, n. 82
Special appearance, § 179, n. 10
Special county judge's power to issue preliminary injunction, § 169, p. 812, n. 46
Special damages, pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 861
Special demurrer, § 185, pp. 872, 873
Special injunction, § 6
Dissolution on answer, § 250, p. 951
Special injury,
Pleading in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 860
Public injury including, § 22, p. 442
Public property, private individual suffering in respect of, § 125
Stockholders, relief as dependent on, § 103
Special interest, complainant, § 174
Special order, reinstatement of dissolved injunction, § 256
Special skill, breach of contract for personal service requiring, § 82, p. 561
Special tribunals, enjoining proceedings before, § 43
Special verdict, § 199, p. 923
Specific performance,
Injunction against breach of negative contracts as, § 79
Intention of jurisdiction to grant, § 217, p. 952
Personal service contracts, § 82, p. 560
Relief to defendant, § 216
Sale of chattels, contracts for, § 83
Speculative damages, issuance in case of, § 22, p. 440
Spite fence, contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1017
Sponge plants, tidal waters, protection of, § 52, p. 505, n. 30
Spur track, enjoining use, § 61, n. 36
State,
Bond payable to state, party in action on, § 297, p. 1081
Boycotts, maintenance of suit to enjoin, § 140, p. 727
Co-defendant in action on bond, § 297, p. 1081
Contempt proceedings prosecuted in name of, § 271, p. 1031
Elections, restraining calling at suit of, § 115, p. 643
Injunction bond,
Dispensed with, § 166, p. 785
Payable to, § 166, p. 788
Intervention by state, § 177, p. 834, n. 75
Laches as defense to suit against, § 171, p. 819
Law action by, restraining, § 41, p. 490
Liability on injunction bond in suit in name of, § 280

State—Continued,
Municipal corporations, party to suit against, § 111, p. 636
Officers and boards, § 109, pp. 625–631
Compelling performance of duties, § 109, p. 629
Discretionary powers, § 109, p. 626
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to enjoin acts of state officers, § 168, pp. 806, 807
Parties in suits between states, § 175, p. 823, n. 59
Party to contempt proceedings, § 271, p. 1035
Personal rights, protection as against, § 137
Proper party in suit for, § 174
Public officers, right to enjoin illegal acts, § 108, p. 619, n. 13
State auditor, enjoining acts of, § 109, p. 627, n. 87
State courts,
Boycotts, unlawful boycott, § 140, p. 720
Federal agencies, power of supervision, § 109, p. 622, n. 51
Governor, power to issue against, § 109, p. 629
State labor relations acts, labor disputes, exhaustion of remedies under, § 138, p. 719
State labor relations board,
Intervention by, § 177, p. 834, n. 75
Motion by board to dismiss before intervention granted, § 198, p. 908, n. 82
Restraining proceedings of, § 138, p. 719
Status, pleading plaintiff's status, § 182, p. 857
Status quo,
Doubtful cases, preliminary injunction, § 19, p. 431
Evidence on application for preliminary injunction to preserve, § 192, p. 897
Irreparable injury, preservation in absence of, § 23, p. 447
Labor disputes, statutory provisions preserving, § 138, p. 711
Mandatory injunction, putting parties in, § 5, p. 410
Petition seeking to preserve, § 182, p. 847
Preliminary injunction, maintaining, § 17
Purpose as preservation of, § 1
Restraining order to maintain, § 8
Title or right to property, preservation pending litigation as to, § 56, p. 518
Statute of frauds, restrictive covenants within, breach, § 87, p. 581
Statute of limitations against injunction suits, § 171, p. 816
Statutory provisions,
Actual or threatened injury, presence of, § 22, p. 441
Affidavit stating injunction had not previously refused, § 164
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Boycotts, § 140, p. 725
Damages in injunction suit, § 217, p. 954
Dissolution on bond of injunction on enforcement, § 231
Elections, calling or holding of, § 115, p. 643
Employment contracts, breach of, § 82, p. 561
Enforcement of, § 119, pp. 650–658
Evidence,
Required by statutes, § 189
Statutory provisions—Continued,
Evidence—Continued,
Suit to prevent enforcement, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 892, 895
Highway officers, interference with acts under, § 113
Industrial disputes,
State laws, § 138, pp. 709–719
Violation of, § 138, p. 694
Irreparable injury, necessity, § 23, p. 447
Jurisdiction to issue preliminary injunction, § 169, pp. 811, 812
Labor disputes, state laws, § 138, pp. 709–719
Labor laws, violation of, § 138, p. 694
Licenses, violation of, § 123, p. 663
Notice of preliminary injunction restraining enforcement, § 180, p. 843, n. 41
Order enjoining violation, § 206, p. 934, n. 92
Peaceful boycott, § 140, p. 725
Picketing, statutory regulation, § 143, pp. 736–741
Preliminary injunction, ante
Property rights, establishment of title as prerequisite to injunction, § 55, p. 517
Public health and safety, acts endangering, § 124, p. 671
Public officers, § 108, p. 615
Real property, possessory right, § 53, p. 511
Remedies provided as precluding, § 25, p. 455
Restraining order, § 8
Issued after notice, § 180, p. 839
Right to injunction, § 11
Secondary boycott, § 140, p. 725
Securities, violation of, § 123, p. 667
State officers or boards, issuance against, § 109, p. 629
Strikes, statutes regulating, § 147, pp. 748, 749
Suspension of injunction against violation, § 239
Trespass or other injury to real property, § 58
Trial or hearing of injunction suit, § 190, p. 917
Usury, violation of, § 123, p. 663
Stay of,
Criminal judgment, § 161
Final judgment or decree, § 219
Proceedings,
Common injunction operating as, § 6
Contempt, liability for, effect of stay on appeal, § 260
Dissolution for failure to stay, § 242
Pending appeal in contempt proceedings, § 275, p. 1045
Stenographic reporters,
Breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Fees as costs, § 221, p. 960
Stereotyped form of affidavit sustaining issuance, § 195, p. 901, n. 73
Stipulations,
Amendment of pleadings, § 186, p. 878
Conferring jurisdiction of suit, § 168, p. 795
Continuing injunction, § 234, p. 974
Dismissal, § 198, p. 916
Accrual of action on bond affected by, § 292, pp. 1072, 1073
Modification of judgment affecting accrual of action on bond, § 292, p. 1073
Stock,
Corporation as party defendant in suit to enjoin transfer, § 175, p. 829

Stock—Continued,
Forfeiture and sale of, § 103
Party defendant in suit to restrain issuance, § 175, p. 831, n. 34
Stockholders,
Infringement or denial of rights of, § 103
Inspection of corporate books and records, § 103
Misapplication of corporate funds of property, § 102
Parties defendant, § 175, pp. 829, 830
Submission of questions to, § 103
Voting of stock, § 105
Straw owner, restraining transfer of note, § 74, n. 82
Streets,
Illegal use of, § 128
Improvements, contempt in violating injunction, § 264, p. 1017
Issuance depriving public of, § 31
Joinder of parties in suit to restrain obstruction, § 176, p. 832
Pleading to enjoin enforcement of ordinance prohibiting use, § 182, p. 857, n. 82
Protection of right to use, § 52, p. 505, n. 30
Strike suit, relative inconvenience, considering in, § 30, p. 462, n. 72
Strikes, § 147, pp. 742–750
Benefits, restraining payment of strike benefits, § 147, pp. 747, 748
Burden of proving justification, § 190, p. 887, n. 96
Contempt in violating injunctions, § 264, pp. 1018–1020; § 266, p. 1027, n. 11; § 270, p. 1029, n. 38
Evidence in suits to enjoin, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Injunction to prevent acts in furtherance of, § 155, p. 766
Picketing, generally, ante
Unlawful strikes,
Injunction against affected by statute, § 147, p. 749
Peaceful persuasion in furtherance of, § 147, pp. 747, 749
Picketing in furtherance of, § 143, pp. 732, 740
Restraining calling, § 147, pp. 744, 745
Striking out,
Allegations,
Amendment of bill, effect as, § 186, p. 876
Answer, stricken allegations as evidence, § 196, p. 904
Parties, § 177, p. 835
Pleadings in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Strong arm of equity, nature as, § 1, n. 3
Structures. Buildings or other structures, generally, ante
Subject matter beyond territorial jurisdiction, § 168, p. 795
Subjects of protection and relief, §§ 36–161, pp. 468–779
Actions, generally, ante
Contracts, generally, ante
Conveyances, generally, ante
Corporations, generally, ante
Domestic rights, § 137
Insults, § 131
Libel and slander, generally, ante
Subjects of protection and relief—Continued,
Personal rights, generally, ante
Physical injury, § 131
Privacy, right of, § 132
Property rights, generally, ante
Public officers and boards, generally, ante
Public welfare, §§ 123, 124, pp. 662–675
Sub-leases,
Protection of rights, § 53, p. 511
Restrictive covenants, enforcement against sub-lessees, § 87, p. 582
Submission of issue to jury, § 190, pp. 920, 921
Subordinates, public officers, regulations by superiors, § 108, p. 615, n. 74
Subpœna,
Dissolution for,
Failure to take out and serve within reasonable time, § 242
Irregularities in service, § 241, p. 981
Preliminary injunction granted before issuance of, § 205
Service, § 209
On defendant, § 179
Taking out with restraining order, § 210
Subsidiary's right to restrain picketing, § 143, p. 741
Substantial injury, necessity of showing, § 22, p. 439
Substantial right,
Mandatory injunction requiring invasion of, § 5, p. 411
Necessity for issuance, § 19, p. 430
Substituted service of writ or order, § 208
Substitution of parties, § 177, p. 833
Successive injunctions, §§ 27, 28
Successor in interest, liability for contempt, § 263, p. 1013
Successor of officer substituted as party, § 177, p. 834
Suit for injunction, §§ 162–223, pp. 779–963
Summary remedy, § 1, n. 1
Summary warrant proceedings, restraining, § 43, n. 8
Summer camp, restrictive covenants as to, violation, § 87, p. 591, n. 97
Summons,
Preliminary injunction granted before issuance of, § 205
Restraining order, § 210
Service, § 209
Sunday baseball, election on, § 115, p. 645, n. 85
Sunday law,
Injunction against violators, § 151, p. 764, n. 8
Violation of, § 155, p. 766
Restraining prosecution for, § 159
Superintendent of schools, ouster, § 112, p. 639, n. 19
Superior court's jurisdiction to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 62
Supersedeas, controlling effect of by injunction, § 44
Supervision, mandatory injunction requiring, § 5, p. 412
Supplemental affidavits on motion for,
Dismissal, § 251, p. 996
Temporary injunction, § 199, p. 921
Supplemental pleadings, § 186, pp. 878, 879
Bill, consideration of supplemental bill on motion to dissolve, § 249
Defendant, § 184
Supplementary injunction, § 218, p. 959
Supplementary proceedings,
Parties in suit to restrain, § 173, p. 820, n. 32

Supplementary proceedings—Continued,
Relief in, § 42, n. 93
Supreme court,
Jurisdiction to grant, § 168, p. 797, n. 65
Power to dissolve, § 229, p. 969
United States, power to grant, § 168, p. 798
Sureties on injunction bond,
Concluded by injunctive decree, § 220
Necessity and sufficiency of, § 166, p. 789
Surgery,
See, also, Medicine; Physicians and surgeons, generally, ante
Illegal practice of, § 124, p. 672
Criminal liability as affecting right, § 124, p. 674
Surplusage,
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 791
Pleadings in contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Verification of pleadings, § 187, p. 881
Surrogate, preliminary injunction, jurisdiction to issue, § 169, p. 812
Suspension of,
Decree by motion for new trial, § 260
Final judgment or decree, § 219
Injunction, § 239
Appellate court's power, § 229, p. 969
Proceedings, restraining order, § 8
Sympathetic strikes, § 147, p. 745, n. 20
Synonymous terms, § 2, n. 8
Tax lienor, property rights, title as sufficient to support action for injunction, § 53, p. 510, n. 71
Tax sale, presumption of absence of bidders, § 190, p. 884, n. 66
Taxes,
Appeal from assessment, restraining, § 43
Assessment or collection of, restraining, § 76
Bond for injunction as covering taxes, § 282, p. 1057, n. 34
Federal three-judge court's jurisdiction to determine validity of assessment, § 168, p. 804, n. 7, 9
Issuance interfering with system of taxation, § 31
Statute imposing tax, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 657, n. 84
Taxicab business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Taxpayers,
County seats, preventing removal of, § 110
Damages on bond for taxpayers' injunction, § 278, p. 1054
Elections,
Remedies available at instance of, § 115, p. 647
Standing to enforce calling of, § 115, p. 643
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 785
Intervention by other taxpayers in taxpayers' suit, § 177, p. 834, n. 72
Invalid statutes, restraining enforcement, § 119, p. 654, n. 63
Municipal corporations, remedies against, § 111, p. 636
Public funds, restraining illegal disposition of, § 122, p. 661
Public officers, right to restrain, § 108, p. 619
Public welfare, maintenance of suit involving, § 123, p. 670
Teachers,
Appointment and discharge, § 112, p. 639
Breach of employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Reinstatement, mandatory injunction, § 5, p. 412, n. 56
Technical rights, issuance in respect of, § 19, p. 430, n. 7
Telegrams,
Breach of contract to furnish telegraph service, § 86
Futures, telegrams relating to, enjoining prosecution for receiving, § 159
Telephone,
Directory, publication of inaccurate directory, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Service, breach of contract to furnish, § 86
Temporary injunction. Preliminary injunction, generally, ante
Temporary restraining order. Restraining order, ante
Temporary trespass, real property, § 60
Tender, pleading, § 182, p. 866
Tenement houses, restrictive covenants as to, § 87, p. 592
Tenure, school teachers or employees, § 112, p. 640
Term of court at which injunction may be modified, § 236
Termination, liability for contempt affected by, § 258, pp. 1005, 1006
Restraining order, § 8
Terms imposed on granting or refusing injunction, § 202, pp. 928–930
Territorial limits of jurisdiction to grant injunction, § 168, pp. 793, 795
Theater tickets, preventing sale at prices exceeding box office prices, § 149, p. 760, n. 82
Theatrical performer, breach of contract for services of, § 82, p. 563
Third persons, injury or inconvenience to, consideration of, § 31
Threatened,
Acts, preliminary injunction against, § 17
Arrest, § 160
Breach, contract in restraint of trade, § 84, p. 565
Injury,
Allegation in bill for injunction, § 182, p. 860
Boycotts, § 140, p. 721
Municipal ordinances, violation of, § 123, p. 665
Prevention of, § 4
Prosecutions,
Injunction against, § 156, p. 770
Under unconstitutional law, § 158, p. 776
Threats,
Breach of contract, inducing by, § 89
Infringement suits, injunction against, § 149, pp. 758, 759
Issuance on, § 21, p. 439
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–736, 740
Secondary boycotts containing elements of, § 140, p. 720
Strikes accompanied by, § 147, pp. 747, 750
Three judge court. Federal courts, ante
Tick eradication, restraining prosecution for violating regulations, § 159
Tickets, restraining dealing in, § 75
Timber,
Cutting or removal of timber, generally, ante
Rights of purchaser of, § 66

Time,
Amendment of,
Pleading, § 186, p. 877
Verification of pleading, § 187, pp. 881, 882
Answer, § 183
Application for stay of decree, § 219
Bringing in new parties, § 176, p. 833
Bonds for injunctions, ante
Dismissal, § 198, pp. 914, 915
Dissolution or discharge, ante
Filing,
Injunction bond, § 166, p. 790
Petition for leave to intervene, § 177, p. 835
Hearing,
Demurrer, § 185, p. 874
Motion to dissolve, § 252, p. 998
Instituting contempt proceedings, § 271, pp. 1034, 1035
Issuance of,
Preliminary injunction, § 205
Restraining order, § 210
Modification of injunction, § 236
Motion for,
Assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 286, pp. 1063, 1064
Dissolution, § 247
Reinstatement of dissolved injunction, § 256
Supplemental decree, § 218, p. 959
Objection to misjoinder of parties, § 178
Prosecution of suit, time limit for as condition to granting preliminary injunction, § 202, p. 929
Public improvement contracts, bringing suit to enjoin, § 120
Restraint provided for by decree, § 211, p. 944
Return of,
Subpoena served on defendant, § 179
Writ, § 208
Service of,
Affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, p. 903
Notice of,
Application for preliminary injunction or restraining order, § 180, p. 843
Motion to dissolve, § 248
Writ or order, § 208
Suit, time for, § 171, pp. 815–819
Temporary restraining order, time effective, § 235
Trial or hearing injunction suit, § 199, pp. 918–920
Vacating or modifying decree, § 218, p. 958
Verification, § 187, p. 881
Voluntary dismissal, § 198, p. 908
Title. Property rights, ante
Tolls, public service corporations, § 99
Tort-feasors as parties defendant in suit to enjoin tortious acts, § 175, p. 830
Torts, cross-action on tort claim, § 184, n. 32
Town boards and officers, § 110
Township committee, controlling or preventing acts by, § 110
Trade, business, or occupation,
Adequate remedy at law, injury to, § 138, p. 685
Affiliation, injunction against asserting business affiliation, § 149, pp. 757, 758
Boycotts, generally, ante
Trade, business, or occupation—Continued,
Breach of contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 565
Closing business for violating restrictive covenants, § 87, p. 581, n. 86
Competition, interference as result of, § 138, p. 685
Contempt by violating injunction respecting, § 264, pp. 1018, 1022, 1023
Contract not to engage in certain business, parties to suit to restrain breach, § 94
Criminal act interfering with as ground for enjoining prosecution, § 156, p. 771
Destruction of custom or profits, § 138, p. 684
Dissolution on bond of injunction against conducting, § 231, p. 970
Evidence in suit to restrain interference, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Industrial disputes, § 138, p. 686
Interference with, §§ 138–149, pp. 683–760
Irreparable injury, acts resulting in, § 138, p. 684
Labor disputes, § 138, p. 686
Libel or slander, injury to, § 135
License,
Ordinance requiring, § 119, p. 657
Practicing professions without, § 123, p. 664
Violation of statutory requirements, § 123, p. 663
Permits, ordinance requiring, § 119, p. 657
Pleading in suit to restrain interference, § 182, pp. 849, 850
Profits as element for wrongful injunction interfering with, § 315, pp. 1095, 1096
Restrictive covenants as to, enforcement, § 87, p. 594
Suppression of business, § 34
Trade-mark infringement, contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1023
Trade name, corporate officers as parties in suit to enjoin use, § 175, p. 829
Trade secrets,
Breach of contract for services involving, § 82, p. 562
Employment contract, breach involving, § 84, p. 574
Evidence in suits to restrain disclosure, § 191, p. 889; § 192, pp. 893, 897
Protection by injunction, § 148, pp. 750–757
Trade unions. Labor unions, generally, ante
Trading stamp business, interference with, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Train service, temporary injunction respecting, § 109, p. 630, n. 17
Transfer,
Corporate stock, § 73
Instruments or securities for payment of money, § 74
Suit to law court to award damages, § 217, p. 954
Violation of injunction, § 207, p. 938
Transfer business, breach of contract for sale of, § 84, p. 568
Trapping, parties in suit to enjoin, § 174, n. 41
Treble damages in injunction suit, § 217, p. 954
Trees,
Destruction of, § 66

Trees—Continued,
Enjoining prosecution for permitting to project over sidewalk, § 159
Evidence in suit to prevent destruction, § 192, p. 894
Highway officers, improper removal, § 113
Trespass,
Personal property, § 71
Real property, ante
Trespass to try title, adequate remedy at law by, § 54
Trial,
Bond, action on, § 301
Contempt proceedings, § 271, pp. 1035–1037
Suit for injunction, § 199, pp. 916–927
Trivial damage,
Issuance to prevent, § 22, p. 440
Trespass on real property, § 64, p. 526
Trivial violations, building restrictions, relief as to, § 87, p. 590, n. 92
Trustees,
Interest of as basis for suit to enjoin prejudicial acts, § 53, p. 512
Party to suit, § 173, p. 820, n. 35
Action on bond, § 297, p. 1080
Power to execute release for damages, § 294
Trusts, enforcement by, § 1
Tuberculosis hospital, enjoining prosecution under statute prohibiting maintenance, § 158, p. 775, n. 97
Tuition, compelling payment by county, § 112, p. 637, n. 93
Tunnels, restraining prosecution for violating regulations, § 159
Turnpikes, location of, § 99
Ultimate rights, continuing injunction to determine, § 234, p. 973
Ultra vires acts,
Corporations, § 100
Federal boards and officers, § 109, p. 622
Manufacture of article involving trade secret affecting injunctive relief, § 148, p. 754
Unauthorized,
Elections, holding of, § 115, p. 644
Practice of law, § 123, p. 666
Unclean hands, coming into equity with, § 26
Unconstitutionality defined, § 168, p. 803
Undertakers, breach of,
Contract for sale of business, § 84, p. 568
Employment contract, § 84, p. 575
Undertaking for injunction, §§ 165, 166, pp. 779–792
Undue influence,
Notes obtained by, restraining collection, § 76
Transfer of securities obtained by, § 74
Unenclosed lands, grazing by animals on, § 69
Unenforcible contracts, breach of, § 80, p. 551
Unfair,
Boycotts, publication of, § 140, p. 724
Competition, contempt for violating injunction against, § 264, p. 1022
Labor practices,
National Labor Relations Board, supervision of, § 138, p. 704
Picketing to induce violation, § 143, p. 732
State labor relations acts, exhaustion of remedies under, § 138, p. 719
Unfair—Continued,
Signs as to being unfair to organized labor, picketing injunction violated by carrying, § 264, p. 1019
Trade and practice, pharmacists, prevention of, § 124, p. 672, n. 26
Unions. Labor unions, generally, ante
United States,
Boycotts based on Anti-Trust Acts, suits by, § 140, p. 726
Injunction bond not required, § 166, p. 785
Officers and boards. Federal boards and officers, ante
Party defendant in suit for injunction, § 175, p. 825
Proper party plaintiff, § 174
United States Land Department, relief as against officers of, § 109, p. 625
United States Shipping Act, discrimination by carriers by water, construction as to, § 138, p. 695
Unknown defendants, § 175, p. 822, n. 52
Unlawful acts,
Picketing involving, § 143, pp. 732–736, 738
Strike accompanied by, § 147, pp. 746, 748
Strikers, injunction against union, § 147, p. 744
Unlawful purpose, picketing for, § 143, pp. 731, 732
Unnecessary injunction, issuance of, § 29
Unsightly structures, adjoining owners as entitled to relief, § 57, n. 17
Use of property, breach of covenants as to, § 87, pp. 579–596
Usury,
Statutory provisions, violation of, § 123, p. 663
Transfer of usurious notes, § 74, n. 69
Vacation of,
Final judgment or decree, § 218, pp. 956–959
Injunction, amendment of bill after granting temporary injunction operating as vacation, § 186, p. 878
Vacation of court,
Allowance of injunction in, § 168, p. 796
Answer filed in, § 183, n. 27
Contempt, punishment during vacation, § 270, p. 1029
Hearing or trial of suit during, § 199, p. 919
Motion to dismiss heard during, § 198, p. 915
Pleading granting of injunction in vacation in action on bond, § 299, p. 1083
Preliminary injunction granted without notice in vacation, § 180, p. 841
Setting aside order overruling demurrer during vacation, § 185, p. 874
Validity, election, corporate officers, § 106
Value,
Grant as governed by, § 22, p. 440
Restrictive covenants in respect of buildings, enforcement, § 87, p. 592
Variance,
Bond, action on, § 299, p. 1085
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1041
Suit for injunction, § 188
Vendor and purchaser,
Deficiency in quantity, enjoining recovery of purchase money, § 40, p. 485
Purchase money actions, grounds for injunction, § 40, p. 484

Vendor and purchaser—Continued,
Restrictive covenants, purchaser as subject to, § 87, p. 579
Vendor's lien note, enjoining transfer of, § 74
Venue,
Bond, action on, § 295
Contempt proceedings, § 270, pp. 1029, 1030
Dissolution on ground of defect, § 241, p. 979
Injunction suit, § 170, pp. 813–815
Motion for,
Appointment of, referee to assess damages, § 286, p. 1063
Dissolution, § 229, p. 968
Want of venue as ground for dismissal, § 198, p. 910
Verdict in suit for injunction, § 199, p. 923
Verification of affidavit in support of application for injunction, § 195, pp. 902, 903
Verification of pleadings, § 187, pp. 879–882
Answer, § 250, pp. 993, 994
Admission of allegations by failure to reply to verified answer, § 183
Effect on motion to dissolve, § 250, pp. 989, 990
Evidence, verified answer as, § 196, pp. 904–907
Bill,
Admission by failure to deny verified bill, § 183
Amendment of verified bill, § 186, p. 876
Contempt proceedings, § 272, p. 1040
Demurrer for lack of or defects in verification, § 185, p. 872
Dissolution,
Justified by verified answer, § 250, pp. 993, 994
Want of or defective verification, § 241, p. 981
Evidence, verified pleadings as, §§ 193, 194
Preliminary injunction, ante
Proposed amendment, § 186, p. 877
Vested rights created by final decrees, § 215, p. 950
Vexatious criminal prosecutions, § 157
Vexatious litigation,
Adequate remedy at law, former adjudication as, § 40, p. 486
Avoidance of, § 25, p. 451
Foreign states or countries, enjoining prosecution, § 49, p. 500
Infringement suit, § 41, p. 491
Issuance to prevent, § 39
Viaducts, issuance depriving public of, § 31
View, obstruction of, § 70
Violation of injunction,
Application to dissolve by person violating, § 224
Bond, violation as defense in action on, § 293, p. 1077
Contempt, generally, ante
Pleading in action for damages, § 272, p. 1040
Violation of law, picketing involving, § 143, pp. 732–736
Violation of right, showing of as essential, § 19, p. 435
Violence,
Boycotts, coercion of workmen by means of, § 140, p. 721
Violence—Continued,
Labor disputes,
Accompanied by acts of, § 138, p. 697
Prior acts of as justifying relief, § 138, p. 710
Labor unions,
Accomplishment of lawful purpose, § 138, p. 698, n. 74
Enjoining acts of, § 138, p. 689
Picketing accompanied by, § 143, pp. 734–741
Secondary boycotts accompanied by, § 140, p. 720
Strike accompanied by, § 147, pp. 745–750
Void proceedings, public boards or tribunals, § 108, p. 615, n. 74
Void statutes, enforcement of, § 119, p. 650
Voluntary dismissal of suit, § 198, p. 908
Bond, accrual of action on bond, § 292, p. 1072
Voters' lists, striking names from, § 115, p. 643, n. 59
Voting machines, restraining use of, § 115, p. 642, n. 49
Wage and hour provisions, Fair Labor Standards Act, violations of, § 138, p. 707
Wage scale agreement, violation of, § 138, p. 691
Waiver,
Answer under oath, affecting right to file verified answer, § 187, p. 879
Building restrictions, violation of, § 87, p. 590
Contempt, waiver as defense to, § 266, p. 1026
Defects,
Motion to dissolve as waiver, § 247
Parties, § 178
Verification of pleadings, § 187, p. 882
Demurrer for want of jurisdiction, § 185, p. 871
Failure to give bond, § 166, p. 792
Grounds of dissolution, § 248
Hearing on application for preliminary injunction, § 200, p. 927
Notice for issuance of preliminary injunction, § 222
Notice of application for preliminary injunction, § 180, p. 843
Notice of motion to dissolve or defects therein, § 248
Notice or bond, § 232
Objections, § 222
Defectively verified answer, § 250, p. 994
Defects in injunction bond, § 166, p. 792
Granting preliminary injunction, § 222
Pleading conclusions or opinions, § 182, p. 856
Process in suit for injunction, § 179
Restrictive covenants, breach of, § 87, p. 586
Right to injunction, § 26
Service of moving affidavits with order, § 208
Service or defects therein, § 208
Venue, § 170, p. 814
Want of jurisdiction to enjoin criminal prosecution, § 156, p. 771
Walls,
Contempt in violating injunction relating to construction, § 264, p. 1017
Highway officers, improper removal, § 113
Want of consideration,
Defense of at law as precluding, § 40, p. 483
Restraining transfer of securities on ground of, § 74
Want of equity, ground for,
Dismissal, on face of bill, § 198, pp. 910–912

Want of equity, ground for—Continued,
Dissolution, notice of motion, § 248
Want of jurisdiction, dismissal on ground of, § 198, pp. 910, 916
Want of prosecution, dismissal on ground of, § 198, p. 916
War,
Effort, injunction interfering with, § 152, n. 14
Industries, injunction against striking, § 147, p. 743
President of United States, wartime requisitions, § 109, p. 622, n. 52
Warrants, party defendant in suit to enjoin payment, § 175, p. 830
Waste,
Affidavits in support of or in opposition to motion to dissolve, § 251, pp. 996, 997
Equitable interest as sufficient to base suit to enjoin, § 53, p. 512
Motion to make bill more definite and certain in action to restrain, § 185, p. 871
Pleading irreparable injury, § 182, p. 862
Real property, § 64, p. 525
Water,
Diversion of water, generally, ante
Pipe, contempt in violating injunction against interference, § 264, p. 1017, n. 84
Reservoir, restraining maintenance of, § 67, p. 535, n. 63
Rights, jurisdiction to enjoin interference, § 168, p. 797, n. 62
Service, joinder of parties in suit to restrain discontinuance, § 176, p. 832
Supply,
Breach of contract for, § 86
Interference with, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Issuance resulting in cutting off, § 31
Preventing shutting off, § 124, p. 671, n. 14
Weight and sufficiency of evidence, § 192, pp. 889–899
Answer as evidence, § 196, p. 904
Bond, action on, § 300, pp. 1087, 1088
Contempt proceedings, § 273, pp. 1042–1044
Wharves, obstruction or interference with, § 149, p. 759, n. 82
Wholesale customers, injunction against soliciting by former employee, § 148, p. 757
Willful destruction, labor unions, protection of property from, § 138, p. 698
Wills, breach of contract not to contest, § 88
Windowsills, encroachments by, § 67, p. 532, n. 30
Withdrawal of party furnishing injunction bond, § 166, p. 789
Without prejudice,
Denial without prejudice to recovery in action at law, § 211, p. 945
Dismissal without prejudice, § 198, p. 916
Witnesses,
Examination or cross-examination before issuing injunction, § 199, p. 918
Incompetency in law actions, ground for issuance, § 40, p. 487
Wooden buildings, injunction against erection in fire limits, § 155, p. 767
Words and phrases. Definitions, generally, ante
Workmen. Employees, generally, ante
Workmen's compensation,
Attorney as party to suit to enjoin proceedings, § 175, p. 831, n. 36
Courts, restraining special proceedings before, § 43
Limitations, enjoining plea of, § 46
Writ, §§ 204–208, pp. 930–939
Dissolution or discharge, generally, ante
Enjoining issuance of, § 42
Mandate, distinguished, § 1, n. 1
Wrongful act doing common injury, joinder of complainants in suit to enjoin, § 176, p. 832
Wrongful injunction,
Action for damages independently of bond, §§ 307, 308
Assessment of damages in injunction suit, §§ 283–287, pp. 1059–1067
Bond for damages, § 282, p. 1058, n. 36
Bonds, action on, §§ 291–305, pp. 1069–1090
Burden of proof, § 300, p. 1085
City's liability, § 281, p. 1055
Conclusiveness of assessment of damages, § 287
Condition precedent to assessment of damages in injunction suit, § 285
County's liability for costs and damages, § 279
Cross-petition for damages, § 283, p. 1060
Damages, §§ 281, 282, pp. 1053–1059; §§ 306–316, pp. 1091–1108
Evidence in action on bond, § 300, p. 1087
Exemplary damages, § 313
Extent of liability, §§ 281, 282, pp. 1054–1059
Malice,
Element, § 281, p. 1055
Pleading in action for, § 308
Malicious prosecution as remedy for, § 281, p. 1055
Nature of,
Restraint affecting right to damages, § 281, pp. 1056, 1057
Right to damages, §§ 281, 282, pp. 1054–1059
Parties in action for, § 308
Pleading in action for, § 308
Reference to assessed damages, § 286, p. 1065
Right of action for damages, § 278
Statutory provisions relating to assessment damages in injunction suit, § 284
Want of probable cause,
Element, § 281, p. 1055
Pleading, § 308
Wrongfulness of defendant's acts, pleading, § 182, pp. 858, 859
Yellow dog contracts, violation of, § 138, p. 693
Zoning laws, ordinances, or regulations,
Evidence in suit to prevent violation, § 191, p. 888; § 192, pp. 893, 896
Injunction against violation, § 155, p. 767
Invalid ordinance, enforcement, § 119, p. 652, n. 49
Mandatory injunction to prevent violation of, § 5, p. 411, n. 35
Partial invalidity, enforcement of, § 119, p. 656, n. 73
Pleading in action against violation, § 182, p. 861
Private individual's right to restrain violation, § 22, p. 442, n. 94
Proof in suit to enjoin violation, § 188, n. 59
Violation of, § 70; § 123, p. 665

INDEX TO INNKEEPERS

Abandonment of transient character of guest, § 3, p. 1143
Abuse of guests, right of, § 9
Abusive conduct, wrongful entry of guest's room, § 25
Abusive language to guest, remedy, § 10, n. 88
Access to room, responsibility of boardinghouse keeper for property of guest, § 20, n. 36
Act of God, liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, §§ 13, 15
Actions, § 10
  Boardinghouse keeper to recover for services, § 26, p. 1200
  Compensation of, § 26, p. 1197
  Damages to business, recovery by one operating without license, § 6, p. 1146
  Exclusion of guest, § 10
  Injuries to guest, § 23, pp. 1186–1194
  Lodginghouse keeper to recover for services, § 26, p. 1200
  Loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, pp. 1169–1173
  Refusal to receive guest, § 10
  Tenant and lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1139
  Wrongful entry of guest's room, § 25
Actual notice to guest, limitation of liability for loss or injury to property, § 17, pp. 1158, 1161
Admission of persons not guests, § 11
Advertisement,
  Conclusiveness of status of building as hotel, § 3, p. 1140
  Proprietor of inn, liability as, § 2, p. 1135
Affray, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1175
Air shafts, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1181
Alarm systems, fire protection regulation, § 7
Amount of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1163
Amusement places, restaurants, § 1, p. 1133
Animals, ordinary as accommodating, § 1, p. 1133
Apartment hotel,
  As inn or hotel, § 1, p. 1130
  Lien on effects of guest for charges, § 26, p. 1197, n. 26
  "Tenement house" as including, § 1, p. 1133
Apartment houses,
  License where rooms are rented to transients, § 6, p. 1145
  Lodginghouse, § 1, p. 1131
  Occupants as lodgers as distinguished from tenant, § 3, p. 1139, n. 93
  Proprietor and lodger status rather than landlord and tenant, § 3, p. 1139, n. 97
Apparel. Wearing apparel, post
Appliances,
  Injuries to guest from defective appliances, § 22, pp. 1176–1185
  Regulation, § 5
Apprehension of insult as ground for refusal of proposed guest, § 9
Arrest, hotel owners duty to prevent arrest of guest, § 9, n. 54
Assault and battery,
  Actions by guest against hotel and its officers, § 23, p. 1186
  Instructions in actions for injuries by employee, § 23, p. 1194
  Insulting language of house detective, § 11, n. 13
  Invitee of hotel guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1176
  Liability for injuries to guest by servant, § 22, pp. 1174, 1175
Assumption of risk,
  Burden of proof in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188, n. 78
  By guest affecting liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1184
  Guest taking room in building without fire escapes required by law, § 22, p. 1186, n. 43
  Pleading in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1187, n. 65
  Questions for jury in action for injuries to persons, § 23, p. 1192
Attachment of goods of guest, lien of, § 26, p. 1198
Automobiles,
  Free parking lots for guests, liability of hotelkeeper, § 18, n. 75
  Liability for damage to car returning from garage to which directed by hotel, § 13, n. 32
  Liability for loss or injury, § 16
  Lien of, § 26, p. 1198, n. 48
  Pleading in action against, for loss of car of guest, § 21, p. 1170, n. 72
  Statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162, n. 49
  Theft of baggage from parked car in vacant lot liability of, § 19, p. 1166, n. 4
Awakening guest, duty of, § 9, n. 53
Baggage,
  Authority of hotel clerk, § 17, p. 1161, n. 29
  Automobile as baggage within lien statute, § 26, p. 1198, n. 48
  Continuance of relation of guest, § 3, pp. 1142, 1143
  Duty to receive baggage of guests, § 9, n. 45
  Guest status by sending or leaving at inn, § 3, p. 1141
  Hotel and inn compared, § 1, p. 1129
  Liability for loss or injury, § 16
  Liability for personal baggage placed in room of guest, § 19, p. 1166
  Negligence of guest, § 14

Baggage—Continued,
Notice of valuable character, § 17, p. 1162
Presumptions from notice as to responsibility of boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper, § 20
Property included, § 16
Reasonableness of rules, § 9
Removal without payment of charges as offense, § 28
Theft from parked car in vacant lot affecting liability of, § 19, p. 1166, n. 94
Travelers as guests as respects responsibility, § 3, p. 1137, n. 60
Baggage check,
Consent in writing by hotelkeeper to assume greater than statutory liability, § 17, p. 1164, n. 66
Limitation of liability for loss or injury, § 17, p. 1159, n. 4
Pleading in action for conversion, § 21, p. 1170
Representation of custody of, § 19, p. 1168
Bailment,
Action against, loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1169
Boardinghouse keepers liability for loss or injury to property of boarder, § 20
Contract limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1159
Guest status by leaving horse at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Liability for goods of guest delivered to his servant, § 19, p. 1166
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 18, p. 1164
Lien for charges, § 26, p. 1200
Presumptions and burden of proof in action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1171
Restaurant keeper's liability for loss of property of patron, § 20
Sale of unclaimed chattels, § 18
Statutes limiting liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1161, n. 27
Balconies, liability for injuries to licensees permitted to view parade, § 22, p. 1183, n. 5
Bank notes, pleading in action for loss of property of guest, § 21, p. 1170, n. 67
Banks, operation of hotel as trustee under trust deed, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1182
Basements, liability for injuries to guest from rubbish, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Bill or petition, enforcement of lien by, § 26, p. 1200
Billiards, hotel bill as not including, § 1, p. 1134
Bills,
Exclusion of guest refusing to pay, § 9
Payment as termination of relation as guest, § 3, p. 1142
Payment by guest affecting liability for loss or injury to goods, § 18
Rates and charges, generally, post
Blind persons,
Contributory negligence of guest as question for jury, § 23, p. 1192, n. 37
Liability for injuries to guest in elevator, § 22, p. 1181, n. 81
Board,
Innkeeper and guest relation rather than landlord and tenant, § 3, p. 1139, n. 95
Board—Continued,
Recovery of compensation by unlicensed business, § 6, p. 1146
Boarder,
Defined, § 3, p. 1137
Guest distinguished, § 3, p. 1137
Offenses, § 28
Presumption as to relation, § 3, p. 1143
Tenant distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Boardinghouse keeper, defined, § 2, p. 1135
Boardinghouses, § 2, p. 1135
Actions for compensation, § 26, p. 1200
Compensation, § 26, pp. 1196–1201
Defective premises or appliances causing injuries to boarder, § 22, p. 1179
Defined, § 1, p. 1131
Dispossession of boarder, § 9, n. 83
Distinguished, § 2, p. 1135
House of entertainment as boardinghouse as question of fact, § 1, p. 1130
House of entertainment simultaneously, boardinghouse and inn, § 1, p. 1132
Liability of keeper for property of guest, § 20
License, § 6, pp. 1145–1147
License tax on business of renting rooms as including, § 6, p. 1145, n. 87
Lien for charges, § 26, p. 1200
Power to regulate, § 4
Privilege tax on hotels as inapplicable, § 6, p. 1145, n. 87
Recovery for board and lodging, § 26, p. 1200
Restaurant distinguished, § 1, p. 1132
Tenement house as different, § 1, p. 1132
Bolts on doors, limitation of liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1160
Bonds, security for compliance with law, § 5
Bottles, fall from window, evidence in action for injury, § 23, p. 1191, n. 34
Burden of proof,
Action for,
Charges by, § 26, p. 1197
Injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Boardinghouse keepers action for compensation, § 26, p. 1200
Ejection of guest, § 10
Guest relation, § 3, p. 1143
Burglary, liability as insurer, § 15
Business, injuries to business and hotelkeeper, § 24
Business rival, denial of use of inn, § 11
Cafe, § 2, p. 1136
Restaurant as synonymous, § 1, p. 1132
Cameras, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162, n. 47
Care of goods held on lien, § 26, p. 1199
Carpets, heel of guest catching in stair carpet, res ipsa loquitur, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Carriers. Common carriers, post
Caterers, restaurant keeper as caterer, § 2, p. 1136
Ceiling,
Fall causing injuries to guest,
Evidence of negligence, § 23, p. 1189
Liability of keeper, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Certificate of occupancy, regulations, § 5, n. 73

Chairs,
Collapse causing injuries, res ipsa loquitur, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Liability for injuries to guest from defective chair, § 22, p. 1181
Characteristics of keeper of inn, hotel or tavern, § 2, pp. 1134, 1135
Charges. Rates and charges, post
Charities, license tax for operating restaurant, § 6, p. 1146
Chattel mortgages, waiver of lien of, § 26, p. 1198
Check rooms, negligence of guest in failing to place property in check room, § 14
Checking service, restaurant keepers liability for loss of property of patron, § 20
Checks, acceptance as release of lien, § 26, p. 1198
Choice of hazard, contributory negligence of guest seeking to escape danger, § 22, p. 1185
Cigars,
Hotel bill as not including, § 1, p. 1134
Place of sale as restaurant, § 1, p. 1133
Circumstantial evidence, ownership and operation of hotel in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1190, n. 5
Civil rights law, action for refusal of service to negro, § 10, n. 86
Cleaning, liability for injuries to guest from failure to clean room, § 22, p. 1179, n. 57
Clothing. Wearing apparel, generally, post
Coffee, restaurants liability for injuries to patron by hot coffee spilled by waiter, § 22, p. 1176
Coffeehouse as inn, § 1, p. 1133
Coffeehouses, § 2, p. 1136
Comfort of guest, duties of, § 9
Common carriers,
Injuries to guest by servants, liability, § 22, p. 1175
Liability for injuries to guest in elevator, § 22, p. 1181
Liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, §§ 15, 16, n. 82
Companions of guest, liability for loss of property by, § 13
Compensation. Rates and charges, generally, post
Compliance with statutes limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1161
Concert saloon, restaurant distinguished, § 1, p. 1133
Construction of buildings, regulation, § 5
Constructive custody of property of guest, liability, § 19, p. 1167
Constructive notice, limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
Contagious diseases,
Defense to action for failure to receive or exclusion of guest, § 10
Liability to guest contracting, § 22, p. 1176
Contract,
Bailment, liability of, § 18
Guest distinguished from boarder, § 3, p. 1137
Limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
Contributory negligence,
Burden of proof in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Burden of proof in action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1171
Contributory negligence—Continued,
Evidence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, pp. 1190, 1191
Guest affecting liability for injuries, § 22, pp. 1184, 1185
Instructions in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Negativing defenses in action against for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Pleading in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1187
Question for jury in actions for injuries to persons, § 23, p. 1191
Questions for jury as to loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1173
Convenience of guest, duties of, § 9
Conversion, action for loss of property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Cost of structure, regulations, § 5, n. 73
Cuspidors, hotelkeepers liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Custody of property of guest by, liability for loss or injury, § 19, pp. 1166–1168
Customs,
Pleading in action against, for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Use of passage ways, evidence in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1189, n. 2
Damages,
Liability of innkeeper refusing to receive or excluding guest, § 10
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Dance floors, liability for injuries to guest from fall, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Declaration,
Petition or complaint,
Actions for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1186
Refusal to receive or wrongful exclusion of guest, § 10
Defective premises or appliances,
Causing injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1176
Evidence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191
Liabilities for injuries to guest, § 22, pp. 1176–1185
Question for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1192
Definitions, § 1, pp. 1128–1134; § 2, p. 1134; § 3, pp. 1136–1138
Degrees of negligence of guest affecting liability for loss or injury to property, § 14
Delegation of duty as to safety of premises and appliances, § 22, p. 1179
Delivery of property by guest, responsibility, § 19, p. 1166
Depositary for hire, liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1159, n. 9
Deposits,
Boardinghouse keepers liability for loss or injury to property of boarder, § 20
Guest status, § 3, p. 1141
Limitation of liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17
Negligence of guest in failing to deposit valuables with, § 14
Relation of innkeeper and guest, § 18

Deposits—Continued,
Statutes limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, pp. 1159, 1161
Value of property exceeding statutory limitation affecting duty of, § 17, p. 1163
Detectives, employment for protection of guest, § 13, n. 20
Dining room, part of hotel as question of fact, § 1, p. 1130
Direction of verdict, actions for injuries to persons, § 23, p. 1194
Discretion, licensing authorities, § 6, p. 1147
Disorderly persons, refusal to receive or exclusion of guest, § 9
Dram shops, restaurant included, § 1, p. 1133
Drink, furnishing as requisite of inn or hotel, § 1, p. 1129
Drinking house, restaurant distinguished, § 1, p. 1133
Drug stores, restaurant, § 1, p. 1133
Drunkenness,
Refusal to receive or exclusion of guest, § 9
Rules to prevent, § 9
Duration,
Lien on goods of guest, § 26, p. 1198
Relation as guest, § 3, pp. 1142, 1143
Eating houses,
Boardinghouses, generally, ante
Guest distinguished from patron, § 3, p. 1137, n. 60
Hospital as not included in term, § 1, p. 1133
Hotels, generally, post
Ordinary as, § 1, p. 1133
Restaurants, generally, post
Taverns, generally, post
Effects,
Baggage, generally, ante
Custody affecting liability for loss or injury, § 19, pp. 1166–1168
Departure of guest without removing effects as continuing relation, § 3, p. 1142
Lien for compensation on effects of guest, § 26, p. 1197
Lien of boardinghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1201
Lodginghouse keepers liability for effects of lodger, § 20
Rules and notice affecting liability for loss or injury, § 17, p. 1158
Statutes as to liability for effects of guest, § 17, p. 1159
Ejection,
Guest, remedies, § 10
Guest after acceptance, § 9
Invitee of guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1176
Persons not guests, § 11
Ejectment, tenant and lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1139
Elevator operators, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1175, n. 26
Elevator shafts,
Evidence of negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, pp. 1189–1191
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1181
Elevators,
Care required as to invitees, § 22, p. 1183
Contributory negligence of guest using stairway instead of elevator, § 22, p. 1184, n. 16
Elevators—Continued,
Evidence,
Cause of fall in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1191, n. 34
Negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189
Presence of safety doors in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1189, n. 2
Failure to furnish service as negligence, § 22, p. 1181
Instructions in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Lessees liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1182, n. 91
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1181
Questions for jury in action for injury to person, § 23, p. 1193
Stalling and sticking, negligence as question for jury, § 23, p. 1192, n. 36
Emergencies, entry of guests room, § 25
Employees, § 2, p. 1135
Entry of guests room, § 25
Estoppel to disclaim relation as to person responsible for loss to guest, § 18
Hotels, discharged employee as guest, § 3, p. 1140
Injuries to guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1174
Keeping in without license as offense, § 27
Liability for loss or injury to property of guests, § 13
Malice in ejecting guest as question for jury, § 10
Negligence of guest as to valuables, § 14
Prospective hotel employee as guest, § 3, p. 1137, n. 60
Relation of master and servant as question for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1193
Statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1163, n. 64
Thefts, liability by innkeeper, § 15
Entertainment,
Element of tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Guest status of one seeking entertainment at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Guests, § 9
Entrapment, hotel runners, § 27, n. 18
Entry, wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Estoppel of innkeeper to disclaim relation of master as to person responsible for loss, § 18
European plan, defined, § 1, p. 1129
Evidence,
Boardinghouse keepers action for compensation, § 26, p. 1200
Ejection of guest, § 10
Guest status, § 3, p. 1143
Lien surrendering goods of guest to prosecuting attorney as evidence, § 26, p. 1198
Loss or injury of property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Refusal to pay charges, § 28
Surreptitious removal of baggage without payment of charges, § 28
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Excessive damages,
Ejection of guest, § 10
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25, p. 1195, n. 88

Excessive force, liability of restaurant for injuries to patron in ejecting, § 22, p. 1176
Exclusion of guest, remedies, § 10
Exclusion of guest after acceptance, § 9
Exemplary damages, ejection of guest, § 10
Exemptions, license tax, § 6, p. 1146
Exits,
Fire protection, § 7
Injuries to guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Explosion, questions for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1193, n. 58
Falling by guest, res ipsa loquitur, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Falling objects,
Burden of proof in action for injuries from fall of screen, § 23, p. 1188, n. 73
Evidence,
Action for injuries, § 23, p. 1191, n. 34
Action for injuries to pedestrian, § 23, p. 1190, n. 21
Heel of guest catching in stair carpet, res ipsa loquitur, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Injuries to guest, evidence of negligence, § 23, p. 1189
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53; § 22, p. 1181, n. 90
Liability for injuries to using streets, § 22, p. 1183
Falls,
Evidence of falls by others in action for injuries to guest, § 23, pp. 1189, 1191, n. 3, 23
Instructions in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1194, n. 69
Other persons, questions for jury in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1193, n. 58
False pretenses, obtaining credit by guest, etc., § 28
Family,
Enforcement, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1169
Hotel guests, necessity of registration, § 3, p. 1142
Member stopping at hotel as boarder, § 3, p. 1138
Family hotel as hotel, § 1, p. 1130
Fees, license tax, § 6, p. 1146
Fights, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1175
Fire escapes,
Duty to see that access is unobstructed, § 22, p. 1186
Evidence,
Action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1190
Obstruction in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1190, n. 8
Requirement of certain number in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191
Failure to comply with statutory provisions, § 22, p. 1186
Instructions in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Liability for injuries in unguarded openings in platform, § 22, p. 1181
Regulations, § 7
Fire hazard materials, pleading in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1187, n. 66
Fire protection, regulations, § 7
Fires,
Evidence,
Negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191
Fires—Continued,
Evidence—Continued,
Prior fire in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1189, n. 3
Warning to guest in action for injury, § 23, p. 1190
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1185
Liability for loss or injury to property of guests, § 15
Presumption in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Presumption of due care by guest, § 23, p. 1189
Questions for jury in action for injuries to persons, § 23, p. 1193
Fixtures, regulations, § 5
Flat, lodginghouse, § 1, p. 1131
Flooding of basement, liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 13, n. 30
Floor lamps, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1176, n. 36
Floors, injuries to guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Flower boxes, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1181, n. 90
Folding beds,
Evidence of negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189
Warranty of fitness by hotelkeeper, § 22, p. 1180, n. 63
Food,
Boarder defined, § 3, p. 1137
Boarder distinguished from guest, § 3, p. 1137, n. 62
Duties and liabilities of, § 9
Furnishing as requisite of boardinghouse, § 1, p. 1131
Furnishing as requisite of inn or hotel, § 1, p. 1129
Guest status of one seeking food at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Lodginghouse or roominghouse, § 1, p. 1131
Obtaining with intent to defraud, § 28
Ordinary as place for serving, § 1, p. 1133
Restaurant, furnishing food as requisite, § 1, p. 1132
Serving as element of tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Forcible detainer, occupant of apartment in arrears of rent, § 10, n. 9
Form of action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Franchise, right to keep inn, § 2, p. 1135
Franchise tax, payment as relief from liability for license tax, § 6, p. 1146
Fraud,
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 18
Lien induced to give up goods of guest by fraud, § 26, p. 1198
Obtaining services with intent to defraud, § 28
Friends, status as guests, § 3, p. 1140
Furnished apartments,
Guest relation of occupant, § 3, p. 1139, n. 95
"Hotel garni", § 1, p. 1133
Lodginghouse or roominghouse, § 1, p. 1131
Furniture, evidence of top-heavy character causing injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191

Glass on stairs,
Burden of proof in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188, n. 73
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1180, n. 67
Res ipsa loquitur in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Gold, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162
Grant or refusal of license, § 6, pp. 1146, 1147
Gross negligence, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 18
Guards, employment for protection of guests, § 13, n. 20
Guests, § 3, pp. 1136–1143
Abandonment of transient character, § 3, p. 1143
Actions against for injuries, § 23, pp. 1186–1194
Addition of persons not guests, § 11
Boarder or lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1137
Chattels left at inn as continuing relation, § 3, p. 1142
Chattels sent or left at inn as creating guest status, § 3, p. 1141
Compensation for services, § 26, pp. 1196–1201
Contributory negligence affecting liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1184
Definitions, § 3, pp. 1136–1140
Distinctions, § 3, pp. 1136–1140
Duration of relation, § 3, pp. 1142, 1143
Question of fact, § 3, p. 1143
Guest of registered guest as guest of hotel, § 3, p. 1142
Injuries to business of hotelkeeper, § 24
Injuries to person, §§ 22, 23
Invitees of guests, § 11
Nature of relationship, § 3, pp. 1140–1142
Necessity of procuring accommodations, § 3, p. 1141
Offenses, § 28
Presumptions and burden of proof as to relation, § 3, p. 1143
Questions for jury in action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1173
Questions of law and fact as to relation, § 3, p. 1143
Reception and entertainment, §§ 9, 10
Registration, necessity, § 3, p. 1142
Requisites, § 3, pp. 1140–1142
Tenant distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Thefts by other guests, liability of, § 15
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Hallways,
Contributory negligence of guest using dark hallway, § 22, p. 1185
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1179
Liability for injuries to invitees of guest, § 22, p. 1182, n. 98
Handrails,
Contributory negligence of guest in failure to use handrail, § 22, p. 1184, n. 18
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Regulations, § 5, n. 73
Health, damages for injury by refusal to receive one as guest, § 10
Heating appliances, liability for injuries to guest for defective appliances, § 22, p. 1181
Horses,
Accommodations, § 1, p. 1129; § 2, p. 1134
Horses—Continued,
Constructive custody affecting responsibility of, § 19, p. 1167
Guest status by leaving horse at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Hotel and inn compared, § 1, p. 1129
Liability for loss from disease or viciousness of animal, § 13
Liability for loss or injury, § 16
Lien for care, § 26, p. 1198, n. 31, 48
Hospital patient as guest, § 3, p. 1136, n. 60
Hospitals,
Hotels, roominghouses etc. as not including, § 1, p. 1133
Lien on effects of patient, § 26, p. 1197, n. 26
Hotel bill, defined, § 1, p. 1134
"Hotel garni", defined, § 1, p. 1133
Hotel managers personal liability for loss of property of guest, § 13
Hotel runners, offense, § 27
Hotelkeeper, innkeeper as synonymous, § 3, p. 1134
Hotelleries, defined, § 1, p. 1133
Hotels,
Advertisement as evidence of status, § 3, p. 1140
Apartment building as hotel, § 1, p. 1130
Coffee house as, § 1, p. 1133
Comparison with inn, § 1, p. 1129
Defined, § 1, p. 1128
European plan, definition, § 1, p. 1129
Family hotel as public hotel, § 1, p. 1130
Hospital as not included in term, § 1, p. 1133
Invitees of guests, § 11
Landlord and tenant status, § 3, p. 1140
License to sell liquors in small quantities as tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Managers personal liability for loss of property of guest, § 13
Ordinary as hotel, § 1, p. 1133
Restaurant distinguished, § 1, p. 1132
Tavern as synonymous, § 1, p. 1130
Tenants as distinguished from guest, etc., § 3, p. 1139, n. 93
Tenement house distinguished, § 1, p. 1133
Tourist camp, § 1, p. 1134
Hours of business, regulation, § 5
House detectives,
Insulting language as assault, § 11, n. 13
Malice in ejection of licensee, § 11, n. 13
House of entertainment as public inn, question of fact, § 1, p. 1130
House of public entertainment,
Defined, § 1, p. 1132
Power to regulate, § 4
Simultaneously, boardinghouse and inn, § 1, p. 1132
Tavern, § 1, p. 1131
Humiliation,
Damages for wrongfully ejecting guest, § 10
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Husband and wife,
Lien of boardinghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1201
Liens on property of guest, § 26, p. 1199, n. 59
Roominghouse operated without license, offense, § 27
Tenants status rather than guests etc., § 3, p. 1139, n. 93
Unregistered sponse of guest, § 11, n. 12
Ice cream stands, restaurants, § 1, p. 1133

Immorality,
Rules to prevent, § 9
Wrongful entry of guests room in making charges, § 25
Impedimenta. Baggage, generally, ante
Implied warranties, protection and safety of guest, § 22, p. 1174, n. 8
Imputed knowledge, guests knowledge of premises as imputed to visitor, § 22, p. 1183, n. 3
Indictment, § 27
Removal of baggage without payment of charges, § 28
Infants, post
Ingress and egress, duty to provide safety, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Inherent causes, liability for loss of property of guest, § 13
Injuries to,
Business, § 24
Offense, § 27
Person of guest, §§ 22, 23
Persons other than guest, liability of, § 22, p. 1182
Property, §§ 12–21
Property of restaurant patron, liability of, § 20
Inn, defined, § 1, p. 1128
Insect bites causing injuries to person, res ipsa loquitur, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Inspection, regulations, § 5
Inspection of room and furnishings by guest, liability for breach of warranty of fitness for use, § 22, p. 1180, n. 63
Instructions,
Action for,
Loss or injuries to property of guest, § 21, p. 1172
Injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Refusal to receive or ejection of guest, § 10
Wrongful entry of guests room, § 25, p. 1196, n. 98
Insulting language, wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Insulting language of house detective as assault, § 11, n. 13
Insults, duties to guest, § 9
Insurers,
Boardinghouse keeper as insurer of goods of boarder, § 20
Convenience or comfort of guests, § 9, n. 54
Invitees guests, § 22, p. 1182
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 15
Licensee, liable as insurer of safety, § 22, p. 1176
Lodginghouse keeper as insurer of goods of lodger, § 20
Presumptions and burden of proof in action against innkeeper for loss or damage to goods of guest, § 21, p. 1171
Restaurant or eating house keeper as insurer as property of patron, § 20
Safety of guest, liability of, etc., § 22, p. 1173
Intention, guest and innkeeper relation, § 3, p. 1140
Intention to return as continuing relation of guest, § 3, p. 1142
Intervening force,
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1181
Intervening force—Continued,
Questions for jury in actions for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1192
Intoxicating liquors,
Compensation for liquor furnished guests, § 26, p. 1196
Guest status of one visiting inn for obtaining liquor, § 3, p. 1141
Hotel bill as not including, § 1, p. 1134
Ordinary as place serving, § 1, p. 1133
Restaurant as place of sale, § 1, p. 1132, n. 75; § 1, p. 1133
Sale as requisite of, § 2, p. 1135
Sale of liquors as element of tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Intoxication,
Contributory negligence of guest affecting liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1184, n. 16
Negligence as to loss of property, § 14
Invitees,
Guests, § 3, p. 1140
Injuries to guest of invitee, liability of, § 22, p. 1176
Liability for injuries on premises, § 22, p. 1182
Invitees of guests, § 11
Iron safes, limitation of liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1160
Irresistable superhuman cause, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 13, n. 28
Issues, proof and variance,
Action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1187
Action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Jewelry,
Limitation of liability for loss or injury to jewelry of guest, § 17, p. 1161
Negligence of guest causing loss, § 14
Statutory limitation of liability as to guest, § 17, p. 1159, n. 9
Statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to guest, § 17, p. 1162
Judgment, action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1173
Keys, injuries to guest from negligence of innkeeper failing to supply key, § 22, p. 1174, n. 9
Knowledge of dangerous character of premises, evidence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191
Landlord, innkeeper distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Landlord and tenant,
Boardinghouse and boarder relation distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Innkeeper and guest relation distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Lessee of building as liable for injuries to guest from defective condition, § 22, p. 1181
Liability for acts of permanent guests causing injuries, § 22, p. 1183
Lodginghouse and lodger relation distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Persons charged with fire protection, § 7
Pleading concurrent to negligence of owner and lessee of hotel, § 23, p. 1187
Presumption as to relation, § 3, p. 1143
Liability for loss or injury to property, §§ 13–21
Licensees,
Guests, boarders, roomers or lodgers, § 3, p. 1138, n. 86
Insurer of safety, § 22, p. 1176

Licensees—Continued,
Liability for ejection by house detective from personal malice, § 11, n. 13
Liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1182
Status as question for jury in action for injury, § 23, p. 1193, n. 58
Licenses, § 6, pp. 1145–1147
Neglect to obtain affecting obligation to receive and entertain guests, § 9
Operating without license, offense, § 27
Rooming house operated without license, offense, § 27
Licensing officials, offenses, § 29
Liens,
Boardinghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1200
Compensation, § 26, pp. 1197–1201
Lodginghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1200
Removal of baggage without paying charges as offense, § 28
Tenant and lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1139
Lights,
Contributory negligence of guest proceeding in darkness, § 22, p. 1184
Evidence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1190, n. 8
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1180
Presumption of knowledge of dim lighting, § 23, p. 1189
Questions for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1193, n. 58
Limitation,
Actions for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, pp. 1158–1164
Liability of restaurant keeper for loss of property of patron, § 20
Lobbies,
Constructive custody of property of guest affecting liability, § 19, p. 1167
Ejection of licensee from personal malice of house detective, § 11, n. 13
Guest status of one using hotel lobbies, § 3, p. 1141
Locking of doors, negligence of guest in loss of property, § 14
Locks, limitation of liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1160
Lodgers,
Defined, § 3, p. 1137
Guests distinguished, § 3, p. 1137
Offenses, § 28
Presumption as to relation, § 3, p. 1143
Roomer as synonymous, § 3, p. 1137
Tenant distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Lodging,
Coffee house as serving lodging, § 1, p. 1133
Guest status of one seeking lodging at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Ordinary as providing accommodations, § 1, p. 1133
Recovery of compensation by unlicensed business, § 6, p. 1146
Requisites, § 2, p. 1134
Hotel or inn, § 1, p. 1128
Tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Lodginghouse keepers, lien for charges, § 26, p. 1200
Lodginghouses, § 2, p. 1135
Action for compensation, § 26, p. 1200
Certificate of occupancy, regulation, § 5, n. 73
Contributory negligence of lodger affecting liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1184
Defective premises or appliances causing injuries to lodger, § 22, p. 1177
Defined, § 1, p. 1131
Injuries to person of lodger, liability of keeper, § 22, p. 1176
Liability for injuries to trespasser or licensee, § 22, p. 1183
Liability of keeper for property of guest, § 20
License, § 6, p. 1145
Power to regulate, § 4
Recovery for lodging, § 26, p. 1200
Statutes prohibiting use of tenement houses, § 5
Tenement house as different, § 1, p. 1132
Loss of credit, damages for wrongfully ejecting guest, § 10
Loss of property of guest, recoupment in action for charges, § 26, p. 1197
Loss or injury to property, §§ 12–21
Lounging rooms, guest status of one using hotel lounging room, § 3, p. 1141
Maid service,
Access to room affecting responsibility of boardinghouse keeper for property of guest, § 20, n. 36
Determination of character of occupancy, § 3, p. 1139, n. 93
Malice,
Ejection of guest, question for jury, § 10
Ejection of licensee by house detective, § 11, n. 13
Liability for injuries to guest by servant, § 22, p. 1175
Manufacturer, restaurant keeper, § 2, p. 1136
Marble stairway, negligence as question for jury in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1192, n. 36
Masseurs, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1175, n. 26
Master and servant, relation as question for jury in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1193
Meals. Food, generally, ante
Mental anguish, damages for wrongfully ejecting guest, § 10
Mental distress and anguish, wrongful entry of guests room, § 25
Merchandise,
Custody affecting liability for loss or injury, § 19, p. 1166
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 16
Merchant,
Innkeeper distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Restaurant keeper distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Military company, refusal to receive as guest, § 9
Minors,
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1174, n. 8
Parents action against for loss of goods of minor, § 21, p. 1169, n. 58
Refusal to receive as guest, § 9
Misconduct,
Refusal of guests for previous misconduct, § 9
Rules to prevent, § 9

Money,
- Authority of clerk of lodginghouse keeper to accept for deposit from one not a lodger, § 20
- Liability for loss of property of guest, § 16
- Lien for money loaned to guest, § 26, p. 1199
- Limitation of liability for loss of property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
- Negligence of guest in failing to deposit, § 14
- Pleading in action for loss of property of guest, § 21, p. 1170, n. 67
- Statutory limitation of liability for loss to guest, § 17, p. 1162

Motor vehicles. Automobiles, ante
Municipal regulations, §§ 4–7
Nature,
- Extent of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 15
- Guest relationship, § 3, pp. 1140–1142
- Inn or hotel, § 1, pp. 1128–1130

Needles, liability for injuries to guest stepping on needles, § 22, n. 1179, n. 57
Negativing defenses,
- Indictment for removal of baggage without payment of charges, § 28
- Pleading in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1187

Negligence,
- Contributory negligence, ante
- Guest, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 14
- Injuries to person of guest, §§ 22, 23
- Limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1161
- Loss of or injury to property of guest, §§ 12–21
- Servants causing injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1174

Negroes, refusal to accept guest, § 10, n. 86
Night, means of entry for guest at night, § 9, n. 53
Notice,
- Fire to guests, regulations, § 7
- Limiting liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
- Property in possession of guest affecting liability for loss or entry, § 17, p. 1160
- Restaurant keepers liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 20
- Sale of unclaimed chattels, § 18, n. 93
- Valuable character of property deposited by guest, § 17, p. 1162
- Value of property offered by guest for safe keeping, statutory limitation of liability, § 17, p. 1164

Nuisance,
- Evidence in action for injuries to pedestrian, § 23, p. 1190, n. 21
- Guest injuring business of hotelkeeper, § 24
- Instructions in actions by pedestrian against hotel, § 23, p. 1194, n. 69
- Liability for injuries to guest on theory of nuisance, § 22, p. 1174
- Liability for injuries to strangers, § 22, p. 1176

Number,
- Beds and rooms, license tax, § 6, n. 85
- Persons to be accommodated, regulation, § 5

Objectionable character, exclusion, § 9
Obnoxious persons, refusal to receive or exclusion, § 9
Offenses, §§ 27–29
Official notice of regulations as to fire protection, § 7
Oiled floors, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Opening and closing hours, regulation, § 5
Ordinances. Statutes and ordinances, post
Ordinary, defined, § 1, p. 1133
Ornaments, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to guest, § 17, p. 1162
Parades, liability for injuries to licensee permitted to view parade, § 22, p. 1183, n. 5
Parking lots,
- Constructive custody of property of guest affecting responsibility of, § 19, p. 1167
- Free parking lots for guests, liability of hotelkeeper, § 18, n. 75
- Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 16, n. 77
- Theft of baggage from parked car, liability of, § 19, p. 1166, n. 94

Particular regulations, § 5
Partnership,
- Action for loss or injury to goods of guest, § 21, p. 1170
- Consent to application for license, § 6, p. 1147, n. 8

Passageways,
- Evidence in custom in action for injury, § 23, p. 1189, n. 2
- Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1179, n. 58

Patent defects, liability for injuries to invitee, § 22, p. 1183
Patrons. Guests, generally, ante
Peddlers stock of goods, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 16
Penal nature of regulations, § 6, p. 1146, n. 93
Perishable goods, liability for loss of goods of guest, § 13
Persons charged with duty as to fire protection, § 7
Petition, declaration or complaint, loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Physicians, liability for negligent treatment of injured guest, § 22, p. 1175, n. 31
Piano, lien of, § 26, p. 1199
Platforms, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Pleading,
- Action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1186
- Action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
- Enforcement of lien by, § 26, p. 1200
- Refusal to receive or excluding guest, § 10

Pledge, goods held under lien, § 26, p. 1200
Police power, regulation, § 4, p. 1144
Porters, taking custody of guests property, responsibility, § 19, p. 1166
Possession, tenant and lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1138
Posted notice, limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, pp. 1158, 1161
Posting of law, evidence in prosecution of guest etc. for failure to pay charges, § 28
Power to regulate, § 4
Precious stones, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162
Presumptions,
- Action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170

Presumptions—Continued.
Actions for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Boarder agreed to pay regular and established rates, § 26, p. 1200, n. 83
Guest relation, § 3, p. 1143
Notice as to responsibility for baggage or wearing apparel entered implied contract on reception for storage, § 20
Printing of notice limiting liability for loss or injury of guest, § 17, p. 1160
Privacy, liability for invasion of right of guest, § 25
Privacy of guests, duties, § 9
Privilege tax, payment of license tax affecting liability, § 6, p. 1146
Procedure to obtain license, § 6, pp. 1146, 1147
Property of guest for which innkeeper is liable for loss or injury, § 16
Proximate cause,
Evidence of proximate cause of injury to guest, § 23, p. 1190
Instructions in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Questions for jury in action for injuries to persons, § 23, p. 1192
Public enemy, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 13
Public place, posting notice of safe for deposit of valuables of guest, § 17, p. 1161, n. 23
Public policy,
Liability for loss or injuries to goods of guest, § 13
Rights, duties and responsibilities, § 8
Stipulations limiting liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1159
Public service commission, hotels as not subject to regulation, § 1, p. 1130, § 4
Public utility, hotel as, § 1, p. 1130; § 4
Publican, defined, § 2, p. 1136
Punitive damages, wrongful entry of guests room, § 25, p. 1195, n. 88, 90
Quasi-public character, § 8
Question of law, § 1, p. 1130
Questions of law and fact,
Action for,
Charges, § 26, p. 1197, n. 24
Injuries to person, § 23, p. 1191
Loss of or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1173
Guest and innkeeper relation, § 3, p. 1143
House of entertainment as inn, boardinghouse or private house, § 1, p. 1130
Negligence of guest causing loss or injury to property of guest, § 14
Refusal to receive or exclusion of guest, § 10
Railings, liability for injuries to guest from defective railing, § 22, p. 1181
Railroad stations,
Continuance of relation of guest for delivery of baggage, § 3, pp. 1142, 1143
Taking custody of property of guest, responsibility, § 19, p. 1166
Rainfall, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 13, n. 30
Rates and charges, § 26, pp. 1196–1201
Absconding without paying, § 28
Rates and charges—Continued,
Boardinghouse keeper, action to recover, § 26, p. 1200
Departure without paying bill, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 18, n. 71
European plan, § 1, p. 1129
Excessiveness as question for jury in action for ejection of guest, § 10
Exclusion of guest refusing to pay bill, § 9
Hotel bill defined, § 1, p. 1134
Liability for loss or injury to goods as affected by right to charge, § 13
License lack as defense to prosecution for excessive charges, § 27
Lien, § 26, pp. 1197–1201
Lodginghouses, action to recover, § 26, p. 1200
Obligation to receive and entertain persons able to pay, § 9
Offenses by guests, boarders, or lodgers, § 28
Payment as termination of relation as guest, § 3, p. 42
Payment for room affecting liability for loss or injury to property of tenant, § 18, n. 80
Refusal to pay as offense, § 28
Refusal to receive guest unable or unwilling to pay, § 9
Regulation, § 5
Rats, liability for injuries to guest jumping in fright, § 22, p. 1178, n. 54
Receipts, valuables, liability of lodginghouse keeper, § 20, n. 33
Reception of guests, § 9
Refreshments,
Coffeehouse as supplier, § 1, p. 1133
Duties and liabilities, § 9
Guest status of one seeking refreshments at inn, § 3, p. 1141
Restaurant as place where served, § 1, p. 1132
Refusal to entertain traveler, offense, § 27
Refusal to receive guests, § 9
Registers, inference as justifying guest's room, § 25
Registration, unregistered spouse of guest, § 11, n. 12
Registration of guest, necessity, § 3, pp. 1140, 1142
Relation of innkeeper and guest as to loss or injury to property of guest, § 18
Remedies. Actions, generally, ante
Removal of guest, § 9
Removal of guest from premises, compensation, § 26, p. 1196
Repairs, liability for injuries to invitee, § 22, p. 1183
Replevin, lien set up in answer, § 26, p. 1200
Reputation, damages for wrongfully ejecting guest, § 10
Requisites, § 2, p. 1134
Res ipsa loquitur,
Actions for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Questions for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1193
Restaurant keepers,
Contributory negligence of guests affecting liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1184
Distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Restaurants,
Cafe as synonymous, § 1, p. 1132
Charity operating, exemption from license tax, § 6, p. 1146

Restaurants—Continued,
Damage to wearing apparel of patron by negligence of servants, liability, § 20
Defective premises or appliances causing injuries to patron, § 22, p. 1177
Defined, § 1, p. 1132; § 2, p. 1136
Distinguished from inn, § 1, p. 1132
Ejection of patron, liability for injury, § 22, p. 1176
Ejection of person after ordering meal, § 9
European plan hotel defined, § 1, p. 1129
Injuries to person of patron, liability of keeper, § 22, p. 1176
Obtaining food etc. with intent to defraud, § 28
Offenses by patrons, § 28
Part of hotel as question of fact, § 1, p. 1130
Publican and victualer as ancestor, § 2, p. 1136
Revocation of license, § 6, p. 1147
Revolving doors, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53; § 22, p. 1182, n. 98
Rights, duties and liabilities, §§ 8–26, pp. 1148–1200
Rings, negligence of guest causing loss, § 14
Robbers, liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 13, n. 29
Robbery,
Liability as insurer, § 15
Statutory provisions limiting liability of innkeeper, § 17, p. 1159, n. 9, 10
Roomers,
Burden of proof in action for loss of property, § 21, p. 1172
Defined, § 3, p. 1137
Lodger as synonymous, § 3, p. 1137
Roominghouses, § 2, p. 1135
Defined, § 1, p. 1131
Hospital as not included in term, § 1, p. 1133
License, § 6, p. 1145
License tax on hotels etc. as excluding, § 6, p. 1145, n. 86
Obtaining accommodations with intent to defraud, § 28
Operation without license as offense, § 27
Rooms, wrongful entry of guest's room, § 25
Rope ladders, fire protection regulations, § 7, n. 29
Rubbish, liability for injuries to guest from rubbish in basement, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Rugs, evidence of falls by others in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1191, n. 23
Rules and regulations, entry of guest's room on violation, § 25
Rules of hotel, § 9
Limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
Safe deposit,
Actual notice to guest affecting liability, § 17, p. 1161
Compliance by guest with statutory provision affecting liability, § 17, p. 1162
Limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1160
Safeguards for protection of life and property, regulations, § 7
Safes, limitation of liability for loss of or injury to property of guest, § 17, pp. 1158–1164
Safety devices, elevators, questions for jury in action for injuries, § 23, p. 1193
Safety gates, liability for injuries to guest in elevator, § 22, p. 1181
Safety of guest, liability etc., §§ 22, 23
Safety of premises,
Injuries to persons other than guests, liability of, § 22, p. 1176
Liability for loss or injury to property of guests, § 15, n. 67
Liability of restaurant keeper, § 20
Safety regulations, § 5
Sale,
Goods held under lien, § 26, p. 1200
Termination of lien of boardinghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1201
Unclaimed chattels, § 18
Salesmen's samples, lien, § 26, p. 1199, n. 52
Saloon as inn, § 1, p. 1133
Saloonkeepers, restaurant keeper distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Saloons, restaurant included, § 1, p. 1133
Sanitary conditions, regulations, § 5
Sanitation, compensation on leaving of guest for unsanitary conditions, § 26, p. 1196
Schedule of rates, regulation, § 5
Screens, burden of proof in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188, n. 73
Self-defense, injuries to guest by third persons acting in self-defense, § 22, p. 1176, n. 42
Separate property of wife, lien of boardinghouse keeper, § 26, p. 1201
Servants,
Employees, generally, ante
Employers and enforcement of liability for loss of goods of guest, § 21, p. 1169
Set-off, loss of lien for charges, § 26, p. 1198
Shower baths, liability for injuries to guest from defective mixing valve, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Shuffle board, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Side entrance, injuries to guest in using side entrance to hotel, § 22, p. 1179, n. 58
Signs, evidence of character of place as inn, § 2, p. 1135
Silver, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162
Sleeping car as inn, § 1, p. 1133
Slippery floors, liability of lodginghouse keeper for injuries to lodger, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Slippery stairway, liability for injuries to invitee, § 22, p. 1182, n. 98
Snow, presumption snow will track into vestibule and become slushy, § 23, p. 1189
Soft drink places, restaurants, § 1, p. 1133
Special contracts, burden of proof in action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1171, n. 74
Stairs and stairways,
Burden of proof in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188, n. 73
Contributory negligence of guest using dark stairway, § 22, p. 1185
Contributory negligence of guest using stairway instead of elevator, § 22, p. 1184, n. 16
Injuries to lodger, liability of lodginghouse keeper, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Instructions in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1194, n. 69

Stairs and stairways—Continued,
Liability for injuries to invitees, § 22, pp. 1177, 1182, n. 53, 98
Marble stairways, negligence as question for jury, § 23, p. 1192, n. 36
Res ipsa loquitur in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Stationery, guest status of one using hotel stationery, § 3, p. 1141
Statutes and ordinances,
Instructions in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1194
Lien for charges on effects of guest, § 26, p. 1197
Statutory and municipal regulations, §§ 4–7
Licenses, § 6, pp. 1145–1147
Statutory provisions,
Burden of proof as to failure to comply in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1188
Burden of proof in action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1171
Failure to provide with statutory safety requirements, § 22, p. 1180, n. 64
Fire escapes and safe guards against fire, failure to comply with, § 22, p. 1186
Limitation,
Actions for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Liability for loss or injury to property of guests, § 17, pp. 1159–1164
Offenses by guests, boarders, etc., § 28
Steamboat proprietors, § 2, p. 1136
Steps,
Evidence of lights in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1190, n. 8
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Stolen goods, enforcement of innkeepers lien, § 26, pp. 1199, 1200
Storage, lien for storage of property, § 26, p. 1199
Streets, liability for injuries to persons using the streets, § 22, p. 1183, n. 14
Structure as affecting character of place as inn or hotel, § 1, p. 1129
Structures on premises, regulation, § 5
Summer resorts, hotelkeeper as innkeeper, § 2, p. 1135
Sunday, refusal to receive guest, § 9
Suspension of license, § 6, p. 1147
Suspicion, ground for entry of guests room, § 25, p. 1195, n. 86
Swimming pools, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1179, n. 57
Tavern
Defined, § 1, p. 1130
Inn or hotel as synonymous, § 1, p. 1130
Ordinary as tavern, § 1, p. 1133
Restaurant distinguished, § 1, p. 1132
Tavern keeper, innkeeper as synonymous, § 2, p. 1134
Taverns coffee house as tavern, § 1, p. 1133
Telephones, hotels duty to furnish guest in room, § 9, n. 49
Temporary absence of guest, compensation of, § 26, p. 1196
Temporary leaving of inn as terminating relation of guest, § 3, p. 1142
Tenant, distinguished from boarder, lodger or guest, § 3, p. 1138
Tenants in common, consent to application for license, § 6, p. 1147, n. 8
Tenement house,
Boarding or lodginghouse as different, § 1, p. 1132
Family hotel as included, § 1, p. 1130
Hotel etc. distinguished, § 1, p. 1133
Statutes prohibiting use for lodginghouses, § 5
Termination of duty, § 9
Theft,
Committed by another guest placed in room, § 14
Employee statutory limitation of liability, § 17, p. 1163, n. 64
Liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 18, n. 81
Property of guest from building separate from inn, § 19, p. 1167
Question for jury in action for loss of property of guest, § 21, p. 1173
Statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162
Third person,
Bailee of owner taking property to an inn affecting guest status of owner, § 3, p. 1142
Injuries to persons, liability of, § 22, p. 1176
Liability for loss or injury to property of third person, § 13
Due to negligence of guest, § 14
Lien of boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper on property of third person, § 26, p. 1201
Lien on property of third person, § 26, p. 1199
Negligence of guest permitting third person to exercise acts of ownership over baggage, § 14
Restaurants liability for injuries to patron, § 22, p. 1176
Time of commencement of responsibility for property of guest, § 19, p. 1166
Tobacco shops, restaurants, § 1, p. 1133
Tourist camps,
License, § 6, p. 1145
Nature, § 1, p. 1134
Power to regulate, § 4, n. 68
Trader, distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Tradesman, restaurant keeper distinguished, § 2, p. 1136
Transfer of license, § 6, p. 1147
Transients,
Abandonment of transient character of guest, § 3, p. 1143
Accommodation as element of tavern, § 1, p. 1130
Accommodation as requisite of hotel or inn, § 1, p. 1128
Boarder or lodger distinguished from guest, § 3, p. 1137
Boarding house as inn, § 1, p. 1132
Family hotel accommodation as incidental, § 1, p. 1130
Guest as transient, § 3, p. 1136
Guests, essential, § 3, p. 1140
License of apartment houses in which rooms are rented to transients, § 6, p. 1145
Serving as distinguishing feature of, § 2, p. 1135
Trash, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Travelers, guests as respects responsibility for effects, § 3, p. 1137, n. 60
Trespass, tenant, and lodger distinguished, § 3, p. 1139

Trespassers, liability for injuries, § 22, p. 1182
Trial, action for loss or injury to property of guest, § 21, p. 1172
Trover, action for loss of property of guest, § 21, p. 1170
Trunks,
Liability for loss or injury to person not guest, § 18
Limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1161
Pleading in action for conversion by, § 21, p. 1170
Unavoidable casualty, liability for loss or injury to property of guests, § 15
Unclaimed chattels, sale, § 18
Use of property detained on lien, § 26, p. 1199
Valuables,
Limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158
Negligence of guest in failing to deposit with, § 14
Presumptions as to value, § 21, p. 1172
Receipt fixing liability of lodginghouse keeper, § 20, n. 33
Statutes limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1159; § 17 p. 1161, n. 27
Statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1162
Value of property of guest exceeding statutory limitation, duty to accept for deposit, § 17, p. 1163
Victualer, defined, § 2, p. 1136
Violence, statutory provisions limiting liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1159, n. 9
Waiver of lien, § 26, p. 1198
Wanton acts, liability for injuries to guest by act of servant, § 22, p. 1175
Warning,
Duty to warn invitees of danger, § 22, p. 1182, n. 2
Evidence in action for injuries to guest by fire, § 23, p. 1190
Fires,
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1185
Warning—Continued,
Fires—Continued,
Questions for jury in action for injuries to person, § 23, p. 1193
Watches, statutory limitation of liability for loss or injury to property of guest, § 17, p. 1163
Watchman,
Employment for protection of guests, § 13, n. 20
Liability for injuries to guest from failure to warn of fire, § 22, p. 1185, n. 87
Water fixtures,
Evidence of negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189
Liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1178, n. 53
Res ipsa loquitur, in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189, n. 93
Watering place, hotelkeeper as innkeeper, § 2, p. 1135
Waxed floors, liability of lodginghouse for injuries to lodger, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Wearing apparel,
Damage by negligence of servants of restaurant, § 20
Limitation of liability for loss of or injuries to property of guest, § 17, p. 1158; § 17, p. 1163 n. 52
Presumptions from notice as to responsibility of boardinghouse or lodginghouse keeper, § 20
Restaurant keepers liability for loss of property of guest, § 20
Window grills, liability for injuries to guest, § 22, p. 1177, n. 53
Window screens, liability for injuries to guest from insecure fastening, § 22, p. 1181
Window shades, evidence of negligence in action for injuries to guest, § 23, p. 1189
Windows,
Injuries to guest entering through window, § 22, p. 1174, n. 10, 16
Liability for injuries from guest throwing objects from window, § 22, p. 1176, n. 36
Liability for injuries to persons using streets from falling objects, § 22, p. 1183
Writing, consent by hotelkeeper to assume greater than statutory liability for property of guest, § 17, p. 1164, n. 66
Wrongful ejection of guest, § 10

END OF VOLUME

UNIVERSAL LIBRARY
103 502
UNIVERSAL LIBRARY